

Audit of Lake Forest School District released

David F. Coady

According to a report released by the Office of Auditor of Accounts, the internal control review revealed a general lack of written procedures and a decentralization of the accounting function. Proper backup documentation was not available in many cases at the Central Business Office level. The report indicated that there was no evidence of a year-end inventory being taken nor were there any written property management procedures.

The filing of financial reports for federal funds for Fiscal Year 1982 was found to be untimely in 35 percent of the grants reviewed and 18 percent were in need of budget revision. The method of documenting, handling and accounting for swimming pool receipts was found to be in need of strengthening. Daily Activity Sheets used to account for swimming pool receipts were not numerically controlled, not always legible, not always signed by pool guests as required and not always correctly totaled. A copy of the sheet was not sent to the Business Office with the receipts. In one case, $439 remained undeposited for approximately a week while a District employee went on vacation.

Information concerning payroll deductions was difficult or impossible, according to the report, to verify using source documents of authorization for deductions signed by the individual employee. Most forms authorizing deductions were not in the personnel files.

A review of the District's Petty Cash Fund revealed the following items: "A management employee was advanced $100 and $50 on two separate occasions for meeting and conference expenses respectively, but did not provide receipts upon completion of the activity."

"Three management employees, one Board member and two wives attended a Teacher of the Year dinner that cost $115.80. One employee did not attend but the District was charged anyway. The District was not reimbursed for the wives."

"A management employee and another employee attended a retirement dinner for an individual not associated with the District at a cost of $30."

"A management employee sold a lawn mower for $70 and a clarinet with a case for $50 to the District without written verification of the value of the item or acceptance from another District official."

The Debt Service reserve at June 30, 1983, was $355,659. The balance due for the first four months of Fiscal Year 1984, plus a 20 percent allowance for working capital deducted from the June 30, 1983, balance gives an excess balance of $238,506. The total Debt Service expenditures for Fiscal Year 1984 will be $125,335. The report recommended that the tax assessment rate for Fiscal Year 1985 be reduced or a referendum be held to determine the disposition of excess tax moneys in the Debt Service Account.

The Lake Forest School Board entered into a lease agreement with Executive of Philadelphia, Inc., for the purchase of a telephone system, at a cost of $79,945 ($41,903 in principal and $38,042 in interest). The telephone system was not advertised for public bid in accordance with Title 29, Chapter 69, Delaware Code.

One administrative employee failed to reimburse the District $109 for the difference between the double and single room rate when his wife accompanied him on a trip to Atlanta, Georgia.

According to the Auditor of Accounts Dennis Greenhouse, the Lake Forest School Board is making efforts to improve these errors. "I have a letter on file from Gerald S. Lysik, Superintendent of Lake Forest School District, stating the audit report is accurate as presented." Greenhouse continued that the current District administration has responded to the report indicating that corrective action has been or will be taken to rectify discrepancies reported.

Old harness horses never die — they just go to Canada

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

HARRINGTON, DE - When harness horses reach the age of 15 in America, the law governing the racing of harness horses says you can't race them anymore. Some are coming into their own late in life, and can still do a real good job at racing. Nonetheless the law is the law.

Such is the case with the old happy warrior from Harrington.....Winter Son N ("N" for New Zealand). He turned 15 January 1st and by the law is no longer allowed to race in America. Saturday night at Dover Downs was the end of his most illustrious but very abbreviated career. Robert Burgholzer of Harrington owns the gelded son of Local Light out of Winter Maid N by Thurber Frost who was by Adios. Mr. Burgholzer announced this week that "Sonny" as he affectionately calls him will go to a new owner in Quebec, Canada. The new owner, Mr. Fiola is a 62-year-old businessman, who is a member of the amateur group which races twice a year for the trophy..... The Provincial Cup in Quebec, Canada. "Sonny" will like the cold weather in Canada. He hated the heat here. After a good workout here, I would have to put the hose of real cold water on his head to cool him off," said Burgholzer.

In 1983, "Sonny" was 14 years old. He raced 42 times, won 18 of those starts and collected $34,500 for his owner, Bob Burgholzer. That was a good performance, but that wasn't all. He established a new record for himself of 1:58.4f. In doing so he may have done what no other 14-year-old pacer in the history of harness racing had achieved. "He's tired now. He needs two months off," said Burgholzer. The new home and life may be just what the doctor ordered.

Winter Son "N" had a brief racing career in New Zealand. He was purchased from a farm at Christ Church, New Zealand by Burgholzer in 1977 for $3,000 and shipped back to the states. "He was in racing condition but not sound at the time. People thought I was crazy, I guess, but he impressed me with his unbelievable quickness," said Burgholzer. The quickness was one of "Sonny's" assets, for once he got him in racing shape that asset impressed everyone watching him or driving him. Jerry Connors at U.S.T.A. said, "He was the quickest leaving the gate I ever saw for a horse of his class. The post was no handicap for him. He would go around horses.....particularly on 5/8ths of a mile course like the wind."

The raw speed which Burgholzer first experienced when he drove him in New Zealand was not all of it. "He is a beautifully mannered horse. Speak to him.....he goes. Pull up on the lines and he slows down. He's just a nice horse," said Burgholzer. "To drive him.....to race him is like a car with power steering that can fly," he added.

All of these things are true about the sturdily build bay.....he goes well, and he acts like a champion. That is as long as things are going well for him. "You must realize too that when things are wrong with Sonny.....or not what he likes, he becomes a grumpy old man. He won't race," said Burgholzer. When he was claimed away from Burgholzer, the new owners found this out.

Burgholzer was to find out a lot about these little hang-ups, but it took time, patience, love for "Sonny" and spending lots of money. The first time he raced for Burgholzer was in 1977 at Roosevelt Raceway. "He broke lose a piece of calcium in his ankle.....and the next time he raced was 8 months later, and he won his first start at Harrington in 2:08.4h. The next day his hind leg was sore, so 5 more months were lost. It was a long road to final recovery, but he made it coming back at the age of 12. He raced off and on at 10 and 11 years old. He established a new record for himself of 1:59.2 as a 12-year-old at Brandywine on July 10, 1981, with two time North American Driving Champion Eddie Davis at the reins.

All the while, however, Burgholzer was to learn more about the New Zealand horse. "I discovered for instance that he could not wear the normal shoes. He wore thoroughbred shoes on the front feet," said Burgholzer. "On the hind feet he wore the full swedge instead of the normal half swedge normally used by pacers. The shoes he wears are normal for a trotter's rear feet. His style was more like that of a trotter.

"If we did not use this particular type of shoe, it would make him sore," said Burgholzer. He was also used to this type of shoe in New Zealand because there they race on the grass a lot.

The other problem "Sonny" has had to suffer with from time to time are arthritis hocks. "He has beautiful legs though, and they are in real good shape.....particularly for a 15-year-old," said Burgholzer. "We learned also not to train him too much either. That was very important in bringing him along," he added. "Sonny" it was learned did not like to train alone. He wanted to work and train on the racetrack with the other horses.

The training system which paid off for "Sonny" and Burgholzer was to train him a 1/2 mile in 1:08, the wrong way of the race track 2 days before he was to race on a deep sand track. Still he didn't like that.....but it suited him best of all.

