

Council chooses Police Commissioner and increases salaries

by Harry G. Farrow Jr.
HARRINGTON - Following the death of Councilman Curtis Melvin, the City has been without a Police Commissioner. After a rather lengthy debate, Councilman Donald Jarrell was nominated and approved by his fellow council members.
Councilman Jack Wyatt nominated Councilman Roland Coleman for the post. Following a vote, Councilman Coleman received three votes with two voting against. Mayor Mann was all ready to name Councilman Coleman, who was absent from the meeting, to the vacant post when City Solicitor

William Walls pointed out that the charter requires four votes in favor of a motion in order to get it passed. Some discussion followed before a motion was made to take the matter up in executive session.
Following the executive session, Councilman Jarrell was nominated and received four votes in his favor.
The office of Alderman, which is held by Mrs. Anna Hampton, was also up for selection, but the Mayor said "...the Alderman remains until a successor is appointed."
The matter of "parking...only in front of the Salvation Army by Salvation vehicles loading or unloading" was discussed at length. Finally, it was decided that City Solicitor William Walls be commissioned to draw up an appropriate ordinance to cover the matter.

The City voted to delete certain wording in the policy making section pertaining to the payment of employees. The matter of "...holidays not to be counted in the payroll" was brought up by Councilman Jarrell. Up until now, City employees are paid for certain holidays. If a City employee did not work on a certain holiday, the employee was nevertheless paid for the holiday. If the same employee worked the other days of the week, where one day during the week is a paid holiday, and worked on a Saturday, the employee drew straight pay on the Saturday. Following Councilman Jarrell's motion with the same set of facts, the employee would be paid overtime on the eight hour shift on a Saturday. The theory being that with the paid holiday, a forty hour week would be reached. The Saturday would be construed as overtime. This situation would exist where a holiday appeared on a weekday. The motion carried and so approving amounts to a salary increase for City employees involved in this type of situation.

In other matters, the Council agreed to advertise and place on bids the sale of the army truck with the "old" compressor. They also agreed to study the advantages of purchasing a new compressor versus using outside help when an air compressor is needed. City employee Jack Kessler resigned, and the Mayor made three appointments to the Planning & Zoning Board. They were Watson Brown, Jack Aptt, and Elwood Brown, who will be filling the seats by outgoing members Benjamin Hughes, Jr. and Planning & Zoning Chairman, Harry G. Farrow, Jr. The Chairman had served on the Commission for 12 years.

The City also accepted a bid by Marvel Associates to construct a catch basin on Thomas Street and put in place an 8-inch pipe from the new catch basin to the old catch basin in order to drain the surface water along that street particularly that area directly behind the Nelson property.

Burris kicks off Senate Campaign

by William T. Ficks
John M. Burris' campaign for the U.S. Senate got off to a roaring start last Wednesday when he officially announced his candidacy at his parents' home on No. Shore Dr. in Milford.
The Republican Burris launched his bid for the Senate seat now held by Sen. Joseph R. Biden, Jr., D-Del. before about 100 supporters with a strong speech that portends a hard-hitting campaign to come.
Burris has taken on a formidable task in his attempt to unseat the two-term incumbent.
Biden has the name recognition factor in his favor along with the constant exposure and the national reputation afforded by his 11 years in the Senate.
But Burris will be anything but a pushover.
Burris is articulate in voicing his political beliefs. He comes across as a seasoned political veteran with a convincing manner and the ability to think on his feet.
These assets, needless to say, are as necessary for a successful political career as two arms and legs are for a professional boxer.
The 37-year-old Burris served three terms in the state House of Representatives. He served from 1979 through 1982 as majority leader of the House. His ability to hold together various warring factions earned him the nickname "The Ayatollah."
As a fiscal conservative Burris proudly cites his record in the House where he was a major force in the passage of a $22 million tax cut, the largest in Delaware history.

Burris stepped down in 1982 to devote more time to his family and business, Kent-Sussex Tire Service, a division of the family-owned Burris Foods, Inc.
In his Senate announcement speech Burris tore into Biden's performance in the Senate.
"What has Joe Biden done in his 11 years in the U.S. Senate?...I can tell you, not much," Burris said.
Burris said Biden has missed over 50 percent of the 480 record votes held by the Budget Committee from 1978 to 1983.

Commentary

Referring to the Judiciary Committee, Burris said, "This important committee has seen Joe Biden miss over 90 percent of the full committee hearings, numbering over 290. In other words, they have hardly seen him at all."
In accordance with tradition, Burris made the official announcement in all three counties.
Burris has shown surprising fundraising strength for so early in the campaign. He's raised about $200,000 of the $750,000 he estimates will be required for the race.
Burris has managed to put together a smoothly-run, professional organization thanks to the personable, efficient Bill Kenyon who serves as campaign manager and press coordinator.
Television commercials, direct-mail advertising and fund raising efforts are planned in addition to a political opinion poll.

Debates between Burris and Biden are planned for "sometime in the fall," according to Kenyon.
No small asset in the campaign will be Burris' attractive blonde wife, Linda W. Burris, and three handsome sons, Michael, 11, David, 8 and Scott, 4. They look as if they were sent straight from central casting.
When Burris wound up his three day swing through the state, he was greeted Friday night by about 400 enthusiastic supporters at a rally in Burris Headquarters in Milford.
Although he must know he faces an uphill struggle, Burris is supremely confident, a walking embodiment of Norman Vincent Peale's power of positive thinking.
Moreover, he has succeeded in inspiring his followers with his own air of confidence and enthusiasm.
Many upstaters have said "John Who?"
The feeling here is that it won't be long before the name John Burris is indelibly imprinted on their psyches.
Though many elections give only the option between Tweedledum and Tweedledee, this contest will give voters a clear choice between the liberal Biden and the moderate conservative Burris.
If the Burris team can maintain the pace and tone they've established, Delawareans can look forward to an old-fashioned donnybrook.
It should be interesting.

Lake Forest Task Force lists priorities

by William T. Ficks
Editor's Note: This is the second of two articles.
The fifth and final meeting of the Lake Forest District Task Force on education left its participants with a sense of accomplishment and an optimistic outlook for the future.
The first task force meeting was held on September 21 and the final one on January 30.
The various attributes of effectiveness and student outcome variables outlined in last week's article were discussed in detail during the course of the five meetings.
By the time the fourth meeting was held, the group had established its focus and was ready to zero in on top priorities.
Lysik said, "a smoother transition between elementary school and a better relationship between the school and the total community" should be among those given preference.

A movie exemplifying the latter was viewed by task force members.
The final meeting saw the group as a whole express the consensus that teacher salary increases, continued upgrading of the educational program through curriculum revision and long-awaited repairs for the high school's perennially leaky roof should be given top priority treatment.
Last week Lysik elaborated on what he means by a "smoother transition from elementary school to high school."
"It would mean training teachers to work jointly to make students work more successfully. For example, a math teacher may be working with the science teacher," Lysik said.

"For some students we may be going too far too fast," Lysik added.
The transition from elementary school where there is one teacher for all subjects to the higher grades where there may be five or six different teachers sometimes causes "a breakdown in communications," according to Lysik.
He also advocates a recycling of the guidance system and proper placement according to aptitudes and interests.
Lysik spoke proudly of "Project Self," a program aimed at helping students create a positive self image. One "model" program has been established in each of the three counties in the state.
"I brag to you," Lysik laughed, "and

Jones makes run for School Board

by William T. Ficks
George Jones of Felton officially announced his candidacy on Monday for the Lake Forest Board of Education.
Jones, a Dove Lawyer, will go head to head against Sarah L. Williams of Felton for the board seat now held by James Guessett who will not seek re-election.
"I would rather spend more time with my family right now," said Guessett who is assistant principal at Milford Lakeview school.
When asked if he expected strong opposition from Williams, Jones said, "Certainly."
The 39-year-old Jones is a partner in Twilley, Jones and Feliceangeli, a Dover law firm.
Jones holds law and accountancy degrees from the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Va.
Teacher salary increases are definitely a priority. The high school alone has lost four or five teachers already. They are making $4,000 or $5,000 more doing the same work," Jones said.
"We don't have the tax base to make salaries competitive," Jones added. "It is my understanding that each penny

George Jones

Jones said it is in the areas of planning and financial affairs that his knowledge of accounting procedures and money matters will be an asset to the school board.
Jones, a native of Dover, was educated in Dover schools before attending William and Mary. He served in the U.S. Army as an Infantry Lieutenant from February, 1970 to December, 1971. Almost one year of that time was spent in Korea.
Jones is the father of an eight-year-old son, Taylor. He is a PTA member at East Elementary School and Chairman of the Board of Trustees at People's Church in Dover.
Jones' wife, Pat, is a teacher at Lake Forest High School and sponsor of the school's yearbook. She is expecting another child in late July, and plans to request a maternity leave of absence to start in September.
During the 1982-83 school year, Pat was the Lake Forest School District's "Teacher of the Year."
Jones keeps in good physical shape by getting together with a group of lawyers every Tuesday night at the Old Felton School for some brisk basketball playing.

