

New community planned near Frederica

by Merritt Jones

Prestigious, peaceful and pastoral are the words that can be used to describe the Mobile home community the father and son team of the Tunnell Company of Millsboro plans to develop on a 450 acre tract of land east of US 113. The land, locally known as the Grey Farm, is owned by Jester Grey, a former state legislator.

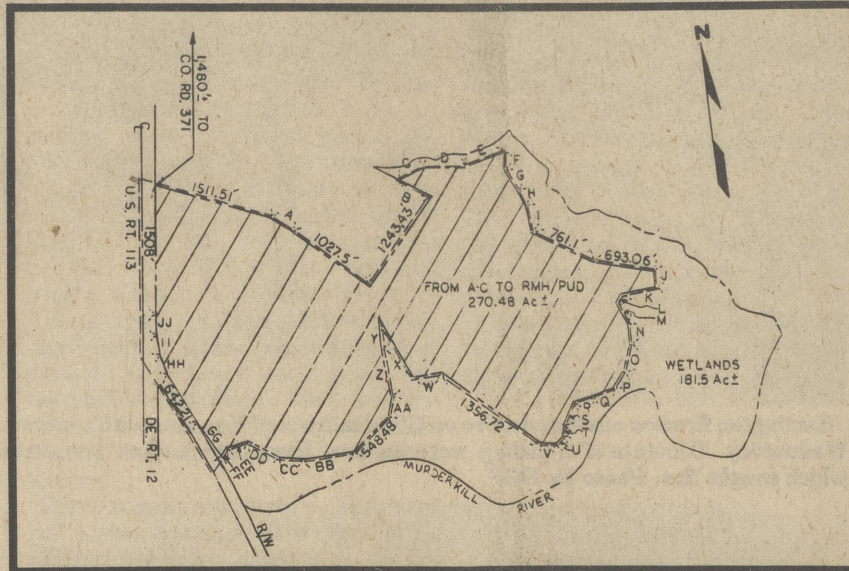

The community will be the first real estate development for the Tunnell's in Kent County. The company has successfully developed three mobile home communities in Sussex County -- Pots Nets, Indian Landing and Fisherman's Park.

The Kent County mobile home community will be named Riverbend. The project will take 10 to 15 years to reach its ultimate potential and is expected to cost between 8 and 10 million dollars to complete. If the project proceeds as planned the first residents should be moving in to the community in the autumn of 1986.

The mobile home community will consist of 1,150 homes strategically and tastefully placed on 270 acres of the tract, leaving 181 acres of wetlands. Mobile homes will be required to pass a rigid inspection before being accepted into the community. 4.25 homes will be placed on each acre. Lots will measure 35 feet by 95 feet and will feature a split rail fence, trees, and shrubbery. The area will have primary roads which branch off into secondary roads and then into private lanes. There will ultimately be nine miles of roadway in the community. "Main Street" will be 100 feet wide, all other streets will be 50 feet wide. There will be two entrances into the community.

The Tunnell Company will devote 50 acres of the developable land to recreational pursuits (only 10% acres are required by law.) There will be two swimming pools, six tennis courts, a playground, a marina, and a community center. There will be walking paths through the entire community. Floating docks will be placed along the waterways. Catwalks

This is a scaled down version of the new residential development called Riverbend adjacent to Barret's Chapel. The Kent County Regional Planning Commission will meet on Thursday, July 11 at 8:00 p.m. to review the plan for development to see if it meets the zoning and planning requirements for the County. The Levy Court will hear the matter later on July 23 for final approval.

will meander through the marshes. Gazebos and picnic areas will provide for quite solitary and family respites. Five man made lakes will dot the property and a passive recreation area will be in a secluded wooded area. The Tunnells expect to keep the land as natural as possible. They envision a community designed for pleasant living for both the old and the young. They wish to provide comfortable, pleasant homes for people who appreciate a quiet lifestyle in a beautiful environment.

Heaven areas and will also provide a broader tax base for the area. The local school district can expect a 10% increase in taxes. School enrollment is expected to increase by 185 students. It is expected that 75% of the residents will be families with school aged children. Robert Tunnell, Jr. says the company is committed to provide a clean, comfortable, prestigious, family-oriented community for its residents.

To ensure the quality of life they are proposing, the Tunnells will construct an earth berm beautifully landscaped. The berm will act as a buffer from the highway noise and will also shield the traffic from the homes. Basically, all the traffic on US 113 will see is a beautifully landscaped tract.

Riverbend is designed as an area that is noncommercial. It will be bringing money into the Frederica and Little

The Riverbend community was designed for the Tunnells by Donald C. Westphal of Vochester, Michigan. Westphal specializes in designing mobile home communities and has designed 250 similar communities prior to this one.

The Tunnells will be presenting the Riverbend design on July 11 to the Kent County Regional Planning Commission and to Levy Court on July 23.

by George Velenik

Beginning with property and capitation taxes the City of Harrington will initiate computer billing.

Real estate and capitation tax bills will be sent out on the new computer bill the last of this week.

The new bills will be in a snap out envelope. It will contain both real estate tax and capitation tax or only either real estate or capitation as appropriate.

The real estate portion also contains the property number, the assessed valuation of the property. The tax rate and the current taxes due, as well as the date when taxes are past due.

This bill will not have delinquent taxes listed on it as a separate delinquent tax notice will be sent separately.

Property owners will also receive a computer bill for trash, water and sewer.

It is anticipated that there may be some questions regarding the new billing and residents are encouraged to call the City Office, 398-3530, with any questions or problems.

Kent County to get tax raise

by Cathy Hickman

Commissioners of the Kent County Levy Court unanimously voted to raise the property tax rate from 31 to 6 cents. The raise of 15 cents per $100 assessed value is an increase of more than 48%.

To the average county home owner the increase will mean $15 and $20 more. The increase supported a $5.9 million general fund budget. The 1986 fiscal budget allows for the loss of federal revenue-sharing funds. It acknowledges funds for capital programs such as the first stage of a county wide property reassessment, a new 911 emergency console, computers and software, and a county comprehensive plan for land use. The budget also recognizes a pay increase for all county employees.

The tax increase is the first in the county in 12 years.

The capitalization tax remains at $1.25 for every resident over 18 years of age.

1985 Environmental Awards

Commendations of recognition for preserving the quality of Delaware's environment were presented to Curtis Paper Mill, Curtis Division, James River Corporation, of Newark, and Deerfield Farms, Inc., of Love Creek, at ceremonies held in the Governor's Dover office. The sixth annual Environmental Achievement awards, determined by the Governor's Advisory Council on Environmental Control, were presented by Governor Castle. The recipients were selected for their outstanding achievements and efforts to conserve valuable natural resources in Delaware.

Deerfield Farms, a corn, soybean and poultry farm owned and operated by R. Roland Hill, Sr. and his son, R. Roland Hill, Jr., was commended for numerous improved management practices.

Curtis Paper Mill was selected because of the company's conscientious efforts in conserving water and reducing pollution to the White Clay Creek. The company manufactures text and cover printing papers resulting in colored wastewater being produced whenever colored paper is made.

