

Chicken cook-off held in Salisbury

by William T. Ficka

Twenty-five master cooks from 12 northeastern states and the District of Columbia gathered in the Wicomico Civic Center in Salisbury, Md. on Saturday to compete in the 1984 Delmarva Chicken Cooking Contest.

Ruth E. Dykes of Beltsville, Md., the first prize winner, walked off with a 10-day, expense-paid trip for two to Hawaii, plus $1,000 and various appliances and cookware.

"I have to grope for words. I didn't expect this. I love you all," said Dykes, a grandmother who has won an array of prizes in various cooking contests.

Second prize winner, Betty S. Judy of Broad Run, Va., was awarded $1,500 cash, a Sunbeam food processor, McCormick spice collection, and Wear-Ever glass ovenware.

The third prize winner, Gloria A.

Piantek of Skillman, N.J., won $1,000 cash, a Sunbeam electric frypan, McCormick spice collection, and Wear-Ever glass ovenware.

The two honorable mention winners Elizabeth B. Dern of Dorset, Vermont and Marcy J. Wheeler of Claymont, Del. were each awarded $200.

"I'm happy," said Wheeler. When not cooking or taking care of her three-year-old son, Wheeler engages in aerobics, reading, sewing, painting and drawing.

Delaware's other representative in the cook-off was Ruth M. Hurley of Milford, who was competing for the first time.

"I was nervous, but the people here have been very friendly. It was very well organized," Hurley said.

"I feel as though I'm between two Julie Childses," she laughed, referring to the women cooking on either side of her.

Although her entry didn't garner a prize in the cook-off, Hurley said she was "proud to represent the state" in the contest.

In addition to her cooking interest, she also pursues a liking for photography, nature study, reading, and golf.

Each of the 12 states and the District of Columbia has two representatives in the cook-off. One contestant couldn't appear because of a family emergency.

Trivia buffs might be interested in knowing that 20 contestants were female and 6 male; the average age was 49.3 year; the youngest was 29, and the oldest 75; 20 were married and 6 single.

For the first time since the contest began in 1949, the competition was closed to the public. This precautionary measure was taken to reduce the threat of avian flu, a poultry disease that has devastated many flocks in Pennsylvania and Virginia.

The traditional yearly Delmarva Chicken Festival was canceled this year because of the avian flu threat.

The cooking contest is held in alternate even-numbered years. The next contest will be held in June, 1986.

Recipes from the contest are available to the public in booklet form. In addition to creations of the finalists, the booklet includes many other chicken recipes and information of interest to consumers. Copies are $1.25 each and may be ordered by sending a check or money order to: Cookbook, c/o Delmarva Poultry, R.D. 2, Box 47, Georgetown, Del. 19947.

Stuffed Chicken with Apple Glaze, the entry of Ruth E. Dykes of Beltsville, Md. [center], was chosen the best chicken recipe in the 1984 Delmarva Chicken Cooking Contest. Sharing honors with Mrs. Dykes were Betty S. Judy of Broad Run, Va. [left], who placed second, and Gloria A. Piantek of Skillman, N.J. [right], third place winner.

New budget approved by City Council

by William T. Ficka

The new Harrington budget of $589,646 for the 1984-85 fiscal year was approved unanimously by City Council members in a meeting Monday night.

There will be no increase in taxes. The salaries for the city manager and police chief positions were increased by 20 percent.

Elwood Brown New Treasurer

Elwood Brown was approved unanimously as City Treasurer to succeed Howard S. Wagner who died two weeks ago. The 70-year-old Wagner had served over 30 years in the post. The annual salary for the position is $900.

Drainage Study

Council approved a drainage study concerning the East, Mispillion, and Coleman Streets drainage areas.

A referendum will be held when the results of the drainage study are received by city council.

Other business Monday night included:

*Council approved a seven percent increase in water and sewer rates.

*Council decided to send a letter notifying the owner of the structure at 62 East Street that the structure must be demolished on or before June 30, 1984.

*Council approved the ordinance relating to the removal of abandoned automobiles and rubbish storage that are left 60 days within the City of Harrington.

D-Day remembered

We celebrated the 40th anniversary last week of an event that was a crucial turning point in the history of the free world.

For it was on June 6, 1944, known to history as D-Day, that an assault force of 200,000 men sailed across the English Channel to stage the mightiest invasion in world history.

The invasion marked the beginning of the end for the German juggernaut that had conquered all Europe and large parts of Russia and Asia.

The outcome of World War II and the freedom of many nations depended on the success of the invasion.

The men were transported across the English Channel by the greatest armada ever assembled.

Five thousand ships of every description, ten lanes wide and 20 miles across, headed toward the coastal town of Normandy, France.

"It looked as if you could walk across the Channel and not get your feet wet," said one Canadian.

Overhead were more than ten thousand planes flying in close formation. As the huge phalanx of planes headed for France, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Supreme Commander, looked up with tears in his eyes.

The plans would bomb energy defenses and drop paratroopers of the 82nd and 101st Airborne Divisions. The paratroopers' mission was to seize bridges and roads leading inland.

If they failed, the invading troops in the ships below would have no exit from the beaches.

The code names for the beaches at which Americans would land were Omaha and Utah. Canadians would land at Juno and the British would hit Gold and Sword beaches.

The final decision to send this awesome assault force into battle was the responsibility of one man — Supreme Commander Eisenhower.

Vital weather requirements were necessary if the invasion was to succeed. A late-rising moon was needed by the paratroopers and a low tide shortly after dawn was needed by the troops who would storm the beaches.

Meteorologists told Eisenhower June 5, 6 and 7 would give him the weather conditions needed.

Eisenhower decided to invade on June 5, but a new weather front that was spotted forced him to postpone his plan.