Rigby dies from injuries suffered in altercation

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.
WILMINGTON - Thomas "Buddy" Rigby of Magnolia is dead following an altercation which took place on January 25th in Harrington. Rigby had been hospitalized at Delaware Division of the Wilmington Medical Center in Wilmington approximately five hours following the alleged fight. He was air lifted to the Wilmington Center where he was placed on life supporting devices.
Apparently the fight developed as a result of George I. Harmon, a Lewes truck driver coming to the home of Mr. Rigby's daughter, Frances R. Dempsey and her husband Earle on Commerce Street complaining that Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey's 12-year-old son had thrown a snowball at his vehicle. Following the exchange of words, Harmon alleges that Mr. Rigby and Rigby's helper, Donald L. Wilson of Felton, jumped him, and he fought back.

Rigby following the fracas went to the Harrington Police Station where he gave an account of the incident to Chief Carl McIlroy. Rigby complained at the time of a broken jaw. When he returned to the Dempsey home, he collapsed, never to regain consciousness again. For the next sixteen days he remained in a coma with doctors holding very little hope of his regaining consciousness since there was very little brain activity. Family members alleged that Harmon's 13-year-old son hit Rigby over the head from behind with a tire iron. Harmon denies this allegation. Harmon allegedly stated that he acted in self-defense since Rigby and Wilson threw the first punches. Charges are now pending in the matter.

Lake Forest FFA to form alumni association

Seeing an opportunity to promote a greater knowledge of the agricultural industry and support education in agriculture, former members of the Lake Forest High School FFA, Felton High School FFA and Harrington High School FFA launched a drive last week in the Lake Forest School District to form an FFA Alumni Association.

The aim is to provide a mechanism whereby former members can actively promote and support the FFA organization, FFA activities and vocational agriculture.

The Lake Forest drive is part of a state and national effort currently underway to unite former members of the FFA into an FFA Alumni organization.

"Since the Lake Forest FFA Alumni is just now being formed, those who join within the next two months will be the charter members of the Lake Forest Community FFA Alumni Association," said Mike Layton, acting president of the organizational effort, "and we would like to have as many charter members as possible."

"We seek the help of every potential member in the area to organize and charter the Lake Forest Community FFA Alumni Association," said Mike. All former active, collegiate or honorary FFA members are eligible for membership.

According to Mike Layton, a minimum of ten members are needed to charter a local affiliate but we would like to have as many former members as possible on the charter. "It's hard to estimate the number of potential members in the Lake Forest School District," he said, "but we already have 25 members signed up at this time."

All potential members are invited to attend our next organizational meeting which will be held at the Lake Forest High School Agriculture building on Thursday, February 9, 1984 at 7:30 p.m. If you cannot attend, call 284-3390 during the school day or 398-8728 in the evenings for more information.

Telephone access charges latest headache for small business

AT&T Service should not have ended

by John Sloan

Most small-business people reading this column will be surprised to learn that they aren't really small-business people after all — at least according to the Federal Communications Commission.

Last month, in a decision which will cost realtors, florists, service station operators and millions of other business owners hundreds of dollars a year, the FCC postponed telephone access charges for residential users and for "small businesses." But the FCC definition of small business is a business with only one telephone line!

Since last fall, there have been increasing signs that the breakup of the communications monopoly might not have the desired effect. Instead of lowering phone costs, it is apparent most small-business people will pay more for their phone service.

Access charges are at the heart of the problem. These are the charges AT&T assesses — with the approval of the FCC — to compensate for proposed rate reductions for AT&T long distance service. In a survey of its members in November, NFB learned that 73 percent of the small-business owners responding oppose imposition of access charges. In that same survey, 62 percent rejected the idea of measured service for local calls.

Members of Congress are worried about the impact of the new charges on their constituents — at least their residential constituents. The House passed legislation before Christmas banning access charges for residential users and one-line small businesses. More than 80 Senators urged the FCC to delay imposition of access charges on those same user groups until the matter could be studied further.

But the FCC response places the burden squarely on business. Small businesses with more than one phone line will begin paying $6 per month per line beginning in April. That's just the federal portion of the new charges. State public utility commissions are expected to authorize access charges of their own, in most cases another $6. A florist with three lines could pay $288 a year in access charges alone. In addition, many local phone companies have already requested and received permission to hike basic phone rates.

Small-business owners as a group favor a less regulated economy. But they want the burden for services to be shared equally by all users. Many of the business people with whom I have talked recently wonder why the cost of telephone service needs to be so complicated. They suspect access charges are nothing more than a surcharge and that they should be called just that.

If the phone companies cannot provide service at existing rates — whether long distance or local service — let them say so and request adequate rates for the services provided. But let those rates be charged to all users. And until a new, equitable rate system is devised, the FCC should extend its postponement of access charges to all users.

John Sloan is President of the National Federation of Independent Business, representing more than half a million small-business men and women.

Governor du Pont elected Vice Chairman of Hudson Institute

The Hudson Institute Board of Trustees today announced the election of Governor Pierre S. du Pont IV as Vice Chairman and a member of the Board of Hudson Institute. Governor du Pont will also serve on the Executive Committee of the Board.

The Hudson Institute, a New York based policy research organization, was founded in 1961 by the late Herman Kahn. Hudson's research is focused on economic, national security, and education issues, and forecasting of emerging social, political and cultural trends. Hudson works both domestically and in Europe and the Pacific basin.

"Pete du Pont represents the kind of leadership Hudson needs if it is to continue to have a positive influence on major U.S. and international policy issues," said Tom Bell, Hudson's president. "We have worked closely with Governor du Pont on education and other issues and found him to consistently demonstrate broad knowledge, exceptional judgment and perhaps most important, the ability to bring diverse interest together around a workable policy solution. We are delighted to have him on the Hudson Board."

Governor du Pont remarked, "As I said when I announced my decision not to run for the U.S. Senate in 1984, I intend to continue to be involved in identifying the issues that will affect the United States in coming years and finding sound, practical solutions for those issues. Serving on the Hudson Institute board will provide an opportunity to do just that, and I am pleased to have been invited to join the board."

Governor du Pont's term is for six years.

Delaware in the "spotlight" again

State Treasurer Janet Rzewnicki recently received national attention for a program that has the potential for saving Delawareans hundreds of thousands of dollars. The State of Delaware recently made a major step towards the initiation of book-entry general obligation bonds.

Treasurer Rzewnicki received a letter of congratulations from the Chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Grand DADDy of governmental authorities.

The New York Times, The Bond

Buyer, U.S.A. Today and the Philadelphia Inquirer all ran stories on the innovations proposed by the State of Delaware.

The state competitively bids its bonds and the book-entry bid was not the lowest bid. The State will continue to offer the market the ability to use the book-entry method. This program has furthered the image of Delaware as a financially sophisticated state which the market considers to be a "Financial Small Wonder".

Jury awards harrassed teacher $28,500

Catherine L. Spence, art teacher in the Christina School District, was awarded $28,500 in damages by a jury of the U.S. District Court on Thursday.

