The Early Childhood Developmental Center celebrates Thanksgiving

by David D. Dill

Last week at Lake Forest North, students from the Early Childhood Developmental Center and the second grade took on the roles of pilgrims and pilgrims for the day.

The kids from 2nd grade talked about why we have Thanksgiving, when it started and how the pilgrims and Indians shared their way together.

The class made their own feast for the celebration which consisted of homemade bread, homemade butter, pop corn, fried apples and cider which was enjoyed by all Indians and pilgrims.

The Early Development Center also enjoyed a self-prepared meal and thanked the pilgrims and Indians for all they did for us.

All the costumes were made by each student with care.

Chipman Band Leader honored

On Monday, December 2nd, the W.T. Chipman Band showed their love and appreciation to their Band Director, Mr. Brent Pandel, by surprising him with an early Christmas present.

Mrs. Pandel and the Pandel children helped with the surprise. Matthew, 4, presented his dad with a Chipman jacket with his name on it from the band. Also, Jonathan, 7 months presented his dad with a boutonniere for the upcoming Christmas parades, from the band.

The Chipman Band would like to thank Mrs. Pandel for her help, Mrs. Davis, Chipman Principal and Ms. Porter, Elementary Music Teacher, for keeping Mr. Pandel away from the band room between the end of school and band practice. Also, thank you to Mrs. Phyllis Masten, Chipman secretary, for collecting our money in the office.

We hope we surprised you Mr. Pandel!

Heavyweight Champ Spinks says Medical Associations crazy

by Harry G. Farrow Jr.

DOVER — There was an important visitor in Dover on Monday. The current International Boxing Federation heavyweight champ, Michael Spinks, appeared at Delaware State College for a personal appearance.

He signed autographs for well over an hour in the Martin Luther King Student Center before retiring to the gym...not for a sparring match, but to watch the Delaware State Hornets basketball team take on Cheyney State (girls and boys).

At the autograph signing, he was welcomed to Dover by Mayor Crawford Carroll who offered him a coin with the City's coat of arms and said "...we don't give keys here (Dover), because we don't lock our doors. Everyone is welcome."

Some of the press who attended were able to get a few questions in on the boxing champ, who made history last September 21st when he outpointed champion Larry Holmes for the crown. The historical aspect of the outcome was the fact that Spinks was a light-heavyweight. He put on 25 extra pounds and moved into the heavyweight class to duel an aging, tired and out-of-shape Larry Holmes.

When the dust cleared, I was able to get a question in that had to do with a joint resolution by all medical associations and agencies in this country last week which asked for the ban on professional boxing. One of the leading outspoken proponents of such a resolution is Howard Cosell. Asked the champ what he thought about such a resolution. He said "I think they are crazy. How can anyone tell someone else what they can do and what they can't do. This is a free country. Otherwise it would be like making slaves out of us."

None the less the medical groups in this country last week asked for a ban on professional boxing. The constant blows to the head that prize fighters endure according to the medical group will cause permanent brain damage. Cosell citing the most recent case being that of his good friend Mohammad Ali. According to Cosell, his favorite boxer slurs his speech and shuffles along. Spinks said "That's just like Howard (Cosell) to say something like that now. After all he made big bucks from covering boxing." Cosell in an interview last week said he would never cover boxing again. He also said he would never be offered a job on TV again...in his usual role "...because I am too outspoken, which the people who run ABC feel has a detrimental effect on the advertising revenue." Cosell feels that journalists today are not outspoken enough. "They refuse to tell the story...because they are told not to do it that way for fear it will hurt the advertising revenue."

But for Michael Spinks, a good champion and one who demonstrated a genteel manner while signing autographs also philosophized about his career in boxing. "You are right...every time a boxer steps into the ring, he puts his life on the line. As far as wearing protective gear like you see in the Olympics today...I don't know whether that will help or not." He commented that when he fought in the Olympics they did not wear those head gears. "We fought without them. I feel that if a boxer is going to get hurt in the ring...he is going to get hurt regardless. No one has control over that...just the man upstairs. He is the one who controls that fate," he said.

