

School District faces more issues in the coming year

HARRINGTON-For nearly the last eight months, the School Board and the administration, as well as the teachers and the Teachers Union have all been embroiled in a great controversy mainly over whether or not Vocational Agriculture teacher Michael Coverdale would be allowed to teach at the High School.

Before the end of the school year, Superintendent, Gerald Lysik, had made certain recommendations to the School Board one of which was to recommend that Mr. Coverdale be sent to the W.T. Chipman School as a science teacher.

But other problems existed which for the most part stem from declining enrollment. Today the enrollment for the entire School District figures to be about 3018. Where the over all enrollment is declining the numbers of Special Education students is growing.

In 1976 when the program was first implemented the total number of students enrolled was 265, but today the enrollment in this special field totals 331...over 15% of the total enrollment.

Soaring enrollment in the special Education area also brings along other pressing problems...such as more room. More room means the need for more buildings.

There are three classifications of the Special Education students. They are those with a Learning Disability (LD), the Social Emotional Maladjusted (SEM), and the Educable Mentally Handicapped (EMH). Each of these classifications have requirements of a small number of students for each class. This makes for the need for more rooms or classrooms and more buildings... or in the alternative more building space.

In sharp contrast to what has been discussed with placement of teachers, the problems surrounding the Special Education section demands immediate study and concern. Mr. Lysik last week said, "it will be my recommendation that renovations are needed and redesign of space will be a priority."

Again the matter which came before the public last year regarding monies need to renovate the building was headed by the term "...building program...". In that program a $5.5 million renovation plan was introduced. "The figure will probably reach as low as $3.3 million as a figure more... this does not include the possibility of replacing the roof at the High School... if that becomes a necessity. I certainly hope that it doesn't but there is that possibility that the roof will have to be replaced," said Lysik.

The School District at the end of the last school year made an out of court settlement with roofing contractors in the amount of $100,000, which will not be nearly enough to replace the roof. "The reason we were forced to settle out of court was that the contractors were in bankruptcy, and that was the recommendation of the Attorney General's office and other in authority," said Mr. Lysik.

The plan to make the School on West Street in Harrington the center of the administration offices is still on the drawing board to be done. "All of the administration offices will be housed there, but there will also be some classrooms there too", said Mr. Lysik. But as Mr. Lysik stated none of this can be accomplished without a referendum. He added that they plan calls for a renovation program over a 3 period. Lysik pointed out that in 1985, 1987 and 1988 the District will be retiring some old bonds. "These will be paid off... so we may put that back into the debt which will be needed to do the work on the buildings", said Mr. Lysik.

"Last year the program to raise teachers salaries was a high priority for me in the role of the new superintendent for the School District. We also fought very hard and won on the issue of equalization, which was simply equalizing teachers salaries throughout the state. So in '83 we had roughly $380 thousand to work with. In '84 we had 392 thousand and in '85 we will have $876 thousand, which will be used for teachers salaries, equipment, supplies and materials. This will mean about $1500 across the board increase in salaries for teachers. On top of what the District passed last spring, this means that the teachers are being paid now at a level which is justified", Lysik said.

In the meantime, four trailers will be used in the District until such time as more space can be provided. "There will be three trailers at East and one at the High School, which the latter will be used for storage. The three at East will be used for classrooms.

Harrington Raceway opens Friday

HARRINGTON, DEL-Harrington Raceway, Delaware's oldest night time pari-mutuel track opens for its 38th consecutive season of harness racing this Friday evening, September 7th. The downstate track which is located on U.S. Route 13 has been granted a 50 night schedule which will run through November 17th. Racing will be conducted every Friday through Tuesday evenings with the exception of the first week when no racing will be held on Monday and Tuesday.

George C. Simpson, General Manager of the track has announced that Wilmington, Delaware native, Alex Kraszewski will serve his first year as track announcer. Kraszewski is currently working as announcer for the New Jersey Sire Stakes program and has served in various racing capacities at many other tracks, including the Meadowlands, Brandywine and Liberty Bell.

Simpson also announced that Marilyn Abbott will return for her second full year of Racing Secretary at Harrington. Abbott is one of only a handful of women in the United States to hold a Racing Secretaries license at a pari-mutuel track. She is married to long time harness racing breeder, trainer and driver, Frank Abbott.

Simpson said that optimism seems to be running high among horsemen concerning the upcoming season. Over 500 horses have been granted stall space at the track, while sizable number of other horses will be shipping in to race from other tracks and from home tracks.

Top trainers who will be bringing their racing stables to Harrington include Del Manges, John Belote, Ellis Myer, Walt Callahan and Vernon Mitchell. A number of horses have already arrived from the New England States.

Simpson noted that a number of special promotions had been planned

Short takes on area news

by William T. Ficks

Fountain guilty to conspiracy

MILFORD - Franklin P. Fountain, of Milford, vice chairman of the Kent County Democratic Party, pleaded guilty in federal court last week to conspiring to pay voters in the 1982 general election.

The 69-year-old owner of the Moonlight Grill in Milford entered his guilty plea as part of a plea agreement in which eight counts of vote-buying will be dismissed at the time of sentencing.

Fountain, who faces a maximum penalty of 5 years in prison and a $10,000 fine, originally faced a maximum penalty of 45 years in prison and a $90,000 fine.