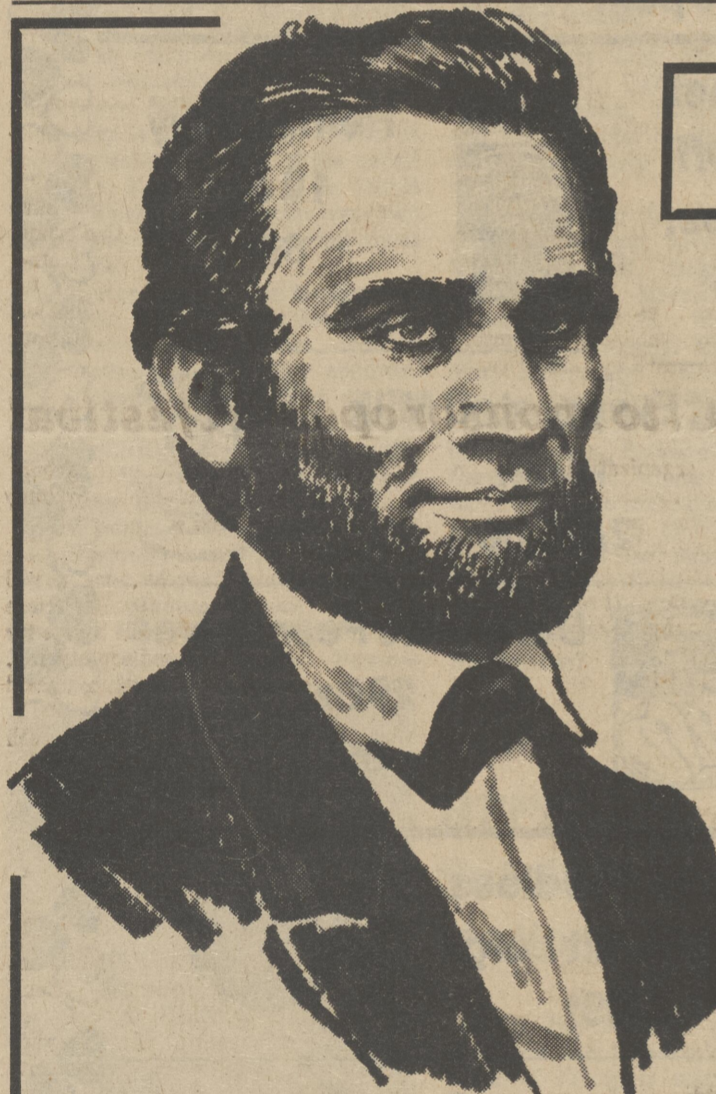

Delaware State Education Association filed suit in her behalf in May 1982 charging the Christina and New Castle County School Districts with harrassing Ms. Spence for Association activities.

Ms. Spence served as central grievance chairperson for the New Castle County Education Association while teaching at Newark High School. The suit alleged she was punitively transferred in 1981 from her high school position to the elementary art program in retribution for her Association activities. Her elementary position requires her to divide her time between two schools.

DSEA also claimed that Ms. Spence was harrassed for her outspokenness in pursuit of a safe learning environment in the New Castle County public schools. She had informed the administration of numerous safety violations, including the lack of ventilation in the photographic art room and dark room at Newark High School where she served on the school's safety committee. She had also brought to the State Department of Public Instruction's attention the use of carcinogenic materials in art classes and the poor ventilation of art rooms in which kilns were used.

Abraham Lincoln - February 12, 1809-April 15, 1865

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.
Abraham Lincoln was the 16th President of the United States. He was twice elected to the White House as a Republican.....first in 1861-1865 and 1865 until he was assassinated. Lincoln was first elected to Washington as a Congressman in 1847 as a Whig.
As a president he proved to be a very strong leader.....leading the nation through one of its most trying periods, that of the Civil War. He preserved the "American Union" as he referred to it at the time and by this position proved to all of the world that democracy can be and is a lasting form of government. Lincoln was also the first to say that governments are the only organizations known to man that believe in continuous perpetuation "...there is nowhere in our constitution that describes how to end the government."

When Lincoln was first elected to the office of President, the American people knew very little about the great man. He received less than 40% of the popular vote, and more often than not as an administrator he proved to be totally inefficient as an administrator.

But his greatest asset was his insight... his intellect which enabled him to perceive the overall importance of preserving the Union. He knew that the United States was the greatest nation in the world to come and that the importance of preserving democracy was very important.

To be sure to every school boy, President Lincoln was known for his speeches.....particularly the Gettysburg Address. In reality his speeches although regarded as great works of literature to be quoted and requested, were another example of his greatest asset and that was his ability to express his convictions so clearly and occasionally riot and insurrection." Checks and balances in government "...the habits of thinking in a free Country should inspire caution in those entrusted with its administration, to confine themselves within their respective Constitutional spheres avoiding in the exercise of the Powers of one department to encroach upon another..." Religion and Morality....."reason and experience both forbid us to expect that national morality can prevail in exclusion of religious principle." Education....."Promote.....institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge... it is essential that public opinion should be enlightened." Public Debt and Taxes....."As a very important source of strength and security, cherish public credit....timely disbursements to prepare for danger frequently prevent much greater disbursements to repel it.....no taxes can be devised which are not more or less inconvenient and unpleasant..."

with such force that his countrymen made them their own. This he did in his first and second inaugural addresses, in his annual messages to Congress, in the Gettysburg Address, and his letters.

His so-called third greatest asset was his iron will as so exemplified in his Gettysburg Address. His unyielding faith in victory helped restore confidence in preservation of the Union and in the end his unwavering faith of victory to this end saw the country through a great crisis.

Lincoln's early life is well publicized coming from the one window log cabin with a single door. His crude beginnings also laid the framework for his humble manner. He was born in Kentucky. His mother died in 1818 when he was 9 years old. He was deeply distressed that his mother did not receive a formal funeral, but they were then living in the wilderness of Indiana. Several months later a traveling preacher said a prayer over her grave. His father remarried and they moved from Indiana to Illinois after much squabbling in the church his parents had joined. Lincoln's early boyhood was spent in the Baptist faith. Lincoln's early education was centered around self-teaching and reading law. He became admitted to the bar in Illinois and from the bar later was to launch his career in politics. The assassination of Lincoln was one of the great tragedies to have happened to this nation. The entire country mourned his death, and his body was taken on a draped train to Springfield, Illinois where he was buried in Oak Ridge Cemetery. The monument in Washington is the site of many pilgrimages by tourists and school children each year.

A Heritage We Honor...

George Washington - Feb 22, 1732-Dec 14, 1799

George Washington was the first Commander-in-Chief of the Armies of the original states, and the first President of the United States making him the so-called "Father of His Country".

Washington was a Virginian whose family believed in hard work, being in public service, and in worshipping God. Washington is widely known for being a surveyor, Indian fighter, soldier and defender of his country, politician and most importantly being honest.

Some of his famous quotations are as follows: Labour to keep alive in your breast that little spark of celestial fire....conscience. "There can be no greater error than to expect or calculate upon real favors from nation to nation." On political parties..... "The common and continual mischiefs of the spirit of party....agitates the Community with ill founded jealousies and false alarms, kindles the animosity of one part against another, foment

Over The Backyard Fence

Gab Fest by Pat Hatfield

February is still giving us cold weather. When I came down this morning the thermometer said 18. The cardinals were already having their breakfast at the feeder and being very gracious to the wee sparrows who fluttered busily around like dried leaves being blown by the wind. While I was cooking the hot cereal and fixing the grapefruit the blackbirds descended on us....they surrounded us....they invaded us until I thought fearfully of Alfred Hitchcock's famous story of "The Birds". The surrounding meadows were black with them; they covered the back and front yards right up to the doorsteps, pushing and shoving and gobbling. Ellen always says, "But, Mother, the Lord made them, too." "I know", I sighed, "But I wish He had not got so carried away and made so many of them!" To my way of thinking we could do with a great many more cardinals, also blue jays and evening grosbeaks.