Michael Spinks knows the dangers in the ring. And as a "light" heavyweight, he knows that he will always come up against someone in that class "just a little bigger than he is"...but we all know that it takes something extra to be the champ, and I think young Michael Spinks has that something extra. As mild as he seems, but inside of him is a tiger heart.

A man for Christmas

by David Dill

Robert Allen Poynter of Felton, known to all as Bob, enjoys Christmas year round.

Bob was born in Norristown, Pa. but in his early childhood moved to Felton where he lived and attended Felton School. After getting out of high school, Bob joined the Merchant Marines where he served for 2½ years. Then he began working for the DuPont Company and after 37½ years, decided to retire.

In 1966 Bob, as a hobby, started to grow Christmas trees next to his house on U.S. 13, south of Felton. As Bob remembers, he would plant 50 trees, drink a beer, smoke a cigarette and plant 50 more until he got 500 trees that year.

Each year, Bob would add more trees.

In 1980, Bob's hobby became a full time business which now yields 50,000 trees for balling and cutting. Two other farms, one on Rt. 35 and one in Farmington now house his work, with a nursery behind his home growing 40,000 babies for the future.

White Pine, Douglas Fir, Norway Spruce, Blue Spruce and Frazier Fir are just a few that reach Bob's tender care.

Bob also has a Christmas shop where customers may look at all the decorations and Christmas crafts with help from his mother, Amy Poynter of Harrington, daughter Robin Achenbach of Dover and wife Bonnie.

One and one half tons of food collected in food drive

The student body of Lake Forest High School turned approximately one and one half tons of canned food and ninety-five dollars in cash over to the Delaware State Police today for distribution to churches in the Harrington and Frederica area.

The month long food drive was organized by the student government at Lake Forest High School with students and teachers contributing. The in-school competition was won by the freshman class with over 900 cans of food. Forty dollars of the one-hundred dollar prize won by the freshman class was donated to the canned food drive. This is the third year that Lake Forest High School has been involved in a canned food drive for the underprivileged.

The food and money, which was turned over to the churches today, will be distributed to the underprivileged over the holidays.

Delaware towns eligible for Urban Development Action Grants

As a result of new census data, 29 Delaware towns and cities are eligible for federal Urban Development action grants under the Small Cities Program. These competitive grants, awarded through the Department of Housing and Urban Development, are designed to help economically distressed cities with populations of less than 50,000. Their purpose is to create jobs by attracting businesses that would otherwise not locate in the area.

Daniel S. Kuennen, University of Delaware extension community resource development specialist, explains that HUD uses six criteria to determine whether a community is sufficiently distressed to qualify for the grant program: percentage of pre-1940 housing, per capita income, population growth or decline, amount of poverty, designation as a labor surplus area, and job lag or decline.

"Qualifying for the program doesn't guarantee a grant," says Kuennen. "When proposing a project, a town must show that the business would not locate there but for UDAG funds. In addition, for every dollar of UDAG money, the town must provide at least

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Sometime in the near future, the Lake Forest School District Board of Education will again be faced with the need to gain the approval of the voters to increase taxes to finance capital improvements and to achieve equalization in teacher salaries. Before this attempt is made, however, we first have to have mutual confidence restored between those contracted to operate our schools, and those that by their vote have expressed the distinct feeling of having been systematically ignored, the local taxpayers.

Hopefully, the emotionalism and the speech making in connection with the rationalization as to why the referendum failed will soon be replaced by objective, goal oriented actions on both sides so we can productively pursue our goal to provide safe and efficient classrooms for all students, and also establish an environment conducive to teacher retention within the district. Unless this foundation is established, progress will not occur.

