Police drug investigation pays off

by William T. Ficka

A six-month drug investigation conducted by the Milford Police Department and a special investigative unit of the state police has resulted in eight arrests since June, according to Detective Gregory Nolt of the Milford Police Department.

The eighth arrest was recorded yesterday when Milford Police charged Michael C. Bradley, 18, of Greenwood with second degree conspiracy and delivery of a half-ounce of cocaine.

Arrested on the same charges two weeks ago, was Richard Mark Miller, 24, of Milford.

Since June six more arrests have been made as a result of police investigation which was aimed at street dealers in Milford, Nolt said.

Arrested were: Walter Smith, 45, of Milford, on charges of delivery of marijuana, delivery of LSD, possession with intent to deliver marijuana, maintaining a dwelling for drug distribution, possession of a hypodermic syringe, and possession of drug paraphernalia; Chestly Baxter, 26, of Milford, on charges of delivery methamphetamine and possession with intent to deliver marijuana; Wayne G. Perry, 30 of Milford, Bryan Kelly Moore, 22, of Milford, Floyd McEntire, 19 of Milford, and Bryan K. Hicks, 24, of Milford all were charged with delivery of marijuana.

The investigation is continuing and more arrests are pending, Nolt said.

Jarrell and Stewart selected as Outstanding Young Men of America

The Board of Advisors for the Outstanding Young Men of America awards program announced that Dale R. Jarrell and Bruce E. Stewart have been selected for inclusion in the 1984 edition of OUTSTANDING YOUNG MEN OF AMERICA.

These men were selected from nominations received from Senators, Congressmen, Governors, Mayors, State Legislators, University and College Presidents and Deans as well as various civic groups, including the United States Jaycees which also endorses the Outstanding Young Men of America program.

Jarrell was nominated by Adel Vignola, who is a member of the Rehoboth Women Jaycettes. The strength of the nomination for Jarrell comes principally from the voluntary work he has done with the mentally retarded in the Special Olympics at Delaware State College. Jarrell performed as a clown who did a juggling act.

He is a 1980 graduate of Lake Forest

High School and holds an associate degree in Computer Science from Delaware Technical College in Georgetown. He is currently employed at Burriss Foods as a Computer Operator. He also worked as an assistant pro at Shawnee County Club in Milford.

Jarrell sings in the Sabury (Methodist Church) Chorus, and has performed with the Community Singers and Singing Players in the musicals Oklahoma, Pajama Game, and South Pacific to name a few.

He resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jarrell on Reese Ave. in Harrington.

Bruce Stewart was nominated for the Outstanding Young Men of America award by Steve Clifton, President of the Delaware Jaycees. Along with this award he has also received the Outstanding Chapter President of the Month for Felton Jaycees, which he was the chartering president; Community Development Crusaders Award; Key Man of the Year 82-83, 83-84; Governor's Club Unsung Hero; Outstanding Service Award by Depart-

Short takes on area news

Fountain given probation, fined $1,000

Franklin P. Fountain, 69-year-old Milford tavern owner and former vice chairman of the Kent County Democratic Party was sentenced last Wednesday to two years probation and fined $1,000 for his "leadership role" in a vote-buying scheme Nov. 2, 1982.

Noting Fountains "leadership role", Judge Walter K. Stapleton of U.S. District Court in Wilmington said, "When you tinker with the election process, it's a very serious matter...It undermines confidence in the election process."

After resigning his party post in August, Fountain pleaded guilty to a felony charge of conspiracy to buy votes. He was the last of three defendants sentenced on vote-buying charges. The two drivers received probation and $200 fines after pleading guilty to misdemeanor vote-buying counts.

Assistant U.S. Attorney, Richard J. McMahon said the drivers received money at Fountain's home, transported residents to the polling place and then paid them $5 apiece.

Defense attorney Myron T. Steele described the vote-buying activities in Milford as a remnant of post-Civil War practices.

"Sadly, it's a legacy of the past...to these people, this was the way to get their community to vote," Steele told the judge.

Lake Forest teachers $1,580 richer

Lake Forest School District teachers received some good news at an in-service day Monday, October 8.

They will receive a $1,580 pay raise this year. The raise came as a result of the district referendum earlier this year and an increase in the state's equalization funding plan.

Paychecks later this month will show the first increase, according to Edward C. Gabrielson, president of the Lake Forest Education Association.

Although the raise is the largest in 10 years, it does not compare with Caesar Rodney's or Milford's, Gabrielson said.

The teachers will begin bargaining for a contract to replace the current one which expires June 30.

The teachers are in a good bargaining position, according to Gabrielson, as a result of more equalization money coming from the district's increase in students.

Cleaning woman sues Roth over dog bite

WILMINGTON - U.S. Sen. William Roth, who owns three Saint Bernards, is being sued by a cleaning woman who said she was attacked by two of the dogs outside the senator's home.

Barbara M. Taylor, 55, of Wilmington, filed suit in Superior Court alleging she suffered bite wounds on both legs and cuts and bruises.

Taylor said she went to the house to help Arnetta Bell, Roth's regular housekeeper, who was ill.

The alleged attack occurred "suddenly and without warning" as she got out of Bell's car, Taylor said. The suit accuses Roth and his wife, Jane, of "Willful and wanton negligence" and demands judgment against them for compensatory and punitive damages, interest and costs.

Taylor said the alleged attacks caused her "pain, suffering, fear, emotional distress, mental anguish and loss of wages."

The suit alleged that the dogs had bitten a person on a previous occasion, and said that the Roths should have known the dogs had "vicious propensities."

State and Dover Police offer free service

The Delaware State Police Safety Education Unit has now expanded its home and business security surveys to Kent County. Previously, the free service was available in Sussex County only. In addition to the State Police security survey, the City of Dover Police Department is also providing homeowners and businesses with free security surveys. Those who reside and/or have businesses within the incorporated limits of the City of Dover should direct their requests to the Dover Police Department at 736-7131. Residents and businessmen outside the City of Dover may telephone State Police Sergeant Richard Lawson for an appointment.

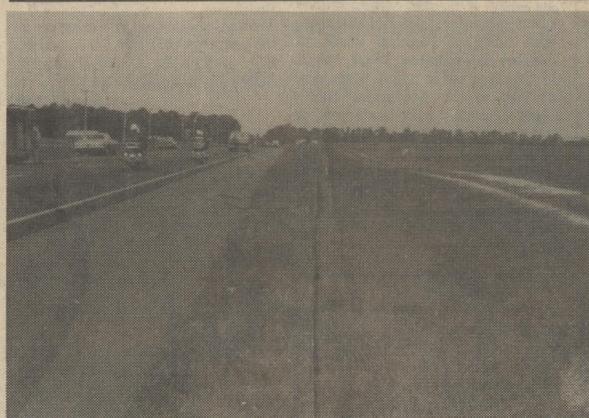

Sergeant Lawson may be reached temporarily at 736-5961.

Ernest D. Kocher, 62, of Collegeville, Pa. was driving north on US 13 north of Harrington on Sunday when he swerved his vehicle to the right to avoid a car which was passing him on the left, also heading north. The vehicle went out of control, made a 180 degree turn and the trailer turned over. Mr. Kocher was fined $10 and costs for inattentive driving. The trailer was totaled. Mr. Kocher and his wife were returning home from participating in the three day Barber Shop Singing group [North Pennsmen Barbershop Chorus in Virginia Beach.] The group from Seaford won the contest. Craft Cottage will hold Open House

by William T. Ficka

Open House will be held Saturday, Oct. 20 at the charming Craft Cottage which is on the north side of the Moose Lodge on U.S. Route 13 in Harrington.

