Journal Halloween Party attracts several hundred

HARRINGTON - The Harrington Journal Halloween Party held on Saturday night at the W.T. Chipman Fieldhouse was dubbed "...mission accomplished" by a spokesman at the Newspaper. There were several hundred people, some estimates reached approximately 500, both children and adults who attended the affair hosted and conducted by the employees at the Newspaper. There were games played as well as a costume contest divided into four categories: prettiest which was won by Kate Vogelien, the funniest won by Lisa Wamsley, the scariest won by Bridget Tribbitt, and the Most Original won by Kristin Wyatt.

and apples as well as the cider. The affair lasted for two hours, and provided a good time for the children. It was well accepted throughout the community. Elsewhere in the State there were minor incidents reported. Lauriann M. Sofield, 21, of Clayton, was eating a Tastee Cake fudge bar when she ate approximately one half of an orange type tablet that she states was in the fudge bar. She suffered no real ill effects. In another incident Geoffrey H. Reichelt, 9, of Dupont Manor, Dover upon returning from trick or treating through his parents discovered one pink colored lollipop with wet look and white substance on the outer cover of the candy.

vehicle by juveniles. No charges were brought by the Harrington P.D. In other matters unrelated to Halloween involved a family argument that erupted into the public street. The Harrington P.D. was called when Clarence Barlow, 22, and Marcus Willey, 30, step-brothers and both of Harrington, began a pushing and shouting match. During the incident, Barlow dropped a knife. He was arrested and charged with reckless endangering. Since witnesses corroborated that Willey was defending himself, no charges were brought against him.

Two juveniles and one adult, Wagner M. Harmon of Harrington, were

Local cooks have "gems" in Culinary Collection

Mrs. Leon (Mary Ellen) Wix and Myrtle J. Wirick, both of Harrington are among the Delawareans whose favorite recipes are featured in Culinary Gems from the Diamond State. The cookbook, a 192-page collection of the delectable from the recipe files of present and former Diamond state cooks, is a publication put together by and for the benefit of the American Cancer Society, Delaware Division.

Among the thirteen sections ranging from "Appetizers" to "Pickles and Preserves" is a special one on "Seafood and Poultry" which features the products of Delaware's coast and farms.

The cookbook, offered in time for Christmas giving, is available locally at The First National Bank of Harrington and The Peoples Bank of Harrington where it is on display. Minimum donation requested is $6.95. If local supplies are exhausted, the books can be ordered by writing The American Cancer Society, Delaware Division, Inc., 1925 Lovering Avenue, Wilmington, Del., 19806 and sending a check or money order for $6.95 plus $1.50 in postage and handling for each copy desired. A first edition of 10,000 copies was published.

Mrs. Wix and Myrtle Wirick graciously consented to a reprint of their recipes in The Harrington Journal. In addition to her "Chocolate Logs" included here, Mrs. Wix has two others, for "Oatmeal Pie" and "Little Chicken Barbecue" in the "Gems" collection.

Other area cooks who have recipes in the book are:

Felton sewer project nears completion

The construction project which will give Felton area residents county sewer service is finally nearing completion. Felton Mayor William Myers told the Town Council Monday night that work on the last phase of the project - finishing up the pumping stations that will boost the sewage from the Felton area onto way to the county treatment station near Frederica - should be done by December 1.

After that work is complete, Myers said, there will be little time getting all things synchronized and in proper working order before actual residential hookups can begin. An eighteen month period is allowed before all private hookups to the system must be made. Individual homes and business owners are responsible for getting their properties hooked into the system.

The new sewer system is paid for on a 75% federal, 10% state and 15% local basis.

Meanwhile, Felton Council members are urging residents who have any problems with the construction, the condition of the streets in the aftermath or the cleanup to contact them within the next few days. The Council is anxious to have everything taken care of before the construction company moves out of town.

One thing that has the Council wondering is whether and when Perdue will hook into the sewer line extended to the plant. The company has not announced a decision on rebuilding the Felton plant which was largely destroyed by fire early in July.

Block Grant - Phase II Hearing

A public hearing on possible projects to submit for a second round of applications for HUD blockgrant funds being distributed through the state has been set for the Felton Town Hall on Monday evening, November 15, at 7:30. As for the initial phase, Kent County will prepare the application and administer the project if any funds are granted.

Felton was awarded $90,000 for housing rehabilitation after the first round of applications earlier in the year. However, there has so far been no word from the county or the state on how many properties have been selected for the project, which ones they are, or when the work will begin.

In other business the Felton Council discussed the possible replacement of the town's flagpole which was torn down from its place in the Memorial Park sometime during the summer. It will cost at least $285 to get a new one. -agreed it might be a good idea to

Mishaps injure two at Harrington Raceway

Two persons, Del Manges of Harrington and George Pepper of Queen Anne, Maryland, were injured in mishaps involving horses at Harrington Raceway last week.

Pepper, who was working for Hubert Jackson, was kicked in the face by a horse Jackson was getting ready for qualifying. He suffered a fractured jaw on one side, a broken jaw on the other and facial lacerations.

Del Manges was approaching the gate Wednesday night behind a horse he was driving for Ed Hobbs of Harrington when the horse reared up and went over backwards. Manges suffered a broken nose and facial lacerations. He has since been released from Milford Memorial Hospital.