Effective communication between planners and the public is essential and must be detailed enough where everyone understands what is needed and why. In my considered opinion, the school administration has been less than successful in this area. We may be labeled as uninformed lay people by some that appear to become easily frustrated when changes are recommended that do not fit their desires, but I suggest apparently capable enough to make rational decisions when confronted with ultimatums we do not agree with. The outcome of the referendum was a clear message. While it may be true that no one likes to see an increase in taxes, those who analyzed the defeat labor under the wrong impression if they think that higher taxes was the main reason for the negative vote.

My suggestion is that the administrator and the board view the results as constructive criticism because problems, whether real or implied, inherited or created will not disappear unless they are solved or proven non-existent to the satisfaction of the public. Board members must be receptive when listening to the comments by the voters and weigh these, along with administration input, before casting a vote. When capital improvements were discussed before the referendum there was a certain amount of indecisiveness. Actions were taken in the interest of expediency and primarily based on the desires of the administration. That was the main reason the citizen referendum committee felt its mission was destined for failure from the start and also why significant opposition was generated before the referendum. Although a brave attempt was made by several board members to indicate full support, I believe that indirectly all of you had various levels of doubt that the referendum would succeed.

I applaud the willingness and determination of the various opposition groups to stand up and be counted. You achieved at least part of your goal, to make the public aware of your objections. Between the answers to your questions presented to the board, which, hopefully, will be stated in public, and the time promised to be made available to all citizens so additional inquiries may be made at the next work shop session, I sincerely hope you and others will receive satisfactory responses. Hidden agendas or gray areas, if they do exist, must be identified and actions taken to eliminate them. Those to whom the questions were or will be directed must come forward publicly and either admit that errors in judgement were made, or that implied accusations are without fact. We must find ways to clear the air, once and for all. The time has come to swing the negative image of the district into a positive direction.

To the teachers, I offer the suggestion that you remain calm and instead of adding to the existing controversy which will achieve nothing, apply your professional expertise toward broadening the knowledge of your students. I am not denying you are frustrated and undoubtedly looking forward to higher salaries, but keep in mind so are many of the taxpayers supporting the district schools. In looking at the frequent awards being received by students, we know the majority of you are doing an excellent job. We would like for you to remain at Lake Forest. What you can do at this point is to channel your energy toward eliminating the weak areas in the curriculum. The public recognizes and appreciates your positive efforts and will respond in due time.

My final comment is to the public in general. You proved, beyond the shadow of a doubt, how you presently feel by defeating the referendum. What we need now is far more people to attend board meetings, so everyone can stay informed and express his or her opinion as issues are discussed.

In closing, let me state that I sincerely hope we can all become a team that will channel its collective energy toward what should be our goal, the improved education of all students within the district. Let us make a concerted effort toward that objective as we approach 1986 and hopefully finally achieve peace within the Lake Forest Community. I have pledged my support, how about you?

Sincerely,
Henry W. Heller

$2.50 from private sources. HUD picks the most promising project proposals and awards grants accordingly. UDAG awards can be used by towns to lend money to a business or to upgrade deviant public facilities needed by a prospect. Loans are repaid with interest to the town, not HUD, explains the specialist. Loan repayments can then be used by the community for additional projects.

Delaware towns and cities qualifying for the program are: Bethel, Blades, Bowers Beach, Bridgeville, Cheswold, Clayton, Delaware City, Delmar, Ellendale, Farmington, Frankford, Frederica, Georgetown, Greenwood, Harrington, Laurel, Leipsic, Lewes, Little Creek, Magnolia, Milford, Milton, New Castle, Odessa, Seaford, Smyrna, Townsend, Woodside and Wyoming.

In the past only Milford and Smyrna have successfully competed for UDAG Small Cities funds.

Over The Backyard Fence

Gab Fest by Pat Hatfield

Someone told me that there was a heavy frost on last Saturday morning. This is a late date for our area. Weatherwise, autumn and winter are not my favorite seasons. But all nature must rest as well as those who live with her. My heart is heavy this morning with concern for our many friends and relatives who have problems. When they hurt, I hurt. My prayer list is so long sometimes I go to sleep before I reach the end, but weariness is something our Lord understands. One of my favorite quotations that I hold in my memory for comfort is from a sermon that my young friend, Rev. "Dickie" Davis used when he preached in our church. In explaining the Master to us, he used these words, "He was born human so he could understand our problems; He was born Divine so he could do something about them." Isn't that a wonderful explanation?