The shop is owned and operated by Barbara Page, who lives in a house behind the shop with her husband and two sons, Dale 13, and Glen, 11.

The quaint shop is a craft lover's dream. Among the many craft items on display are half-moon decorations, rag dolls, macrame purses, toothpick holders, decorated pillows, tin-punch decorations, needlepoint, and basket-stitching canisters, clocks and serving trays.

"Basically, I carry general supplies," said Barbara, "And I do teach all kinds of classes."

She offers instruction in cross-stitching, net darning, and macrame. "There is no charge for the classes except the cost of supplies. The macrame class costs only $5.25," added Barbara.

"Basket-stitching is most popular right now," she said.

The shop is jam-packed with country-style decorations.

"The way women are decorating their homes now, they want everything country," Barbara said.

Political Tidbits

by William T. Ficka

The candidates have taken off their kid gloves and are getting down to bare-knuckle brawling. This usually happens in the final weeks of a campaign. John Burriss, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, has accused Sen. Joe Biden of lying in his discussion of the budget-freeze proposal. Biden retaliated by saying, "I think he's a little desperate. He's obviously not very bright."

But this is mild criticism indeed compared to the barbs leveled at the politicians of bygone years.

Here's Thomas Paine in an open letter in the form of a pamphlet: "...and to you, sir, treacherous in private friendship...and a hypocrite in public life, the world will be puzzled to decide whether you are an apostate or an imposter, whether you have abandoned good principles, or whether you ever had any?"

Who was the target of this abuse? None other than George Washington.

In 1864, Harper's Weekly, a popular magazine, hurled such insults as "Filthy Story Teller, Despot, Liar, Thief, Braggart, Buffoon, Monster, Swindler, Perjurer, and Land-Pirate" at the incumbent president.

The incumbent president on the receiving end of those epithets was the sainted Abraham Lincoln.

Even Lincoln's assassination couldn't stem the tide of abuse. After the killing, The Herald, of Dallas wrote, "God almighty ordered this event or it could never have taken place."

W. C. Brann, editor of a Texas newspaper, The Iconclast, wrote of President William E. McKinley, "Why, if a man were to call my dog McKinley, and the brute failed to resent to the death the damning insult, I'd drown it."

John Randolph, of Roanoke, once said of his ancient enemy Henry Clay, "so brilliant, yet so corrupt, like rotten mackerel by moonlight, he shines and stinks."

Political campaigns of today may not be as exciting as in days of yore, but they are a lot more polite.

Why Don't You Keep Your Big Mouth Shut Dept: As if the Democrats don't have enough problems, the Communist Party USA has announced its support of the Mondale-Ferraro ticket. Fritz and Gerry probably welcome the Communists in the same way a nudist colony would welcome a fur coat salesman.

dark horses, including Lew Lehrman and Pierre du Pont...It is early, to be sure, but it is not as early as you think."

If it's any consolation to those far behind in the polls, they can always reflect on the Dewey-Truman campaign of 1948. Or on the 1976 U.S. Senate primaries in California. In the final days of the Democratic campaign, Senator John Tunney led Tom Hayden by eight percentage points. Tunney won by 21 percentage points.

In the 1969 Los Angeles mayoralty race between Tom Bradley and Sam Yorty, the polls showed Bradley leading by 17 points just three days before the election. Yorty won by more than six points.

Early in the 1962 California gubernatorial race, Richard Nixon led Edmund G. Brown 56 percent to 44 percent. Brown won by five points. Frank Clement led Howard Baker 50-30 early in the 1965 Tennessee senatorial race. Baker won by 11 points.

Frank O'Connor led Nelson Rockefeller 56-29 early in the 1966 New York gubernatorial race. Rockefeller won by more than six points.

The classy, dignified campaign of lieutenant governor hopeful S.B. Woo seems to be paying off. If I had a dollar for every person who has told me of his favorable impression of the likable Woo, I could book passage to the French Riviera.

Feisty Ferraro defused

by William T. Ficks

Geraldine Ferraro, the Italian Spitfire running for vice-president on the Democratic ticket, wasn't her usual feisty self in last Thursday's TV debate with Vice-President George Bush.

Most of the polls show that Bush was a clear winner over Ferraro. An ABC News poll taken an hour after the debate had Bush winning by a 42-33 margin, with 25 percent calling it a tie. A Gannett poll showed Bush winning 48-29, with 17 percent scoring it a tie.

A substantial gender gap was revealed by both polls. In the ABC poll, male viewers scored Bush the winner 46-29, but women ruled Ferraro the winner 38-37. The Gannett poll saw 59 percent of the men calling Bush the winner with only 18 percent favoring Ferraro. But the women saw it as almost even: 39 thought Bush was the winner and 38 percent sided with Ferraro.

Basking in the glow of the Mondale debate victory over Reagan, Democrats were hoping Ferraro could deliver a knockout punch to Bush.

But it was not to be. With the exception of one minor sally, Bush, not considered a top debater, struck all the right notes in his confrontation with the congress-woman.

His one lapse came when he said, "Let me help you with the difference, Ms. Ferraro, between Iran and the difference with the embassy in Lebanon."

Ferraro answered sharply, "I almost resent, Vice-President Bush, your patronizing attitude that you have to teach me about foreign policy."

It was the one electric moment in the debate.

The Bush job was not an easy one. He was well-schooled by campaign strategists in the approach to use in debating a woman. He must appear firm and resolute without coming off as a bully. He must come across as knowledgeable without appearing condescending. He must get his points across with gallantry.

He learned his lessons well. Ferraro's job wasn't any easier. She is by nature high-spirited and spunky. The fear among Democratic experts was that she would come on too strong and risk losing her feminine appeal.

Commentary

The Democratic coaches may have overcompensated in subduing her vivacious instincts. At times she seemed almost bland in comparison to the exciting rabble-rouser she is on the campaign trail.

The debate ranged from civil rights and taxation to foreign policy and abortion. But nothing was said that we haven't read or heard scores of times previously.

Will the debate swing any votes in the election?

Probably not. Americans traditionally vote the top of the ticket regardless of the vice-presidential candidate.

If Reagan can avoid a calamity when he debates Mondale for the second and final time this coming Sunday night the state of the election will be essentially the same as it was before these wind-making debates began.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

After reading last week's letter to the editor, I find that I really should have included one more person as a committee member - Walt Messick. Walt and his "operation" provided the housing for our ever-famous crafts show and demonstration, opened up his antique museum, allowed usage of his grounds and facilities for several other activities and ran our "trolleys" all day long. There were also many small things that I am sure we will never know.

Throughout the day, all of our entertainment was voluntarily provided with the exception of The Diamond Statesman, who were sponsored by WYUS Radio Station in Milford. This year we hosted the most pleasurable entertainment in many years, and again, because they did it voluntarily, I want to publicly thank each one. The Harrington Senior Center's Band and Chorus, Alex Benson and Friends, The Diamond State Twirlers and Stoney Creek Cloggers, Dover YMCA Aerobic Dance group, and Baldwin Family Organ of Dover were all groups that have previously entertained us and were requested by many to return again. New to us this year, and all very successful were The Caesar Rodney Breakers, Sam Brittingham and The Dalton Gang, The Flip Richards Magic Show, The Methenia Middle East Dance Troupe, and the Community Singers. From magic, to gospel, to dancing of all kinds, our entertainment was superb.