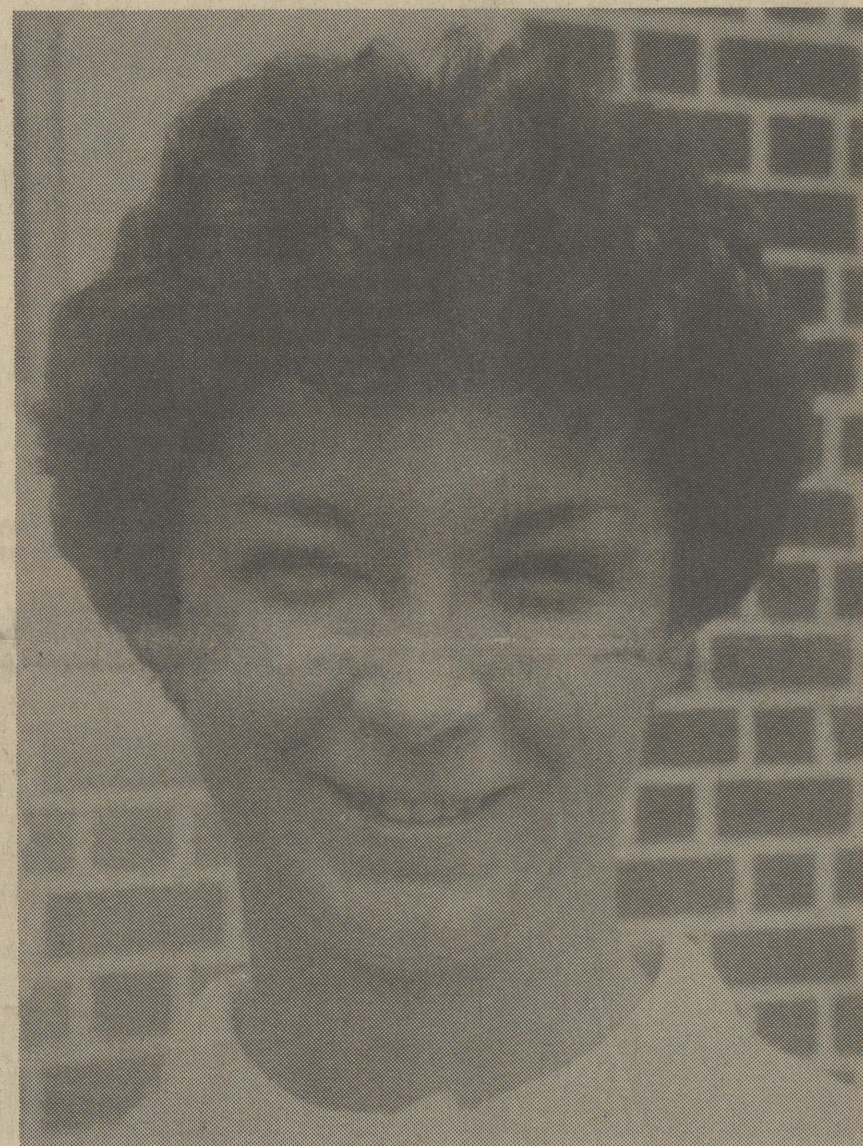

As in each previous year, the Advisory Council on Environmental Control acknowledges the time, money, labors and efforts by the recipients to achieve a cleaner and more productive environment in Delaware.

27-year-old pleads guilty to sodomy

by Cathy Hickman

Michael John Gerrick, of Elizabethtown, PA, and Harrington, pleaded guilty to two counts of second-degree sodomy on a 13-year-old Dover boy.

Gerrick, 27, was indicted in April, 1984 on seven counts of first-degree sodomy, all with the same victim. He recently finished serving a prison term for similar offenses in Lancaster County Jail.

He allegedly sodomized the boy repeatedly during the summer of 1983.

Gerrick met the boy in a Harrington arcade, which he owned. On March 1, 1984, police arrested him after finding pictures of the boy naked in the arcade. The arcade was shut down shortly afterwards.

Gerrick moved to Delaware from Pennsylvania in 1982. In 1983, he was placed on 5 years probation for 5 counts of involuntary deviant sexual intercourse and corrupting the morals of a minor.

In exchange for the guilty plea, Deputy Attorney General, M. Jane Brady agreed to drop the remaining five counts.

Education Grants awarded to local teacher

by Merritt Jones

Eight major educational grants have been authorized by the General Assembly to Delaware teachers as incentive to extend their teaching skills in the fields of secondary math and science. The authorization of these grants came about after a committee chaired by David Burton of Milford, confirmed last year the need for qualified teachers in secondary math, chemistry, physics, and physical science. The committee wanted to encourage teachers to go back to school and pick up courses as opposed to training new people for these teaching fields because of the urgent need in these fields. The committee chose the best of the teachers who applied for the grants. All of the recipients, with the exception of one, have had at least 10 years teaching experience. The school districts confirmed the teachers superior abilities and endorsed the applications the teachers submitted. The grants are offered to Delaware teachers in public school or education programs run by the state.

After two full semesters plus summer work, all eight teachers will be able to meet the full standards for their newly chosen majors by September, 1986. Loans up to $5,000 are being issued to cover tuition and books. In addition, these teachers will be receiving their state based salary. The loans will be considered forgiven after the teachers have completed three years of work in their new fields.

The committee has also provided four other programs to upgrade these fields. 100 teachers will participate in a six-week, full day program. These teachers will receive stipends of $250 per week during this program and earn half the required credits to become certified. 13 other teachers have been reimbursed for the cost of courses taken during the regular school year. Additional grants have been offered to college students planning to go into the fields where the shortages exist. The state is also offering grants for persons working in related fields (such as retired scientist) to finance teacher-training.

Barbara Phillips, a special education teacher at the Milford Middle School is one of the eight winners of the year long study grant. She is enrolled in secondary math and is attending school in both Newark and Georgetown. When her schooling is finished she will be placed in either the Milford High School or Middle School math departments.

It is feasible to believe because of the recommendations made by the special committee the shortages of qualified teachers in math and sciences will soon be ended. The General Assembly is certainly showing a sincere effort to upgrade education in the first state.

women who have expressed a desire to become law enforcement officers. These students are exposed to five days of a modified training program designed to give them a taste of actual police training.

A typical twenty-four hour day of Trooper Youth Week began at 6:00 a.m. with reveille. The group is then given physical training and stands inspection before breakfast at 7:30 a.m. At 8:30 a.m., classroom instruction begins and continues until 4:00 p.m. with a lunch break.

Course of instruction included demonstrations of special state police units, weapons, photography and the basics of law enforcement. Participants have "hands on" experience with most police equipment.

Following a daily course, students were taught close order drill until dinner. After dinner, students participated in organized sports which emphasize teamwork. Free time followed this hour of recreation and students were permitted to do what they wish until "taps" at 10:00 p.m.

Trooper Youth Week concluded on the evening of June 21 at 7:00 p.m. at the Training Academy and the presentation of trophies to the best male and female athletes and outstanding cadet of 1985.

Milford Memorial Hospital gives credit to senior citizens

by Victoria G. Fleks

As of July 1, senior citizens who become Milford Memorial Hospital patients will see a cut in their expenses when hospitalized.

The hospital is beginning a "Senior Savers Program" that will give a $200 credit on hospital bills for any patient 65 and older. The $200 credit will eliminate any costs not covered by insurance policies.

"Milford Memorial Hospital feels senior citizens have made a lifelong contribution to the community, and this program is our way of saying "Thank you," said Jeffrey M. Judd, the hospital administrator.

Since no other hospital in this area is known to offer a senior citizen discount, other hospitals are competing for patients because of the lower hospital occupancy rates which resulted from the Federal efforts to control health care costs. Last year Milford Memorial Hospital had a decline of 20 percent, to a 65.8 percent occupancy, compared to an 82.5 percent occupancy in 1983.

Felton to expand with new housing development

by Cathy Hickman

Felton Mayor and Council reviewed a proposal for a housing development containing approximately 16 units. Bill Myers, Jr., the building contractor, wanted the council to look over some rough sketches of his proposal so they would have a better understanding of what would be taking place in the next one to two years. A triangular piece of ground in the corner of the lot will be reserved for future dedication to the town for a park. The lots situated on 4 1/2 acres are located on North St. The council will vote on the matter Friday, July 5.