One time in another autumn I was taking a nature walk with my friend, Mary, and in a field right beside a wood, we surprised a flock of cardinals, probably fifty some, feeding on the tall weed stalks. It was a moment to remember always....to hold in your hand.

I keep a close watch for the robins, who mostly winter here, but seem to stay in the woods. Sometimes in late February or early March they will come out to the fields in small flocks, and it cheers the heart.

I am restricting my cooking urges these days because Dad is trying to lose some weight. Desserts are mostly plain fruit, which we both like. Ellen tried the recipe for Cream Cheese Pound Cake and shared a big chunk with me. I am a bit uncertain just how I feel about it. It was a new recipe we both wanted to try. It seems almost more like Philadelphia cheese cake.... very heavy and firm, but quite creamy when you put it in your mouth. On the whole I was disappointed with it.

I am hungry for pies. I like pies much better than cake. But again the calories. My Aunt Elsie used to say, "It seems to be when a person gets into their seventies or eighties, they ought to be able to have a piece of pie if they want it." Now, there is good sensible reasoning if I ever heard it. Well, like Alexander Wolcott used to say, "Everything I really like is either illegal, immoral or fattening."

These cold, winter days have kept us at home many days and evenings. We haven't been completely grounded, but we have spent more time by the fireside than we usually do. It is then that we come to fully appreciate the basic needs and necessities of life.... shelter against the storm....nourishing food....and warm clothing. We read the Bible more; we study and enjoy the birds, we marvel at the winter sunsets, we admire the branches of the trees with their stark beauty etched against the gray winter skies.

This morning there was a new guest at our bird feeder. It was satiny black with a brown head and a bit smaller than the blackbirds. Our friend, Don, said it was a cowbird. I was familiar with the name, but did not know the bird.

A sharp, cold winter wind is blowing this morning, and of all weather, a hostile wind bothers me the most. If you ask me to comment on the wind, I would say, "I'm 'agin' it!" But the great poet, Shelley, said "O Wind if winter comes, can spring be far behind?"

Thank all Volunteers!! Smile! Necessity makes even the timid brave. Salliest.

February is Black History Month. It was interesting to learn of the heroic Black Air Force Squadron in World War II. Blackwell and Lester were two I remember seeing and hearing about on Insight.

The Center was not open Monday due to no heat. Spent the day listening to tapes, wrote some letters, readied some birthday cards to my children, had a cheeseburger, talked on the phone, watched some TV, all in all had a wonderful day! Mrs. Sylvia Meredith and Mrs. Virginia Smith took turns at the piano during the rehearsal of "Senior Sounds". Julia Astfalt sang a solo. Everyone sounded so melodious. There was "Andy" Anderson, Tony Perrone, Marion Brown, Elwood Morris, Cecil Meredith, Thelma Legates, Mildred Vincent, Frances Wright, Florence Minner, Mamie Adams, Mary Sapp, Etzel McCready, Gladys Hill, Catherine Stevens, Roxanne Brown, Elizabeth Stevens and Amy Poynter singing in preparation for their trip to Delaware Care Center.

Peninsula United Methodist Homes, Inc.

Retirement Communities: Making the right choice

by Reverend Richard C. Stazesky, President Peninsula United Methodist Homes, Inc.

In 1960, when the Methodist Country House welcomed its first residents, the idea of "continuing care" retirement communities was brand new. Since that time, more than 300 facilities have been built in this country to provide lifelong residential and health care for nearly 90,000 older men and women.

A question often asked is, "With so many retirement homes to consider, how can I make the right choice?"

The choice of a retirement home is probably one of the most important decisions a person will make during a life time.

The rest of my answer is focusing on five items: facility, food, financial, people and programs.

FACILITY: Does the facility look well cared for? Would you feel comfortable about inviting family and friends to visit? Are the dining room, lounges and other public areas cheerful and relaxing? Have spaces been provided which meet your needs for a library, hobbies, beauty parlor or barber shop? Will the facility's location be an asset or a liability in early or later years? Is the health center clean, bright, cheerful and properly equipped?

FOOD: Is food tasty, well prepared and attractively served? Do residents seem to be enjoying themselves? Does the staff include a dietician and a nutritionist? Are you offered a multiple-choice menu? Is equal concern directed toward food service in the health center? Good food and the fellowship that accompanies good dining are most important to your well-being.

FINANCES: Determining the financial strength of the operating organization is tremendously important. A recent article in Forbes Magazine noted that, "The overwhelming majority of the at least 300 continuing care facilities now in existence are soundly financed and well run. But by no means have all of them been, especially in recent years."

The article suggests that the operation may be headed for trouble if the facility requires a very small down payment, has used less than half its financing for construction, or was financed by high interest revenue bonds. The article further suggests inquiry into the actuarial planning and a cost assumptions on which these have been based. Reference is made to a Wharton School study which identified the life expectancies on which operating, and especially health care, costs should be based; (PUMHI participated in that study and utilizes its data as a basis for its actuarial planning and cost assumptions).

Examine the financial statement or have someone do it for you. The Forbes article observes that the nature of the sponsorship is important to long-term financial strength, "That's why an active religious or charitable sponsor is always a point in the project's favor."

Is the fee structure such that a prolonged stay in the health center will not be financially devastating to you? (Remember that the "actuarially average resident" who enters the com-

Spartans defeat Bluejays, lose crucial game to Cape

Lake Forest's Spartan girls commanded the floor with a convincing 62-41 win over Seaford on Tuesday night, but suffered a heartbreaking 56-53 loss at the hand of Cape Henlopen on Friday. The Cape game was the crucial one. Barring the unforeseen, the loss locks the Spartans into second place, two games behind the Vikings.

On Tuesday, the outcome of the game was never in doubt as the Spartans took a 14-8 first quarter lead and pulled steadily away from Seaford's Bluejays in the succeeding three periods.

Stephanie Tolson with 15 points, and Pam Pierce and Teresa Taylor with 14 each, led Lake Forest scoring. Karen Sipple contributed 9 and Beverly Weaver, 7, while Elisabeth Senter chipped in 2. Angela Molohan scored on a foul shot.

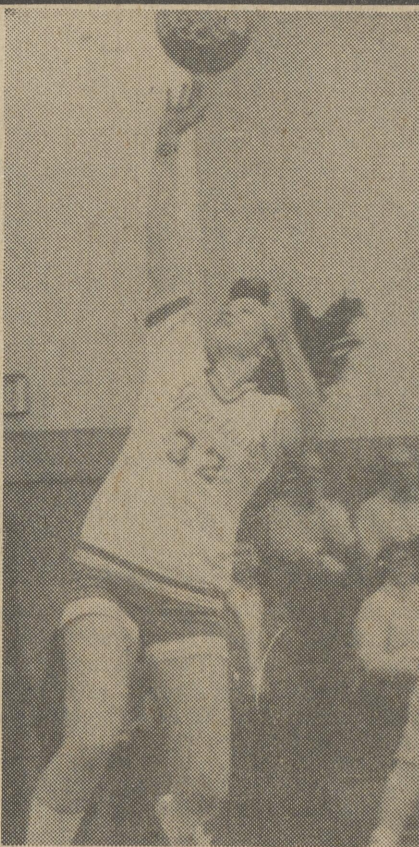

Against Cape on Friday, the Spartans opened with a 14-7 first quarter advantage. But thereafter, the game was close. At halftime, the two teams were tied 25-25; the end of the third quarter saw a 39-39 deadlock. In the fourth quarter the Vikings forged ahead, opening up a 7-point lead which was whittled to 3 before the final buzzer.

The quarter was marred for Lake Forest by the exit of Stephanie Tolson who fell and suffered a painful bruised hip. She was taken to Milford Memorial Hospital for treatment.

