

Citizens win scrap appeal

by Harry G. Farrow Jr.

HARRINGTON — Three citizens from a list that totalled nearly 20 made their appeals stick on Monday night before the City Council. Arthur "Buck" Cahall, Fred B. Greenly Jr. and Anne Paladino asked for and received a sharp reduction in their property assessments.

Cahall's assessment was hiked when he put an addition on the rear of his property. "I had not finished the addition when the re-assessment was made. So how could this be?" asked Cahall, a former Mayor of Harrington. Cahall displayed invoices and bills which totalled just over $9,000, but the assessment was over $12,000.

Greenly on the other hand seemed to have a more fixed cause when he argued that the property behind him "which the City had condemned carries an assessment of $23,000, and the property where I reside carries an assessment of $27,000. "Gentlemen, this does not make sense to me or anyone else," said Greenly. Greenly said the County had the property assessed for $4,000. "...and Mr. Wagner and Mr. Taylor at the Bank (Peoples Bank of Harrington) had appraised it for $6,000," said Greenly. The property according to Greenly was not suitable for habitation. "The last time the property was assessed and it came time for appeal I was overseas, and did not know anything about it," added Greenly, who was in a China province setting up a program for harness racing. "My mother was in a nursing home at the time, and business was not being properly conducted," continued Greenly. He later applied for a building permit but due to a short hospitalization period, the time to complete the construction was extended. Greenly, a former Levy Court Commissioner of Kent County backed up his arguments based on his prior experience.

Anne Paladino won her case allowing for 60% of the total re-assessment because her project of siding her home was only 60% completed at the time of the re-assessment. The assessor said to Paladino that the other 40% would be taken into effect next year when the job is completed to which Mrs. Paladino replied, "...we will discuss that next year," which drew a chuckle from the council.

The scrap assessment is done each year. It involved any change to the exterior of the properties in the City. "It is too bad that more citizens who were on the list (which was posted around the City) had not attended the meeting because I think their assessments would have been dropped too. I personally feel the assessments are too high for this community," added Councilman Jimmy Temple.

Area residents give strong support to Libyan bombing

by William T. Ficka

Public officials and private citizens in both Kent and Sussex counties gave strong support to President Ronald Reagan after the U.S. bombing of Libyan targets on April 14.

Harrington Mayor Alfred Mann, although he wouldn't elaborate, said he approved the government's action.

Harrington City Manager George Volenik said, "Something had to be done, but I think it was the wrong approach. I'm sorry we scrapped our intelligence service. The media had a lot to do with that and everything since then has deteriorated. If we hadn't dismantled our intelligence service, we wouldn't have any Khadafys. And you don't go blaring to the whole world how many ships and planes and men are in the area. What kind of nonsense is that?"

Retired Brig. Gen. Fred W. Vetter Jr., former commander of the Dover Air Force Base, who has fought in three wars and served three years in Libya, was a strong supporter of the air strikes.

"I support the move. It was a considered, measured move that was necessary. But it can't be a one-shot thing. We have to keep going. We have to destabilize Khadafy's group to the point where they oust him," said Vetter.

"Khadafy believes in worldwide egalitarianism. He's a very dangerous man. His influence could spread throughout the whole Arab world if something isn't done," added Vetter.

Dave Dill, a service station owner in Felton, also supported the bombing raids.

"I agree 100 percent with the government. I was in Vietnam and I think we should have gone in there sooner and kicked a few butts," said Dill.

Brad Barnes, Republican State Representative from Bridgeville, and an outspoken conservative, didn't mince any words in his support of the bombings.

"There's no question I support it. I think it was long overdue. As far as that rumor that started, I wish they had gotten Khadafy," said Barnes, referring to the rumor that Khadafy had been either killed or wounded.

"Maybe this will start a coup over there to topple Khadafy. He's got a stranglehold on those people. Those people feel suppressed. This would give them a chance to get back in the mainstream of life," added Barnes.

Harrington City Councilman Jim Temple said, "I honestly believe the president has done the right thing, but I think we should have done it sooner. But he's on the right track. He's letting them know he's made up his mind that we won't tolerate this kind of thing any longer."

Burt White, of Bridgeville, a retired Air Force sergeant, said, "I'm all for it. I think it's long overdue. We've put up with these terroristic acts long enough."

Dave Coady, chairman of the Conservative Caucus of Lower Delaware, also gave his support to the government's move.

"I approve of it, but I was surprised it was such a small raid. I think they should have used a commando group to go in and get Khadafy and his top

State Sen. Ruth Ann Minner of Milford has received an Environmental Award by the Delaware Nature Education Society in recognition of her outstanding contributions to the advancement of environmental education and the conservation of natural resources.

The award was presented to Senator Minner at the Society's 21st annual meeting and dinner on April 16.

"It is a pleasure to work with a dedicated group like the DNES," Senator Minner said of the award. "Of particular interest to me is Abbotts Mill, which has been recognized and used by the citizens. I look forward to an addition to the building which will allow Abbotts Mill to expand its programs through the winter months."

Love and romance pay off for Felton author

by William T. Ficka

Candace McCarthy is a Felton woman who, like millions of other women, loves to read romance novels.

In fact, she loved reading them so much, that she decided to write one.

On Saturday, McCarthy was at Waldenbooks in the Dover Mall signing autographs in her first published novel, "Together in the Night." She will be at Waldenbooks in the Blue Hen Mall on April 26 from noon to 4 p.m. signing more autographs.

McCarthy is a vivacious 31-year-old housewife and mother who could pass as a college girl. Out of a love for reading, she started writing seven years ago.

"I wrote the first one for myself, and then I got hooked on it. I knew I wouldn't stop," she laughed.

It took almost two years to write that first novel. McCarthy learned that perseverance was an absolute necessity in the writing craft. After that first book, she wrote five more, only to see them all rejected by various publishers.

Undismayed, McCarthy persisted in her writing efforts. Her persistence paid off when Dell Publishing Co., a major paperback publisher, accepted "Together in the Night." Dell published the novel in February, 1986, in its Candlelight Ecstasy Romance series.

According to industry figures, romance novels account for more than 20 percent of all mass market paperback sales, or a whopping $200 million a year.

"There are different categories of romance novels," said McCarthy. "There's historical, teenage, sweet, sensual, suspense, even science-fiction romance novels."

Dell publishes eight category novels each month. These eight novels replace the eight from the previous month in

City Hall Survey

A survey on a new City Hall is being conducted by Councilman James Temple. The Councilman asks three questions to the public. Should the City Hall remain on Center Street, build a new building on Liberty Street east of and adjoining the Delmarva Power property, or select the John Satterfield property on Dorman Street.

You can register your vote by calling Councilman Temple at his store in Houston, 422-5566 or in the evenings at 398-8018.

John Satterfield, a former City Council member has offered his property on Dorman Street to the City at a price to be negotiated between him and the City. Satterfield would move to his other house on the corner of Dorman and Mechanic streets if the City should elect to accept his present dwelling for City Hall.

