

Mary Jester honored in Quilt Book

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.
HARRINGTON. To a lot of people Mary Jester is known more for her "hair doing" than for her quilt making. "I've only been making the quilts and showing them at the Fair (Delaware State) for the past 15 years in the needlework division. Now I've always sewed and that sort of thing, but only in the past 15 years have I displayed the quilts. I've been doing hair for 61 years", said Mrs. Jester recently. Mrs. Jester was declared one of the 50 winners (one for each state) across the country and publicized in a book entitled "First Prize Quilts". "Can you believe that, 61 years," she exclaimed. "I can hardly believe it myself", she said. Mary Jester was 16 years old when she came to work in the Harrington Shirt factory. And at the same time about she began to fix and set hair. "My first customers were the women who worked right at the shirt factory," she said. "I would follow them home after work...and then go house to house setting hair," she said. Fifteen years ago she began exhibiting her needlework and quilts at the Delaware State Fair. She realized immediate success. And she began winning ribbons...all kinds of ribbons. In 1983 she won 38 blue ribbons and 27 red ones. She could have made the American flag...and called it the flag quilt. Instead she made a ribbon quilt. "I had so many ribbons...and I was really afraid that I would lose them. The ribbons meant a lot to me...and I did not want to lose them", she said. The ribbons represent hours upon hours of work for Mary Jester. Of course work is what she thrives on. At 77 she still puts in a 6:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. work day. "And when I sit down for just a few minutes...it is just natural for me to pick up a piece of my handwork...needlepoint and begin sewing. She gets up with her husband each morning at the same time - 6:00 a.m. to fix her husband's (Elwood) breakfast. While she waits for him to finish the milking, she will work on her sewing. On this particular quilt (The Ribbon Quilt) there are 169 ribbons. It is called an appliqued quilt. Since 1969 she has won over 700 ribbons, but of course all of those ribbons would not fit on this quilt. The ribbons are applied on the quilt top with machine-stitching. The top is then quilted to the batting and backing, following the design of the ribbons. Additional quilting designs are added between the ribbons. A blue binding is added to complete the quilt. Her one word of advice to beginning quilters is "...patience...". She uses any and all kinds of fabric for her quilts and both cotton and polyester batting, or whatever is available. Mary Jester is a national winner representing the State of Delaware, and we are all proud of her.

THE RIBBON QUILT of Mary Jester-ingenuity combined with years of skillful needlework have produced this prizewinning quilt...making clever use of prizewinning ribbons. The placement of the ribbons is exceptional for the overall effect. The color scheme and luster adds a dimension of richness to a beautiful quilt.

Jobs for Ag-graduates

"What would I do with a college education in agriculture?" is a question Arlene Miller answers every day. Assistant to the dean of the University of Delaware College of Agricultural Sciences, working primarily in the area of student recruitment. Her answer is simple: "You'd qualify for one of hundreds of career opportunities in the broad field of agriculture—opportunities that range from banking to research, from marketing to teaching, from farming to communications." Why does this happen? Because, says Miller, these graduates receive a quality education that prepares them for jobs in the nation's largest industry—agriculture. As America's largest business, agriculture is a very complex industry, depending on a tremendous variety of services and skills. The best way to acquire these skills, says Miller, is through an education that emphasizes biological, economic or engineering technology.

Carper Press Aide leaves

Washington — Congressman Tom Carper announced that Timothy Gay, his press secretary for the past two years, will be leaving to accept a similar post with Senator Jay Rockefeller (D-WV). Gay, a 1976 graduate of Georgetown University, is a six-year veteran of Capitol Hill. In 1981-82, he served as press secretary and speechwriter to Senator John Heinz of Pennsylvania. No replacement has been named for Mr. Gay. In the interim, all press inquiries should be directed to Congressman Carper's Administrative Assistant, Edward Freel.

Regional Board Meeting held by Southern States

"There will be some modest improvement in the agriculture economy in 1985 although the pace of recovery will not be as strong as we would like," says Ed Scharf, Director of Merchandising for Southern States Cooperative. "The past 4 years have been as tough on farmers and their cooperatives as any period since the Great Depression. Farm income has been low, land prices have fallen in many areas. Fortunately, due to our greater diversification and lower debt ratios, agriculture in our area of the country has not suffered as much as in other areas," Scharf reported to local farmers who attended a regional board meeting held by Southern States, Feb. 20 at Clayton, DE. "The biggest improvement will be in livestock incomes while improvement in crop income will be slow until exports increase," said Scharf. "Overall in 1985, we expect growth of our economy to be a respectable 3 to 4 percent. We expect inflation will remain around 4 to 5 percent. "The 1985 farm income is expected to be similar to that of 1984. Livestock farmers should do better in 1985 than in 1984 because costs should be lower because of lower feed prices and interest rates. Both cattle and hog prices should be somewhat stronger because of the reduced supplies and growing demands," Scharf said. Whereas wheat, corn, and soybean prices in 1985 will be about the same or lower than they were in 1984. The cooperative's total dollar volume for the first 6 months of the current fiscal year was $304,600,000 as compared to $301,800,000 for the same period last year. The total net savings before income taxes and equity income decreased $2,778,000 from last year. (Continued on page 2)