Manges said later, "nothing really spooked the horse, it was just one of those things. He gave me the 3 second warning (when he reared up) what he intended to do. The problem is with these new bikes...you can't get off the seat very well like you could the old types. These have the bucket seat type mounted on the sulky. I can't tell you what part of the horse fell on me. I know if all of him had fallen on me...why I would have been a spot. All I remember is looking up and seeing Brian (his son). He seemed to be more shook than me. He kept asking me if I was all right, and I told him that I was okay...but he insisted on going to the hospital with me. I didn't want that, because he was to drive Harry Banting's horse in the 9th...and well,

Harry had just lost his wife, and he needed Brian to drive the horse. Harry needed him worse than I did...and I knew Brian could drive the horse...and I knew he could win with him. I wanted Brian to stay and drive the horse...but he said Dad I will be over to the hospital right after I race Harry's horse. That was okay with me...because by this time I knew I was all right, but more than that, I knew I had been very, very lucky."

Abbott named Racing Secretary at Harrington Raceway

HARRINGTON, Del - Marilyn Abbott was named Racing Secretary at Harrington Raceway this past Friday, October 29th, thus becoming only the 2nd woman ever named to that position at a harness track in the United States. Concurrently, Herman Brickel who has served in that role for the past 8 years at Harrington has been named

Director of Racing. In making the announcement, track General Manager, George Simpson cited the outstanding job that Abbott has done at Harrington over the years and the spirit of cooperation which she fostered between horsemen, management and officials at the track. Abbott was born and raised in

Sunbury, Ohio just a short distance from Delaware, Ohio - home of the famed Little Brown Jug. She's a member of the fourth generation of a family involved in harness racing and has been in the business for 32 years. Her father raced horses and an uncle, Jim Edwards is still actively involved with harness racing at age 72. Abbott has served as Assistant Racing Secretary, Clerk of the Course, Program Director, or Secretary to the general manager at 22 harness tracks in the U.S.

She's also worked at the U.S.T.A. office in Columbus, Ohio. She's married to veteran horseman, Frank Abbott who drives chiefly at New Jersey area tracks. Her son, Ron also drives horses.

Christmas Parade entries coming in Entries for the sixteenth annual Harrington Jaycees Christmas parade to be held on Saturday, December 4th, are already coming in, according to Bob Everline of the local Jaycee chapter. Everline said these include several area bands who will put in a musical appearance on that day.

The Jaycees are encouraging early entries - the sooner the better. As a matter of fact, Everline said that anyone who has a particular preference as to parade position should enter as early as possible to have a better chance of realizing their request.

Invitations have gone out to a number of participants who have been a part of past parades. However, Everline said the lack of an invitation should make no one shy about submitting an entry.

The local Jaycees, in an effort to make this year's parade the largest ever, are encouraging all would-be participants - individuals, groups, and businesses. Information is available from Bob Everline at 398-3256 on weekdays or 398-4351 on evenings and weekends. December 1 is the deadline for entries.

This year's parade theme is "Peace on Earth". There is only one restriction on the representation of that theme. Since Santa will appear in person at the conclusion of the parade, the Jaycees ask that no live impersonators of Santa Claus be included in any float or marching group.

Parade kick-off is set for 1:30 p.m.; line-up time is 12:30.

Bobby and Betty Kemp were among the early voters to show up at the polls yesterday. The Harrington Journal went to press before the polls closed. Area election results will be published in next week's paper.

New electric rates

The Public Service Commission approved reduced electric rates this month for the customers of Delmarva Power and Light Company. The effectiveness of the new rates coincided with the first commercial output of the recently converted coal powered generator at the company's Edgemore station which went on line at midnight 10-17-82.

The new rates result from the simultaneous effect of two factors i.e., a major DP&L investment expense and secondly the significant savings which will result from it. Specifically, the rates were designed to cover the $4.5 million in expenses associated with the conversion as well as the (approximately) $13-million in

A sincere thank you is extended to all those who helped in any way with UNICEF and also to those who gave so generously. Special thanks go to the Harrington Public Library for the use of their projector and film.

Pepsi contamination

State police believe the incident of tampering with a bottle of Pepsi which focused national attention on the tiny community of Sandtown to be an isolated one.

The victim of the incident was Sandra Holland, 41, of Goldsboro, Maryland. Ms. Holland has been employed at the Country Cupboard for about three weeks. While at work, she took a swallow of a twist-top bottle of Pepsi from the store shelves and immediately spit the liquid out. She was treated and later released at Kent General Hospital in Dover for irritation of the mouth. The suspect bottle of Pepsi was turned over to the Federal Drug Administration in Philadelphia which determined that the Pepsi had been contaminated with a substance called ammonia hydroxide about 1% in strength. A check with the poison control center in Wilmington, Delaware, indicated that the 1% level of contamination would not produce fatal results.

Ms. Holland was back on the job last week, and no other incidents of contamination were reported locally.

Owner of the Country Cupboard in Sandtown is Stephen W. Short of Houston, Delaware.

establish a trash collection day for such large items as discarded appliances. Council member Fred Casper agreed to contact the town's trash collection contractor to find out about costs.

The council also passed a resolution calling on the federal government to continue Revenue Sharing at its present level without making further cuts. At present, the program is destined to expire in September 1983. The Felton Council will join other local governments around the state in expressing the need for continuing this source of funding. Letters will go to the President, the Delaware delegation to the U.S. Congress, and other appropriate officials.

The net effect of the conversion project is a reduction of customers' electric bills. The bill of the typical residential customer using 750 KWH per month will decrease about $1. That sum will be passed back through the fuel adjustment charge.

