

McCready elected President of Lake Forest School Board

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

FELTON — All members of the Lake Forest School Board entered executive session prior to Monday night's special meeting emerged and elected Russell L. McCready the new president of the School Board to replace G. Wallace Caulk, Jr.

Under a state ruling Caulk had to resign his post on the School Board when he was elected to the State House of Representatives this past November.

McCready was first elected to the School Board in an election last Spring along with Sara L. Williams. Caulk was elected President of the School Board. Roberta O'Neal was elected Vice President of the School Board and by rights should have succeeded Caulk as its President.

After retiring from the first executive session H. Earl Roberts of Masten's Corner was sworn in as the new Board member. He also joined the Board in executive session prior to his swearing in.

There was some discussion paid to

Russell L. McCready

H. Earl Roberts

"...too many executive sessions", and it was a little more than just lip service.

One of the issues which sparked the need for the Advisory Group in years past has been "...too many executive sessions" with important matters of taxpayers interest being discussed in private. Executive sessions continue to this date.

Frederick (Rick) Feutz, a Board member, was quoted as saying that sensitive matters of salaries and personnel matters are what is being discussed in these sessions. Some tax payers feel there is no need for any executive sessions.

The Board also discussed in executive session who would serve on the new Advisory Group. The Board members defend the need for executive sessions are being permitted under the Delaware Code.

The Board will meet again next Tuesday night at the W.T. Chipman Library to discuss the payment plan for secretaries, aides, custodians, and cafeteria workers. These personnel were passed over at the last referendum when teachers received a salary hike. It is believed that next on the agenda will be increased salaries to administrators, who too have been passed over. McCready will chair his first meeting as President of the School Board at next Tuesday's meeting. He has some interesting events ahead for his consideration.

Gene Lake decides to turn pro

Gene Lake, the Delaware State All-American fullback, ended two months of speculation on Friday when he announced he will take a shot at the United States Football League rather than return for his senior year.

The 26-year-old Lake, who graduated from Milford High School in 1977, cited his age, the potential money, and the possibility of injury as the deciding factors in his decision to turn pro. He will either be drafted by USFL team or enter the league as a free agent.

Lake, who ran for a record-setting 1,722 yards this year, has been named to the Kodak Coaches I-AA All-American Team and the all-Mid Eastern Athletic Conference team.

Lake's 172.2 average yards per game and 7.29 yards per rush both established I-AA records and gave him the MEAC's offensive player of the year award. Lake's DelState three-season totals of 3,123 yards and 210 points are both school and conference records.

After serving three years in the Army, Lake was working in a Milford department store when Caesar Rodney coach John Coveleski, then a DelState assistant, discovered him playing in a Milford flag football league.

The rest is history.

MADD plans activities for Drunk Driving Week

Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) have planned public awareness activities throughout the state to commemorate the Third Annual National Drunken and Drugged Driving Awareness Week.

Today (Wednesday) at 11 a.m. a memorial cross will be placed at the scene of the crash, Del. 10 and Kent 356 in Dover, by the family of Shawn Dunn, a 17-year-old boy who died after being struck by a drunken driver on Aug. 3, 1983.

Other activities include awareness programs in high schools with Chapters of Students Against Drunken Drivers to be held on Thursday. On Friday MADD will release information on drugged driving and on Saturday at the Blue Hen Mall MADD and SADD volunteers will be at public information booths distributing free literature.

Lynch to step as Ag Secretary

Donald J. Lynch, Delaware Secretary of Agriculture, will resign his post on Jan. 15, he said Friday.

The favored candidate to replace Lynch, according to agriculture sources, is William W. Vanderwende, 51, of Bridgeville.

The Republican Vanderwende is a small grains and dairy farmer who reportedly has the backing of two powerful Bridgeville legislators, Rep. B. Bradford Barnes, the Republican majority whip, and Sen. Thurman G. Adams Jr., chairman of the Executive Committee which approves all appointments.

Vanderwende, a former Woodbridge School Board member, was defeated in 1978 by former Rep. Howard A. Clendaniel in his bid for a House seat. Lynch, 61, of Selbyville, said he would return to operating the family business, Animal Health Sales Inc.

The appointment of a Republican as agriculture secretary has long been the goal of GOP Sussex County Chairman Kenneth M. Millman.

Diamond State Telephone Co. seeks higher rates

DOVER, DEL. — Diamond State Telephone Company has filed rate proposals with the Public Service Commission that would increase its annual intrastate revenues by $14.1 million, effective June 28, 1985, and another $3.9 million on January 1, 1986.

More than $9 million of the increase is related to federally mandated changes in the way the company recovers its costs of providing service and to technological advances which require the company to replace equipment far more rapidly than in the past.

The new filing is in addition to a pending $16.9 million case filed in June 1983 and related to the breakup of the nationwide Bell System. Since January of this year, a total of $14.6 million in increases associated with that filing have been in effect under bond subject to refund.

Unlimited local calling was $9.20 before a temporary increase to $11.17 was granted in January 1984. The proposed new rate would be $15.20 per month. Hulihan said $2.1 million of the total request is required because of an increase in the size of the company's total plant investment and another $4.2 million is due to higher operating expenses, such as the increased cost of attracting investment dollars, and higher costs for materials, supplies, postage, rents, real estate taxes, and contracted services.

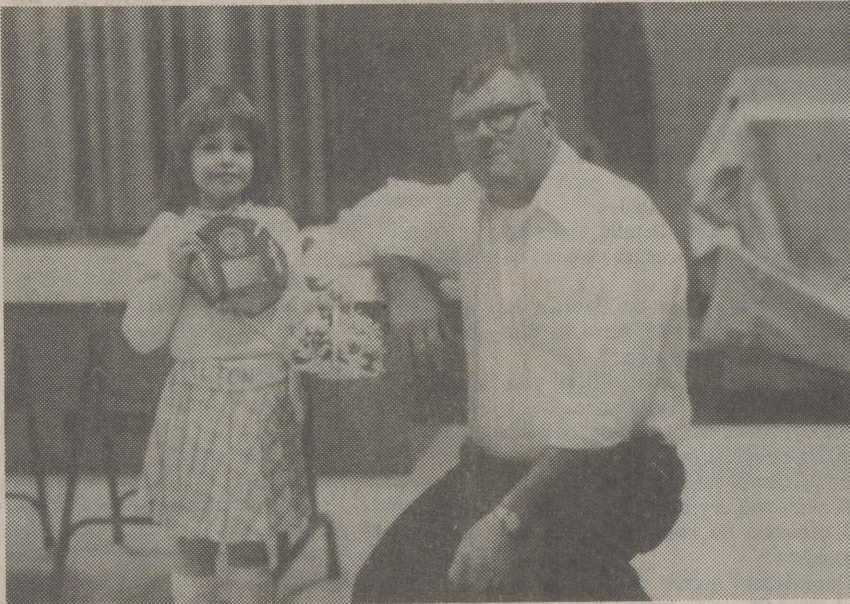

Department of Agriculture seeks hike in Dealer's Bond

The Delaware Department of Agriculture has scheduled a public meeting for Tuesday, December 18, 1984 to discuss a possible increase in the bond required by dealers who buy or sell fruits and vegetables in the state.