Ruth Messick

Delaware 4-H Volunteer selected for Salute to Excellence Honors

Ruth Ann Messick, Kent County volunteer 4-H leader, will represent Delaware in the third Salute to Excellence program at the National 4-H Center in Chevy Chase, Md., March 16-20. Messick (who lives in Greenwood) is one of 52 men and women from each state, Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia selected for the seven-day recognition and training program, which is designed to improve and expand 4-H, the youth education program of the Cooperative Extension Service. Salute to Excellence, which also includes incentive funds to implement volunteer action plans in each state, is supported by a grant to the National 4-H Council from R. J. Reynolds Industries, Inc., of Winston-Salem, N.C. A bookkeeper, Messick is the leader of the Peach Blossom 4-H Club in Harrington, Del. A 4-H volunteer for 20 years, she attended a national 4-H leader forum at the 4-H Center in 1976, and the Northeast Regional 4-H Volunteer Leader Forum in Columbia, Md., last year. Messick's involvement with 4-H began when her oldest daughter became interested in joining a local club. Messick organized a community 4-H club and subsequently initiated a paper drive which now collects more than 2,000 pounds a month. Her 4-Hers also collect funds for several charitable groups, such as the American Cancer Society and Multiple Sclerosis Society. Many of the club members have received top honors during county events, and her club has had 23 state 4-H award winners, six of whom received national scholarships and honors. "My home is always open to young people who rush in to show a prize, discuss a problem or just talk," Messick says. 4-H club work emphasizes the home, brings parents and children together and develops young people's abilities to cooperate with others. "I have a sign in my basement where our club meets," she adds. "It says, 'Joy is seeing a person grow in mind, body and emotions. Pride is knowing you helped.'" While she is in the nation's capital, Messick will attend briefings with top officials from the executive branch of government, a reception on Capitol Hill for members of Congress, workshop sessions and field trips to cultural and historic sites. Workshops will focus on communication skills, public affairs, interpersonal relationships, group dynamics, resource development, creative techniques for working with youth, and ways to broaden the roles of volunteers in 4-H. In addition, she will develop a plan of action to strengthen volunteerism for 4-H in Delaware. She will also bring home a $1,000 grant to implement the plan in cooperation with the state 4-H staff. Salute to Excellence is arranged by the National 4-H Council to support the 4-H youth program of the Cooperative Extension Service of the state land-grant universities and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. 4-H now involves nearly five million youth and more than 620,000 volunteer leaders.

State acquires Frederica tract

The state of Delaware has acquired a new nature preserve. The Burton-Derrickson Tract of the Murderkill River Nature Preserve, southwest of Frederica, became the sixth nature preserve in the state system. The tract was donated to the state's Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Control (DNREC) by Mary D. McCurdy of Rehoboth Beach, Del. Mrs. McCurdy said that this 72-acre wooded swamp had been in her family since her grandfather purchased it in 1879. "I think people should be aware of the importance of preserving our lands and the ecological importance of having nature preserves like this one," Mrs. McCurdy said. She added, "This area is a real breeding place for organic life and should be left in its natural state." Ron Vickers of DNREC's Office of Nature Preserves described the Burton-Derrickson Tract as one of the "wildest" places in Kent County. The area is only accessible by boat and it is probable that people have never set foot on most portions of the property. Vickers said, "This is a productive feeding area for wading birds and a nesting site for many songbirds. Besides being a fine example of an undisturbed river swamp, it is ideal for migratory bird habitats."

Biggs to star in Mattress

by Phillip Kensington
 Bambi Biggs will play the lead role of Princess Winnifred when Lake Forest presents the musical Once Upon a Mattress on the evenings of March 7, 8, and 9. When she does so, she will become only the third non-senior to play a lead in the six years that director Curtis Stickle has been directing the theatre there. "When last year's show was over, Bambi told me that she couldn't wait until she was a senior and have a shot at the lead," said Stickle. "She has now reached that goal in less than a year." The reasons for her success have been many. Her director points out that she is a natural performer, has confidence in her ability, works hard to perfect her portrayals, and has just plain fun acting. The part of Winnifred has been particularly fun. Her previous roles, Wendy Carey in The Uninvited and Bonnie in Anything Goes, were somewhat more sophisticated than Winnifred. fred. "Bonnie was fun-loving and sometimes did some goofy things, but Winnifred is clumsy, crude, and crazy," she says. "There was a lot of me in my earlier parts, but Winnifred is totally different than I am. That is what is so much fun about her."