If Fountain gets jail time, the government will not oppose a request that he be sent to a non-prison setting.

Co-defendants Russell Taylor, 63, and Gus Spralden, 65, both of Milford plead guilty to one misdemeanor charge of buying votes for $5.00.

A virtue is it's own reward plus $200

OCEAN CITY - Katherine Roberg, employed at Dolle's Candyland, was on her way to the Peninsula Bank last week with $6,600 of her employer's money. Or she thought she was.

It turned out that Roberg, upset over a co-worker who had suffered a stroke, had left the box containing the money on the roof of her car while unlocking the door. Forgetting the box was there, she drove to the bank before realizing the box was missing.

En route to the bank the box had slid off the roof of the car and was lying in the road where it was spotted by one Barbara Riley.

Riley, obviously a woman of integrity, saw the neatly stacked bills along with a deposit slip and proceeded to the bank where she turned over the treasure to bank officials.

In the meantime, while bank officers were trying to reach the depositor, Roberg was frantically searching through trash cans and dumpsters in downtown Ocean City.

Only after resigning herself to repaying her employer with her own money, did Roberg learn that Riley had found the money.

Old Ben Franklin would have been proud of Riley.

Rudolph Dolle, owner of the shop, was proud of her too--and proved it by rewarding her with a $200 check.

Religious Director appointed

HARRINGTON - Rev. Charles L. Brown, III, pastor of St. Bernadette's Catholic Church in Harrington and St. John's Catholic Church in Milford, announced last week the appointment of Ms. Mary L. Colagioia of Philadelphia as Director of Religious Education (DRE).

Colagioia received her B.A. from Gwynedd-Mercy College and her M.A. from the Institute of Pastoral Studies, Loyola University, Chicago, Ill.

The position of DRE was included in the parish budget as a study made by the Christian Formation Committees of the parishes.

The DRE is responsible for the religious education program for grades pre-K to 12.

She is also charged with coordination of activities between adults and young people so that all may come to a fuller awareness of their faith.

"We will working as a team and I ask the same cooperation you have afforded me will be given her," said Father Brown.

Nanticokes prepare Powwow

OAK ORCHARD. The Nanticoke Indians are preparing their 7th Annual Powwow outside Millsboro on Sept. 8 and 9. (Powwow means social get-together or meeting for discussion.)

The annual powwow has become one of the most popular public events in Sussex County.

The Nanticokes are recognized as the original settlers in the first state, and are the only Indian tribe remaining in Delaware. Last year, the Nanticokes were joined at the powwow by the Seneca and Oneida Indians from reservations in New York state along with the Tuscorora from North Carolina and Sioux from the Dakota's among many others.

Democrats in neck and neck race

by William T. Ficks

Democratic candidates for state offices are gathering their forces in a last-minute effort to gain the edge in what promises to be cliffhanging races in Saturday's primaries.

None of the races for the offices being contested indicates a clear-cut winner.

Most savvy political observers give Bill Quillen a slight edge over Sherman Tribbitt in the gubernatorial race.

Quillen has the support of most of the party's top leaders, including state chairman, Samuel L. Shipley and national committeeman, Edward R. "Ned" Davis.

Former governor, Sherman Tribbitt has the name recognition factor in his favor, and his down-home, hand-shaking, backslapping style appeals to many Kent and Sussex Countians.

Tribbitt has been endorsed by the United Auto Workers, but most other large labor unions are remaining neutral.

Almost 70 percent of the state's 126,000 Democrats are in New Castle County, and 30 or 40 percent are expected to turn out for the primary.

The race for lieutenant governor is another barnburner with S.B. Woo, a University of Delaware physics professor, going against state senators Nancy Cook and David McBride.

Although Woo started his campaign as a political unknown, he has gained a large following with his open, honest style and his knowledge of the issues.

Whether it will be enough to offset the experience and following of two sitting senators, we'll know Saturday night.

An equally close contest is expected in the race for insurance commissioner in which Dave Levinson faces Marilyn A. Huthmacher.

The intelligent, articulate Levinson is a lawyer and former land developer. A graduate of Harvard Law School, his roots in Delaware go back 90 years.

Levinson said he withdrew from the gubernatorial race for the sake of party unity.

Huthmacher, a New Jersey native, is the party's national committeewoman and worked ten years as a business manager for a life insurance training council in Washington, D.C.

Levinson said his not working in the insurance industry is a plus factor, giving him independence not afforded a working member of the profession.

Winners of the primaries will face republicans Mike Castle in the gubernatorial race, Battle Robinson in the lieutenant governor contest, and Dave Elliott in the insurance commissioner battle in the general election in November.

Has the "Big Cat" returned

by William T. Ficks

A Farmington woman who fired a rifle shot at the "big cat" in July believes the animal has returned to her neighborhood.

Margaret Slater, whose home is alongside the railroad tracks in Farmington, said her daughter heard the animal's cries last Wednesday or Thursday.

The large, pure black, catlike animal was first sighted on June 19 in a small wooded area between Liberty and Clark streets. The animal has been sighted four or five times in the Five Points area and once in Greenwood.

Although Slater didn't actually see the animal in July, she feels certain it is the animal that has been prowling the area.

"It was hiding in the shadows by my house, screaming. It sounded like a terrified woman," Slater said.