The current bonding law requires dealers to purchase "a good and sufficient bond in the minimum sum of $1,000.00 or in such greater amount as is equal to the maximum amount of gross business done in any month in this State during the preceding year by the applicant, but in no event shall the amount of bond required exceed $20,000.00."

Some growers have expressed concern to the Department that this $20,000.00 limit is too low.

Milford Manor holds Open House

by William T. Ficks

If you think of a nursing home as a depressing place, you haven't been to Milford Manor on Marvel Road in Milford.

The sparkling clean home away from home kicked off its holiday season with an Open House Sunday that saw more than 100 people attend the festive occasion.

The 128 residents at Milford Manor were entertained by Jackie LaGuardia, the 1973 Miss Delaware, who strummed a guitar while singing the traditional Christmas songs and carols.

Jackie is the niece of Madelyn LaGuardia, who is executive director of Milford Manor.

Entertaining in another room was the Wesleyan choir of Slaughter Neck.

"We'll be holding a bazaar on Thursday and Friday. We donate the money raised at the bazaar," said Madelyn.

The bazaar will feature a variety of handcrafted items that were made by residents at Milford Manor.

In several of the rooms there were smorgasbords of tasty snacks and delicious hors d'oeuvres which were a gourmet's delight.

Maxine Turner, of Milford, who is social director at Milford Manor, planned the Open House celebration.

"Most people think of a nursing home as depressing. Everyone should visit a nursing home to see what they're really like," said Turner.

Mann and Dennis to run with 4th Ward up for grabs

HARRINGTON — The City election

will be held on January 8th with three seats up for re-election. Alfred G.B. Mann will seek a third term for the office of Mayor, while Sue Ellen Dennis will seek the seat which she was appointed following the death of Councilman Curtis Melvin. The current councilman for the 4th Ward is held by Councilman William W. Shaw, Jr. who was appointed to fill the vacancy left by Richard Henry who resigned for health reasons.

The office of Mayor is for a period of 2 years and for council is for a period of 3 years. The new charter reads that a person cannot hold the office of Mayor for more than "4 successive terms", and for more than "3 successive terms" for council.

Councilmen Jack Wyatt and Ray Gagne were elected by Council to serve as Judges at the up-coming election. The last day for filing for the election by would-be candidates for the various offices is December 28, 1984.

The Annual meeting was set for 7:30 p.m. on Friday, January 4th where candidates will be introduced to the citizens. Voting will be from Noon to 7:00 p.m. on January 8th, 1985.

Special recognition was made by Chief Carl McIlroy for the special achievements by Officers Steve Goodman and John McKenzie of the Harrington Police Department for their outstanding records at the Police Training Academy. Both officers graduated from the Class on November 29th with outstanding records. Officer Goodman graduated 2nd in the class and Officer McKenzie graduated 6th in the class. In marksmanship officer Goodman shot 300 out of a possible 300 and officer McKenzie shot 298 out of 300.

In other matters citizens requested that the traffic problem on Mechanic Street be examined relative to parking on both sides of the street because that street is being used by buses. The City Manager was directed to survey this with the Police Chief.

The Council agreed to hold a special meeting on January 2nd for the introduction of legislation to vacate the alley between the north and south bound lanes of Route 13 from Porter Street north to Harde's. Other legislation to be considered at the same meeting is to change the zoning in the same area from C-3 to C-2.

For the benefit of the readers of The Harrington Journal, the boundaries of the 2nd Ward are as follows: north side Liberty Street from Harrington Ave. to Dixon St. and all along the west side of Dixon to Shaw Ave. All along Shaw Ave. to U.S. 13 southbound lane north to City limits then westerly along an imaginary line to 2nd Ave., then south to Carrow, west on Carrow to Harrington Ave. and south on Harrington Ave. to Liberty. 4th Ward beginning at intersection of Harrington Ave. west along the north side of Liberty St. to West St. then north along West St. proceed around the west side of the W.T. Chipman School to the western boundary line then north to a point and east along the north and west boundary line of the City (which is around the ditch on the north side of the Chipman School, east across Dorman St. east across Weiner Ave. and east to Harrington Ave., then south on Harrington Ave. to Liberty St.

Minner speaks to Common Cause Group

by William T. Ficks

State Sen. Ruth Ann Minner, D-Milford, spoke Saturday at the Dover Sheraton at the annual meeting of Common Cause of Delaware, a non-partisan citizens' lobbying group.

Minner addressed the issue of reforming State Senate rules so that it would be easier to enact legislation.

Minner contends that attendance at committee meetings is all-important to the legislative process.

"I don't think I had a meeting in two years with a full committee," said Minner in a phone interview Sunday.

A committee is given 12 legislative days to consider a bill, Minner said.

"Some kind of action should be taken within those 12 days," she added.

She also called for a funding formula for senior centers and further improvements in grants-in-aid appropriations for non-profit organizations.

In the main business conducted before Common Cause, former Gov. Russell W. Peterson squared off against Drexel University President William S. Gaiter, an engineer and former dean of the University of Delaware College of Marine Studies, over the controversial issue of a deep-water port in Delaware Bay.

Gaiter is a long-time advocate of a giant industrial port in the bay. Peterson is president of the National Audubon Society and a staunch environmentalist. The Coastal Zone Act was adopted during Peterson's administration and is generally considered to be his greatest accomplishment as governor. He once said he is "being loyal to future

Crime Stoppers

This week, Crime Stoppers is making a special effort to let you know about Auto Theft — stolen cars, chop shops, thefts of car parts, or even items from cars. Any information resulting in an indictment in those areas can result in a reward up to $1,000.

Auto Theft costs you, not the insurance industry, four to five billion a year. In recent years, Auto Theft is less a local, isolated crime. Organized professional criminals are taking cars and car parts. Cars are sold across the Country and stolen car parts sold throughout the United States cost you up to 87 percent of your car insurance premium.

Please call 1-800-TIP-3333 if you have any information concerning this crime. The hours to call are weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Up to $1,000 reward for publicized and unpublicized felonies. You DO NOT have to reveal your name.

Minner, a strong environmentalist, said she is "absolutely" against a port in the bay.

"There doesn't seem to be much support from either government or industry for the port," Minner said.

Opposition from the existing ports, the enormous sums of money involved, the dredging that would be necessary, and the environmental dangers were cited by Minner as objections to the port issue.

Milford Manor

Some of the residents, especially those without relatives, become depressed during Christmas week, according to Turner.

Turner keeps the residents on a busy schedule which includes exercise classes, handcrafts, story writing, and various trips among other activities.

A Milton man said, "My brother has been here three years. I've never seen him look better. They take excellent care of the residents."

The annual Christmas bazaar will be held Dec. 13 and 14 from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. in the East Wing of the Activity Room at Milford Manor.