This year we have been very fortunate to receive donations to help pay expenses such as insurance, advertising, and other necessities. Our Heritage Day would not be possible if it were not for the generosity of the following: The American Legion CKRT Post #7, Burris Foods, Peoples Bank, JCPenney National Bank, The Harrington Moose Lodge, McKnatt Funeral Home, HiGrade Sanitary Dairy and Restaurant, Chicks of Harrington, Norma Short, The City of Harrington, The Harrington Historical Society, Women of the Moose, Friends of the Library, and the Harrington Fire Company Ladies Auxiliary.

Next week, a final thanks. Sue Ellen Dennis, Chairman Harrington Heritage Day

Gab Fest by Pat Hatfield

If it is true that "An apple a day keeps the doctor away", then I have probably eliminated any assistance from the medical profession for the entire coming winter! During the last few weeks I have made up 39 quarts of applesauce and several apple pies for the freezer and kept a big crock of sauce for the table right now.

I had a lot of fun shopping and planning for this years supply. I got the last basket of summer Rambos at the market. They are a favorite and remind me a bit of the old Early transparents which we used to get. I also did a basket of McIntosh, a reliable standby. Next week I bought a basket of Smokehouse and a basket of Jonathons. I cook mine with the skins on and then run them through the food mill. The Jonathons gave me a delightfully rosy pink sauce, similiar to the old Williams Reds that I used to fix. Many of the old favorites are not available anymore. When I was a small girl, my mother would not have considered doing applesauce with anything but the famous "Maiden's Blush", a creamy pale green apple with a "blush" in pink on one side. There was a farmer in our area who always had them for sale, and we would get grandfather's horse and carriage to go purchase some. Now that my jars are all lined up in the freezer, I could not really choose a favorite. Each kind made great sauce. I just put a bit of sugar in when I put them in the freezer and when we open them we season. I like only vanilla in mine, but Dad likes nutmeg. Some prefer cinnamon.

Several readers mentioned to me this week that they like more recipes. Do feel free to call me if I have anything you'd like. I have no secret recipes. They are all for sharing. Also the little helpful hints I have picked up over my many years in the kitchen. For instance, now that the season is here for broccoli, kale, etc., do remember to put a pinch of baking soda in the pot just as they start to boil. This will keep that lovely green color which is so attractive.

It is good to know also that you do not have to stock cake flour for cakes. Two tablespoons of cornstarch added to a scant cup of flour will give you cake flour instantly.

It took me half a lifetime to learn that a quarter teaspoon of cream of tartar (to about 3 or 4 whites) will give you perfect meringue that does not water.

Another thing I learned the hard way was that the secret of slippery dumplings was to roll them thin...thin...thin. The exciting thing about life is that in every phase of it you never get too old to learn. Look how many years I suffered with the grape jam before Mrs. Sammons' great recipe came to me.

I've just made a batch of chocolate chip cookies to send grandson Teddy in the service. The secret of cookies is to take them out of the oven before they are quite done. You have to be very firm with yourself. They WILL finish on the countertop. Betty Crocker taught us this about custard pies. You take them from the oven while there is still a center about as big as a small saucer that is still not set. It will finish from the contained heat. This is especially true of pumpkin and sweet potato pies.

I do not attempt to cook my own pumpkin from scratch. I cannot get the water out and it is sloppy. My mother used to pull hers out to the back of the old wood range and do it, but I did not like the results. The pumpkin was too brown. I just get a can of pumpkin in the store and it suits me fine.

As I write this, the sun is warm, even hot, and a balmy breeze is blowing. Indian Summer has come again. The mockingbird knows. He's going mad with joy as he sings his farewell to summer.

Marianna's Microwaving

Editor's note: Marianna Baker is a sales representative for the Comfort Home & Appliance Center, Bridgeville.

Each week, The Harrington Journal will feature a column, entitled "Marianna's Microwaving," with tips on microwave use and recipes.

MARIANNA'S MICROWAVING by Marianna

This week I would like to talk to you about density, something we don't even consider when cooking in the conventional way.

Foods have different densities and thus absorb microwaves in different ways. Remember, microwaves penetrate foods only about 2 inches, thus starting the movement of the molecules, which continue the cooking.

Porous foods, such as breads, allow microwaves to penetrate them instantly. Dense foods, as meats, absorb the microwaves on the exterior while the center is heated by conduction.

Dense foods require more time when cooking or heating.

Has anyone in your house been fishing this week? If so, here's a great recipe for fish.

HEAVENLY FISH
Power level: High

Microwave time: 6 to 8 minutes
Servings: 4
Cookware: 2-quart shallow microwave-safe casserole.
Note: If fish is very dry, pat with paper towel.

1. Arrange 1 1/2 pounds of fillet with thickest meaty areas to outside edges of dish, allowing the most dense parts to get more microwaves.
2. Brush fillets with 1 tablespoon of lemon juice and let stand for 10 minutes.
3. Cover fish and cook on High 4 minutes.
4. Combine 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese, 3 tablespoons soft butter, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons chopped green onion, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1/8 teaspoon liquid hot pepper sauce.
5. Remove cover from dish and spread cheese mixture over fish fillets. Sprinkle with paprika. Cook uncovered 2 to 3 minutes more.

This recipe comes from Gulf and South Atlantic Fisheries Development, Inc.

I encourage you to call me at 302-337-8266 or write me with any questions, tips, recipes, or ideas pertaining to microwave cooking. My address is: Marianna, P.O. Box 387, Bridgeville, DE 19933.

On the 14th of Oct., the Viola United Methodist Church held their Homecoming Service, which was quite successful. The hymn singing and sermon was by the former Rev. Charles Moyer. The Felton U.M. Choir did a beautiful job with their singing and music for this service. The flowers in memory of loved ones were just beautiful. The refreshments, served by the Viola ladies of the Church, with our Sunday School Supervisor, Mrs. Betty Frazier taking the supervision, made it inviting. The vestibule newly renovated with new displays was very attractive. The sounding of the church bell ringing was delightful to all. The new carpet in the church was well christened today with the presence of all our welcome visitors. Mrs. Grace Kersey and Mrs. Lola O'Day offer many "Thanks" to everyone contributing in anyway making our homecoming very successful. Dr. Philip Lawton, current Pastor of the Felton Charge, made the announcement of our former Pastors to those present to read the letters received from them on our bulletin board. May Peace and Joy be with everyone attending and those unable to attend.

St. Bernadette's Catholic Church

VICTORY SUNDAY - NOV. 4: Nov. is the month especially dedicated to the honor of those of our beloved relatives and friends who have died and risen to new life in Christ. The belief that the victory which Christ gained over death by rising on Easter is our guarantee of eternal life has always been a cornerstone of our Faith. Therefore, at St. John's and St. Bernadette's, we will celebrate this central belief in a special way by setting aside Nov. 4 as Victory Sunday - a Sunday to begin our month-long commemoration of the dead whom we finally believe now enjoy everlasting happiness with Christ.

In the sanctuaries of St. John's and St. Bernadette's there are victory books to place the names of family and friends who are deceased. Furthermore, there are envelopes in the pews and in the family packets for specific remembrance masses. Finally, on Victory Sunday there will be a special plaque on the altar of each church which will contain the names of all those in our Parish Family who have entered eternal life during the past year. These names will be remembered and prayed for by the entire community on Victory Sunday and throughout the month as a statement of our belief in the promise of eternal life.

We hope that you will find this a fitting and meaningful way to honor your loved one and the faith which we all profess to believe.