But as Burgholzer pointed out ".....training with other horses, you could do anything you pleased with the bugger."

Prior to 1981 he had 15 wins in 59 starts. Then in 1981, he catapulted to 19 wins in 43 starts and a new record of 1:59.2f earning $38,148. In 1982, he got 11 wins in 37 starts earning $30,399 as a 13 year old. This year (1983) he started 42 times winning 18 of those for $34,584. "You know.....that's pretty good let me tell you. Not many horses win that many in a year. I guess the average is 5 or 6 wins a year for horses in this area," he said. He got a new record for this year of 1:58.4f.

He goes to Canada this week. "I'm going to give Mr. Fiola "Sonny's" harness too. He's used to it. We used a Dr. Bristol bit as opposed to a snuffie bit. He plays with his tongue a lot," said Burgholzer.

They also use the "can't see back" on his bridle. If you don't use "can't see back", he watches the driver and the whip most of the trip. If you used the whole blinder he was unhappy because he wanted to see the horses to the rear side. If he didn't see that much he would be unhappy too. So by going 50% he could see some of the field, but he couldn't see the driver or the whip. He was happy — and he would go," added Burgholzer.

These little things about "Sonny" made him a special kind of race horse. Special racing things made him special to the drivers. Special also is he in the heart of a good guy.....Bob Burgholzer. "He has been a friend these years.....a close friend. Getting rid of him like this is like losing a friend. My wife Mary and I will miss him," said Burgholzer.

Melvin to seek old seat on council

by David F. Coady

HARRINGTON - Curtis Melvin, who resigned his seat over a dispute with the Mayor over the Police Department, is seeking election to his vacated seat. He will be opposed in the Second District by Sue Ellen Dennis. Ray Gagne is unopposed in the Fifth District and Donald Jarrell is unopposed in his bid to retain the seat he was appointed to in the Sixth District. Jarrell was appointed Councilman when Bobby Quillen had to resign because he was elected State Representative.

It is not clear whether ballots will have to be printed for the Fifth and Sixth Election Districts. "The City Charter is a bit vague on this and we must get a decision from the City Solicitor, William Walls," said City Manager Norma Short. Because there is an election in the Second District, ballots may have to be supplied for the other two districts. This would allow write-in votes in those districts. "I believe that people should have a chance to cast write-in votes," said City Councilman Ray Gagne.

Melvin's December 1 resignation read: "Please be advised that since you refused to let me be heard at the Personnel Meeting on November 30, 1983, I hereby resign as Councilman of the Second Ward as of noon, December 2, 1983. Apparently, you do not want the truth to come out, and I cannot be a part of such actions."

Melvin claims that the letter of resignation was never read aloud at a regular meeting of City Council and therefore may not be official. "I requested that the City Manager obtain an opinion from the City Solicitor, but no matter what, I shall be at the Annual Citizen's Meeting on Friday," Melvin said.

Melvin, who served as Police Commissioner when he was a Councilman, has claimed that it was not proper to pay the Police Chief overtime pay. The Police Chief, Carl McIlroy, claims that he is paid as an administrator and that his overtime stems from his doubling as a patrolman. The Police Department now consists of the Chief and one patrolman. Melvin stated that he believes there must be something wrong within the Police Department that the force cannot retain good patrolman. "It may be pay, working conditions or a personality problem," Melvin said.

Melvin said that the mayor would not allow him to speak out at Personnel Meetings (Executive Sessions that are closed to the public). "I will be speaking out on this issue at the Annual Citizens Meeting," Melvin said. "The Mayor will have no choice but to listen."

Sue Ellen Dennis is also a candidate to represent the Second District. Dennis stated that she is running because she is interested in serving the community. "I want to learn and help," Dennis said. "I don't have any controversial issues," she continued.

All candidates for public office are to be at the Annual Citizens Meeting Friday, January 6 at City Hall, 110 Center Street. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. The election will be held on January 10 from 12 noon to 7:00 p.m. The polling station is City Hall, 110 Center Street.

Milford man dies in gun mishap

MILFORD - James L. Smith, 23, of North Washington Street was killed in an apparent gun mishap Saturday night when he shot himself in the head with a .38-calibre handgun. According to police, James Kidd, also of Milford and a friend of Smith's who witnessed the incident, told police that he and Smith were about to leave the Washington Street apartment when Smith picked up the .38-calibre handgun from a table and appeared to remove the bullets.

Kidd informed the police Smith then pointed the revolver at his head and pulled the trigger. Kidd said the gun did not fire and he told Smith to "knock it off", then turned to leave the apartment and heard the gun go off.

Kidd said that when he turned around again he found Smith lying on the floor.

Police said the investigation is continuing pending an autopsy and lab results. Smith was employed by Gary's Dockside of Milford.

Roll your own newspaper logs

If your woodpile is getting low, chances are there's a supply of fire-place fuel conveniently delivered to your door each day. Delaware extension garden and home improvement agent Dr. Willie Adams says newspaper logs are a good alternative to firewood.

As a source of energy, newspaper logs are almost as efficient as the real thing—and the price is right. Even a skinny edition will make one log, while a Sunday paper could furnish six or seven.

Rolling newspaper logs is easy, but messy. Wear old clothes and rubber gloves. Adam says it's best to work in a basement or garage.

Dissolve three-fourths cup of laundry detergent in a laundry tub full of water. Divide the newspaper into sections about half an inch thick, and fold them into half-pages of 12 by 15 inches. Soak the paper in the detergent solution for a few hours or overnight. The detergent will help the paper absorb water and reduce the amount of fine ash. (NOTE: It's best not to do this job in a bathtub; the newsprint will leave a mess.)

When the paper is well soaked, roll each section, one after the other, around a broomstick or other thin rod. Squeeze out the excess water as you smooth the surface. Then slide the rolls off the rod and stand them on end to dry, tipping them a bit to allow air to circulate inside.

The logs should be about 12 inches long and two to four inches in diameter, Adams says. They are ready to burn when they are completely dry. This could take a few days, or a couple of weeks for thicker logs. Each log will burn at least half an hour, depending on thickness.

Rolled-up newspapers aren't as glamorous as big oak logs. But when they're blazing in your fireplace, you won't know the difference.

Veterans Administration Affairs

Editor's Note: Following are representative questions answered daily by VA counselors. Full information is available at any VA office.

Q - I have a war related injury and my kids are ready to start college. Are they entitled to any help from the VA? A - Perhaps. The college-age children of veterans who suffer from permanent and total service-connected disabilities may be entitled to education benefits similar to those granted veterans. The students can use this benefit for college as well as for other types of training, and can make application either through the VA directly or through the Veterans Affairs Office at school.

Q - I now receive 100 percent service-connected disability compensation. My wife and I plan to divorce. Will she be entitled to a portion of my compensation after we are divorced?

A - No. Her entitlement to all benefits ceases when your divorce is final.

Q - I have a disability claim pending with the Veterans Administration. I have been told to sign a power of attorney. What does that mean?

A - There are many service organizations who retain accredited representatives to assist in presenting claims before the VA. A power of attorney would authorize one of those organizations to act in your behalf for your claim.