Bambi enjoys the acting more than the singing and dancing. "To me, acting allows more freedom of interpretation. In songs you are pretty much restricted in what you do and when you do it. But acting gives you more of a free hand in deciding what your character will do."

Mr. Stickel is not surprised that acting is her favorite part of the musical. "Bambi is a natural. Rarely do I have to tell her anything about delivery or mannerisms. She will read a play and seem to know immediately how a character would speak and move. When she is onstage, she is absolutely convincing as whatever character she is portraying."

She does, however, still enjoy the singing. She says she has much fun performing her three solos. The number "Happily Ever After" is her favorite because she is on stage alone and gets to do quite a few antics. Antics are one reason she so much enjoys theatre. As she puts it, "I'm a ham."

Woodbridge Childfind

It's important to identify handicapped children early and to begin supportive, remedial services before a child's development and learning are seriously and sometimes permanently affected. Research has shown that early intervention can help children reach their potential and can often reduce the need for long term help.

The Woodbridge School District offers a preschool program for children who have developmental delays that require remedial help. If you have a child that will be 4 on or before January 1, 1986, who developmentally seems to lag behind other children of comparable age, please call 337-8296 for screening information.

Time to face up to tough budget cuts

Senator Roth said that freezing federal spending will not be enough to effectively reduce the federal deficit and proposed several major areas where Congress should make reductions in the growth of the federal budget, while delivering a speech before the Wilmington Kiwanis Club.

"We must do what I call 'freeze and reform'." "We must freeze all cost of living adjustments for one year—military and civilian pay and retirement, social security, welfare, the works.

"Reform is necessary to achieve long-term savings and to allow us to phase in changes in programs," he said.

The remainder of Roth's deficit reduction plan includes:
* Changes in the Medicare program requiring beneficiaries to pay a small portion of daily hospitalization in return for increased coverage for catastrophic illness.

* A freeze on all cost of living adjustments (COLA's), including pay raises for federal civilian workers, active duty military personnel, retired civilian and military and social security.

* A reduction in grants to states and local governments.
* Implementation of the recommendations of the President's Private Sector Survey on Cost Control in the Federal Government (Grace Commission).
* The phaseout of agriculture subsidies over a period of years.
* Reduction of the size of the federal government's workforce.

National TV Special to support Woodbridge Vocational Agriculture/FFA Program

BRIDGEVILLE, DE - A nationally syndicated half-hour television program entitled "Agriculture's Next Generation: A CONFLICT OF INTEREST" is set to be broadcast Sunday, March 3, 1985 at 6:00 p.m. on television station WBOC. The National FFA Organization has commissioned this program, which will be narrated by Eddie Albert and will be aired on over 120 television stations nationwide.

Robert Tull, Woodbridge FFA Chapter President said of the special program, "It will focus on the need for more young people to enter agriculture - to assure the industry of maintaining its global 'number one' status."

The show will bring this problem to the attention of the American public and illustrate the high technological nature of modern agriculture - an industry that employs 22 percent of the nation's working population.

As Senator Robert Dole (R. Kan.) says in one segment of the program: "If you don't ever get hungry, don't be concerned about agriculture, but I'd say most of us get hungry in the course of a day so all of us should be aware of what's happening in agriculture."

The Dupont Company, Monsanto, Yamaha and Ford Tractor are sharing sponsorship of the program.

She and Butler were married almost immediately and she took the name Annie Oakley as they began a 10-year tour as partners. She spent another 17 years touring the United States and Europe with Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show, entertaining royalty with tricks like shooting a cigarette from Kaiser Wilhelm's mouth.

Injuries from a train crash and, later, an automobile accident slowed her down, but she was still giving trapshooting demonstrations in her 50's. Phoebe Ann Moses died at age 65, but the legend of Annie Oakley lives on, nourished by the endearing lyrics and the enduring music of Irving Berlin.

Mellon Bank

A neighbor you can count on

Of course, a Mellon IRA can save you money on your 1984 taxes, but it gives you a lot more than just a tax deferral. Whether you're opening an IRA for the first time or transferring an IRA to Mellon, you'll get more.

Low minimum deposit. You don't need $2,000 to open an IRA. You can start your Mellon IRA with an amount as low as $100. Then you can deposit any amount at any time up to the legal maximum. $2,000 is the maximum per working individual permitted by the IRS. But, of course, you don't have to save $2,000 in a year.

More security. Every Mellon IRA is insured by the FDIC unlike insurance company and broker IRA programs.

Investment options. With a Mellon IRA, you can choose from two different kinds of investments: fixed rate investments which guarantee a specific rate for a specific term or our variable rate option where the rate is reset every 91 days.