"It must be a panther. I grew up in West Virginia and I know the sound of a panther screaming. My father always told my sister and me to run when we heard one cry out. They (panthers) can tear you to pieces," she added.

Her daughter, Eloise Slater, who lives in a trailer behind her house also heard the screams in July and again last week.

"My dog and cat just drop to the ground and won't move when they hear the screams. It's like they're dead," Eloise said.

The screams came from an area close to her trailer, according to Eloise.

"I was afraid to look out, for fear it would see me and come through the window," she said.

Margaret said she reported the July incident to the state police at Troop 3.

"They said it was probably somebody trying to scare me," she said.

"I'd like to track the cat down if I could only get enough people to help me," Margaret said.

"We are hoping for a successful meet at Harrington, and it looks good for us now. All of the stalls are taken at this time", she said. She also added that two stables from Foxboro (Massachusetts) have just shipped in, and they are Jimmy Moore and Paul Bresciani.

Rumble on Delaware Avenue

by William T. Ficka

An outbreak of violence occurred in front of 201 Delaware Avenue in Harrington, Tuesday at about 10 p.m. The rumble resulted in two arrests, with more arrests expected today, and sent Harrington Patrolman Beth Monday to Milford Memorial Hospital with a cracked rib and sprained ankle. Officer Monday was struck in the arm and rib area with a railing that was torn loose from the front porch, according to Harrington Police Chief, Carl McElroy. Debbie Langford, of Vernon, was charged with assaulting an officer and criminal mischief, and committed to Woodshaven in default of $3,000 bond. Samuel Colvin, of Harrington, was charged with assault, disorderly conduct, and criminal mischief. He was committed to DCC in default of $3,000 bond. Both Langford and Colvin are being held pending a hearing in the Court of Common Pleas, McElroy said. Monday received assistance in quelling the disturbance from members of the Harrington Fire Company, state police from troop 3 and an off-duty Felton policeman. McElroy extended his gratitude to those units for the back-up support given Patrolman Monday. A few participants suffered cuts and bruises from the clubs and bottles wielded in the fracas. In all, it took about one hour to restore peace in the neighborhood. As we went to press, no further details were available.

Mencken Day honors Baltimore writer

by William T. Ficks

Anyone who has read and enjoyed the writings of H.L. Mencken can learn more about the "Sage of Baltimore" when Mencken Day is celebrated this coming Saturday at the Enock Pratt Free Library in Baltimore.

The famous Baltimore newspaperman, literary critic, and magazine editor who died in 1956 is honored each year on Mencken Day, which is celebrated on the weekend nearest his birthday on Sept. 12.

Leading literary figures and lovers of good writing from throughout the nation gather on this day each year to reminisce about the great iconoclast.

On this one day each year, the Mencken Room at the Pratt Library is opened to the public. The room houses all of Mencken's books and many original manuscripts, letters, and private papers.

Mencken was born in Baltimore in 1880, became a newspaper reporter in 1899, and remained in journalism until suffering a crippling stroke in 1948. The cerebral thrombosis affected his speech center, leaving him unable to read or write.

Mencken was known for his forceful, pungent writing style, which exploded across the pages with his biting wit. His uproarious essays have become classics of American journalism. His targets were sham, stuffed shirts, hypocrisy, pomposity, and frauds wherever he found them.

He was at his best when commenting on American politics which he called a "carnival of buncombe." About politicians he said, "they are scoundrels, without exception," and "I am completely neutral. I'm against them all."

Listen to Mencken on Harry Truman: "If he did not come out for spiritualism, chiropractic, psychotherapy, and extra sensory perception, it was only because no one demanded that he do so. If there had been any formidable body of cannibals in the country he would have promised to provide them with free missionaries fattened at the taxpayers' expense."

Here's Mencken on the Presidency: "It is my firm conviction, reached after long experience, profound pondering and incessant prayer, that no man who is worth a hoot will ever be president of the United States hereafter. We are doomed to suffer an endless procession of quacks—until, that is, the republic itself blows up."

Mencken was the idol of young writers everywhere. As editor of the American Mercury magazine, he published the early stories of F. Scott Fitzgerald, Ben Hecht, James T. Farrell, and furthered the careers of Sinclair Lewis and many others.

Walter Lippman called Mencken "the most powerful influence on this whole generation of educated people."

He was also called many other things, some not so flattering, such as "A howling hyena...The private secretary of God Almighty...One of those little skunks who spread their poison wherever they go...The boy-pervert from Baltimore...An 18-karat, 23-jeweled, 33rd degree, bred-in-the-bone and dyed-in-the-wool moron."

But, as one in the name-calling business, Mencken expected such abuse. In fact, he delighted in it. He collected all the derogatory remarks hurled at him and put them into a book called Menckensiana: A Schimpflesikon.

Another Baltimore attraction for Mencken followers is the H.L. Mencken House at 1524 Hollins Street, where he spent most of his 75 years.

The dining room and front parlor are complete with original furniture. Hundreds of books from Mencken's 3000-book library are in bookcases in the living room and his second-floor private study. The sturdy Smith-Corona typewriter, on which he wrote many of his 30 books, is on his desk, along with bound copies of the American Mercury.