Are you all getting along well with your plans for Christmas? I have some gifts wrapped and my cards are ready to address. We mailed a Christmas box to our Ted in Korea this morning. We are a close-knit family, and this Christmas without Ted will not be easy, but we try to look forward to the time when he will at least be back in the States.

Just had an interesting conversation with my friend, Tess. She is a great reader and always finds some good things to tell me about. It seems that in the old days when they began growing a lot of rice in the South, they knew about flooding the fields with water, but the mules kept slipping in the mud, so they made boots for the mules, putting a metal piece in the bottom to prevent this and of course the rubber boots protected their legs somewhat. Even today, I believe rice is used in greater quantities in the South than in the North. When we lived down there, a man who worked for Dad in the nylon plant, was from Louisiana, and he spoke to us in the supermarket one day. He said, "Isn't this terrible? You can't buy rice here except in these little bitty boxes." He said, "Down in Louisiana, we get it in twelve or fifteen pound bags." Much, I guess, as we buy flour here. Dad and I are both fond of rice, but we had to learn to eat it as a vegetable after we grew up. Both of our parents served it only as a dessert.

Which reminds me that one day I was dining in the southern restaurant, and in listing the desserts, the waitress said, "Corn Pudding." I questioned her about this. I said that up home we serve it only as a vegetable. She replied that we serve it both ways, as a vegetable and as a dessert.

I love these little differences we find in every locality. Another thing I ran into in a southern restaurant. If you order a hot baked potato, the waitress puts your platter in front of you and then proceeds immediately to open your baked potato, chop it up, add the butter and sour cream and mix it all up ready to eat.

There are so many things to learn from these precious people. My next-door-neighbor in Virginia taught me how to make my own pimento cheese and put it on tiny rolled sandwiches, and I still use her cupcakes and waffle recipes. We traded samples of cornbread and each liked the other. And my family sent down scrapple and I introduced her to that.

Brendon Puckham was stopped at the line of scrimmage but broke loose here for a first down. Mike Scott directly behind Puckham made the saving tackle. Otherwise it would have been a TD. Had the Spartans held Delmar would have kicked form deep in their own territory. Photo by Dave Dill

Steve Sipple (10) jumps in on this play which was typical of the play all night...hard tackling and a lot of players in on the plays. Photo by Dave Dill

Brown stars in Lake Forest boot-out by Laurel

by Harry G. Farrow Jr.

LAUREL — They were just one game away from the Division II final. But that was as far as the big freight train of the Lake Forest Spartans got on Monday night in a game played on an unusual date due to the inclement weather over the weekend.

So between the elements and hard nosed Laurel "Bulldogs" football team, the Spartans went down to defeat...for the second time during this season...to Laurel. The first defeat was a 9-6 score during the homecoming game for Lake Forest.

Fumbles hurt both teams with Lake Forest losing the football five times with Laurel recovering four of those times. Laurel fumbled five times losing three to the Spartans.

But the Spartans could not capitalize on any breaks...what few there were for them. Ricky Brown ran the ball very well, and threw three times completing one for 11 yards. On one of those attempts late in the game with time running out, Brown hit Steve Sipple with a perfect strike. Sipple was converged upon by a host of Bulldog tacklers and coughed up the football on the Laurel 35. Sipple took a terrific hit. Laurel ran the clock out from there.

But with Brown's running ability with the Veer offense, it was all overshadowed by a crucial fumble by Brown at the "...one inch line" late in the second quarter just seconds before the end of the first half. According to Brown, the ball never touched his hands on the snap. Went through his legs into the Spartan backfield where one of the Laurel Bulldogs recovered it. That was a crucial play.