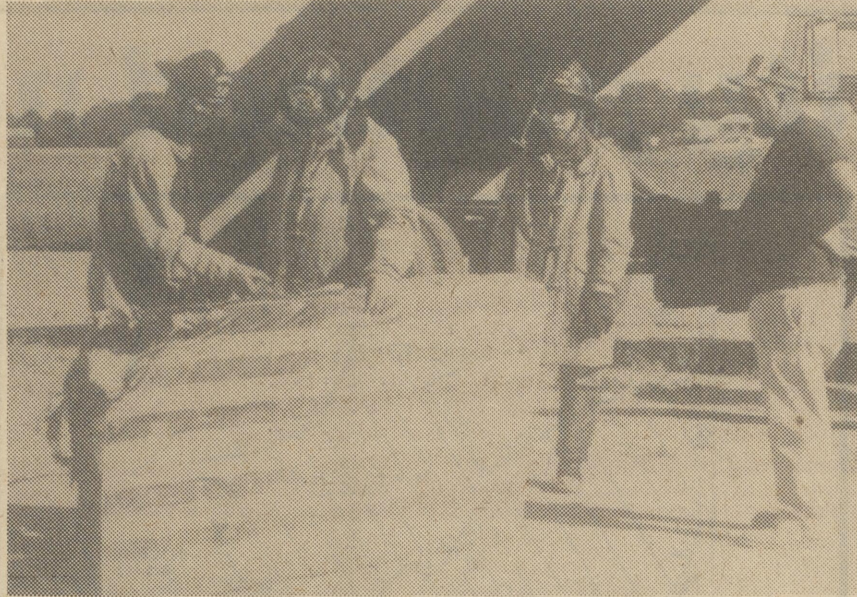

Some concerned residents of Myers' two housing developments, just outside of the town, complained to the council that several construction workers, visitors, and residents of the community, constantly speed through the area endangering the lives of many small children who live there.

Residents were also concerned with the increasing number of three-wheelers and dirt bikes that race through the development. Mayor Bill Myers said that a speed limit sign would be posted in the next week to help reinforce the speeding.

Residents of the same development complained that Simmons Cable had been ignoring their request to install cable throughout the area. Several homes on one end of the street have previously had cable installed. Part of the problem is that Delmarva Power and Light is charging Simmons to put the cable on their poles so Simmons doesn't have enough money to install cable to the new homes. Mayor Myers told the residents that he would contact Simmons Cable to see exactly why they would not install the cable throughout the development.

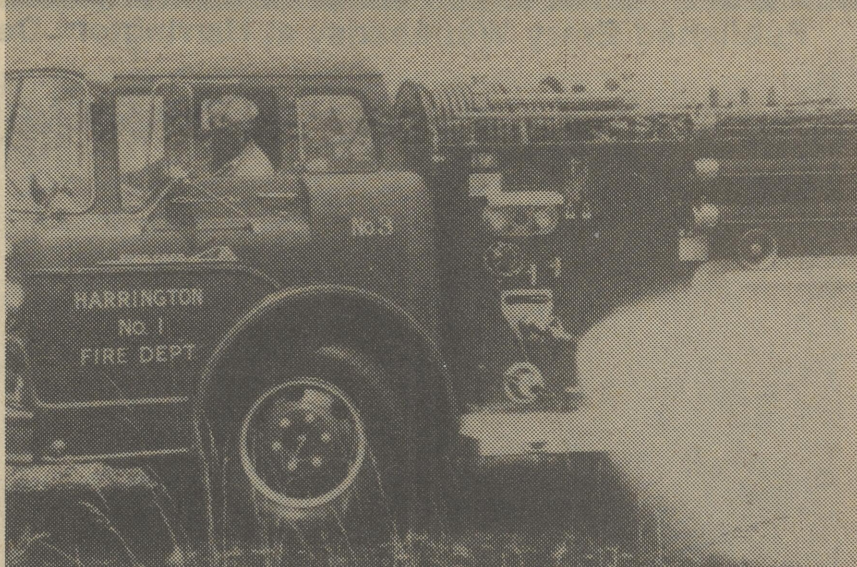

Other matters of business at the meeting were the repairing of a fire hydrant on Jefferson St., the authorization for a used car lot on Lombard St., and a grantance for a 15 ft. variance for a home being built in town.

Fourth of July Oration

Daniel Webster (1782-1852) was Secretary of State of the United States when he delivered this speech on July 4, 1851, at the laying of the cornerstone for a new addition to the Capitol building in Washington.

Editor's Note: Perhaps no one represents the American tradition of Fourth of July oratory better than Daniel Webster. Yet part of the greatness of Webster's oratory is the understanding that his rhetoric was not mere rhetoric, but that his words expressed the fundamental truths about American government and its principles. Webster's style seems somewhat out of date today; but can we say the same of the principles he puts forth?

Fellow citizens, I greet you well; I give you joy, on the return of this anniversary; and I felicitate you, also, on the more particular purpose of which this ever-memorable day has been chosen to witness the fulfillment.

This is that day of the year which announced to mankind the great fact of American Independence. This fresh and brilliant morning blesses our vision with another beholding of the birthday of our nation; and we see that nation, of recent origin, now among the most considerable and powerful, and spreading over the continent from sea to sea.

Among the first colonists from Europe to this part of America, there were some, doubtless, who contemplated the distant consequences of their undertaking, and who saw a great futurity. But, in general, their hopes were limited to the enjoyment of a safe asylum from tyranny, religious and civil, and to respectable subsistence, by industry and toil. A thick veil hid our times from their view. But the progress of America, however slow, could not but at length awaken genius, and attract the attention of mankind.

In the early part of the second century of our history, Bishop Berkeley wrote his well-known "Verses on the Prospect of Planting ARTS and LEARNING in AMERICA." The last stanza of this little poem seems to have been produced by a high poetical inspiration:—

"Westward the course of empire takes its way;
A fifth shall close the drama with the day;
Time's noblest offspring is the last."

This extraordinary prophecy may be considered only as the result of long foresight and uncommon sagacity; of a foresight and sagacity stimulated, nevertheless, by excited feeling and high enthusiasm. So clear a vision of what America would become was not founded on square miles, or on existing numbers, or on any common laws of statistics. It was an intuitive glance into futurity; it was a grand conception, strong, ardent, glowing, embracing all time since the creation of the world, and all regions of which that future is composed, and judging of the future by just analogy with the past.

Fellow-citizens, this inheritance which we enjoy today is not only an inheritance of liberty, but of our own peculiar American liberty. Liberty has existed in other times, in other countries, and in other forms. There has been a Grecian liberty, bold and powerful, full of spirit, eloquence, and fire; a liberty which produced multitudes of great men. But still it was a liberty of disconnected states, sometimes united, indeed, by temporary leagues and confederacies, but often involved in wars between themselves.

And there has also been a Roman liberty, a proud, ambitious domineering spirit, professing free and popular principles in Rome itself, but, even in the best days of the republic, ready to carry slavery and chains into her provinces, and through every country over which her eagles could be borne.

I have said, Gentlemen, that our inheritance is an inheritance of American liberty. That liberty is characteristic, peculiar, and altogether our own. Nothing like it existed in former times, nor was known in the most enlightened states of antiquity; while with us its principles have become interwoven into the minds of individual men, connected with our daily opinions, and our daily habits, until it is, if I may so say, an element of social as well as of political life. And the consequence is, that to whatever region an American citizen carries himself, he takes with him, fully developed in his own understanding and experience, our American principles and opinions, and becomes ready at once, in cooperation with others, to apply them to the formation of new governments.

For the period which has elapsed from the day that Washington laid out the foundation of this Capitol to the present time, there has been no country upon earth in which life, liberty and property have been more amply and steadily secured, or more freely enjoyed, than in these United States of America. Who is there that will deny this? Who is there prepared with a greater or a better example? Who is there than can stand upon the foundation of facts, acknowledged or proved, and assert that these our republican institutions have not answered the true ends of government beyond all precedent in human history?

There is yet another view. There are still higher considerations. Man is an intellectual being, destined to immortality. There is a spirit in him, and the breath of the Almighty hath given him understanding. Then only is he tending toward his own destiny, while he seeks for knowledge and virtue, for the will of his Maker, and for just conceptions of his own duty. Of all important questions, therefore, let this, the most important of all, be first asked and first answered: In what country of the habitable globe, of great extent and large population, are the means of knowledge the most generally diffused and enjoyed among the people? This question admits of one, and only one, answer. It is here.

But there is something more than this. Man is not only an intellectual, but he is also a religious being, and his religious feelings and habits require cultivation. Let the religious element in man's nature be neglected, let him be influenced by no higher motives than low self-interest, and subject to no stronger restraint than the limits of civil authority, and he becomes the creature of selfish passions or blind fanaticism.

Who does not admit that this unparalleled growth in prosperity and renown is the result, under Providence, of the union of these States under a general Constitution, which guarantees to each State a republican form of government, and to every man the enjoyment of life, and the pursuit of happiness, free from civil tyranny or ecclesiastical domination?