Lake Forest holds first Citizens Bee contest

In the Lake Forest High School Citizen Bee competition, Heather Rennie placed first. Heather was awarded a $50.00 Savings Bond for her tremendous effort. Second place went to Melinda Washburn who received $10.00 worth of merchandise at the school book store.

The girls will go to Regional Competition on April 22 at Del Tech in Dover where they will compete against students from six other schools. Competition begins at 6:30. Come cheer them on to victory.

Ex-POWs to meet on May 4

by William T. Ficka

The American Ex-Prisoners of War, Delaware Chapter No. 1 will hold a meeting at the American Legion Walter L. Fox Post 2, U.S. 113, Dover, on May 4 at 1 p.m.

The organization was formed in July, 1984 when President Ronald Reagan proclaimed an official National POW/MIA Recognition Day.

The chapter has 80 members. There are 170 ex-POWs living in Delaware, according to Thomas C. Farrow of Angola-By-The-Bay, chapter commander. Farrow has communicated with the 90 remaining POWs who aren't presently members.

"We're primarily interested in legislation to get the medical presumptions passed," said Farrow.

Many ex-POWs are suffering from diseases and disabilities contracted in the service that "are coming to light in later years," according to Farrow. He cited arthritis, spastic colon, hypertension and vascular problems as some of the ailments that are afflicting some of the older ex-POWs.

Various bills affecting ex-POWs are before the U.S. House of Representatives, Farrow said.

One such bill is HR 2411 which, if passed, would give an automatic 60 percent disability to POWs in the European Theatre of War in World War II. Another bill, HR 2412, would give an automatic 60 percent disability to POWs in the Asian-Pacific Theatre of War in World War II and the Korean conflict. The 60 percent disability would be in addition to any other benefits the ex-POW may be receiving.

the book stores. Although this method of distribution gives the book only one month on the shelf, the publisher keeps the book available for six months, according to McCarthy.

McCarthy is one of 14 members of the Delaware Chapter of Romance Writers of America.

"Writing can be frustrating and lonely at times, so it helps to be able to talk things over with someone who also writes. But I love it. It's something I wouldn't stop doing for anything," she said.

"If you get stuck with the plot, you can call up one of the members and get things straightened out," she added.

McCarthy also writes for the chapter's bi-monthly newsletter. The Romance Writers of America holds a national conference once a year.

She prefers to start writing in the morning after her husband, Kevin, goes off to his contracting business, and her nine-year-old son, Keith, boards the school bus.

"If I can start early in the morning, I have that much longer to write," she said.

"Together in the Night" is a contemporary romance novel in the sensual format. It takes Salisbury, Md. as its setting, and the story unfolds with the commercial radio industry as a backdrop.

McCarthy has written six "proposals," three of which are already in the hands of her publisher.

"A proposal is three complete chapters and an outline of the remaining chapters," she explained.

Her next novel will be a historical romance set in the early days of New Jersey's glass blowing industry.

"It takes a lot of research, because if you make one little mistake, someone is sure to spot it," she laughed.

In true romantic fashion, Candy, as she is known, dedicated her first book to her husband. The dedication reads, "To Kevin — my husband, my love...and my 'Shea.'" Shea is the protagonist of her novel.

Not to be outdone, Kevin gave Candy her own private automobile license tag on her last birthday. The tag reads, AUTHOR.

Ex-POWs to meet

The 69-year-old Farrow was a prisoner in Germany for 300 days in World War II.

"We were on a forced march for 87 days. A lot of the men are having problems now. We spent one whole night under water in a swamp. A Wilmington man who was on that march now has arthritis," said Farrow.

"We had Congressman Carper as a guest speaker in January. We would like to have Senator Biden, but he is a viable candidate for the presidency, so we'll have to get him fast. We contacted his Dover office but they couldn't make any commitments," said Farrow.

Many of the wives of the ex-POWs are

"We consider the wife a victim of the POW experience," said Farrow.

Officers of the chapter in addition to Farrow are: Harry Kreigh, Smyrna, vice-commander; Nicholas Tosques, South Bethany, treasurer; J. August Fogelgren, Wilmington, Chaplain; and Warren Lins, Dover, junior vice commander.

On the Board of Directors are: Anna Carlisle, of Lincoln; Lois Farrow, of Angola-By-The-Bay; and Ruth Tosques, of South Bethany.

The chapter holds a meeting every two months. Any ex-POW interested in joining the organization can call Clarence Carlisle at 422-8838.

men," said Coady.

Bobby Quillen, Republican State Representative from Harrington, gave unqualified support to the bombing.

"I think Reagan and the United States were right in the bombing. The people and the Congress approve it. Now if only the press would stop citicizing and saying it's going to cause more terrorism, and find something positive to say, we'd be better off," said Quillen.

The above remarks are typical of the comments voiced by four out of five Americans nationwide.

In a survey of 600 people the night after the bombing, the USA Today found 79 percent of Americans supported Reagan's actions. Twenty-nine percent said the U.S. should support attempts to assassinate Khadafy and 64 percent said the U.S. should work undercover to overthrow the Libyan leader.

Over The Backyard Fence

Gab Fest by Pat Hatfield

One of the things I especially love is travel. I love to visit other places, other lands, other people. Life has not been too generous to me in this respect, but I am so grateful for the memories stored up with me for the trips I've had. However we can all travel a long way to a lot of places through reading. I am always astonished to find people who do not like to read, or those who say they like to read but cannot find the time. Personally I just have to find time for reading because it enriches my life.

I usually get up about two hours earlier than Dad. I love the sunrise and I like to do some Bible reading early, when there is just the world and me, so to speak. There is always reading material at hand. This morning I read an article in the National Geographic about Kulané, a Canadian Park. I read about the great glaciers, the grizzly bears and other wildlife that exists there. It was a real vacation, very fascinating and very educational. By the time Dad came down for breakfast I had stored up a lot of entertaining facts as I hurried out to the kitchen to once again enter the world of coffee, cereal and applause.

As always, spring is going by too fast. The pink blooms on the fig tree and the flowering almond bush are already blowing off in the April breezes. They do not last long enough to bring them into the house for a bouquet. The Forsythia and the Japonica are a bit more durable.

When it comes to house plants I have never seen anything in the way of endurance like the Impatiens Plant. It should be called Patience instead. We used to call them "Everyday Bloomers" early years.

Last summer this wee plant did not fare too well out under the maple tree, mostly because of my negligence. They require so much water and if you do not give it to them every day they give up and droop drastically. But if you can catch it before too many days, they will perk up and start over. When I brought the plants in last fall, this poor little one looked like a candidate for the trash can, but I could not seem to do it. So, I put it on the window sill in the utility room and kept pouring the water on whenever I went past. Now with this care, it has grown some and has three or four lovely red blossoms. I thought this morning that it is a fine example of... just doing the best you can...with whatever you have...wherever you are!