Second graders visit Baltimore Aquarium

SECOND GRADE FIELD TRIP

The second grade class went to the Baltimore Aquarium this past month. The class learned a lot about salt water fish. One of the big attractions was the large selection of sharks. It was awesome to watch them as they swam by. Those students, who were braver, picked up star fish and sea urchins in the touching section.

A skeleton of a whale was hanging from the ceiling, along with one of a penguin and a porpoise. The parents who went along learned as much as the students. It was certainly a nice day for a good trip.

Spotlight on Mrs. Diane Gardner

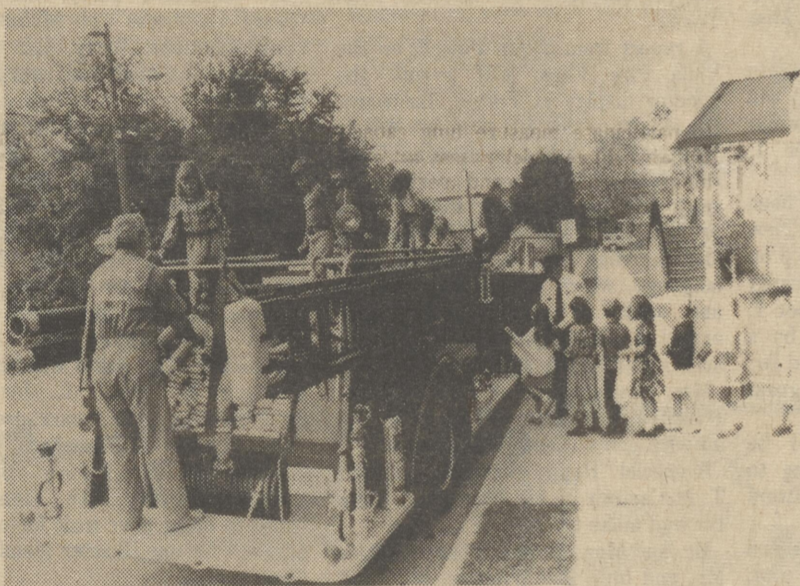

FACULTY SPOTLIGHT

Mrs. Diane Gardner began teaching at the Seaford Christian Academy after graduating from Cedarville College, located in Cedarville, Ohio. Her first teaching assignment was a class of eleven third-graders.

Presently she teaches 18 kindergarten students in the morning and instructs 24 fifth and sixth graders in language arts in the afternoon. Mrs. Gardner was born and lived in Ketchikan, Alaska, until she attended college in the State of Ohio. After graduating with a B.S. in elementary education, she moved to Seaford as Diane Decker. Two years later she married William Gardner, a native of Seaford, a short distance from the Academy, which allows her to walk to school every day.

absence from the classroom to serve as part time school principal while waiting for her first child, Daniel, to be born. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner reside in Seaford, a short distance from the Academy, which allows her to walk to school every day.

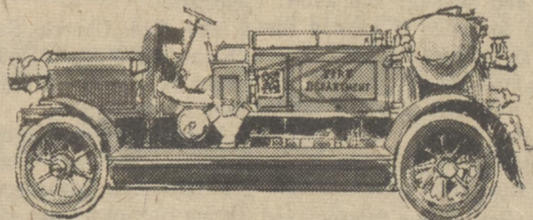

SCA first graders were treated to fire truck rides during Fire Prevention Week.

SCA observed Fire Prevention Week

October was a busy month for the first grade at Seaford Christian Academy. During Fire Prevention Week, October 4 - 8, the students had a great time visiting the Seaford Fire Department. The visit started with a ride on a fire truck to the fire hall, where they met "Sparky the Fire Dog," and took a tour of the new fire equipment. Afterwards each child received a Junior Fire Chief hat to wear home.

First graders visit

Seaford Public Library

FIRST GRADE TRIP
On Wednesday, October 20th, the class took a walk to Seaford Public Library. For some, it was their first time in such a large library. The guide showed them both sections - fiction and non-fiction - and explained how they could take out books with their parents help. They were then treated to a film about Paddington the Bear, which proved very enjoyable. The people associated with both of these community services were very helpful and informative.

Kindergarten class takes two field trips

The kindergarten class has taken two field trips in the past month. Our first trip was to Ross Mansion in Seaford. The children enjoyed looking at many antique items and playing on the large grounds of the mansion. The class also took a tour of Smith's Orchard and Packing House in Bridgeville. The students were able to observe the process an apples goes through once it is picked from the tree until it is put in a bag or box for the supermarket. All the children enjoyed a special treat at the end of the tour - an apple!

Cross Country boys finish 6-2

by Keith S. Burgess

Lake Forest's boys cross-country team, coached by Jim Blades, upset Woodbridge and lost to unbeaten Cape Henlopen, to finish the season with six victories and two defeats. Harrington High was the first downstate school to have a cross-country team, starting the sport in 1958. Harold McDonald was the coach and continued in that capacity at Lake Forest.

Blades has been at the helm for eleven years and has continued the winning tradition. Harrington and Lake Forest have combined for a quarter of a century of winning seasons.

Vernon Brown of Woodbridge was the individual winner, but Spartans Dan Donovan, Dan Haines and Mike Melvin were close behind. Tarr of Woodbridge was next, but Rob Manaraze outkicked Willie Giles of Woodbridge to finish sixth. Bobby Smith and Finney of Woodbridge ran together for most of the race with Smith holding the Blue Raider off with a long sprint finish. One more stretch duel saw Spartan freshmen prevail, to finish 12th as Lake Forest won 23-32.