Fellow-citizens, we must sometimes be tolerant to folly, and patient at the sight of the extreme waywardness of men; but I confess that, when I reflect on the renown of our past history, on our present prosperity, and greatness, and on what the future hath yet to unfold, and when I see that there are men who can find in all this nothing good, nothing valuable, nothing truly glorious, I feel that all their reason has fled away from them, and left the entire control over their judgment and their actions to insanity and fanaticism; and more than all, fellow-citizens, if the purpose of fanatics and disunionists should be accomplished, the patriotic and intelligent of our generation would seek to hide themselves from the scorn of the world, and go about to find dishonorable graves. Fellow-citizens, take courage; be of good cheer. We shall come to no such ignoble end. We shall live, and not die. During the period allotted to our several lives, we shall continue to rejoice in the return of this anniversary. The ill-omened sounds of fanaticism will be hushed; the ghastly spectres of Secession and Disunion will disappear; and the enemies of united constitutional liberty, if their hatred cannot be appeased, may prepare to have their eyeballs seared as they behold the steady flight of the American eagle, on his burnished wings, for years and years to come.

Kirby keeps Harrington league rolling

By Harry G. Farrow, Jr.
HARRINGTON. John Kirby whose pitching prowess dominated the Henlopen Conference this past season for Lake Forest is continuing on with a vengeance as week after week he mows down the Lower Delaware Big League with reckless abandon. On Saturday night, Kirby had a no-hitter going into the 8th inning and a one hitter going into the final frame against Laurel. Brian Daniels touched him for the first single and Greg Murphy got a one saker in the final frame. Harrington won 6-0. Kirby went the route striking out 13 batsman walking 4 and leaving 6 runners stranded on the bases. Mike Gyrynak did the catching. Mike Dill, Scott Fleming and Ricky Brown all came through with doubles. Dill drove in 2 while Fleming added one, but it was Eric Collins who slammed a 2 run homer in the bottom of the sixth for the big clout. Keith Chandler, all Henlopen Conference outfielder, got the other RBI with a single. Brendon Puckham did the pitching for Laurel striking out 8 while surrendering 8 walks. The walks continued to put Puckham in the hole. Play continues this Wednesday.

More than 6,000 people drown in swimming accidents each year. National Safety Council statistics of drownings around the home show that individuals drowned in bathtubs, wells, cisterns, and even puddles or pools of water, as well as in swimming pools. Helen DeDominicis, Public Relations Director for the Delaware Chapter Red Cross says, "Sixty percent of drownings happen to people who suddenly and unexpectedly find themselves in water and don't know what to do, and it doesn't have to be that way". Red Cross swimming and water safety courses are offered during the year at many locations throughout the state. A call to the nearest Red Cross office will provide information regarding all levels of swimming and instructor courses in the area. In Kent County, Call 674-2444.

Over The Backyard Fence

Gab Fest by Pat Hatfield

What a gorgeous morning. Yes, you guessed it. The East wind is coming in the kitchen windows. Yesterday, the heat was terrific, with the thermometer at 96 in the shade, and that is too hot, even for me. But sometime in the night the wind turned east and brought the invigorating breezes. But, in spite of the heat, I managed to take care of the worst problem that loomed ahead. I did the pickled beets. Dad helped me so much by cleaning them thoroughly outside which made the final scrub much faster. I made three quarts and eleven pints, and wonder of wonders, they all sealed.

Now, I know how the mockingbird feels when he shoots up into the air and does a somersault. Do not fear for me. This is only a fantasy. I shall keep my own feet on terra firma (and the firmer, the terra, the better!)

Resting on my laurels I kinda frittered away the rest of the morning. I visited with friends both in person and on the telephone and ignored most of the housecleaning with just a "a lick and a promise" as my grandmother used to say. Like the girl on television says, "I'm worth it!"

I made our favorite Cream of Corn soup for lunch. The paper deadline is nearing, so . . . pen to paper. Dad suggested at the lunch hour that I make up a pot of beef soup with all the vegetables around. I may just do that. It is a very secure feeling to have a pot of soup in the house. My mother always said, too, that she felt better when there were plenty of pies and a cake ready for any emergency.

Are you all enjoying reading this summer? If my eyes were in better shape I would get more reading done, but I'm always dragging books up from the shop to read the ones I missed when they first came out. This week I have read "The Gray Chiffon Scarf" by Mignon Eberhart. This would be an ideal story for Angela Lansberry's "Murder, She Wrote". I also read Daphne du Maurier's "The King's General". It is a very moving story, true tale of the historical period around the sixteen and seventeen hundreds. As you read you are caught up in this exciting time of history. As I reviewed it in my mind this morning and thought of the very moving love story that is told, it was a bit of a jolt to come down to earth and go check the stewed prunes. But life is full of these quick changes of scenery, and the stewed prunes and the fried potatoes are as necessary in their own way as fantasy, history and romance.

Did you ever stop to think how many wonderful people there are even in our own little corner of the world? And they show so much love to us in one way or another. On my window sill now is a lovely pot of angel wing begonia which my friend, Tess has fixed for me. We go back so many years and she will always be a precious part of my life. And in my oven right now there is simmering a blueberry pie from the fresh berries my friend, Alice gave me. And in my kitchen are several pieces of needlework that my friend, Bonnie, has made me to remind me of her caring. And I think of the many dear close friends who have gone on ahead of us to their final reward, and I think fondly of many ministers of the gospel who are also my treasured friends. It makes me very humble. What have I ever done to deserve these gifts?

Senior Center

Heres hoping that this newsletter finds everyone in wonderful health and spirits and enjoying the summer months.

The Center will be closed on Thursday, July 4th, but here's what we have in mind for Friday the 5th. We will begin the morning with Exercise with Debbie. Then in the afternoon, we will have a new afternoon of fun . . . we will be playing charades. I am sure that most everyone has enjoyed these games at one time or the other, right?

When we return on Monday, we will have Bible Study in the morning with Rev. Lawton from Felton Methodist Church. This will begin at 10:15 a.m. After a lunch of Homemade Chicken Noodle Soup, Tuna Salad on a Roll, Tossed Salad and Chocolate Pudding with Topping, we will be having our Members Meeting beginning at 1 p.m. The new officers will take office at this meeting. Also on this day there is a trip to Ocean City, MD. They will spend time walking on the beach and boardwalk and then they will be dining at the Avenue Restaurant in Rehoboth before returning home.

On Tuesday (9) The Jolly Timers Kitchen Band will be rehearsing at 10:30 a.m. They will be entertaining at the Courtland Manor Nursing Home on the 22nd, so they will be practicing for this date. The Band is always looking for new members, so if you can tap your foot in rhythm here's your chance to make some "pretty music". After lunch on that day the Mary Kay Consultant will be here to do facials and give tips on beauty and make-up, this will begin at 1 p.m.

Now on Wednesday, in the morning will be the usual Senior Sounds Chorus Practice and then in the afternoon there will be a special program with The Hofstetter Boys, these are the Visiting Nurses sons. I am sure that most of you know Bonnie. Well, her sons play the violin and they will be here at 1 p.m. to entertain the members. So, all in all it looks like a good week of activities coming up at the Senior Center.

For this weeks Senior Citizen Information Tip: If you are over 60 years of age you qualify to take advantage of the Division of Public Health Screening (Testing) Clinic for Senior Citizens. The screening identifies present or potential health problems only; no treatment for any condition is provided. All patients whose test results appear to be beyond normal limits are referred to local hospitals or physicians for further diagnosis and/or treatment. Stop by the Senior Center for Clinics in our area. Services are offered on different days at different clinics. An appointment is necessary. Call the State Service Center nearest you or call the Center at 398-4224 for more information. They will send the results to your family physician if you desire. There is no fee for this service, but their cost is $36.20 per patient so any donation will be appreciated. A $2.00 minimum is requested. No one is refused service because he or she cannot pay.

So, that's it for this week. Look for this column next week to see the activities going on at the Senior Center and also for information on Services and Benefits available.

