

City Hall looks for new home

by Mike Dill

The Harrington City Council held its regular monthly meeting Monday night at City Hall. The major item of interest was to determine the location of a new city building. The town is looking to comprise their city offices, police station and library in one central location.

The Building Committee came before council and submitted a proposal for the new town offices. The committee recommended the empty lot next to Delmarva Power & Light and the Catholic Church at Liberty and Dixon streets.

The lot is considered to be in an optimum area, surrounded by an industrial and commercial environment. The parking lot of the new building would be useful in the event of an overflow of people at city functions.

The type of building for the new city offices was also discussed. The Building Committee felt that the most economical type of structure would be a steel frame with a wood exterior. This otherwise known as a Morton Building. The city is considering approximately 5700 square feet for the new building, 3000 square feet would be used for the new library and 2700 square feet for city functions.

The committee also asked council if it could remain intact until the finding of the new city offices. The Building Committee also stated that it would assist council on the publicity and passing of a referendum for a new building.

After the report of the building committee, James Temple brought before the council another suggestion. Temple stated that former City Councilman John Satterfield had approached him about the selling of his house to the city.

Satterfield would like his house to be the location of the new town offices. Councilman Temple feels there is ample room at the Satterfield residence for town functions. All parts of the lot would be owned by the city.

Temple also felt there was enough room at the Satterfield property to have a drive around driveway for city vehicles. Another suggestion made by council was to move the library to the property to have all city functions in one central location. Council will be going to inspect the property later this week for the space and practicability of this site.

The council is faced with having to choose between at least two practical sites for new city offices. Council members will be out in the community surveying and looking for feedback from citizens on the new location. Also council is currently looking into the possibility of a Federal Grant to aid in the cost of the construction.

Another key point of interest at the monthly meeting dealt with the police department. Council stated that currently the town policemen are out of town 70-75% of the time. Police Chief McIlroy stated that there have been over 160 criminal arrests in the past three months. This constitutes why the police officers have been out of town.

Chief McIlroy stated that because of all the criminal arrests, town police are constantly transporting prisoners. Council is currently drafting a letter to ask for assistance with this problem.

Council also inquired about the irregularity of hours held by town officers. It was stated that one town officer had 48 court hours and 12 police hours in one week. Another irregularity brought up was that one officer worked 74 hours and another worked seven in the same time period. The officer working 74 hours is currently being paid 15 dollars an hour.

Chief McIlroy also came before Council to attain a salary for May 12, 13, and 14 while he is attending a convention in Rehoboth. McIlroy is asking for 16 hours a day for 48 hours of compensated time. The chief is not asking for expenses for the trip.

Also brought before council was the progress of the Fleming Street house. Council felt that the progress on the house was satisfactory and that work could continue. The old part of the house is in extremely bad condition. Council has given the contractor the choice of using the old part of the house or demolishing it.

Another item brought before Council deals with the Thistlewood property. This is the William Simpson farm behind C.T. Film outside of town. Their request to be annexed with the City of Harrington has been approved. Thistlewood is now considered to be part of the town limits.

There has also been a request to rezone the Thistlewood property to an Industrial Manufacturing Park. The request to rezone will be taken up by the Planning and Zoning Commission at a later date.

Another item dealing with the Planning and Zoning Commission is the request of parking behind Hi-Grade Dairy. The council approved the request under the restriction that no trucks or refrigeration units may sit in the parking lot and run. Also the commission approved the use of the house on Clark Street as offices.

Currently many city departments are over-budgeted. This matter will be taken up at budget meetings at a later date. Right now the City of Harrington is owed $17,000 to $20,000 in back taxes. The town is currently looking into a computer system for City Hall.

The City of Harrington has purchased a three-quarter ton pickup and a two-ton dump truck for a combined total of $3250. PFC Cook of the Harrington Police Department will be going before the Council dealing with a hospital bill.

The town is looking for a 24-hour answering service for City Hall to refer calls after 6 p.m.

There has been a request for street lights at Weiner Avenue and Liberty Street and opposite the Bible Fellowship Church on Route 14.

The Scrap Assessment Appeal Hearing will be Monday, April 21 at 7 p.m. Town Council is currently looking at the proposals of three different pension plans. Every meeting hereafter of the Harrington Town Council will begin with the recital of the Pledge of Allegiance.

Council has drafted a letter to send to the Department of Transportation requesting information on getting crossgates for the railroad tracks south of Harrington on Route 13.

General Vetter talks on Communist threat

by William T. Ficka

Retired Brigadier General Fred W. Vetter Jr. delivered a provocative speech to the Conservative Caucus of Lower Delaware at American Legion Post 7 in Harrington on Saturday.

The former commander of the Dover Air Force Base, Vetter later became Delaware's first Secretary of Public Safety, serving from August 1970 to December 1973.

His talk focused on the Caribbean area in general and on Nicaragua in particular.

"Cuba is nothing more than a major bastion of the Soviets. How would you like a few more Cubas in the Caribbean?" Vetter asked rhetorically. "We can't afford another Communist power base in our backyard," he added. Having served a tour of duty in the Caribbean, the 64-year-old Vetter, who has fought in three wars, spoke from first-hand experience.

Vetter doesn't have much confidence in the Contra's ability to topple the Sandinistas and looks upon their task as "next to impossible." He referred to the $100 million projected Contra aid as "a pittance."

"Guerrillas are not the best allies. They're too hard to control. Supporting guerrillas is unlikely to lead us to the conference table," said Vetter.

Vetter cited the 3,500 Cuban soldiers in Nicaragua and the large supplies of military equipment, the pilots, technicians, advisers and the $700 million provided by the Soviets.

In the long run we're going to have to live with the Sandinistas or overthrow them ourselves," said Vetter.

"I think we're going to have to go in at some time," he added.

If we went in, it would be with advance notice. It would be necessary to take their guns away, release prisoners and remove foreign military, including American troops, according to Vetter.

Vetter was careful to point out that a solution must be found. That we must find a way for Nicaragua to have a truly democratic and representative form of government. That it can't just be another totalitarian government with a different name.

"One thing I notice about liberals is that they don't have any handy-dandy solutions...they don't like questions...they don't like hard answers," said Vetter.

"Liberals like to say 'What are you trying to do, start another war? Do you want another Vietnam?' And that's all you get. While we're wringing our hands trying to decide what to do, the Marxists, who are highly organized, go in and consolidate their positions," he added.

"Carper voted the party ticket, which I don't think we should do in life-threatening situations," he said, referring to the U.S. House vote on Contra aid.

Vetter criticized Marcos of the Philippines, Somoza of Nicaragua, and Trujillo of the Dominican Republic for looting their national treasures which, he added, included the hard-earned dollars of American taxpayers.

Vetter drew a big laugh from the audience when he said, "Trujillo was good the first four or five years, then his mother took over all the dairies and his brother took over all the whorehouses."

Vetter said many people had wondered why they built that long runway in Grenada. He said it was for Russian bombers to land and re-fuel. There is now a half-finished long runway in Nicaragua.

"When they wanted to build one in Cuba, we said, 'You do and we'll take it out.' That's not commonly known, but it's true," said Vetter.

If the situation in Central America gets worse, Vetter said it's possible "200,000 people are going to head north. We'll have a flood of immigrants that is unimaginable."

Vetter told a graphic story of a prisoner in Nicaragua. The prisoner's cell was hermetically sealed except for a tube through which he breathed. The prisoner could hear his wife's screams at the end of the corridor. He heard her scream for a week.

"Actually, his wife had been there only four or five hours. They had recorded her screams and played them continuously," said Vetter.

The audience of some 35 people, which included Republican State Representative Brad Barnes of Bridgeville, gave Vetter a loud round of applause at the end of his talk. His talk was followed by a question and answer session.

Following Vetter's stint as Secretary of Public Safety, he went on to Rockwell International where he served as president of two corporations for six years. This was followed by six years in Washington, D.C. as an associate administrator in the U.S. Department of Transportation. He keeps active today as a business consultant.

Heritage Day Slogan Contest

The Harrington Heritage Day Committee of Harrington, Delaware is looking for a slogan. They are asking the public to participate in a contest by submitting slogans of 10 words or less in writing to the Co-ordinator: Mrs. Beverly Turner, R.F.D. 3, Box 33, Harrington, Delaware 19952.

The winner will be presented with a prize of $10.00 on Heritage Day, September 20.

Entries should be postmarked no later than April 30th to be considered.

The committee will pick the winner at the May meeting. The slogan should reflect either the purpose of Heritage Day or some aspect of it. Committee members and their families are not eligible.

Heritage Day began in 1979 as a birthday celebration for the Greater Harrington Historical Society and the Harrington Public Library, each being one year old at the time. The first coordinator was Jacquie Davis, assisted by Kenneth McKnatt.

The next two years Mr. McKnatt took the job, followed by Christine Hayward for one year and then Sue Ellen Dennis for two years. Last year's leader was Barbara Page. In 1983, it was made a separate Committee of the community and members of all organizations and businesses were invited to serve on the advisory council. It grew too large to remain a part of the Historical Society's programs, even though they still participate in many of the day's activities.

Heritage Day features a large Flea Market, Crafts Exhibit, food vendors, Antique cars, Historic exhibits and many more items of interest. It is always the third Saturday in September.

Anyone wishing to participate should get in touch with Mrs. Turner. Now sharpen your wits and your pencils and let us hear from you.

DNREC schedules hearing on water well permits

On Wednesday, April 16, at 7 p.m., the Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Control (DNREC) will hold a public hearing to consider adoption of draft regulations governing the construction of water wells. The hearing will be held in the DNREC auditorium, Richardson and Robbins building, 89 Kings Highway, Dover.

- There are several key features in the draft regulations:
- anyone drilling a water well will be required to obtain a permit from DNREC;
 - permits will only be issued to licensed water well contractors, except in cases where a homeowner wishes to drill his own domestic well on his own property;
 - all wells will be required to be finished above grade (wells can't be buried), to ease repairs if problems should occur;
 - the well abandonment procedure will be strictly spelled out, and guidelines on capping or sealing will be instituted to protect aquifers.

Flash Furniture no flash in the pan

by William T. Ficka

Patricia Lowe, owner of Flash Furniture in Harrington, works seven days and seven nights a week.

But it has paid off. She says business is booming.

Lowe, of Felton, ran a giant yard sale for two years in a big barn opposite the Felton railroad station. Business was so good that she started looking for a better and bigger location.

She found it on U.S. 13 in the same building occupied by Revelation Rob.

Lowe opened Flash Furniture on February 1 and she's been kept busy ever since.

"I've been really busy. I've been working seven days and seven nights and I have a girl working for a few days a week helping me out," Lowe said.

She spends her days in the store and her nights purchasing new merchandise. She buys her stock from both private homes and auctions.

Flash Furniture carries a complete line of new and used furniture. Among the items in the 4,500 square foot store are mahogany dining room sets, Victorian rockers, TV sets, kitchen tables and chairs, three-quarter mattresses and box springs, oak corner cabinets and secretaries, desks, household items and flea market tables.

"I try to get quality merchandise that I can sell at low prices. Many of the customers tell me they can't believe the low prices. I even have dealers from Rehoboth Beach and Virginia Beach that come to me," Lowe said.

Lowe's nighttime purchases enable her to bring in new stock every two days.

Flash Furniture provides home delivery service and a two-week layaway plan. It's open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. seven days a week.

More filings for school board seats

Edna Bakley and S. Michael Thompson, both of Felton, have filed for the seat on the Lake Forest School Board which holds a term for term is Sara Williams.

The other seat up for election is the five-year-term one which is currently occupied by Russell L. McCready of three years.

Deadline for the filing was Monday, April 14th.

The other candidate who has previously filed for the three-year

Andrews Lake. McCready filed last week. Others who have filed for the five-year-term are Edward L. Welch and Donald Draper.

Zeke Dill and son, David Dill of Felton, made the annual walk across the Chesapeake Bridge on Sunday. The annual "Bridge Walk" attracts thousands each year. Zeke has made the event the last 10 years. Here, some of walkers are seen strolling. Photo by David Dill.

Fire hydrants will be flushed in Felton this weekend

Please be advised that the fire hydrants in the town of Felton, Delaware will be flushed this Saturday and Sunday mornings, April 19 and 20, 1986. Residents should run water through their taps until any discoloration has disappeared before doing any laundry this weekend. (If you have a water conditioner you may wish to use an outside tap). For additional information call Joe Gannon at 284-3004.

Roth to hold Academy Day

"Those who say we have no heroes do not know where to look," Roth said. "We do have heroes, from astronauts to Presidents, from soldiers to businessmen, and many had their start at the Military Service Academies." "Each year I sponsor Academy Day to let the students know the opportunity that is available to anyone with the dreams and dedication to make it at the Service Academies," Roth said. "It's tough, but that's what heroes are made of and we graduate heroes from Annapolis, West Point, Kings Point and Colorado Springs every year."

Complaint filed against Milton Company

On April 4, the Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Control filed a civil complaint in Superior Court in Kent County charging the Draper Canning Company of Milton with violating wastewater discharge permit limits during the first three months of 1985.

Monthly reports submitted by the company indicate that in those three months treated wastewater discharged into Round Pole Branch at times exceeding permitted levels for total suspended solids, biochemical oxygen demand, coliform bacteria, chlorine, and pH, in violation of both state and federal permits.

The company stopped discharging wastewater into the stream in April of 1985, in keeping with provisions of a 1984 consent agreement, but, to date, the company has not fulfilled all of the provisions of that 1984 agreement.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Notice is hereby given that the City Council of Harrington will hold a Public Hearing at 7:30 P.M., Monday, May 5, 1986, at the Harrington City Hall for the purpose of receiving public comment on the proposed rezoning of Lot 65 and 66, Map Reference #171.17-01 and Lot 20 Map Reference #180.05-01 from Residential Class (R-1) to Commercial Class (C-3).

The request for such rezoning was made by Hi-Grade Dairy and was reviewed by the Planning and Zoning Commission and favorably reported back to Council.