No management fees. Unlike some other IRA's, a Mellon IRA carries no service charge.

Extra convenience. Making your IRA contribution is easy and convenient! You can make deposits through Mellon Bank-by-Phone®, payroll deduction plans, direct deposit, and your Mellon community office. You can also call Mellon's Rateline for our current interest rates, (302) 429-4980.

If your IRA is elsewhere, it may not be doing you the most good. Switching your IRA to Mellon is as easy as visiting your nearest Mellon Bank.

Maximum contribution for working couples is $4,000 a year. Maximum contribution is $2,250 if you're married and your spouse is not working (some limitations apply). Early withdrawals subject to substantial penalties and to IRS regulations.

Gab Fest by Pat Hatfield

This morning I opened a copy of the Old Farmer's Almanac for the year 1872 and looked up February in that far-off year. In that year February had 29 days. Much to my surprise there was a little poem by Alice Cary, who wrote the poem, "November" which we have had up for discussion. The stanza quoted is this: "Among the pitfalls in our day, the best of us walk blindly; So, man, be wary, watch and pray, and judge your brother kindly." "Or, better still," I said to Alice-not judge at all." We are cautioned not to be judgmental. The longer I live, the more I believe that we must not be concerned with judging, but with caring and loving.

Occasionally, we are rewarded for the caring. We do have, once in a while, a moment of complete and utter happiness. I awoke to such a moment this very morning. When I opened my eyes, I said, as usual, "Thank you, Lord, for letting me have another day." My own little world seemed so good...I was warm and comfortable, there was food in my house, and I knew more was available at the family restaurant, the Town and Country, my knees did not hurt so much today; I had received a marvelous fan letter from dear friends in Laurel, and another from a dear lady in Seaford whom I do not even know! My grandson, Teddy, was home with us for a few precious hours on leave from the service, and my own little world was full of happiness.

In reality, of course, this cannot last. Longfellow was so right when he wrote in his poem, "A Rainy Day", these words, "Thy fate is the common fate of all; Into each life some rain must fall; Some days must be dark and dreary." And then the things that are hurting me now came flooding in...the dear friend who is struggling to retain her eyesight; the dear friend, who just the other day lost her young husband in death; the sweet granddaughter who is upset because she lost her wallet; the precious grandson who must soon leave us for a bit to serve his duty in Korea; the wonderful sister who is handicapped with a breathing problem; the fine, next-door neighbor who is so ill and does not seem to improve; a dear friend who is desperately trying to maintain a good lifestyle under much stress...

No, I cannot use my time to be utterly happy...not while so many whom I love so dearly are hurting so much. My constant prayer is that I may be used to make their road a little easier.

Here's a bit of advice from the Almanac for February 1876. The editor says: "There is time to spare now and it must not be lost; have some plan to save it all. It will not do to sit around and spend life in dreams; they do no good; they do not make the pot boil, and they do not store the mind with right thoughts, high aims, or noble purposes."

We can see by this ancient writer that he was a practical man. I believe in being practical, but I believe in dreams, too, and the Divine urge within us to make them come true. Shakespeare said: "More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of."

Greenwood by Pat Hatfield 349-4255

On Ash Wednesday the Greenwood United Methodist Charge were honored by having as their guest speaker, the Rev. Dr. Paul Wragg, former pastor. At the close of the service he administered the placing of the ashes on the forehead, giving a prayer for the Lenten Season. Mrs. Wragg and his teenage daughters, Vicki and Lisa accompanied him on the trip and everyone enjoyed visiting with this popular family.

Recent delightful guests of the Gary Bollingers and the Jacob Hatfields were Mrs. William Bollinger and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Carol Bollinger, and Carol's mother, Mrs. Mary Wagner, all of Lewisberg, Pa. They all enjoyed family meals together at the restaurant, The Town and Country, and the ladies enjoyed shopping trips to the local stores.

Center was closed Monday in observance of George Washington and Lincoln Birthdays. So here is an article that relates to Black History month and George Washington. Charles Blockson, author and historian, said he found his ancestors back to 1600. He told the history of the young black statue you used to see in lots of yards all over the U.S.A. Blockson writes - George Washington stopped at an Inn, there was no place to hitch his horse or place to keep it, so the son of the Inn Keeper offered to attend the horse, the boy's name was "Joeko". He held the horse all night and froze to death. George Washington was hurt heart-wisely but his devotion was so remarkable that George Washington ordered a statue made in the young man's honor. Very soon the statues were honorably placed in the front lawns of people across the country. Now that the history of the young man is out, the statue is making its appearance once again. Some have painted the features white, but in his honor he should be black.

Charles Fuller, playwright and author of "Soldier's Play" says "Have a pride." Eubie Blake - musical instructor of renown.