Cape Henlopen's outstanding team has not been extended, in dual meets this season. Lake Forest's runners were instructed by Coach Blades, to relax and attempt to lower their times, on the Killen's Pond home course.

The meet went as expected with Cape winning 19-40. Dan Harmon of the visitors set a new course record of 15.38, for three miles.

Forest ran his best ever here with a clocking of 17.04. Danny Donovan was next, with Bobby Smith clocking 17.38, down 31 seconds from his previous best effort. Other Spartans to establish personal records were Chris Caskey - 14, Billy Haggerty - 37, Lafayette Bell - 18, Mike Grogan - 16, Mark Goodman - 57, John Caskey - 9 and Mike Mosley - 11. With the majority of Lake Forest's athletes showing excellent improvement, this had to be a very painless defeat indeed. With the Spartans first four finishers returning next season, while most Henlopen teams are losing some fine runners, look for Lake Forest to make it 26 straight winning seasons, in 1983.

Jim Blades' coaching record, in cross-country is a gaudy 84-17.

It was Ladies Night at Harrington Raceway recently and this bevy of talented lady drivers were the stars of the show. All eight had previously been driving in pari-mutuel events throughout Harrington's season, but this was the first "all-lady" betting race in the Track's history. Front row [L to R] Dawn Trader, Race winner; Louise Mancuso, Linn Truitt, Darlene Heber, Robin Wagner, Judith Welty, Betty Gill, Peggy Bush and newly appointed Racing Secretary, Marilyn Abbott. Back row, track Gen. Mgr.; George Simpson and members of the Board of Directors; Walter Messick, Frank Lambert, Thurman Adams, Jr., Charles Peck, Jr., Russell R. Kirby, Benjamin Hughes and track publicist, Gary Simpson.

Spartan girl harriers finish 6-0

Tara Gladden ran two fine races as Lake Forest's girls cross-country team ended an undefeated season.

At Woodbridge, Gladden easily outpaced Woodbridge's Sharon Felder, with Shirlaine Goodman, a Spartan freshman, in third. Next came Ann Irby, Becky Brown, Donna Pardee and Maria Kazlauskas.

Gladden ran three miles in 20:25, as Lake Forest won the final 15-49, against Cape Henlopen. This is a Lake Forest course record and represents a half minute improvement for Gladden. Debbie Jester was second with a 48 second reduction. Jester, a sophomore, is in her first harrier year and has cut her time by several minutes, with one start left. Shirlaine Goodman was third in 22:20, down 51 seconds.

Sandra Warren was fourth with Ann Irby fifth - 31 seconds and Becky Brown sixth. After Cape Henlopen's first runner came Maria Kazlauskas in 7th with a whopping improvement of almost 90 seconds.

Chipman runners show promise

Baxter Smith is developing a cross-country program, at W.T. Chipman School, that shows promise of aiding the Lake Forest varsity.

There are a dozen harriers on this season's successful Lake Forest High varsity, who got their start at Chipman.

The idea is to enable seventh and eighth graders to experience cross-country on a limited basis, with three practices a week and five or six meets with Lewes and Woodbridge, the only opposition available in this area. This should whet the appetites of these athletes, for the more ambitious boys and girls programs at the high school.

Ray Powell, a 14-year old eighth grader and Mark Tozer, a 13-year old seventh grader, are can't miss prospects, if they continue to run.

Powell ran the Woodbridge course recently in 15 minutes, a clocking that would have been very respectable, in the varsity race, held the same day. Tozer was timed in 15:23. He's the brother of Chuck Tozer, who was Henlopen Conference champion at Lake Forest, a few years ago. Eric Payne is another good prospect. He's an eighth grader with two years experience.

Other Chipman harriers are: Ken Foy, James Tiggs, Don Hickman, Vince Donato.

Girls running are: Sheva Batton, a fine prospect, India Williams, Doris Garner, Stacy Akins, Becky Voras, Sherry Parson, DeDe Castro and Della Smith.

2nd half of Duck season Delaware Goose season opens

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

Monday marked the opening of the Delaware Canadian goose season. It officially opened at 6 a.m. on Monday. With it...the 90 day season...brings also the second half of the Delaware waterfowl season.

According to Bob Graham who is the Assistant Director of the Fish and Wildlife Department and Federal Aid Coordinator "...the early duck season (Oct. 4 to 9th) was not the best in the world. Apparently the Wood Duck and Blue Wing Teal passed through this area two days before the season opened. As a result relatively few ducks...even Black Ducks were killed at that time."

An aerial survey recently disclosed that this should be a good year for goose hunters. Whereas last last year goes down in the books as a bad year, this year the number of spotted number approximately 150,000. This is an increase by a third. According to reports turned in by Tony Florio, manager of the Wildlife Section at the State level, hunters should get plenty of shooting this year.