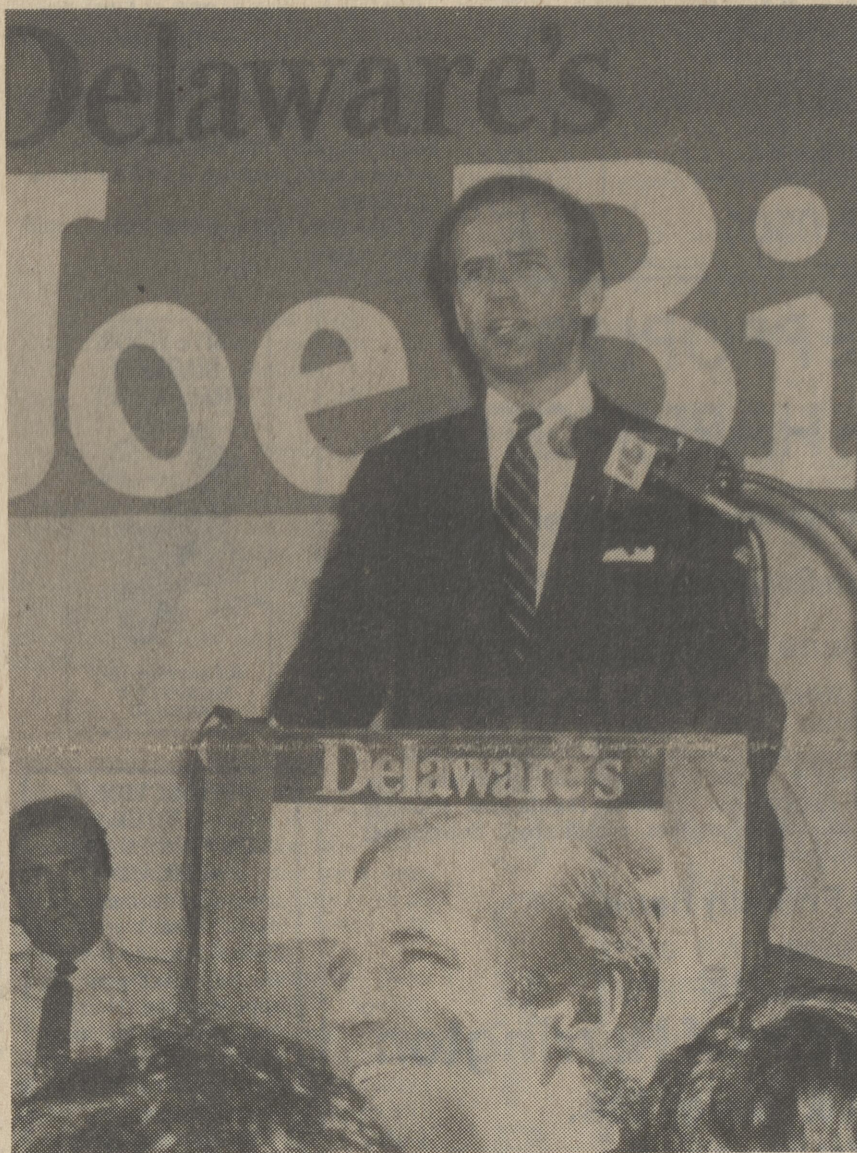

The latest weather report told him that the night of the fifth and the morning of the sixth would give him fair but not ideal weather conditions. It would be at least another month before he could expect similar conditions.

It was either go now or wait another month.

"I don't like it, but there it is....I don't see how we can do anything else....Okay, let's go," Eisenhower said slowly.

When the last formation of thunder-

Biden opens Senate Campaign

Delaware U.S. Senator Joseph R. Biden, Jr. on Friday, June 8, formally announced that he will seek a third term in the Senate, stating that his re-election campaign represents part of an effort "to build a new majority which understands that the old answers won't work for today's problems."

"We should not be afraid to discard the obsolete dogmas and outworn slogans of traditional politics," he said, "either Republican or Democratic politics."

Biden made his announcement at an 8 a.m. rally at Jones Hall in Georgetown, where a crowd of approximately 300 area supporters was on hand.

Also attending were all the members of the Biden family, including his daughter, Ashley, who coincidentally was celebrating her third birthday that day, and was presented with a cake and a chorus of "Happy Birthday to You" following the Senator's announcement speech.

Later in the day, the Senator repeated his speech to crowds in Dover and Wilmington.

In his Georgetown remarks, the 41-year-old Wilmington Democrat said the primary reason why he was seeking re-election to the Senate was "to challenge the notion that the ultimate standard by which government should be measured in whether we feel better than we did last year, or

by William T. Ficka

Some days have special meanings. Your birthday is one, and December 25 is another.

For Alexander Blazeivicius, Clarence N. Carlisle, and John G. Trump, June 6 is another one of those special days.

For it was on this day in 1944 that the three men hit the beaches at Normandy, France as part of the mighty invasion known as D-Day.

Blazeivicius, of Milford, is a tall, slender man with a full Alexander Solzhenitsyn-type beard. He's an energetic 71 years old, but looks 15 years younger.

A retired industrial engineering administrator, Blazeivicius served with the VII Corps intelligence as a 2nd Lieutenant.

Blazeivicius, who speaks five languages, was assigned to brief Lt. Gen. J. Lawton, "Lightnin' Joe" Collins, the VII Corps commander, and other top-ranking officers. It was his responsibility to inform them of what could be expected of the Germans from the minute the first GI's hit the beach.

"There I was, a 2nd Lieutenant in front of all these generals. All I saw were stars, stars, stars. It was like the Milky Way," Blazeivicius laughed.

"Colonel King told me not to make it too rosy or optimistic," he added.

Blazeivicius (called Blaze by his buddies) decided to spell it out in detail. Not pulling any punches, he told the top brass of a brutal battle ahead.

"When I finished the briefing, General Collins looked me in the eye and said, 'What are you trying to do, lieutenant, scare us? It's going to be bad, but not that bad.'"

Blazeivicius told of Colonel King telling him after the briefing, "You did the right thing. If anything goes wrong, they can't say it was your fault."

Blazeivicius went ashore at Utah Beach shortly after H-Hour (the start of the invasion).

His memories of the events that day and the days that followed are vivid as if they happened yesterday.

"A truck exploded....I lost my helmet....paratroopers caught in trees were machine gunned by Germans...a German POW kept saying 'War is bad, war is bad, war is bad'....one of our men said 'Who started it?'...a staff meeting under an apple tree....I could smell dead people....cows lying in field with their legs sticking up in air....war is 24 hours a day....but you can't think too much about it....you can't let it get to you....I've seen men who were turned to mush....they couldn't function.... Our dead were covered with tarpaulin with their combat boots sticking out.... Germans were piled up like cord-wood....sometimes they weren't buried for two weeks."

Blazeivicius was one of the lucky ones who went from D-Day to the end of the war without a scratch.

John G. Trump, a native Delawarean now living in Felton, was still a teenager when he went ashore at Utah Beach on D-Day with the 90th Infantry Division.

As a first scout (later called point man) the young private's assignment was to go out ahead of his platoon and discover the danger spots ahead.

It was in this sitting duck position that Trump was wounded on June 11. After recuperating for one month in England, he was sent back into action as a weapons platoon machine gunner.

"There were so many casualties they didn't bother to x-ray. They just went ahead and operated," Trump said.

Trump was wounded a second time outside Metz.

"We had 200 men crossing the Moselle River. There were only 28 men left at head count next morning," he said.

Lady Luck was with Trump outside Bastogne when a bullet struck the front of his helmet, circled the helmet liner, and came out the back.

"I felt my helmet move, but I didn't think anything of it. Then someone said, 'What happened to you?' When I looked at my helmet, I was really shook up," he laughed.

In 1957 Trump's arm became swollen. Doctors discovered a piece of shrapnel that had been embedded there since World War II. His daughter had the shrapnel encased and framed and it hangs today on a wall in Trump's home as a vivid reminder of bygone battles.

Trump remained in the military, going on to see action in Vietnam and eventually retiring as a Command Sergeant Major.

The only action John sees today is at Brandywine Raceway where he and wife Harriet race Trump's Kutanie, their 7-year-old pacer.

Clarence N. Carlisle, born and raised in the Felton area and still living there, is another man with indelible mem-

Harrington Public Library purchases two rare books

by Jennie Chasanov
The library of Harrington is the new owner of one of the original copies of the Biographical and Genealogical History of Delaware published by J.M. Runk in 1899. This all came about when one Clarence Collins saw an ad in the paper about an auction on June 9, 1984 at the Andrew J. Lynch estate in Georgetown. Knowing these rare volumes would be an asset to the town, he, alone, went to individuals and got contributions. He collected over $400. Once he collected the monies, he then turned the sum over to the Friends of the Harrington Public Library to try to get the books. In turn, and out of appreciation to him for such a wonderful undertaking, the Friends now have a "Clarence Collins Rare Book Fund." At the auction on Saturday, the Friends (Charlotte Gagne and Jennie Chasanov) were able to obtain the two volumes. After purchase, it was discovered the original order form written by Andrew Lynch to the Runk Co. to order these two volumes two years before they were actually printed. The cost, $16.00 for both volumes.

The books need to be rebound. Once this is done, the 2 volumes will be housed at the library.

Contributions were given by: Welch's Seed; The Harrington Journal; Collins Clothier; Stone's Hotel; Raughley Ins.; Dr. Smith; Hi Grade Dairy; Food Rite; Outten's Ins.; Quillen's Market; Peoples Bank; JCPenney National Bank; Taylor & Messick, Inc.; Taylor's Hardware; The Harrington Pharmacy and Mrs. C. ories of D-Day. Carlisle was serving with the 20th Engineer Combat Regiment when he went in with the first wave at Omaha Beach.

Carlisle, now 64 and a retired Maryland Highway Department supervisor, will never forget that day.

"There was no much blood in the water that there was a red ring around my chest when I got ashore," Carlisle said.