Heroin enslaves mind and body

by William T. Ficka and David F. Coady
[Editor's note: This is the eighth in a series of articles on drug and alcohol use and abuse, mainly among teenagers. Because of cuts made for space allowances in last week's article, the withdrawal symptoms for barbiturates were incorrectly listed as the withdrawal symptoms for amphetamines. The lines that were cut and those pertaining to withdrawal symptoms should read as follows:
Large amounts of amphetamines can cause the user to become overactive, talkative, irritable, suspicious and sometimes violent. Large quantities can cause liver and brain damage in addition to cardiac and blood pressure disturbances.
Convulsions, coma and death have often been reported.
Toxicity can cause what is known as "amphetamine psychosis" which resembles paranoid schizophrenia. Those in this state often exhibit bizarre and sometimes violent behavior.
Social and family relationships, along with moral values and self-respect deteriorate to such an extent that they are virtually non-existent.
The "speed freak," like the heroin addict, will do anything to support his habit.
Sedatives, the drug in the second group, depress the central nervous system.
Tranquilizers and sleeping pills are also in this group.
Sedatives fall into three categories: barbiturates, nonbarbiturates and benzodiazepines.

Barbiturates (barbs, goof balls, blue heaven, yellow jackets, red devils, downers) are the most commonly abused of all the sedatives.
It is implicated in nearly one-third of all reported drug-induced deaths.
Phenobarbital (phenie), secobarbital (red devil), pentobarbital (yellow jacket) and amobarbital are all barbiturates.
They are physically and mentally addictive.
Withdrawal symptoms are tremors, anxiety, nausea, abdominal cramps and vomiting. Delirium, delusions and hallucinations sometimes last for days or even months.
The stimulants, sedatives and hallucinogens might be described as moderately hard drugs because of the harmful physical and psychological effects suffered by users.
But the truly hard drugs are the narcotics.
A narcotic is a pain-killing drug that induces sleep. When we speak of narcotics we generally are referring to opium and its derivatives such as morphine, heroin, paragonic and codeine. All of these opiates and others come from the juice of the poppy fruit.

The substance in opium that kills pain was discovered by Frederick Serturmer, a German pharmacist, in 1803. Originally called morphium, after Morpheus, the God of Sleep, we know it today as morphine.
Morphine was one of the most effective pain-killers ever discovered by man.
But counterbalancing its great advantage as a pain-killer was its serious disadvantage as a strong addictive substance with severe withdrawal symptoms.
When morphine is subjected to the chemical action of acetic anhydride it produces heroin which is about six times stronger.
When heroin was placed on the market in 1898, it was believed to be non-addictive. A few years later, researchers discovered it was more addictive than morphine or any other drug.
Heroin can be snorted (sniffed through the nostrils like snuff) but it is usually injected subcutaneously (skin popping) or intravenously (mainlining). Sometimes, to avoid detection, the addict injects it between the toes or under the tongue.
The heroin "high" lasts for several hours. The addict knows that 12 to 16 hours later the painful withdrawal symptoms will begin.

The withdrawal symptoms are dreaded by the heroin addict. He knows that he will scream, shake, sweat, and suffer chills, running nose and eyes, severe abdominal pains, leg cramps, backache and diarrhea.
To avoid these agonies he must begin the frantic scramble for a new supply.
Since a heroin habit can cost $100 and more a day, it is no wonder that many addicts resort to crime to support their addiction. The men usually resort to shoplifting, pushing drugs, pimping and car theft. The women will get their drug money by way of shoplifting and prostitution.
The life expectancy for heroin addicts is 15 to 20 years lower than for non-addicts.
Someone who has been using very diluted heroin and has never developed tolerance, can die within minutes from an overdose if, by chance, he obtains pure heroin.
The tortures of drug addiction are graphically described in Nelson Algren's novel The Man With the Golden Arm. A powerful movie, adapted from the book, was made starring Frank Sinatra. There are some unforgettable scenes as Frankie Machine, played by Sinatra, tries to "kick the habit" cold turkey.

People's Right to Know

State vs. Church-The other side of the coin

by David F. Coady

Several weeks ago this newspaper carried an editorial by William Ficka and myself "The Left Wing and Area Churches." We felt that there is a danger when churches overstep the boundary in the Church-State relationship. I would like to now deal with the other side of the coin....when the state is the guilty party in overstepping the line of Church-State relationship. The case in point is the State of Nebraska vs The Faith Christian School of Louisville, Neb.

Faith Christian School is operated by the fundamentalist Faith Baptist Church. The school refused to bow to state regulations which critics say will mold private schools into carbon copies of the state operated public school system. So far seven fathers of children that attend the Faith Christian School have been incarcerated by the state. More than 200 fundamentalist Pastors from across the country have been operating the besieged school.

Supporters of Faith Baptist range from the ultra-conservative to the ultra-liberal. Moral Majority leader Rev. Jerry Falwell has been in Nebraska in support of the school and the Nebraska Civil Liberties Union (NCLU) is supporting the school. Faith Baptist offered a compromise to the state whereby the school would submit its students to national standardized achievement tests annually, to be administered by outside, objective agencies such as McGraw-Hill. The state refused to even consider the compromise offer. Faith Baptist claims that its students do better than public school children of the same grade in such tests. NCLU Executive Director Dick Kurtenbach said he favors testing as an alternative to prior state certification.

Not only is the Nebraska vs Faith Baptist a question of State vs Church but also a question of individual rights. Does the state have the right to dictate to an individual parent what kind of education is best for the child? It may be true that the state has a responsibility to supply a "free" public school system. But does the state have a right to dictate to private or religious school systems? Don't the parents have a say in how when and where their children will be educated?

All those that supported the Civil Rights issue in the 1950's and 1960's should be rallying to the Religious Rights issue in the 1980's. Also at stake is individual rights. Regardless of your race, creed or color you should be "up in arms" over Nebraska vs Faith Baptist. The public should demand that all Federal funds be cut off to Nebraska's public school system until the state stops interfering with the rights of individuals and private school systems.

Faith Baptist's fight is everyone's fight. If the state is successful in its efforts to make Faith Baptist conform to the wishes of the state, then all other churches are in jeopardy. If one state is successful how far behind will the other 49 be or for that matter the federal government? I know that Nebraska vs Faith Baptist is not as explosive as the Nuclear Freeze, as international as Central America or as political as "Run Jessie Run", but one thing it is.....it is an issue of American rights. It is a classical case of Constitutional rights. If Faith Baptist loses, then we might as well rip up the Constitution and toss it in the trash can. For it will be "1984" in more ways than one.

World's most expensive Christmas Tree

It may not make the official Guinness Book of Records, but the "World's Most Expensive Christmas Tree" is the one we decorated in the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee room.

The tree is entirely adorned with overpriced military spare parts, such as the ones I uncovered during a Governmental Affairs Committee hearing on spare parts and support equipment. The "world's Most Expensive Christmas Tree" is decorated with hammers, wrenches, screws, nuts and bolts...in short, the simple items for which the military has been paying dearly.

Total value of the tree (Pentagon prices): $101,119. It cost us $110.25 to buy the simple parts at local hardware stores and supply houses.

The tree, like all good holiday trees, is symbolic. It symbolizes the outrage that many Delawareans, including myself, have felt at these examples of military waste.