Dad brings in the garden report. The peas are up two inches; the rosebushes are getting their baby leaves, the new red rhubarb looks healthy, and the strawberry plants are waiting to get out. We haven't seen any potato plants yet. The onions went into the ground today.

Friends of the Harrington Library News

The Friends of the Harrington Library held a meeting Thursday night to consider ways to continue the services of the local library. Due to a rise in insurance rates and decreased support from grants, the city is finding it difficult to continue the funding necessary to the operation of the library. In view of these circumstances the members present voted to take over from the city the expense of maintaining membership in the Central Delaware Library Consortium, a computer network which allows inter-library loans and does all the cataloging of books for the local library — a necessary service for a small limited library. This action was taken with the hope that the community would help defray this expense and that the city council would continue to regard the library as one of the city's needed services. The Friends of the Library also discussed other ways and means of raising funds to keep the library in operation.

show — from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. — will feature the display, demonstration and sale of country, folk, contemporary and traditional artworks. The raindate is Sunday, May 4, same hours and place.

Senior Center News

May is fast approaching, and the spring flowers are really beginning to be beautiful. Spring is a busy time at the Center also, and I would like to share a few things that are coming up. On Thursday the 24th we are having visitors from the Frederica Senior Center. Frederica has been with us before, and we have been to their Center and always a good time is had by all those participating.

They will help us enjoy a lunch of Roast beef with Gravy, Fried Rice, Peas, Applesauce and Choice of Juice. Then in the afternoon, we will be playing a few party games.

On Friday the 25th the Center will have a lot of activities going on. In the morning, we will be having Blood Pressures and Weight Monitoring. Also, the Kent County Advisory Committee will be meeting here. In the afternoon after lunch, Claudia Holden will be here from the Extension Service. Her topic, "Cooking for a Healthy Heart." This will begin at 1 p.m.

On Monday the 28th the Senior Sounds Chorus will be going to the Golden Years Nursing Home in Felton to do a presentation. Anyone interested in the chorus is welcome to join. They practice every Wednesday morning and would welcome new members. The Chorus and Band alternate months visiting local nursing homes with their musical programs. What a sense of pride the members must feel bringing such joy and fellowship to the residents of local nursing homes.

On the last day of April, the 30th, we are having one of our infamous Penny Parties. We ask members to bring in items that they no longer need or want and we have an auction. The bids will be in pennies. The proceeds, usually around $25.00 go into a fund to help throw little parties around the Center.

Now for the INFORMATION TIP OF THE WEEK...NURSING HOME PRE-ADMISSION SCREENING PROGRAM. The Division of Public Health operates a pre-admission screening program for persons applying for admission to nursing homes or our two state-operated facilities. The service is available to residents of Kent and Sussex Counties who are potentially eligible for Medicaid-funded nursing homes beds or admission to the state-funded facilities. The purpose of the program is to help determine whether the older person actually needs nursing home care or whether he/she is able to remain at home or with family if appropriate services can be provided.

The goal is to help the person avoid placement in a nursing home if that is appropriate and acceptable, and to remain as independent as possible. Information obtained during the evaluation is used to determine which community and in-home services could be utilized to meet the individual's needs. Recommendations for services are made to the client and family and referrals are made to the appropriate agencies. For more information call The Division of Public Health, Pre-Admission Screening Program at 736-3753.

That's all for this week, see you next week with more SENIOR CENTER NEWS.

Spartan girls beat state track champs

by Keith Burgess

Lake Forest's girls' track team are still unbeaten after beating Seaford's defending state champs by a score of 70-62 at Seaford.

The Spartans might have won more decisively but were on the short end of one questionable decision and on two more calls that were outrageously wrong. Obviously competent officials were not available that day. We won't comment further except to note, that one of the wrong decisions saw a Seaford meet official approach Jim Blades to notify him that half miler Lori Wilson was disqualified after finishing second to teammate Kelli Pelton. But here is the rub! Three events had been contested since the half mile, before the disqualification was made. That's a no-no folks. Fouls are supposed to be levied at once.

The smarting Spartans put out a supreme effort and got the duke anyway. Kelli Pelton, the strong, Spartan senior tallied 15 points winning the 800, 1600 and 3200 meter runs. Lori Wilson had a second at 1600 meters before her unreasonable disqualification, then helped sew up the meet by running with Lorraine Lake, Sheva Batton and Melanie Pelton in a cautious meet-ending 1600 meter relay. Seaford had used up most of their athletes in a futile attempt to sew up the meet early and did not run in the 1600 relay. Freshman Julie Betts helped Lake Forest dominate the distance events by outrunning all Blue Jay opposition in both the 1600 and 3200 runs finishing third and second respectively. Her 3200 time of 13:10 was another personal mark.

Tara Dixon continues to set new records practically every time out of the starting blocks. Dixon appeared to have edged Seaford's highly-touted, Tisha Milligan, in the 100 hurdles, but was given a 15.75 to Milligan's 15.72. Tara's clocking shattered the old Lake Forest mark set by Dixon a few days ago. Later she ran a swift 49.3 in the 300 hurdles to trounce Milligan, with Sheva Batton getting third.

Arlene May like Dixon, a freshman, ran 200 meters in 27.7, then teamed with Dixon yet another freshman, Shani Palmer and senior Michelle Briggs to take the 400 meters in 53.6.

Some runners, once passed, never challenge again. Don't put Lorraine Lake and Melanie Pelton in that category. Two Seaford runners had gone by the two Spartans and threatened to finish one-two, giving Seaford a 8-1 bulge in that event. Those points plus the points lost to the Spartans because of the careless officials, would have given Seaford the meet. But Lake fought by one Blue Jay, inched up on the other, then went on by. Meanwhile Melanie passed one rival for third, and the Spartans took the event 6-3 in what proved to be one of the crucial events for the Spartans. Lake (64.7) had a personal best.

The Blue Jays are powerful in the field events, winning all five. They are a threat in each of these, to get first or second in the state meet. Yet the Spartans scored enough here to stay close enough for the Lake Forest runners to put the meet in the win column. Severa Harris had a second in the shot and a third in the discus.

Michelle Briggs had seconds in the long and triple jumps doing a yearly best 15-10 in the former. Mary McGuire (4-6) and Carla Harris (4-4) were second and third in the high jump. Val Durant was third in the triple jump as Seaford managed only a 10-8 edge in these last two events named.

All's well that ends well. The troubles the Spartans suffered then overcame in this meet, will stand them in good stead in future meets.

4 - 0 Spartans out run

Seaford 90 - 51

by Keith Burgess

Jim Blades' Lake Forest track team beat Seaford 90-51 and like their distaff counterparts, are 4-0 at this writing. Seaford won 5 of 17 events and did not mount a serious event against the balanced Spartans.

Mark Tozer was first in the 800 and 1600 (4:44) meter runs and did not have to be used at 3200 meters. Since he's the Henlopen Cross-Country Champ, some people think the 3200 might be his best event. On occasion, depending on the opposition, he can and will run all three distance events.