A complete plat map describing the location of lot 65 and 66 on Clark Street and Lot 20 abutting the alley south of Hi-Grade Dairy, is on file at the City Office and may be examined on working days between the hours of 8:00 A.M. and 4:00 P.M.

Abbotts Mill Programs

AGES 9-12 — Creatures of the Night

Ses. B — Friday, April 18, 7-9 p.m. (Abbotts Mill) — Armed with flashlights and long nets, we will venture out searching for those early spring amphibians whose calls fill the night air. Our haunts will take us through cattails to pond edges and mudbanks in efforts to catch the elusive spring pepper as well as others. First-hand observations allow for better understanding of their life cycle, anatomy, and habits. Wear old shoes and bring a flashlight; nets and a snack provided. For information call 422-0847.

Session A — Neighborhood Animals — Tuesday, April 22 — Take a close look at those familiar backyard neighbors — squirrels, rabbits, raccoons, possums, woodchucks, mice and others. What do they have in common? What do they eat and where do they hide? Discover the answers to these questions as well as your own.

Session B — Paddling Mammals — Tuesday, April 29 — Meet muskrats, otters, and beavers during our look at mammals who live in freshwater ponds and streams.

Budget book burning

By Edwin Feulner

With Congress now sweating out the arduous task of meeting the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings deficit targets, the "Washington Monument Ploy" (WMP) is making its annual appearance. WMP is shorthand for a tired old budgeting argument that goes something like this: if spending is cut for, say, the U.S. Park Service, then the Washington Monument will have to be closed to visitors to save money.

This year's run of WMP (pronounced wimp) has a slightly new twist. Several weeks ago, Daniel Boorstin, the Librarian of Congress and an eminent U.S. scholar, trooped across the street from the Library building to the Capitol to sound an alarm against cutting the Library's budget. Proposed cuts would, he said in his testimony, require a reduction of more than $600,000 in book purchases and about the same kind of cut in book preservation work. Then he added a kicker, just to make sure everyone got his point — he announced a reduction in Library reading room hours, saying that he would no longer be able to keep the Library open late at night and on weekends. The Library, under the Boorstin WMP plan, now closes at 5:30 (except on Wednesday) and Sunday hours have been eliminated.

This was bound to raise howls of protest on and off Capitol Hill, since many Washingtonians use the library as part of their work in the public policy process.

"The greatest of republics has been served by the greatest of the world's libraries," Boorstin said. "But this will not continue to be possible unless the Congress takes measures to repair the damage to be done by the vast and unprecedented cuts in the library's budget."

According to Boorstin, cutting the budget is another example of Washington's misplaced priorities. "Historians will not fail to note that the people who could spend $300 billion on their defense would not spend $18 million on their knowledge," he said, "and could not even keep their libraries open in the evening."

"They will recall the last epoch of the Roman Empire when Romans were so fearful of the barbarians that they imitated the barbarians. These are not the priorities of civilization and freedom."

Boorstin is trying to WMP his way through Gramm-Rudman like every other special-interest pleader — instead of seriously examining the Library of Congress budget and coming up with the necessary savings.

As anybody who has ever managed any business or program knows, one can always find a way to trim 5 percent from the budget without having to resort to extreme measures. But that's not the way of U.S. budget politics.

The political Left has now seized upon the unfortunate circumstances of the Library to get a little free television coverage, staging demonstrations at which such catchy slogans as "Books, not bombs!" are chanted. This, of course, is not the choice the President and Congress made — budgeting, especially at the federal level, is not a binary proposition, there are many priorities to weigh.

All of which leads to a final point. Boorstin may lack the fortitude to make tough budget choices, but he has dramatized the great defect in the much-touted Gramm-Rudman-Hollings budget law, which is that in the absence of political resolve, the budget axe will fall automatically.

The Library of Congress case shows exactly what is wrong with the federal budget process. Nobody wants to make tough choices. Everybody thinks their work is special. We have whining, and pleading, and demonstrations — and budgetary gridlock results.

Commentary

Vetter gives rousing talk at American Legion

by William T. Ficka

The Conservative Caucus of Lower Delaware heard an effective talk by retired Brigadier General Fred W. Vetter Jr. on Saturday. The former commander of the Dover Air Force Base gave a convincing, well-reasoned speech on "Nicaragua and the Threat to Our National Security." (See story on front page.)

Vetter is a knee-jerk conservative. He's his own man all the way. He roundly criticized Marcos, Somoza and Trujillo for their totalitarian regimes and their looting of the national treasuries. Criticism of this trio of rogues usually comes from the left. But if the applause that greeted Vetter's talk is any indication, there couldn't have been many in the audience who objected to these denunciations.

Vetter is a handsome, debonair man of 64 who looks 10 years younger. His silver hair and moustache give him a distinguished look that fits in perfectly with the appellation "Retired Brigadier General." If he had chosen acting as a career instead of the military, the Hollywood director in need of a general would have asked central casting to send Fred Vetter.

It's too bad Biden and Carper or their representatives weren't on hand to hear Vetter's thought-provoking talk on this most controversial issue.

Dave Coady, chairman of the Conservative Caucus of Lower Delaware, picked a winner when he chose Vetter as guest speaker.

Affirmative action and the Thirteenth Amendment

by Kenneth M. Holland

EDITOR'S NOTE — One of the most hotly disputed constitutional questions of our time has been that of affirmative action. Affirmative action programs are intended to overcome the effects of past racial discrimination on its victims and their descendants. Yet these programs strike many as unfair — unfairly punishing innocent whites, and giving unfair preferences to members of minority groups. Do these preferences really help those they are intended to benefit? In this article, Professor Holland argues that the policy of granting preferences based on race only perpetuates the inequalities it is designed to overcome.

The Thirteenth Amendment, ratified in December 1865, declares that "slavery...shall (not) exist within the United States." Since by the time of its ratification, the Emancipation Proclamation and the Union Army had liberated all blacks held as slaves within the former Confederacy, one could conclude that the amendment was a gratuity, with no real significance then and certainly not now.

Such is not the case, however, for in accordance with section 2 of the amendment, which authorizes "Congress...to enforce this article by appropriate legislation," the Congress in 1866 enacted a civil rights bill. The law secured to blacks the same rights as whites to acquire property, to go and come at pleasure, to enforce rights in the courts, to make contracts and to inherit and dispose of property.

But how could a prohibition on slavery be the basis of equal civil rights? In the course of reviewing the constitutionality of the Civil Rights Act of 1866, the Supreme Court in the Civil Rights Cases (1883) provided this answer:

"It is assumed that the power vested in Congress, to enforce the article by appropriate legislation, clothes Congress with power to pass all laws necessary and proper for abolishing all badges and incidents of slavery in the United States."

The Thirteenth Amendment forbids racial discrimination in the rights of citizenship, then, because such discrimination was one of the features, or "badges," of the slave system.

Given that the amendment has contemporary civil rights relevance, is there a relationship between the Thirteenth Amendment and the controversy surrounding the policy of granting racial preferences to blacks in school admissions and hiring? Indeed there is. Because affirmative action, in the perception of many, rests upon an assumption of Negro inferiority, racial quotas infringe upon the right of blacks under the Thirteenth Amendment to be free from the badges and incidents of slavery.

The fact that slavery was confined in the American colonies and states to African blacks is evidence that beliefs in racial inferiority were at the foundation of the South's "peculiar institution." Racial quotas also perpetuate the myth of Negro inferiority. "Reverse discrimination" negatively affects the attitude of whites toward blacks, the image of blacks among whites, and the self-image of blacks. White perception of the Negro is the key to the race problem, but affirmative action is a barrier to the formation of a favorable disposition among whites. "There is perhaps no device more destructive to the notion of equality," warns Justice Rehnquist, "than...the quota."

The policy of racial preference reinforces stereotypes. It helps form in the minds of whites the image of blacks as children or those less gifted and, thus, in need of special advantages. In the words of Thomas Sowell, a prominent black economist:

"What all the arguments and campaigns for quotas are really saying, loud and clear, is that black people just don't have it, and that they will have to be given something in order to have something. The devastating impact of this message on black people — particularly black young people — will outweigh any few extra jobs that may result from this strategy."

Today, the successful black man or woman can never be assured that recognition is a product of merit. Sowell goes on to warn that:

Those black people who are already competent, and who could be instrumental in producing more competence among this rising generation, will be completely undermined as black becomes synonymous — in the minds of black and white alike — with incompetence, and black achievement becomes synonymous with charity and payoffs.

At the back of the black attorney's or physician's mind will always be the suspicion that he or she is an "affirmative action" doctor or lawyer. Whites, sharing these doubts, may avoid the more qualified professional simply because he is black. Justice

William O. Douglas said that affirmative action rests on the "assumption...that Blacks or Browns cannot make it on their individual merit," leaving upon its intended beneficiaries "a stamp of inferiority." Justice Lewis Powell regards racial quotas as unconstitutional because they "only reinforce common stereotypes holding that certain groups are unable to achieve success without special protection based on a factor having no relationship to individual worth."

Affirmative action programs are motivated by a desire to repair three hundred years of injustice. They have, however, consequences that are contrary to the letter and spirit of the Thirteenth Amendment, which remains a vital provision of our Constitution.

Carper supported law enforcement amendments on gun control

WASHINGTON — Delaware's Congressman Tom Carper did not support the gun decontrol bill that passed the U.S. House of Representatives on Thursday because it essentially ignored the major concerns of America's law enforcement community and seriously weakened handgun control measures.

Carper supported a compromise amendment that attempted to lift certain restrictions against hunters and sportsmen, while providing for the concerns of the law enforcement community.

"A major question in this issue is how to weigh the possible inconvenience to gun owners and dealers against the lives of police officers and innocent citizens," Carper said.

"I supported a compromise position that, I sincerely believe, would have met the legitimate concerns of our sportsmen, hunters and collectors, and would have provided for the law and order measures that our law officers desperately need."

Carper pointed to several problems with the Volkmer bill that passed:

- 1) it knocks down current law banning the interstate transportation of handguns, overriding state and local restrictions;
- 2) it weakens current law by allowing individuals to sell guns without a license, or keeping records, thereby hampering law enforcement traceability of guns sold and used in crimes;
- 3) it omitted a ban on the future production of silencers;
- 4) it opens up ammunition sales, including armor-piercing bullets, to anyone, no license required; and,
- 5) it omitted a ban on the importation of X-ray-proof plastic, lethal handguns.

Selling fed electra

By Edwin Feulner

Though it was never the federal government's intention to compete with Pacific Gas and Electric and other public utilities, the feds currently are generating and selling electricity in twenty-six states.

The government owns five power-generating facilities, called power marketing administrations (PMAs): the Bonneville, Southwestern, Southeastern, Alaska, and Western area power administrations. Along with the 53-year-old Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA), Big Brother Electra operated 174 plants in 1984, providing nearly 10 percent of America's entire electric power.

The Reagan administration wants to get the government out of the electric business, which it shouldn't have gotten into in the first place, and has suggested in its fiscal 1987 budget selling the PMAs. The administration is getting some powerful grassroots support from Citizens for a Sound Economy, a quarter-million-strong citizens lobby, but is facing an equally powerful backlash from business and consumer groups in the five PMA regions.

The administration's budget plan leaves much to the imagination. Philosophically it is sound; it is patently unfair, the argument goes, for U.S. taxpayers in towns and cities not served by the PMAs—places such as Lynn, Mass., Duluth, Minn., and Wheeling, W. Va.—to be subsidizing commercial and residential customers of the PMAs.

But winning the philosophical battle doesn't explain how the administration is going to get the thousands of people who are benefiting from the cheap electric power to give up their freebies. And without such a game plan, the proposal is as good as dead.

Now to the rescue comes Milton R. Copulos. You might remember the foolish Copulos from several years ago when President Carter and many of the country's allegedly "most knowledgeable" energy experts were wringing their hands over the OPEC oil cartel. While they were saying "woe unto us" and predicting $50-a-barrel oil, silly Copulos was saying "All we have to do is decontrol energy prices and the OPEC cartel will fall apart." He predicted oil prices would eventually plummet well below $20-a-barrel. And he predicted a potential oil glut. We did (decontrol); they did (fall apart); and it did (the recent closing price of oil on the spot market was around $12-a-barrel).

The thing about Copulos is that he understands the way the world works. And that's the beauty of his plan for selling the PMAs.

Don't put the PMAs on the auction block, where only a handful of big companies could afford to snap them up, he argues. Instead, he says, sell them to the public through stock offerings. And in order to win the backing of the people who now benefit from the subsidized electricity the PMAs sell, give employees and customers of the PMAs special discounts on the stock.

My distinguished conservative colleague, James J. Kilpatrick, has called the idea of "privatizing" the PMAs a bit far-fetched. But there is nothing far-fetched about it if the government uses the kind of plan offered by Copulos.

First, the Copulos plan offers instant gratification, and would bring into the U.S. Treasury an estimated $60 billion or more in revenue from the sale of stock. If the government sold the power-generating assets of the TVA as well, the figure could approach $100 billion.

Second, the Copulos plan is realistic. Politics, it is said, is the art of the possible. The Copulos plan was not designed by a day-dreamer, but by a seasoned political pro with deep roots in Maryland's populist Democrat tradition. It is a people plan; the people most affected by the sale of the PMAs would be the people who would benefit the most from the sale.

It is also a plan that has been tested—by Margaret Thatcher in Great Britain, who used exactly this strategy to "privatize" Britain's phone company, British Telecom, and other nationalized companies and industries.

Selling the PMAs would be a good way to test the British privatization model in the U.S. It would also be a good way to see just how serious Congress is about cutting the deficit.

Foster grandparents celebrate 19th anniversary

The Advisory Council of the Delaware Foster Grandparent Program has announced a 19th anniversary celebration to be observed on April 18, 1986, at the Dover Air Force Base Officer's Club.

A luncheon will be attended by the 195 men and women who serve as Foster Grandparents in fifty five (55) locations throughout the state.

These remarkable older persons will be commended for their ability to provide companionship, guidance and encouragement to children with special and often multiple critical needs.