Spartans split two harrier tests

Lake Forest's Spartans, own a 4-1 mark after losing to unbeaten Cape Henlopen, 18-38, then racking up a perfect 15-50 victory, at Sussex Central. The latter triumph was the second such shutout of the season for the Spartans.

Lake Forest had narrowly missed finishing ahead of the Vikings on Oct. 6 at the prestigious Salesianum Invitational. This time, however, the visitors were "up" emotionally and physically and were too much to handle for the Spartans who are the only Henlopen team strong enough to test the Vikings.

Tim Bamforth and Mark Stack of the visitors tied for first in 17.39 for 3.1 miles. Menzo, the Cape's foreign exchange student from Italy, and Otis White were third and fourth, followed by Danny Haines, Mike Melvin and Mark Tozer, all of Lake Forest. Boyer of Cape was eighth, Pelton of Lake Forest was ninth, with Joseph of Cape rounding out the top ten.

The two teams had competed earlier in the Lake Forest, Salisbury State and the two teams had competed earlier in the Lake Forest, Salisbury State and Salesianum Invitationals, with the Spartans posting better clockings in the first one.

Spartan coach Jim Blades had a battle plan which indicated that Lake Forest could pull off an upset victory, if each of the locals performed up to their capabilities. But as happens in sports, particularly at the high school level, the team had an "off" day, at the worst possible time, at least as far as the dual meet schedule is concerned. Danny Haines, slowed earlier by injuries, had his best start of 1984, cutting 18 seconds off his personal best at Killens Pond. Freshman Mark Tozer was only six seconds off his best while Eric Payne was just three seconds slower than his personal best.

Some of the lower echelon Spartans had banner days. Mike Mosley, who usually runs No. 8 for Lake forest, was sixth this time and lowered his mark by a whopping 83 seconds. Alvin Hudson improved by 25 seconds, David Dix by 37, Pat Caskey, by one minute 35 seconds, John McGrew by 54 seconds, Rob Barholzer by 3 minutes and 7 seconds.

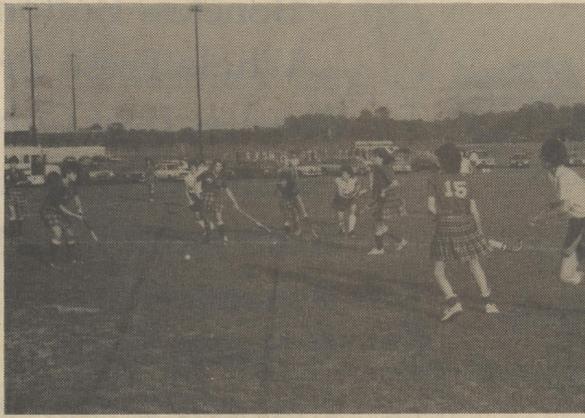

Kevin McCloskey, making his second start and Steve Clute, making his debut, each ran 3.1 miles in 20.47. Both are excellent prospects.

Marti Schue of Cape Henlopen was individual winner in the girls' race, though Lake Forest won the meet. Kelli Pelton was second, with Chris Snarsky of the Cape in third. Debbie Jester, Melanie Pelton, Shirlaine Goodman and Maria Kazlauskas, grabbed the next four spots to give the Spartans the victory.

Mark Tozer, the Spartans sensational freshman prospect, was a race winner for the first time in varsity livery. Mark ran the Sussex Central course in 14.05 and missed setting a course record by only 8 seconds. Mike Melvin was next followed by teammates Kevin Pelton, Mark Whidden, Mike Mosley, Eric Payne and John Caskey.

Mosley continued his great work of late. Tozer, Payne & Mosely should give coach Blades a good nucleus for '85 along with some rapidly improving younger Spartans. Alvin Hudson, in 11th place, just missed making the daily newspapers, who mention the top ten finishers. Pat Caskey, David Dix, Kevin McCloskey, Ken Foy, Jeff Hodgson, John McGrew, Rob Burg-holzer, Brian Schurman and Jeff Davis all ran well at Georgetown.

Kelli Pelton paced the girls with a leisurely unpressed 17.23, followed by Debbie Jester, Tara Gladden, Melanie Pelton and Maria Kazlauskas.

The minister, who was an avid golfer, was badly beaten by an elderly member of his congregation.

Back in the clubhouse, the minister seemed depressed. Seeking to cheer him, the elderly gent said, "Don't feel so bad. Someday you'll be burying me." "But even then," said the minister glumly, "the hole will be yours."

Silly Willy thought a gridiron was a special iron you used when your golf ball landed on a grid.

After many late practice sessions, the football coach was finally satisfied that his bumbling squad had learned all the formations.

"OK, there's only one more to learn," shouted the coach, "Everyone form a circle around me."

After a great fuss the players formed the circle.

"Now run at full speed to the field house," ordered the coach.

"When will we ever need a formation like this?" exclaimed one player.

"If you guys play like I think you will," replied the coach, "we'll need it after every game-to get me past the alumni."

Agriculture Department lifts ban on poultry auctions

The Delaware Department of Agriculture has lifted its ban on public auctioning of poultry in Delaware following the release of Virginia and Pennsylvania as avian influenza infected quarantine areas.

The state's poultry industry had been placed on alert, and many precautions were taken to ensure the virus did not reach the heavy poultry populations on the Delmarva Peninsula.

Following a major eradication program that cost over $62,000,000 and resulted in the depopulation of over 15,000,000 birds, avian influenza was declared under control in Pennsylvania on Oct. 4, 1984. The Virginia quarantine was lifted Sept. 22, 1984.

Dr. Wesley Towers, Jr., Delaware State Veterinarian, says the efforts to keep avian influenza out of Del-marva's multi million dollar poultry industry were exceptional. "There was great concern that the virus would spread to our region because of our short distance from other infected areas. But because of cooperation from every sector of the community we were able to protect our poultry," he said.

"The Delmarva Poultry Industry is to be commended for making many sacrifices during the past year. Prevention was the only way to effectively fight AI and we were fortunate enough to be able to fight it," Towers said.

With the pending start of the water-fowl season, a new introduction of AI remains a threat. Towers says poultry growers should continue their common sense precautions to prevent another problem.

Hoffman and Toreky split 20's at US 13

By Don Allen
The last show under the lights at U.S. 13 Speedway this season saw two of modified racing's finest, Doug Hoffman and Bob Toreky, ace their first wins of the '84 season at the Delmar, De. oval. Hoffman, in his first appearance at Delmar since the season opener last April, came from scratch spot to win his heat and started the first 20 in third. Before the first circuit was complete he had commandeered the lead. Hoffman turned up the boiler on the 60 Over car and proceeded to show the lower Delaware fans the flawless driving style that has won him a record number of features and three (sic) track championships this year.

Nearly half the laps had clicked off in the first 20 before the first caution flew for the spinning racer of Tom Daggett Jr. The field regrouped for the green but only two laps later the race was stopped following one of the most horrendous flips ever witnessed at Delmar. The #680 car of Richard Jarvis had been running in fourth on the lap nine restart and as he was about to put a lap on the #32 car of Clifford Todd in the third turn the two made contact. The right rear wheel of Jarvis' car and the left rear of Todd's were sheared off. The #680 dug into the track and centrifugal force did the rest. The racer rolled over Todd's car and proceeded to do a violent barrel roll into the wheel fence off the third turn and coming to rest in the ditch below it. Todd's racer came to a stop mere inches from him. Flames appeared from the #680 as Jarvis scrambled, dazed from the wreckage. Both drivers were administered to by the medical team and Jarvis was transported to Peninsula General Hospital. Thankfully he was given a clean bill of health but the same can't be said for his racer. It appeared to be a total loss.