A big factor in the Spartan loss was Cape's success in shutting down Lake Forest's Pam Pierce. Pierce is one of the conference's leading scorers and has led the Spartans in the majority of the games this year. She is always in double figures, and a total of 20 or more points per game is her norm. On Friday, that was not to be as the Vikings tied her up and prevented her teammates from getting the ball to her. She totaled 6 for the game and was benched with four fouls in the fourth quarter.

Stephanie Tolson and Teresa Taylor threw in 16 points apiece to lead Lake Forest. Beverly Weaver had 8 points; Pierce and Karen Sipple, 6 each, and Andrea Molohan, 1.

Spartan boys keep it close, but lose two

An improved Spartan basketball varsity gave Lake Forest fans two, close, exciting games on the home court last week. Unfortunately for the records, both games were losses for Lake Forest.

On Tuesday, the Spartans held southern Henlopen leaders, Seaford's Bluejays, to a 30-30 halftime tie before falling behind 52-43 in the third period. The third quarter, however, did not finish the game as Lake Forest rebounded with a 24 point fourth period - the best in the game, barely letting the Jays escape 70-87.

Kevin Murray topped Spartan scoring at 20 points while Jerome Harris and Vontrell Seth were in double figures with 19 each. Robert May added 6; Jay Harmon, 5; Ralph Taylor and Kevin Benson, 4 each, and Victor Hill, 2, to complete Lake Forest's total.

Against Cape which is in second place in the Henlopen North, Lake Forest kept the game close for most of the way and even managed a brief one-point lead at one time before losing 55-49.

Kevin Murray, with 18 points, was the only Spartan in double figures. The rest of the score was compiled by Ralph Taylor - 8; Vontrell Seth - 7; Jerome Harris, Jay Harmon and Victor Hill - 4 each, and Kevin Benson and Stanton Spencer - 2 apiece.

LF grapplers lose to CR, beat Cape

Lake Forest's varsity grapplers lost to Caesar Rodney but defeated Cape Henlopen in last week's Henlopen Conference wrestling action. They remain in second place in the Henlopen North behind CR which has a perfect 10-0 conference record. Lake Forest is 6-4 for the regular season.

Tuesday's loss to the Riders was a resounding 52-8. However, two Spartans were successful Sophomore Scott Fleming pinned CR's Proctor in the 157 lb. class in 4:36. Teammate Mike Grgrynk wrestled his Rider opponent, Shuba, to an 8-6 decision.

Against Cape Henlopen on Friday Lake Forest turned the tables, defeating the Vikings 53-10. In that meet, six Spartans scored pins in their individual bouts. The six were Derek Dill (100 lb.) in 4:39 over Dawson; Darryl Cherry (107 lb.) over Travis, Frank Wilson (128 lb.) over Long in 3:31, Kyle Kelly (134 lb.) over Person in 3:33, Scott Fleming (159 lb.) over Harmon in 2:46, and Kermit Mosley (Heavyweight) over Person in 1:01.

Mike Gyrynk (140 lb.) defeated the Vikings' Long with an 18-0 superior decision; Mike Zdradzinski (121 lb.) earned a 12-5 decision over Todd, and Russell Elliott (187 lb.) was the 7-4 winner over Odoms. Ken Outten (114 lb.) won by forfeit.

The week in Harness Racing--A Round-up

by Harry G. Farrow Jr.

At Hawthorne Raceway on Saturday, there were two divisions of the Dygert Memorial Trot worth $56,200 each. In the first division Bridger and Dave Green set a record of 1:59.1 in defeating Ima Jade and Banker Barker. In the second division it was Marvin for Bucky Goldschmidt in 1:59.3 over Barb's Edition and J.L. Coaltown. In the $25,000 Invitational pace Brooklet's Pride with Homer Hochstetler getting up for the win in 1:57 flat on a very cool night.

At The Meadows on Saturday night in the $25,000 Open Pace it was Alvoc making it five straight in 2:00.4 on a sloppy track for Bill O'Donnell with Pinian Hanover getting in for the place and Morning Breeze getting the show.

At Yonkers on Saturday night in the $25,000 Open Pace it was Big Shift (Big A out of Adios mare....His Lady) with Sam Belote holding the reins, finishing their climb to the top of the New York ladder of success by getting an impressive win in 1:59 flat....out. Soky's Atom and Shannon Fells getting up for the place and show. "It was a superior win for us," said Sam's father John Belote. "He won last week on the front end...and then Saturday he came from way back and won it going away. He is just a good horse....and he is just now coming into his own", added the senior Belote. "I started from the four hole....got off real good but had to settle for the five hole. But the most impressive thing about this horse in the race that I took him out at the half and raced him the rest of the way on the outside and in the mud too", said Sam Belote. Again Sam did not have good racing luck for the second week in a row with Cashville Charlie in the Hopeful. "Last week we were in that wreck or mix up when the horse ahead of me stopped. I had to pull Charlie up...but this week I started from the

Prutzman leads Spartans in indoor track

by Keith S. Burgess

Rob Prutzman won the boys' shotput competition at an indoor track meet, held at Tower Hill School, Wilmington, Saturday afternoon.

Prutzman, one of the top weightmen in Delaware, hurled the twelve-pound ball, 51 feet, 3 inches, to eclipse the second-place finisher by several feet. Sophomore Barry Chaffinch was sixth and was very close to his personal best, achieved outdoors last spring.

Spartan sprinters ran well. This was Lake Forest's first indoor start, this winter. Most of the competition had been training and competing all winter and were well ahead of the locals, as far as being near one's peak is concerned.

Andy LaSalle and Darrell Benson were 55 meter dash winners, while Ray DeShields was a second-place finisher. LaSalle, Benson and DeShields finished 7th, 8th and 10th, respectively of 21 sprinters.

Milers John Caskey, Kevin Pelton, Mike Mosley, Denise Donato and Becky Brown all easily exceeded the goals that Coach Jim Blades had assigned for this meet.

Caritha Clark led the Spartan girls with a third place, in the 55 meter low hurdles. Madeline Giddens in her first meet ever was a heat winner and was 6th overall in the girls 55 meter dash. Nancy Heller competed in the shot.

Kim Vincent gets big win in Hopeful

Kim Vincent of Harrington, son of Donald and Eleanor Vincent of Harrington, won the Thursday night leg of the Hopeful for fillies and mares with his filly, Whispering Wave. The time was reported was 2:02.2 which is a new lifetime record for the filly. Whisper Wave won the Delaware Development Fund race last September at Harrington Raceway in 2:05. The filly started from the three hole at Yonkers on Thursday night and moved quickly to the top steering out of trouble. She went to the quarter in :30, the half in 1:00 flat the three-quarters in :31 and the last quarter in :31 for the perfect trip and rating.

Vincent, 23, is a graduate of Lake Forest High School and runs a public stable from Rosecroft where he has 10 horses. His father, Donald, has four 2-year-olds at Harrington in training.

This was Vincent's first win in New York. In four starts he has finished 5th, 2nd and 1st. Whisper Wave is by Big A.

Rudd takes wild flip

Bonnett repeats in Busch clash

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

DAYTONA BEACH - Neil Bonnett became the first repeat winner of the richest short race in the history of NASCAR racing. The $50,000 first prize money was what he had collected the same time last year. This year for the second year in a row, the celebrated "drink" race was marred by a crash. Last year involving several cars including favorite Bobby Allison, who was not in this year's race. In '83, Allison won everything not nailed down except a pole, which is the qualifying mark for entrance in this race of speedsters. This year young Ricky Rudd out for a Sunday drive for the first time this year and the first time in the Bud Moore prepared Ford Thunderbird was running a very strong fifth coming into the dog-leg at the famous tri-oval...at the world center of speed...when suddenly the rear end began to come around, much like Richard Petty and David Pearson back in '79. The car took the same path as Pearson only this time the car vaulted into the air and began doing pirouetting landing on its nose as gracefully as a ballerina. But Rudd did not think the ride was that graceful. When the car came to rest it was still in tact but Rudd was visibly shaken. He was helped from the crippled vehicle to a stretcher, taken to the infield hospital and then on to Halifax Hospital at Daytona. He suffered bruises, a black eye, and pains of the chest. He was reported in fair condition when he was admitted to Halifax Hospital, and kept overnight for observation. He was released at 9:45 Monday morning. The accident happened on the 16th lap. Rudd was in striking distance of Baker who was leading at the time. Baker led for the 19 of the 20 laps. Rudd was in a tight formation as six cars were running in a freight car style formation. Joe Ruttman was directly behind Rudd.