The wind and cold played a crucial factor in the outcome of the game. As the game drew on, it became obvious that a field goal might be just enough to spell the difference in the game. So...when Erick Warren stepped up to toe the ball toward the goal posts with the wind to his back with the ball resting on the 35 yard line, it seemed like it would be a repeat of the CR game which was won on Warren's kick. Although Warren always said he kicked them that far in practice still 35 yards is a good boot for a high school athlete.

Danny Alvarez got a similar chance with the wind at his back with the ball resting on the 25 yard line. He kicked his through the uprights. He was one for three, but it proved to be the winning margin.

The Spartans finished the season with a 7-3-1 mark. Certainly one of their best seasons under Coach Jim Fleming. It was "an unusually good" football team. Breaks...well what can you say about how the ball bounces. It did not bounce our way that often. Still all in all it was a pleasure to watch the Spartans this season. Like I say...they had "...an unusually good football team."

Pierce, Kane, Tozer score in park run

by Keith S. Burgess

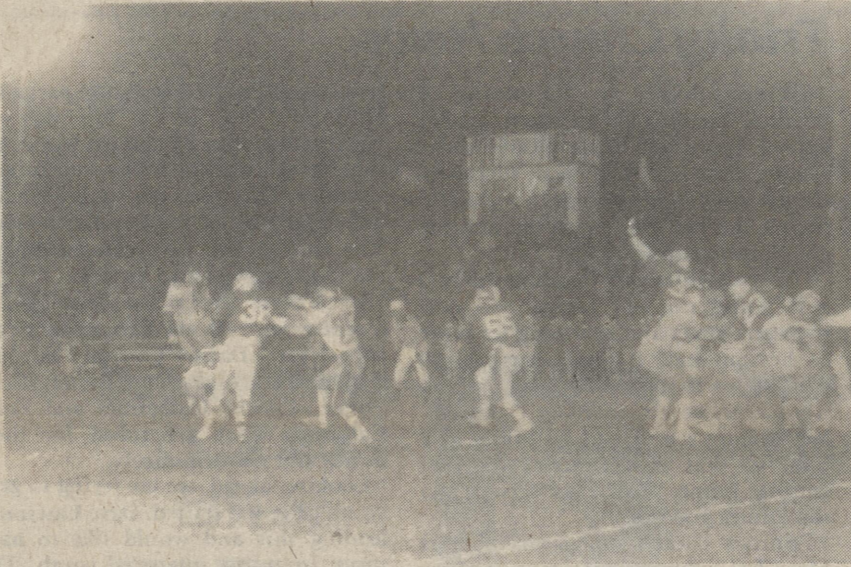

Kent County Parks and Recreation Department held its annual 10K run under miserable rainy conditions at Killen's Pond State Park on Saturday. Since entries had been received from many areas, even as far away as Virginia (not the Delmarva part) it would be difficult to postpone the event.

Some entries did not show up, some others did not finish but eventually 29 hardy, persevering athletes completed the soggy 64 miles. Lake Forest was more than ably represented as present and former Spartans accounted for three age group victories and a course record.

Pam Pierce one of the finest, all-around athletes in Lake Forest history, won the women's division in 44:30 shattering the old record set by Amy

In the Pocket

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

On Friday at Garden State Park in the Breeders Crown for three year old pacers, it was the champion Nihilator going out in style with Bill O'Donnell in the bike. This was the big one's final start - a winning one - victorious in 1:53. The last quarter was in :26 "which was the fastest in the history of harness racing" according to USTA. The distinction being that it was a fast race mile (1:53). "There was one other race where the last quarter was in :26...but through the first three quarters the race was really drawn out...like over 1:53...they were really crawling and the final quarter in :26. But this was the all time mark for the final quarter," added the USTA official. No horse officially has gone a quarter under :26. Nihilator has recorded earnings of $1,864,286 this year and $3,225,653...lifetime.

"He almost caught Bill Elliott for single year's earnings", said Raceweek Publisher Harry G. Farrow Jr. referring to NASCAR star in the motor racing world. But the victory pushed Bill O'Donnell over the $10 million mark for single year's earnings. "Well...okay. He drives more races than Elliott," added Farrow.