Exercise Myths

More and more people are getting involved in regular exercise programs and finding their lives are improving as a result of their efforts. Yet some exercise myths continue to prevail.

The American Heart Association has the facts on five common misconceptions about exercise.

Myth 1: Exercising makes you tired. The Fact: As their bodies get more in shape, most people feel exercising gives them more energy than before. Regular, brisk exercise can also help you resist fatigue and stress.

Myth 2: Exercise takes too much time. The Fact: Regular exercise does not have to take more than about 25 to 40 minutes, three times a week. Once you have established a comfortable exercise routine, exercising becomes a natural part of your life.

Myth 3: All exercises give you the same benefits. The Fact: All physical activities can give you enjoyment. But only regular, brisk, and sustained exercises such as brisk walking, jogging, or swimming improve the efficiency of your heart and lungs. Other activities do not give you these benefits, although they may increase flexibility or muscle strength.

Myth 4: The older you are, the less exercise you need. The Fact: With age we tend to become less physically active, and therefore need to make sure we are getting enough exercise. In general, middle-age and older people benefit from regular exercise just as young people do. What is important is tailoring the exercise program to your own fitness level.

Myth 5: You have to be athletic to exercise. The Fact: Most brisk activities do not require any special athletic abilities. In fact, many people who found school sports difficult have discovered that these other activities are easy to do and enjoyable.

Check with your doctor before beginning an exercise program if you are over 45-years-old, have any physical problems, or have a family history of premature coronary artery disease.

And then enjoy the benefits of an active lifestyle.

Frankly Speaking

Guilty Until Proven Innocent

by Mike Harker

Webster defines the word 'indictment' as follows: 1.) the act of indicting, 2.) a formal accusation presented by a grand jury usually required for felonies, 3.) an accusation, 4.) the state of being indicted. No where does it use the word 'guilty'. So to be indicted only means that there is enough evidence to accuse you of some type of wrong doing.

We all know about how well the actions of horsemen are scrutinized by the state racing commissions and others, but this has gone too far. To presume someone guilty of race fixing, and denying that person the right to race, only on an accusation is against every thing that America stands for.

This past week federal authorities arrested 14 persons named in a federal indictment alleging harness race fixing resulting from a three year undercover investigation. The Federal indictments charge 15 people from Ohio and Canada with either taking or accepting bribes to fix races at Lebanon, Latonia, and Raceway Park in Toledo. It does not say they are guilty of the crime only accuses them. Mahlon Nixon, race secretary at Latonia and Lebanon said all the drivers, except for one, had been banned from the two tracks during the grand jury probe. "For the integrity of the business for our patrons, we're not going to allow them to race at Lebanon or Latonia until the cloud is lifted. To me that sounds like they have already decided that these men are guilty. If the tracks deny them the right to race just because someone says they have committed a crime, then there is something terribly wrong with our system of justice. In a recent killing of a young man in Dover, by three police officers, the officers were put on suspension with pay until the matter is settled. The horseman on the other hand have been denied the right to make a living during the investigation of their case. Somehow this only serves to make them seem to be guilty without the benefit of a trial.

When will we learn that the American Bill of Rights are for all people, horseman included, and not just for the chosen few? These people may be guilty of race fixing, or they may not be, that is something that a court will decide, not a race secretary.

 George Sholty will be inducted into the sport's Living Hall of Fame on July 7. Larry Evans, a prominent publicist and editor enters the Writers' Corner of the Hall of Fame of the Trotter also.

Both men were elected to their positions by members of the United States Harness Writers' Association. Sholty becomes the 34th person named to the Living Hall of Fame. Evans is the seventh person to be honored in the Writers' Corner.

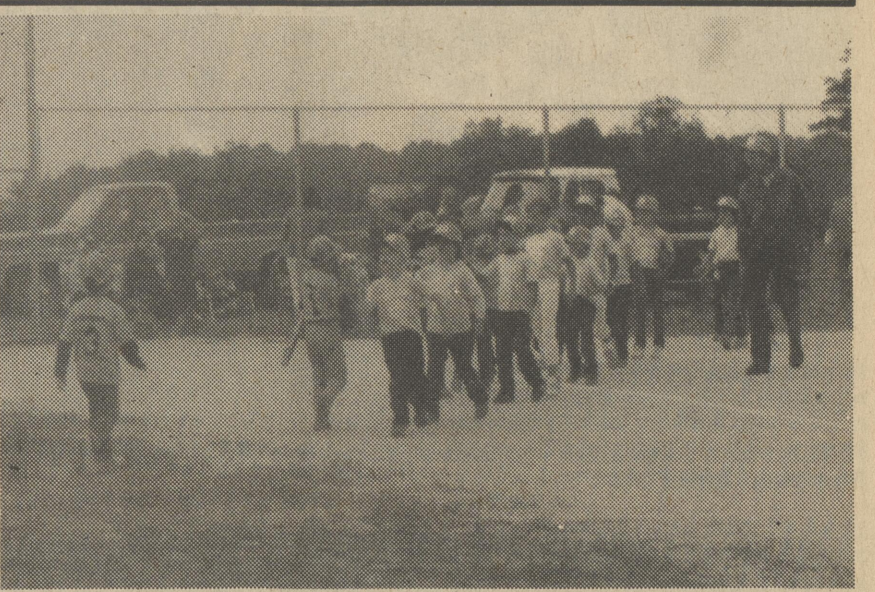

Sholty's reputation began to grow in the late '50's and early '60's when he began to accumulate driving titles at various tracks, including five championships at Yonkers Raceway. Known primarily as a raceway driver in those years, he began to focus on Grand Circuit-type horses, and at the beginning of 1984 contracted with Castleton Farm to be their trainer of trotters and pacers.

Larry Evans' career in harness racing journalism began immediately following World War Two with the Washington (D.C.) Times Herald. He later was publicity director for the US Trotting Association and then served as editor for Hub Rail magazine.

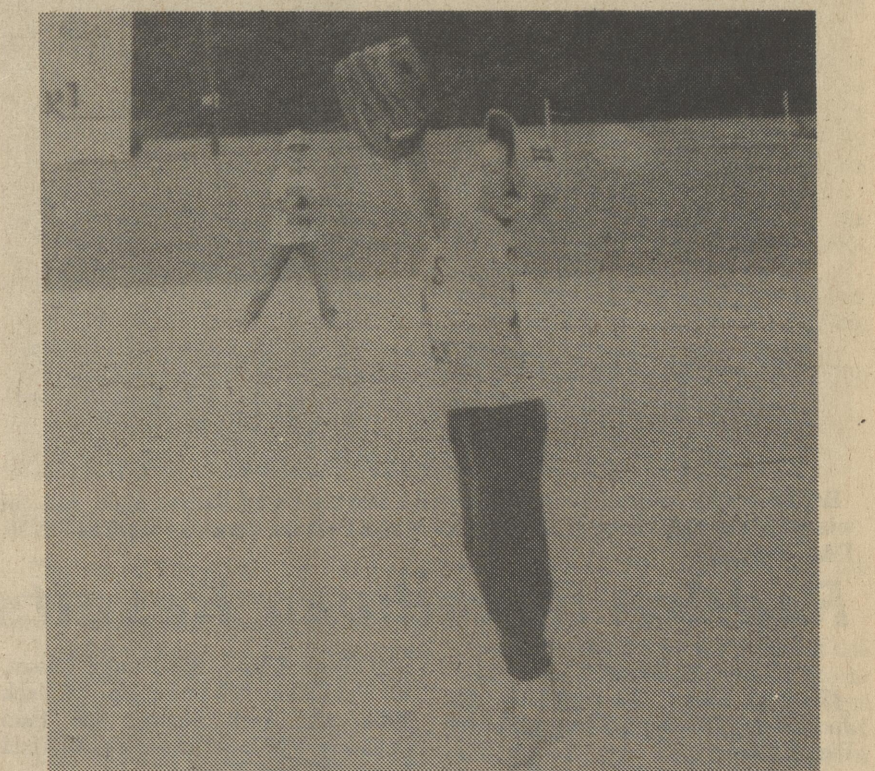

Induction of both men is set for the evening of July 7 at the Hall of Fame of the Trotter in Goshen, New York. Reservations for the event can be made by contacting the Hall of Fame.