Guaranteed to happen over the holidays

by William T. Ficka

With apologies to the late Jimmy Cannon, the great sportswriter who wrote a column at the end of each year on the things that were sure to happen over Christmas and New Year's. Here are a few of the things that are odds-on to happen over the coming holidays.

At least six people will tell you that Christmas "is really for the kids." When you go back to work on Jan. 2 someone will say about the holidays, "I'm glad they're over."

If it snows on Christmas Day, a little girl will cry because she can't take her new doll carriage outside.

If Christmas Day is mild and sunny, a little boy will cry because he can't use his new sled.

A tiny tot sitting on Santa's lap in Dover will let go with screams that can be heard in Wilmington.

At least three people will tell you that Christmas "is too commercial."

An old-timer will tell a bored teenager what Christmas was like "back in 1930 during the Great Depression."

A child will cry because not one of the 40 presents he received is the one he expected.

Department stores will be jampacked on Dec. 26 with bargain hunters and those exchanging wrong-sized shirts, slacks, and dresses.

A Christmas office party, with the help of liquid spirits, will ignite a romance between a bashful boy and a shy girl.

Mothers will laugh as fathers struggle to assemble mechanical toys on Christmas Eve.

Relatives you haven't heard from since last year will send a Christmas card.

The mailman and the paper carrier will suddenly become very friendly.

Those who want to spend a quiet New Year's Eve will have drunken friends and relatives pay a surprise visit.

A drunk will wake up New Year's morning and wonder who that girl was who slapped him at the New Year's Eve party.

The hostess for the New Year's Eve party will wake up next morning and discover cigarette burns in her new rug.

An old-timer will be shocked at the price of Christmas trees and tell you that he can remember when they sold for a dollar.

New Year's resolutions will remain unbroken until Jan. 30 for those with will power. For those without, they will last until 6 p.m. on Jan. 1.

At least one Scrooge will fail to wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, so I'll say it for him—Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

Gab Fest by Pat Hatfield

I think one of the nicest things we do is share our cooking recipes and experiences. Alta, my dear friend from Harrington knows I love to cook and to read and she sent me the News-Journal clipping about Thanksgiving, thinking that if I did not have access to this paper I would miss it. I'm sure there are others who did not see it, so I am sharing. The four ancient recipes given in the dialect of that day were precious to me. I think you will like them too.

Quote: "From Country Contentments, year 1614: Sauce for a Turkey: Take faire water and set it over the fire, then slice good store of onions and put into it, and also pepper and salt, and good store of the gravy that comes from the turkie, and boyle them very well together; then put it a few fine bread crumbs of grated bread to thicken it, a very little sugar and some vinegar, and so serve it up with the turkie."

"From the English Housewife, year 1615: Stewed Pumpkin: Clean out, peel and dice a medium pumpkin. Simmer the diced flesh in a heavy pot with a cup of dark beer, 2 or 3 tablespoons of malt vinegar, salt pepper and spices to taste. Keep over heat several hours until it boils to a proper mush. As a tart "spoon meat", stewed pumpkins balance the fatty goose or venis on."

From The Good Housewife's Jewell: To Make All Manner of Fruit Tarts: "You must boile your fruite, whether it be apple, cheri, peach, damson pearre, mulberie, or codling, in faire water, and when they be boyled inough, put them into a bowle, and bruse them with a ladle, and when they be cold, straine them, and put in red wine or claret wine, and so season it with sugar, cinnamon and ginger."

From the Accomplish Cook, year 1660: To Make Furmety: (In 1621, the Pilgrims used Indian wheat successfully). Take wheat and wet it, then beat it in a sack with the wash-beetle, being finely hulled and cleaned from the dust and hulls, boil it overnight, and let it soak on a soft fire all night; then next morning take as much as will serve the turn, put it in a pipkin, pan or skillet, and put it a boiling in cream or milk, with make, salt, whole cinnamon and saffron, or yolkes of eggs, boil it thick and serve it in a clean scowred dish, scrape on sugar, and trim the dish.

Aren't they precious? And isn't the spelling and the language delightful? Note the term "scrape on sugar" in the last recipe. Sugar came in blocks then and had to be shaved off.

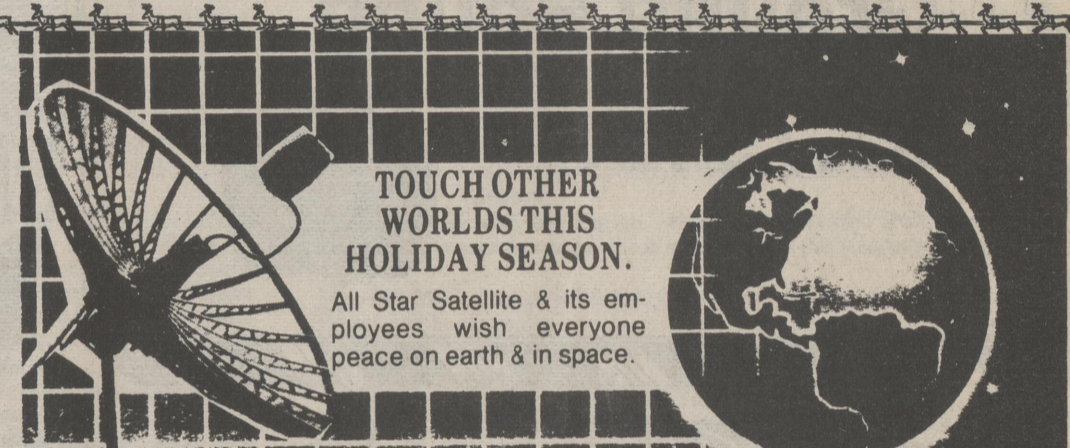

In the fruit tart recipe I looked up codling, which to me meant young cod fish and it does. But my dictionary also gave a second meaning "codling—one of several varieties of cooking apples; or any kind of hard apple for stewing."

In none of my encyclopedia or reference books could I find the word "Furmety". Maybe it is the name for the Indian wheat. I assume they made a kind of mush out of it.

In the article itself I was interested to learn that they got sick of lobster, but they enjoyed not only goose and turkey, but also swan which was plentiful in New England in the fall.

Another interesting thing was a description of their clothing. It seems that they did not wear the gray and white as we mostly despise them today, but actually they wore very colorful garments with bright radiant colors, brass buttons, belts, velvets, capes, lace collars and all manner of such things.