The misfortune was not over for the evening for as the pack completed the 18th circuit Billy Towers in the Blue Hen Racing #30 tangled with the #39 of Ron Kedys as they exited the fourth turn. Keys climbed the front stretch wall as Towers left the track collapsing the wheel fence in the process. The #30 impacted a pole some twelve feet outside the track at a height of some fifteen feet and bounced to the ground just yards away from the bleachers. The fates once again smiled as neither the drivers nor any of the spectators were injured, a testament to the safety built into both the racers and the racing facility.

The race was restarted after repairs were made to the fence and Hoffman maintained his lead over the challenges of Harold Bunting's Syracuse racer and the #14 of Toreky.

The second 20 was thank fully less eventful and treated the fans to some fine head to head action. Hoffman started in the rear as the green fell for the #16 of Charlie Deck er on the point. By lap five the #60 over had muscled into fifth and when the first caution came out on lap six he was in fourth. Something was apparently wrong on the Hoffman car and he went to the pits as the field paced the track. The spinning cars that had brought out the yellow were refined and as the pack charged for the green Hoffman fell in at the rear.

Gary Gollub was now on the point in the Covey's Car Care #21 followed by the #1V of Bob Wilk ins, Hal Browning's Grotto's Pizza #100, Bob Torek y, up from fourteenth, and the Petrocon #53 of Tom Capie. On lap eight the front five was invaded by the #19D of Bunting when he dropped Capie to sixth. This set the stage for one of those furious duels that are standard fare at the Delmar speedplant.

As the halfway sign was given by Flagman Bill Lawson Bunting moved around Wilk ins for fourth. terek y were already in a door to door battle for second as they closed ground on Gollub. Torely put Browning behind him for good on lap 13 and two turns later powered into the lead leaving Gollub to fight for second. As the checkered neared the W.W. Henry Construction Adhesives, D&L Photos #14 just seemed to get stronger besting Gollub by several car lengths at the finish and putting an end to the T&T Racing Team's season long losing streak at U.S. 13.

FIRST 20: Hoffman, Bunting, Toreky, G. Trice, Ray swinehart, Bobby Walls, Capie, Browning, Bobby Wilkins, Gollub, Johnny Bennett, Daggett, Charles Phillips, Deck er, Towers, Keys, D. Trice, Jarvis, Todd, Dave Schamp.

Kozak crowned point champion as MODCAR closes fifth season

John Kozak of Wernersville, Pa. was declared the 1984 MODCAR Point Champion, as the organization closed its fifth year of existence, in 1984.

Kozak, who also is President of the Owners-Driver's Club, edged out last year's titlist Freddy Brightbill of Reinholds, Pa. by 50 points. So close was the point battle, that in the Club's final race of the year at Penn National, the running order at the time of the last caution had the two Pennsylvanians tied, dead even. However, two laps after the green came out, Brightbill dropped out, and Kozak was home free.

It was a most competitive year for MODCAR. One hundred seventeen different drivers attempted at least once, to qualify for a show, and the 214 participants for the six races, had a very healthy 35.6 average. However, in wins, the organization showed more variety than ever before. Six different drivers won events, and only one of them, Kenny Brightbill, had ever won with MODCAR before. Two of the features went right down to the final laps, before a winner was decided.

The opener at US 13 saw Kozak lead from the start, only to be overtaken by Billy Ellis. John had to re-pass Billy on the final lap to gain his victory. Next stop was Hagerstown Spdwy., where Bobby Weaver ran a great race until mechanical problems dropped him from the field and Kenny Brightbill was the victor. Grandview was the scene of show #3, an event led in the late stages by Rick Schaffer, but Harold Bunting got by with one to go, and on to his first organization triumph. He was also the first Delaware driver to ever win with MODCAR, also. "13" was up again, and what looked like a sure win for Billy Towers, turned into a late race upset for Jack Sapp of Milford. It was the Delaware vets one and only 1984 triumph, and ended a dry spell of 4 years for Jack and car owner Jim Graham. Williams Grove was the next stop on the MODCAR tour, and for the second year in a row Frank Cozze led the field across the line. Last year, Frank's car was under weight and he was deprived of the win, but no such happening took place this year for the Wind Gap star, and he gained his elusive win. The six race series ended at Penn National, where trackregular Doug Hoffman picked up the laurels. The Wescosville pilot made a clean sweep of the night's activities with victories in his heat, Cash Dash and feature.

Although the 1984 season is history, the MODCAR officials are busy at work on two important items. A banquet is being planned for the off-season and when details are worked out, everyone will be informed, either personally or by the trade papers. The three banquets held prior, were all well attended and supported, and this year's version will be the equal of any of them. The Board members are already in contact with several Promoters for dates for races in 1985. MODCAR would like to have everything in this vein, completed by the banquet, so that all those attending will know where & when the Club will be running in the coming year. Sponsorships are being looked into, and it's hoped that MODCAR can come up with one for the season ahead.

The organization has had to survive many changes since its inception 5 years ago, but has survived because of all the fans and drivers-owners that have supported it, from the beginning. MODCAR wants to thank each and everyone that has shown this support, and promises to work just as hard as ever for the organization, in the coming months.

Keep on the lookout for the banquet announcement, and we'll see you there!

Jack Tarburton to head Delaware Soil group

The outstanding soil and water conservation practices of farmers and ranchers across the country are receiving widespread recognition through an awards program sponsored by the National Endowment for Soil and Water Conservation and the DuPont Company. Ten national finalists are expected to be chosen in October from the 47 state winners, nominated from farmers and ranchers by coordinating committees of farm, conservation and government leaders.

Jack Tarburton, a Kent County farmer, was selected to represent Delaware in this national competition. He was chosen for his dedication to the agricultural community, and his political, civic and educational activities. Other important considerations were the innovative conservation efforts used on his farm to control erosion and to save natural resources, according to the award selection committee.

Tarburton was active in the Delmarva Council of the Boy Scouts & has hosted land judging contests, most recently for Future Farmers of America. He has assisted the University Extension Se-vice by using his farm for field trials. He has been a supervisor of the Kent County Conservation District since 1980. He also served as chairman of the District until he relinquished the post to serve as president of the Delaware Farm Bureau. Additionally, Tarburton has served in other organizations including Kent County Parks and Recreation Commission, the Delaware State Grange, the Agway Council, and the Governor's Committee for the Preservation of Farmland.

The 10 national finalists will be selected by an advisory committee from the Endowment based on their accomplishments in soil and water resource management and pollution abatement. The 10 finalists and their spouses will receive expense-paid trips to a national awards ceremony, where three national winners ultimately will be chosen to receive $1,000.

The national winners in the 1983 program were from Ky., Or., and Wis. The other finalists were from Ind, Kan, Md, Mich, Mont, N.C. and Utah. Certificates of Awards were presented in 1983 at a White House ceremony.

Browning and Wilkins split 20's at US 13

by Don Allen

Hal Browning and Bobby Wilkins each added another win to their score sheets in the twin twenty show at U.S. 13 Saturday night over a full field of Late Model charters.

Browning led the field under the green for the first half of the twin show with Wilkright on his bumper. The #100 began to set a strong pace while Wilkins had his hands full battling the #880 of Eddie Pettyjohn. This worked to Browning's advantage and he opened a healthy lead that would last till the checkered.