Dexter Bray romped to a 53.4 victory at 400 meters on the slow, Seaford dirt track. Bray, Joe Brown, Frank Coverdale and Taraine Giddens relayed 800 meters in 1:36.8.

Darren Hammond (43.7) annexed the 300 intermediate hurdles, then led off the winning 400 meter relay unit, running with Bruce Mosley, Coverdale and Giddens (47.1). Brown, Giddens, Bray and James Hicks took the 1600 relay, in 3:41.6, good time for a dirt track. Hicks leaped 5-6, to take the high jump.

Barry Chaffinch tossed the discus 134 feet, with Paul Adkins getting third with a personal best 111 feet, 1 inch. Chaffinch and Greg Wright (41 feet) were 2-3 in the shot. We believe Wright's effort to be his top throw ever. Jason Tiggs, second to Bray, at 400 meters was first in the long jump (18-10).

John McGrew (40-2) Hicks and Danny Powell swept the long jump.

Bob Reed reached a new high of 10 feet, 6 inches in the pole vault, with Daryl Cherry next. Eric Payne was second at 3200 meters to Seaford's Danny Hall, one of the top downstate two milers. Darren Hammond and Carl Young were 2-3, in the 110 high hurdles.

Taraine Giddens was second at 200 meters while Frank Coverdale's 11.7, 100 meters third-place finish, was his fastest century yet. Steve Clute, an up-and-coming young, distance runner was third at 1600 meters.

Anxious Robby, Smartest Remark & Skipper's Vestige turn in fastest miles of Brandywine season

by Marv Bachrad

Anxious Robby and driver Jack Moiseyev were at their best Sunday night taking the $12,000 Invitational Pace in 1:56.3, the fastest clocking of the young Brandywine Season.

Moiseyev alertly left quickly from the outside in the select field of six and Anxious Robby was never seriously challenged in the wire-to-wire performance. Champagne Lobell rallied for, second in front of Flying Rich.

The co-feature $15,000 Starburst Series Final witnessed a head and head battle from just before the three-quarters to the last sixteenth between Skipper's Vestige and early leader Tarmac. Ross Hayter eased the 4 year old Governor Skipper horse away for a length victory over fast closing Top Burner, who edged Tarmac for second.

Director of Racing Herman Brickel's strong group of Open Paces accented high speed. Top sophomore candidate Smartest Remark, who set a track record as a 2 year old, had the good fortune of spotting daylight between horses in the late stretch. Driver Don Irvine, Jr. pointed him through it for a 1:57.2 win in the $8,000 event. Jackson Hanover was never headed in a $7,000 Open besting Overnight Success in 1:59. New Jersey filly contender Glenn's Super Star became Abe Stoltzfus' third winner of the night holding off Mel D in a $5,000 section.

Rosecroft group buys Burbage's share in Ocean Downs

by Harry G. Farrow Jr.

OXON HILL, MD — William E. Miller, 2nd under the title of Rosecroft Trotting and Pacing Association, Inc. operator of Rosecroft Raceway, has purchased the 68% in Ocean Downs which was the share of stock owned by John Howard Burbage.

The agreement was entered into the second week of April and settlement is slated for this week. Burbage was quoted as saying that he received an estimated $5 million dollars for his share in the facility. According to a spokesperson at Rosecroft "...the management merely smiled at that figure." The track under new management is due to open on May 23rd.

Changes are taking place to the facility at this time. "They have moved additional grandstand seats which were not being used here (Rosecroft) to the ocean facility," added the spokesperson. Plans are to improve the racing facility particularly the lighting at the track, which has been a problem for years.

New races are planned for the facility. The Seashore Series for 3 and 4 year olds and the Delmarva Series for 2 year olds with 3 legs each with the finals worth $5,000.

Miller was quoted as saying that "...the marketing techniques used so successfully at Rosecroft will be implemented at Ocean Downs." A name change is also being considered through a contest run by the fans. Not this year but probably next year a new tote board will be installed.

In 1986, Milford will be home for a semi-pro baseball team for a second straight season. After competing in the DEL-MAR Baseball League, the Yankees will be competing in the highly competitive Eastern Shore Baseball League.

The Eastern Shore Baseball League is comprised of teams from Virginia, Salisbury, Princess Anne, Seaford, Delmar and Lewes.

The League touts former big league players, college players and high school standouts. Most of the games played are watched by big league scouts looking for talent.

Last year, the Yankees compiled a 12-3 record on the way to capturing the league pennant. The team defeated Lewes 11-0 in the opening round of the playoffs. The Yankees then fell short of the league championship by losing to the Denton Tigers in the league championship game, 8-7.

The Yankees have a roster full of former players from area schools.

From the Milford area are third baseman, Kevin Barkley; centerfielder, Theodis Bove; catcher, Mike Webb and third baseman, Jeff Greenly.

Also there are former Lake Forest standouts: first baseman, Terry Loper; shortstop, Albert Silberisen; pitcher, Jim Moss; shortstop-outfielder, Tim Stump; outfielder, Mike Dill; third baseman, Jim Kossman and former Sussex Central second baseman, Chris Scott.

Currently the team is practicing weekly in Milford, gearing up for the season opener on June 2. The Yankees are still looking for a few players, especially pitchers.

One other thing the team is still looking for is a sponsor. The team is trying to raise money, but it is still not enough. Any area businesses or persons who are interested in being a sponsor are asked to call 284-4004 or 422-7102. All donations are tax deductible and the sponsor's ad will appear in all game programs.

U.S. 13 Dragway

by Charlie Brown

Johnny Ennis took full advantage of his quick reactions to win top honors in the Super Pro/Pro Combo division Sunday at the U.S. 13 Dragway. Ennis' reaction time at the lights was fifteen one-hundredths of a second quicker than runner-up and defending champion Bunky Truitt. Johnny's '74 Vega ran an ET of 9.60/123.28 mph to the "Tag Team Racing" altered's 9.13/141.50 mph.

Robin Lewers ended his day in the semi-finals when he redighted to Ennis. David Tucker's fate was the same as he also left too soon against Truitt in the semi-final round.

Quarter-final honors went to Jesse Disharoy in his '55 Chevy, Roger Joudrey in his '49 Ford, Jay Bradford in a '60 Corvette, and Brent Bounds in a '81 Camaro.

Heavy/Street Combo was won by sixteen year old Lee Williamson in the "Godfather" '36 Ford. Williamson, whose mother Carole was last year's point champion in Heavy, defeated Bill Groton who redighted in the final round. Semi-finals were won by John Reed of Greenwood, DE in his beautiful '64 Chevelle and Jesse Truitt in the Truitt/Truitt/Donaway '68 Dodge. Quarter-final round losers were John Henderson of Frederica, DE in a '69 Camaro and David Fleming of Federalsburg, Md. in a '65 Chevelle.

Michael Durham of Dover, DE won a very tight race over Jack Willard to capture the Pro Bike title. Durham's Kawasaki went an ET of 11.27 on a 11.10 dial in to Willard's run of 9.97 on a 9.85 dial in. Semi-finals were won by Charlie Willard of Queenstown, Md. and F.C. Henckel of Easton, MD both riding Kawasaki powered machines.