"The water was full of guys who had been killed. Their equipment made them so top heavy that their heads were down and their feet were sticking up," he added.

For many of the men, D-Day was their baptism of fire. But by the time D-Day rolled around for Carlisle, he was already a seasoned veteran. He had fought in Algiers, French Morocco, Tunisia and Sicily. He was wounded at the Kasserine Pass in the Tunisian campaign. By war's end, Carlisle had engaged in seven major battles.

Carlisle was a prisoner of war for the last seven months of the war. He was one of the two prisoners captured in the Huntgen Forest. The other 100 men had been killed.

"I weighed 186 when I was captured and I was down to 119 when I was freed," he said.

Carlisle was thought to be either killed or missing in action.

One who didn't believe Carlisle was dead was his best buddy Armand Morani of Illinois.

"He wrote letters everywhere. He finally found me a few years ago when he wrote the Recorder of Deeds," Carlisle said.

"When we met at the airport we knew each other right away," Carlisle laughed.

A steel-backed Bible he carried in his shirt pocket once saved his life when a bullet scraped across the steel back.

"Before each battle, I'd say, Good Lord, you go before me and I'll follow," Carlisle remembers.

"I returned home in the middle of the night. When my father saw me lying on the couch the next morning, he almost had a heart attack. He called my mother. She couldn't get over it. She couldn't stop crying," Carlisle said.

Since being located by his Illinois buddy, Carlisle and his wife Anna have attended one company reunion and plan to attend this year's reunion in Baltimore.

Anna said their son Cliff and daughter Vicki always enjoyed Clarence's stories while they were growing up.

Ironically, Carlisle and Trump live only two houses apart but neither knew the other had been in the D-Day invasion until reading it in The Morning News.

If they ever get together, they could write a book.

four or eight years ago, and to reestablish the ideal that we ask not what our country will do for us but what we will do for our country."

"As corny as that sounds today," he said, "I, like most of you in this room, mean it with all my heart and soul."

Biden said it is possible to have "fiscal responsibility along with social responsibility" and "arms control without Soviet control," and pointed to specific steps he has supported to reach those goals.

He stressed, however, that efforts to deal with such problems, as well as with such problems as the unfairness of the tax system and violent crime, will not succeed unless people are willing to "take a stand and take our chances."

"We cannot simply await a safer time to meet the challenge," he said. "My years of service in the Senate have finally placed me at the table where decisions are made, and I realize now more than ever that time is running out, that justice delayed is justice denied, and that the decisions we will make in the next few years will decide how or even whether our children will live in the next century."

Biden, a former member of the New Castle County Council, was first elected to the U.S. Senate in 1972 and re-elected in 1978.

Now 34th in seniority among the Senate's 100 members, he is the ranking Democrat on the Senate Judiciary Committee, second ranking on the Foreign Relations and 3rd ranking on the Budget and Intelligence committees.

Known for consistently maintaining one of the best constituent service operations in the Senate, he was the first member of the Delaware Congressional delegation to establish full-time offices in each of the state's three counties, to better serve constituent needs.

Boardwalk owner faces further charges

DOVER - Michael J. Gerrick of Elizabethtown, Pa., the former owner of the arcade in Harrington called Boardwalk, was recently found guilty of charges stemming from his arrests two months ago. He has been found guilty in the Court of Common Pleas of receiving stolen property. The sentence was to pay the cost of prosecution and a fine of $200 together of an assessment of 15% or $30. He received 90 days imprisonment which was suspended, 1 year probation to run concurrently with the probation from similar charges in Pennsylvania. The charges of offensive touching were dropped. He has been charged with 7 counts of sodomy in the first degree which dates back to March 22 of this year. In his arraignment on April 17th, on the above charges, he pleaded not guilty and requested a jury trial, which has been set for trial on June 12th. He is out on bond in the amount of $20,000 for the first charge and $500 each on the other six counts. Gerrick was 27 years old on December 23rd. He currently is out on bail living with his parents in Elizabethtown, Pa.

Bell elected to Wesley College Alumni Hall of Fame

The Wesley College Alumni Association Board of Directors has elected a distinguished alumnus, Dr. Harold Bell Hancock, Class of 1932, to the Wesley College Alumni Hall of Fame.

At the time of Hancock's graduation, Wesley College, located in Dover, Delaware, was known as the Wesley Collegiate Institute. A native of Dover, Hancock was the third person in his family to attend Wesley. After Wesley, Hancock attended and graduated from Wesleyan University in 1936 and received his master's degree from Harvard in 1938. Ohio State University awarded him his Ph.D. in 1954.

Recognized as an outstanding Delaware historian, Hancock is the author of 17 books and countless magazine and newspaper articles. He is probably best known for Delaware During the Civil War and the Delaware Loyalists, although his greatest contribution to history has been his publishing source materials such as are found in diaries, letter and archival holdings.

Hancock's interest in Delaware history started with a research assignment given him during his student days at the Wesley Collegiate Institute. Required to write a paper on some phase of Delaware history, Hancock researched the story of James Edward Adicks, a corrupt politician who tried, and failed, to represent the state of Delaware by buying a seat in the U.S. Senate. This research started a life-long interest in the history of the First State.

For the last 40 years, Hancock has been teaching at Otterbein College in Westerville, Ohio where he is a professor of history and Chairman of the History and Political Science Department. Many of his writings have been on Otterbein and Westerville.

Although he plans to retire from active teaching this summer, Hancock will continue to spend his summers in Delaware doing research, as in the past. Hancock was chosen to be in the Edition of Outstanding Educators of America and has been elected to the Board of Trustees of Otterbein College where he was the commencement speaker this year.

Trade Show held at Fairgrounds

by William T. Ficka The second annual Garage Sale and Trade Show, sponsored by radio stations WAFL-FM and WYUS-AM, Milford was held on Saturday at the Delaware State Fairgrounds in Harrington, June 2.

The trade show featured about 25 exhibitors including Choptank Nursery, Taylor's Hardware, B & C Equipment, Inc., Happy Hoe Garden Center, Clark's Swimming Pools, and Outten Bros. Inc.

About 1,000 people in search of bargains wove in and out of some 80 tables set up for the garage sale.

Items ranging from knick-knacks and antiques to lawnmowers and paperback books were on sale for flea market aficionados. Jack Newark of Milford stood behind an almost empty table. "You should have gotten here earlier," he laughed. "The table was full. I really sold a lot of stuff."

Terri Gringe of Greenwood said, "I've been busy all day. We were rained out last year, but it's really been great this year."

Broadcasting live from the show for WAFL radio were Tim Hopkins and Dennis Hazzard. Hazzard, the popular disc jockey and program director at WAFL, is also the author of The Country Music Trivia Quiz Book. Entertainment was provided by Bunky Eye and the Inmates, Back to Back, The Dalton Gang, and the Stoney Creek Cloggers. Refreshments were handled by the Nilon Bros.

Local life insurance agent attends international sales seminar

James J. Barnett, a New York Life Insurance agent from Dover will be among an anticipated 5,500 members of the Million Dollar Round Table (MDRT) gathering in New York City June 17 to 21 for this exclusive life insurance sales association's 57th Annual Meeting. Forty countries around the world will be represented, making the MDRT the most comprehensive sales forum in the life insurance industry.

During the five-day meeting, 100 professional speakers will be discussing subjects of vital concern to those in the life insurance and financial planning fields. Experts in such areas as estate planning, taxes, inflation and law will be sharing their knowledge in a series of intense seminars and morning general sessions.

Kids go fishing on Mispillion St.

by William T. Ficka "Every time it rains it rains pennies from heaven," the lyric of an old song tells us.

But it didn't tell us that it sometimes rains fish, crabs — and snakes.

For that's what Frances Smith of Harrington found outside her Mispillion Street home on Thursday and Friday, May 31st and June 1st.