It's time to do something about it. I intend to introduce comprehensive legislation that will reform the military spare parts system after Congress returns in 1984. The bill will encompass at least four major changes:

*Reforming the DoD personnel system so that cost-effectiveness is rewarded. Right now, for example, only 5% of an employee's rating is based on how much money he or she saves.

*Requiring tougher audits by lowering the audit threshold from $500,000 to $100,000.

*Requiring contractors to spell out whether they plan to manufacture the parts themselves or get them from another supplier and certify that the government is getting the best price. We don't want DoD to pay $4,000 for a wrench that the next customer might get for $15.

*Requiring procurement officials to have a general knowledge of the part they are purchasing. Is it really so difficult, for example, to obtain an illustration of the part so they can see how complex it is?

Next year, if we build a spare parts Christmas tree, let us hope that its cost will have decreased dramatically. Passage of my legislation, I believe, would help ensure that the government gets the best, most reasonable price it can on the parts it buys. Simple reforms — built right into the law — can go a long way towards changing the system.

That opium and its derivatives can enslave the mind and body has been known for centuries.

An old Chinese proverb tells us: "If you have a bitter enemy whom you

Gab Fest

Christmas Day on the calendar is over, but Christmas is not over. We will carry the wonder and the magic and the glory that is Christmas every day in our hearts. In the days to come we have to deal with our human side and a bit of sadness touches us when we pack away the shining ornaments and eat the last crumb of the delicious special food, and say goodbye to the dear ones who have spent the holidays with us, but there is comfort and blessing if we but reflect.

One of my special gifts (and they were all special) was another book by Winston Abbott, who wrote "The Song of the Cricket." One store in the Christmas village I told you about at Thanksgiving had the books by Winston Abbott for sale. Because I had not finished my shopping for others, and the budget was slim, I refrained from buying one for me. But somehow, our dear Carole crept around behind my back and purchased one for me, and I did not know it until Christmas morning. The one she selected for me was "Come Walk Among the Stars". As always, I found just the message I needed when I was a big "let-down" after the holidays.

My life, like everyone else's has some problems with sorrow and pain, but there is help and comfort if we but seek it. I want to share these beautiful words with all of you who are struggling with loneliness, sorrow or grief. They are from my new book by Winston Abbott. Quote:

"There can be no rainbow until the storm is passed — and remembering this I gain courage to face the turbulence and the stress — and remembering that there could be no rainbows if there had not been light — and I ask myself — Could spring's fresh beauty light your heart as high — Had not dark branches etched the winter sky — There can be no shadows until the storm has passed — And, remembering this I gain courage to face the turbulence and the storm."

Believe it or not, I picked the last pink Radiance rosebud on the bush by the shop, just a few days before Christmas. In doing so, I pricked my finger with a thorn and have had an infection from that, but I put the little rosebud on the kitchen window sill in the wee Toby jug. The cold had done its work, and the beautiful bud, while perfect could not open for me, but it brought its own blessing. The last paragraph in Abbott's book says this: Quote: "If you remember a single blossom that defied the frost — you have no reason to fear this great mystery that is life — for you hold its secret deep within your heart."

Sadly, all the Christmas stories we hear are not inspirational. I'm sure many of your hearts ached for the wee newborn baby found abandoned in a yard in Dover. The breaking point was that it died from cold and rain with its tiny thumb in its mouth, seeking the only comfort a baby knows. We have dear friends who have a little girl ten years old, and she said to us: "If that Mommy had had Jesus in her heart, she would not have thrown away her baby like that. Truly, out of the mouths of little children. Bless those parents who are teaching their children to know the Truth!"

Of course we had our usual fellowship and dinner at Ellen's house. Some of the same ones come every year and each year some are absent, either from death, illness or other causes. This year we were especially delighted to have our close friends, Rev. Hubert Jiche and his wife, Ellie. Hubert asked the blessing and we were especially blest to have Ellie sing Silent Night for us in German. After the meal our own Ronald read the Bible story of the birth of the Christ Child, followed by prayer. At midnight we all sat around the fireplace and ate Ellen's delicious Cinnamon Bread, hot and buttered.

Senior Center

Happy, Happy New Year! Smile! Life is but a day at most. Burns.

Must tell you a little of what happened at the Center, December 23, 1983. It was our Christmas dinner - turkey and all the fixin's. The festivities started almost as soon as we entered the Center. Charlotte our director and Troy Dennis had planned an early opening for the day — Troy told the story of the Little Drummer Boy - Read from the Bible of the Birth of Christ (the true meaning of Christmas) We all said a silent prayer and Troy finished with the remainder of the prayer. We sang a couple of Christmas songs. Penny Sue and Troy sang a song their Dad taught them when they were very young children. (I'm Getting Nothin' for Christmas). Penny, Troy, Penny Sue and I sang "We Wish You a Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year!"

Three nice remembrances were drawn. Dinner was served elegantly by the men. There were about one hundred and fifty people here. Bernadette sent in favors for everyone. Thank you so much honey! Santa Claus came and passed out a bag of goodies to all present. Gladys had Christmas paper cups filled with mints and chocolates at each place. Every table was adorned with a fresh log, candle and greenery put together by Ruth Bradley. Sylvia Meredith said Grace. The Band played - the chorus sang and all had a gala time.