Though eligibility for Foster Grandparents begins at age sixty (60), 57 percent of the Delaware group are age seventy (70) to eighty eight (88). Of equal significance is the fact that 144 (74 percent) will receive pins, plaques or certificates for three through nineteen years service.

Among those being recognized are: Effie Raughley, Harrington, 15 years (plaque); Ida T. May, Frederica, 14 years (pin); Harriet Robinson, Harrington, 14 years (pin); Mary King, Frederica, 13 years (pin); Blanche Carr, Felton, 7 years (pin); Marguerite Jones, Milford, 3 years (certificate).

Presenting comments and awards will be: Dr. Wade Freeman, Director of Older American Volunteer Programs, ACTION Headquarters, Washington, D.C.; Frances M. West, Secretary, Delaware Department of Community Affairs; Jerry Yates, Director, ACTION District III; Nancy Olsen, Director of the Delaware Division of Volunteer Services.

Senators Roth and Biden and Congressman Carper are also expected to be represented.

Foster Grandparents are stipended volunteers who serve children twenty (20) hours per week.

The Delaware Program is funded and administered by ACTION and the Department of Community Affairs, Division of Volunteer Services.

National Laboratory Week

Dickinson Medical Group's Laboratory staff join other laboratories in recognizing National Laboratory week April 13-19. Laboratory Medicine is a critical aspect of patient care which is usually overlooked by the majority of lay people.

The laboratory is directed by a pathologist or by a physician with specific training in laboratory entities such as chemistry or hematology. Staffing includes professionals on two levels: technician and technologist. Each level has stringent national standards regarding formal education and experience. Before a "lab tech" is deemed acceptable, they must obtain licensure and be competent in all aspects of laboratory medicine. The Dickinson Staff, Debbie and Ruth, are members of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists and participate in continuing education programs to remain current with new ideas in their field.

As health care moves out of the traditional hospital setting and into out-patient care, the laboratory is adjusting to the change. Private laboratories, independent laboratories, and clinic laboratories are increasing in numbers to better serve patients, as well as save valuable hospital laboratories for immediate and inpatient care. Smaller laboratories, such as Dickinson, can give specialized treatment to patients, yet provide the large laboratory support.

Lions journey for sight

On Saturday, April 19, 1986 at 10:00 a.m., the Murderkill Lions Club of Frederica will again sponsor their annual Walk & Bike-A-Thon to raise funds for aiding those having sight problems. While Lions are dedicated to help people, the Murderkill Club has favored aid to those either blind or having limited vision. Last years funds helped purchase a seeing eye dog, many pairs of eye glasses and laboratory work on eye transplants.

The event will start at the Frederica Volunteer Fire Station and cover a one mile marked route through town, approximately following that set by last spring's Journey for Sight. Several of the 1985 participants pedaled or walked more than ten miles. If it rains on April 19, the event will be postponed and held on the following Saturday, April 26 at the same time and place.

There will be special prizes for the top fund raisers and Journey for Sight "T"-Shirts for all participants raising twenty-five dollars or more. Each competitor must submit a signed entrance form which lists all the sponsors and their pledge to pay so much for each mile travelled. Forms are available at each shop or school displaying a poster or from any Murderkill Lions member.

The Harrington Train Tower Museum put up their fence this week on 50 feet of land leased to them by Conrail. They are still in need of volunteers to work on the Caboose. Any interested parties contact Mr. Don Jester at 398-8298. Please we need your help.

Get well wishes go out to Mrs. Barbara Paige.

Mrs. Daniel McSweeney was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. James N. Donovan on Saturday evening. They went to dinner at the China Restaurant and then to see the play "On Golden Pond" at Wesley College. One of our Harrington residents Darrell Jarrell played Bill Ray and he was very good. The nights events were memorable and a good time was had by all.

The Harrington Historical Society is having their annual auction on Saturday the 19th. That's this Saturday. It will be held at Taylor & Messick at 7 p.m. These funds will be used to finish the church and start work on the caboose. Also anyone who shops the Toy Store in Milford on the 19th, mention the Harrington Historical Society, and they will give you 10% off your purchase price. Also don't forget they will take donations up until 7 p.m. on the 19th. They will be picked up by calling 398-3635 or 398-8354, or they may be brought to Welch's Seed Service but the night of the sale take them to Taylor & Messick. Also the Historical Society will have their history meeting on Thursday the 17th at 7:30 p.m. at the Harrington Senior Center. Participants welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Taylor celebrated their 50th anniversary at Asbury Church Sunday afternoon.

Happy Birthday wishes go out to April Sherwood, Bonnie Maris, Martha Morelli, William H. Mervine IV, Robert Garey and Ann Larimore.

Get well wishes go out to Gene (Harry Eugene) Turner who is recuperating after an operation.

American Legion Post #7 in Harrington had an Easter Egg Hunt on March 30th sponsored by Buck Hopkins of Buck's Auto Repair, Ricky Raughley of Watkins's Auto Supplies, Jim Beene of Harrington Service Center, Robert Smith of Dr. Smith's Denistry and Ray Gagne of UpTown Liquors in Milford.

There were 3 age groups. Prizes were given for the most and special eggs found. There were games played and refreshments were served. Everyone had a nice time.

Mrs. Elbert Hackett and daughter Pat and son of Newark, DE were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Betts.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Brown were dinner guests Saturday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bradley.

Visitors this week of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Brown were Elma Coverdale and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Brown.

The new roof is now completed on the Harrington Historical Society Museum on Fleming Street. The interior decorating committee will have their meeting Monday the 14th at 1:00.

Mr. Donald Marvel of East Hartford, Conn. spent last week visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marvel.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Kornfield and children, David and Rachel of Waynesboro, Pa. visited Anna Belle Brown for a few days during Easter week.

Congratulations to Miss Barbara Sockrider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Major Sockrider, and Mr. John Van Sickle of Milford, who were married at a candlelight service at the Houston United Methodist Church on March 29. After a wedding trip to Mexico, they are at home on South Walnut Street in Milford. May they share many years of wedded bliss.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sapp, Mr. William Scott, Mrs. Eleanor Yerkes, Mrs. Pauline Morgan and Miss Connie Morgan were part of a group of 44 who departed from Milford Senior Center on March 27 for a trip to Hawaii. We spent one night and one day in Los Angeles, Calif., where we toured Universal Studios. It was interesting to see just how movies are made. We spent three days in Honolulu, on the island of Oahu, three days on the island of Kauai, and two days on the island of Maui. It was a delightful trip.

Mrs. William Gallagher spent a few days last week in the Peninsula General Hospital, Salisbury, having a pacemaker inserted. She is now at home and doing very well.

Mr. Josiah Parvis was a patient in the Milford Memorial Hospital for a few days last week. He too is at home and recuperating nicely.

Mrs. Margaret Towers, Mrs. Anna May Marvel, Mrs. Edna Sapp, Mrs. Laureta Williams and Mrs. Pauline Morgan attended the Musical Tea at the Manor House in Seaford on Wednesday. They also visited Mrs. Anna English.

Gab Fest

by Pat Hatfield

When each spring arrives I always think it is the most beautiful one yet. It is my favorite time of the year. When I feast my eyes on the spring flowers I say, "Yes, this is the best one...never has the Forsythia been so gorgeous, or the Japonica so red, or the fig tree so covered with pink blossoms...even the dandelions in the emerald green grass are the deepest yellow ever." The first dandelion bloomed in the dog yard this week and in a day's time the vivid green grass was alive with the tiny golden buttons. Well, I like dandelions, and yellow is my favorite color.

This week I enjoyed another ten minutes while I watched the little Downy woodpecker going up and down the large trunk of the sycamore tree, diligently hunting his breakfast. He was so very tiny and the tree is so big. The old familiar saying came to me... "The ocean is so big, and my boat is so small." I said a little prayer for him that he might have a happy summer with us here at Trail's End.

The rose garden has received "Intensive Care" from Gardener Dad and they are putting forth their baby leaves.

I was reading a most interesting thing in a current copy of the National Geographic. It was in an article about the Panama Canal and that part of the world and most interesting, but the little gold nugget I sifted out was the

Senior Center News

Well, it's time to look at some upcoming events at the Harrington Senior Center. First let me tell you what we'll be having for lunch on Thursday the 17th. Chicken and Dumplings, Cole Slaw, Cranberry Sauce, Mixed Vegetables and Pears. Now doesn't that sound just "yummy"?

On Friday the 18th, we will be having our Stretch and Strengthen Program with Anita. This program is sponsored by the Visiting Nurse Association. Also on that day we are sponsoring a trip to Dover Mall for their Craft Show. In the afternoon our Bridge Club will be meeting for their games.

On Monday the 21st we will be having two programs in the afternoon. The first is Legal Aid. If you would like an appointment with the legal aide, please call the Center. Also we like to inform people that after the legal aid gave their presentation on Living Wills last month, we kept copies of instructions and the actual forms for the Living Wills. If you would like a copy, please stop by the office. There is no charge. Another program for that afternoon will be Medicine Safety with Gloria Jubilee, this will begin at 1 p.m. in the dining room.

On Tuesday the 22nd, we are having another wonderful lunch. (Our lunches are furnished by the MANNA program). We are having Delaware Chicken with Milk Gravy, Mashed potatoes, Cole Slaw, Biscuit with Honey, Lemon Pudding with Topping. Now doesn't that make your mouth water?

In the afternoon at 1 p.m. Dr. Pfeifer of the Dickinson Medical Center will be here to discuss Total Joint Replacement. In recent years, joint replacement has become a more widespread alternative operation. If you have any questions about the pros or cons of such operations, please plan on being with us on that date.

fact that along the Panamanian Highway in some of the forestation there is a section where the tree trunks grow SQUARE. The scientists have not been able to find the reason for this. Isn't that fascinating to know about? Our scientists are marvelous, dedicated folk, and I have every respect for them, but there comes a time when we find many things that are a part of the mystery of the ages and have to be accepted as they are.

I'm inclined to think that the little towns in our nation are very special and important. Love and good will thrive among the people. On a recent Saturday many folk in our community and also farther afield gathered at the home of Mr. William B. Horner to help him celebrate his 90th birthday. We congratulate him officially here in our column and hope that he will be here many more years to fellowship with us.

We are also extremely proud of our Greenwood Library and of its being chosen as one of the outstanding of these services of this sort in our state. We extend our thanks and congratulations to Mrs. June Bostick and her helpers, Harriet Smith of Georgetown and Diane Draper of Greenwood. We are also grateful for the services rendered by Mary Cahall who served so faithfully and efficiently in getting the library started here.

Rounding out our week's information, on Wednesday the 23rd, we will be having a program about Home Health Care. Jim Bazzoli will be the speaker. There are many Home Health agencies available to people when they are in need. In Home Health Care has grown quite rapidly as people are utilizing this service in an effort to stay in their own homes longer. Plan to be here to hear about 'Home Health Care, A Buyer's Market.'

Now here are some of our upcoming trips: On Monday, April 21st we still have seats available for Atlantic City. May 14th we have a trip to Potomac Mills, the world's largest Outlet Mall. The cost of $19.50 per person includes transportation, discount coupons, lunch at the restaurant in the Mall, admission to the new International Elvis Presley Museum. And on May 29th, we still have 4 seats available for Three Little Bakers Dinner Theatre. Call the Center for details.

Now for some information on the Construction Project. Construction began April 7th and the target completion date will be July 29th. We are continuing our Building Fund as we are a little short of the money needed to complete the project, and also we will be needing extra money to do other internal renovations, so please if you have considered donating to the Building Fund, please do so now. What a sense of pride we all will feel when the Building is finally erected. Join us as a new era for the Harrington Senior Center begins. The Center is open to all, 60 and over, regardless of sex, religion, or handicap. Open Monday thru Friday 9-4. Delivering services to our community for 19 years. For information on the service/benefits of the Center, please call 398-4224. See you next week with more SENIOR CENTER NEWS!

Mt. Olivet United Methodist Church, Seaford, hosts Dover District "Praise Service"

The United Methodist Conference Board of Discipleship is sponsoring a "Celebration of Praise" Service on Sunday evening, April 27, 7:30 p.m. in Seaford at Mt. Olivet United Methodist Church. The intention of the service is to offer church people residing in the Dover District an opportunity to come together and praise God through congregational singing, choral music, prayer and preaching.

An adult mass choir is being formed under the direction of Penney Keene. Rehearsals are scheduled for those interested, in participating on: Thursday, April 17, 8:00 p.m., St. John's U.M.C., Seaford and Thursday, April 24, 8:00 p.m., Mt. Olivet U.M.C., Seaford. Mrs. Keene can be contacted for further information, please call 629-9466.

Plan to attend this service of witness, praise and congregational singing of old familiar choruses, and relive a significant part of the Methodist heritage. The Rev. Vaughn Johnson, Associate Council Director for Special Ministries and REACH, will preach; children's choirs from several district churches will be singing, as well as the Macedonia AME Gospel Choir from Seaford.

Refreshments will be provided by the Mt. Olivet United Methodist Church Women following the evening service. For more information contact Beverly J. Roupp, Coordinator, Conference Board of Discipleship, 856-5652.

Independent Bible Fellowship

The Independent Bible Fellowship Church will hold a Christian Life and Mission Conference from Sunday, April 20 through Wednesday, April 23 at 7:00 each evening. Rev. Frank Stephenson will be the special speaker for the conference.

The emphasis of the conference will be toward developing one's relationship to God through Jesus Christ and the outworking of this relationship in day to day living - the Christian life. A true Christian life cannot be stagnant, it must reach out to others in local and foreign missionary work.

Rev. Frank Stephenson is presently Eastern Representative for the Rio Grande Bible Institute and Language School located in Edinburg, Texas. The school trains Central American nationals for Christian ministries. Rev. Stephenson has been a pastor and a missionary for the past 30 years. He will give an up-to-date report on the conditions in Central America and the state of missionary work under the present turmoil.