The Canadian goose season will continue to January 29th. The bag limit per day is 4 with no more than 8 in possession. Look for a lot of shooting of Black Duck, because apparently this fowl still has a pretty good population in the State. Relatively few Black Ducks were reported to have been killed in the first leg of the duck season. Nothing new has developed on the seeking of a temporary injunction by two special groups seeking a moratorium on the killing of Black Duck, which they contend are fast becoming extinct. Since one earlier report in this newspaper, four or five states in the Northeast have taken steps to curb the killing of Black Ducks through limitations on the length of the season as well as the lowering of limits killed. It is expected however that the Federal Wildlife Authorities will take action next year. The daily and possession limits on ducks are as follows: There is a daily limit of 5 ducks, excepting bonus teal, scaup, mergansers, shall not include more than 1 black duck, 2 wood ducks, a canvasback and 1 redhead, or 2 redheads. The possession limit is 10 ducks, which shall not include more than 2 black ducks, 4 wood ducks, 1 canvasback and 4 redheads.

This Friday the Delaware deer season opens (Nov. 5th and runs through the 13th. The limit on White-tailed deer is 1 by shotgun or archery per license per year. This season is statewide. One deer may be killed by archery or muzzleloader or a second deer may be taken by shotgun in lieu of archery or muzzleloader in New Castle County north of I-95. In no case can more than two deer be taken. According to Graham there is an abundance of deer north of I-95, north of Newark, and in the White Clay Creek and Red Clay Creek areas. "There is a real overpopulation in these areas," said Graham. Graham went on to explain "...that the real reasons for the abundance of deer is the habitat. They are natural browsers...and there are still a lot of forest left here on the Peninsula together with the extensive agriculture being conducted here on the Peninsula." The bow and arrow season which ran from September 1st and closed on October 30th this past Saturday will reopen again on November 15 and run thru January 8th. There is another shotgun season which opens on January 10 thru the 15th and a primitive weapon season which opens on January 13th and closes on 15th. According to Graham there were 198 deer killed during the first part of this season (198) than last year during the same period (170). "This indicates to me that we have a growing population of deer. I think most northeast states have reported more deer this year than ever before. It has been reported that perhaps there are more deer in these areas than since the 1700's. We will approximately 2,000 deer each year, and I believe we can safely say that our deer population will run between 6 to 10 thousand in population."

The rabbit season will open on November 15 and run thru January 12th. "The rabbit population is in trouble, because their environment is vanishing. They like to live along ditch banks and hedgerows, and the farmers are keeping these cut down, and since the rabbit is a farm game animal these changes are causing the rabbit population to vanish," added Graham. The quail season which opened on September 15th will run through February 28 "...with a goodly abundance of these birds (Bob White). We have had two extreme winters which hurt this population, but it would appear that they are coming back strong from reports this year", concluded Graham.

LF loses 32-13 battle to Sussex Central

Senior quarterback Brian Gladden returned to full-time action Friday night to lead the Spartan varsity football team against the Golden Knights of Sussex Central. Gladden, who played his first full game since he was injured in the Lake Forest-Delmar matchup early in the season, put in a stellar performance. But the Golden Knights, 6-1 overall, proved too tough to handle. The Spartans went down 32-13. They now have a 3-4 record with three games remaining.

Friday night's game opened with fine offensive drives by both the Lake Forest and the Sussex Central offensive units.

Central took the opening kick-off and racked up first down after first down for ten plays. Their 65-yard march ended in a 1-yard TD by Pete Rowley. Quarterback John Young then completed a pass to Jeff Shockley for the extra points.

Not to be outdone, the Spartan offense countered with a 67 yard drive which culminated when Gladden, on a fourth down situation, hit Brian Hudson with a sixteen-yard pass, and Hudson spun into the end zone to make the first quarter score a tight 8-6.

In the second quarter the Knights scored twice more, once after a 95 yard drive ended in a 1-yard run by Young, and the second time on a 3-yard TD by Jesse Atkinson. The extra point attempts failed, but the Knights widened their lead to 20-6.

A rejuvenated Spartan team returned in the 2nd half to see James Browne take the kickoff down to the Knights' 32-yard line. Several plays later, Gladden kept the ball for a 23 yard run across the goal line. His successful kick made the score 20-13, and put the Spartans within reasonable distance of a tie or even an upset victory.

In the fourth quarter the Knights put the game out of reach with two touchdowns, one on a 1-yard run by Jamie Rogers, and the second on a Young to Billy Savage pass.

Lake Forest came very close to a fourth quarter TD when it put the ball on the Sussex Central 3 yard line only to lose possession on a fumble.

Although penalties may not have played as heavy a role as in past games, there were several that did hurt the Spartan cause. One of the more telling was a 15-yard setback for unsportsmanlike conduct which helped line up the final Golden Knight score.

The Spartan defense, usually a tough guard, seemed a little overwhelmed at the outset of the game, but recovered in the third quarter.

Offensively, it was a night for quarterbacks as Brian Gladden completed seven of his 12 passes for 67 yards and rushed for 44, including one touchdown, as he carried the ball eight times.

Gladden's Golden Knight counterpart John Young completed 7 of 7 gaining 135 yards. That included one touchdown pass. He also carried six times for two touchdowns and 33 yards.

This Friday, the Spartans travel to Caesar Rodney to face the Riders who are 3-2 overall, but who lead the Northern Division with a 3-0 record.

".....mission accomplished....., but the custom is gone..."

The Harrington Journal's Halloween Party saw close to five hundred people come to the W.T. Chipman Fieldhouse on Saturday night for what we hoped would be a safe place to celebrate the "...old custom of the year" without harm to the children.

The intent was to get the children off the street of the community, and I think this was accomplished for the most part. The employees at The Harrington Journal did a great job in handling the many children who came as well as insuring their safety. We did it voluntarily without any need for thanks from anyone. I am sure those who thanked the members of the Newspaper, got a kind welcome in return. I think it was a good idea, but the risk of harm was still there, and I was quite relieved with the affair had passed.