In the 100-foot yard, visitors can see where Mencken spent many happy hours as a boy, and view the brick wall he built as a man.

A brief audio visual slide show gives the highlights of Mencken's career.

The house is open Wednesday through Sunday, 10 a.m.-5 p.m. with the affable Dr. John Kish, a director of the Peale, Baltimore's Historic Museum, to serve as a guide. Kish, a Mencken buff, can answer virtually any question thrown at him. A man who obviously enjoys his work, he lives on the third floor of the Mencken House with his wife.

Admission to the Mencken House is $1.00.

Feature films, home movies, exhibits, and talks at the Pratt Library on Saturday are from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Admission is free.

As you leave, try to remember and follow the suggestions Mencken gave in his epitaph: "If, after I depart this vale, you ever remember me and have thought to please my ghost, forgive some sinner and wink your eye at some homely girl."

MARIANNA'S MICROWAVING
by Marianna

Is your dish safe for the microwave? Try this dish test.

DISH TEST: Microwaves are transmitted by glass, ceramic, paper and many forms of plastic. To determine if your dishes are microwave safe, put one cup of water into a glass measuring cup and place cup of water in dish to be tested.

Place the dish to be tested in the microwave oven. Microwave for one minute. The water should be warm, the dish being tested should not. If the dish is warm, do not use it.

Since microwaves are reflected by metal, standard utensils made of stainless steel, iron and aluminum are not usable.

This week's German potato salad recipe was submitted by the home extension service through the University of Delaware.

GERMAN POTATO SALAD
Power Level: High
Microwave time: Approximately 20 minutes
Servings: 4 to 6

Cookware: A 2-quart microwave-safe dish

- Cook 4 medium potatoes, whole, 10 to 12 minutes in microwave oven on HIGH in 1/4 cup water and 1/2 teaspoon salt in microwave-safe dish. Cool slightly, peel and slice thinly. Set aside.
- Arrange 6 slices bacon on a roast rack set in a 2-quart glass baking dish. Cover with a paper towel. Cook in microwave oven 4 to 6 minutes on HIGH, or until crisp. Reserve 2 tablespoons drippings. Crumble bacon and set aside.
- Alternate layers of potatoes, 1/2 cup finely diced celery and 1/4 cup finely diced onion in a 2-quart glass casserole, sprinkling each layer with a dash of salt.
- Mix 1/2 cup white vinegar with 2 1/2 tablespoons sugar. Pour over potatoes; mix carefully. Sprinkle crumbled bacon over top and drizzle with reserved bacon drippings; mix carefully.
- Heat uncovered in microwave oven 4 minutes on HIGH; mix carefully once.

I encourage you to call me at 302-856-3581 or write me with any questions, tips, recipes, or ideas pertaining to microwave cooking. My address is Marianna, P.O. Box 337, Bridgeville, DE 19933.

We're off to a good start and next week we will try a recipe using your fresh garden vegetables.

"Thank You, Lord, For Older Folks!"
by Troy Dennis
I recall the past 8 weeks,
Is brought to mind our many peeks.
Yes, good times, we have definitely had;
But with all good comes a little bad.
You have given me memories I will never forget;
To each of you, I am deeply in debt
Together, we've been through sad times and dimays,
But I wouldn't trade anything for one of those days.
As I go off to college with those inevitable tears,
I'll always hold dear these past two summer years.
I will never forget each statement so true,
My favorite of which—
"May The Good Lord Bless You!"
A Poet, I'm Not;
But, well, I gave it a shot.
I wrote this poem with only one thought in mind,
So I picked up my pen and began to unwind.
I wanted to express myself without using jokes;
JUST WANTED TO SAY-THANK YOU, LORD, FOR OUR OLDER FOLKS!

Thank you gardeners, all, for your fine vegetables! Thanks also for the gorgeous flowers gracing the Center - cultivated by loving hands, shared by loving hearts! Thank you also for the baskets of flowers donated by grieving families. All are greatly appreciated.
Smile! Of all the evil spirits abroad at this hour in the world, insincerity is the most dangerous. Erroude.
Reverend Smith of Asbury and Houston Methodist church was the leader of Bible Study Monday morning. Sylvia produced the music for the piano to accompany the several hymns sung by Cecil Meredith, Frances Wright, Ola Tildon, Mildred Vincent, Thelma Legates, Gladys Hill, Elwood Morris, Tony Perrone, Clara Judy, Anna Mae Short, Ethel Holden, Lillie McBride, Mamie Adams, Catherine Donovan, Florence Minner and Annabel Morrow. He took for study, John Chapter 2 - Verse 1-11, followed by prayer by Reverend Smith. He also gave the closing prayer to a group of happy folk. Closing hymns were "I am Thine O Lord", and "Beyond The Sunset".

Currier & Ives exhibition to open at The Visitor Center, September 13

Friendly visiting at Delaware Care Center, Monday afternoon near Argo's corner. Sylvia played the portable organ; Tony Perrone the mandolin. "Now Is The Hour", "It's a Small World", and "The Red River Valley" were played by them All sang, "Love Lifted Me", "There's Power In The Blood", "Just a Closer Walk With Thee", and "Blest Be The Tie". Taking part in the activities were Elwood, Florence, Sylvia, Catherine Stevens, Cecil, Mildred, Gladys, Ola, Thelma, Tony, Mamie, Etzel and Troy.
Jolly Timers Tuesday morning with Ina Hughes at the helm. They do a great service to the Center and they do sound so good also. The Kitchen Band has been in existence a few years now, they entertain at Nursing and Convalescent Homes, Heritage Day, Birthday Party Time and lots of other times, Making the familiar sounds were 15 faithfuls. "Let Me Call You Sweetheart", is still my favorite song. The Jolly Timers do a bang-up job on the old-time favorite.