There will be special music by the church choir, individuals and groups during these meetings. The public is invited to attend this Christian Life and Mission Conference each evening at 7:00 Sunday through Wednesday, April 20-23. Clifford Lones is the host pastor.

Crop Walk Rally held

On May 4th, the Lake Forest Ministerium will sponsor their first CROP WALK for the hungry. A rally was held at St. Bernadette's Church Hall on Saturday, April 12th to show a film about the walk and to distribute information, posters, etc. to representatives of local churches and organizations. 25% of the funds raised will remain locally while the remaining monies raised may be marked for specific charities by the walkers themselves.

If your church or organization has not been informed about the walk and you would like more information you may contact any of the committee members. Gene Price (398-4224) or Sue Ellen Dennis Co-Coordinator, Jeanette Minner, Recruiter; Keith Burgess, Publicity; George Thompson, Treasurer; Rev. Susan Mills, St. Stephen's Church or Hazel Smith; A film about the walk is available to those groups interested. The walk will be 10K and will begin at 2 p.m. Watch for more details in upcoming publicity announcements.

Choirs of Immanuel Church to visit St. Stephen's Church

On Sunday, April 27, at 4:30 p.m., the choirs of Immanuel Church in Wilmington will offer Evensong with special anthems. The community is cordially invited to attend the service. A reception will follow.

Immanuel Church has a well-developed music program under the leadership of Jack Burnam. In addition to an adult mixed choir, there are choirs for boys and girls from age seven through the teen years. The choirs sing music spanning the centuries, from the ancient plainsong to contemporary sacred music.

The service of Evensong has a long

Spartan girls run 4th of 18 teams

by Keith Burgess

Lake Forest's girls' track team missed getting a second-place team trophy by one point in the 18-team, seventh-annual Keith S. Burgess Invitational held at Lake Forest High on Saturday. At full strength, Lake Forest would have been significantly ahead of everyone except the powerful, private-school, Padua Academy Pandas.

Lake Forest's fourth-place finish saw them tally 52 points only five points behind Seaford and Wm. Penn, who tied for second.

A freshman, whose potential staggers the imagination is Tara Dixon. Tara set Spartan records in both hurdle events. She was clocked in 16.7, in the 100 meter hurdles, then slashed almost two seconds from the 300 hurdles mark. Tara's 48.8 occurred in the trials. Her final-round time of 49.1 gave her third place in a field of Delaware's finest timber-toppers. Since she has the better part of four years' competition left, it's obvious that she could turn in some awesome performance by 1990. Dixon also ran on the 5th place 400 meter squad. (54.1) along with JoAnn Outten, Michelle Briggs and Shani Palmer. Palmer is another young sprinter with potential. Though slowed by shin splints, she later ran a creditable 28.6, 200 meters.

Severa Harris briefly held the meet record in the shotput with an excellent effort of 38 feet, 10 1/4 inches only to be nosed out by a mark, 1/4 inch better by Downing of Seaford. Another Lake Forest newcomer, Chris Swafford, added the fifth-place points.

That irrepressible colleen, Mary McGuire, false-started her way out of the 100 hurdles, but was quickly reminded by Coach Blades to forget that mis-step and to get on with her other business-at-hand, namely the discus and high jump. McGuire later strolled by this writer and notified us that she had earned a fourth-place ribbon in the discus, with her best throw ever of 92 feet, 10 inches. Severa Harris was fifth there. McGuire said she was going to do even better in the high jump and win a medal to go with the ribbon. She was correct, clearing 4 feet, 9 inches, another personal best, that won the second-place medal.

Michelle Briggs didn't place with a 1986 best of 15 feet, 7 inches, in the long jump, but soared 35 feet, 4 inches, for second in the triple jump. This was a personal best and was only an inch behind the winner Terri Harpe of Cape Henlopen.

Kelli and Melanie Pelton, Lori Wilson and Julie Betts were fourth in the 3200 meter relay in 10.44. Kelli Pelton was fourth in the 1600 meters with a time 4.46.8, then was sixth at 800 meters with a 2.39, which was a very good performance since she was running her third distance race of the day.

Freshman Julie Betts won the morning heat of the 1600 meter run, in a personal best of 6.05.8. This was an exceptional feat for a novice runner, especially so when it is considered that Betts ran at a time when there was a cold wind blowing which was not the case when the other 1600 heats were contested in the afternoon.

Sheva Batton was fourth in the 300 hurdles with her best clockings of 1986, 51.8 and 51.9. Batton, Lorraine Lake, Melanie Pelton and Lori Wilson were fifth in the 1600 meters relay (4.27.6). Lake Forest girls did very well

by Keith Burgess

Laurel High had the first downstate all-weather track, has a veteran coach in former state pole vault champion Bill McCants, but the sport of the Olympians is not supported by the student body at Laurel High School. While the school population at the Sussex County School is not as large as Lake Forest, a big advantage is Laurel's in that the school is located in that town of 3000 people. Practically every Lake Forest athlete has to first solve a transportation problem. Many Laurel students reside in the town of Laurel. Recent Bulldog success in wrestling, football, girls' basketball, etc. has shown the Bulldogs can be tough when they support a sport.

In the boys' meet a Laurel high jumper tied with two Spartans for first place. One of Laurel won the 100 meters.

In the boys' meet, a Laurel high jumper tied with two Spartans for first place. One of Laurel won the 100 meters. Every other event went outright to Lake Forest. The Spartans swept the pole vault with Reed, Cherry and Petit. Coach McCants' son is a 12-foot plus pole vaulter, but apparently didn't vault this time. He did 12 feet 6 inches, two days later to finish second in the big, state-wide meet, held here.

Barry Chaffinch, Greg Wright and Marvin Hicks swept the shotput. Chaffinch (135 feet), Wright and Paul Adkins dominated the discus. Mark Tozer, Bill Haggerty and Steve Clute swept both the 800 and 1600 meter runs, as wind and cold inflated the clockings for most running events. Eric Payne, Bill Walters and Pat Caskey went 1-2-3 at 3200 meters. James Hicks' first attempt at the triple jump just missed 42 feet with John McGrew and Bruce Mosley next. Jason Tiggs and McGrew were 1-2 in the long jump.

Lake Forest's 1600 meter relay team of Deputy, Cherry, Brown, Tiggs, cruised to victory.

Darren Hammond doubled in the hurdles. He annexed the 110 highs in 15.86 with Carl Young third, then did the 300's in 44 flat. Rod Parker was third. Hammond, Taraine Giddens, Frank Coverdale and Bruce Mosley relayed 400 meters in 46 seconds, very good time for the weather conditions. Coverdale, Brown, Howerin and Giddens prevailed in the 800 relay.

Dexter Bray (54.2) and Jason Dixon went 1-2, at 400 meters. Lionel Tiggs 11.7, for second at 100 meters is one of his efforts thus far.

Laurel didn't win an event against the Spartan girls. Again times were curtailed by the weather. Tara Dixon won the opening event, the 100 meter hurdles, in 17.05 to set the tone for the day. Later, Tara was first in the 300 hurdles (52.2) with Sheva Batton third. Dixon, Shani Palmer, Michelle Briggs and Arlene May relayed 400 meters in 60 seconds. May, a freshman, could conceivably get a track scholarship at the college level some day. This ninth grader completed a triple by capturing the 200 meters in 27.8 and the 100 meters in 12.7. That's really moving when one considers that last Thursday's weather was miserable, the athlete is young and the season is young. Shani Palmer, runnerup in the 100 and 200 meter events is doing a fine job despite the pain of shin splints.

Kelli Pelton completed a grueling, windy distance double, taking the 1600 meter run followed by Lori Wilson and Jenni Crouch and the 3200 meter run, with Julie Betts close behind.

Mary McGuire spearheaded sweeps in the discus and high jumps. McGuire cleared 4-6 to win the high jump, with Jodie Jensen and Yvette Hicks next, then hurled the discus close to 90 feet, with Severa Harris and Jill Wix going 2-3. Harris had a great throw of 38 feet, 9 inches, to take the shotput, followed by teammates, Swafford and Hollingsworth.

Michelle Briggs tripled with the 400 meter relay triumph, a long jump win and a 33-9 victory in the triple jump, along with Val Durant and Yvette Hicks.

Lorraine Lake took the 400 meters, then ran with Batton, Hollingsworth and Mel Pelton to easily prevail in the 800 relay. Lori Wilson, Shirlaine Goodman and Jenni Crouch went 1-2-3, at 800 meters.

Spartan boys are 6th of 17 track teams

by Keith Burgess

Lake Forest's boys' track team finished 6th of 17 teams in the seventh-annual Keith S. Burgess Invitational held at Lake Forest High School on Saturday. The Spartans tallied 37 points and were only one point behind fifth-place Dickinson. The meet attracted a record 35 schools, counting both boys and girls teams. The only strong school missing was the Delcastle boys' team.

The locals were missing many point scorers from 1985 due to graduation and other reasons, but did a good job nevertheless.

Barry Chaffinch just missed 43 feet in the shotput for sixth place but hurled the discus close to 136 feet to win that event. Barry has done 145 feet or better but didn't have to go that far Saturday.

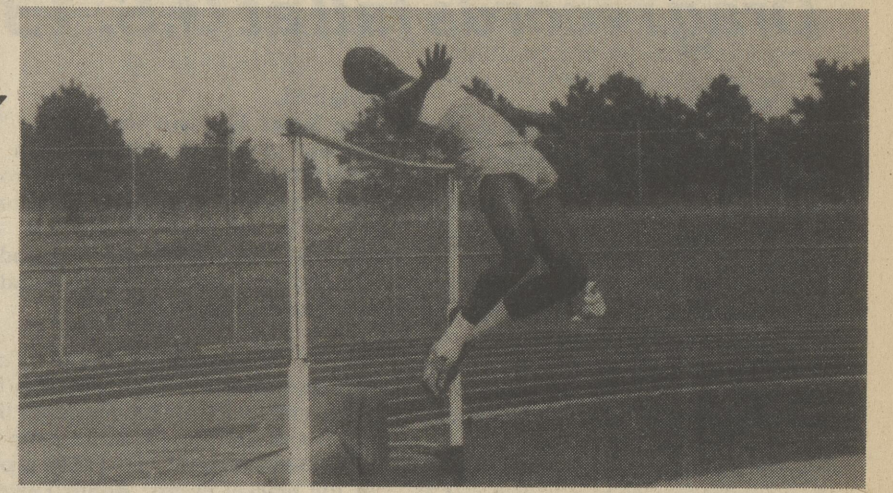

Sophomore Mark Tozer was third in the 3200 meter run behind the top distance running duo in Delaware, Dave Byers of Dickinson and Tom Higley of Salesianum, who were state cross-country champions in Group II and Group I respectively. Tozer was not feeling well but shattered his school mark by clocking 10.11 and was only four seconds behind Higley. Visibly tired from that ordeal, Tozer ran a strong 4.40 at 1600 meters for third place behind Byers and Mark Stack, a Cape Henlopen senior who has been a star for four years. Stack comes from a family of distance runners. Father Wes Stack was a star at Seaford and the U. of D. Sister Alicia, brothers Hank and current Cape teammate, Will, have all done very well. But Cape is running out of Stacks. In 1987, they'll be down to one.

Steve Clute of Lake Forest had to sit out the cross-country season but is a young runner with promise who clocked a personal best of 5.08 in the windy morning 1600 heat.

Darren Hammond has really blossomed in this his senior year. He was clocked in a 52 plus 400 meters, in March, runs a strong opening leg, on the 400 meter relay team and is a fine hurdler in both hurdle events. He is one of Lake Forest's all-time best timber-toppers. Darren was fourth in the 110 meter high hurdles (15.6), then ran third in the 300 intermediate hurdles with a personal best (4.17) then united with Bruce Mosley, Taraine Giddens, Frank Coverdale for Lake Forest's best 1986 clocking in that event (45.7). Coverdale also had a lifetime best of 24.5 at 200 meters. Coverdale, Giddens, Joe Brown and Dexter Bray were 6th in the 800 meters relay (1.36.8). John McGrew was sixth in the triple jump doing 41 feet, 3 inches.

In the high jump, Finnish exchange student, Erro Eksyma, reached a personal best of 5 feet, 6 inches. James Hicks tied his best yet with 5-10.

Boats used for hire must be inspected

LCDR Glantz, the senior investigating officer at the U.S. Coast Guard, Marine Inspection Office, Philadelphia, PA has issued a safety advisory to the public concerning charter fishing boats offering to carry fishermen for hire.

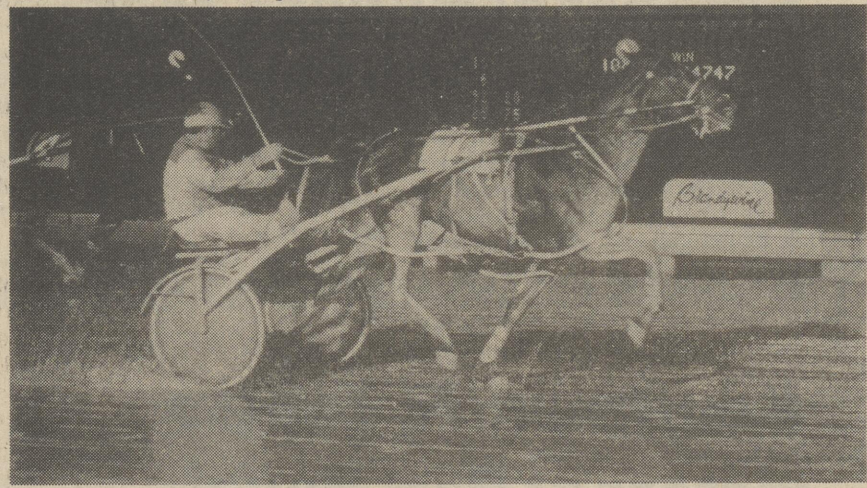

LCDR Glantz stated, "The public should be aware that vessels which carry more than six passengers are required to be inspected by the Coast Guard. An operator of a vessel that carries even one passenger for hire, must be in possession of a valid Coast Guard License to operate such a vessel." The Coast Guard urges passengers to look for a U.S. Coast Guard inspected small passenger vessel sticker as well as the vessel's Certificate of Inspection. It is normally located near the boarding location. This sticker will indicate when the vessel's Certificate of Inspection expires. Ask to see the operator's license. If you have any questions regarding the inspection status of a vessel carrying more than six passengers, the operator's license, or believe that there is a violation, members of the public should contact the U.S. Coast Guard, Investigation Section at (215) 597-4337.