On the final lap as the cars headed down the backstretch, Bonnett made his move diving under and slingshotting Baker, who was in the same position last year during the running of this event. The slingshot by Bonnett pulled Cale Yarborough in his tailstream. But Yarborough demonstrated all day that he did not have enough power to get by Bonnett. Cale earlier in the day during qualifying for Sunday's running of the Daytona 500 had set a new track record at the world center of speed with a timed lap of 201.848 mph. Bonnett interviewed following the race said "...I would have followed Buddy Baker anywhere except down pit road...unless I knew for sure he was going to be back in the lead again when we hit the first turn". He also said that there were times when he actually pushed Baker down the backstretch. "We drafted real well with Buddy...and the most important thing I knew that I had to do was get in the second spot and protect it. Each time Cale tried me...I pulled up closer to Buddy's rear bumper. I also knew right then that I had the strongest automobile...and that if I were careful...I could hold off Cale at the end", said Bonnett.

The order of finish was as follows: Bonnett ($50,000) 192.926; Yarborough ($18,000); Baker ($14,000); Ruttman ($13,000); Bodine ($12,000); Waltrip ($11,500); Ridley ($11,000); Bouchard ($10,500); Labonte ($10,000); Rudd ($10,000); Richmond ($10,000).

Computer age comes to Pit road

DAYTONA BEACH, FL - It's the computer age on pit road, too. Cars are built with the help of computers. Engines are tuned with the help of computers. In fact, almost everything these days is done with the help of computers.

"I was wondering about caution flag periods," says Gary Nelson, crew chief on Bobby Allison's Winston Cup Grand National championship racing team, "and it struck me that since we use computers for everything else, couldn't a computer help me with my problem?" Nelson thinks that maybe...maybe...caution flag periods at the Winston Cup tracks might follow a trend.

"If we could anticipate the approximate time a caution period was coming, it would enable us to time our pit stops to the best advantage," Nelson says.

"Obviously, you want to pit during a caution, as the field is slowed and you have more time to take care of the car. When you pit under green, you can't do as much and you're rushed. And that means the chances are greater of making a mistake."

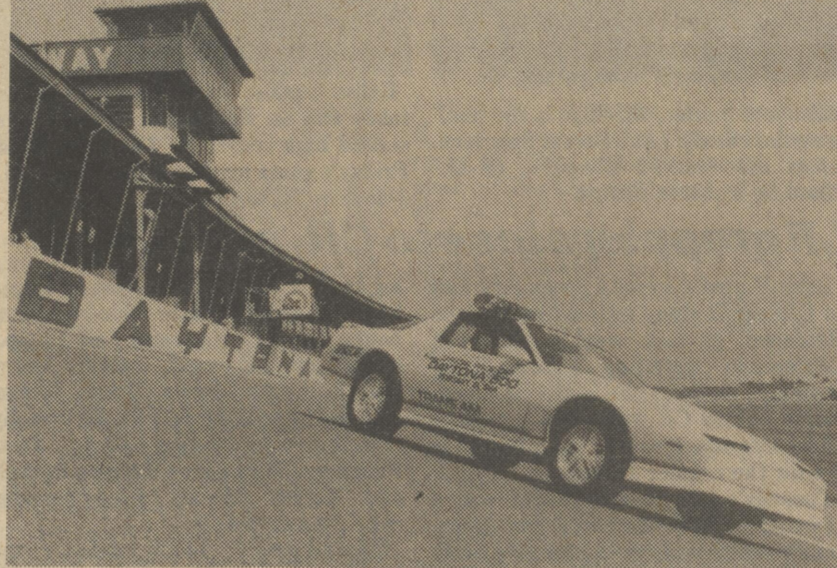

So Nelson dug into the records and found information from the past five years at various tracks. He fed the caution period statistics into the computer at the DiGard Racing shop and got a printout indicating when — according to the computer — caution periods were most likely to come.

"When it was right, it was dead on the money," says Nelson. "I think a large part of our winning the Southern 500 (at Darlington, S.C.) last year was due to the computer's figuring. When it

BANK ON IT - Richard Petty needs less than a $20,000 piece of the Daytona 500's million-dollar pie to have won $500,000 in his 24 starts of the world's No. 1 stock car race. Petty also is the 500's leader in most wins (7) as well as laps run and laps led. "I just wish I had some of that half-million lying around," said Petty. "Imagine it would pretty much fill this Brink's truck." The 500 caps the Daytona International Speedway's annual Speed Weeks on February 19.

15th ANNIVERSARY TRANS AM PACES DAYTONA 500 - A special 15th Anniversary Pontiac Firebird Trans Am has been selected as the official pace car for the 26th Annual Daytona 500 Stock Car Race to be held Sunday, February 19th at Daytona International Speedway. Featuring an all white exterior accented by bright blue graphics and hood applique, the 15th Anniversary Trans Am will include as standard equipment a hatch roof, leather Recaro seats with cloth inserts, a 5.0-liter H.O. V-8 engine, special performance package including four wheel disc brakes and special 16" x 8" white hi-tech turbo wheels fitted with P245/50 VR16 Goodyear Eagle GT tires. Pontiac's Firebird Trans Am has been chosen as the NASCAR official pace car for the last five years and 1984 marks the 13th consecutive year that a Pontiac has been given this honor.

Pit Chatter

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr

GRANTVILLE, PA - Fred Rahmer is eager to defend his track championship he earned in 1983 at the Penn National. In 1984, Rahmer will be chauffeuring the Rio Brothers freshly-minted Tobias car and is convinced it will again get the job done.

*****
SYRACUSE, NY - In a major rule change, president Glenn Donnelly has announced that drivers in the modified and 320 modified divisions running under the D.I.R.T. banner in 1984 will earn driver points in every race. This includes individual track point competition, from May 4 to Labor Day; all the CRC Chemicals Super DIRT Series events; and races in the Ithaca Gun Shootout Series for 320 modifieds; and the CAM2/Miller Beer Champ Trail for modifieds.

WEEDSPORT, NY - The Miller Brewing Company, is the newest of Major Sponsors to join the season. Making the announcement jointly was Phil Leone, Area Sales Manager for Miller Brewing Company's northeast region headquartered in Bedford, New Hampshire, and Glenn Donnelly, President of D.I.R.T.

As sponsor of the Miller Beer Overall Mr. Dirt Point Program for 1984, Miller will award $30,000 in cash awards to champions at D.I.R.T.'s 22 member tracks. A top prize of $1,000 will be awarded to the modified champs at each D.I.R.T. member track, while $500 will go to the 320 modified track kings for $16,000 of the program.

Miller will also present $14,000 in point fund awards to the Top drivers in overall D.I.R.T. points in both divisions at the Annual season ending D.I.R.T. Awards Banquet.

Points toward the Miller Beer Overall Mr. Dirt Program will be secured by combining a driver's highest individual regular season track point total with their points from the respective Championship Series.

SYRACUSE, NY - (D.I.R.T.) has released a 13-race schedule for its newly named overall Mr. DIRT point fund program for 320 modifieds - The Ithaca Gun Shootout Series.

More than $40,000 in incentive awards, including the awarding of a $300 Ithaca Gun "Deerslayer" shotgun to the winner of each Ithaca Gun Shootout Series winner, have been posted. The series will visit 13 different dirt race tracks throughout New York State, Vermont and the Ontario Province of Canada.

All purses will offer a minimum of $1,000 to win.

Predominantly a late-season series of mid-week special shows of 50 laps or more, the Series will open with its traditional Independence Day Holiday program at the New York State Fairgrounds in Syracuse, NY, July 3rd. That event is tentatively being scheduled for the first-ever night autocracing activity ever held at that fine, one-mile oval.