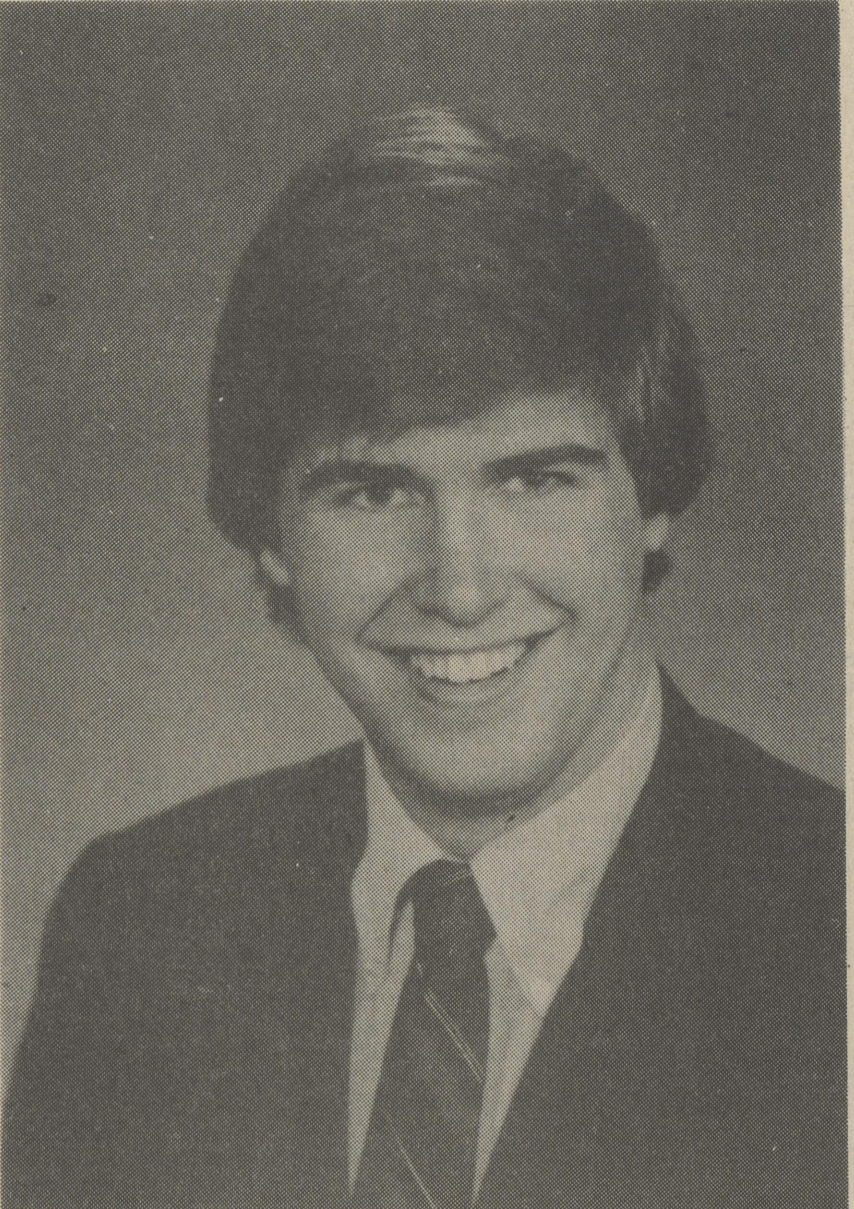

Monday was a holiday in extension by Christmas. Cold weather hampered a lot of visiting but most everyone had a nice Christmas Sylvia Meredith directed Senior Sounds Tuesday morning. The chorus sounded so good.

Pool table is interesting, the men work hard beating each other at the game of pool.

It is nice to hear what everyone received for Christmas - What children came home and remembering Christmases past, present and future.

Best wishes to all and to all a good year! Love you. Faith!

Parishioners and friends of St. Stephen's celebrated their patronal feast of St. Stephen, the first martyr, on Friday. The Holy Eucharist was celebrated at 8:00 p.m. The Reverend Susan Mills, Vicar, was the celebrant, assisted by William Shaw, licensed lay reader. Following the Eucharist, the congregation enjoyed a potluck supper in the parish hall. Bess Burdiazk presented a most informative and moving paper on the history of St. Stephen's parish.

The church family invites its friends from the area to attend a special presentation on Saturday, January 7, at 7:00 p.m. in the church. The Rev. Dr. J. Robert Wright will present a talk with color slides on the Shroud of Turin, that mysterious cloth with the figure of a crucified man imprinted on it. Noted Church Historian to visit St. Stephen's Church

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Raughley Hill Road in Harrington, is honored to have as its guest the Reverend J. Robert Wright, D. Phil. On January 7, Dr. Wright will present a lecture accompanied by color slides entitled "The Holy Shroud of Turin - Miracle or Forgery?" This presentation will begin at 7:00 p.m. in the church. The public is cordially invited to attend this lecture on the holy shroud, believed by many to be the burial cloth of Jesus.

Father Wright, a priest of the Episcopal Church, is Professor of Ecclesiastical History and Chairman of the historical field at The General Theological Seminary in New York City. He has taught at that seminary since 1968. After receiving degrees from the University of the South, Emory University and The General Theological Seminary, Father Wright earned his Doctor of Philosophy degree from Oxford University, where he was a Fulbright scholar. A medieval scholar, Dr. Wright has long been interested in and has worked actively toward church unity. He has been a member of the Commission on Faith and Order of the World Council of Churches since 1977, a member of the Standing Commission on Ecumenical Relations of the Episcopal Church since 1977, a member of the Anglican/Roman Catholic Consultation in the USA since 1971 and a member of the Anglican/Orthodox Consultation in the USA from 1972 to 1976. In February of 1983 he was appointed by the Archbishop of Canterbury to be a member of the new Anglican/Roman Catholic International Commission, which had its first meeting in Italy in the summer of 1983.

The author of numerous books and articles, Father Wright is listed in Who's Who in Religion and the Directory of American Scholars. This spring, he received an honorary doctorate from the Episcopal Seminary of the Southwest in Austin, Texas, for his scholarship and service to the church. Father Wright is well-known for his lectures and scholarly work in this country and abroad.

Special Services to celebrate mission giving Mission giving for Peninsula United Methodist increased significantly last year. Bishop D. Frederick Wertz will celebrate this accomplishment when he preaches at special services, Sunday, Jan. 8, in Smyrna, DE at Asbury Church and in Cambridge, Md. at Zion Church.

Financial support for mission projects began last January. Since then the mission project, REACH, has touched the lives of many persons both far and near. Three students from Liberia in Africa have some of their educational costs paid by Church while they attend Wesley Theological Seminary in Washington, D.C. Other money has been sent to pay for nurses' salaries in Sierra Leone, Africa. Homeless people find temporary shelter at the Ruth Dorsey Shelter in Dover, DE., another REACH project. Another mission project, the Goodwill Council in Caroline County, Md., has received funds to begin addressing some of the economic and racial problems facing a rural county. Still another popular mission project is the adult retreat center planned for Camp Pecometh near Chestertown, Md.

About 70 percent of the churches up and down Delaware and Maryland's Eastern Shore are participating in some way to REACH, a program to raise mission money beyond the call of annual budgets. Support for world mission money has increased by 68%, and support for national missions is up by 13%. As of the end of November $101,224.82 has been contributed to REACH.

To celebrate an exciting first year of second-mile mission giving as well as to say thanks to the many churches that are making REACH possible, two services will be held on January 8. The first will be at Asbury United Methodist Church, Smyrna, at 3 p.m., with special music by the Asbury United Methodist Church Ringers, the Sanctuary Choir of Avenue United Methodist Church, Milford, and Marva Thomas, soloist. The second service will be at Zion United Methodist Church, Cambridge, Md. at 7:30 p.m. with music by the Chancel Choir of St. Mark's United Methodist Church, Easton, the Wesley Ensemble of Wesley Temple United Methodist Church, Salisbury, and Cynthia Matthews, soloist.

Each church has been asked to appoint special messengers to carry the story of Reach back home. If a church has financially supported REACH in 1983, a certificate of appreciation will be awarded.

Day Care Center concludes another year

As the New Year rapidly approaches, it gives those of us at the Harrington Day Care Center located in St. Stephen's Episcopal Church an opportunity to express our deepest thanks to the Harrington Community for the support it has given us throughout the year of 1983.

Perhaps, foremost in our minds is the support shown at our Annual Christmas Program and Party. This year's offering was a success due to the combined efforts of the children, the staff, and the parents of the Center. The theme of this year's program was "love." An attribute openly expressed by those who cheerfully and wholeheartedly took part in the creation of the Christmas Program and Party. We didn't fully comprehend how deeply we were loved until we welcomed to our program eighty-three (83) parents, relatives, and friends of the children involved in the program. To those parents who contributed cookies, cupcakes, ice cream, a Santa Claus cake, and gifts to the staff, we say thank-you for your caring. Even to Santa Claus who gave us his busy schedule to be with our children we send a grateful thank you.

However, the Harrington community has not only shown love toward us during this Christmas season but also throughout the year. Love, support, and encouragement were shown by private parents who stood by us during cutbacks that were made in the last two years. Love and support were shown by community organizations like the Harrington Jaycees and the Harrington 4-H Club who donated not only Halloween treats, Easter eggs and candies but also their time as well. Love was shown by the children at the Center who so willingly learned what the staff had to offer.