In the Good Old Days

by Lola O'Day

Mr. Anthony Bouza, 81 years old of Greenwich, Conn., and Mr. Whitely Reed, 79 years old, Felton, De., met a gain two years ago after being separated for 59 years. Anthony has returned to Delaware several times to visit Whitely and his wife Louise. The two men decided how much fun it would be to locate their school teacher in their teen years. The teacher was Mary Cameron Moore, then living near Felton, De. She taught school in Petersburg, De., which is now the home of Hettie Kemp Bell, which her home has been remodeled and is in the same location at Petersburg, De. She also taught in the Warren school, west of Felton. At that time she taught grades one to the eighth grade and her wages were $35.00 per month. She furnished her own piano and played it in the little school house where she taught. She tells of teaching children older than herself, but admits the students were glad to help her and really never caused her any trouble. The boys would cut the wood and kept the fire nice and warm in the big wood stove. Mr. Albert Warren, Sr. supplied the wood to be cut from his wooded area. They had the pitcher type pump for their drinking water and the boys did the pumping of the water, while the girls swept the floor, beat and cleaned the eraser for the blackboard and cleaned the chimney globes for the kerosene lamps as they had no electric. Their "House of Convenience" (an outside privy) marked "Boys" and "Girls", where often times the boys played pranks on the girls side. That would cause the teacher to punish the boys who liked to play tricks, by washing out their mouth with soap for being disorderly. In the early days the children walked to school, they were dressed warm, (long johns were worn by everyone in those days.) Day's that were stormy and snowy the children were wet from the weather on arrival to school, Mary Cameron Moore recalls she had a clothes line in the classroom and the children would remove their outer clothes and she would hang them on the line to dry for them. Only the wealthy families children had boots to keep their feet warm and dry. They carried their lunches to school and always had plenty of food and either a banana or a fresh apple for their fruit each day. She recalls her students were always happy as could be. This story relates back to the years around 1918 and 1923. Mary Cameron Moore is the sister of the late Irvin B.

Cameron, Sr. of near Viola, De. Mary now resides at the Friends Home in Kennet Square, Pa., and now 88 years old with a memory sharp as a tack for the Good Ole Days. Some of her students now living are still in the area, Hattie Kemp Bell, Anthony Bouza, Conn.; Whitely Reed, Ralph Bell and Bryan Killen, living west of Felton and two years older than his teacher. Mary also taught her brother Ivan B., Sr. and he also would get his mouth with a bath of soap when he was disorderly. Anthony Bouza, is still employed as a consultant on taxes, and enjoys taking tours. He is working four days a month and drives from Greenwich, Conn. to New York. He is planning to retire, but his company he is employed by tell him they need him and don't leave us. Whitely Reed has retired from the State Highway Division, and is still very active in his sport with his dogs.

Lake named Kodak All-American

DOVER, DE. — The post season laurels have started to accumulate as fast as the yardage did for Delaware State fullback Gene Lake who today was named to the Kodak All-American Team for NCAA Division I-AA.

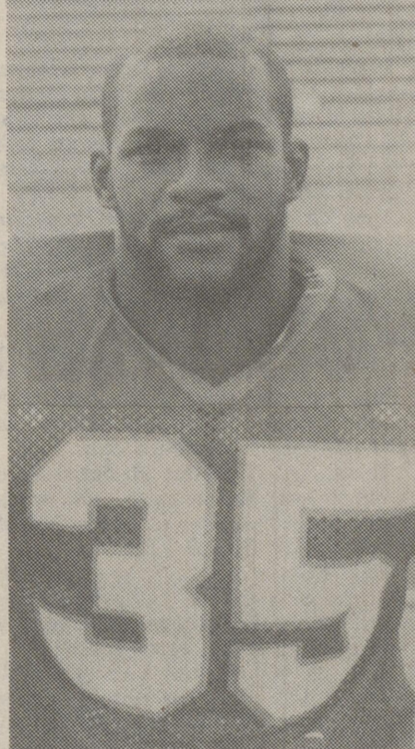

Lake, the leading I-AA rusher with

1,722 yards, is the first Delaware State player to be so honored. The Kodak All-American Team is voted on by the American Football Coaches Association (AFCA).

The announcement came just one week after Lake was selected as Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference Offensive Player of the Year.

In ten games in 1984 Lake averaged 172.2 yards per game rushing, spearheading the Delaware State ground game that churned up more yardage and scored more touchdowns than any other school in the nation, big or small. He finished with 20 touchdowns and a pile of NCAA-1-AA, MEAC and school records to his credit, including a total of 3,123 yards in a career to become the leading rusher in the history of the conference.

Late in the season he appeared a solid candidate for some of the awards that have come his way, but in the final two games of the season he rushed for 566 yards and nine touchdowns to set aside any remaining doubts that may have existed about his credentials.

LF basketball teams prepare for new season

by Rebecca Brown

After Friday's 32-49 loss to St. Elizabeth's, Lake Forest girls' basketball coach Pat Dyal say her team is "undecided" on how they are going to play this year, and she is not optimistic about the season at this point.

The Spartans have only two starters returning from last year's state tournament team; they are Junior Teresa Taylor and Senior Karen Sipple. Otherwise the team is made up of seniors, Pam Smith, Carolyn Brown, Sylvia Hicks, Andrea Mollohan, Angela Mollohan and Elisabeth Senter and some Juniors.

This year all Lake Forest teams are competing in the Southern Division of the Henlopen Conference. For most of the teams this is good because of the smaller size schools in this division. But for the Spartan girls it could mean not getting into the state tournament because Coach Dyal says the South will be tougher than the North, and this move will hurt her team.

Lake Forest boys basketball Coach Bill Falasco looks forward to improving his team's record this year after two consecutive losing seasons.

Leading the way for the Spartans are Kevin Benson, a 6'8" Eric Warren a 6'2" junior, and Victor Hill, a 6'4" sophomore. This trio is expected to be grabbing most of the rebound for Lake Forest. Vontrell Seth, Buck Bordley and Keith Chandler, all returnees from last years team, will be the guards with help from newcomers Bruce Moseley and Keith Brittingham. Helping out the big guys when they get into foul trouble are first year players Sophmore, James Hicks and Junior Daren Hammond. Other first year players are William Scott, Mike Pederson and John Caskey.

Like many of Lake Forest's athletic teams, the boys basketball team will be helped by the move from the large school dominated Northern Division to the smaller South. Coach Falasco said that while the overall record will not show this because they still have to play the large schools, it will be an advantage in vying for a division title.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Norma Brennan

At this writing there is a petition circulating Dover Downs for the reinstatement of the Delaware Development Fund Sires Stake Program. Many of the states leading horsemen have tried unsuccessfully to get legislation to re-enact this program. I wonder if the people in this state realize the magnitude of the racing industry here in Delaware? There are over 600 stalls at Dover Downs and nearly 1000 at Brandywine, Harrington Fairgrounds hold many more than realized. Each horse or every two horses has a groom, he has a family. Each horse needs, hay, feed, blacksmiths, veterinarians, tack shops, they use gas in trucks to haul these horses to the various tracks in the area. The horsemen, notorious eaters, frequent many of the local eating establishments, out of town owners stay in the hotels and motels up and down highway #13. These people shop in our Malls, attend theaters and other activities in the area. Tourism could be greatly beefed up if the horse industry on a whole would receive more and favorable publicity.

Anyone interested in helping promote the Delaware Development fund should contact their representative or Norma Brennan at Dover Downs.