Billy Somers of Georgetown, DE won Hot Rod Eliminator in his '79 Camaro when Willie Turner, Jr. ran under his dial in by one one-hundredth of a second. This Sunday will be the Funny Car Open. Several top fuel funny cars will be on hand running six second times and speeds in excess of 200 mph. Gates open at 10:00 a.m. with eliminations getting underway at 2:00 p.m.

NASCAR stars to "drive" in Golf Tournament

Daytona 500 winner Geoff Bodine and 1985 Winston Cup champ Darrell Waltrip will join several other NASCAR drivers and local golfers for the inaugural Budweiser 500/Kent General Foundation Golf Tournament. The Thursday, May 15th event will be held at the Maple Dale Country Club, with proceeds benefitting the Kent General Foundation. The drivers will be in town preparing to compete in the annual Budweiser 500 race at Dover Downs on May 18.

"We see the tournament as a unique way to bring Kent County residents together with the NASCAR racing community in an enjoyable and relaxing atmosphere," says volunteer tournament chairman Bill Silvestri, who is also manager of the PPG Plant in Cheswold. Other drivers already scheduled to play include Neil Bonnett, Kyle Petty, Ricky Rudd, Bobby Hillin, Rusty Wallace, Brett Bodine, and Ned and Dale Jarrett. Winston Cup crew members, car owners and personalities have also been invited to participate. The tournament will be "best ball" in format with a shotgun start.

A limited number of entries and sponsorships are still available to local businesses and residents. For further information call Newt Hudson at the Kent General Foundation, (302) 734-0564.

Kent General Foundation is the fundraising arm of the Hospital, which stages special events and campaigns to support its services.

Earnhardt has high hopes for The Winston

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of a 10-part series on the drivers competing in The Winston on May 11 at Atlanta International Raceway. The Winston is NASCAR's race for winners only, its Masters. A driver must have won at least one race during the 1985 NASCAR Winston Cup season to earn an invitation to compete in the $500,000 event. Ten drivers qualified for The Winston and a shot at the $200,000 first-place prize — the largest in NASCAR history. The 83-lap, 126.3-mile event will be televised live by ESPN.)

HAMPTON, GA — Dale Earnhardt can't wait to get back to Atlanta International Raceway for The Winston on May 11. He's convinced that he is the favorite to win the race and the $200,000 first prize because of his performance at the track last month.

"I'm ready," he says. "I really feel good about our chances, especially after the way we ran there last time."

Earnhardt won the pole position for the Motorcraft 500 at AIR in March with a record speed of 170.713 miles per hour. And he led more laps than anyone, 167 out of 328, before having to settle for second place.

"I think we would have won it if we hadn't had our engine problem," says Earnhardt, who finished one car length behind winner Morgan Shepherd. "The car just got very lazy coming off the corners. Nothing broke, but the valve stems loosened up. And we just didn't have the same jump coming off the corners as we had earlier."

Earnhardt, who won the NASCAR Winston Cup championship in 1980, is glad this year's running of The Winston is not only being held at AIR, but that it's a separate event. In its first year, the race for winners only was held in conjunction with the Coca-Cola World 600 at Charlotte Motor Speedway.

"There was too much confusion going on last year," says the driver of the Wrangler-Goodwrench Chevrolet Monte Carlo SS. "Trying to get ready for both races was too hectic. It was tough for everyone."

"The Winston is big enough to stand on its own. It is a very prestigious race; it's a race for winners. It should not have to share time with any race."

Earnhardt finished a disappointing 10th in last year's 12-driver race. "We really had high hopes, but we never got the car right during race week," he notes. "We just didn't get enough practice time for The Winston."

He nor any of the other nine drivers in the $500,000 event should have that problem this year as practice will open on Friday, May 9 at AIR with the teams also practicing on Saturday.

There will be no qualifying session as the starting lineup for the all-star race has already been determined. As the reigning Winston Cup champion, Darrell Waltrip will start on the pole position. The rest of the lineup was decided by the number of wins a driver had in 1985 with the point standings acting as the tie-breaker. Earnhardt will occupy the third spot behind Waltrip and Bill Elliott.

The 10 teams in The Winston will have to share the track with the 14 drivers that the fans voted in the Atlanta Invitational. The Invitational will start at 1 p.m. on Sunday, May 11, with The Winston following at 3:15 p.m. Both races will be televised by ESPN.

"But, this time, we only have to worry about The Winston," says Earnhardt, who will turn 34 on April 29. "Each team will only have one race to worry about, and this Wrangler crew is determined to make up for last year."

If the Richard Childress-Kirk Shelmerdine team is to put Earnhardt in victory lane, he believes his Chevrolet must be able to stay low in the corners. "If you can run on the bottom of the track, the guy behind you can't pass," says Earnhardt. "And you can't pass on the outside."

Yet, Earnhardt realizes that horsepower will be important if he is running second or third near the end of the race. "You have got to get around him," he explains. "If you have to wait to the corner, you had better be able to get below him to have any shot at passing him. And if he can stay on the bottom, you are in trouble."

Earnhardt wins two in a row

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Dale Earnhardt roared out of a pit stop with 45 laps to go and held off a challenge by Ricky Rudd to win the First Union 400 NASCAR Grand National race Sunday at North Wilkesboro Speedway.

Earnhardt drove his Chevrolet an average 88.417 mph for his second victory in a row and his first at the five-eighths of a mile track. He won the TransSouth 500 last week at Darlington, S.C.

Earnhardt, 33, of Kannapolis, N.C. credited his victory in the 250-mile race to the weather and a quick pit stop after Dave Marcis crashed into the wall on lap 353.

"Thank the good Lord the rain held off and we got this one in," he said. "We got a good set of tires on in the last pit stop. They really put me in the lead by pitting...If I had to race Ricky from behind, I don't know if I could do it." Rudd was second in a Ford, followed by pole-sitter Geoff Bodine and Darrell Waltrip, both in Chevrolets, and Joe Ruttman in a Buick.

Earnhardt's crew changed four tires on the last pit stop in 17 seconds getting him out ahead of Rudd, who needed 27 seconds.

"I'll tell you what — that pit crew did a hell of a job all day long," Earnhardt said. "Those guys got me out of the pits ahead of everyone and put me in the lead. All I did was run the car smooth and stay in front."

This victory and last week's at Darlington were no flukes, said

Earnhardt.

"Our cars have been competitive — we've been there all along," he said.

Bunting captures 79th career win at U.S. 13 Speedway

by Charlie Brown

Harold Bunting captured his first victory of the season and his 79th win overall at the U.S. 13 Speedway Saturday night. The father and son team of Eddie and Kenny Pettyjohn won the late model and street modified features respectively, and Todd Richardson picked up where he left off last season by winning the limited late model main.

Harold Bunting started on the point on the Delaware start in the 25 lap modified main. Right from the drop of the green Bunting established himself as the force to beat. His only problem of the race came on lap four when he brushed the wall coming off turn two.