Anxious Robby, Meadow Andrew, H H Shadow to Big B week

by Marv Bachrad

Anxious Robby returned to the scene of one of his many impressive victories last season and quickly found the winner's circle. The winner of a Battle of the Brandywine Pruvue last June received a perfectly executed drive from Jack Moiseyev who moved the 4-year-old to the outside at the half and ground down pacesetter Flying Rich in the stretch for a nose victory in 1:57.2 to take the $12,000 Invitational Pace Sunday night. Market Crash finished third in the select field trimmed to five when Nat's Falcon was scratched.

In a $7,000 Open Pace, Presley Moore Jr. took advantage of the number one post setting all the fractions enroute to a neck victory besting Gnocchi in 1:58.2. The pair raced as a team for much of the last half mile with Gnocchi on the outside. Chipsy Spar got up in 1:59.4 catching longshot Bustertrouble to take one of the two divisions of the Starbust Series. Public choice Excellent Skipper had to settle for fourth. In the other section, Skipper's Vestige and driver Ross Hayter ended a three week win streak by Tamac as the twosome battled gamely head-to-head from the far turn to the wire separated by only a nose. Another quick mile was registered by Overnite Success in 1:58. Walt Ross Jr. made his winning move at the half and was 7/8 lengths in from clocked in 1:58. Meadow Andrew won the Saturday night $8,000 Invitational Trot with a wire-to-wire 2:02.4 victory. Sam Beegle guided the 5-year-old Speed In Action gelding into a quick 28.1 first quarter lead. They were aided when Willowhook went off stride scattering the field of eight opponents. Pizzelle closed well for second in front of Nemo Hanover, who was involved in the chain reaction breaking nearing the half mile. Longshot's Wolf Jaffa pulled a mild surprise taking the companion $7,000 Open Trot with a 2:02.3 clocking for trainer-driver Bob Turner. She beat Mischief Star and Snappy Transaction in a field of nine starters.

Jolly Herb Revonah was overlooked by many in the Sidewheeler Series, but the son of Jolly Roger left fast for driver Jack Smith Jr. and found room when it counted for a 1:58.4 conquest in the first division. Silent Pat came on strong to be second with Shorty J. Clipper third. The other half was won by Nation's Dream and red-hot driver Bob Shahan. They stormed for home overtaking Super Star Osborne in the closing steps for a 2:00.2 score.

Kelly, F. Brightbill and Wilson season opener winners at U.S. 13

by Charlie Brown

Two familiar faces and one new face appeared in victory lane opening night at the U.S. 13 Speedway. Defending URC Sprint Champion and Delaware State Sprint Champion, Dave Kelly of Macungie, Pa. won the 25 lap sprint car feature. Freddy Brightbill of Reinhold, Pa. gave a repeat performance of 1985 by winning the '86 modified opener and Ronnie Wilson of Milford, Del. won his first feature ever in the late model division. The URC season got underway when 22 sparkling sprints took the green. Dave Kelly jumped into the lead from his third starting spot followed by Ed Wylie and Glen Fitzcharles. Fred Berger Jr. spun coming off turn two to bring out the caution.

On the restart Kramer Williamson moved into the top five from his twelfth starting spot and started putting the pressure on Fitzcharles for third. Berger again brought the caution out on lap eight. On the restart Williamson and Fitzcharles made contact with Fitzcharles coming to a stop in turn two.

The restart started a wild series of events that saw Tim Higgins flip wildly through the third turn. Don Hoffman and Glenn Clarke were also involved but none of the drivers were injured. Also during the caution Williamson pulled from the race.

Charles Massey moved from sixth to third by lap ten and started to apply the heat to Wayne Rice for third. Meanwhile Kelly was opening some ground between himself and Wylie in second. Massey was flying in the high groove and moved by Rice and Wylie with five to go. Kelly's large lead soon evaporated but time ran out on Massey as the two crossed the finish line bumper to bumper. Wylie finished in third with Kenny Adams fourth and Wayne Rice fifth.

John Pinter led the modified field to the green which briefly flew when Jim Baker and Gary Trice came together on the back straight. On the restart a tough five-car battle developed between Pinter, Freddy Brightbill, Bob Toreky, Tom Capie and Billy Towers. By the mid point Toreky moved into second and Paul Weaver moved into the top five. Capie lost an engine on the next lap, bringing out the yellow. Toreky headed to the pits with a flat tire and a fire developed on the Sam Davis car. This moved Towers into third and Ron Roberts into the top five.

A cloud of smoke ended Pinter's hopes on lap 19. Brightbill became the new leader, and Towers was running in second. On the restart, Towers dropped off the pace and Toreky moved back into the picture. The final two laps saw Toreky challenge Brightbill on the inside for the lead, but Freddy was able to hold on for the win. Toreky finished in second followed by Roberts, Tommy Long and Bobby Walls in the top five. Ronnie Wilson gained the lead on lap eight of the late model feature when leader Lou Johnson tangled with a lapped car and got into the back straight wall. Johnson quickly worked his way back through the field and started his bid to regain the lead on lap 11. Wilson was working flawlessly and Johnson fell off the pace with three to go. At the checker it was Wilson with his first ever victory followed by Mike Tauber, Duane Rust, Johnson, and Alex Beaumont.

The U.S. 13 Speedway will return with a complete program this Saturday night beginning at 7:30 p.m. This week the modifieds and late models will be joined by the exciting limited late models and the popular street modifieds.

Drag records fall at U.S. 13

by Charlie Brown

After a week's delay, the first annual 1st. State National Open at the U.S. 13 Dragway is now history. Drag racers were in their top form as 18 national NHRA records fell in the two day event.

Dave Northrop took his "Racer's Tape" Firebird to a final round victory over Rich Melton of Kennett Square, Pa. in Competition Eliminator. Northrop's ET of 8.33/161.29 mph in the final round was not needed as Melton redlighted in his '77 Vega with a reaction time of .499.

Super Stock eliminator was won by Ron Conley in a '80 Monza with an ET of 10.66/118.73 mph. Runnerup in the final round went to Billy Nees with an 11.15/115.38 mph.

Gerry Scott and his '69 Camaro ran a 11.06/120.80 mph to win Stock Eliminator. Runnerup went to Sterling Simmons Jr. in his '67 Camaro who redlighted in the final round.

John DiBasio won top honors in the Super Comp class in his '77 Dragster as Jim Dunn was too anxious and redlighted.

The Super Gas win went to the '70 Camaro of David Phelps with a 9.837/120.16 mph. Scott Roth from Green Lane, Pa. finished in the second spot with a final round run of 9.83/125.17 mph. Both racers ran under their dial in times but Phelps was under three one-thousandths less.

Joe D. Pasquale captured Top Eliminator in Super Street when his '69 Camaro ran a 10.81/118.73 mph in the final round. Joe Foser was runnerup in his '67 Nova with a 10.90/114.06 mph.

In the bracket events, Robin Lewers ran a 10.83/118.57 mph in his '72 Vega to capture the Quick 32 Eliminator. Jerry Thomas was a runnerup in his '83 Dragster with a 8.56/134.73 but destroyed his engine in the process, keeping him from the final round. Semi-finals were won by John Reed of Greenwood, DE in his '64 Chevelle with a 11.94 and Roger Jourdey in an Anglia with an 11.59.

Combo Eliminator went to Stacy

Clough of Dover, DE in his '64 Nova as David Adkins redlighted in his '66 Falcon. Clough ran a 16.08/82.56 mph in the final round.

Ron Re ran a 10.94/102.38 and Lee Williams of Delmar, DE, a 12.83/104.16 to capture the semi-finals.

Pro Bike Eliminator was won by Kevin Johnson on his Kawasaki with a run of 11.62/97.71 mph. Runnerup went to Eric Morris on a Kawasaki with a 17.67/64.74 mph and semi-final round went to Charlie Willard of Queenstown, Md. on a Kawasaki with a 12.14/73.64 mph Hot Rod Trophy Eliminator went to Alonzo Monokey in a Nova.

This weekend will be a Super Sunday program with eliminations in Super Pro & Pro Combo, Heavy & Street Combo, Pro Bike and Hot Rod Trophy. Gate opens at 10:00 a.m. with eliminations at 2:00 p.m.

Flemington plans big season and opener

FLEMINGTON, NEW JERSEY — The famous 70 year old Flemington Speedway welcomes in the 1986 auto racing season this coming Saturday evening, April 19th, with a spectacular racing program that includes a 100 lap Northeast Tri-Track series championship feature event for the big powerful modifieds.

The $80,000 series payoff brings together the best drivers from Flemington, Orange County Speedway in New York and the Nazareth Raceway in Pennsylvania for a night of torrid competition that has been set aside exclusively for the popular Route 31 speedway. All Flemington Tri-Track winners since the series began in 1978 will be part of the big invasion of drivers. Billy Pauch, the Flemington modified champion with 5 series victories at the square, including the last three since the fall of 1984, heads the all star list of professional driving talent. Ken Brenn and Stan Ploski each have won two of the championship events and both veteran drivers will be out to stop Pauch in this Saturday's opener. Billy Osmun who won the first Tri-Track event at Flemington back in 1978 will be driving a brand new racer this weekend and must be considered a threat to take top honors. The always dangerous Ken Johnson (1982 winner) will also debut a new modified for the action. The other former winner at Flemington is Brett Hearn, who took top honors in 1984.

Last year's Northeast point champion, Fritz Epright, will be in the field to defend his title in the Furstenberg modified. Other favorites for an opening day win include Jimmy Horton, Carl Collis, Roger Lauren, Frank Cozze, Tom Hager, Rich Eulich, Carl Reynolds, Fred Orchard, Chip Sloum and Art Lentini.

The giant opening day speed program which last April drew the biggest crowd ever to see an auto race at Flemington, will have a strong supporting card of races that includes sportsman, late models and rookies.

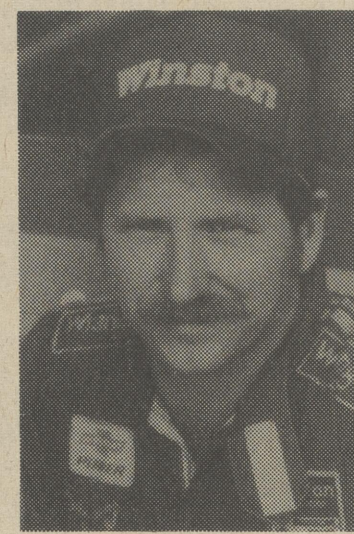

With gates this Saturday opening at one o'clock and racing scheduled for 5:30 (modifieds 7:30) management advises all fans to arrive as early as possible for seating arrangements.

Should weather conditions force a postponement this Saturday, the races then would be held the next day, Sunday afternoon, April 20th at one o'clock.

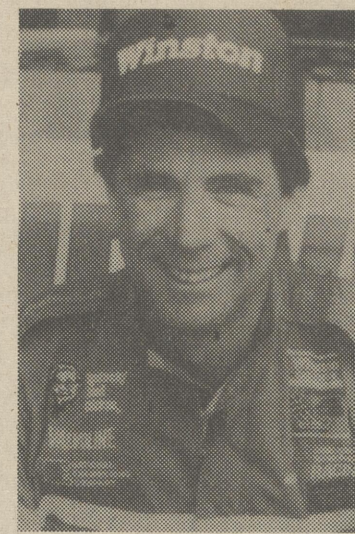

Donohue's widow gets verdict

PROVIDENCE, R.I., April 9 — Goodyear said that a settlement was reached today in Rhode Island Supreme Court involving the company and the estate of former race driver Mark Donohue.

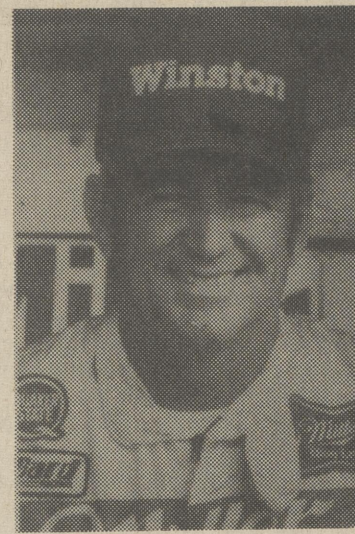

The terms of the settlement were not disclosed. Goodyear is fully covered by insurance in the case.

Earnhardt gets 2nd win of year

DARLINGTON, S.C. — Dale Earnhardt won the 30th TranSouth 500 and brought an end to the string of 11 Winston Cup stock car races without a repeat winner. Earnhardt, from Kannapolis, N.C. beat Waltrip by three car-lengths at Darlington International Raceway Sunday. Ironically, it was Earnhardt who began the streak of 11 Winston Cup stock car races without a repeat winner when he won a race on September 22, 1985.

Earnhardt, who brought home $52,250 of the race's $406,895 total purse said,

"My team's been working real hard this year. We've been close to winning races all along, and it would come down to the last two or three laps when we'd be running first or second and have a problem."

Earnhardt's last victory was in September of 85 when he won the Goody's 500.

Richard Petty, who finished 7th, is credited with letting Waltrip finish 2nd. Petty crashed and brought out a caution flag five laps earlier which brought Waltrip closer to victory lane.

Harry Gant was knocked out when he bumped a slower car in the first turn of the 207th lap, slid sideways into the wall and then was hit broadside by Ricky Rudd who was out of the race for good now. Gant returned, minus his car hood and left front fender but never was able to catch Earnhardt.

From that time on, it was Earnhardt being chased by Waltrip and occasionally by Bobby Allison who finished third. Neither Waltrip nor Allison were able to threaten Earnhardt's blue and yellow Chevrolet.