Love, encouragement, perseverance, and patience were shown by the staff toward the children despite obstacles faced in trying to uphold the Day Care standards to its highest level.

Love, encouragement, and support were shown by the vicar and members of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church who so unselfishly gave their time and help in our moments of trouble. Love, understanding and caring were shown by the foster grandparents at the Center who worked daily to help the staff with their activities and who gave so much of themselves.

Mainly, though, the children and staff of the Harrington Day Care Center would like to thank the Director of the Center for her love and determination in successfully combining all the above groups of people in order to make 1983 a year we shall all remember.

Truly, this has been a good year for us. We hope the love expressed in 1983 will continue to manifest itself in 1984. Arrange to visit the Center and see how the staff works with the children enrolled there. Our Day Care Center offers its services to children regardless of social class, race, religion, or national origin. The public is always welcome at the Center.

Community Swim Team makes waves at State Meet

The New Wave Swim Team continues to grow and improve as the season moves into full swing. The Senior Team has picked up additional swimmers and are swimming 3 to 4 miles per practice session, quite a difference from previous years. Senior Coach Bob Brown says that "Kelly Rawding has a good shot at the Zone All-Star Team in Virginia. Jessica Coe (of Dover) has one of the top 5 times recorded in the Middle Atlantic Zone this year. With Bob Bates, Dan Haines, Lance Hogsten (of Dover) and Mike LeClerc (of Lewes) we have the potential for a major level relay team."

This past week the Senior Team competed at the Delaware State (age group) Championships in Wilmington. The highlight was Jessica Coe winning the 50 yard breaststroke in the 12 and under group. Jessica became Lake Forest's first ever State Champion in swimming.

Hunting and Fishing on Delmarva

TAX CHECKOFF TO BENEFIT WILDLIFE: House Bill 149 "The Nongame Wildlife, Endangered Species, Natural Areas Preservation Fund" was created by the Delaware General Assembly to provide money to allow The Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Control to protect, preserve and manage nongame and endangered wildlife species and unique natural habitat. The Bill authorizes Delaware taxpayers to voluntarily designate all or a portion of their state tax refunds to the new program.

The fund has been created because of dwindling federal support for conservation programs and the increased need for protecting fragile animal species and wildlife habitat. Many rare species native to the state, such as the Delmarva fox squirrel, the American bald eagle and the bog turtle, face a critical struggle for survival. Natural animal habitats and wildflower and woodland areas also require protection to ensure their future. Nearly 100 areas have been identified in the state for their unique natural beauty and importance to the ecology. To date, however, only three have been formally dedicated as nature preserves.

"This program is for the benefit of this and future generations," said Governor Pete du Pont.

"The fund will be a major source of money to support much-needed research, public education and management programs designed specifically to benefit nongame wildlife," according to the Secretary of DNREC, John Wilson. The state's Office of Nature Preserves, within the Division of Parks and Recreation, has been operating on a shoestring since its inception in 1978, said its coordinator, Charles A. Salkin. "The tax checkoff will allow us to strengthen the office and to implement Delaware's natural areas preservation system."

Contributions to Delaware's Nongame Wildlife, Endangered Species, Natural Areas Preservation Fund can be made by noting the amount on line 18 of this year's state income tax form. Donations can be all or a portion of the refund and can be claimed as a deduction on next year's state and federal tax returns.

SURF FISHING VEHICLE PERMITS: The State Division of Parks and Recreation announced this week that 1984 Surf Fishing Vehicle Permits are now available. 1983 permits expired December 31. Permits for surf fishing vehicle registered by the Delaware Motor Vehicle Division are $30.00 for calendar year 1984. Permits for those vehicle registered and licensed by out-of-state Motor Vehicle Departments are $60.00.

Permits are available Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. at Cape Henlopen State Park, Delaware Seashore State Park, Lums Pond State Park, Brandywine Creek State Park and Central Park Office, Richardson and Robbins Building, 89 Kings Highway, Dover. Phone 736-4431 for further information.

LAND DONATED TO THE STATE: A 13.5 acre donation of prime wetlands, located less than one mile south of the Indian River Inlet has been made to Delaware's Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Control. The bayfront parcel has been designated as wetlands on the state's wetlands maps and will be added to the wetlands administered by the Division of Parks and Recreation as a part of Delaware Seashore State Park.

The property is being donated outright by Sea and Pines, Inc., a private concern incorporated in Delaware with offices in Houston, Texas. The corporation is represented by Wilmington Attorney William F. Lynch II. Lynch said the corporation was established by the late Ruby R. Vale, a long-time Delaware resident who set up the corporation to oversee his substantial land holdings.

"The late Mr. Vale, although as an attorney he practiced primarily in Philadelphia, retained his Delaware contacts throughout his life," Lynch said. "The Vale family is noted for its philanthropic concerns."

The week in Harness Racing --A Round-up

At Roosevelt Raceway on Saturday night Shannon Fella won for the second straight week in 2:00.1. The $25,000 Open Handicap Pace had Bill O'Donnell in the sulky. Ivan Hanover was second, and Remarkable N third. In the co-feature race of the night Lumbering Mel with Milford, Delaware native Jim King, Jr. got up for the win.

Lucky Lady won the $6600 Open Pace at Pompano on Saturday night winning in 1:59.2. The $3,800 winner's share of the purse boosted her 1983 winnings to $508,144. She had to do it if she was going to do it for it was naturally the last day of the year. She set a new single season record for earnings by a 3-year-old pacing filly, beating Three Diamonds' old mark of $502,224 set in 1982.

Bill O'Donnell won the $4,000 featured pace at Freehold Raceway on Friday, and also picked up at the same time his 400th win of the year. By doing so, the great young reinsman joined Davis, Case and Bill Gala of Detroit/Windsor as winners of 400 races in 1983. O'Donnell won $5,794,239 through the 26th of December.

Eddie Davis won the 1983 North American Driving Championship for the second time in his driving career. Winning it the year before last over Herve Fillion, Davis finished with a total of 469 (unofficial) victories. Only Herve Fillion (6 times) and Walter Case, Jr. (last year with 471) have won more races in North America in a single season. On October 17th of 1983, Eddie Davis had 835 wins. He trailed John Campbell by 35. Both Campbell and O'Donnell were eating up the wins. In the last two and one half months of 1983, Davis won 134 races, and went from 35 down to 41 up. Walter Case,

Jr. ended up with 428 wins (unofficial). "Just goes to show you what Eddie can do when he sets his mind to it," said Jerry Connors at USTA.

On January 1st His, owned by Mel Joseph of Georgetown won the feature at Dover Downs in 1:57.2 with Eddie Davis in the sulky. His is trained by Wayne Givens. It was a new track record bettering by one full second, the old mark His co-held with Inner Karama (1982).

Lady Spartans drop two

The High School Girls' Swim Team began its second season of competition and while every team member has improved greatly over last year, it dropped its first two dual meets. Lake Forest lost to McKean 119-51 and 118-48 to Archmere Academy. The Girls' coach Denny Berry has high praise for the girls who are led by Kristen Reid, Patty Drew and Lori Wilson. "Our girls are so young and inexperienced that against the upstate schools, we are outnumbered, but never outclassed. Our girls give 100% in every meet and cheer each other on, the results show in my record sheets of individual times, but not on the score board." Berry points out that many of the girls are already swimming faster than last year and every swimmer has dropped in times from the first time trial in early December. "We have many first year swimmers and girls who have had no previous swim team experience. They are proving to themselves they can compete with the best," states Berry.