The first of only two cautions came on lap seven when last week's winner, Freddy Brightbill came to a stop. On the restart Gary Trice moved by Jim Baker into second with Ed Brown Jr. in fourth and Tom Capie taking Bob Toreky for fifth. Two laps later the last caution flew when Toreky hit the wall and Brown dropped from the race.

Chic Cossabone moved his small block into the top five on the restart but was soon dropped back to sixth by John Pinter. Capie moved by Trice for the second spot but Bunting was long gone out front. At the checker it was Bunting the winner followed by Capie, Trice, Baker and Pinter. Sixth through tenth were Hal Browning, Ron Keys, Tommy Long, Bobby Walls, and Johnny Bennett, Jr.

Charlie Wilkerson was the early leader in the late model feature. Wilkerson held off defending champion, David Hill for the first eight go rounds. On lap eight, Eddie Pettyjohn blasted from third into the lead and never looked back. Hill moved into second as Wilkerson started to fade. Pettyjohn opened up a half track lead and lapped all but the first six cars. At the wire it was Pettyjohn, Hill and Ronnie Wilson getting by Mike Tauber coming to the wire for third. Fifth through tenth were John Broussard, Wilkerson, Alex Beaumont, Duane Rust, Lou Johnson, and Joey Carey.

Todd Richard, who ended last season with a three feature win streak, made it four in a row in the limited late models. Richardson took the lead on the third lap from Tim Hopkins and went on to the win. C.R. Robinson and Hopkins finished a very close second and third with Ernie Lowe fourth and Bear Kelly rounding out the top five.

Kenny Pettyjohn followed his dad's example by winning the street modified feature. Pettyjohn took the lead from Elwood Driscoll on lap third and went on to the checker. Driscoll finished second followed by Tommy Elliott, Jimmy West and Rodney Graves.

The staff and fans of the U.S. 13 Speedway were deeply saddened by the traffic death of modified pilot, Jerry Dickinson the night prior. Many thanks to the fans in turn one for their contribution to his family. This Saturday night will feature Twin 20's for the modifieds paying $800 to win each and a $500 bonus if the same driver wins both.

Elliott flexes muscles with record-surpassing run at Talladega

Bill Elliott unofficially broke his own world speed record for stock cars while testing last week at Alabama International Motor Speedway for the May 4th Winston 500.

Elliott was clocked at 209.515 mph in a new Ford Thunderbird that was being run for the first time, but it wasn't a new mark because it came in practice.

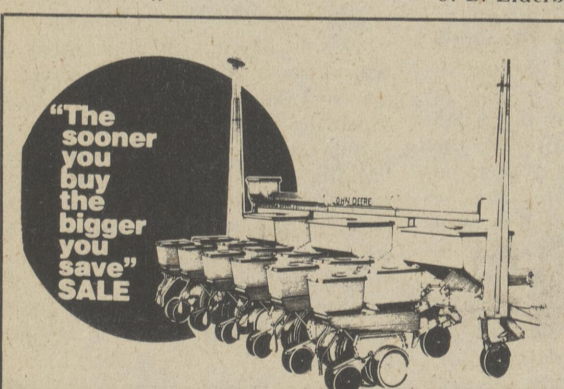

The existing NASCAR Winston Cup qualifying record of 209.398 mph and world record for stock cars was set by Elliott at Talladega in qualifying for the Winston 500 last year.

Although Elliott was consistently turning laps in excess of 209 mph, he downplayed the test session speed results.

While the Elliotts may not be openly excited about Monday's run at Talladega, they have certainly given credibility to early predictions that record speeds will be needed to sit on the pole for the Winston 500 and that minimum speeds of 200 mph will be needed to make the starting field for this Winston Cup race.

Track officials are expecting a record crowd for TRW Winston Cup qualifying on Thursday, May 1st, starting at 1:00 p.m.

Time to train for Academy appointments

by Congressman Tom Carper

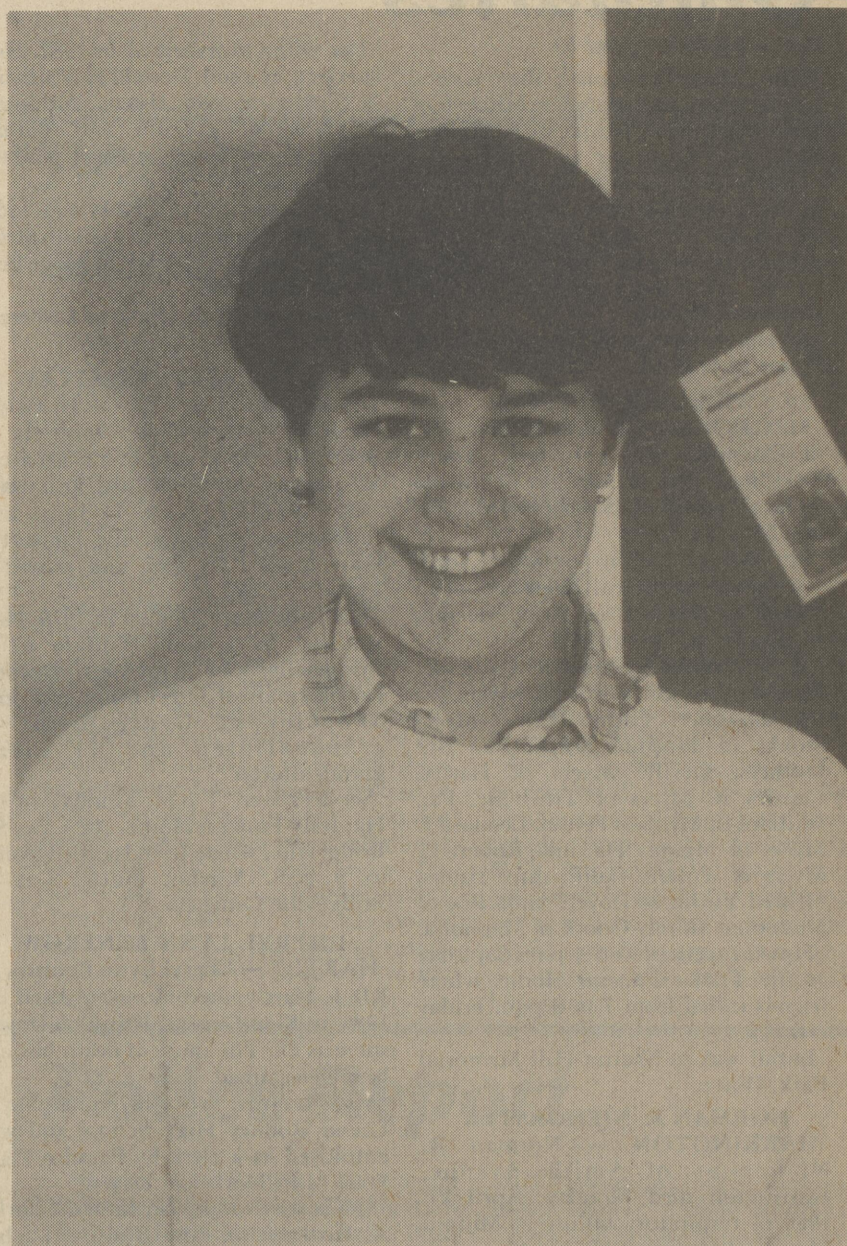

For young Delaware men and women who aspire to attend one of the U.S. service academies, Spring '86 is the time to begin training for a 1987 academy appointment from me. October 10, 1986, is my absolute deadline and there's a good deal involved: SAT scores, transcripts, an essay, letters of recommendation, updates and so on.