Last week's heavy rains caused overflows in various neighborhoods throughout the area. Grownups may have been annoyed, but the kids were in paradise. "One boy caught a carp about that big," Smith said, extending her hands about two feet apart to indicate the size.

"We saw carp, catfish, a crab, and snakes. I can put up with the fish, but I don't want any part of those snakes," Smith added. The area around Mispillion and Coleman streets has been troubled with overflows since the highway department blacktopped Mispillion Street and filled in the drainage ditch, according to Smith.

She thinks the fish may have come with the overflow from a stream near the Clark's Corner development. Frances' sister Mildred Smith, who lives on Coleman Street, said her flooded backyard had fish and snakes in it.

Senior Center

by Dorothy Graham

Smile! To climb steep hills requires slow pace at first. Shakespeare. It is Monday, the day after graduation at Lake Forest High School. It was a beautiful day. Senator Biden was the speaker. Several grandparents from the Senior Center were represented. Proud of each and everyone. It is a day to remember by all who participated. Open House was enjoyed. That's for sure.

Reverend Watson was leader of Bible Study Monday morning. Virginia Smith was at the piano to accompany the singing of several favorite hymns. Prayer before and after the service was given by Reverend Watson. The hour was divinely received by Frances Wright, Catherine Donovan, Elwood Morris, Mildred Vincent, Gladys Hill, Roxanne Brown, Tony Perrone, Clara Judy, Lillie McBride, Mamie Adams, Anna Mae Short, Thelma Legates, Annabel Morrow, Etzel McCready, Marion Brown, Sallie Needles and Florence Minner.

The Jolly Timers had practice hour Tuesday morning.

Senior Sounds Wednesday morning, June 6, 1984 under the direction of Sylvia Meredith with Virginia Smith doing the honors at the piano and Tony Perrone with the mandolin. Also singing was Cecil Meredith, Elwood Morris, Frances Wright, Mildred Vincent, Ola Tildon, Gladys Hill, Catherine Stevens, Anna Mae Short, Mamie Adams, Ruth Vincent and Thelma Legates.

Bridge was fun for all who played Tuesday afternoon. Phyllis was high scorer.

Bowling at Milford Lanes Thursday. Crafts, ceramics, pool and of course Bingo are part of the activities at the Center.

Mary gave me an orange, and as I peeled it, my thought went back to the first orange I ever remembered. I was a small child and had wanted to go to Felton with my grandfather. It didn't suit for me to ride in the horse and buggy, so he promised to bring me a surprise. The surprise was a fresh orange. A pure luxury in those days. I remember sitting under the kitchen table and enjoying that orange all by myself. What childhood memory do you have? How about picking strawberries for a luscious shortcake? Maybe for money to go to the movies at 1 1/2 cents for a quart. Then they were raised to two and three cents a quart. Picking radishes at two or three cents a bunch. That included picking, bunching and tying. They were shipped to the cities. Lots of our local farmers had this as an early spring crop.

Dolores is back from Chicago and Florence is back from Colorado. Both reported a grand time. Dolores visited Moose Heart. Florence attended a graduation of a granddaughter's husband from the Nazarene College of Ministry. He already has a charge in Pennsylvania.

Local shopping with Arlene, Thursday.

We have some pretty ceramics. Come in and see for yourself. Some ladies are making their Christmas trees. It isn't too early either.

Bus chartered for Rehoboth left the Center at 10 a.m. with a group of very happy people.

Take care and be kind to each other. Thank all volunteers.

Best wishes to all! See you at the Center! Faith

Frederica

by Mary "Toby" Johnston, 335-5487

The weather was great for all the goings and doings this past weekend. Our Street Fair was great and we have many to thank for making it a great success.

Besides all the food and games, the rickshaw was a popular item. Mildred Coverdale with her green and white Frederica Hat enjoyed her ride being pulled by good-ole Warner Pritchett wearing his beautiful derby hat. Mary P. and Mary J. enjoyed their ride with a brave young man pulling them. (Who says it's for foreigners only). Three natives are far from being foreigners and Mary P. has been here long enough to be a native.

After spending many hours in the kitchen last week, Mrs. Frances Davidson and Mrs. Mary Purnell attended the finale of the United Methodist Conference Saturday evening. Also Mrs. Elsie Stubbs enjoyed the evening.

Hope all you folks enjoyed the card and game night at the Adult Center and the Covered Dish Monday evening and the visit to the Bridgeville Center on Tuesday. Bible Study on Wednesday, June 13th. Thursday, June 14th "Flag Day". Luncheon at noon and Bingo. Friday, June 15, games, Bingo and personal crafts. Monday, June 18, Craft Projects w/Dolores, p.m. shopping in Milford. Tuesday, June 19, Picnic at Killens Pond as guest of Harvest Years Center. Wednesday, June 20, Bible Study, Blood Pressure Day, Crafts w/Dolores. Thursday, June 21, Crafts w/Dolores - Bingo. Friday, June 22, A representative from the Nemours Foundation will be at the Frederica Adult Center for those already using the program and all 65 or older desiring to certify for the plan. For details, call Mrs. Lynn Baynard, Directors of the Center's Outreach person, Mrs. Ann Tittsworth. Monday, June 25, Personal Crafts, Bingo and games. Tuesday, June 26, Birthday Luncheon. Bring your favorite covered dish. 7:30 p.m. Board Meeting. Wednesday, June 27, Bible Study, gum drop project w/Dolores. Thursday, June 28, Y'll come, lotsa fun? Mystery Trip. Friday, June 29 Game Day.

Miss Mary Hitch received a ribbon for her painting "Across the Field" and Mrs. Jane Boone for her painting of the "Ridgely House" placed end at the Older American Art Display. Congratulations Ladies.

P.V. 2 Kevin Dill stationed at Fort Polk, LA is now home on leave for 15 days with his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Zeke Dill, sisters Cindy and Melissa and Great Grandma Mrs. Mena Bennett. Also visiting his Uncle David and family in Felton.

Mr. Benjamin Matlack and Mrs. Anna May Sharp are now at home after being patients in Milford Memorial Hospital last week.

To all who are ill wherever they might be, our prayers and best wishes. May God Bless. To our friends and neighbors having lost their loved ones, Mrs. Anna Shahan and Mr. Howard Wagner, we extend our deepest sympathies.

Mr. and Mrs. James Havelow, Felton have arrived home from a three-day annual live steamers show in Somerville, N.J. On their return trip they stopped for another show at Marvin Claire, with the gas engines. This was the 13th annual affair for the gas engines. Leaving there, they stopped in Wilmington to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Weldin Stumpf. Arriving in Dover, stopped and visited with Mrs. Nettie Green, Grace Havelow's mother. She was in very good spirits and doing fine.

Greenwood

by Pat Hatfield 349-4255

Mrs. Helen Wilson and Mrs. Helen Workman attended the Retirement Dinner for cafeteria workers held at the Seaford Country Club on Saturday evening, June 1. Approximately ninety people attended. Five of the staff were honored. Speeches were made by two members of the School Board and Dr. Pressly, the superintendent, gave a short talk. A delicious Smorgasborg was served.

The committee for Greenwood Day are asking you to mark your calendars now for the date, July 14, when this annual affair will be held. More details later.

The Jacob Hatfields enjoyed a delightful surprise visit with long-time friends, Bill Wise and his son, Eric, from Harrington.

YOUR PEACE OF MIND AND HEART OUR FIRST CONSIDERATION

Obituaries

JAMES J. DEPUTY
MILFORD - James J. Deputy of 720 New St., Milford, died Monday, June 4, 1984, in Milford Memorial Hospital of congestive heart failure. He was 73.

Mr. Deputy was past secretary of the Delaware River and Bay Authority. He attended the University of Delaware for two years and worked in the Milford Post Office for nine years, then operated a broiler farm before enlisting in the Army as a private. He held the rank of captain upon leaving the service.