Penuel wins Limited Feature

Hal Browning reinforced his dominance of Lower Delaware Late Model racing by scoring two consecutive wins at the US 13 Speedway Saturday night. The Georgetown pilot's wins came in the five laps "King of Kings" match race and the regular 20-lap feature at the Delmar, DE speedplant. These two, coupled with his convincing victory in the Camp Barnes LM feature the previous Wednesday night, gave him three LM wins in four days.

In the "King of Kings", Hal Browning led the event from flag-to-flag. Hill was forced to settle for second at the end of five laps.

Hal's victory in the 20-lap feature was not quite easy. He started in the ninth slot. His JB's Auto machine #100 served him well and put him in the second spot by lap three. Ed Pettyjohn had the point but not for long. As the two entered the two turn to start lap four, Browning picked his groove and moved under the #80.

Just two laps later Browning had built a considerable lead. Alex Beaumont, who had been wrestling with his #22A from the start, got in trouble coming off the fourth and smacked the wall hard on the front straight. The ensuing caution erased Hal's lead. This put Pettyjohn back on his bumper but something was amiss on the #880 and he decided to visit the pits giving the #115 of Vernon Harris the second spot.

When the green came on Pettyjohn fell in at the back.

Pettyjohn had risen back to the top and was parked on the bumper of the third place car of Williams. When starter Bill Lawson cut the field loose at the US 13 Speedway Saturday night, Pettyjohn moved around the #88 and started to work on Harris. Browning lengthened his lead as Harris and the #880 duelled through the white flag.

Eddie didn't miss a beat and punched the throttle all the more to nab second from Harris at the line.

Feature Results: Browning, Pettyjohn, Harris, Ronald Wilson, Williams, Mike Tauber, Hill, Joey Carey, Butch Kable, Duane Rust.

The limited Late Model feature was the showcase for first time career winner Bill Penuel of Seaford, DE. Bill gave a sterling performance as he led the 15-lap event from flag-to-flag. His lead was challenged on several occasions by the Coors Light machine of Jeff Patilla but Bill kept his cool and used the low groove to his advantage to maintain his lead. Jeff aced the second slot followed by John Kenny, C.R. Robinson and the fifth place car of Preston Beach.

Timmy White took his third season victory in the Street Modified division making him the only three-time winner in that class. The 10-lap show turned into a battle of the opars as Timmy, in his big Chrysler and John Franz III, in the #400 Dodge Charger, staged a heated duel in the early going. Timmy outlasted Franz and held off the challenges of David Beach in the final laps to score a convincing win.

Pearson praises Elliott

Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of stories from past winners of the Southern 500 on Bill Elliott's chance of winning at Darlington on September 1st.

DARLINGTON, SC. What are Bill Elliott's chances of winning the Southern 500 and becoming an instant millionaire, September 1st.

David Pearson rates them excellent, and nobody speaks with more authority on stock car races at the track "Too Tough To Tame". Pearson is the all-time winner at Darlington with 10 Grand National victories, including three stored Southern 500s. The Silver Fox, the sport's No. 2 career winner with 105, triumphed in 1976, 1977, and 1979.

Elliott, sensation of the superspeedway this season, needs his first Southern 500 victory to complete the Winston Million and collect a $1 million bonus posted by R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company. The slender red-head from Dawsonville, GA, having won the Daytona 500 and the Winston 500 and failed because of mechanical troubles in the World 600 at Charlotte, the first three legs of the designated Big Four races, is the only driver eligible for the largest bonus in motorsports history going into the final leg.

"I'd say Bill's chances are above average, in fact, excellent," said Pearson, "considering the way he is dominating the circuit, his driving style and the fact that, unlike most drivers, he likes the place. Simply liking to race at Darlington means a lot."

"The main thing at Darlington is to stay out of trouble. It's the hardest track on the circuit to do that, but Bill's driving style suits it. He's patient, cautious and smart. When things start getting rough, he backs off and lets the lead-foots go on. Because the turns are so narrow and there are few good products to pass, that's what you have to do. Of course, you can't be too cautious, or you'll get into trouble with slow cars. Most of the emphasis this season has been on the superiority of Bill's cars, and that's true, but I think how really smart he is as a driver has been overlooked, certainly underrated. THAT THE DRIVING STYLES OF Elliott, 29, and Pearson, the circuit's elder statesman at 50, are strikingly similar is no coincidence. "When we first started racing our old cars in a field near home, I was always Pearson" Elliott said. "He has always been my hero."

"I deeply appreciate the fact I'm his hero," said Pearson, who has not won a Grand National race since the 1980 TransSouth 500 at Darlington. "The way he's been winning, though, and the way I've haven't been, it looks like he's my hero."

Pearson alludes to Elliott's seven victories in 10 superspeedways races the first half of this season going into the July 4 Firecracker 400 at Daytona, and nine wins in the past 14 big-track outings dating to last October in Melling/Coors Ford Thunderbirds prepared by brothers Ernie and Dan and fielded by father, George. The rampage includes Elliott's first victory at Darlington in the TransSouth 500 in April. He started from the pole alongside his hero, whose Hoss Ellington-prepared Chevrolet was eliminated in an accident, rare for Pearson at the treacherous 1.366-mile track.

"Bill's winning spree has brought back a lot of fond memories to me this season," said Pearson, referring specifically to 1973 and 1976 when he won 10 superspeedway events each season in Mercurys fielded by the Wood brothers. "Bill's ahead of my pace and it may be tougher to win now than it was back then."

Pearson, who terrorized the superspeedways in eight seasons with the Woods, and the late LeeRoy Yarborough are the only two drivers to pull off the so-called Grand Slam. Yarborough, who died last December, won the Daytona 500, World 600 and Southern 500 in Junior Johnson Ford products in 1969. In '76, Pearson, duplicated the feat. "There wasn't a bonus then," Pearson said, adding, "I'll be trying real hard to end my long dry spell in the Southern 500, but to be honest, I hope Bill wins. He deserves it. I'm proud of him."

Bob Toreky picks up win

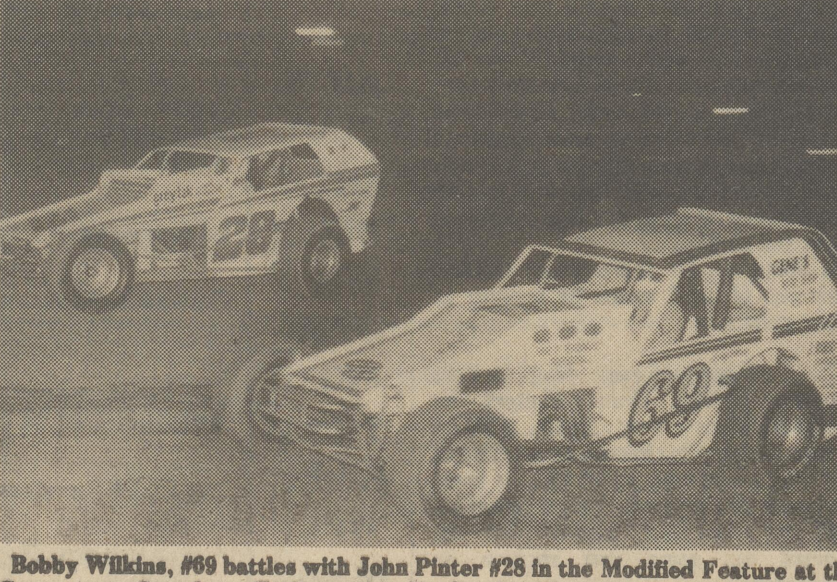

Bob Toreky picked up his first feature win of 1985 Friday night at the Georgetown Speedway. Harbeson's Chuck Graves one again dominated the limited late models, winning his fifth feature in a row. Georgetown's Ronnie Robinson became the first two time winner in the street modifieds.