At the optimum, my ideal candidate must be an athletic individual who excels in academics, earns SAT scores of over 550 each on math and verbal tests, demonstrates leadership capabilities, is involved in community service activities, and has a genuine interest in pursuing a military service career.

"My five qualities for a military career are orientation, athletics, academics, leadership and community service," said Carper.

For those seeking academy appointments should write me at 5021 J. Caleb Boggs Federal Office Bldg., 844 King Street, Wilmington, DE 19801.

Spring art fling

Lake Forest High School will host a district wide art show for grades K-12 on Saturday, April 26, 1986, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. This third annual "Spring Art Fling" will be held in the cafeteria and will be open to the public. No admission will be charged, however donations to the FLAG Raisers will be accepted at the door.

Last year's show featured over 400 pieces of art work. Many art forms were represented and each entry was unique.

For a small fee, anyone can create a word sculpture, make a book mark, design a button, fashion a fun hat, invent a paper bag puppet, construct a kaleidoscope, paint a glider, do a banner or make a sparkling sun catcher. You can create a one of a kind poster, message posters, place mats or certificates to be laminated. Craft tables and make-and-take activities will be available for children while adults can laminate bookcovers, posters and important documents.

Lunch will be available as well as lots of homemade refreshments. There will also be a guessing table and door prizes will be given.

President Reagan signs new Selective Service Law

A very significant milestone of the Selective Service System is now occurring. Beginning January 1, 1986, men who were required in 1980 to register with the Selective Service System will be turning 26. Men who have failed to register before their 26th birthday will have permanently forfeited many employment opportunities.

President Reagan has signed a law that will deny appointment to federal jobs to men who have not registered with the Selective Service System. Effective immediately, the law applies to students seeking temporary summer employment, as well as men searching for permanent employment with a federal agency or department. Additionally, registration is a requirement in some states for various employment opportunities, such as law enforcement agencies and permission to practice law.

Many of the men who are nonregistrants may be unaware of the importance of the obligation to register. Some have served in the military but failed to register either before entering the Armed Forces or after leaving active duty.

Men age 18 to 25 who have not yet registered, should register promptly to avoid prosecution and or loss of benefits. Registration takes only five minutes at any post office. Failure to register is a felony, punishable by a fine of up to $250,000 and/or up to 5 years imprisonment.

Inquiries concerning the above should be directed to: Col. William J. Tansey, telephone (work) 834-6354 or (home) 655-5635.

Local government and the Constitution today

by George S. Blair

Editor's Note: American federalism traditionally has connoted three levels of government (national, state, local) pursuing discrete objectives, each within its own area of competence. Professor Blair describes how the national government has assumed control over matters once thought to have been left to local government. All three branches of the national government have contributed to the creation of a new system of "cooperative federalism."

The federal government was never isolated from contacts with local government units, but these contacts remained largely negative until the 1930s. In upholding the Constitution, federal courts nullified local ordinances which were contrary to its spirit or letter. In combatting the Great Depression of the thirties, however, wide-ranging programs were adopted which matured into an entirely new role for the central government in its dealings with local governments. Localities emerged as a partner in a system of cooperative federalism instead of remaining the bottom layer of government in a three-tier federal system. As a result, the former clear distinction between the federal principle and intergovernmental relations became murky and now seems almost to have disappeared.

It might be expected that most of the changes in federal-local relations would have resulted from actions of Congress. Rather, it is the changed understanding of federal-local relations by all branches of the federal government that has resulted in the conditions we see today. Presidents have sounded like big city mayors in special messages to Congress on behalf of domestic programs; Congress has debated specifics of narrowly focused programs as local governing boards are expected to do; and the Supreme Court has sometimes utilized administrative convenience rather than constitutional principle as the base for its decisions.

Local governments have been most affected by Supreme Court decisions in three major areas — expansion of the commerce clause, extension of the due process clause of the Fourteenth Amendment, and in growth of case law relating to federal grants-in-aid and their administration. The impact of the decisions in the first two areas is more widely known and recognized. Grant-related law is more recent and its effect is less well understood. In general, the Court has upheld the power of congress to spend money for any program deemed necessary for promoting the general welfare. The Court has also upheld the authority of Congress to attach conditions to grant and has ruled on the obligations and rights that grants place on the grantor, the receiving government, and the ultimate recipient.

The kit of congressional techniques to regulate local governments has expanded to include four new strategies. These are (1) direct orders, an example of which is the Equal Employment Opportunity Act of 1972 barring job discrimination by local governments on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, or national origin; (2) requirements which are imposed on grants across the board to further national policies as does Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 which stipulates that "no person in the United States shall, on the ground of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program receiving federal financial assistance"; (3) sanctions, which impose fiscal sanctions in one program area or activity to influence policy in another as in the emergency Highway Energy Conservation Act of 1974 which prohibits the approval of highway construction projects in states having a speed limit in excess of 55 miles per hour; and (4) partial preemption, an example of which is in the Clean Air Act Amendments of 1970 giving the federal government authority to mobilize local resources on behalf of national programs.

The cumulative impact of Supreme Court decisions on local governments was particularly apparent in the Garcia v. San Antonio Metropolitan Transit Authority case in 1985. The 1976 decision in National League of Cities v. Usery had the doctrine that the Tenth Amendment protected the states and the people thereof by restricting the exercise of federal power, just as the first Amendment protects the rights of individuals by limiting federal power. The Garcia decision swept this interpretation aside and held that federal wage and hour standards apply to local workers.

Alexis de Tocqueville, the perceptive French observer of American institutions and processes in the 19th century, wrote "A nation may establish a free government, but without municipal institutions it cannot have the spirit of liberty." While local government remain, so does an essential question: can local government be politically independent if it is financially and administratively dependent? The Constitution gives no clear guidance in approaching an answer and the Court seems oblivious to the need for one.

Congress has assumed for itself the role of local council for the nation through the back door through grants-in-aid and service-related programs since it could not do it directly by enacting regulations that local governments must obey. Court decisions in the past quarter-century have upheld acts of Congress to enhance that role and sometimes even broaden their application. Thus, the position of local government under the Constitution today increasingly is one of congressionally approved practice rather than of principle. The stability of the federal principle may be an even less certain anchor in the immediate future.