Jolly Timers were just that - Jolly. They are a great lot of folk under the direction of Sylvia Meredith. Virginia Smith and Gladys Hill sang a duet - "The Old Rugged Cross". It was really nice. It is one of my favorite hymns, that and "Love Lifted Me". Others participating and doing a delightful job was Annabel Mourour, Mary Dobraski, Lillie McBride, Ella Golt, Bertha Dean, Charles Sharp, Amy Poynter, Oia Tilden, Marion Broom, Elwood Morris, Mildred Vincent, Mammie Adams, Margaret Nicholas and Lola O'Day.

Senior Sounds Wed. morning. A variety of folk songs, several hymns, gave a joyous atmosphere to the Center. The sun was shining brightly, lots of folk had gone to see "Sugar Babies", but on the home front these happy people - Cecil and Sylvia, Virginia, Charlie Sharp, Dorothy Holliday, Mamie, Gladys, Katherine Stevens, Ola, Amy, Keith and Margaret, Etzel, Frances Wright, Mary Sapp and Thelma Legates - kept the home fire burning for the rest of those at the Center.

Well it was Card Day for me as the hostess, well honey, it was me also. My only decoration was my flowers from Valentines Day from daughter Penny and grandchildren Todd, Troy and Penny Sue. Had to have to substitute and was fortunate enough to get two of our "old partners" Marie and Hazel. (I do not mean that literally for in reality they are much younger than I.) Anyway, everyone was so-so happy to see them. We chatted and caught up on a little bit of history of our kids etc. For instance, Marie and Franklin Currey's son has bought "Stones Restaurant and Hotel. All of our kids are grown and most of them married as well as some of our grandchildren - time flies. We have lost some members of our card club - some husbands, thru it all we have remained staunch friends. So, while we were wishing Mark and Virginia a grand day - evening trip to see Sugar Babies - I get a call telling all of us that Virginia was in the hospital.

We had just remarked for the third or fourth time what a perfectly beautiful day for the bus trip to the playhouse when we got the news. We were in the last hand. So sorry Ginny - hope you are feeling so much better! Take Care! Mary E. Nelson was high scorer (again). Honestly Earl, I try so desperately to beat her! Kathryn Smith was second. Dessert was a okay, nothing really spectacular but easy to serve and it had never been served (an ice cream cake). My substitutes were Hazel Davis, Marie Curry and the rest of them were Hazel Langrell, Kathryn Smith, Mary E. Nelson, Ethel Rapp, Mildred Wagner and of course me! Ruth and Virginia were the ones missing. Meet next time at Hazel Langrells.

Arts and Crafts have a very special surprise for all Cabbage Patch doll

Sports

Sports Round-up

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

It began on a good note and ended on a real sour one as the girls B'Ball team whopped Smyrna 53-41 on Tuesday night.

Carolyn Browne led all scorers with 12 points followed by Elisabeth Senter and Andrea Mollohan with 10 points each. Teresa Taylor added nine for the winning Spartans. Steady ball handling by Karen Sipple again spelled the difference in getting the ball up court to the offense.

The team went on the road Thursday night against Indian River and whipped up on their Sussex County foes and the home team 58-37. The Spartans may have been looking to their game on Saturday against Sussex Central and were really up for the game. They blew them away. Carolyn Browne again led all scorers with 16 points. The Spartans again received steady play from Karen Sipple, Teresa Taylor, Elisabeth Senter, and Sylvia Hicks who scored 8 points each.

Again the big girls came through. In the Conference Championship against Sussex Central, the Spartans were not up on their best game. Sussex Central never dominated, but LF could never get the momentum that would blow them past Central. Once in the 1st half, the Spartans led by two points, and for a fleeting moment, it looked like the Spartans would open the game up. It never came about. The great 1985 team had played its best game earlier. The team that had literally ripped Central two weeks before never got the big machine rolling.

The big guns — the big girls missed "...cherry shots" under the basket. Shots that fell so easily all season just would not fall Saturday night. Carolyn Browne slipped to a game low of 6 points. Sipple, Taylor and Andrea Mollohan each bagged 6 points, but they were hard coming.

The girls were tough on the foul line going 8 for 8. Elisabeth Senter sank two crucial foul shots with less than a minute left signaled to all that the Spartans were still in it.

They might have pulled it out had it not been for bad luck again which spelled missed lay ups, passes off the mark, and a last shot by one who has been on the mark all season...missed by a whisker.

"It just wasn't to be...I guess", said a very depressed Coach Dyal. "We had a game plan. We never got to the point from the start of putting it into play", said assistant coach and highly successful 1985 JV coach...Andy Anderson. "No one picked...and no one screened properly like they had all season. People were not where they were supposed to be", said Dyal. "For instance the first shot of the game was to be taken by Andrea (Mollohan)...but everyone missed their assignment right off the bat and we never got on track", added Dyal. "It just wasn't our night", said Dyal.