Thank you,

Dear Editor:

We, the undersigned, beings owners and/or breeders of standardbred racehorses, and residing in the state of Delaware, would like to see the Delaware Development Fund Sire Stakes Program re-instated. We believe this unit could be reconstructed under the Department of Agriculture, as in other states, with funds allotted to it and purse structure realigned to meet the needs of horsemen in this state.

We feel that the demise of stake racing will cause and has caused hardships for Delaware owners/breeders. Many have sold their farms and horses or shifted their finances to other adjoining states. We feel if racing folds in Delaware it will put many people out of work... grooms (their families), blacksmiths, hay and grain suppliers, tack shops, and veterinarians...not to mention the added business for fast food establishments, gas stations, motels and hotels, and other local businesses will be greatly affected.

Please consider this petition for the betterment of racing within the State of Delaware for Delaware Horsemen.

Thank you.

Thank you, Norma Brennan

Race car driver LeRoy Yarborough dies at the age of 46

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

Editors Note: A more complete story on Mr. Yarborough will appear in next week's Raceweek.

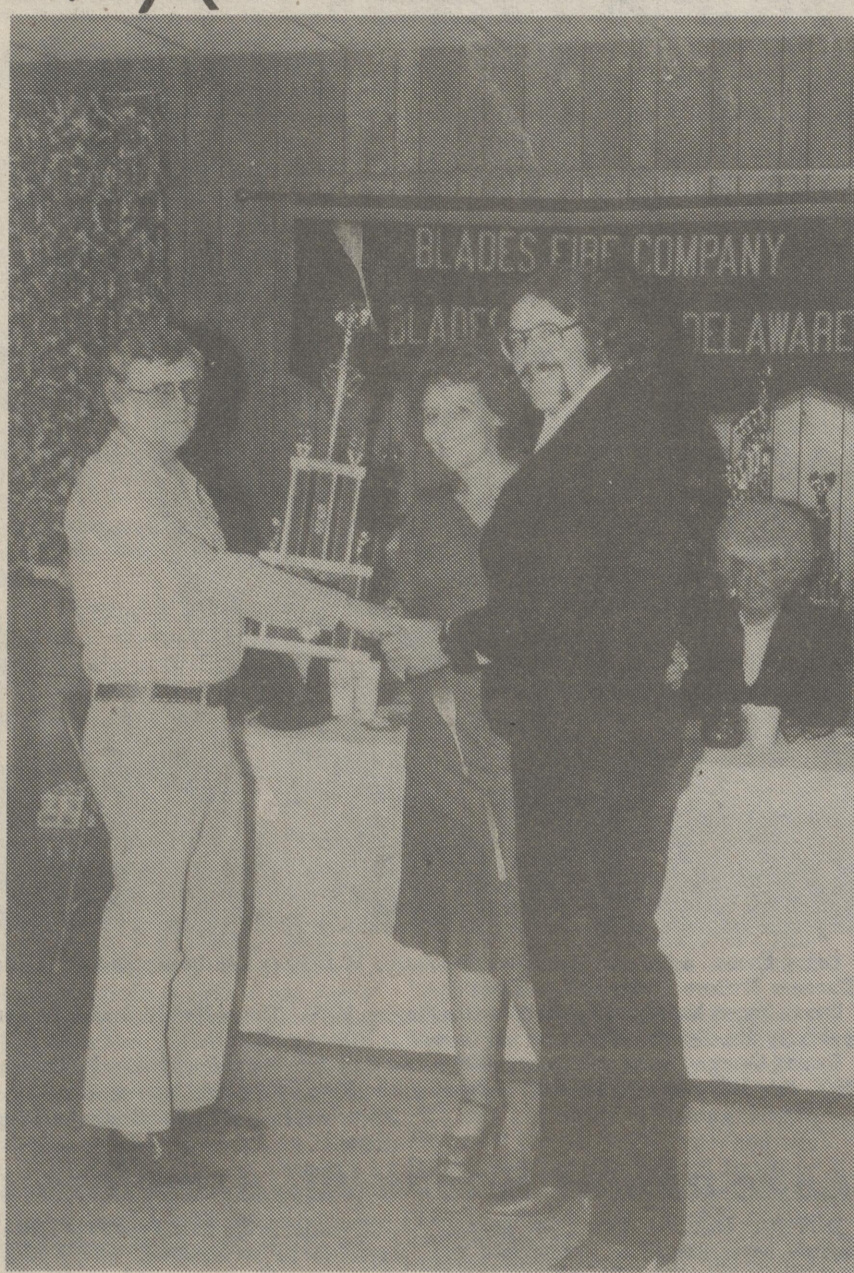

JACKSONVILLE — LeRoy Yarborough, a native of Jacksonville, Florida, died Fri. at University Hospital at 1:38 a.m. He suffered a seizure on Thursday, fell, hit his head and succumbed to bleeding on the brain. Yarborough, for the last four years had been in and out of hospitals and mental institutions. He was 46.

The '70's were troubled years for LeRoy Yarborough. He suffered with alcohol and drug problems during this period as well as battling back from two massive race accidents. The first was at Texas International Speedway in 1970 followed by a massive wreck at Indianapolis in that 500 in 1971. In both he received severe head injuries. In addition to these problems, he nearly died during the '70's from Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever.

He rose to stock car fame in 1969 when he drove for Junior Johnson. He emerged as king of the super speedways at the end of that year and was voted Driver of the Year by NASCAR for the same year. He won 14 career Grand National races and was known for his hard-charging, aggressive driving talents.

Funeral services were Mon., Dec. 10, at Rivermead Funeral Home in Orange Park, outside of Jacksonville, Fl. He is survived by two children, LeRoy Glenn and Nicole, four sisters and a brother.

Wall Modifieds round-up for 1984

WALL TOWNSHIP — The high powered mighty modified division at Wall Stadium was without a doubt one of the most competitive in quite some time. Twelve different drivers tasted victory in 1984 and twenty different drivers finished in the top three spots throughout the season.

John Blewett Jr. kicked off the 1984 season with a very impressive win on April 21st capturing his twelfth career feature at the speedway. On April 28th, one of the strangest thirty-five lap features ever run at the speedway saw only four cars remaining at the end of the race. Tony Ferrante Jr. was the winner of the event recording his first ever career modified feature.

Defending and three time track champ Tony Siscone made his first appearance of the 1984 season a rewarding one as he won the thirty-five lap feature. Glenn Cummins recorded his best finish ever taking second as Eddie Bohn was third.

Doug Wolcott rode a super race on May 12th winning the regular nights feature as Tom Mauser closed out the month of May with a victory on the 19th.

The popular twin 35's returned to the Stadium on June 2nd. Robert Hendrickson won the first feature as five time track champ Gil Hearne took the second. Ironically, for Hendrickson it was his first career win at Wall but for Hearne it was his 74th.

Tony Siscone became the first repeat winner on June 9th in the Barney Morri- feature in seven years on June 16th. Barney Trux dazled the fans on June 23rd capturing the feature event and became the ninth different winner of the season.