It would seem to me that with the air surrounding this Halloween that perhaps we might have seen the last of the real trick-or-treating when it was ended last year. I think the custom of wholesale tramping from house-to-house throughout a community...or neighboring communities is a thing of the past. I am not sure that this is good or bad. Trick-or-treating is a big part of Halloween as much as singing carols at Christmas. I hope for future Halloweens and for future generations, the customs and spirit of this holiday can be in part preserved. I think that it is also important to develop the religious aspects of this holiday...with notice to "All Saints Eve and Day."

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Because of the scare of tainted Hallowe'en treats last week so prevalent throughout the country, Harry G. Farrow and the Staff of the Harrington Journal saw fit to entertain the trick-or-treat youngsters of the community at a party in the Chipman School Field House. It was a noble venture.

Besides being well attended by both children and their parents and friends, it proved that there are adults who care what goes on on Hallowe'en to insure a safe time for all. Consequently, what used to be an evening where throngs of youngsters would roam the streets of our town, this year amounted to just a trickle who paid visits to the lighted homes that greeted the prowlers who in most cases were accompanied by parents and responsible adults.

Meanwhile, back at the Field House, there were games galore, prizes for the lucky ones, and ample food for all. Mr. Farrow and his crew of diligent workers need to be commended and congratulated by all on a job well done. While there must have been many headaches until it was over, a satisfaction must be felt by those responsible for a very noble venture. It is our hope it will be continued, and that there will be a Hallowe'en II party next year!

A word must be said for UNICEF as well, when in the afternoon of the same day a group of adults and children saw fit to spend their time to make the annual trek throughout the community for the United Nations Children's Fund appeal to help the children of all the world's nations. This, too, while it has been going on for some years now, is a worthwhile endeavor on the part of those who participated. It has been reported that the late Mrs. Olive Sharp was responsible for many years of service in this activity which continued through the efforts of the local churches with the cooperation of the Harrington Century Club which provides the facilities each year.

Dear Editor:

The Hallowe'en party you and your staff hosted at the W.T. Chipman fieldhouse was very enjoyable. It gave the children an outing and the sociability was great. Thank you for your generosity in helping to keep the children safe this past Hallowe'en.

Sincerely,
Elma Price

Local bankers: Effect of lower prime rate will be gradual

Several local bankers recently contacted say the effect of lower prime interest rates will be felt by individual customers on the mortgage and other money markets - but only gradually and slowly.

Howard Wagner, Executive Vice President and Cashier of The Peoples Bank of Harrington, explained that the prime rate, recently quoted at 12%, is the rate of interest charged institutions borrowing very large sums of money. It affects transactions between big banks and between those banks and certain preferred customers (usually large corporations). Wagner said it would probably take months before a lowered prime rate would affect the interest charged individuals.

Wagner had expressed the opinion that the prime rate might have gone even lower before the election. With political pressures somewhat lessened, he expects rates may rise again.

At the Felton Bank, Louise Biddle held a similar point of view. She said the effect of the lower prime rate will be cumulative - felt slowly over a period of weeks and months.

Mrs. Biddle said rates for short term commercial loans will be most quickly affected. The mortgage money market and installment loan rates will lag considerably behind.

She also thought it might be possible for the prime rate to drop even further before yesterday's election, only to rise afterwards.

At the Frederica branch of Delaware Trust, Robert Kooker, Manager and a vice president, had a somewhat different outlook. Short term commercial loans (90 days) at Delaware Trust (which has 29 branches in the state) are directly tied, he said, to the prime rate. They are set at 2% above prime. Whenever the prime rate changes, those rates are automatically adjusted - the same day. For some preferred customers Delaware Trust may offer a special rate at 1% above prime.

Mortgage and installment loan rates are slower to react, Kooker said. He expected to see the prime rate go lower, but did not think the election a very big factor.

At the First National Bank of Harrington, Executive Vice President and Cashier, David Jones explained that the prime rate is not one individual rate that is established at some national level. In a sense, every bank has a "prime" rate applicable to its preferred customers. However, the rate which gets national attention, Jones said might be described as the "New York prime". It is the rate that very large financial institutions such as the Chase Manhattan Bank might offer to such blue chip customers as AT&T. It affects financial transactions in the millions of dollars. When one of those large banks announces a change in its prime rate in either direction, that change may become a trend setter as other financial institutions follow suit.

Whether the recent trend to a lower "New York prime" will be reflected at the local level, Jones said, depends upon a variety of factors.

One of those factors is whether the lower rate was simply a short-lived symptom of election year political furor or an indication of things to come.

Jones said that there are some good designs that rates may stabilize at lower levels once the political pressure subsides.

More important at the local level, he said are several "key rates" on which other loan rates may be based. One of these is the rate on U.S. government issues (treasury bills, bonds and notes) through the Federal Reserve.

Another important factor is the rate

After the services, the church will hold a covered dish luncheon during which time parishioners will have the opportunity to personally greet Bishop and Mrs. Clark.

Griffith's Chapel deeded to Williamsville Historical Society

by Barbara C. Brown

The figures on the board to the left of the pulpit showed that there were five people in attendance on two consecutive Sundays and that they contributed $50 and $50 (3.50 and 6.50) to the church coffers on those two days. Whether the figures were actual and whether they represented the final two Sundays the church was in active service is uncertain. What is certain is that there were many more than five in attendance Sunday night as the deed to Griffith's Chapel (once better known as the Williamsville Church) was conveyed in symbol to the Williamsville Historical Society. It is also fairly sure that the candlelit scene and the hearty Methodist singing would have warmed the hearts of those faithful, if hypothetical, five.