Dover, Delaware -- "The Esmark" Collection of The Four Seasons of Rural Life," an exhibition of 86 lithographs produced by Currier & Ives will be on display at The Visitor Center on September 13 and remain on view through November 2, 1984. The exhibition provides an intimate look at the nature and quality of life in rural America in the mid-nineteenth century. It includes scenes of family and small town life, farms and landscapes which reveal why America at this time was often called the "New Eden."

Located at Federal and Court Streets, The Visitor Center is open Monday through Saturday from 8:30 - 4:30 p.m. and on Sunday from 1:30 - 4:30 p.m. Admission is free-of-charge.

Currier & Ives described themselves as "Publishers of Cheap and Popular Prints for the American People." The firm was active between 1835 and 1880 and their hand-colored lithographs were designed to appeal to popular taste and provide the same coverage of current events that photos bring to newspapers and magazines today. Currier & Ives also published decorative prints ranging from samplers and pastoral scenes to portraits and still lifes. Collectively, these lithographs provide a close look at the lifestyles, culture, tastes and values of America at this time.

The "Four Seasons" of Rural Life" contains many of Currier & Ives' most popular prints which include works by such artists as Arthur Fitzwilliam Tait ("Maple Sugaring"), Eastman Johnson ("Husking"), and George Durrie, on the the foremost painters of New England farm life. Virtually every work in the exhibition reveals a world where there existed a balanced, integral relationship between man and mother nature. A number of the works are reminiscent of the harvest scenes of Breughel and the idyllic world of Edward Hichs, yet throughout the scenes are uniquely American.

Also included in the exhibition are sets of works such as the "American Homestead" and "The Farmer's Home" series which show how family life revolved around the cycles of the seasons. Within each of these works, the rhythm of life is directed by the phenomena of nature.
The exhibition is made possible through the generous support of International Playtex, Inc. A guide to the work of Currier & Ives will be distributed free-of-charge to all people who attend the exhibition. The guide includes sixteen color illustrations and opens up into an 18" x 11" poster of a Currier & Ives' work on display.
"The Four Seasons of Rural Life" exhibition is part of the Esmark Collection which is made up of 650 Currier & Ives prints. These prints, divided into thematic groupings, are exhibited throughout the country as a public service. Since its purchase in 1975, parts of the Collection have been exhibited in 116 museums, college galleries and public buildings in the United States and in 38 locations in 24 foreign countries. The 1984 exhibit schedule includes museum exhibitions in 12 U.S. cities.

Gab Fest by Pat Hatfield

Where did the summer go? While we were sweltering in the 90 degree temperatures and gasping with the smothering humidity it slipped away, leaving us with luscious vegetables and fruits and many hours of work as we struggle to stow them away for the cold winter months ahead.

The tomatoes are canned, the pickled beets are done, the old-fashioned peach preserves are done, and the peach jelly is done. Now, yapping at my heels is the sweet corn and it will not wait. The grapes are calling and they will not wait long either and we are wallowing in peaches that want to get into the freezer. If I was planning to have a nervous breakdown, this would be the ideal time to have it!

And sometime I must make our favorite Peach Pie Supreme and our baked peach dumplings with vanilla sauce. And I must try the new recipe given to me by Mildred Williams. Mildred is one of Delaware's great cooks and we will share this with you while peaches are in season. For years, we have bought our peaches from the Williams' orchards and they are fabulous. They are allowed to ripen on the trees as Nature intended.

Here is the recipe for Mildred's Peach Cobbler:

Put 4 cups of sliced peaches in a 9 x 9 pan.
Sprinkle with the following mix:
2/3 cup sugar
2 tbsps. Flour
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
Dot with Butter
Into a bowl, put:
1 cup flour
2 tbsps. sugar
1 1/2 tsp. bak. powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/3 cup veg. oil
3 tbsps. milk

1 egg
Mix and put this on top of peaches. Bake at about 370°.

Now I have something also to share that really makes my day. A dear reader from Georgetown, Mrs. Sammons read about my wrestling match with the grape jam last year and she has sent us an easy recipe to do the jam her way. I shall try it in a few days, but I'm going to share it with you now while grapes are ready.

3 quarts of grapes after they are picked from the stems. Wash and drain. Put in a thick kettle and add 6 tablespoons water. Boil for 15 minutes. Then add 5 lbs. sugar and boil another ten minutes more. Now run this through a Foley food mill and then can. This makes 6 pints.

Thank you, Mrs. Sammons. I will of course get to you to thank you personally in time, but right now I can't get my head out of the preserving kettle!

To those of you who are not interested in cooking, I know this column sounds like our summer cookbook edition, but bear with me. The long winter evenings are just around the corner.