High school boy swimmers improve

The boys swim team began its 2nd year of high school competition and so far has shown great improvement. In the first dual meet against McKean, the Spartans scored 72 team points almost twice the total scored last year against McKean. At one point the Spartans held a one point lead before bowing 99-72. 1st year Swim Coach Denny Berry (formerly head age group coach for Community Swim Team) points out that several veterans return to give promise at the state meet on an individual basis. "Danny Haines, Robby Bates and David Gagne have provided consistency in the first two meets and soon we should see some other faces contributing and improving as the season progresses."

In the second meet against Archmere Academy, the Spartans almost pulled off the impossible. Last year Archmere defeated the Spartans by 32 points. This year Archmere had to win the final event to salvage a 84-83 victory. In the Archmere meet, Lake Forest won 7 of 11 events and set 6 school records. David Gagne and Tate Garey have provided a big difference between this year and last year by competing in the one meter Springboard diving event. Both Tate and David have placed in the top three in both dual meets. Coach Berry is very pleased with the Boys Medley Relay Team of Bates, Price, Haines and Gagne which has so far this year recorded the 4th fastest Medley Relay time in the state.

Sports Laffs

by William T. Ficks
The great billiards champ was having health problems.
Every time he would bend over the table he began gagging, choking and watering from the eyes.
He went to about a dozen doctors, but none of them could help him.
The last doctor he consulted told him, "I give you only a year to live. Enjoy yourself while you can."
The billiard champ immediately booked passage on an around-the-world cruise. He then went to a famous tailor and ordered a complete custom-made wardrobe.
The tailor started to measure him. "Sleeve-35", said the tailor, "collar-16 1/2."
Hold it!" cried the billiard champ, "I've always taken a 15 1/2 collar."

The tailor measured him again. "I was right, sir," said the tailor, "16 1/2 is your correct size."
The billiard champ insisted he took size 15 1/2.
"All right, have it your way," said the tailor, "But if you wear 15 1/2, don't be surprised if you start gagging, choking and watering from the eyes."

She's only a prizefighter's daughter, but she knows all the ropes.

Yogi Berra and Whitely Ford once went to a fancy restaurant. The place was filled to capacity and a long line of diners stood behind a rope waiting to be seated.
Yogi studied the line impatiently. "No wonder no one comes here," he growled, "It's too crowded."

Martinsville.....

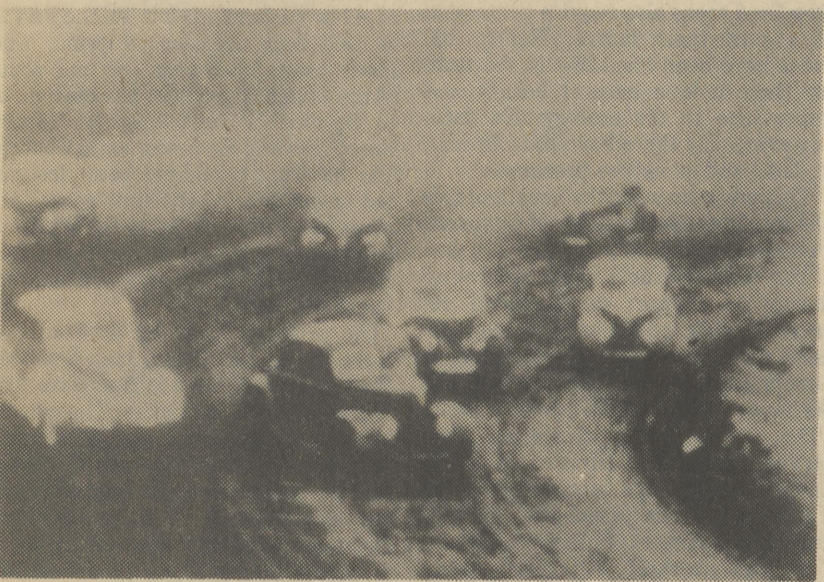

Past & Present

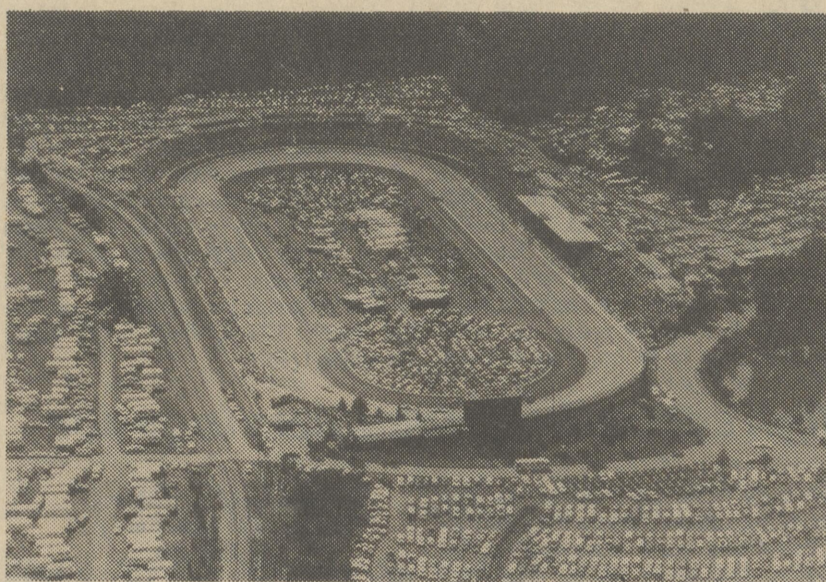

READY FOR 37TH YEAR - Martinsville Speedway President H. Clay Earles, [shown left], getting ready to present some trophies, will be starting his 37th year of promoting races at the beautiful .526-mile facility. The speedway opens its 1984 season on Sunday, March 25 with the running of the Miller Time 500 for Late Model Sportsman and Modified cars.

MARTINSVILLE TODAY - Darrell Waltrip leads the way as NASCAR's Winston Cup Grand National cars dive into the first turn at Martinsville Speedway during the running of the Goody's 500 last fall. The speedway's first 1984 Winston Cup Grand National event will be the Sovran Bank 500 on Sunday, April 29 as the track starts its 37th season of operation.

THE WAY THEY WERE - Vintage cars kick up rooster tails of dust at the opening race at Martinsville Speedway in 1947 on what then was a dirt track. The .526-mile facility, one of the most beautiful and modern race plants, opens its 1984 season on Sunday, March 25 with the Miller Time 500 for Late Model Sportsman and Modified cars.

THE FANS' RACE TRACK - Here is an aerial view of the beautiful Martinsville Speedway during the running of the goody's 500 last September. The .526-mile facility, called the "fans' race track," will be operating for its 37th season in 1984. The speedway kicks off the 1984 season on Sunday, March 25 with the Miller Time 500 for Late Model Sportsman and Modified cars.