It has been ten or perhaps a dozen years since the little church at the intersection of the Williamsville road and county routes 384 and 442 offered regular Sunday services. Over those years the chapel had fallen into disrepair. But for the past two or three, it has been the object of loving attention by the recently organized Williamsville Historical Society which has carried out the work of restoration. Much has been done, and much remains as the society seeks to restore the building as close as possible to its original appearance.

The service on October 31 was in celebration of what has been accomplished. It was also to mark the intention of the Board of Trustees of the Peninsula Conference United Methodist Church to convey the property to the Williamsville Historical Society. Making the presentation was Judge Thomas Everngam of Denton, MD, a member of the Board of Trustees. Accepting on behalf of the Williamsville Historical Society was its president, Cal Hollis III. Because the actual legal paperwork is not yet complete, the deed transfer was symbolic.

Griffith's Chapel, like others in this area, was initially made possible through the generosity of one man. In this case it was William T. Griffith who, at the relatively youthful age of 32, donated the triangular piece of land on which the church and its attendant cemetery are located. The gift was made somewhere around 1850. Griffith was to die at 49, some 17 years later. But the church he gifted continued his religious heritage for over 100 years.

(Before the church was built, the congregation met in schoolhouse #47 just across the road. That schoolhouse is still in use as a private residence in Houston.)

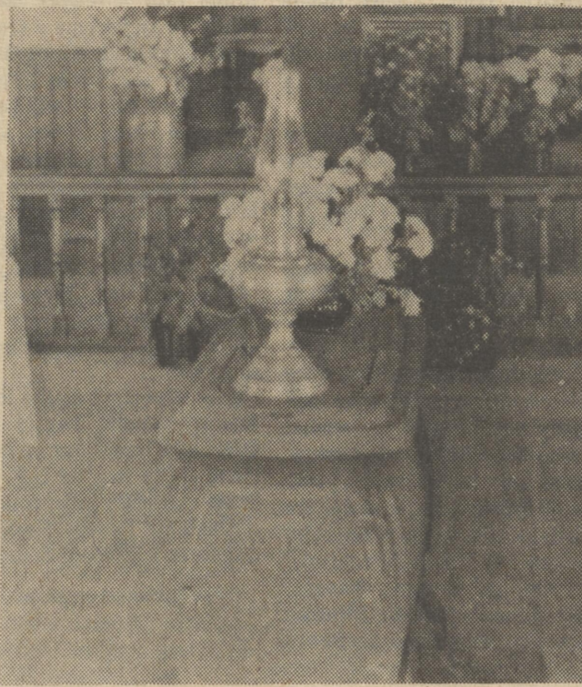

Mrs. Virginia Kennedy, a fourth generation descendant of Griffith, was present on Sunday evening. So also was her granddaughter Shelby Messick who makes the sixth generation. Mrs. Kennedy recalled the family home across from Blair's Pond near Houston. The home, she said, included a room for the use of itinerant ministers as they brought the gospel, sometimes staying for as long as a month to preach and perform weddings and baptisms before moving on. In speaking of her ancestor, she recalled the inscription on his tombstone which concludes with the words "Gone, but not forgotten."

In commemoration of the occasion, Mrs. Kennedy had a special presentation for the Williamsville Historical Society. She brought a print made from a dagguerotype (an old photograph made directly on silver) of William Griffith himself.

Restoration efforts at Griffith's Chapel have included shoring up the building and painting the exterior as well as some work on the interior. Electricity has been eliminated and two chimneys removed. The building will be lit by candles and oil lamps as it was on Sunday night. Heat will come from a woodstove, vintage 1852, from the hunting camp of Gary Manlove. Placed in the center of the small chapel, the stove has a chimney pipe which soars straight up to the roof past a metal brace that spans the building's width. The brace was apparently a part of the original construction. Across one end of the chapel is a balcony or gallery

The door to Griffith's Chapel at Williamsville was open on Sunday to welcome visitors as the chapel was transferred from the Peninsula Conference United Methodist Church to the Williamsville Historical Society.

Fall mum colors blaze on the 100 year old woodstove that will warm visitors to Griffith's Chapel.

accessible by an interior stairway. The simple decor of the building once included a stenciled pattern, part of which is still in evidence on the walls. The Society hopes to redo that pattern.

In addition to the spare benches and chairs and the altar rail and central pulpit, the chapel is furnished with a 100-year-old piano and an antique pump organ. The former was tuned and the latter refurbished in time for Sunday's service by Dr. John Dressler, Minister of Music at Avenue United Methodist Church, Milford.

Officiating on Sunday afternoon was the Reverend C. Jackson Robinson, pastor of the Asbury-Houston United Methodist Charge. Much of the program was conducted by Betty Manlove. Special music was provided by the Hallelujah Boys from Milford's Senior Center.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Dr. John Gardener, Professor of History at Delaware State College. Dr. Gardener threw out the idea of a Kent County historical district encompassing the state agricultural museum on the north, the Messick museum in Harrington on the west, Griffith's Chapel and Abbott's Mill on the south and the Bowers Maritime Museum on the east. Gardener said such a district could be comparable to the restoration at Williamsburg. He also posed a challenge for the celebration of Delaware's tricentennial on December 7, 1787.