On The Road Again won his final on Saturday night at Roosevelt ending his career. It was a $32,500 Open Handicap pace for Buddy Gilmour in 2-00.3. Gilmour has said that OTRA is the best horse he has ever driven. OTRA pushes his earnings to $2,819,102. He will be officially retired in formal ceremonies at Roosevelt on December 14th.

Sunday at Rosecroft John Hogan was injured in a spectacular 4-horse wreck. But he is okay, and will drive again.

Leading dash winners Lachance (525), Campbell (439), Bill Gale and O'Donnell. The leading money winners are O'Donnell with over $10 million, Campbell with $9,194,326 and Lachance. Campbell could cross the $10 million too for the season.

Tozer, Pelton make All-State

by Keith S. Burgess

Mark Tozer and Kelli Pelton of Lake Forest, Mark Stack of Cape Henlopen and Chris Ayres of Milford were named to the Second Annual Wilmington Sports Writers and Broadcasters Association All-State Cross-Country Team.

Tozer was only four days past fifteen when he opened his season September 21 with a sixth place finish in the four-state Lake Forest Invitational. Mark didn't think he had hit his stride in that race, but he didn't finish that low again until he was knocked down in the seasonal finale, the state championship meet. Tozer faced his strongest competition in addition to the state meet in the Salesianum Invitational and in Washington, D.C.'s Spingarn Invitational. He came away with a fifth place trophy and a third place trophy against tough runners from several states.

The Spartan sophomore was undefeated in dual meet competition, being extended only once, by Mark Stack of Cape Henlopen, who was seventh in Group I, which had the fastest runners this fall.

Tozer capped a banner year by being the only sophomore named to first-team all state.

Stack a senior made second team while Chris Ayres, the talented Milford sophomore was a third team choice.

Kelli Pelton, a third team pick, finished her fourth year of cross-country battling a late-season illness, that probably caused her to finish farther back in the last few races, than a healthy Kelli Pelton would have. In the state meet she finished behind three runners who finished third, fifth and sixth, that she had beaten earlier. The highlight of Kelli's season occurred, when she captured the Spingarn, D.C. Invitational and paced Lake Forest to a second place finish.

Ayres, a born runner has lead Coach Joe McDonald's successful effort to reinstate cross-country at Milford High. The Bucs didn't have a team for an eight-year period until McDonald

Allison/Hillin team in '86

Miller High Life will sponsor Bobby Allison and Bobby Hillin on the NASCAR Winston Cup circuit in 1986, with both drivers competing on teams owned by industrialists Bill and Mickey Stavola. Hillin will continue to drive for the existing Stavola Brothers Racing Team. A separate team will be developed for Allison. The shops for both race teams will be on the same property in Harrisburg, N.C. The racing operations will be completely segregated, but both teams' engines will be produced by Ron Puryear, the current engine builder for Stavola Brothers Racing. Hillin, who began his NASCAR career in 1982 while a student at Midland (Texas) Senior High School, was equally pleased with the announcement. Allison and Hillin will race Buicks. Allison is currently developing a LeSabre model for competition, if it is approved by NASCAR. Miller High Life entered NASCAR racing as a car sponsor in 1983, backing Allison and the DiGard Racing Company during their successful drive for the Winston Cup. Allison continued with DiGard in 1984 and the first half of 1985. He left DiGard at mid-season to compete for his own team and Firecracker 400 winner Greg Sacks joined DiGard. Miller maintained sponsorship of both teams.