Race Results

DARLINGTON, S.C. — The finish of Sunday's TranSouth 500 NASCAR Winston Cup stock car race with driver's hometown, type of car, laps completed, winner's average speed and money earned:

1. Dale Earnhardt, Kannapolis, N.C., Chevrolet, 367, 128.994, $52,250
2. Darrell Waltrip, Franklin, Tenn.,

- Chevrolet, 367, $31,600.
3. Bobby Allison, Hueytown, Ala., Buick, 366, $13,355.
4. Neil Bonnett, Hueytown, Ala., Chevrolet, 366, $16,480.
5. Tim Richmond, Ashland, Ohio, Chevrolet, 364, $7,305.
6. Rusty Wallace, Fenton, Mo., Pontoac, 364, $12,575.

7. Richard Petty, Randleman, N.C., Pontiac, 364, $9,600.
8. Bill Elliott, Dawsonville, Ga., Ford, 362, $13,685.
9. Kyle Petty, Randleman, N.C., Ford, 361, $11,030.
10. Ken Schrader, Fenton, Mo., Ford, 356, $10,525.

Icebreaker rained out reset

Icebreaker '86 will get underway on April 20th. Charlie Jarzombek driving the familiar Wilsburg Racing #5 won the Busch Pole Award with a blistering time of 19.18. Next came John Rosati at 19.23, Greg Sacks in the Mario Fiore #44 at 19.30, Jim Spencer with a 19.325 and rounding out the top 5 NASCAR modified qualifiers was Jamie Tomaino at 19.19.325. Also snapping Evans track record of 19.44 were George Kent (19.33) and "Flyin" Brian Ross (19.41). A total of 36 Modified chauffeurs will start the 75 NASCAR Winston Modified Tour Event on the 20th.

On April 20th, the NASCAR Modifieds will compete in 3 heats and a 75 lap feature. The Winston Racing Series Pro Stocks will run a consolation race to determine who will win the two spots left in their 25 lap main and the SNERKA - SK Mods will run a 25 lap feature. A 10 lap consolation race is also slated for the Street Stocks.

Testing picks up at Talladega

TALLADEGA, AL — Winners of seven of the nine most recent Winston 500's have scheduled testing sessions at Alabama International Motor Speedway during the next two weeks to prepare for the 1986 Winston 500 on May 4th.

Beginning Monday, April 14th, and running thru Saturday, April 26th, the World's Fastest Speedway is booked for the most intensive fortnight of testing in the track's history.

First, the purse is a record $614,570. Second, the Winston 500 is the second leg of the Winston Million, and no driver other than Daytona 500 winner Geoff Bodine will have a shot at it this year unless they win the Winston 500.

Third, the recent NASCAR ruling allowing air dams, higher spoilers and bigger carburetors has the teams wanting to know exactly how their cars will perform at Talladega.

Skinner at Budds Creek

BUDDS CREEK, MD, April 12, 1986 — An opening night crowd watched Jimmy Skinner of Laurel, Md. hold off a last lap charge of Dale Beitler to win the late model feature. Skinner took the lead on the first lap with Ken Storm, Dale Beitler and Don Mattingley right behind.

On the last lap, Skinner got behind two lapped cars going into the third turn. Beitler tried to slide under Skinner as the two cars battled for the lead coming out of turn four for the checker flag. Skinner was able to squeeze through the lapped cars just barely edging out Beitler down the frontstretch.

Following Skinner and Beitler were Ronnie McBee, Anderson and Ray Kable Jr.

Kauffman, R. Tobias victors at Port Royal

PORT ROYAL, PA — Keith Kauffman survived an accident-marred race to cop Port Royal Speedway's sprint feature Saturday night, while Ronnie Tobias racked up his second straight small-block modified main event.

Kauffman, who became Port's third different sprint winner in as many races, didn't take control until the 17th circuit, but once in front he went unmolested to the finish.

Van May took the early lead, holding off Bobby Weaver and Doug Wolfgang through the initial laps of the event. On lap 8, Wolfgang pulled a powerslide under Weaver going into turn one, lost control of the mount and flipped after coming into contact with another racer.

Wolfgang was uninjured but out of action. The flips weren't over for the night as Steve Pieper took a wild ride on lap 11. He also was uninjured.

Once action resumed, Kauffman began his move to the front. First he lifted Weaver of second spot and then got by May as the duo sped into turn one. May dropped from the hunt when his car shut down.

That opened up the door to Maynard Yings who claimed second on the last lap of the 30-lap Spring Championship run. Bobby Weaver, who ran strong all night, placed third in front of Scott Tobias. Tobias used the super high groove to check out in fourth just ahead of brother-in-law Paul Lotier.

Sixth through tenth were Joe Gravino, Jerry Stone, Van May, Cris Eash and Todd Shaffer. Sprint qualifiers went to Lance DeWeese, Weaver and May.

Ronnie Tobias had the lead by the midway portion of the 25-lap small-block modified feature after moving past veteran racer Elvin Felty.

Toby Tobias Jr. led in the early going before giving way to Johnny Leach on the lap 7 restart. Felty took control on the 11th circuit before Tobias took command for keeps. Billy Schinkel ran second ahead of Felty, Randy Fortna and Johnny Leach.

Rain halts Hagerstown opener

HAGERSTOWN, MD — With the spring cars all lined up for their twenty-five lap feature, the skies opened with hard rain that forced speedway officials to postpone the main event until Friday, May 9th.

Thirty-eight sprinters were in the pits for Sunday's race and the lightning-fast track produced near record times.

The feature was marred by a spectacular three-car accident in the fourth turn on the first lap involving Richard Lupo, T.J. Giddings, and Steve Pieper, delaying the start of the race. Lupo was taken to the Washington County Hospital with leg injuries. Before the race could be resumed, the rains came to force postponement of the sprint feature event. Heat winners were Doug Wolfgang, Steve Smith, Keith Kauffman, Don Krietz, and Steve Siegel won the consi.

Waiting until the last lap to take the lead, Jim Spence took the lead when Randy Bushman went high to win his first roadrunner feature event.

Spence, starting in the eleventh spot, worked his way through the field and was working on the lead when Bushman went high. Spence took advantage of Bushman's miscue to nail down the win. Following Spence were Doug Paxon, Richard Walls, Brad Omps, Lonnie Truett, Brian Lowery, Randy Bushman, Dick Mellott, Gary Coulter and Craig Kline.

Ling gets 1st career win

WALL TOWNSHIP — Donny Ling drove the race of his life as he captured the thirty-five lap modified feature at Wall Stadium. Ling started on the pole and never relinquished the lead as he had the top spot for the entire race.

With Ling grabbing the lead at the start, Tom Michel and Eddie Bohn ran in second and third respectively. The first and only yellow flag of the event was displayed as Steve Ferrara had mechanical problems hit his #31. On the restart, Ling quickly got into the lead as Bohn moved into second and Michel third. Ling ran to perfection lap after lap as his lead was a consistent one. Bohn tried to keep pace with the leader, but was unable to as Ling ran stronger as the race progressed.

Finishing in second was Bohn as defending champ Gil Hearne was third, Doug Wolcott fourth and Michel fifth.

The Winston Part I - Geoff Bodine

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a 10-part series on the drivers competing in The Winston on May 11 at Atlanta International Raceway. The Winston is NASCAR's race for winners only, its Masters. A driver must have won at least one race during the 1985 NASCAR Winston Cup season to earn an invitation to compete in the $500,000 event. Ten drivers qualified for The Winston and a shot at the $200,000 first-place prize — the largest in NASCAR history. The 83-lap, 126.3-mile event will be televised live by ESPN.)

(In the first part of the series, Geoff Bodine, driver of the Levi Garrett-Exxon Chevrolet Monte Carlo SS, talks about how he views The Winston.)

HAMPTON, GA — Geoff Bodine believes testing is going to be the key ingredient in determining how well his team does in The Winston on May 11 at Atlanta International Raceway.

"Look at the Motorcraft 500 in Atlanta. We didn't run that bad. But we were never able to race with the lead pack. We were just a little off, and as a result, we were never a factor. You have to be right on the button if you want to have a shot at the win." He finished 6th.

And because of his disappointing finish, he and the Levi Garrett-Exxon team are planning to take two Chevrolet Monte Carlos to the 1.522-mile track when they test for The Winston later this month.

The $500,000 race is a 83-lap, 126.3-mile event with the winner receiving $200,000 — the largest first-place prize in NASCAR history.

The winner could earn another $40,000 in bonuses if he leads laps 20, 30, 50 and 60. The driver leading each of the four laps will receive $10,000.

The race also includes a mandatory pit stop on lap 40. The 10 drivers will all pit on this lap and they are required to change two tires. This stop is a requirement even if a driver had pitted earlier in the race.

"The mandatory pit stop will be your only chance to make any adjustments," adds Bodine, "so that is another reason why you need to be right when the race starts."

Practice for The Winston and the Atlanta Invitational will begin on Friday, May 9, and continue on Saturday.

The fans selected the 14 drivers that will compete in the invitational with the vote-getter earning the pole position. Qualifying to decide the rest of the starting lineup will be held Saturday, May 10.

Butch Leal ready to blast off at Atlanta drag

COMMERCE, GA — Butch Leal is ready to take Atlanta by storm. He will use the 1,000 horsepower of a 1986 Pontiac Trans Am as he thunders down the Atlanta Dragway in the National Hot Rod Association's (NHRA) Southern Nationals, April 18-20.

Generally regarded as one of Pro Stock racing's quickest drivers off the starting line, Leal will be returning to the scene of one of his most important victories in the 6th annual Castrol GTX/Nationwide Southern Nationals.

The 41-year-old resident of Blacklick, Ohio, returns as the defending Pro Stock champion of the event. He also arrives as the current points leader in the battle for the NHRA-Winston Pro Stock world championship.

A runner-up finish in the recent

MONTEREY, CALIF. — Almost three-quarters of Doug Chandler's 20 years have been devoted to the sport of motorcycle racing.

Chandler's love for motorcycles developed early. Parents and friends often took their mini-bikes on camping trips and rode dusty trails for fun. At 4 years old, Chandler wanted to join the group, but was too young to ride alone. A challenge by his father provided the incentive to learn quickly.

"My dad told me that he would get me a motorcycle the day after I learned how to ride a bicycle," said Chandler of Salinas, Calif.

The elder Chandler kept his word. At age 5, young Doug Chandler mounted a new Honda 50 mini-trail bike. One year later, he began his racing career.

"I got second place in my first race," he said.

Four years later, the No. 1 spot did not elude Chandler again. He won and retained the top title in the American Motorcyclist Association's (AMA) District 36 in central California from 1975-78.

At the age of 13, Chandler switched from dirt-track racing to motocross to ease the first symptoms of burn-out. He went on to win all four classes in the Mini-bike Nationals in Billingham, N.Y., in 1978 and the AMA voted him Amateur Athlete of the Year.

Shortly after receiving the AMA

award, Chandler moved up to larger bikes — 250 and 500cc machines. He raced through the sportsman novice, junior and expert amateur classes in less than six months.

Despite an injury that laid him up for one season, Chandler turned professional at age 16. In his first season as a professional novice, his performance was better than his equipment. His bike blew up but

Kyle Petty on pole for The Invitational

DARLINGTON, S.C. — Kyle Petty will have the pole position for the Atlanta Invitational on May 11 at Atlanta International Raceway after receiving the most votes in the balloting to determine the starting field for the Invitational.

This is the first time in the history of NASCAR Winston Cup racing that the general public has selected the drivers who will compete in a NASCAR event.

The fans cast 183,516 ballots as they determined the 14 drivers who will make up the field for the Atlanta Invitational, the companion event to The Winston. The Winston, NASCAR's race for winners only — its Masters — also will be held on May 11 at AIR.

In addition to Kyle Petty, the other drivers who were voted in by the fans were Richard Petty, Lake Speed, Buddy Baker, Benny Parsons, Bobby Allison, Tim Richmond, J.D. McDuffie, Trevor Boys, Buddy Arrington, Bobby Hill Jr., Jimmy Means, Joe Ruttman and Dave Marcis.

Kyle Petty received 132,284 votes to earn the No. 1 position for the $300,000 event. The rest of the starting lineup for the 152.2-mile, 100-lap race will be determined by qualifying on Saturday, May 10.

"A lot of people had different ideas on what kind of companion race we should have with The Winston. And we reviewed them all," added Wayne Robertson of NASCAR. "But we felt the fans should determine what kind of race we should have, and they cast more than 183,000 ballots to determine the 14 drivers they wanted to see run in the Atlanta Invitational."

To earn a place on the ballot, a driver had to compete in a minimum of 10 Winston Cup races in 1985 and not be in The Winston.

Twenty-six drivers met this criteria. And ballots with the 26 eligible drivers were distributed to fans, beginning in February.

In addition to direct mail, the fans also had a chance to vote at the first four Winston Cup races of 1985. And ballots were also published by some racing publications and general newspapers.

The deadline for voting was March 28. The winner of the Atlanta Invitational will receive $75,000 and qualify for the 1987 running of The Winston.

Elliott (?) on pole at Talladega elliott car on pole for ARCA 500? TALLADEGA, AL — To see Bill Elliott's coors Melling Ford on the pole for the May 4th Winston 500 won't surprise a lot of people. It also won't be a surprise to see another Elliott car on the pole for Talladega's May 3rd ARCA 500K.

Ralph Jones bought a used Ford Thunderbird once raced by Bill Elliott. Since then with the help of motors built by Ernie Elliott, Jones has been able to keep the car in a familiar position when qualifying at Talladega and Daytona.

Jones has won the pole position for the last two ARCA Permatex Super Car Series events at those super speedways and he figures he'll keep that string going for the ARCA 500.

"Ernie Elliott builds our engines, and I guess he's about the best there is on Ford motors," Jones said. "The Elliotts have been real nice to us. It's not like we're being hand fed, but they do what they can."

According to Jones, the Elliotts are willing to let his team take advantage of their experience. He also says the Elliotts take care of setting up his engines for a race.