After his discharge, he moved to China, where he operated an import-export business before being forced to leave the country. After returning to the U.S., he worked for Steiner and Co. Inc. in Milford until 1954, when he became general manager of H.R. Phillips Inc., a Milford heating oil company. He later became vice president of Eastman Heights, Milford Residential developers.

He served as secretary of the Highway Department in 1956 to 1960 and also secretary of the Interstate Highway Division in the late 1950s until 1964. He retired as a comptroller in 1970 after 16 years with the Highway Department. He also was commander of the National Guard Army in Milford from 1952 to 1953.

He was a member of American Legion Post 3 and Veteran of Foreign Wars Post 6483, both of Milford. He also was a member of the Shawnee Country Club, and the Temple Masonic Lodge 86 of Milford.

He is survived by three daughters, Sandra D. Mahboubian, Manhattan, N.Y., Lois C. Deputy, Wilmington, and Maggie D. Hogland, Kennett Square, Pa.; a niece, Betty Jane M. Cahall, Harrington; and a granddaughter.

Services were 2 p.m. Thursday in Christ Episcopal Church, Church Ave., Milford. There was no viewing.

Burial was in Odd Fellows Cemetery, Milford.

LINA J. FISHER
MILFORD - Lina J. Fisher, of 512 Marshall St., Milford, died Monday, June 4, 1984, in Milford Manor Convalescent Home of congestive heart failure. She was 90.

Mrs. Fisher was a lifelong member of Ellendale United Methodist Church. She taught in the one-room Redden Schoolhouse from 1912 to 1917. Her husband, Walter J. Fisher, died in 1967.

She is survived by two nieces and two nephews.

Graveside services were 11 a.m. Thursday at Ellendale Cemetery.

The family asks that flowers be omitted.

Arrangements by Lofland Funeral Home, Milford.

MARY HOUSTON ROBINSON
GEORGETOWN - Mary Houston Robinson, of Georgetown, died Friday, June 8, 1984, at her home of congestive heart failure. She was 91.

Mrs. Robinson, known for many years as "the militant lady editor of Sussex County," was the publisher and editor of The Sussex Countian. For many years, she was an outspoken citizen of the area on Sussex County issues and the county's culture. She was a teacher and a women's rights advocate, and one of only two women in Georgetown to attend college when she enrolled at Randolph Macon Women's College in Lynchburg, Va. in 1912.

Mrs. Robinson inherited the Sussex Countian from her father, Robert G. Houston, who served four terms in the U.S. House of Representatives. When she took over the paper, it was a four-page publication with 33 subscribers. By the time she retired on her 88th birthday in September 1980, it had grown to a circulation of 5,000 and averaged 22 pages.

She was elected the first woman president of the Delaware Press Association in 1954, having begun her journalism career as a $10-a-week society editor working for her father in 1929. She was succeeded as editor and publisher by her son, Robert H. Robinson, who joined the paper in 1964 as a news editor.

She is survived by two sons, Thomas P., Rehoboth Beach; Robert H., Georgetown; a daughter, Margaret R. Peters, Bridgeville; a sister, Elisabeth W. Houston, Georgetown; and five grandchildren.

Services were 10 a.m. Tuesday in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Pine Street, Georgetown. There was no viewing.

Burial was in Old St. George's Episcopal Chapel churchyard, Angola.

Instead of flowers, the family suggests contributions to the Memorial Fund of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Pine Street, Georgetown, Del. 19947, or to the American Legion Ambulance Fund, Georgetown, Del. 19947.

Guts wins battle of the Brandywine in track record tying 1:54.2

by Joe Asher
Guts' triumph in the Battle of Brandywine, Embrace Me's victory in the Skirmish and upset wins in the Betsy Ross Pace and the Martha Washington Trot highlighted Grand Circuit racing at Brandywine Raceway.

On Sunday, June 10, Guts stormed down the stretch to capture the Silver Anniversary edition of the $100,000 Battle of the Brandywine in 1:54.2, a clocking which equalled the all age track record set by Direct Scooter in 1980. Bill O'Donnell took the son of Raven Hanover back to seventh in the eight horse field as the favored Hobo's Willy rushed out quickly to assume command on a 27.3 first quarter.

When he saw Electric Guitar (Mickey McNichol) hung out on the outside, O'Donnell sent Guts second over to take up the chase. John Campbell gave Hobo's Willy a breather in the second quarter, taking the field by the half in 57.2, while Electric Guitar moved up to third in pursuit. The pace quickened down the backstretch with the pacesetter taking the field by the three quarters in 1:26.2. Then the race began to unfold.

As the field turned for home, Hobo's Willy owned the front by an open length with Electric Guitar still chasing him. O'Donnell sent Guts, who was four lengths back, three wide around the turn as Electric Guitar had had enough. The Stuart Garowitz, Harvey Schwartz and Ralph Pocaró owned and Barry Abrams trained colt flew down the lane in pursuit of the game leader. Guts got up by a length and a quarter to win the Battle with Russ Lyn Scott (Herve Filion) closing for third money.

Herve Filion guided Embrace Me to a neck win in 1:56.4 in the $25,000 Skirmish, a consolation for those horses that failed to qualify for the Battle. Leaving from the difficult eleven post in the eleven horse field, Herve positioned his colt in back of Mannart Maple Leaf (Bill O'Donnell) right from the start and followed the favorite for almost all of the mile. George S. (Lew Williams) set fractions of 28, 57.3 and 1:26.4 and had a neck advantage turning for home.

Mannart Maple Leaf had begun to move three wide around the final turn with Embrace Me following him. As the field fanned out down the stretch, Mannart Maple Leaf assumed the lead but Embrace Me mowed him down in the lane to score the win for trainer Steve Demas with George S. finishing third.

On Saturday, June 9, Three O One and Homemade Lovin scored upset victories in divisions of the $41,250 Betsy Ross Pace for 3-year-old fillies to highlight the card that featured a record tying ten two-minute miles. Sam Belote steered Three O One five wide down the stretch to win the first $20,625 division in 1:58.4 for the Papermill Stables, Inc., and trainer Lawrence Birney. The daughter of Albanor got up in the final strides to defeat the pacesetter favorite, Whisper Wave (Kim Vincent), by a neck with Myrrh (Richie Silverman) a nose further back in third. Trained in the Max Walton Stable, Three O One was eighth in the nine horse field at the top of the lane before Belote put her into high gear to earn the first stakes victory of her career with the lifetime best clocking.

Homemade Lovin benefited from a two hole trip during the latter part of the mile to score a neck victory for Red Ross in 1:58.3 in the second division. The Audrey Smith owned daughter of Abercrombie overtook pacesetter Meema (Archie McNeil) in deep stretch to notch her second win in three tries this season.

As the field turned for home, Scarlet Meema held the lead with Homemade Lovin, a member of the red hot Bob McIntosh Stable, coming on the outside and the favored Fried Egg (Abe Stoltzfus) sitting in the pocket with no racing room. In mid-stretch, Scarlet Meema drifted out slightly, opening up the rail for Fried Egg, who appeared to be headed for the victory. "I had room enough for two horses to get through on the rail," said Stoltzfus. "But she refused to get through. When I struck her (with the whip), she bore in and hit the hub rail." Fried Egg then jumped off-stride and was knocked out of contention.

On Thursday, June 7, Worth Beein scored an easy triumph in the $25,050 Martha Washington Trot for sophomore fillies in a stakes record of 2:00.2. Keystone Sacred (Jan Nordin) making her first career start for New York Yankees owner George Seimbrenner, set early fractions of 28.3 and 1:00.4 before yielding the lead to Wolf's Emet (Sam Beagle) down the backstretch. The latter took the field by the three-quarters in 1:30.2 and held a neck lead over Worth Beein at the top of the lane. Ron Dancer then put the Stanley Dancer and Rose Hild Breeding Farm owned and Eben Holmes trained daughter of Super Bowl into full gear. Worth Beein, a granddaughter of Worth Seein, the winner of the inaugural edition of the event in 1962, drew clear for a two length victory over the fast closing Dough Bowl (Jack Bailey) with Wolf's Emet settling for third money. The odds-on favorite, Bambino Von (Sam Belote), made a break before the quarter pole and was never in contention.