ATLANTA, GA — Nov. 25 - INVITATIONALIST Drivers J.D. McDuffie, left, and Rusty Wallace look over the list of eligible drivers for the Atlanta Invitational which will be the companion event to The Winston on May 11, 1986 at A.I.R. The announcement was made by R.J.R. Director of Special Events, Wayne Robertson. (1985 Photo by Dozier Mobley) running of The Winston would be held on May 11 at AIR and a companion race also would be part of the weekend. But details on the second race were not finalized at that time. On Monday, Wayne Robertson, director of special events operations for Reynolds Tobacco, unveiled the invitational race at a news conference at the Holiday Inn-Crown Plaza. Robertson said the field for the Atlanta Invitational will be determined by vote of the fans as they will select the 14 drivers who will comprise the starting lineup for the 100-lap, 152.2-mile race. The fans will not be allowed to vote for any of the 10 drivers who will compete in The Winston. A driver who won at least one race during the 1985 NASCAR Winston Cup season automatically qualified for The Winston. The nine drivers to win races this year were Darrell Waltrip, Bill Elliott, Dale Earnhardt, Harry Gant, Neil Bonnett, Cale Yarborough, Ricky Rudd, Terry Labonte and Greg Sacks. However, the rules for the $500,000 event require a minimum of 10 starters. The Winston Cup standings were used to fill out the field. Geoff Bodine, who finished fifth, earned the final spot in the lineup by being the top-rated driver in the final standings. Bodine, who won three races in 1984, was winless this season.

"We felt the fans should say what kind of companion race we have to go with The Winston," said Robertson. "We felt they should determine who runs in this race." Robertson said a driver had to compete in a minimum of 10 Winston Cup races in 1985 to appear on the ballot that fans will use to determine the starting field for the Atlanta Invitational. Ballots with the 26 eligible drivers will be distributed to fans across the country, beginning in January. In addition to direct mail, fans also will have a chance to vote at the first four Winston Cup races of 1986 — the Daytona 500 at Daytona Beach, Fla., the Miller 400 at Richmond, Va., the Carolina 500 at North Carolina Motor Speedway and the Motorcraft 500 at Atlanta International Raceway. A voting booth will be maintained at each of the race tracks. Ballots will also be available from the Winston No. 1 show car drivers during the first three months of 1986. Robertson said the field for the Atlanta Invitational will be announced during the TransSouth 500 weekend at Darlington, S.C. The TransSouth 500 is scheduled for April 13 at Darlington International Raceway.

The top vote-getter will earn the pole position for the invitational race with the rest of the 14-car field being determined by qualifying on Saturday, May 10. The winner of the race, who will earn $75,000 will automatically qualify for the 1987 running of The Winston. "We view The Winston as one of the premier races in the world," adds Robertson, "and we feel the addition of the Atlanta Invitational will make this a very special weekend for all Winston Cup fans."

ATLANTA — The fans of NASCAR Winston Cup racing will determine the field for the Atlanta Invitational to be held Sunday, May 11 at Atlanta International Raceway. The $300,000 race is the companion event to The Winston, NASCAR's race of winners, which will be held later that same day at AIR.

For the first time, The Winston will be held as a separate event, not in conjunction with a scheduled Winston Cup race. The inaugural running of The Winston was held earlier this year at Charlotte Motor Speedway, a day before the Coca-Cola World 600. Last month, officials of R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. announced that the 1986

“Christmas
in Bridgeville”