"It takes a lot of time at the track if you get there and you're not ready. When you get to a place like Talladega, you like to know you're prepared ahead of time and with the Elliotts taking care of the motor, I can be sure it's ready to go," he explained.

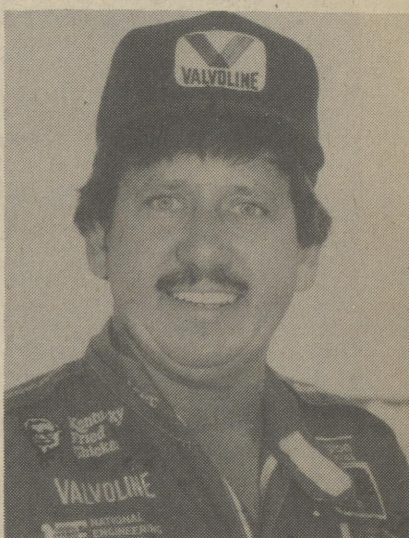

Winston Racing Series point system explained

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. — When R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. and its Winston brand first became involved in weekly NASCAR stock car racing events, the focus of the program was exclusively on local track championships.

Beginning in 1975, Winston posted a $1,000 point fund for each NASCAR track participating in the Winston Racing Series. Now the program has expanded to include five regional championships and the important Winston Racing Series National Championship.

Despite Winston Racing Series on a national scope, local track championships remain an important part of the overall program.

In 1986, Winston will pay $2,000 in bonuses to the top drivers at 65 participating racing facilities. In

Neil Bonnett

The Winston Part II - Atlanta Speedway good to Bonnett

(Editor's Note: This is the second of a 10-part series on the drivers competing in The Winston on May 11 at Atlanta International Raceway. The Winston is NASCAR's race for winners only, its Masters. A driver must have won at least one race during the 1985 NASCAR Winston Cup season to earn an invitation to compete in the $500,000 event. Ten drivers qualified for The Winston and a shot at the $200,000 first-place prize — the largest in NASCAR history. The 83-lap, 126.3-mile event will be televised live by ESPN.)

(In the second part of the series, Neil Bonnett, driver of the Budweiser-Kentucky Fried Chicken Chevrolet Monte Carlo SS, talks about how he views The Winston.)

HAMPTON, GA — When Neil Bonnett learned that the 1986 running of The Winston would be held at Atlanta International Raceway on May 11, a victory smile flashed across his face.

"I couldn't have picked a better place for The Winston to be held for me," says a beaming Bonnett. "That place has been good to me. If I'm down, Atlanta picks me up. If I need a win, Atlanta is usually the place I get it."

Bonnett was not eligible for the inaugural running of The Winston, NASCAR's race of winners only, in 1985, and he didn't like watching the $500,000 race.

Bonnett won his first super speedway race at AIR in a 300-mile Late Model Sportsman event in the early 1970s.

But in 1979, he was without a regular ride when he won the International Race of Champions race at Atlanta and that helped him land the Mercury owned by the famed Wood Brothers. "That was the big break that turned my career around," notes the Hueytown, Ala., native.

"Good things just seem to happen to me at Atlanta," adds Bonnett, who has won three Winston Cup events at the 1.522-mile track.

The key to victory in The Winston will be "handling."

"With so many good cars and teams in The Winston, I don't think there will be 15-horsepower difference between the 10 of us. So the difference will be which car is driving best."

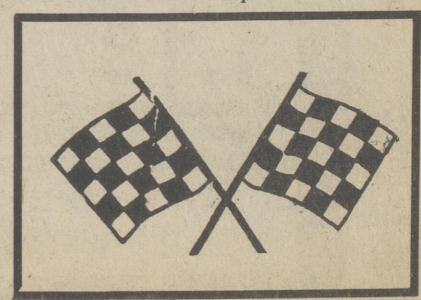

He pauses for a moment before continuing. "Of course, there might be some gambling going on with the engines," Bonnett says as a grin sweeps across his tanned face.

"You don't need to worry about running 500 miles. You just need to look at getting the maximum power for a short distance. Look at Darrell last year. His engine just went the distance."

"The race is a little longer this year, but the gamble is still the same," continues Bonnett. "And Junior might do what he did last year with Darrell."

"But I still think handling will be the difference. I know we will have the best engine we've ever had with all that money ($200,000 going to the winner) on the line. And with more power, you are going to need to handle even better. So getting the car right (in the corners) is all I'm going to work on during our test."

addition, each track champion will receive a custom-painted safety helmet. The point system used to determine Winston Racing Series track champions is outlined below. Selected events pay double points, and some tracks also offer bonus points to feature winners. 1st place receives 26 points to 13th which is 2 points. All other finishers receive two points.

Trail-Way opens this Friday

HANOVER, Pa. Promoter Armin Hostetter announced the season opener for late models and street stock cars which is slated for Friday, April 25th at 8:00 p.m.

Trail-Way basic rules for street stock cars are: May run not over 11" racing tires, full roll cage required, no quick change, either 2 or 4 barrel carburation acceptable, body and engine size must comply with home track rules.

For additional information call 717-359-4310.

Trail-Way has big weekend planned

HANOVER, Pa. Trail-Way Speedway will run a Motorcycle Short Track race on the 1/3 mile oval for 2-3-4 wheel cycles on Saturday, April 19, 1986 beginning at 7:30 p.m. Pit gate, sign-up and admissions open at 3:30 p.m. and sign-up closes at 7:00 p.m., practice at 5:30 to 7:00 p.m. and the first qualifying heat race at 7:30 Saturday evening.

The season opener Pabst Blue Ribbon Mud Bog Championship is slated for April 20th at 1:30 p.m. All trucks will be classified by tire size and anyone can enter to run-in-the-mud. All participants must be here and entered by 12:30 p.m. For additional information call 717-359-4310.

Waltrip running tests quicker at Talladega

TALLADEGA, AL, March 9, 1986 — Unofficially, Darrell Waltrip clocked the second-fastest speed ever for a General Motors product in testing last week at Alabama International Motor Speedway.

He doesn't think it will be fast enough to make him a threat to win the pole for the May 4th Winston 500, but he hit slightly over 205 mph, second only to Terry Labonte's 206.537 in pre-Daytona 500 testing.

"That's three miles per hour faster than we qualified for the Winston 500 last year, and when we get it ready for our qualifying laps, we'll pick up a little more, but I'm afraid that won't be good enough," said NASCAR's defending national champion.

Both Waltrip and car owner Junior Johnson feel that Bill Elliott is still the man to beat at Talladega, at least for the pole position. They aren't so sure about the race, however.

"Elliott still has the fastest car when it comes to being on the track by yourself," says Johnson. "But the rest of us have come a long way, and he'll be just one of the boys when the race gets underway. He doesn't run any better in traffic than a lot of the rest of us."

Leal is on the right track in great part because of new heads developed by Pontiac that are more durable than those used by Leal in the past. He also feels that his car is aerodynamically better than most other Pro Stock rides.

Leal cites defending NHRA-Winston champion Bob Glidden's recent problems as proof of what can go wrong when a driver has more power than a track can hold. Glidden lost in the first round of the Winternationals and the second round of the Gatornationals because of traction problems.

Leal fully expects Glidden to solve his traction problems. But the Ohio resident also expects to come up with some added horsepower of his own by the time the Southern Nationals begin.

Bonnett has high hopes at N. Wilkesboro

NORTH WILKESBORO, N.C. — Bruised and battered is probably the best way to describe the early rounds for Neil Bonnett in his bid to score a knockout during the 1986 NASCAR Winston Cup season.

He suffered a badly bruised ankle after crashing at Atlanta International Raceway last month. He was knocked woody at Bristol, Tenn., when he slammed into a wall after the throttle on his Chevrolet Monte Carlo SS stuck wide open.

"So far, this season has been filled with nothing but headaches and wrecks," says Bonnett, who has seen four of his race cars severely damaged in the early part of the fight for supremacy in NASCAR.

Bonnett believes he can begin inflicting a little damage of his own in the First Union 400 at North Wilkesboro Speedway on April 20.

He is the defending champion for the 400-lap event, and he has done considerable testing at the .625-mile track this spring.

And the 39-year-old driver realizes that testing is going to be the key if he achieves his "knockout."

"As competitive as the Winston Cup Series is today, you have to do your homework," says Bonnett. "And that means testing."

To score his knockout blow over the 1986 season, Bonnett has set his goals — the Winston Cup championship, four or five wins and the same number of pole positions.

He knows that his lofty aspirations are going to be difficult to reach "especially with so many teams running so well. But this team has the ability to do it."

The unique two-round qualifying session for the First Union 400 will begin at 3 p.m. on Friday, April 18. The fastest eight qualifiers on Friday will go under the clock again on Saturday at 2:30 p.m. with the driver posting the top average speed for the two days earning the pole position.

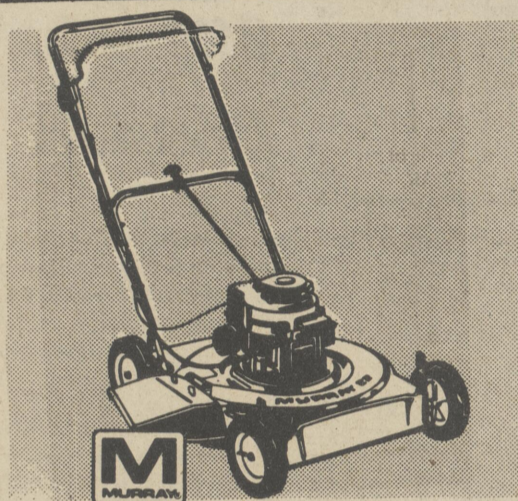

The 400 will get the green flag at 1 p.m. on Sunday, the 20th, with ESPN televising the race live.

Brandywine witnessed a milestone on Tuesday when Chipman's Pick became the 2,000th 2:00 or faster mile winner. Wayne Givens was at the controls of a 1:58.1 victory for the momentous occasion. The win came in one of a host of divisions in The Stepping Stone Series. A lightly raced 4-year-old son of Niatross, Courtland Jack won his first in 1:59. Previously unbeaten Slide Slide apparently choked down during the race which ended his win streak at 4. Generally Dynamic never was challenged as Art Giambone pointed him to a 1:59.1 win. Other divisions went to Crystal Bunny in 2:00.1 for Jack Smith, Jr. Devil Hawk responded for Larry Manges to the tune of a 1:01 win. Skip The Trick took another in 2:02 for Bill Herman and All For Kash rounded out third round action with a 2:02 winner.

The midweek highlight was another sensational performance by the lightly raced 3-year-old filly H H Shadow. For the second time in three weeks, the daughter of Distant Thunder made a break at the start. Driver Jody Stafford got her back pacing quickly and they caught the field at the quarter. From there on they proceeded to pick up horses taking the lead at the three quarters and sped to an eight length victory in 1:58.2, last half in 58 seconds flat, final quarter in 28.4. Considering the troubled start, her individual splits were phenomenal. She is now unbeaten in five career starts.

Other divisions of the Princess Series found Proud Towner winning for John Lister with a 2:00.4 trip to the winners circle. Flying Mindy Kash won a division in 2:00.4 for Clint Gailbraith; rolling Rebel pulled Eddie Davis to a 2:03 win, and Perry's Miss a 2:02.1 for Dominic Marusco.

Jersey Blizzard needed some racing luck to win a round of the Progress Series continuing a 3 race series sweep. Driver Walt Gower Jr. found room along the rail and squeezed through to win in 2:03.3. Meanwhile a longshot, Flashmint received a perfect drive from Steve Reisenweaver to win in 2:03 in his section.

Jody Stafford rushed Seniorita Uno to the lead and was never headed in a 2:00.4 division of The Starlet Series. World Exclusive came from far back to get up for a 2:01.4 victory. Avon Row, catch driven by trainer Merv Stolfoos came between horses in the last few strides to win the $8,000 Fillies and Mares Open Pace on Friday.

Education

Transfers from the Minor Capital Improvement Contingency Fund

The Woodbridge School District requested $12,000 in State Funds from the State Board of Education Contingency Fund to be matched by $8,000 in local funds for replacement of an underground oil tank at the Woodbridge Elementary School.

Delaware Association of Student Councils Spring Awards Conference

On March 25 the high school division of the Delaware Association of Student Councils held its annual Spring Conference at Lake Forest High School. Over 100 student delegates and 15 teacher advisors attended the ceremonies. Standards of Excellence plaques were presented to the following schools: Lake Forest, Wilmington, Alexis I. duPont, Glasgow, Caravel and Holy Cross. Schools receiving Standards of Excellence with Special Commendation included Seaford, Padua and Cape Henlopen. The member schools of the DASC also elect the following student officers for the 1986-87 school year: President, Dana Hicks, Lake Forest; Vice-President, Michelle Crouse, Caravel Academy; Secretary, Tina Casula, Caravel Academy; and Treasurer, Janine Hunt, William Penn.

In the Pocket

by Harry G. Farrow Jr.

COLUMBUS--The tragedy of the Challenger Seven space shuttle made a strong impact on the American consciousness, and now thanks to Angela and Cosmo Balio of Frankfort, NY, the memory of the brave astronauts will continue--through a standardbred horse.

The broodmare Leyte, owned by the Balios, went into labor on January 28, the day of the shuttle mishap. The labor proved false, but then twelve days later the mare foaled, and the result was a filly--which had a blaze on her forehead that looks very much like the number "7".

"We were going to name her 'Challenger' or something like that," Cosmo Balio said, "but when we saw the 'seven' on her forehead, we decided to call her Challenger Seven. Hopefully she'll race for her 12 allowable years (all standardbreds must retire upon their 15th birthday), so she'll be a living memorial to the space shuttle and its heroic crew."

The state of New Jersey now boasts the three fastest-rated tracks, according to figures compiled by the U.S. Trotting Association.

The Meadowlands and Garden State have recently been re-rated to 1:59 1/5, tying them for the fastest rating, with Gaitway Farm's oval next in line in 1:59 2/5. The only other track to be rated less than 2:00 is Syracuse, NY, carrying a rating of 1:59 3/5.