On July 7th, it was Gil Hearne again the victor in the Durkin Racing #12 as Tony Siscone came back to victory lane on July 14th. The prestigious Garden State Classic was presented on July 28th and Tony Siscone took top honors in the 200 lap race. Jamie Tomaino finished second as Tom Mauser was third.

Jerry Cranmer won his first feature on August 11th winning the 50 lap Pocono Race of Champions qualifier. The twin 35's were brought back on August 18th and Tom Michel and Tony Siscone were victorious.

Tony Hirschman brought the Frenchies Auto Body #6F in for the win on Aug. 25th as Tom McCann won on Sept. 1st. Enjoying victory so much, McCann made it two in a row on Sept. 8th.

Gil Hearne recorded wins three and four on Sept. 22nd and 29th. The Sept. 22nd show was the seventy lap Budweiser Crown Classic while on Sept. 29th it was the fifty-two lap Gamblers Race.

The annual Jack Hart Memorial Race went to Tom Mauser on Oct. 6th while Doug Wolcott won his second feature of the season on Oct. 13.

Tony Siscone not only won his fifth feature on Oct. 20th, but recorded his fourth championship and his third in a row closing out the regular season.

Just as he had done back in April, Blewett was victorious closing out the season winning the 150 lap Turkey Derby. Gil Hearne finished a very close second while Ray Evernham recorded a fine third place finish.

The 1985 season is less than four months away with opening night scheduled for Sat., April 6th.

The newly crowned Ms. Wall Stadium, Robbie Frank of Ocean Township, N.J. will reign over all of the 1985 events serving primarily as the trophy presenter.

Many new rule changes will be going into effect and one of the most significant to all campaigners will be the nine to one engine rule. The rule was added to reduce the cost of stock car racing at Wall Stadium, and make all competitors more equal within their division. A special bonus will be given to the top three finishers in each feature within each division having a nine to one engine. Further information on the new rules for 1985 will be passed along shortly.

Short takes

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

Elliott voted most popular

Stock car racing fans have selected Bill Elliott as the Most Popular Driver on the NASCAR Winston Cup circuit for 1984.

Elliott garnered 23,539 of the more than 82,000 votes cast, to win the popular vote by a wide margin. He will receive a check for $20,000 from Winston cigarettes.

Elliott's closest competitor was Terry Labonte, the 1984 NASCAR Winston Cup driving champion. Labonte got 14,460 votes.

This is the first year the balloting was open to the general public. During the previous 27 years of the Most Popular Driver Award, Only NASCAR members were eligible to vote. Elliott will be presented the $20,000 check at the annual National Motorsports Press Association (NMPA) convention in Charlotte, N.C., on Jan. 13.

It was Elliott's fan club and his many friends in the northern part of Georgia that helped the Dawsonville, Ga., driver win by better than 9,000 votes.

Geoff Bodine, who led for most of the first three months of voting, finished third, only 103 votes back of Labonte.

Tim Richmond also received over 14,000 votes in the five-month campaign, finishing with 14,055.

Darrell Waltrip completed the top five with 5,397 votes.

Surprisingly, the fan clubs of the young drivers did the best job of gathering votes as neither Richard Petty nor Bobby Allison cracked the top five.

In previous voting by members of NASCAR, Allison had won the award in 1981-82-83 and Petty was named the Most Popular Driver from 1974-78. David Pearson won the award in 1979-80.

Rusty Wallace NASCAR Rookie of the Year

Rusty Wallace won the Champion Spark Plug Rookie of the Year title for 1984 on the NASCAR Winston Cup Grand National circuit.

Wallace, who became the first Missouri native to win the coveted title, was the third Champion Spark Plug Rookie candidate in the past four years to drive a Cliff Stewart car. The others were Geoff Bodine in 1982, and Morgan Shepherd, who finished second to Ron Bouchard of Fitchburg, Mass., in 1981.

Wallace finished with 263 points, well ahead of second place Phil Parsons (244). Greg Sacks was third with 216 points. The seven Champion Spark Plug Rookie of the Year candidates came from all forms of NASCAR racing: Wallace from the NASCAR Winston All-American Challenge Series; Parsons, Dwyer and Ellis from the Busch Late Model Sportsman series; Sacks and Heveron from the Winston Circle of Champions Modified series; and Combs from the Darlington Dash Series.

Champion Spark Plug Rookie of the Year points were based on each driver's best 15 finishes. Bonus points were awarded for standings in the Winston Cup points at various points during the season, as well as from a special Champion Spark Plug Rookie of the Year panel.

Wallace was highest Champion Spark Plug Rookie finisher in 15 of 80 Winston Cup events. Parsons was the highest finisher six times, while Sacks won the $500 per race award four times, Ellis three times, Dwyer twice and Doug Heveron once.

Elliott wins Busch Pole Award

After the tie-breaker system was used for the first time in Busch Pole Award history, Bill Elliott, driver of the Coors Ford, won the $25,000 Busch Pole Award for the 1984 NASCAR Winston Cup Grand National season.

Elliott, who won four Busch Pole Awards during the 1984 season, edged three other Winston Cup driver who also won four Busch poles, by virtue of his third-place finish in the final Winston Cup points standings. The tie-breaker has been in force since 1979, but never before has Busch Pole qualifying results been close enough to use it.

Darrell Waltrip fifth-place finisher in the final Winston Cup standings; Ricky Rudd seventh-place finisher and Cale Yarborough 22nd-place finisher each won four Busch Poles. Harry Gant had a chance to win it all by capturing the Busch Pole in the season-ending Winston Western 500 at Riverside (Calif.) because of his second-place standing in the Winston Cup points. Instead Terry Labonte took the pole.

Ironically, Elliott didn't win his first Busch Pole Award until the last race of the first half of the Winston Cup season, the Miller High Life 400 at Michigan International Speedway. He won the Like Cola 500 at Pocono (Pa.) the Champion Spark Plug 400 at Michigan, and the Atlanta Journal 500 at Atlanta, Ga.

Eleven different drivers won at least one Busch Pole Award during the season. Other included Northwestern Security Life Chevrolet driver Geoff Bodine (3), Benny Parsons (2), Labonte (2), Buddy Baker (1), Joe Ruttman (1), and David Pearson, who won his Busch Pole while driving Neil Bonnett's Budweiser Chevrolet.

Those 11, plus a wild-card entry which is Rusty Wallace are eligible for the Busch Clash '85 at Daytona.

Elliott received his $25,000 Busch Pole Award at the Friday nights banquet.

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

Editors Note: A more complete story on Mr. Yarborough will appear in next week's Raceweek.)
JACKSONVILLE — LeRoy Yarborough, a native of Jacksonville, Florida, died Fri. at University Hospital at 1:38 a.m. He suffered a seizure on Thursday, fell, hit his head and succumbed to bleeding on the brain. Yarborough, for the last four years had been in and out of hospitals and mental institutions. He was 46.
 The '70's were troubled years for LeRoy Yarborough. He suffered with alcohol and drug problems during this period as well as battling back from two massive race accidents. The first was at Texas International Speedway in 1970 followed by a massive wreck at Indianapolis in that 500 in 1971. In both he received severe head injuries. In addition to these problems, he nearly died during the '70's from Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever.