"There will be those I suppose who will blame me for not calling a time out with about a minute and half to two minutes left", said Dyal. "But I didn't because Carolyn (Browne) looked like she might go on a tear...and a time out would give them a chance to set up against her", said Dyal.

"I acted in the best interest of my team at the time...and don't forget we were not out of it until the very end", added Dyal.

Had a tenth of the shots that went askew...just one tenth of those shots that time and time again hit the rim...and bounced up and almost down through the basket...as well as those that rimmed the basket...but just would not fall through the basket...the game would have and should have belonged to the Lake Forest Spartans. They now have a score to settle in the State Tournament which begins tonight (Wednesday) with LF girls playing at 8:00 p.m. at Milford.

The Smyrna Eagles rolled into LF High School last Tuesday night for a shoot out in which Smyrna did most of the shooting...and most of the hitting. They won 69-34. The win gave Smyrna an assurance for at least a tie for the Southern Conference Championship. They beat Woodbridge 64-49 on Tuesday for the Championship of the Southern Division of the Henlopen Conference.

In the Smyrna game, Chandler got 2, as did Warren, with Hill getting 4, and sure handed Hicks getting 8, but it was sharp shooting Chuck Bell who pulled a high of 11.

On Thursday the Spartans eeked out a 48-45 win over Indian River. IR led the Spartans 27-24 at the half but the Spartans came back in the 2nd half to outscore the home team 24-18. Chandler gets hot scores 12 points and Chuck Bell again hit double figures scoring 10 points with a free throw to go up 3 points with 8 seconds left.

The odyssey of All-American fullback Gene Lake appears near an end with word last week that the 26 year-old Milford, Delaware native has been ruled eligible for the April 30 National Football League draft.

Picked in January in the second round by the New Jersey Generals of the USFL, Lake watched in dismay as that decision was nullified two weeks later by the league because he had not filed for hardship status as required of undergraduates.

Subsequently he applied to both leagues for a hardship ruling, which was quickly granted by the fledgling USFL in time for his selection in a secret supplemental draft by the Baltimore Stars. In mid-February came news of his hardship status acceptance by the NFL, with two teams apparently already interested in the leading Division I-AA rusher.

"It's really a relief to me, I feel like all my worrying is over now," said Lake. With his expressed interest in the senior NFL, Lake now awaits the league's April 30 draft.

Delaware State returned from the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference Winter Championships in North Carolina with one title and two second place finishes, highlighted by the repeat win for the women's track team.

DelState Olympian Sophia Hunter and track coach Fred Sowerby also nailed down individual honors with Hunter selected Outstanding Performer and Sowerby named Outstanding Coach.

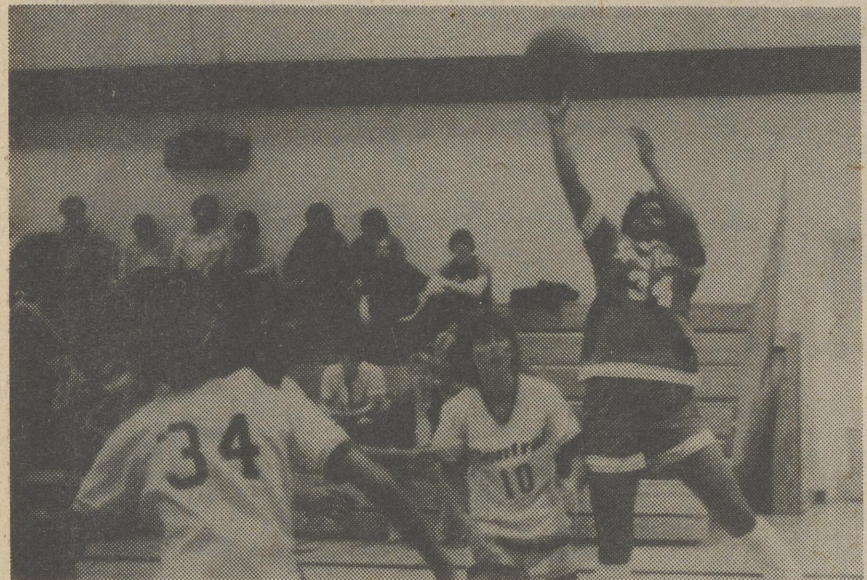

In men's track the Hornets parlayed solid performances across the board with a sweep in the two mile run to finish in second place behind Howard University. DelState also wound up second in the MEAC in the Wrestling Championships behind Morgan State.