I must tell you about our latest information on the Magnolia Rose. There is one within a couple of miles of us. Our cousin, Naoma Carlisle, told me in church on Sunday that she has one. They were grown in the Carlisle family. They bloom late in the season, and a long time ago a little brother died in the family and the Magnolia Rose was the only flower available for the services. Her bush is covered in buds now, and she is going to bring me some when it blooms. We are going to try to start some cuttings with the fruit jar over, the old-fashioned way. My mother and Dad's mother, too, started many roses this way.

Happy Birthday September Folks! Smell Enclosed is the poem by Troy said Thursday, before lunch. Thought all of the student summer help has been a great aid to the Center. By name, they are Deanna Apt, Audrey Kopp, Tracey Brown & Troy Dennis.

"Senior Sounds" practice Wednesday morning, August 29, 1984. Sylvia at the piano. Russell Legates sang a solo. It is very nice to hear a man sing a solo. Participating in the singing was Cecil Meredith, Gladys Hill, Ola Tildon, Mildred Vincent, Tony Perrone, Mary Sapp, Mamie Adams, Anna Mae Short, Catherine Stevens, Frances Wright & Russel Legates.

There was Nutrition Bingo with Marian Zambrana Wednesday afternoon.

Plenty of crafts on Thursday. Do stop by and share one with the folk at the Center. Jeannette & Mildred are usually here to assist with any help in getting the material together. Bowling at Milford also on Thursday afternoon.

Friday brings up Bingo and a time is usually had by all.

Know everyone had a glorious Labor Day. School begun! Best wishes and fond memories, School Days were fun!

Rotary Club News

The Harrington Rotary Club, for its annual summer outing, visited the Chesapeake-Delaware Canal Museum located on the canal near Chesapeake City, south side of the waterway, and it was a very revealing experience.

Unbeknown to many Delawareans, the canal, when it was opened to shipping in 1821, was served by locks where today it is at sea level. At its beginning operation was served by machinery that is very well preserved. The museum can be reached by driving to Summit Bridge and following signs on south side, and admission is free. Among the artifacts are actual photographs taken when the locks were in operation, as well as apparatus necessary for its operation. It is well worth a visit as a part of one's historical background of the region. The canal cuts water traffic to and from Philadelphia and Baltimore by more than one-half of the time it would otherwise take around Cape Charles.

After the visit, Rotarians and their guests enjoyed dinner at Shaffer's Canal House Restaurant and were entertained by an outdoor performance of a steel-drum band. Members of the club have been assigned the privilege of operating the information booth at Harrington's Heritage Day when it convenes on Saturday, September 15. The booth is located by the Senior Center parking lot, scene of the opening exercises at 11:00 a.m. and many of the activities scheduled for the day.

The club is preparing for the annual visit by the governor of District #763 on Monday evening, September 10, who this year is Harvey G. Marvel, Sr., of Milford.

There is also an interesting program being prepared by Mark Wiley by the criminal justice system that will be explained to members and their guests.

Membership in the Harrington Rotary Club is open to all persons interested in becoming active in its programs and involved in community betterment. Meetings are held every Monday at 6:15 at the Harrington Restaurant and Newsstand on Delaware Avenue, Bill Smith, President.

The Harrington Journal invites you to submit your wedding, engagement, and anniversary announcements and photographs to be published on the social page. The deadline for receipt of these announcements is Friday at 4:00 p.m. They may be brought into our office at 19 Commerce Street or mailed to The Harrington Journal, P.O. Box 239, Harrington, Del. 19952.

The Greenwood Volunteer Fire Company will sponsor the Barbecue at Hill Top on September 8 and 9. The proceeds will go for the benefit of the Fire Company.

Sunday afternoon callers at the Jacob Hatfields were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heller of Dover.

On Monday evening, August 27, a large number of friends, including the pastor of their church, the Rev. Louella Jones and her husband, who is also the pastor of a church, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Elliott to help him celebrate his birthday. The affair was planned as a surprise party by his wife, his sister, and a number of close friends.

When the guest of honor was returned home, accompanied by friends who had been entertaining him elsewhere, he saw the yard full of cars but supposed it to be a church committee meeting which had been planned, but later canceled without his knowledge.

The guests were served a delicious and beautiful buffet supper, ending later in the evening with birthday cake and ice cream. A jolly time of fellowship was enjoyed by all.

Breezy Fashion gets up for driver Vern Crank to win the Saturday night, August 18, $5,000 feature pace at Brandywine. The 4 year old Warm Breeze mare is owned by Tyne, Kruba and Stern and won for the fourth time this season extending her earnings to $19,285. Perky Fiddler with R.L. Farrington driving notches 1:58.3 victory in Sunday [August 26] $5,500 feature pace, his 7th win of the season for owners Ann Lis and Bruce Saunders of Newark, DE. The win is the 11th sub 2:00 victory for the Gypsy Fiddler sired horse tying him with Lord Eddie for most career "magic mile" wins at The BIG B. photo by Lubitsh & Bungarz.

In the Pocket from Brandywine

by Joe Asher

Perky Fiddler's 1:56.2 effort in a preferred pace, triumphs by Allwood's Star Bid and Jetlite in Winners-Over events and Jim Porter's victory in the drivers race after a season long battle highlighted the final week of racing at Brandywine.