Among those active with the Williamsville Historical Society are Mr. and Mrs. Cal Hollis III, Cal Hollis, Jr. and his wife, Mary and Gary and Judy Manlove.

The Society has been recently encouraged by the word that the state has submitted Griffith's Chapel in nomination to the National Register of Historic Places. If successful, that nomination could do much to further the preservation of the little country church.

An antique pump organ, newly refurbished by Dr. John Dressler, has a place in Griffith's Chapel.

Wesley College honored Justice Sandra Day O'Connor

Wesley College honored Associate Supreme Court Justice Sandra Day O'Connor Tuesday, October 19, 1982 by making her the first recipient of the Annie Jump Cannon Award for Distinguished Achievement.

The Annie Jump Cannon Award for Distinguished Achievement was granted to Justice O'Connor by action of the faculty and the Board of Trustees for her contribution "to the law and a variety of areas of public service."

Justice O'Connor, the first woman ever to serve on the United States Supreme Court, was nominated by President Reagan as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. She took her seat September 25, 1981 after the vacancy created by the retirement of Justice Potter Stewart.

The presentation was made to Justice O'Connor in the Supreme Court Building in Washington, D.C. by a representative group from the College.

Annie Jump Cannon, in whose name the award was given, graduated from Wilmington Conference Academy, now Wesley College, in 1880 and graduated from Wellesley College in 1885. She began a career of forty four years at the Harvard College Observatory. Her greatest achievement was the classification of more than a quarter of a million stars for the famed Henry Draper Catalog, which was an international reference work. She went beyond this to, ultimately, classify over 400,000 stars, more than anyone else by that time. She developed a process of classification known as the Harvard System.

Her work also included spectral photographs and the position of curator of astronomical photographs at Harvard.

For her work, she was given the Henry Draper Medal by the National Academy of Science in 1931. She was awarded an Honorary Doctor of Science degree by Oxford University. Miss Cannon was the first woman so honored.

At the time of her death, she was considered to be one of the world's foremost women astronomers.

on the federal funds market. The term Federal funds may be misleading since the federal funds market has nothing to do with the U.S. government. It applies, rather to short term loans between banks and other financial institutions and affects the cost of maintaining adequate cash reserves. The rate on the federal funds market thus directly affects those that banks must charge.

Among other factors is the demand on local banks inherent in the higher rates on 6 and 30 month certificates of deposit just months ago. Although these rates have dropped, local banks have a number of CDs at the higher rate still outstanding. They have to be in a position to honor those rates.

Thus, the practical picture for local financial institutions will be likely to change only as all indicators show that lower interest rates are here to stay for a reasonable period. Local banks need this kind of assurance before risking funds at lower interest rates on such long term ventures as the mortgage market.

Mrs. Brown also said, "Looking back to the very beginning of our program, we can certainly say that we are pleased with the way our center has progressed in the last 13 years. The center has only made a few changes - hours of operation, age requirement and pay scale. However, one idea that hasn't changed is the emphasis the center places on promoting the emotional, social, physical and educational, well-being of its children.

This means the center serves children regardless of social class, race, religion, or national origin. High priorities on the Center's list of long-range objectives include helping the child acquire a positive self-image and helping the child understand basic concepts in his world.

"By maintaining a well-organized atmosphere, the staff members are able to introduce the children to various learning experiences. We do this through the use of a fenced-in playground, an ample children's library, audio-visual equipment and many other well chosen classroom supplies.

"Because of the budget cuts, our enrollment has not been up to capacity. If you need child care service, you are welcome to enroll your child at a fee you can afford, for drop-in service, half day or whole day. You may call the Director's office for more information at 398-8587.

Sgt. Blackwell serves in Korea

by Spec. 5 John H. Sanders

SEOUL, South Korea - When the Korean armistice was signed after one of the bloodiest wars in history, the armies of both sides moved back from the positions they held near the 38th parallel. Though a permanent peace treaty has never been signed, American soldiers remain stationed south of the 155 mile long Demilitarized Zone (DMZ). Army Sgt. George E. Blackwell of Bridgeville, DE is among those who help maintain peace on the Korean peninsula that is divided into two nations.

Blackwell, 32, son of Margie M. Blackwell, 9 Gum St., Bridgeville, is personnel administrator with the 125th Air Traffic Control Battalion, Eighth Army, Seoul.

"It's my job to take care of personnel and administrative action for all individuals assigned to this battalion," Blackwell said. "I take care of such things as reassignments, leaves, equal opportunity and conduct classes in race and human relations."

Since 1953, soldiers of both sides have faced each other across the barren, deserted DMZ, and a delicate peace has been maintained. When asked if there was any fear in being only 70 miles from "No Mans Land," Blackwell replied, "My only fear is, will I be warned in time? To be honest, if there was a war, I'd rather be on the DMZ, so I could recognize the enemy a little easier."

Blackwell, who arrived in the "Land of the Morning Calm" in October 1981 and is serving his second Korean tour, said, "This is a truly fascinating country. It has scenic mountains that remind me of home. However, I'll always remember the military aspects of Korea most of all."

A 1968 graduate of Carver Senior High School, Blackwell enlisted in November 1970. "The biggest adjustment I've had to make since coming here is loneliness," he said. "I really miss my family and friends and most of all my wife."

Blackwell's wife, Victoria, currently lives at Fort Ord, Calif.