An artist for horseman

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.
BRANDYWINE - Artists come in different sizes and shapes. And for the most part, they do not favor either sex. Usually you find artists in galleries, participating in sidewalk shows, or painting in the park as well as some cold wet attic. Unkept may be thrown in.

This week at Brandywine Raceway during Grand Circuit week, there is a most attractive lady who is well-dressed - paints from memory, and gives off a warm manner to those who stop at her table to admire her painting of horses. Her name is Marilyn Privitere.

She is a New York invader - hailing from West Seneca, New York...near Buffalo. She is an art major having received her degree from the University of Buffalo. It was while a student there that she had the opportunity of studying under Don Nichols and Dr. Weinbrenner, who she feels contributed mostly to developing her art.

Always interested in animals and particularly horses, she began to paint race horses about 10 years ago when she came to Brandywine Raceway.

She follows the Grand Circuit from June to October.

Brandywine Raceway has traditionally been the first track in the circuit to open the Grand Circuit, and the highlight of the racing during that week is the running of the Battle of the Brandywine, which will be this Sunday. It features the best 3 year pacers in the country as well as the leading harness drivers in the world.

Mrs. Privitere says that painting race horses is the next best thing to owning them. She does specific horses when requested and commissioned to do so. She has painted such notables as Silk Stockings and Adios Butler.

Mrs. Privitere works in acrylics on canvas and also is famous for her pen and ink sketches of race horses in action.

In her years following her graduation from college, she displayed her art work around Buffalo and Harrisburg in shows. Having grown up in the throes of Buffalo Raceway, she had an early attraction to race horses.

She is married to a full-time history teacher at the local high school. They have two daughters.

She has begun a new style of painting horses in action on slate. Soon she will try her hand at painting horses on railroad spikes.

Brandywine Raceway, never at a loss for talent throughout their race meet - is a little brighter this week with the likes of Marilyn Privitere...grand circuit harness horse painter.

Sports Quiz

by William T. Ficka
NEW RULES FOR SPORTS QUIZ - No one will be eligible to win more than one prize in any given month, nor will anyone be eligible to win more than two consecutive prizes.

There was no winner in the May 30 quiz, which means the June 6 quiz is now worth $15.

Send a letter or postcard with your answers to Sports Editor, Harrington Journal, P.O. Box 239, Harrington, DE 19952. Only those entries we receive in the mail will be eligible. The correct answers will be placed in a container and the first one drawn will be declared the winner. This week's entries will be drawn on June 22 and announced in the June 27 issue. If there is no winner, $5 will be added to next week's prize.

Question No. 3 was missing from last week's quiz. Entries with correct answers to the other nine questions will be eligible for the winner's drawing.

1. Which horse won Saturday's Belmont Stakes?

2. Did Henry Milligan win or lose in the U.S. Olympic Boxing Trials Saturday?

3. Martina Navratilova won the French Open Saturday. True or False.

4. Navratilova captured the Grand Slam this year. Name the two other women who have accomplished this feat.

5. Name the men who have captured the Grand Slam.

6. Name the four CR players to make the First Team 1984 All-State baseball team.

7. Name the four Seaford players to make the First Team 1984 All-State baseball team.

8. Who won the American Motorcyclist Association Pabst Classic Race at the Delaware State Fairgrounds Saturday?

9. Did horseracing have a Triple Crown winner this year?

10. Who holds the major league record for striking out in 12 consecutive plate appearances?

Sports Laffs

by William T. Ficka
Baseball has always attracted a fair share of flakes, clowns, and free spirits. When Lefty Gomez, Dizzy Dean, and Casey Stengel left the game they were succeeded by a new generation of flakes such as Jimmy Piersall, Jay Johnstone, Rick Monday, Mark (The Bird) Fidrych, Jerry Reuss, and Tug McGraw.

After a World Series game Johnstone gave an interview wearing a horror mask and Star Patrol space helmet.

Another time Fernando Valenzuela was in the shower rinsing shampoo from his hair with his eyes closed. Johnstone tiptoed to the shower and, as Valenzuela kept rinsing, Johnstone kept pouring more shampoo on his hair. The befuddled Fernando wasn't used to such behavior in his native Mexico. Johnstone once lined Steve Garvey's jockey shorts with hot linament. Garvey didn't realize it till he got on the freeway for the 40-minute ride home. It wasn't a very comfortable ride.

Tug McGraw was asked if he preferred grass or artificial turf. "I don't know," replied McGraw. "I never smoked turf."

On another occasion McGraw lost both ends of a doubleheader. Deciding to drown his sorrows in drink, he headed for a bar. After a few belts he left the bar and stopped in the nearest police station, demanding to be locked up.

Another time McGraw said, "I tried sniffing a little coke, but I couldn't get the Coke bottle in my nose."

Eddie Davis may not be fully recovered from the going from the "bull at the farm", but you would not know it from what he has been doing since resuming his driving duties a few weeks ago at Brandywine. Last Thursday he drove Glen Almahurst to a 1:52.1 mile at The Meadowlands, which is the fastest he has ever been and also reported to be his first six digit purse...and it was for $203,000. It was also the fastest mile of the year. The fractions were :27.1, :53.4, 1:22.2 and 1:52.1. Last Wednesday at Brandywine, a half sister to Perfect Beauty...Special Desire (Lindy's Crown - Flowing Beauty) out of the Jim Miller stable qualified by winning in the AM at Brandywine in 2:07 (:31.4, 1:03, 1:35.1). They are hoping for big things for the 2-year-old trotter.

At Freestate on Sunday in the $25,000 final of the Marylander Pacing Series, it was Happy Speaker for Steve Milan in 1:56.4.

CHERNOKAL GETS AWARD

Award winning auto racing photographer Walter Chernokal was notified on May 26th by the American Auto Racing Writers and Broadcasters Association (AARWB) that he has been awarded FIRST PLACE in the STP/AARWB competition for the category "Black and White People Category - Photography." The photo appeared exclusively in Raceweek in the March 16, 1983 issue. "Walt Chernokal is consistently one of the leading motor racing photographers in the country today. I was pleased to recognize that talent early on with the publishing of Raceweek. Not only is Walt Chernokal a great guy...but one of the biggest boosters of Raceweek and The Harrington Journal. We are honored to participate in a small way with Walt Chernokal's success. He deserves the very best rewards in all of his endeavors. We wish him well." by Harry G. Farrow, Jr. [June 12, 1984]

Siscone scores second win at Wall

Tony Siscone became the first modified driver to win two features this season as he captured the thirty five lap feature Saturday night at Wall Stadium.

On the start of the feature event, Rick Sendzik paced the twenty-two car starting field as Ed Brunnhoelzel and Tony Ferrante filled the second and third spots. Quickly the yellow flag came out with one lap complete as Joe Luckus was leaking water around the third of a mile speedway.

As the race restarted, Sendzik continued to pace the field in the #6 as the action became hot and heavy in back of him. The second yellow of the race came out as Farmingdale, N.J.'s Tom Mauser clipped the frontstretch fence spinning into turn one.

Sendzik shot out into the lead as the green flew again, but with Jamie Tomaino now in 2nd, it was only a matter of one lap before he grabbed the lead on lap nine. Tomaino appeared to have all the power necessary to hold off Siscone but on lap 23, something let go in the motor department, sending the #09 into the infield and gave Siscone the lead.

Once out in front, Siscone was never seriously challenged as he took the win. Sneaking in for second on the last lap was Tony Hirschman with Ferrante third, Brunnhoelzel fourth and Eddie Bohn fifth.