NASCAR names five Vice-presidents

DAYTONA BEACH, FL - A structural reorganization within the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing has resulted in the naming of five vice-presidents, NASCAR President Bill France, Jr., has announced. Jim France, Executive Vice-President/Secretary for NASCAR joined Bill France, Jr., in making the announcement.

Ken Clapp has been named Vice-President for NASCAR's Western Operations. Jim Foster was named Vice-President for Marketing and Communications. Bill Gazaway now has the position of Vice-President for Competition. Jim Hunter will be Vice-President for Administration. Les Richter was named Vice-President for Planning and Development.

Clapp joined NASCAR as Western Marketing Manager in 1977, and has been a prime mover in the development of the Winston West Series. His main duties will include overseeing NASCAR's West Coast operations, including both weekly NASCAR operations and the Winston West Series.

Foster joined NASCAR in February of 1967 as assistant to the president and public relations director. Foster will now be directly responsible for NASCAR's marketing activities, as well as its promotional and publicity efforts.

Gazaway joined NASCAR as a technical inspector in 1963, becoming assistant technical director in 1967. A year later, he was promoted to Winston Cup competition director. Gazaway will retain his involvement in the competition aspects of NASCAR.

Hunter came to NASCAR in January of 1982 as director of public relations, and was named Director of Administration in August of the same year. He will continue his work with NASCAR's Winston Racing Series weekly racing programs, focusing special attention on Modified, Grand American, NASCAR North and Darlington Dash divisions.

Richter, a popular West Coast figure and former president of Riverside (Calif.) International Raceway, will head up NASCAR's long-range planning in his new position.

"We feel these changes will solidify NASCAR's role as world leader in motorsports," France said in making the announcement. "These are good and talented people, all of whom share in the progress NASCAR racing has made. We are extremely excited about the future of our sport, and we feel NASCAR racing will continue its growth in the years to come."

Holbert first Sunbank 24 entry with new Porsche

DAYTONA BEACH, FLA - Reigning Camel GT Champion Al Holbert is the first entry for the February 4 - 5 SunBank 24 at Daytona International Speedway.

The man who dominated the 1983 Camel GT Series and won the November Eastern Airlines 3 Hours in a Porsche March will be behind the wheel of a factory-supported Porsche 962 prototype.

This is the long-awaited evolution of the vastly successful European design Porsche 956 with which Porsche won the 1983 nWorld Endurance Championship crown.

While Holbert listed his co-drivers as "To Be Announced" the authoritative British motorsports journal Morning News says Mario and Michael Andretti have been given the assignment for their first American co-drive.

With the announcement that the Porsche 962 will be making its racing debut in the SunBank 24, officials at Daytona International Speedway are saying this year's Camel GT season opener will consist of the finest fields of exotic 200 mph prototype racing machines ever assembled in the world.

Among the factories expected to be represented are Jaguar, Ford, Mazda, Aston Martin, Datsun, Lola, March, Argo, Sauber, Osella and Lancia: all with exotic prototypes to test the vaunted Porsche supremacy.

The Porsche marque has appeared in the SunBank 24 Victory Circle for the last seven years.

Holbert, who also co-drove to win in the 1983 24 Hours of LeMans feels his car is the car to beat in the 24 hour test of auto racing endurance. "Nobody but nobody has a history of endurance racing excellence that can touch Porsche. The 962 evolved from the 956 and the 956 won every race it entered in the World Endurance Championship."

"I don't see why that record and Porsche's recent record at Daytona should change."

The big weekend of racing gets underway at 10:30 a.m., February 4 with the Eastern Airlines E1 Inter-american 3 Hours and the SunBank 24 at Daytona takes the green flag at 3:30 p.m.

Bobby Allison first guest on NASCAR Live

DAYTONA BEACH FL - The Motor Racing Network announced this week NASCAR Winston Cup Series champion, Bobby Allison will be the first special guest on "NASCAR LIVE", the new motorsports talk show, on next Tuesday, January 10th at 7:00 p.m. eastern time. The nationwide program will be hosted by Eli Gold, and will be carried live by WAFL (FM 97).

The new MRN feature will air weekly throughout the year from 7-8 p.m. eastern time on Tuesday nights. The show will feature a special guest each week from the ranks of NASCAR drivers, crew members, and officials, plus results from major motorsports events in the United States.

"We are extremely pleased to have Bobby Allison on our debut show," said

MRN General Manager John McMullin. "Bobby is a favorite of many of the fans and this will give some of them a chance to talk with him one-on-one. This kind of communication will make this show unique." Allison has been voted the most popular driver in Grand National racing on six occasions.

Race fans from all over the country will be able to make comments and questions the special guests by calling toll-free 1-800-2NASCAR.

After twenty years of trying, Allison won his first Winston Cup title in 1983. The third all-time Grand National winner captured six victories and finished 98% of the laps run in the 30-race series to win the prestigious championship.

Daytona 200 purse announced

DAYTONA BEACH, FLA - A record guaranteed purse of $103,000 has been announced for the March 11 Daytona 200 Motorcycle Classic at Daytona International Speedway.

The world's richest motorcycle race is also this nation's biggest annual international sports event with teams entering competition from 5 continents.

In making the announcement, John Riddle Speedway General Manager said, "We are pleased to announce the purse increase for this great race. It will be the 42nd running of this stellar event and we expect the best racing action in history."

Last year saw an epic battle between three-time World Champion Kenny Roberts on the Yamaha factory team and 1983 World Champion Freddie Spencer on his factory Honda. Roberts scored his second Daytona win.

UNO Twin purse increased by one-third

DAYTONA BEACH, FLA - The purse for the UNO Twin 125-mile qualifying races for the Daytona 500

A particularly strong international entry is expected as the Daytona 200 has become the world's premier motorcycle race. Among the international set is expected to be New Zealand's Greme Crosby, winner of the 1982 and coming out of a brief retirement.

Riddle said, "The sport of motorcycle racing has grown tremendously over the past several years and there's no doubt the spectator of these fine athletes racing at speeds of 170 mph adds to the attraction."

With more than 100 entries expected, the starting field will be limited to the 80 fastest riders in qualifying which begins on Thursday, March 8.

The full week of "Cycle 'Citement'" begins on Monday, March 5 and the wide array of motorcycle competition includes short track, motocross, observed trials, vintage racing, enduro and superbikes.

has been increased by a third this year, indicating a probable overall rise in stock car racing history. The 1984 amount is expected to be announced shortly when entry blanks are sent to competitors in the Winston Cup Grand National racing series.

This year's Daytona 500 will be Feb. 19. The UNO 125-mile qualifying races will be Feb. 16.

ENERGY SAVER. You can live in the comfort of the country in this very luxurious 3 bedroom home complete with all the conveniences. A beautiful brick fireplace decorates the living room while an efficient wood stove for the family room saves you money on the heating bills. According to the lady of the house "...the heat from the wood stove never allows us to turn on the electric heat. We never need it." The two baths gives that extra luxury. The finished basement allows the men of the house that seclusion so often needed. The family room is decorated with old ship-lap siding topped off with beautiful tongue and groove pine boards stained to their natural color. The two and a half car garage gives the man of the house that extra room for the work bench as well as a place to store those much desired trail-bikes. All of this on one and a half acres of land. Make an appointment to see it today. You will fall in love with it.