Toreky started on the pole in the Sierra Stoves-Banks Company Inc., modified and established himself as the man to beat from the drop of the green. Pressure was constantly applied on the man by Milford's Harold Bunting and last week's feature winner John Pinter. The only caution in the 25 lap feature came on lap nine when Gary Gollub lost an engine problems at the same time and retired to the pits. Milford's Bobby Wilkins had worked his way past Freddy Brightbill into third with Tom Capie joining in to make it a five car battle. In the closing laps both Wilkins and Capie had problems in lapped traffic allowing Brightbill to move into second and Bunting back into third. At the finish it was Toreky first followed by Brightbill. Bobby Wilkins nipped Bunting at the wire for third and Capie rounded out the top five. Finishing sixth through tenth were Billy Towers, Gary Trice, Hal Browning, Charlie Langenstein and Charlie Moore.

Pittsville's Bunky White took the early led in the limited late model feature. The first yellow was displayed on the second lap when Kenny Weaver spun into the third turn. The green was only out for one more lap when Bill Penuel spun the fourth turn. On the restart, Chuck Graves moved along side of White and took the lead going down the back straight. A four car battle developed for second between White, Jeff Patilla, Jeff Turpin and Ronnie Laverne. With two to go, Turpin got gy Patilla for second and at the checker it was Graves, Turpin, Patilla, White and Laverne.

The street modified feature was a three car battle between Mickey Cook of Lewes, Tim White of Pittsville, and Georgetown's Ronnie Robinson. Robinson took the lead on lap seven dropping White to second. As they came for the finish, White pulled along side of Robinson but fell about three feet short of the win. Cook finished in third followed by Ira Hitchens, Ryan Bloom, Les Outten, Reece Conley, Jeff Bush and Elwood Driscoll.

Education Flag being raised on the 4th

A flag that signifies education's role in our democracy will be raised in Dover July 4th as part of a national program to have the flag unfurled in all state capitols at the same time--1:51 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction William B. Keene will preside at the ceremony, which will be held in front of the Supreme Court Building on the Green, beginning at 1:40 p.m.

Dr. Keene said the observance is to remind the public that democracy in America depends upon the sound education of its citizens. Emblems on the flag signify that liberty and learning are joined.

"We should recall the connection between education and freedom on July 4th," Dr. Keene said.

"Our nation was founded by people who knew that proper education was needed for successful self-government. The patriots who wrote our Declaration of Independence and Constitution were men who valued learning, and the spread of public education since the Revolution has enabled America to become the leading power in the world and the exemplary land of freedom and justice."

A drill team from the Civil Air Patrol will perform at the ceremony, and an honor guard of cadets from the Reserve Officers Training Corps being trained at Dover Air Force Base will also take part.

After the ceremony the flag will fly at the Townsend Building, which houses the State Department of Public Instruction. During the next school year, plans call for the flag to be flown at each school building in the state.

The activity is being organized by the National School Public Relations Association.

The timing of 1:51 P.M. was chosen to reflect one nation, the fifty states, and one commitment to education.

In the event of bad weather, the ceremony will be cancelled.

Milton Jaycees make big plans for Fourth of July

Thanks to the Milton Jaycees, Miltonians will again celebrate the Fourth of July as their guests at the H.O. Brittingham Elementary School on the afternoon of July 6th beginning at 12:00 noon.

With Jesse Sanger as chairman, plans for a gigantic program are underway. A program of games will take place as follows: pie-eating contest, bag race, grease-pole climb, money-in-the-straw for children, softball throwing, egg throw and egg race.

All contests and games are free to the public. With a minimal charge, guests will be invited to "Dunk the Clown". Prizes will be given to winners in age categories and everyone is invited to participate. At dusk on July 6th, a fireworks display will be staged that will be seen for miles around.

The Milton Jaycees look forward to an exciting day of fun and hope that everyone will join them in celebrating the Fourth of July and Independence Day on Saturday, July 6, 1985 starting at noon at the H.O. Brittingham Elementary School grounds.

Annual fireworks at Slaughter Beach

The annual Fourth of July Fireworks program by the Memorial Fire Company of Slaughter Beach will be held Thursday evening, July 4th, beginning at 9 o'clock. Rain date is the following evening.

One of the oldest continuous fireworks displays in Sussex County, last year's program attracted more than five thousand persons.

Lemuel C. Hitchens, Jr., President of Memorial Fire Company, and Allen Jester, Chief, report that this year's display will be the largest yet, with more than two hundred and fifty shells to be fired by Royal Fireworks of Vineland, New Jersey. The fireworks may be seen by anywhere on the beach.

Financial support by the public of the more than $3000.00 expense is essential. Firemen will be at the bridges entering the town the afternoon and evening of the Fourth to receive donations. Donations may also be sent to Memorial Fire Company, Slaughter Beach, Route 1, Milford, DE 19963.

There will be free parking in Firemen's Field across from the Firehouse and on streets leading to the beach. No parking will be permitted on Bay Avenue. Beach littering regulations will be enforced.

Three wishes - A mare with a heart as big as all outdoors

BY Mike Harker
 Let me introduce you to a horse that is very close to my heart. She is only five years old, and a winner by any standards set by man. She is a standard-bred trotting filly that had her racing career ended two years ago in a freak accident. An accident that prevented her from showing what she was made of. Two years ago in her second lifetime start the racing future of this perfectly balanced and gaited filly was brought to a grinding halt, or so we thought.

Three Wishes has not only returned

Harness Horse Sport Quiz

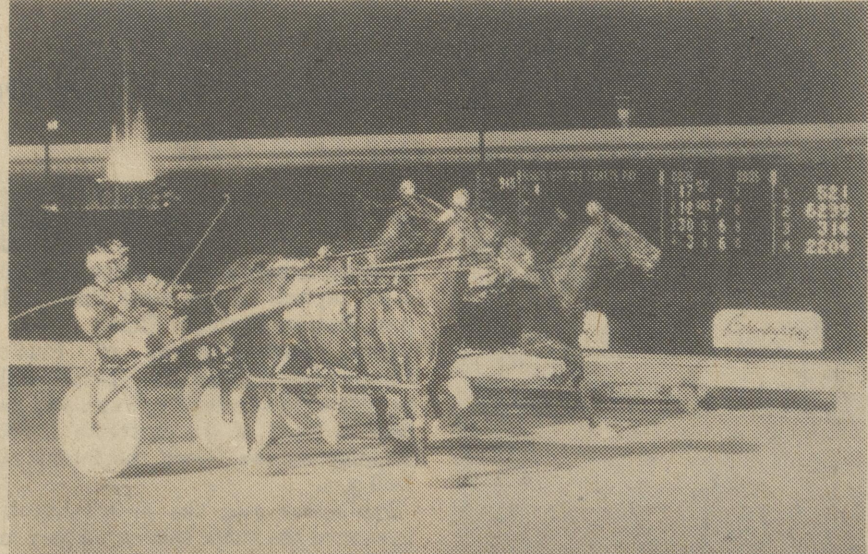

This week's contest question is: Who has the most Two minute miles, Niatross, Rambling Willie or Cam Fella?

Prizes for this weeks quiz are: one years subscription to Harness Horse magazine, and a cooler from Andersons Racing Equipment. Good luck! Both prizes will be awarded to one lucky winner.

to the racing wars, but did it in winning fashion. On Friday June 14, she won a qualifying race at Brandywine Raceway in 208.1, now I know that's nothing to brag about, but the point is that she came back from injuries that would have kept most other horses in retirement. For two years this filly learned to live with a back injury that caused her constant pain and discomfort, despite the efforts of some very competent vets. Through all of this she never lost her competitive spirit or her very big desire to be a winner.

Last Wednesday evening she again went to the winners circle at Ocean Downs, this time winning after being parked the whole mile in 2:09. She seemed to be asking the field of seven other trotters, is this the best you can do? She will be racing again this Friday at Ocean Downs, and I will let you know how she does next week.

The Chapter Stables' 8-year-old Ridgewood Express showed that your only as old as you think by posting a lifetime mark of 1:56.1 in a $10,000 Invitational at Brandywine on May 12 for driver Ken McNutt by defeating Pilgrim's Rainbow (#6-Abe Stoltz) and George Allen (#2-Don Irving).

Greenwood by Pat Hatfield 349-4255

Remember the Independence Day service at the Greenwood United Methodist Church on Sunday evening, July 7, at 7:30 p.m. Representative Brad Barns will be speaking. Fellowship hour will follow.