On Sunday, September 2, Rick Farrington guided Perky Fiddler to an awesome 1:56.2 triumph in a $9,000 preferred pace before one of the largest crowds of the meet, 9,287. After the two favorites in the race, George Allen and Deacon Lobell battled against each other, George Allen (Ross Hayter) finally assumed command after a :28.1 opening quarter. The latter took the field by the half in :57.3 with Deacon Lobell (Mickey McNichol) at his back second and Perky Fiddler pacing comfortably in fourth.

Shortly after the half, Farrington moved the Anne-Lis and trainer Bruce Saunders owned 6-year-old son of Gypsy Fiddle to the outside in pursuit of the leaders. He responded by rushing up to challenge George Allen as they passed the three quarters in 1:27.1. Midway through the stretch, Perky Fiddler passed George Allen and then held off a late challenge from the pocket sitting Deacon Lobell to score by three quarters of a length over the latter with George Allen tiring to third.

With his superb performance, Perky Fiddler notched his third victory in a row and his twelfth 2:00 mile at the Big B in his career, eclipsing the old record of eleven that he shared with the long-time fan favorite Lord Eddie.

Also on Sunday, Pete Petershein guided Allwood's Star Bid through an opening at the rail to capture a $5,500 Winners-Over pace in 1:59.4. The heavily favored Diamonds And Rust took the lead after a :28.3 opening quarter and set fractions of :58.2 and 1:29.2. As the field turned for home, Diamonds And Rust (Abe Stoltzfus) owned the lead by a length but began to tire, allowing Allwood's Star Bid up the rail to score a neck win over the pocket sitting Chershot Bret (Joe Holloway) with the early leader finishing third. The victory was the fifth in 13 career starts for the Art Frank and Tom Carlock owned and Maitland Frank trained 3-year-old son of General Star.

Ray Smith guided Jetlite between horses in deep stretch to capture a $5,000 Winners-Over pace on Sunday in 2:00. Tamaki King (Stoltzfus) set modest panels of :29.3, :59.4 and 1:29 while racing unpressured throughout most of the mile. As the top of the lane, Patta Tat Tat (Joe Schwind) stormed up to take the lead before trainer-driver Smith steered the Marilyn Smith owned 9-year-old son of Jethro Hanover through the opening to notch a neck victory over the latter with Victory Man (Red Rose) finishing third.

On Saturday, the lone 3-year-old in the field. Dozen Kisses came flying on the outside to capture a $5,000 fillies and mare open in 1:58.3. The odds-on favorite, Oxford Mary Ann (Bobby Reeser), set fraction of :29, 1:00 and 1:28.3 on the front end while holding off a threat from Valiant Bid (Ed annon). In the lane, Ron Battis steered Dozen Kisses to the far outside and the daughter of Meadow Skipper overtook the leader in deep stretch to post a length and a quarter victory for owner Walter Fetherolf and trainer Merv Stoltzfus with Camden Katie (John Lister) finishing third after being boxed in the most of the mile.

As the 135 day meet drew to a close, the race for the driver's title remained a close battle. So close that the two leaders, Jim Porter and Forrest Gerry, III, entered the final night of racing, Monday, September 3, tied for the honor with 62 wins apiece. It was decided in the very first race as it turned out on the rainy evening as Porter and Gerry, III, raced down the stretch together with the rest of the field way back. Porter was aboard the odds-on choice Artesian King while Gerry, III, was handling Shadydale Halfstep in the maiden event. In mid-stretch, Shadydale Halfstep took a short lead but Artesian King battled back to score a three quarters of a length victory in 2:05.4 over the sloppy track to give Porter his 63 win of the meet, enough to capture the title.

Also on Monday, Remshackle Dave became the meets winningest horse with a two length victory in 2:03.1 in the slop. The 7-year-old son of La Paz won ten races during the meet to earn the honor that he won last year. Congratulations are in order to owner-trainer Joe Muzzi, driver Whitey Moore and groom Butch Spencer for their work with the once unmanageable gelding.

Kozak Tunes Sixth Win US 13

by Don Allen

DELMAR, DE.-Wernersville, PA native John Kozak tuned in his sixth season victory in the WAFL-FM sponsored 30-lap modified main at US 13 Saturday night. Kozak had his Foolish Pleasure Racing #31 on the right channel as he held off hard charging former track champion Dave Kelly, third place finisher Richard Jarvis, Chris Michael and the fifth place racer of David Trice. The top three cars not only got their cut of the evenings purse but were also awarded a cash contingency courtesy of WAFL-FM Radio of Milford, DE.

Chris Michael of Allentown, PA blew out to an early lead in his #77 Troyer while Kozak began to wheel his way up from a thirteenth starting spot. Several cautions marred the early going as drying track conditions caused numerous spin-outs. By lap six the #31 had found its way to third on the next lap just as the cars of Bob Passwaters and Harold Bunting tangled on the back stretch bringing out another caution.

The #19D and Passwaters fell in at the rear for the restart. Kozak led Keys off the fourth turn but as they passed under flagman Bill Lawson, Keys found himself dropkicked to fourth as Jarvis grabbed second bringing the T & T racer of Bob Toreky along with him. Jarvis in his #680 and #14 of Toreky duelled wheel to wheel for the next six laps as Kozak gradually improved his lead. Toreky was holding second on lap 17 when fate stepped in. As Jarvis made a move to the outside in the third turn the two racers tangled and came to a stop. Toreky came away with a bent wheel rim and ruptured his front brake lines while Jarvis was able to continue.