RIVERSIDE, CA - Riverside International Raceway officials last week formally announced plans to relocate and construct an all-new multi-purpose motorsports facility and automotive technical center at a Southern California site yet to be determined.

Construction will not commence until a site relocation process is completed, which will take between 12 and 18 months, while completion of the relocation is expected to take between three and five years.

The findings show Riverside International Raceway as one of the major contributors to the economy of its primary region with the total economic impact for the region ranging between $92,041,960 and $137,375,164. The study shows the Raceway provides a direct infusion of an estimated $34,000 into the economy and an indirect impact between $58 million and $108 million.

SYRACUSE, NY - Reigning NASCAR Winston Cup Grand National driving champion Bobby Allison will compete in a specially built Maynard Troyer dirt modified at four D.I.R.T. sanctioned New York-based tracks this summer.

Allison will be competing against the best dirt modified drivers found anywhere in the country during his New York tour, and he is very familiar with its success and following. "I am well aware of the strength of dirt modified racing in the northeast, and I am looking forward very much to my trips to New York to get a taste of it personally," Allison stated.

Goss, Graham win season-opening Houston Astrodome doubleheader

HOUSTON, Texas - The 1983 Camel Pro Series racing season came down to two men, Randy Goss and Ricky Graham, battling for the National championship. And, although the calendar now says 1984, nothing had changed when the two faced each other in the opening rounds of the new season.

Goss, who edged out Graham by eight points to win last year's championship, won the season-opening Houston Short Track on Saturday (February 4.) Goss had to hold off a hard-charging Pete Hames who traded the lead with Godd through the first 13 laps of the 25-lap final on the quarter-mile dirt oval.

In the Houston TT Steeplechase on Sunday (February 5), it was Graham and his Honda teammate, Bubba Shobert, jumping out in front early. Graham slipped into the lead on lap eight and held on to the finish. Steve Eklund, who won last year's Houston TT, passed Shobert and moved into second place late in the race.

Those victories moved Goss and Graham into a tie for the season points lead with 31 points each. Hames is third with 23 points, followed by Eklund with 16 and Doug Chandler, Bubba Shobert, and Jay Springsteen, tied with 13 points.

The next race on the Camel Pro Series schedule is the grueling Daytona 200-mile road race, to be held March 11 at Daytona International Speedway.

The remaining schedule will be released for the Daytona publications. It will be a twenty (20) race schedule with four (4) races in excess of one hundred thousand dollar ($100,000) purses. four hole. When I got to the quarter pole I pulled him out and moved up alongside Dance With Me Henry (Walter Case, Jr.) and locked him in. I knew I did not want Case ahead of me (in the race). I let Doc's Fella out mainly for cover....and thought at that point that the race rating was going my way. But (Mike) Lechance did not have the horse (Doc's Fella) that he had had in the past. So....now I was stuck behind a horse that wasn't going as good as expected. But Charlie that night was strong, the strongest he has been yet at Yonkers. We go three wide and we are flying. I was now eight turning for home, and I knew with the short stretch at Yonkers I was going to have to hurry if we were going to win. I made up five lengths in the stretch and got beat by a length for fourth," said driver Sam Belote. "Charlie paced the last half in :59.2 and the last quarter in :29.3," said John Belote. "Charlie deserves a lot of credit even if he is part my horse. He got hit two...maybe three times in the head (under the drive) by Buddy (Gilmour), but he didn't go to do it. Buddy drives Big Shift for us when Sammy can't make it. But Buddy drives with his right arm outstretched....which forces the whip out further. Charlie got hit in the head last year in a race and he quit....and I guess he let up some Saturday night when he got tapped....but he raced good enough to win. We've got another chance. We're close", said John Belote.

Other Hopeful winners on Friday night were George S. (2:00.1), Tail Gaiter (2:02), Sat Bio Brennan (2:01.3), Winged Beat NTR, and Tough Nut (2:03). Winged Beat has won all four events. Mike Lechance had five winners on Saturday night.

At Liberty Bell on Saturday night in the $5000 pacing feature it was Goldcreek Cougar in 2:02.1 and Safety Blitz got the other win in 2:01.3.

Back to The Meadowslands on Friday night it was Ron Waples winning both $20,000 pacing features with Jules Hanover defeating 4 yr-olds in 1:57.3 while Meadow H. Annette defeated the best fillies and mares NTR.

At Yonkers on Friday night in the $20,000 Open Handicap Trot it was Sandy Casey winning for Rejean Daigneault in NTR.

At Rosecroft on Friday night in the $37,000 featured trot Peeling got the win for Dale Mangas of Harrington in 2:04.3.

At Liberty Bell on Sunday a pair of $5000 pacing features raced in dense fog went to Ima Gypsy for Jim Braskett in 1:59.3 and Star Beau for Steve Warrington was placed first after Ocale Tar Boy was disqualified.

In the leading dashes so far through Sunday the 12th as follows: 1. John Campbell (48), Bill O'Donnell (46), Mike Lachance (45), Jim Curran, Jeff James, Carmine Abbatiello, and Eddie Davis with 33, Jack Moiseyey, Dave Magee with 32, and 4 tied with 30. Money won: O'Donnell ($490,749), Campbell ($433,819), Lachance, Abbatiello, John Patterson, Jr., Curran, Eddie Davis ($204,058), Magee, Rejean Daigneault, and Dale Eiteman.

On Monday night Riklis won his fourth in a row at The Meadowslands in the Su Mac Lad Trot. Riklis led all the way with Nilmot Ernie closing fast after a break early in the race. Ernie made up 8 lengths to get the place. Can Dee Star finished in the show. The time for the mile was 1:58.1 a new stakes record for the Memorial Race.

community programs, deliver talks on drugs, evaluate rehabilitation efforts, and even act as counselors," wrote Louria in his book Overcoming Drugs. He suggests bringing in acknowledged authorities. A local drug abuse group has provided a valuable public service if it can arouse public interest and mobilize the community. State legislatures can provide funds for local groups which can bring in speakers and form workshops to meet the needs of the local community. A speaker who talks to heroin addicts in Harlem is unlikely to relate to pot smokers in Harrington. New York State narcotics guidance councils were created by the Legisla-

Riklis is January Harness Horse of the Month

COLUMBUS - Riklis, a four-year-old trotter who has emerged as the dominant squaregaiter in North America this year, has earned selection as the January Harness Horse of the Month by the U.S. Trotting Association.

A bay stallion trained by Al "Apples" Thomas for owners Leon Machiz and Woodstock Stud of New York, Riklis was one of the top performers in the New York Sire Stake program the past two seasons, earning $394,423 at two and three despite not being eligible to most Grand Circuit events. He also time-trialled in 1:56.2 at Lexington.

Riklis opened his 1984 campaign with a 1:58.4 victory in an Invitational trot at The Meadowslands on January 9, then competed in the first three legs of the Su Mac Lad Trotting Series at the

New Jersey oval. A rough trip forced Riklis to settle for third in the first leg of the Su Mac Lad, but he rebounded with victories the past two weeks, the first in 1:58.4 and the other this past Monday in 2:02.4 over a sloppy oval. Riklis is the early favorite for the $75,000 final of the Su Mac Lad, to be held on Monday, February 13.

Honorable mention for January goes to two other four-year-olds, Boomer Drummond and Armbro Butler. Boomer Drummond posted two victories, the quicker in 1:57, during the first three legs of the Presidential Series, The Meadowslands' pacing equivalent to the Su Mac Lad Series, while Armbro Butler reeled off four straight triumphs including a divisional track record 1:58.4, while mastering the top trotters at Florida's Pompano Park.

Albatross, Tar Heel repeat as sire, broodmare sire champs

COLUMBUS, Ohio - Albatross claimed the crown as the leading sire of money-winning horses for the third straight year, while perennial champion Tar Heel captured the broodmare sire title again last year.