For the women's track team, Hunter set new MEAC standards at 440 yards and the 60 yard hurdles. Hornet cross-country standout Tanya Bynes won the 1,000 yard run and two mile run in record times, then added another win in the mile run. Other individual champions for DelState included; Gale Gleaves (shot put, 44'3", MEAC record) and Jacqueline Carmichael (high jump, 5'6"). DelState finished with 147 points for their second conference title in a row, ahead of South Carolina State and Howard University.

For the men a clean sweep of the first three places in the two mile run and individual wins by Rickey Meekins in the mile run (4:26.7, MEAC record) and Leroy Dixon in the 1,000 yard run (2:19.6, MEAC record) helped the Hornets to a second place finish. In the two mile run, MEAC Cross-Country Champion Caiphus Vilakazi set a new conference mark for DelState at 9:44. Teammates Rickey Meekins and Ronald Richards took second and third in the same event.

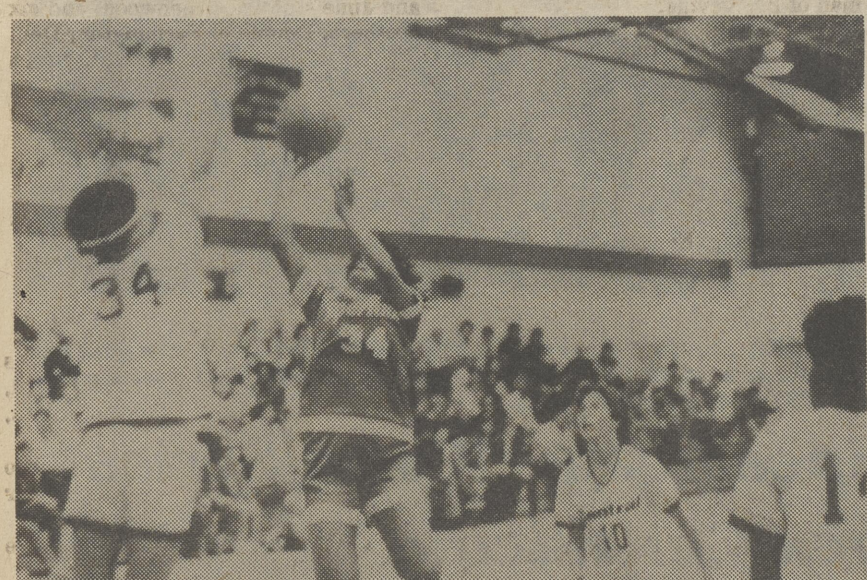

Morgan State, in their first year in the MEAC, won nine of ten finals in wrestling to take the conference crown from DelState. The Hornets placed 6 wrestlers in the finals but failed to win any of the six matches.

Outten, Gygrynk, Fleming and Mosley get wins in State Wrestling Tournament

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

DELAWARE STATE COLLEGE — The Lake Forest Varsity wrestling team had what most are calling a good season. From the results of the State tournament held this past weekend at Del State, it looks like next year might be the year for the Spartans.

It was the steady as you go approach that almost led Kenny Outten to the State finals. Instead Kenny was in the finals for the consolation crown in the 119 lb. class. He lost in that match to John Fraimer of Delcastle (3-1). "I reached for the head...thinking I could get it (head) when in fact I should have made sure I was going to grab his head. I missed and it cost me the match", said Kenny Outten.

In the earlier rounds Outten beat Wayne La Marche (I-1) of Sallies 3-1. In the Quarter Finals he beat Chris Stoekel (H-4) of Sussex Central 4-0. He lost his first match to Randy Brown (H-1) of Laurel 6-2. He then moved to the consolation side to wrestle in the semi final consolation round and beat James Weston (H-2) of Woodbridge 7-0. He finished fourth in the tournament in the 119 lb. class.

Derek Dill (H-6) who wrestled tough all season (he moved up two classes from last year...but was light for his class) lost the first round to Mario Durso (I-1) of Salesianum by a pin in 1:18. He lost in the consolation round to Robert Feliciano of CR 8-6.

In the 145 lb. class, Mike Gygrynk (H-6) was hampered all season with a bad knee. He had had an operation, and it was catch for him most of the season. He always made a good showing...

however. He lost the opening round to Ray Nabb (B-1) of Newark the defending champ in this class. The score 19-5. Mike beat Scott Cole (I4) of St. Eliz 18-0. He then lost to James Duffy (B-3) of AI 11-0.

In the 155 lb. class Mark Wilson (H-6) lost the opening round to Brandon Little (I-1) with a pin in 5:09. In the first round of the consolation matches, Wilson lost to Chuck Vicker (H-3) of Seaford.