Bible Study on the Book of James will begin in the Greenwood Church on July 14 at 7 p.m.

Greenwood Library Report: During the month of July the Greenwood Library will sponsor several special activities for the public. The library will continue to offer story hours, movies, blood pressure clinics, as well as the following special programs:

July 3, 10:30 a.m. Trooper Dan from the Delaware State Police will present a program for children.

July 12, 2:30 p.m. John Hadfield, formerly of Ringling Bros., Barnum and Bailey Clown College will present a program. This is for children of all ages.

July 15, 2 p.m. Skating Safety and Fun Presentation by members of the Delaware Rolling Association. A demonstration of basic skills, plus other fun activities, for all who like to skate.

July 26, 8:30 p.m. An evening of music. Kevin Roth, who plays the dulcimer and sings will present a program for all the family. This will be held outside if possible. Come bring the family and a blanket.

These programs are all free to the public. In addition to the programs the library will, during the summer, sponsor a Summer Reading Program for children. Even if your child is a pre-schooler, there is a place in the program for him. Contact the library for more information.

Do You Remember?

by Dorothy Graham

Smile! Time was when, the trains did run, from early morn till set of sun, rumbled on thru-dead of night. All persons gave to the system a glorious might. The huge wheels turning, billowing smoke pipe too, passengers happy, my weren't you? The country side all seasons we saw, even the hobo escaping the law. The caboose held stories on those rails of steel. A great pride in all, we truly did feel, not just the passengers, oh me too! But in peace and in war, those trains did go, the crowds at the depot, wasn't it grand? Here's hoping the trains will make a new stand, and bring back the highway to a sensible flow, as the population of people and cars do grow!

Harrington, was once a thriving Railroad Station. So glad the Historical Society now has the "Tower" for a museum. We will long remember the Pennsylvania PRR then the Conrail. As trains made their way thru town and cities did you ever wonder about their destination? Did you ever notice the different toots or wails of the whistle. They held many stories. Many a love match was made thru the Engineer's window & the whistle! The passenger train traveling thru or stopping at night gave us a little bit of elegance. The waiters with the white towels placed across one arm-the soft lights on the side or the white cloth covered table. The red cap Porters as erect and courteous as a person could be made. A picture that still penetrates the mind: Even a sandwich was a delight under these conditions. As a lady told me, "I never even thought about the cinders or dust, my trips by train were always a joy." I told her even my children, dressed in white, didn't even show a mess, worth mentioning, until some thought they were kind person, gave them chocolate candy while I was taking one child to the rest room. Whoops! What a mess there! Many a child's imagination went wild dreaming of the places and things the trains passed by or went to.

Do you remember the railroad crossing watchman, Mr. Bob Sedgewick was one that comes to mind. In daylight he held up a round stop sign, at night his trusty lantern. He knew where every train was going, where it was from, knew all the personnel on both Freight and Passenger trains. Knew the time table of every day and night train. Could, like the conductor, call the names of each hamlet, town or city the steel rails covered. Knew about how many hobos hit in town, knew the houses where the tramps tried to get a hand out. (Many feed them if they would do a little work, others gave them food anyway.)

If the Railroader was going to be gone for a few days-a big market basket was packed with nourishing, tasty meals to last him. When he returned home that same basket contained on many occasions, fresh fruit, candy, etc.

George brought home large size persimmons; a very special favorite of mine. Swiss cheese and scollops were others. A little girl I knew waited for her Daddy with great anticipation, she knew that in one or two pockets there was going to be a goodie for her. The father, John Greenhaugh, Car inspector for PRR. The little girl, Kathryn Greenhaugh Smith, knew there were others. Ours among them. The railroad coming home was special every time, to the entire family even the dirty clothes (no automatic washer or dryer remember) held no grief for HE was home! In Peace and War these men help keep the country moving-Military-winning-feeding the Nation, and many more different countries as the rails run right up to the Seaports for loading & air terminals for Air Transportation. The cap and kerchief was a part of many of the Railroaders. A passenger conductor wore a white shirt and if away for days had separate white collars to change two or three times a day. Do they still have these collars? A crowded depot was no rarity. Ladies dressed to the hilt. Men looking ever so gallant, kiddies in their finest all going to greet freinds and relatives. Watching the mail bags & baggages & train taking on water.

From the pot bellied stove heated coaches to steam heat and air condition, from the hard stiff seats to the soft reclining ones, from hearing the hum of the rails and rustling of newspapers to the movie. From the slow moving "Iron Horse" to the Streamline. What a change! "The Towers" gave you the feeling that everything was under control. Many railmen have retired, many have passed on to greater heights but firmly believe those railroads were always a happy group of workers! Do you remember these and their position in one of the greatest industries of the USA? Do you remember "Huck" Palmer and Elwood Wyatt with the food selling on the trains? How about William E. Jester (Bill) Freight Conductor worked on the PRR for thirty-five years-Howard Williams, Station Agent, Blanche Williams-Switchboard. Don Hitchens? Harry Adkins? Mr. Adkins was in a very serious RR accident. Do you remember? George Graham, Passenger Conductor was in that accident also. Hope you can recall the others from Harrington that were in that accident. George spoke of it many times but their names have slipped my mind. Also, the time of the "Hazel Hurricane", that was a trying time on the Penn. Some others I remember or have heard of them brought to mind. John Gibbs, Car inspector; Elsie Simpson, father; Eddie Richardson, passenger Conductor; Norman Smith, Sr.? Urie Messick? Walter Lekites? Edgar Tucker? Harry Murphy and Charlie Hopkins at the "Tower", Pete Wilson? Marion Brown? Frank Callaway? George Hurd, Linesman; if my memory serves me right, I believe he died in the line of duty. Warren Swain, Linesman; Jack Swain, Foreman of linesmen; Harry Farrow, Conductor (Gilmore Farrow's Dad) (Harrington Journal) O.C. Passmore? Bill McCabe, Signal; Mr. Market (can't remember his first name but went to school with one of his daughters.(Dorothy) He has two other daughters-Florence & Irene, one son George. To continue remembering-Herman Trader, Pass. Cond. Martin Grier, Oscar Roberts (mail clerks) Ernest Homewood, Top Signal; Howard Sipple, Freight Conductor; Garrett Harrington? Benjamin Harrington? Frank & Ted Rifenburg? Sid Dolly, Engineer; Clarence Kemp, John Dayton, Edgar Graif, Freight Conductor; Louis Manship, Engineer; George Toppin? (his wife is Charles and they have two daughters, Ann and Kitty, they moved to Rehoboth Beach, Charles Greenhaugh? Clyde Perry? Elmer Lee, Dispatcher; Charles Rapp, Bill Lord, Carpenter, Clapp Bros? Charlie Derrickson, Engineer; Agnes Vane, Office. Do you remember any more? Sure there will be several I've forgotten. Let me know for would truly like them to go down in my book of memories. When you mention them sure it will jog my memory. I sincerely believe the railroad is very much needed to alleviate the congestion of the highways. With all the new things on the trains, traveling by train can and is comfortable, and a pleasant experience for all. Plenty of seating space, good food, comfortable beds, bath facilities. See the country side-meet some nice folk, and honey, when it comes to carrying heavy loads nothing can compare to the mighty freight trains. No matter what the product or the weather. With all the lifts, planks, refrigeration, tanks, the passenger cars. The trains are as I see them are or should be making a huge comeback. I am so glad to have lived in the age when the "Iron Horse" was a thriving thing. Aren't you? How many railroad songs can you recall? "Wabash Cannon Ball", "Casey Jones", "Midnight Train To Memphis", "I'm Alabama Bound". (That was a song from "The Rabbit Foot" minstrels, a line or two said something about putting his sugar in an upper berth) (That was fun, sleeping in an upper berth) The trains linked the East to the West, and North to South; Conquering many hardships, the trains brought lone letters, pretty and necessary things as well as business to a waiting population.

Best wishes to all. Be kind to each other. See you next week and thank you so much for your kind responses. Don't forget to call. Love you. Faith ALL A BOARD!