Other new ratings included the 2:00 3/5 assigned to Vernon Downs, and the 2:04 1/5 clocking given to Buffalo Raceway. Both tracks are in New York State.

QUICK BRUSHES--Butler B G sold for the second-highest price a standardbred racehorse ever brought at auction when sold for $460,000 Sunday, April 6th at Garden State Sale. The career winner of over $850,000 was purchased by David Phillips of National Bloodstock, Auckland, New Zealand. The record price of $505,000 was paid for the mare Bree's Brief, earlier this year...A new racetrack joins the harness racing fold when the trotters and pacers come to the Fairplex track at Pomona, California track, Los Alamitos, was recently the scene of an earth-shaking event. An earthquake sent tremors through the plant for 20 to 30 seconds on April 4, but no one was hurt and the entire card went off as scheduled.

At the Meadowlands on Friday night in the Overbid Pacing Series worth $56,000 went to Breeze Brees in 1:56.1 for John Campbell.

On Friday night at Roosevelt in the $20,000 Open Handicap Pace, the win went to Keystone Native (Joe Marsh Jr.) in 2:00.1. In the $20,000 Open Handicap Trot, Grades Singing with Herve Filion in 2:02.4.

In the New Jersey Series Stakes for 4-year-old Open Trot went to Gaining Bid for Jimmy Taktier in 2:03.2 with last quarter in 29 seconds flat. Purse was $15,000.

Forrest Skipper (Lucien Fontaine) won the Graduate Pacing Series with $40,000 at Rosecroft on Saturday in 1:54 a new track record. Falcon Seelster was last.

Save Fuel (John Campbell) won the $40,000 Open Handicap Pace in 1:54.2 at The Meadowlands on Saturday night. Lustra Big Guy was second.

Royal Command O (Mark Lancaster) blistered the Roosevelt course Saturday night in 1:58. Purse was $30,000.

At Batavia on Saturday night in the North American Pacing Series with $20,000 win by Naples (Don Wiest) in a speedy 2:02.2.

New Jersey Sires Stakes at Freehold on Saturday in the 4-year-old pacers worth $20,000 went to Paul's St. Patrick in 1:59 for Mike Gagliardi.

Driver standings through Sunday: Mike Lachance (150); Bill Gale (118); John Campbell (110); Tracy Kerr (100); and Bill O'Donnell (97). Eddie Davis who is closing in on 4,000 career wins (3977) has 17 wins this year.

Sammy Belote recorded his 1500th career win recently.

Eddie Davis closing in on 4000 career wins.

tradition among the churches of the Anglican communion. It consists of prayers, lessons and canticles, including the beautiful Magnificat, or Song of Mary, and Nunc dimittis, or Song of Simeon, from the Gospel according to St. Luke. The canticles, the Apostles' Creed and the Lord's Prayer are sung by the choir and the congregation. The collects are chanted by the officiant. Those who have participated in the service of Evenson have found it deeply moving.

On April 27th, the Rev. d Susan Mills, Vicar of St. Stephen's Church will officiate. The Rev. d Fletcher Lowe, Rector of Immanuel Church, will preach. The choirs will provide a variety of sacred music appropriate for the Great Fifty Days of Easter.

Scenic river cruises a new feature at Fort Delaware

The Division of Parks and Recreation has added scenic river cruises to its list of summer attractions at Fort Delaware State Park. Groups can cruise the Delaware River and Chesapeake and Delaware Canal aboard the "Miss Kathy," the division's own ferry. The cruises will begin on the last weekend in April and will run until mid-September. Reservations are required. Groups can book a night cruise, lasting from 7:30 to 10 p.m., for any Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday or Sunday. Day cruises are also available, between 9:30 a.m. and 5 p.m., any Wednesday, Thursday, or Friday. The two and a half hour cruises will leave from the Fort Delaware State Park dock in Delaware City. Ample parking is available near the dock. The cost for the cruise is $7.50 per person, with a minimum of 25 persons per group. The boat will seat up to 49 passengers. A deposit of $25 is required at the time of reservation. To book a cruise, contact the Fort Delaware State Park office at (302) 834-7941.

Police Report

Mobile home landlord cited for lease violations

The Division of Consumer Affairs has issued a Cease and Desist Order to the owner of a Bethany Beach mobile home park for alleged violations of the Delaware landlord-tenant code. Joseph Simpson, the owner of South Inlet Trailer Park on the Indian River Inlet, has been cited for failing to offer written lease agreements to tenants, and for failing to honor the lease hold claims of tenants by his refusal to accept rental payments.

The Order also cites Simpson for misrepresentation and deceptive trade practices, alleging that he induced tenants to pay increased lot rents in 1984 by promising to connect their homes to a nearby sewage treatment facility. No arrangements have been made to connect homes to the sewage treatment plant at the time of the citation.

According to Consumer Affairs, Director Donald E. Williams, the State's investigation stemmed from tenants' complaints that rental payments mailed to Simpson's Florida

Professional secretaries recognized for their roles

Professional Secretaries International (pSi), originator and sole sponsor of Professional Secretaries Week and Day, has designated April 20-26, 1986 as the Week and Wednesday, April 23 as Professional Secretaries Day.

Locally, members of pSi, First State Chapter, met with Governor Michael N. Castle on March 25, for the official signing of the Proclamation to declare the above mentioned dates as Secretaries Week and Day.

Professional Secretaries Week, begun in 1952, is observed both nationally and internationally. It is recognized in every state and province in the United States and Canada. Affiliated autonomous associations of pSi observe the week worldwide.

"Expanding Our World" will be the theme for professional secretaries in 1986. This theme illustrates the international scope of Professional Secretaries International (pSi), the global perception of the role of the secretary and the changing duties and responsibilities of the secretary in today's automated office.

Williams was approved by State Department of Community Affairs Secretary Frances M. West on April 3, 1986. The Order may be contested by Simpson on appeal to the Delaware Consumer Affairs Board.

Farm budget short sighted educators charge

A national organization of agricultural college administrators says President Reagan's fiscal 1987 budget proposal for agricultural colleges is "short sighted" and likely to endanger the economic well-being of agriculture. The group calls for higher, not lower, spending.

In a 30-page report, the division of agriculture of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges predicts that decreases funding for science and education "will accelerate government spending—not curb it. Agriculture is in the midst of the most serious financial crisis since the Great Depression."

A national system of land grant colleges charged with research and education in agriculture was established under legislation signed by President Abraham Lincoln. It has played a key role in making America's agriculture the most efficient in the world, according to Dr. Jim Ozburn, dean of the Washington State University College of Agriculture and Home Economics. He is chairman of the 12-member committee that wrote the division's report.

Dr. Donald F. Crossan, dean of the University of Delaware's Agricultural Sciences and director of the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station, shares the concerns of Ozburn and his committee. The report by the national group of agricultural college administrators illustrates the current crisis in U.S. agriculture with the following points:

- *Farm profits have plummeted to half the $30 billion mark set in 1981.

- *Agricultural exports have fallen 30 percent from a peak $44 billion in 1981.

- *Nearly a fifth of the nation's farmers are in severe financial stress and a third of the outstanding agricultural debt is at risk, according to Federal Reserve estimates.

- *More than 110 agricultural banks have failed since 1981, over 60 of them in 1985 alone.

- *Hundreds of local, agriculturally related businesses are failing.

- *Stress-related suicides, murders, divorces and family disintegration are occurring in rural communities.

To regain their competitive edge and re-establish viability, the national report says farmers and ranchers must have new cost-reducing production and management systems. The country's land grant based science and education system must develop these and transfer them to the point of need. Writers of the report believe President Reagan's proposal would endanger this process.

The agriculture division of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges urges that base programs in research and extension be increased 5 percent over the fiscal 1985 budget and that funds be restored for an important graduate fellowship program. While accepting the inevitability of cuts in some areas, the division recommends strengthening research and extension in three critical program areas: farm financial management and agricultural competitiveness, enhanced nutrition education, and water quality management.

The report includes three key recommendations:

- *Increasing base research funds 5 percent above fiscal 1985. The committee's recommendation is for $302.3 million; President Reagan has proposed $244.4 million.

- *A 5 percent increase over fiscal 1985 in funds for Cooperative Extension to deliver educational programs. The President has proposed a 59 percent cut in extension programs, which the report says "would destroy the capacity of extension to address the crisis" on America's farms. The committee recommends $375.5 million; the President has proposed $140 million.

- *Restoration of $5 million is sought to fund 100 graduate fellowships to train scientists to help fill a looming shortage of teachers and researchers in the agricultural sciences.

VVND - Another threat to Delmarva's Poultry Industry

Georgetown, Delaware...VVND (Exotic Newcastle disease), a highly contagious and deadly virus disease affecting all species of birds, was recently confirmed in Pennsauken, New Jersey, according to Dr. Frank Craig, Chairman of Delmarva Poultry Industry's (DPI) Emergency Poultry Disease Task Force. The exotic pet bird dealer that was involved had made 323 shipments of pet birds throughout 12 northeastern states from the time the lot of exposed birds was received on March 1 until the quarantine was put into effect with 7 going into Delaware.

"This is just another reminder that VVND is just another reminder that exotic pet birds are the primary way that VVND is spread - especially smuggled birds that were illegally brought into this country and did not go through USDA quarantine stations", Craig said.

Several other poultry diseases can be easily confused with VVND; the most evident signs of VVND are internal. Therefore, laboratory examination and tests are required to make a positive diagnosis. The virus is contained in the droppings of infected birds as well as in secretions from their nose, mouth and eyes. The virus can survive for several weeks in such materials as feathers, poultry manure and broken eggs. Virus-bearing material can be picked up on shoes, clothing, containers, vehicles and equipment and carried from an infected flock or a single bird to a healthy one.

"Therefore, everyone who has direct or indirect contact with live poultry on Delmarva is urged to stay away from pet shops and exotic pet birds at any location!" Craig stressed.

Delaware teens attending National 4-H conference

Delaware teens were in Chevy Chase, Md. last week as delegates to the 56th National 4-H Conference. Kirsten Smoot of Dover and Cristine Jernigan of Seaford were local 4-H'ers attending.

The focus of the annual conference is program development and public relations efforts. Delegates were chosen for their leadership potential and participation in 4-H activities.

Kirsten Smoot, 17, is a sophomore at Caesar Rodney High School. She is a six-year 4-H'er and won the state award in leadership. She has been the Kent County 4-H Junior Council treasurer for two years.

Cristine Jernigan, freshman at Salisbury State College, has been a 4-H'er for eight years. The 18 year old art major was a 1984 national 4-H winner with her swine project. She has held numerous offices in her local club, is on the 4-H advisory council at county and state levels and is president of the Sussex County 4-H Junior Council.

The Delaware delegates are joining other 4-H'ers from the United States, Puerto Rico, Guam, Virgin Islands, American Samoa and the Canadian provinces. During the conference they will listen to business and industry leaders, meet with congressional representatives, and discuss future state and national 4-H programs.

U of D Ag Day set for April 26

Time for sheep owners to get ready for shearing

Now's the time for sheep owners to prepare to shear their flocks. "All too often, people wait until the last minute to contact a shearer," says University of Delaware extension agricultural agent Richard Barczewski. "As a result, their sheep aren't shorn until after the annual wool pool, which means they could have difficulty finding buyers for their wool."

Barczewski suggests producers arrange now for a late April or early May shearing date.

"Producer and shearer have certain responsibilities to each other," the agent says. To make it easier for shearers, he suggests shepherds take the following steps:

Have the shearing area ready before the shearer gets there. Pen the sheep ahead of time. Make sure the animals are dry. Be prepared to roll and tie the fleeces. Be sure to use paper twine only.

Keep the work area clean. Don't expect to trim feet and deworm animals while they're being shorn. Shearers usually don't mind if these procedures are completed before or after shearing, provided there are enough hands available to keep things moving smoothly while they work.

Dried edible beans meeting scheduled

On Thursday, April 17th at 7:00 p.m., a meeting will be held in the Department of Agriculture Building on S. DuPont Highway, near Camden to discuss the possibilities of growing dried edible beans in Delaware.

A contractor from Pennsylvania will be on hand to answer questions and discuss what market situations were last year for comparative information and what outlooks are for 1986.

Growing and harvesting information will also be discussed.

Ed Kee, University of Delaware Extension Service Vegetable Specialist will also be attending and will have input.

Any farmer who has an interest in crop diversification for 1986 or 1987 is urged to attend.

For more information, contact W. Robert Smallwood, Marketing Specialist, Delaware Department of Agriculture, by calling 736-4811 or 800-282-8685.

Avian flu still a threat to Delmarva

There is good news about avian influenza (AI) — IF the Delmarva poultry industry continues certain precautions, according to Dr. Frank Craig, chairman of DPI's Emergency Poultry Disease Task Force. However, he stressed that until all the live poultry markets north of Delmarva are found to be free of AI for several months, Delmarva must continue to avoid contacts with live poultry as well as live haul trucks, coops, containers and equipment, etc., that have been in contact with live poultry from the north.

Although the AI virus has been found in several live poultry wholesale and retail markets throughout the Northeast in recent weeks, there has been non isolated from a poultry farm since February 19, 1986.

New Jersey live bird retail markets will be closed this week (April 7) to be cleaned and disinfected. All New York City area retail live bird markets will be cleaned and disinfected to remove them as a source of virus. However, there may still be contaminated containers circulating within live poultry markets for several more weeks.

Delmarva MUST continue to consider that ALL live poultry wholesale and retail markets in the Northeast are contaminated with AI — because of the way the coops and containers are exchanged within the network of marketing live poultry directly to retail markets for sale to consumers.

Another concern of DPI is that the USDA still has NOT received any supplemental funding to work on the current AI problems. All their expenditures have come from existing operating funds which has greatly limited their involvement.

Different funding alternatives have been discussed in the U.S. House and Senate, but no funds are yet available. Members of our U.S. Delegation from Delmarva are working hard to make these funds available.