The duel between the Delmarva Electric Motors #69 of Wilkins and Pettyjohn's Delmarva Venture racer came to an end on lap eleven when the two tangled in the one-two turn bringing out the yellow and putting both to the rear. This left the Colony Pool Service #10 of Steve Hill to deal with Browning on the restart followed by the 15A of Vernon Harris. The two proved no match for Browning as he once again stretched out his lead. The race stayed under green till the end with no change in the top three spots. The story was in fourth for by the time the checkered fell the #69 had worked its way to the front and finished just ahead of the #96 of Lou Johnson.

The field was reversed for the second event. Though the 20 laps were marred by numerous cautions the competition was still some of the best seen this year. Wilkins, Browning and Pettyjohn threaded their way through the pack and on lap four Wilkins broke into the lead. Pettyjohn and Browning were sitting three and four respectively behind the #39 of Mike Hess. One lap later both dropped Hess to fourth and started the hunt for Wilkins. Browning's hunt ended on lap six as he spun in the second turn and fell to the rear.

Pettyjohn broadsided the #880 through the turns in an attempt to wrestle the lead from the #69 for the remainder of the race but it was all in vain and the "Slow But Sexy" #69 brought home the bacon.

Standard Chlorine of Delaware proposes new projects

Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Control Secretary, John E. Wilson, III, has made a Coastal Zone Act status decision on an application by Standard Chlorine of Delaware, Inc., for five proposed projects at its chemical manufacturing plant near Delaware City.

The proposed projects are not regulated by the Coastal Zone Act. They are not prohibited new or expanded heavy industry uses and they are not new or expanded manufacturing uses requiring a permit. Overall production capacity of the Standard Chlorine plant will not increase and there will be no expected adverse environmental effects as a result of these projects.

The five include: A research and development laboratory; an employee change house for workmen to change clothes and shower; an acid neutralization project to make hydrochloric acid into a saleable product at all times to avoid having to dispose of it through the plant wastewater treatment system at times when there is no market for it; a polychloro pilot plant to test the feasibility of reprocessing tetrachlorobenzenes rather than dispose of them as a waste product; and adding a waste heat recovery unit to a boiler to improve energy efficiency.

Further information about this status decision and about procedures to appeal the decision can be obtained by calling the Division of Environmental Control at 736-5409.

In Memoriam

Although she died seven years ago, She gave us an understanding and unquestioning love while alive. When life here ended she found a way to keep in touch - Her love still reaches out to us. Karla will always be a part of the Langford Family. 11t10-17

LESLIE SIMPSON, JR.

How could we ever forget you, when in everything we do - there is always something around that reminds us of you. Your smile has gone forever and your hand we cannot touch - we shall never lose the memory of the one we love so much. October 14, 1982. The Family

Maintenance And Care Of Equipment

too tight causes excessive wear on the bearings. If it's too loose, it will slip, increasing belt wear and reducing blower efficiency. Allow a 3/4-inch depression in the belt for each foot of distance between shaft pulleys when the belt is pressed with a finger midway between the pulleys. Check belt tension and alignment every 6 weeks when the air filters are inspected. If a new belt is needed, purchase the proper size and length.

Keeping Warm In A Cold House

When your house is without heat, because of malfunctioning equipment, lack of fuel, or any other reason, there are ways to preserve some of the home's heat and stay relatively comfortable: • Dress warmly. Layers of protective clothing are more effective protection against cold than a single layer of thick clothing—entrapped, insulating air is warmed by body heat. The layers can be removed as needed to prevent perspiring and subsequent chill. • Eat well-balanced, nutritional meals to allow the body to produce its own heat efficiently, especially quick-energy foods (raisins, other dried fruit, other such foods).

Landscaping

5. Tall deciduous trees placed on the southwest side provide cool shade for the walls and roof of the house. In winter, after the leaves fall, winter sun will provide warmth. Trees should be tall enough and close enough to the house to cast shade on the roof. Oaks are good trees for this use as they are both large and sturdy. 6. Deciduous shade trees placed to cast shade on the driveway reduce heat buildup of cement. Hot paving radiates heat to the house long after the sun goes down. 7. Trees placed to provide shade for the patio add to both comfort and beauty of the patio. Small- and medium-sized flowering trees like crab apple, cherry and dogwood are good patio trees. 8. Deciduous vines trained on a trellis across the house can act as an awning to keep out summer sun. Wisteria, silver lace vine and Dutchman's pipe are vigorous deciduous vines easily trained on a trellis. How Much Energy Can Be Saved By Landscaping? A good windbreak has been shown to reduce resident fuel needs by as much as 15 percent and reduce wind velocity by 50 percent or more within a distance of twice its height. Every five-mile-per-hour reduction in wind velocity is equivalent to about a five-degree Fahrenheit increase in temperature. Summer shade can be equally important in reducing the use or need for air conditioning, which results in savings on the summer electric bill. How Long Will It Take For A Planting To Become Effective? Starting out as 4 to 5 foot evergreens, a windbreak will begin to yield significant dividends in 4 to 6 years. About the same length of time will be required for 1 1/2 to 2 inch caliper shade trees.

Insulate Your Water Heater

installing the insulation on a gas water heater.

- *outlast the water heater tank and be reused on a new one.

How does more insulation help? Just as a blanket or coat helps maintain your body temperature, a storage tank protected by additional layers of insulation maintains water temperature better and longer.

How much energy could I save a year using a refit kit? With the 1 1/2 inches of additional insulation, heat loss can be cut out by about 400 kilowatt-hours per year.

for electric water heaters and by about 3600 cubic feet per year for gas water heaters.

What else can I do to make household hot water use more energy-efficient?

- *Lower the temperature setting on your heater to the lowest degree acceptable to your needs.
- *Never leave hot water running unnecessarily.
- *Fix leaky hot water faucets.
- *Limit dishwasher runs to full loads.
- *Consider installing a flow restrictor in the showerhead pipe to reduce water flow.

Flow restrictors are available at most stores that handle plumbing supplies.

- *Consider using faucet aerators. They mix air with water and reduce the amount of water used, yet provide a water flow turbulent enough for washing.
- *Laundry clothes in cold or warm water whenever practical.
- *Run full wash loads or adjust the water level control on your washer to the size of your washload.

Fuelwood Buying Tips

DO know the measured volume or cords of wood received for a given price. (Standard cord=128 cubic feet; a stack 4' x 4' x 8')

DO know the tree species you are purchasing. Some species, like oak, contain more BTU's per cord than others, like pine.

Woodstove Safety Tips

DO install the system according to specified clearances.

DO burn small, hot fires.

DO instruct all household members in safe operation of the system.

DO cut or order your wood to the length of your system's capacity.

DO know if the wood is green, seasoned or dry. Green wood contains nearly all the water present in standing trees, and heat is required to "burn" it off. Seasoned implies that most of the water has been removed.

If you are having wood delivered, KNOW what that means. Will the wood be dumped at the end of your driveway or be stacked?

DO for creosote buildup.

DO inspect all household members in safe operation of the system.

Helpful Hints On Saving Energy

Weather-strip and caulk around all entrance doors and windows to limit air filtration which could account for 15 to 30 percent of space-conditioning energy requirements.

Locate the heating thermostat on an inside wall and away from windows and doors. Cold drafts will cause the thermostat to keep the system running even when the rest of the house is warm enough.

Set the heating thermostat as low as comfort permits. Each degree over 68F can add three percent to the amount of energy needed for heating; each degree below 68F can save about the same.

Close heating vents and radiator valves in unused rooms.

Consider making one of the new microwave ovens your next major appliance purchase. Microwave ovens draw only about half the power of their counterparts in standard electric ranges and for a much shorter period of time.