December 7, 1985

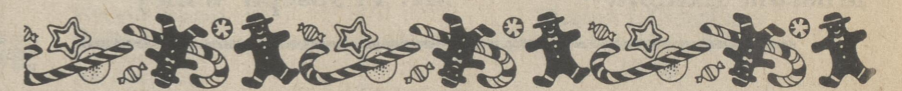

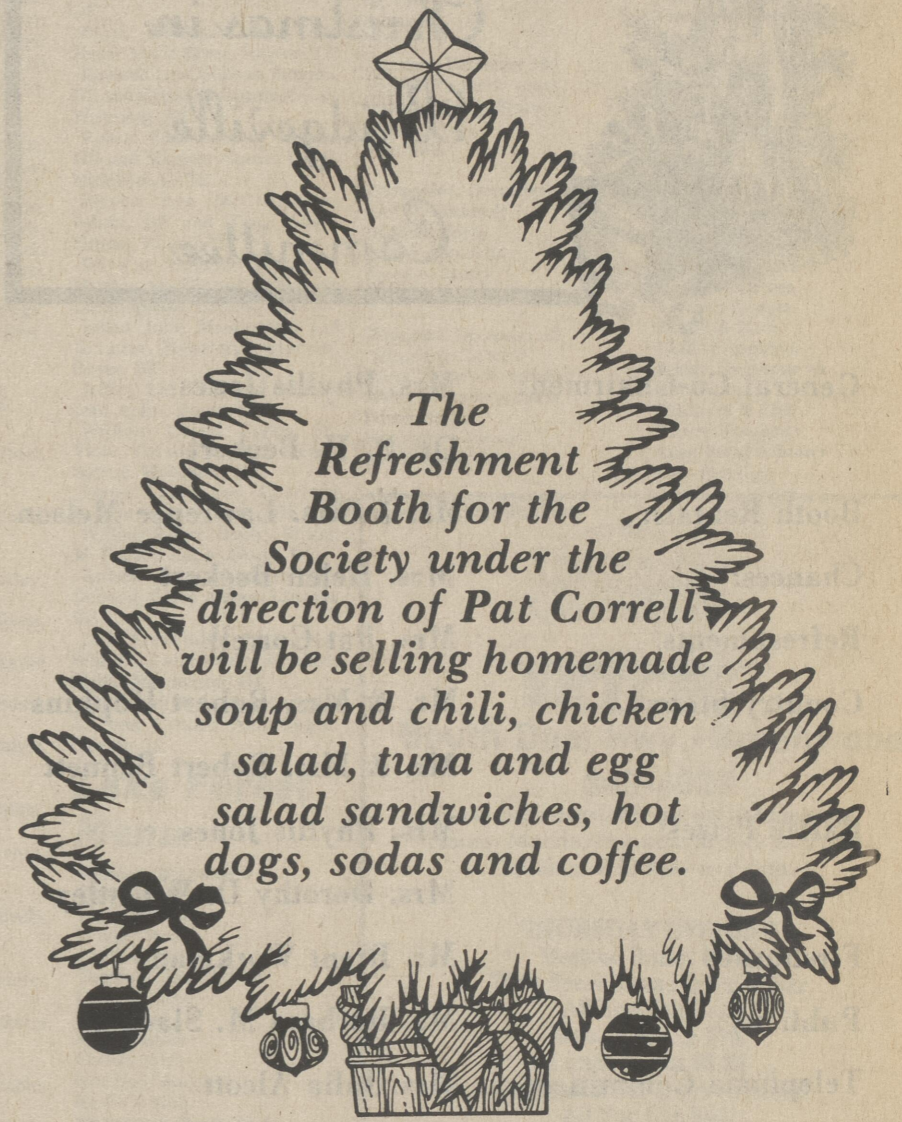

The Bridgeville Historical Society's Christmas in Bridgeville committee co-chairman, Dr. R.H. Beckert and Mrs. Phyllis Jones, is welcoming the holiday season by presenting an expansion of their 10th Annual "Christmas in Bridgeville".

On Saturday, December 7, at 10:00 a.m. the Bridgeville Fire Hall on the corner of Market and Cannon will be filled with more than 55 individual booths with ideas for holiday decorations, gifts and entertaining, not to mention the sweet tooth! The wonder of the Christmas season will be found in the Society's "Country Store," specializing in fresh ground coffee, ginger snaps, country ham and cheeses, and Christmas ornaments and novelties.

Chances are now being sold by Society members on an antique walnut three-drawer chest and a patterned glass footed compote. The refreshment booth will be featuring homemade soups, chili, chicken salad, tuna and egg salad sandwiches, sodas and coffee. The Society Museum on William Street will be the location of several collections by local residents. Also, approximately 100 dolls have been recently added to the collection at the Museum.

The Bridgeville Historical Society invites everyone to attend both free annual events.

The Woodbridge Jr./Sr. High School Key Club members will assist the members of the Society in completing the setting-up of tables for this craft fair.