Tom Dancer recorded his first win of the season in the thirty-lap sportsman feature. In for 2nd was Donny Ling, Jr., as Kevin Eyres was third, Bill Gratton fourth and Martin Truex fifth.

In the 25-lap Modern Stock Feature, Bill Cameron of Howell took the win, his 2nd of the season. Finishing second was Harold Daucey of Bricktown, as Alan Brenner of Neptune City was third and Glen Osborne of Howell was 4th.

Bill Holland dead at 76

TUCSON, ARIZ. - Long time "open cockpit" auto racer Bill Holland died on May 20th in Tucson, Ariz. of Alzheimer's disease (brain paralysis). From 1947 through 1950, Bill Holland recorded an unbelievable race record particularly at the Indianapolis 500. He won once during that period but finished second all other times. In 1947, as a rookie, he was leading the race and would have won it easily, but he misunderstood a signal from his pit. This caused him to pit when he had the lead allowing teammate Maury Rose to win the event. In 1949 he won the event by more than 5 miles, establishing at that time a new race record of 121 mph. Bill Holland is remembered mostly by folks in these parts from his early racing days at the old Kent and Sussex County Fair...now The Delaware State Fair. Holland confided many times with racing photographer great, Walter Chernokal, that not only did he cut his "teeth racing" at Harrington, but the things he learned there stood him in well during his racing years. He was one of the original drivers on the circuit operated by AAA Motor Club, (Continued on page 10)

Borthwick repeats; Baker and Labant win at Airport

by Walter T. Chernokal
NEW CASTLE, DE, June 9 - Jimmy Borthwick became the first feature win repeater of the season and Dan Baker and Doug Labant won their initial main event Saturday night at the New Castle, DE Airport Speedway.

On a hot and muggy night that kept the field of cars down to 53 - lowest of the year, the Blackbird Micro Midgets staged a slambang program that saw less than ten cars finish in any of the three feature events.

Due to a rule change the two stroke open class B Main now qualifies the first three finishers for the A Main. The 15 lap event got off to a poor start with the front row of Art Birch and Sonny Warren being scratched. This put Steve Petry and Mark Baker into the one-two spots with the waving of the green. Petry became a "DNF" when he slid into a spunout car, but Baker took advantage of the front row start by leading all the way for his second straight B Main victory. Jon Holmquist Jr., came in second and Kevin McMullin was third.

Next in line came the Industrial Flathead 20 lap feature. In a display of rocket power, Jimmy Borthwick came from 8th starting position to take the lead on the second lap from Allen Cox and lapped everyone except second place finisher Dan Birch to become the first driver in any division to score two wins this year.

Birch did the best moveup job of the race coming from 12th to notch his fourth second place finish of the season. Third at the end was Bob Dale followed by Don Gehrmann, Tina Musser, Tom Murray, Sam Commale in the #48, Mike Andrews, Jim Griffin and Jack Wilkins.

George Bennet and Willie Harrington brought the four stroke open class cars down for a clean start in the 25 lap main event but Harrington changed this on the second lap when he spun. Three laps later Harrington lost the left rear wheel coming off the second turn and all the other drivers did a masterful job avoiding the bouncing wheel as it rolled down the backstretch. Leader Dan Baker went back into the lead on the restart and appeared to have the situation well in hand until four laps later when Mike DeFrank became his only challenger.

Baker kept his cool as he and DeFrank darted through tailend traffic until the 23rd lap when the red came out for Bill King and Donn Trego. Coming off the fourth turn the two cars got hooked together. Trego tried to break loose but couldn't as King's wheel was lodged in the side of Trego's nerf bar. The result was King flipping over on his side and Trego perched on top of King's micro.

King was checked over and fitted with a neck brace for safety purposes but did not leave the track. Trego was not hurt and both cars were sidelined. This set the stage for a two lap dash to the finish with a lapped car between Baker and second place DeFrank. DeFrank easily got by the lapped car, but Baker had too much of a lead to overcome with only one lap remaining. Baker thus posted the first win of the season for the Fenimore Racing Team while DeFrank finished in the runnerup position for the second straight week. Third was Bob West followed by Don Jacobs, John Carey, Nelson Carey, George Bennett, Bill Bennett, Brian Jacobs and Trego.

The two stroke open 25 lap feature was a survival of the fittest as 18 cars took the green but only 7 were still moving when starter Jim Johnston displayed the checkered flag. Trouble started early as John Huebner and Bill Oldham tangled on the first lap. Don Ennis managed to record four lead laps before Mark Baker coasted to a stop on the backstretch. When action resumed, Rick Nutter became the new leader but only for one lap. Going into the fourth turn, Tony Kibler ended up on Ennis, and the yellow was out again.

This cut the field down to 13 and on the restart it was 12 as Greg Coverdale blew an engine. Nutter lost his head to Jon Holmquist, Jr., on the restart that lasted only two laps. Doug Labant became the innocent victim of a spinning car and he brought out the yellow when he spun to miss the sliding car.

Labant was nevertheless restarted in the rear since the offending car never stopped. Holmquist continued to lead over the next four laps with Scott Dimeler chasing him. Then Dimeler seized a piston going into the first turn and it was yellow time again. A double spin on the restart involving Tony Kibler and Dennis Garehan resulted in Kibler getting the black flag. The field was now down to 10 with Holmquist leading followed by Nutter and Steve Labant.

Just past the halfway mark Oldham tried to find running room under Steve Wyatt but ended up spinning. It was while the field was under yellow that officials spotted leader Holmquist running with a broken left front radius arm. To prove it was not harming his handling abilities, Holmquist took a couple of high speed laps to prove his point. Just after he was allowed to restart the car drifted to a stop in the third turn and Holmquist was out of the race.

This made the new restart order read Steve Labant followed by his son Doug, Steve Wyatt, Dennis Garehan, Kevin McMullin, Nutter, Oldham and Ken Penta.

Steve led for two laps before surrendering to son Doug who proceeded to show the way to the checkered flag. It was still a one-two finish for the Labants as Steve came in second followed by Garehan, Oldham, Wyatt, Nutter and Penta as the only finishers. McMullin was awarded 9th with Craig Woods and Holmquist in the top ten spots.

The Airport Speedway will not run this Saturday, June 16. Next race is in two weeks, June 23.

which sanctioned national races in that day, much as NASCAR does today. His championship circuit career was interrupted in 1951 when he was charged with having participated in an unsanctioned race. He returned to racing in 1953 at Indy finishing 15th that year. He closed out his most illustrious career in 1955. He became involved in owning and operating skating rinks in Connecticut thereafter. Holland possessed the leading man looks, and was dashing off the track as on. He and his wife Myra had lived in Tucson since the '70's. He and his wife were honorary guests at this year's Indy 500. Bill Holland, it is believed, won more feature auto races at the Delaware State Fair than any other driver. Bill Holland, dead at 76.

Wheelstanders wild and wooly at US 13

by Don Allen

Jack Ehrmantraut and his son Toby brought their awe inspiring wheelstander dragsters to the U.S. 13 Speedway Sunday and literally sat the track on fire. Jack in his "Hemi Under Glass" and Toby in his father's new car the "Night Rider" flashed down the quarter-mile on two wheels sending sparks in all directions and bringing the their feet.

Brent Bounds extended his streak of Low ET, full body records by turning a time of 9.342 at a speed of 137.40 mph. Pro competition honors fell to Bernie Pyles Jr. in his '63 Nova. Pyles of Glen Bernie ran the quarter in 11.68 (111.94 mph) to eliminate Charles Ennis in the final round. Jane Johnson of Millsboro and Bob Snyder were the semi-finalists.

In the two father and son duels that were run, dad came out on top. Jack holds the "Wheelstander" record of ET 8.99 (161.50 mph) set in 1980, turned ET's of 10.14 and 9.92 on the Delmar strip.