 He rose to stock car fame in 1969 when he drove for Junior Johnson. He emerged as king of the super speedways at the end of that year and was voted Driver of the Year by NASCAR for the same year. He won 14 career Grand National races and was known for his hard-charging, aggressive driving talents.
 Funeral services were Mon., Dec. 10, at Rivermead Funeral Home in Orange Park, outside of Jacksonville, Fl. He is survived by two children, LeRoy Glenn and Nicole, four sisters and a brother.

Wall Modifieds round-up for 1984

WALL TOWNSHIP — The high powered mighty modified division at Wall Stadium was without a doubt one of the most competitive in quite some time. Twelve different drivers tasted victory in 1984 and twenty different drivers finished in the top three spots throughout the season.

John Blewett Jr. kicked off the 1984 season with a very impressive win on April 21st capturing his twelfth career feature at the speedway. On April 28th, one of the strangest thirty-five lap features ever run at the speedway saw only four cars remaining at the end of the race. Tony Ferrante Jr. was the winner of the event recording his first ever career modified feature.

Defending and three time track champ Tony Siscoone made his first appearance of the 1984 season a rewarding one as he won the thirty-five lap feature. Glenn Cummins recorded his best finish ever taking second as Eddie Bohn was third. Doug Wolcott rode a super race on May 12th winning the regular nights feature as Tom Mauser closed out the month of May with a victory on the 19th.

The popular twin 35's returned to the Stadium on June 2nd. Robert Hendrickson won the first feature as five time track champ Gil Hearne took the second. Ironically, for Hendrickson it was his first career win at Wall but for Hearne it was his 74th.

Tony Siscoone became the first repeat winner on June 9th in the Barney Morri-feature in seven years on June 16th. Barney Truex dazzled the fans on June 23rd capturing the feature event and became the ninth different winner of the season.

On July 7th, it was Gil Hearne again the victor in the Durkin Racing #12 as Tony Siscoone came back to victory lane on July 14th. The prestigious Garden State Classic was presented on July 28th and Tony Siscoone took top honors in the 200 lap race. Jamie Tomaino finished second as Tom Mauser was third.

Jerry Cranmer won his first feature on August 11th winning the 50 lap Pocono Race of Champions qualifier. The twin 35's were brought back on August 18th and Tom Michel and Tony Siscoone were victorious.

Tony Hirschman brought the Frenchies Auto Body #6F in for the win on Aug. 25th as Tom McCann won on Sept. 1st. Enjoying victory so much, McCann made it two in a row on Sept. 8th.

Gil Hearne recorded wins three and four on Sept. 22nd and 29th. The Sept. 22nd show was the seventy lap Budweiser Crown Classic while on Sept. 29th it was the fifty-two lap Gamblers Race.

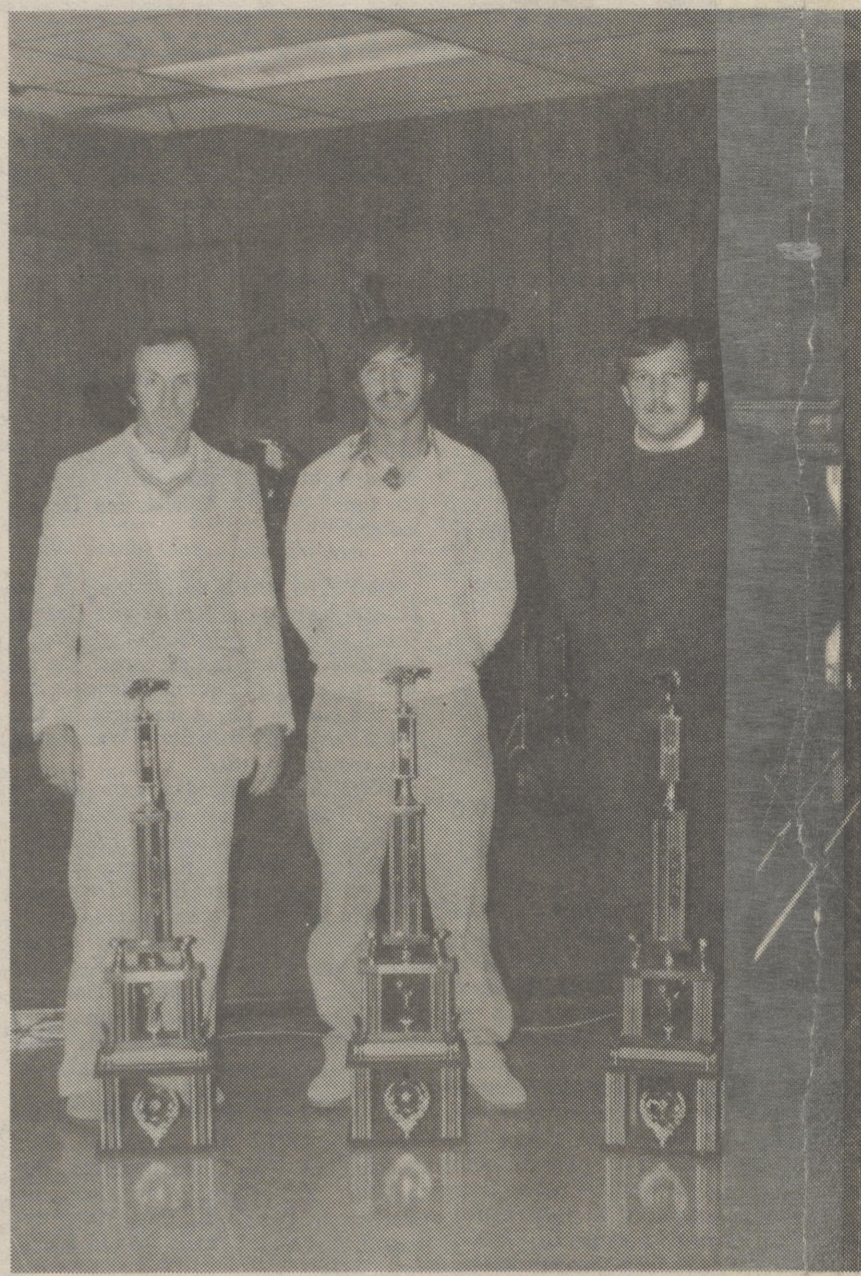

The annual Jack Hart Memorial Race went to Tom Mauser on Oct. 6th while Doug Wolcott won his second feature of the season on Oct. 13.

Tony Siscoone not only won his fifth feature on Oct. 20th, but recorded his fourth championship and his third in a row closing out the regular season. Just as he had done back in April, Blewett was victorious closing out the season winning the 150 lap Turkey Derby. Gil Hearne finished a very close second while Ray Evernham recorded a fine third place finish.

The 1985 season is less than four months away with opening night scheduled for Sat., April 6th.