Scott Fleming carried the LF colors high in the tournament after an opening round loss to Harry Goliszek (B-4) of Delcastle with a pin at 5:19. The match was very close up until the time of the pin. Again a reaching for head...a miss and it cost Scotty the match. Look out next year for young Mr. Fleming. In the first round of the consolation match Fleming beat Mike Seeling (I-2) of Salesianum 2-1, he then beat Graham Houghton (I-4) of St. Anthony's with a pin in 1:58. Fleming lost in the quarter final consolation to Ray McAlonan (I-1).

In the heavyweight class Kermit Mosley (H-4) lost to John Gordy (I-3) of St. Anthony's with a pin in 5:34. Mosley then beat Dean Smiley (H-5) with a pin in 2:06. Kermit lost in the 2nd consolation round to Bucky Lloyd of William Penn 6-3.

Wrestling clinics and matches will continue now on through the summer. It is expected that our wrestlers will participate in these tournaments. If they do, they will have a team which must be reckoned with for next season.

Stargell Lobell wins leg of "New Faces" series

by Joe Asher

Stargell Lobell, raised in Harrington in the Delbert Manges Stable, won a division of the first leg of the New Faces Series at The Meadowlands last Thursday with an impressive 1:56 effort.

The 3-year-old Nero colt, owned by Sid and Lenore Alpert of Silver Spring, Maryland, took the lead shortly after the :28 3/5 opening quarter and passed the half in :57.1 and the three quarter pole in 1:26 3/5 while never being seriously threatened to better his lifetime mark by over three seconds.

Vince Copeland was in the sulky for Stargell Lobell's first win in three 1985 starts. The winner's share of the $15,000 purse raised his career earnings to about $40,000.

Stargell Lobell was given his early lessons by Del Manges and was driven to victory in a Pennsylvania Sires Stakes as well as three other triumphs by Brian Manges last year. He was transferred to the Leroy Copeland Stable last month in preparation for the New Faces Series.

"Delbert is largely responsible for Stargell's success," said Sid Alpert. "He's a great trainer and he developed the horse into what he is. I really appreciate his dedication and his working with the Copelands. It shows his true class."

While in the Manges Stable, Stargell Lobell was cared for by Jimmy Webb. Jimmy always took excellent care of Stargell and I know he had a tremendous influence on the horse," said Alpert.

Stargell Lobell will race in the second leg of the New Faces Series tomorrow (February 28). His victory in the first leg makes him a probable starter in the $157,000 final scheduled for March 21. In previous years, many outstanding horses have competed in the New Faces Series including Cam Fella, one of the greatest horses in harness racing history.

by Harry G. Farrow Jr.

Rosecroft Raceway, the harness racetrack located in Oxon Hill, Md., had a total economic impact of $41,000,000 on the State of Maryland in 1983, according to a recent study. Rosecroft directly contributed $3,429,564, or 61 1/2% of all wagering taxes and license fees paid to Maryland by the state's three harness tracks, and 14 1/2% of the total paid by all tracks, thoroughbred or harness.

New Smyrna Speedway - World Series of Asphalt Stock Car Racing

New Smyrna Beach, Fla. (Feb. 16) — Jim Spencer won the 50-lap modified feature on the final night of the World Series on Saturday night at New Smyrna Speedway. The win was just what Spencer needed to grab the Series overall championship by the slim margin of eight points over Series defending champion Richie Evans. Spencer's Hutter-powered Troyer Cavalier was the class of the field and performed to perfection, as lap after lap, Jimmy held off the challenges of second place finisher Richie Evans. During the hot lap session, just before the main, Jeff Fuller, in Evans' back-up machine, made contact with Bill Kimel, forcing both cars out of the event. Misfortune also struck on lap ten, as Doug Hewitt, who enjoyed a 16-point lead going into the event, lost a right front tire which was hit by Dick Trickle. Both cars were severely damaged. Finishing third was Reggie Ruggiero. Once again, Reggie was the only car to pit and change three tires without losing a lap. Fourth was Tom Baldwin in Doug Hewitt's back up car. Moose Hewitt finished a strong fifth. Butch Miller scored a wire to wire win in the 50-lap late model feature. As for Dick Trickle, he had problems and could not do better than seventh at the finish. But that position was good enough for him to successfully defend his World Series late model title. Back to the feature, local hot shoe David Rogers was second, followed by Joe Shear, Jack Cook and young Steve Grissom. Thundercar feature winners were Mike Todd and talented 19-year old driver Stan Eads who dominated the Series with seven wins out of eight starts in the beautiful Humphreys and Watts, Jack Tant-powered machine. Final point standings: 1. Dick Trickle, 1,606; 2. Butch Miller, 1,558; 3. Joe Shear, 1,542; 4. Jim Spencer, 1,582; 5. Richie Evans, 1,574; 6. Doug Hewitt, 1,566; 7. Stan Eads, 1,822; 8. Kenny Copley, 1,503; 9. Fran Colson, 1,472.