The sons and daughters of Albatross earned $9,537,399 in 1983, an amount greater than the foals of any other stallion won in any type of racing. Most Happy Fella, who died in 1983, finished as runner-up for the third consecutive year with a total of $9,203,226.

Speedy Crown headed the list among trotting stallions, as his progeny won more than $5.2 million. This placed Speedy Crown fifth overall, behind the pacing sires Albatross, Most Happy Fella, Meadow Skipper and Nero.

Albatross also completed the year as the leading money winning sire of two- and three-year-old performers. Albatross' own sire, Meadow Skipper, placed second in this category.

The goals of Sonsam earned $755,671, enabling him to become the leading first crop sire for the year. Sonsam finished 40th on the overall list of sires of two- and three-year-old horses.

Although Tar Heel died in 1982, he continues to make an enormous impact on the sport through his daughters. For the 10th consecutive year, the "King of Queens" has dominated the list of broodmare sires. In 1983 his daughters produced the winners of $12,516,368, more than $2 million ahead of runner-up Bret Hanover.

Bret looms as the heir apparent. For the third straight year he has been the leading broodmare sire of two- and three-year-old money winners, just ahead of Tar Heel.

Communities can fight drug abuse

Editor's note: This is the fourteenth article in a series on alcohol and drug use and abuse, mainly among teenagers.

With the proper methods local groups can mobilize entire communities in the fight against drug abuse.

Dr. Donald B. Louria, quoted often in these articles, is a foremost authority on the drug problem. He warns against investing local clergymen, lawyers and doctors with an expertise they do not have.

Following brief, inadequate training these well-meaning people are given broad responsibilities that they are ill-equipped to handle.

"They help plan school curricula and teachers be chosen "by their ability to relate to young people."

At least one policeman from each local department should take the same or similar courses recommended for teachers. Since the police are in daily contact with drug users, such a program could go a long way in fostering better police-youth relationships, not only in regard to drugs but in other areas where there is friction between the police and the young.

The warning must be sounded loud and clear that drug pushing will not be tolerated. Money must be set aside for undercover activities aimed at the arrest and prosecution of sellers.

Louria says, "There is simply no effective way of dealing with the problem if sellers are allowed to pursue their illicit activities. Often the local police do not have the funds needed for even limited undercover activities."

Medical societies should provide physicians and psychiatrists who are knowledgeable about the drug use and abuse problem. Many, if not most, communities don't have enough doctors who have specific knowledge of drugs and the psychiatric complications of abuse.

Local drug abuse groups must find viable alternatives to drug use. Louria says this is by far the most important factor in the attack on drug use.

Athletic programs and recreational facilities should be planned and developed to alleviate the boredom that drives so many youngsters to a chemical cop-out.

Again, young people themselves must be involved in any program designed as an alternative to drug abuse, or else it will be looked upon with suspicion as simply another Establishment endeavor.

Louria has some strong words for apathetic communities. He writes, "Any community that will not provide the opportunity for young people to get involved in interesting and productive activities deserves a drug problem."

Hot Water Tips

How to wrap your water heater

If your electric water heater is located in an unheated location...like a garage or back porch...you're losing money.

To stop that loss, we recommend enclosing the heater in a "jacket" of insulation.

There are two ways to accomplish this. One is to purchase a manufactured water heater wrap kit. There are various kinds available at most hardware stores. Each kit contains easy step-by-step instructions for wrapping your water heater. We recommend a kit with a wrap thickness of three inches.

The other method is to construct a jacket for the heater from ordinary insulation batt material.

Both approaches do a good job...but those who want to try the make-it-yourself approach here's the basic procedure and material required.

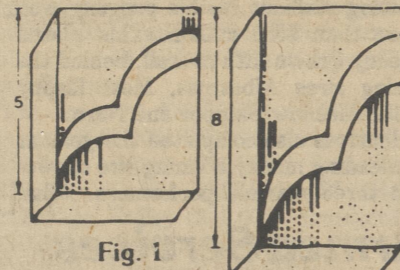

For most average size water heaters you'll need the following items. A) One roll of R-11 (3 1/2") Kraft backed insulation, 15 inches wide. B) A 15 yard roll of duct tape. C) Scissors. D) Marking pen. E) Measuring tape. F) Gloves.

Note: Before proceeding, check the water heater for leaky water pipes. Fix them before continuing. Also, if you haven't done so already, lower the thermostat[s] on the heater to minimum levels.

The first thing to do is put on the gloves. Fiberglass insulation can be irritating to the skin. Then start cutting the insulation.

Cut four pieces 8' long, and one piece 5' long (Fig. 1).

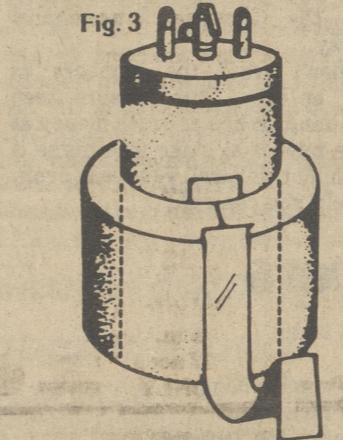

Take one of the 8' lengths and wrap it around the bottom of the heater with the edge resting on the floor. Draw this wrap snug (don't pull too tight...it'll compress the insulation). The insulation should overlap a bit.

Take your pencil and mark how far it overlaps. Remove, and where you've marked...extend that line right across the insulation. Now, using that line as a guide...take the scissors...and not cutting through the backing...cut through the fiberglass straight across (Fig. 2). Remove the fiberglass. Trim the overlap to about 3" width.

Wrap the trimmed insulation around the tank again...adjust it so the seam is in line with the cover plate to the elements (just in case you have to get at it later) and tape it down with the duct tape (Fig. 3). Go right on up the tank in a similar fashion.

When you get to the top, the insulation should extend above the top of the tank at least 3". If the top of the insulation extends more than 3" above the tank...trim it back to 3". The insulation should be taped together so that when you look at it there's one seam running vertically from the floor to the top. If desired, you can also tape the circumference where the insulation pieces fit together.

The only thing that remains to do is the top. It's easy. From the remaining 5' piece of insulation cut two half-circles each equal to one-half the size of the water heater's top. Put the top pieces in place...note with the marking pen where the water pipes are...then make slits and necessary cuts to insure a snug fit of the insulation around the pipes (Fig. 4).

Note: Do not cover the pressure relief valve. Go ahead and tape the top pieces in place. You're finished.

The Shower

Showers can use a lot of hot water. Besides simply taking shorter showers, however, there's a simple and effective way to reduce your consumption of both water and energy.

The Shower Water Restrictor - Deceptive in size and simple in design, this little gadget can really cut down on the hot water used for showers. If you have a family with teenagers, you'll recognize the savings potential with this item.

The shower water restrictor is attached between your water service outlet and your existing shower head. All it does is gently restrict the amount of water flowing through the outlet. The effect is significant. Based on an average family of four each showering five minutes per day...you can save thousands of gallons of water annually. And, with today's higher energy costs, that means considerable pocketbook savings.

Many hotels, schools and other large water users are taking advantage of the shower water restrictors today...and it's something every homeowner ought to look into.

Laundry

With all the cold-water detergents on the market these days, it'll pay you to give them a try. But even if you don't switch to cold-water detergents...here are some facts that may encourage you to take a second look at how you use that washing machine. An average load of laundry consumes about 4.2 kilowatt-hours for a hot water wash and a warm water rinse. If you switch to a warm water wash and a warm water rinse, you can cut that use by 1/3. If you go with a warm water wash with a cold rinse, that'll cut use by almost 2/3rds.

Fix those hot water leaks

Hot water pipes

There are some amazing cases where a great deal of electricity was going down the drain because of a leaky faucet. Consult a good handyman manual for how to change washers, etc. Keep in mind that a hot water leak of only 60 drops per minute will waste 192 gallons of water and 49 kilowatt-hours per month!

Wrapping hot water pipes in unheated spaces, like under the house, is recommended. There are two ways to do this. Pipe insulation kits are available or you may purchase regular pipe insulation wrapping material. Home improvement stores carry both.