The restart saw Macungie, Pa.'s veteran pilot Dave Kelly locked tight to Kozak's bumper followed by Billy Towers in the Blue Hen #30. Bunting moved into third on lap 19 leaving Towers to deal with the challenges of Freddy Brightbill who sat in fifth. The front five would remain basically the same with only Brightbill improving his position, for the next six laps. On lap 25 Towers lost the handle momentarily and fell back to eighth. This proved to be the harbinger of doom for the #30 car. Two laps later as a heated battle for third entered the fourth turn the racers of Walt Breeding and Bunting came together blocking the track. Towers had nowhere to go and impacted the pair head-on. Before these three had come to rest, Lacey Lafferty, being in the same situation as Towers, plowed into the three, burrowing the nose of her racer under the #30 leaving him resting atop the #19D. All four cars were forced to retire but thankfully there were no injuries.

It took some time to clear the track but when the green returned Kozak outdistanced Kelly and Jarvis and held on for the final three circuits.

The Modifieds shared this spotlight with the URC Super Sprints. The 1984 URC series at U.S. 13 is being sponsored by Taylor & Messick of Harrington, De. and Walt Messick, a die-hard race fan, was on hand to present the feature winner, Frank Kerr, with a check and a trophy for his labors. Kerr, who cut his teeth at the U.S. 13 oval in the modified ranks, won a thrilling victory in the 20-lap event besting Donnie Kreitz, Jr., Ed Wylie, current URC points leader Dave Kelly, Buck Buckley, Fran Hogue, Kenny Adams, Kramer Williamson, Bruce Thompson and tenth place finisher Charlie Massey.

Beaumont Aces Season First At US 13

by Don Allen

All the regular heat was there Saturday night but the hottest of them all in the Late Model rank at U.S. 13 proved to be Severna Park, Md.'s Alex Beaumont. Alex has been a regular competitor at the Delmar oval for several years but has enjoyed the warmth of the winner's circle very few times. Saturday he could do no wrong in the 20-lap, WAFL-FM sponsored, LM feature. Hal Browning finished in second with Bob Wilkins third, Gil Clements fourth and Vernon Harris, fifth.

Beaumont led all but the first two laps of the event and was clearly the strongest car in a race that only saw three caution periods. Browning had his hands full just holding on to second as the ever-present Delmarva Electric Motors #89 of Wilkins challenged him at every turn. Clements, in the Kern Brooke #K9, was also a factor in this battle for second throughout the race and this three car contest enabled Beaumont to extend his lead and even take things easy for a few laps toward the end until lap traffic became a factor. Browning closed on him as he navigated the traffic but the bright yellow #22A was awesome as it roared out of the turns and left Browning looking at dust.

Beaumont and his fellow competitors in second and third received their portion of the purse as well as a contingency award from WAFL-FM Radio in Milford, De.

FEATURE RESULTS: Beaumont, Browning, Wilkins, Clements, Harris, Pettyjohn, D. Hill, Wilkerson, Duane Rust, Lowe, Vickers, Gaita, Givens, Johnson, Deron Rust, Nailor.

Publisher's Choice

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

"...sometimes it appears that it doesn't pay to be good...but it does..." During the course of my participation in "The Harrington Journal" and "Raceweek", I have had opportunities of coming in contact with many people who are tops in their field of journalism.

Some stand out further than others. It is easily recognized. Sometimes there doesn't seem to be enough you can say about their contributions and in many cases there isn't enough money at Ft. Knox to pay them either.

During my long association with the sport of motor racing, one person stands out among the crowd. He is Walt Chernokal of Aston, Pennsylvania. Walt has been a long time friend and a great contribution to "Raceweek." Many times it was his single contribution to the publication which helped us along. His contribution to the sport is immeasurable. There is never enough you can say about him, and the pay he received for his contribution to "Raceweek" was never enough...to be sure.

He will be long remembered, however, for his professionalism in the product he produced. Many, many times he has received awards from the sport he loves...so much. Recently he received an STP award for the best photo...which was a winner's circle shot at Daytona, which we printed, and called it a "Hall of Fame" shot.

Well, Walt and deserving so, has been elected into the Eastern Old Timers National Auto Racing Hall of Fame. It is located at Flemington Fairgrounds Speedway.

Congratulations Walt, from all of us for helping to make motor racing a widely accepted major sport.

Still, another person who deserves recognition for his tireless coverage of harness racing needs at this point to be recognized.

This past season at Brandywine Raceway, I had an opportunity to meet Izzy Katzman, a reporter for "The News Journal", who has written so much ink on the sport of harness racing on this peninsula. In his years of covering the sport, he has never failed to leave the horsemen from Harrington out of his column. He has done them justice more than anyone else did during those years when everyone else was silent.

There isn't much more you can add to his long illustrious participation in the great sport of harness racing.

For both of these gentlemen, whom I have come to know and appreciate what they have done for their respective sports, a few words to the wise should be sufficient. As a Publisher, I know that the end product is very important, and in fact it does pay to be good at what you do. Words and monetary rewards are on the other hand, sometimes not enough. The final reward comes in different measurements.