The newly crowned Ms. Wall Stadium, Robbie Frank of Ocean Township, N.J. will reign over all of the 1985 events serving primarily as the trophy presenter.

Many new rule changes will be going into effect and one of the most significant to all campaigners will be the nine to one engine rule. The rule was added to reduce the cost of stock car racing at Wall Stadium, and make all competitors more equal within their division. A special bonus will be given to the top three finishers in each feature within each division having a nine to one engine. Further information on the new rules for 1985 will be passed along shortly.

Elliott voted most popular

Stock car racing fans have selected Bill Elliott as the Most Popular Driver on the NASCAR Winston Cup circuit for 1984. Elliott garnered 23,539 of the more than 82,000 votes cast, to win the popular vote by a wide margin. He will receive a check for $20,000 from Winston cigarettes.

Elliott's closest competitor was Terry Labonte, the 1984 NASCAR Winston Cup driving champion. Labonte got 14,460 votes.

This is the first year the balloting was open to the general public. During the previous 27 years of the Most Popular Driver Award, Only NASCAR members were eligible to vote. Elliott will be presented the $20,000 check at the annual National Motorsports Press Association (NMPA) convention in Charlotte, N.C., on Jan. 13.

It was Elliott's fan club and his many friends in the northern part of Georgia that helped the Dawsonville, Ga., driver win by better than 9,000 votes.

Geoff Bodine, who led for most of the first three months of voting, finished third, only 103 votes back of Labonte. Tim Richmond also received over 14,000 votes in the five-month campaign, finishing with 14,055.

Darrell Waltrip completed the top five with 5,397 votes. Surprisingly, the fan clubs of the young drivers did the best job of gathering votes as neither Richard Petty nor Bobby Allison cracked the top five.

In previous voting by members of NASCAR, Allison had won the award in 1981-82-83 and Petty was named the Most Popular Driver from 1974-78. David Pearson won the award in 1979-80.

Rusty Wallace NASCAR Rookie of the Year

Rusty Wallace won the Champion Spark Plug Rookie of the Year title for 1984 on the NASCAR Winston Cup Grand National circuit.

Wallace, who became the first Missouri native to win the coveted title, was the third Champion Spark Plug Rookie candidate in the past four years to drive a Cliff Stewart car. The others were Geoff Bodine in 1982, and Morgan Shepherd, who finished second to Ron Bouchard of Fitchburg, Mass., in 1981.

Wallace finished with 263 points, well ahead of second place Phil Parsons (244). Greg Sacks was third with 216 points. The seven Champion Spark Plug Rookie of the Year candidates came from all forms of NASCAR racing: Wallace from the NASCAR Winston All-American Challenge Series; Parsons, Dwyer and Ellis from the Busch Late Model Sportsman series; Sacks and Heveron from the Winston Circle of Champions Modified series; and Combs from the Darlington Dash Series.

Champion Spark Plug Rookie of the Year points were based on each driver's best 15 finishes. Bonus points were awarded for standings in the Winston Cup points at various points during the season, as well as from a special Champion Spark Plug Rookie of the Year panel.

Wallace was highest Champion Spark Plug Rookie finisher in 15 of 30 Winston Cup events. Parsons was the highest finisher six times, while Sacks won the $500 per race award four times, Ellis three times, Dwyer twice and Doug Heveron once.

Elliott wins Busch Pole Award

After the tie-breaker system was used for the first time in Busch Pole Award history, Bill Elliott, driver of the Coors Ford, won the $25,000 Busch Pole Award for the 1984 NASCAR Winston Cup Grand National season.

Elliott, who won four Busch Pole Awards during the 1984 season, edged three other Winston Cup drivers who also won four Busch poles, by virtue of his third-place finish in the final Winston Cup points standings. The tie-breaker has been in force since 1979, but never before has Busch Pole qualifying results been close enough to use it.

Darrell Waltrip fifth-place finisher in the final Winston Cup standings; Ricky Rudd seventh-place finisher and Cale Yarborough 22nd-place finisher each won four Busch Poles. Harry Gant had a chance to win it all by capturing the Busch Pole in the season-ending Winston Western 500 at Riverside (Calif.) because of his second-place standing in the Winston Cup points. Instead Terry Labonte took the pole.

Ironically, Elliott didn't win his first Busch Pole Award until the last race of the first half of the Winston Cup season, the Miller High Life 400 at Michigan International Speedway. He won the Like Cola 500 at Pocono (Pa.) the Champion Spark Plug 400 at Michigan, and the Atlanta Journal 500 at Atlanta, Ga.

Eleven different drivers won at least one Busch Pole Award during the season. Other included Northwestern Security Life Chevrolet driver Geoff Bodine (3), Benny Parsons (2), Labonte (2), Buddy Baker (1), Joe Ruttman (1), and David Pearson, who won his Busch Pole while driving Neil Bonnett's Budweiser Chevrolet.

Those 11, plus a wild-card entry which is Rusty Wallace are eligible for the Busch Clash of '85 at Daytona. Elliott received his $25,000 Busch Pole Award at the Friday nights banquet.

How to buy and care for a live Christmas tree

Living Christmas trees have much to offer. Enjoy them decked out with ornaments indoors over the holidays. Then plant them outside where they can serve over the years as pleasant reminders of this special season. Evergreens provide a special touch in the home landscape, and live Christmas trees usually transplant successfully, says Glen Layton, extension agent for Delaware State College.

"Since most trees suitable for this purpose eventually reach heights of 40 to 60 feet, when shopping for a living Christmas tree, consider where you'll plant it," he advises. "If you don't have the space in your own yard, consider donating the tree to a local community center, school, church or park. Be sure to give recipients advance notice of your decision so they can make plans for planting the tree after Christmas."

Here are some other tips from Layton on buying and caring for a living tree:

Selection—Shop early. Look for a tree which appears in good vigor, is nicely shaped and of manageable size. Large trees will be harder to handle and are more prone to transplant shock.

Care—Leave the tree outside until you're ready to decorate it. If possible, prepare the planting hole before Christmas, place the tree in the hole and cover the rootball with bark mulch until time to bring it inside.

While it's in the house, keep the rootball moist at all times. Layton suggests placing the tree in a large tub or wrapping the ball in plastic so that it can be watered without getting the floor wet.

He also advises using an anti-desiccant spray on the needles to reduce moisture loss and needle drop. These are available from garden centers and are easy to apply.

Keep the tree indoors no longer than seven to ten days—less than that if possible, especially if the house is fairly warm.

Planting—Weather permitting, plant the tree outdoors right after Christmas. If this isn't possible, keep it in a cool basement or garage until you can get it into the ground.

Set the tree at the same level at which it was growing before. Back fill the hole with topsoil mixed with peatmoss to give the tree a good start. Stake it for the first growing season to provide support until the roots become established. A generous layer of mulch will help keep the soil ball moist and reduce damage from hard freezes.

"With care and advanced planning," Layton says, "you can enjoy this lovely evergreen remembrance of Christmas past for many years to come."