Last week's winner in Heavy Eliminator, David Adkins took his "budget Buster" '66 Falcon to the top of the heap once again with an ET of 12.93 (99.88 mph). Bill Groton was runner-up and semi-finals went to the "Step-Child" '67 Chevelle of Sterling Clough.

In Super-Pro competition, Terry Sinke piloted his little '48 Fiat to victory over Johnny Ennis and semi-finalist Jay Bradford. Sinke turned an ET of 8.67 (142.85 mph). Quarter-finals went to Steve Hitch, Vernon Russell and Butch Sutphin. Sutphin also turned the low ET for Open-body for the day. It was 8.64 at a speed of 153.58 mph.

Street Eliminator was Tom Bevan in his '76 AMC. Leah Cordrey was runner-up and Sue Snyder and Benny Callhane were the semi-finalists. The Pro Bike laurels went to Rodney Collins on his '74 Kawasaki. Michael Durham, also on a Kawasaki, was the runner-up and the Kawasaki of Pete Mahoney took the semi-finals.

Gab Fest by Pat Hatfield

At last we are coming into our own with June. June — the month of roses, brides, strawberries and graduations. Mrs. Stowe has a poem at the top of the June page for 1876, thusly:

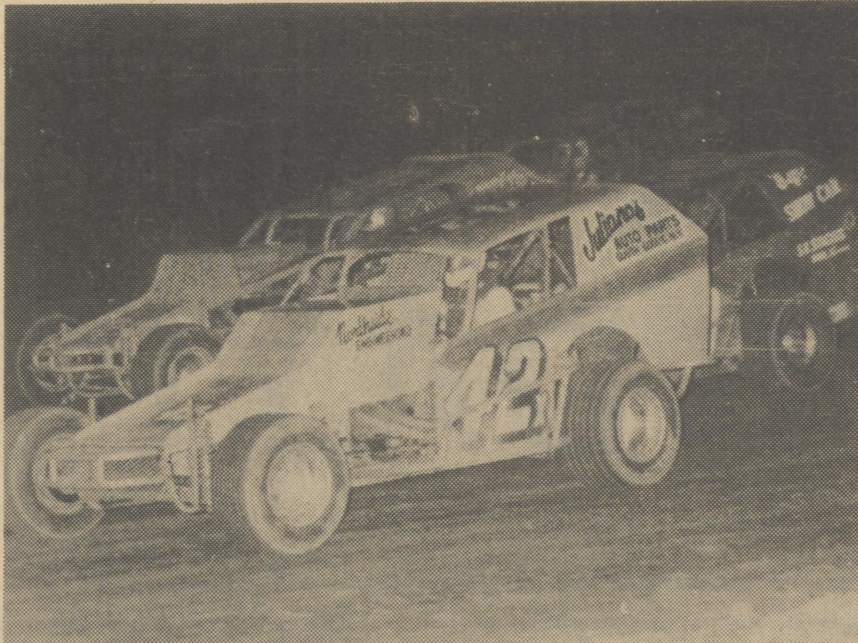

Now is that glorious resurrection time, When all earth's buried beauties have new birth. Behold the yearly miracle complete — God hath created a new heaven and earth!"

I wonder if this is the same Harriet Beecher Stowe who wrote Uncle Tom's Cabin?

The monotony of the hoeing was broken with sheep-washing, which was as good as a holiday for the boys, work on the highway better than a half holiday. The men and boys of the district met with one common interest, the improvement of the roads, to see who could lift the biggest stone, whose cattle could pull the largest load, to tell all they knew of news, and to guess at coming events."

Weather is still a great concern. Thunderstorms and winds make me very uneasy and try my Christian faith sometimes to the utmost. Part of it, I think, stems from my childhood. Evidently my mother was terrified of storms, although she never said so, nor acted alarmed. But she did adhere to a ritual during storms. At that time, all homes had parlors, stiff little rooms, very formally furnished, which were used only on special occasions, on holidays or when the minister came to dine. But whenever a storm was brewing, my mother guided us into the parlor, pulled down the window shades and lighted an oil lamp. She said the lightning was less bright that way. If a storm came in the night, we followed the same routine. We came downstairs, lit the lamp and waited it out, sitting together on the sofa. All manner of old sayings were hashed over, such as "Don't get near a dog or cat, because they draw lightning! and stuff like that."

The editor's column says this in that June of 1900: "The one holiday of June (election day) disturbed but little the work of that busy month. Planting was finished, with cucumbers and beans where corn hills were missing, or between the hills. Hoeing was the order of the day. In June the first tub of butter was packed, which was expected to command the highest price next winter. The tub for such butter must contain no sap wood, and must be thoroughly soaked with saturated brine.

W.T. Chipman Spring Concert review

by Louise Apt

If you were not in attendance Wednesday evening, May 23rd, you missed a wonderful concert.

The W.T. Chipman Jr. High Band, under the direction of Mr. Louis Giusto, held their Annual Spring Concert in the auditorium at Lake Forest High School in Felton.

The band front performed to the Star Spangled Banner; Battle Hymn of the Republic; Anchors Aweigh and the ever popular Apache.

The musical numbers were: The Rose; Variations on a Theme, Pat-A-Pan; Chaconne for Flutes; Clarinettes; Suite for Percussion - Satin Doll; Macho March and Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy.

Several members had special solos and duets and were accompanied by various members of the band.

The stage band played T.J.'s Boogie; Watermelon Man, Tajuana Taxi and Basin Street Blues.

Bravo to the band and the director for a very enjoyable evening. It was great from the first beat to the last.

The concert was the last that Mr. Giusto will be directing. He will be going to Felton in the fall to teach music. He will be missed by many.

I say to whomever fills the vacant spot, keep up the work and make our band the best.

There are a lot of fine young people with fine talents among us, and we think they should be recognized as such. Young people are not praised often enough.

Educational News

Students coming to Lake Forest and Woodbridge areas

Two students in Europe, Cecile and Michael, are eagerly awaiting news from families in the Lake Forest and Woodbridge areas. They and several other European teenagers are hoping to spend the 1984/85 school year with families in this area, sponsored by Educational Foundation for Foreign Study, a non-profit high school exchange program. Local Area Representative for Educational Foundation, Penny Welch is now interviewing and selecting families to host students who arrive in August.

Cecile, a Dutch girl, has an interest in sports, especially tennis, swimming, and softball. She also plays the piano and enjoys art. Michael, a Danish boy, is on both a soccer and gymnastics team. He would love a family who is interested in sports. Since being accepted to the Educational Foundation program, the two students have been learning all they can about America, while anxiously awaiting to hear from their new American host families. Host families come from all walks of life, different faiths and a wide range of interests and experiences. Many have travelled themselves and all are interested in learning about another culture while sharing what is best about America with a young person from abroad.

Educational Foundation students come from Europe and Mexico and have been carefully screened. They all speak English, have their own spending money and are covered by insurance. They share a dream of spending a year living and learning in America. During their stay, they come to understand what it really means to be an American while their host families, schools and communities learn about life in another country.

"All I knew of American came from watching 'Dallas' on tv," a student told his host family. "How different it is to see the real America." Host families note that the student arrives a stranger and leaves a son or daughter. Any family interested in hosting Cecile or Michael or one of the other students coming to this area, should contact Penny Welch at (302) 398-3121 or the Educational Foundation office at (800) 243-5400, toll free.

Wesley names area students to Dean's List

Seventy three students were named to the Dean's List for the 1984 spring semester at Wesley College. To achieve this honor, students must be full time and attain a 3.250 grade index, in no less than 15 semester hours, with no grade below "C". A number of students attained a perfect 4.0 grade index. Area students are as follows: Deanna L. Arrington (4.0), Felton, Elizabeth Collier, Wyoming and Renee Vincent, Greenwood.