Locate water heaters as close to the points of hot water use as possible. The reason for this is that any hot water that remains in a supply pipe after a tap or valve is closed, eventually cools off and is wasted. The longer the supply pipe, the more heat lost.

Letting the water run smaller amount in the microwave oven than on the surface unit. For example, in the microwave oven, vegetables can be cooked in a very small amount of water because there is no scorching problem. Boil-in-the-bag foods take no additional water. In microwave ovens, it is easier to or less.

while shaving or when washing dishes by hand is a needless waste. Avoid this by using sink stoppers and dishpans.

Have your furnace checked once a year to make sure the unit is as efficient as possible.

Don't set the thermostat at a warmer setting than normal when you first turn the heat up; the house will warm up faster.

Close the damper when you're not using the fireplace to reduce heat loss up the chimney. You can still enjoy the warmth of the fire.

Install glass doors on your fireplace to reduce heat loss up the chimney. You can still enjoy the warmth of the fire.

Energy Questions Concerning Microwaves

Does a portable microwave oven use less energy than a regular surface unit?

Studies using water show that when heating quantities of 1 cup or less, the microwave oven uses less energy, for 2 cups there is little difference, and for 3 cups or more, surface units use less energy.

You may be heating a heat or reheat only actual serving portions.

Does a microwave oven use less energy than electric ovens?

Yes. Studies using water have shown that the range uses at least twice as much energy as the microwave oven for amounts of 3 quarts or less.

Energy Conservation Means Good Insulation

by Kent Eakley

The rising cost of energy has caused homeowners to evaluate energy use and find ways to reduce their energy consumption on a daily basis. As heating accounts for 50% of home energy consumption, it is a prime target for conservation measures. Adequate insulation can reduce energy used to heat the home by as much as 20 to 30 percent. This knowledge has established a trend toward better insulated homes due to increased building code standards. In addition, the public is anxious to retrofit existing homes. This trend has prompted an increased demand for insulation materials, and necessitates clear information for the consumer.

Insulating materials fall into three broad categories: mineral wool, cellulose, and cellular plastic foams. Mineral wool, is made from mineral substances such as rock, slag, or glass. This type is commonly known as "Fiber glass" or "Rock wool". Cellulose material is made from recycled paper or paper stock that has been shredded. It is then treated with various chemicals to be "do-it-yourselfer".

Don't Forget Safety With Kerosene Heaters

As days and nights grow cooler, sales of kerosene heaters are booming once again. These appliances are dangerous when used carelessly, reminds Delaware extension garden and home improvement agent, Dr. Willie G. Adams, so keep the following points in mind:

- *Make sure the heater you choose meets safety standards established by the Underwriters Laboratories, PPS Corporation, or Japan Heating Appliances Inspection Association, Inc.
- *Keep the carbon your heater comes in for out-of-season storage. Or use a large, vinyl household trash can to protect it from dust and dirt.
- *Read and follow the manufacturer's guidelines for the care and operation of your heater.
- *Remember that good fuel means good performance. Use only K-1 kerosene.
- *Store kerosene in a cool, dry place, away from direct sunlight and out of children's reach.
- *Never add fuel while your heater is operating or hot. When filling the heater, never set the kerosene can lower than the heating tank. The wick is the most critical part of the heater. Follow the owner's manual for specific care instructions.
- *Never trim a fiberglass wick.
- *Never place your heater within 3 feet of combustible material such as furniture, draperies or clothing.
- *Never leave the heater burning unattended. Turn it off before leaving the house or going to sleep.
- *Always use the heater in a well ventilated area to avoid risk of asphyxiation.
- *Never allow children to operate or refuel the heater.
- *Don't use the heater as a dryer.
- *Never use a portable kerosene heater in a moving vehicle.

Maintenance And Care Of Equipment

The servicing and repair of furnaces usually require the attention of a serviceman. Homeowners can do some regular servicing and maintenance to keep the system operating efficiently. For safety, always keep the area around the furnace free of flammable material. Things the homeowner should check regularly are:

Air Filters. Check the air filters of hot air heating systems every 6 weeks during the heating and cooling season. Clogged filters reduce airflow. This reduces effectiveness and increases energy bills. Some filters around the furnace free of flammable material. Things the homeowner should check regularly are:

Electric Motors. Follow the manufacturer's instructions for lubricating motor and blower bearings. Some bearings are permanently sealed and need no lubrication. Others need three to six drops of light motor oil every six months. Over oiling can damage a motor. Be sure oil holes are capped to keep dirt out. Wipe off excess oil or grease. Use clean rags to wipe dirt off the motor and clean ventilation openings. An accumulation of dust and dirt on the motor acts as insulation and may cause overheating. Fan belts. How To Conserve Fuel In Farm Operations

3. Clean or replace fuel filters and air cleaners.
4. Check your governor speed with a tachometer.
5. Maintain all belts and drives on combines at proper tension to cut slipage.
6. Check your hydraulic system for leaks, fluid level, etc.
7. Make sure that your cutting table is approved for the combine. Too large a unit can overload the separator, the hydraulic system and the frame.
8. Keep knives sharp at all times.
9. Add rear axles, if needed, to balance heavy loads.
10. Use a mower, conditioner, windrower, where practical. It can eliminate extra trips for conditioning and raking and save at least 50 percent of the fuel.

11. Run baler at rated PTO speed. Operating too fast can increase power requirements by 25 percent or more per ton baled.
12. Make sure that your wagon tires are correctly sized and properly inflated to reduce rolling resistance.

Use Tillage Equipment Wisely

1. Plow and till no deeper than necessary.
2. Keep plow shares sharp. Dull shares increase draft up to 25 percent and cause soil compaction at the plow sole.
3. Properly adjust plow so it runs level as viewed from the side as well as from the rear. Adjust the rear furrow wheel to reduce landslide pressure.
4. Select the optimum plowing throttle speed. Remember that you triple power requirements when excessive tillage at ends.

you double throttle speed. Throttle back and go into a higher gear range to match power and save fuel.

5. Double up with a second tillage tool where possible to pulverize the seed zone as you plow. This avoids nullifying the root zone benefits of plowing by compaction during separate additional tillage.

Use herbicides instead of weeding. A few quarts of herbicide spread over an acre will control many weeds, whereas mechanical cultivation repeated at least 3 times in the absence of a herbicide may involve turning over 300,000 lbs. of soil per acre per trip.

Research sponsored by the United States Department of Energy (DOE) has proved that this insulation refit kit is energy-saving, economical, and safe. The studies show that on a national average, the use of the kit will:

- *save $5 to $20 per year on your utility bill.
- *repay your initial investment (under $20) in energy savings within 15 months for

Putting Up With Storm Windows

Manufactured Storm Windows are readily available in a range of prices and used variety consists of sturdy metal frames and tracks with removable glass panes and screens. The entire assembly is then fastened to the outside of existing windows to form the storm window.

Also available are double glazing techniques, the "thermopane" approach. Optimum results with double glazing calls for a sophisticated application.

De-It-Yourself "Kits". Several brands of Storm Window "Kits" are available. These usually contain plastic moldings for the frame and a sheet of plastic along with instructions on how to assemble and install the frames. They offer a professional, finished appearance and can be reused season after season.

Savings: Inside or out, storm windows save energy and money. How much depends on location of your home and the severity of the weather.

On the average, however, tight-fitting storm windows will give you annual savings ranging from a low of 19 cents per square foot of window area (in mild climates) to as much as 72 cents or more (in cold climates). That's savings per year, per square foot of window area.

It's hard to estimate exactly what the material cost might be...it depends a great deal on local costs. However, it definitely pays to shop around.

Insulate Your Water Heater And Save Fuel

Now you can buy for your home water heater, an insulation refit kit, which can save both money and fuel. The kit consists of a blanket of fiberglass insulation and comes with do-it-yourself installation instructions. The additional insulation on the water heater reduces the rate of heat loss, which also reduces the energy required to keep the water at the controlled temperature.

Research sponsored by the United States Department of Energy (DOE) has proved that this insulation refit kit is energy-saving, economical, and safe. The studies also show that the use of the kit will:

- *save $5 to $20 per year on your utility bill.
- *repay your initial investment (under $20) in energy savings within 15 months for

How To Conserve Fuel In Farm Operations

Supplement to The Harrington Journal, October 17, 1984

Farm energy conservation begins before you start your tractor, truck, or combine. It starts with a pre-operation check. A periodic examination will help save energy and increase the life of your equipment. The way a vehicle is operated can save fuel without changing the amount of work done or the way it is done. Here are check lists of energy saving suggestions. Give Attention To General Farm Operations

1. Understand your own-er's or operator's manual and acquaint yourself with the proper techniques that you are operating.
2. Match the machine to the job being done. If you use a smaller tractor, don't use a big one for the lighter jobs even though it may be more convenient to do so. In 10 hours, one day of operation, a large tractor, according to a Nebraska test, would burn nearly 12 gallons more fuel than a smaller one.
3. Gang machinery to cut down the number of trips through the field. By pulling one or two implements at a time, you conserve energy and soil reduce compaction.
4. Properly tune and maintain internal combustion engines on tractors, combines, and trucks. They will respond with more efficient operation.

5. Seriously consider a diesel engine if your tractor power take-off shaft, the tractor can be checked and adjusted for proper performance.
6. Be energy wise in operating the tractor. The way you handle your tractor can mean up to 30 percent difference in fuel consumption. The operator makes the decisions regarding the speed, the gear used, the amount of turning, and the amount of engine idle time.
9. Travel at safe, efficient field speeds. Results from a Nebraska tractor test with 50 percent load show that slippage which causes increased fuel consumption and tire damage. Most tractors are designed to give maximum performance with about 10-15 percent driving wheel slippage. Putting liquid in tractor tires normally provides the ballast needed for most situations. Metal weights may be added according to the manufacturer's recommendations. Many tractors in the higher horsepower range should have fluids applied to control slippage.

10. Avoid costly idling of the engine over long periods of time. Up to one-half gallon per hour, depending on the size of the engine, can be saved by turning the engine off. It usually takes less fuel to restart a gasoline engine than to idle it for more than one minute. Caution: a diesel, with a blower, it is necessary to cool the engine for a period of 3-5 minutes before turning the engine off.
11. Check the cooling system on a diesel engine to make certain the thermostat is operating properly. A long warm-up period may waste fuel.
12. Have a well laid out pattern of operation in the field to save fuel. Aim for longer trips, fewer turns, and to cover as much effective width as possible with each implement.
13. Don't disturb more soil than is necessary. Flowing and subsiding too deep moves too much soil, resulting in increased fuel consumption.
14. Keep accurate records on the machine's performance so you know where to make changes and how to get better fuel economy.

- Care for Tractor Engine
1. Use quality clean fuel that is free of water and contamination.
 2. Check timing on tractor with a dynamometer.
 3. Clean and replace air cleaner.
 4. Use correct oils and lubricants at recommended intervals.
 5. Clean and replace fuel filters.
 6. Check governor engine speed, with a tachometer or dynamometer.
 7. Restore lost compression on older tractors with a valve and rings job.
 8. Check and calibrate fuel injection pump and the injectors of a diesel engine for every 1,000 hours of operation.
 9. Use the engine heaters in cold weather for easy starting and faster warming to the desired operating temperature.
 10. Make sure that your fuel is filtered and free from water, rust and dirt.
 11. Drain contamination tank at tractor's storage tank at least twice a year.
 12. Don't allow your fuel tanks to stand empty, especially in the winter. Moisture condensation will result in a rusty and wet tank bottom.
 13. Maintain the proper fuel mixture for the job to be done. This may necessitate using a combination of Number 1 and Number 2 diesel fuel in cold climates.
 14. Refuel your tractor at the end of the days work to prevent condensation in the tractor fuel tanks.
 15. Let the tractor clutch out slowly. Quick starts waste fuel and are hard on equipment.
 16. Change plugs, points, condensers, and wiring as needed for good performance.
 17. Clean and adjust carburetor for proper gas-air mixture.
 18. Use a pyrometer on tractors with a turbo-charger.

Energy Tips For Heating Water

Supplement to The Harrington Journal, October 17, 1984

Your hot water heater is probably using 18% or more of all the energy you use in your home. In most cases, only the furnace uses more. The hot water system in your home can be a real energy waster as well. Your first concern should be to reduce the energy waste, and your second concern should be to reduce your consumption.

Heat is wasted up the flue. The "harder" the water in your area, the quicker sediment builds up and the more frequently draining is needed. A water softener may reduce the necessity for frequent draining.

Check Your Gas Heater Flame

Periodic maintenance by a qualified service representative is recommended, especially if you have a gas water heater. Gas burners must be correctly adjusted. If out of adjustment, much of the fuel you are paying for is unburned—it goes up the flue and pollutes the air. Since many hot water heaters are adjusted for sea level, it is particularly important to adjust the burner for high altitudes. A glimpse of the flame can tell you if adjustment is needed—a blue flame indicates complete combustion, and an orange or yellow flame shows that you are wasting fuel and need to call the service representative.

Why Pay For Hot Water On Your Vacation?

Whenever you leave home for an extended period, don't pay to keep heating water you won't be using. In the summertime, set the water heater control to the "Pilot" or "Off" position. In winter, set the control at minimum to prevent freezing, not "Off."

Stop That Leak!

Repair all leaky faucets—especially hot water faucets—as quickly as possible. A typical steadily running leak can waste over 40 gallons a day...costing you an extra $3.00 or more on your monthly gas and water bills. Fix it now!

Reduce Your Consumption

Don't waste hot water by rinsing dishes under the faucet. Use a dishpan or fill the sink with this water. If you have a dishwasher, use it only with full loads. Pre-rinse with cold water. Instead of running the drying cycle, let the dishes air-dry.

Landscaping For Energy Conservation

Plants can not only make your home more beautiful and livable, they can reduce your fuel and energy costs. Proper selection and placement of plants can make your home warmer in winter and cooler in summer. Plants can reduce wind velocky, trap the warmth of the winter sun and provide cooling and insulating effects for greater summer comfort.

Here are eight ways for using plants to make your home more comfortable summer and winter:

1. Block the cold winter wind from entering your yard and home with large evergreens such as pines, spruces and hemlocks. The coldest winds come from the north, northeast and northwest. Trees affect wind velocity for several times their height but are most effective within a distance equal to their height.
2. Twiggy deciduous trees are nearly as effective as evergreens in blocking wind and more effective in blunting its velocity. Place them at the end of an evergreen screen to slow the flow of cold air. Chinese elm, pin oak, willow oak, hawthornes and honeysuckles are good wind filters.
3. Shrubs planted around the house foundation provide good insulation. Needle and broadleaf evergreens are most effective.
4. Evergreen vines trained on the north wall provide additional insulative effect. English Ivy is one of the best vines for this purpose.