The right to fair housing

by Samuel R. Pierce Jr., Secretary U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development

One of the greatest freedoms enjoyed by Americans is the freedom to live in the home of one's choice. This is the promise made to us by the Nation's Fair Housing Law which requires that all people be treated equally in connection with the sale or rental of housing, regardless of race, color, religion, sex, or national origin.

This year marks the eighteenth anniversary of the Federal Fair Housing Act, the original legislation targeting the elimination of housing discrimination in America. Since passage of the Act in April 1968, we have made much progress as hostilities have lessened and racial barriers have fallen. More and more of our citizens have realized that everyone deserves the opportunity to live where they choose, for as long as they desire and can afford to do so; and in an atmosphere free from intolerance and fear. Americans also have come to recognize that the promotion and safeguarding of this right is in fact the protection of a basic tenet of democracy, and simple human justice, as well.

Although we have made progress, discriminatory practices continue. In fact, evidence suggests that in some areas such practices flourish.

Not only is housing discrimination widespread, it also has become much more subtle in the way it is practiced. Minorities might be told they must pay deposit fees when no such requirement is specified to white applicants; or minorities might be told that nothing is available when there are existing vacancies. This "discrimination with a smile" is not nearly so crude as blatantly unfair treatment, of course, but it can just as effectively deny a home to the minority person seeking one. Such activity is illegal, and HUD has acted to enforce the Federal Fair Housing Act as far as current law permits; but there is a great need to strengthen the existing legislation. Although differing proposals are pending in Congress, their common ground is broader than the differences, and each side deserve a fair hearing of its views and concerns. Judiciary committee hearings in both houses of Congress should accomplish this, and I am confident that a mutually acceptable compromise can be secured. Equally important to strengthening the Government's capability is the need to enhance the private enforcement capacity of fair housing advocates and plaintiffs. In order to accomplish this, President Reagan has proposed the Fair Housing Initiatives Program to Congress. This program has three components. It will continue to fund State and local fair housing enforcement agencies; provide funding for both public and private outreach and education programs for housing industry groups and the general public; and support private and non-profit group activities which pursue enforcement by the use of testing and other activities.

We believe that our Fair Housing Initiatives Program can stimulate and increase the active involvement and participation of community leaders with Federal, State and local fair housing efforts. These are the kinds of public/private partnerships we need to encourage.

President Reagan and I are asking each citizen to support these efforts to put into practice the principles of freedom, justice and equality upon which this great nation was founded. Let each of us vow to treat our fellow Americans as we ourselves wish to be treated. Join us as we work to assure equality of housing opportunity for each and every American.

COMMENTARY

Khadafy can no longer be tolerated

by William T. Ficka

"If necessary we shall do it again." Those seven words by President Ronald Reagan regarding the Libyan air strikes will stick in the craw of Khadafy as long as the Libyan madman is in power.

Will it discourage future terrorist acts? Will a mad dog lie down and roll over? Of course not. But Khadafy now knows that the roof is going to cave in. That he is not dealing with a Georgia peanut farmer. That future violence will beget violence.

Future terrorist acts are a certainty. Remember, Khadafy has funded and trained thousands of terrorists who are part of a far-flung network in his campaign of violence. He believes with a religious fervor that violence is an absolute necessity if he is to achieve his aims of Third World liberation and Arab unity. He spends $100 million a year financing his network of terror. He is a megalomaniac who sees himself as a personified historic force that will alter the course of world history. It isn't likely that such a man will close down Libya's 44 terrorist training camps because of one bombing.

Reagan is on the right track. Let us hope that he will maintain his resolve, regardless of world opinion.

The anti-American demonstrations in enemy countries in the wake of the bombing were to be expected. Many of those demonstrations in countries we look upon as allies were led by small contingents of leftists, which was also to be expected. But even if they weren't,

Conservative Caucus calls on Roth and Biden to support original McClure-Volkmer Firearms Owners Protection Act

The Conservative Caucus of Lower Delaware calls on Senators Roth and Biden to insist that the original Senate-passed McClure-Volkmer Firearms Owners Protection Act be retained and not the weakened house version of the bill. The Caucus requests that both Senators work to have the bill sent to a Senate-House Committee with instructions that the Senate members stand fast for their version of the bill.

The Conservative Caucus of Lower Delaware asks why is Thomas P. Gordon, president of the Delaware Fraternal Order of Police, turning his back on past supporters. In the 1960's who was it that put "Support Your Local Police" bumper stickers on their cars when liberals were demanding police review boards? Who came up with the slogan, "Pride, Integrity, Guts" when liberals were calling police officers "Pigs"? We trust that Gordon does not speak for the vast majority of police officers in Delaware.

as George Will said — so what?

The more we worry about our world image, the less the world thinks of us. Our concern over world opinion is interpreted as weakness. We pulled Europe's chestnuts out of the fire in World War I. We pulled Europe's chestnuts out of the fire in World War II. After World War II, we rebuilt Europe and fed and clothed its people by way of the Marshall Plan. But Europe's attitude seems to be, "but what have you done for me lately."

Delaware's Senator Joe Biden was right on target in his remarks on "CBS Morning News." In an allusion to France's initial lack of support, Biden said, "They would be dancing in the streets of Paris if, tomorrow, the Libyan people toppled Khadafy."

Biden went on to say that the United States "should make it clear to any state that sponsors terrorism that we will take any action...monetary...or significant use of force, to respond to threats around the world." Biden pointed out that "we are not the only nation who adopts that view," and that the Soviet Union, in the same situation, "would act no differently."

At this writing, reprisals have already occurred. And as sure as the night follows the day, there will be more. If "justice delayed is justice denied," then military force delayed is suicide.

One thing is clear — Khadafy must be removed. By some means, fair or foul, Khadafy must go.

Gordon intimated that the public should be willing to give up Constitutional Rights for the sake of safety. This country was founded on the belief that people should be willing to die for principal and their Constitutional Rights.

The Conservative Caucus of Lower Delaware asks that the membership of the Delaware FOP call a special meeting to discuss and repudiate Gordon's recent remarks.

Tax plan benefits nation's small businesses

WASHINGTON, DC -- America's small businesses, which create more than 70 percent of all the nation's new jobs, stand to reap many benefits from a tax reform plan now being considered in the U.S. Senate.

Drafted by Oregon Sen. Bob Packwood, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, the proposal contains several pluses for small firms ranging from the rate cuts to simpler filing methods.

Tax reform has long been a priority of the half-million-plus members of NFIB, who see the present tax code as too complex and biased in favor of big business. In surveys of its membership, the federation found that 51 percent of those responding through Congress should lower taxes and eliminate deductions and 87 percent viewed the current tax code as too complicated.

Proposals which benefit small businesses include: reduced individual and corporate graduated rates; simplified inventory accounting rules; increased levels of expensing; fairer treatment in tax cases; and a 50 percent health insurance deduction for the self-employed business owner.

While big businesses stand to benefit greatly from proposed rate reductions, small firms would not. But a provision in the plan which allows businesses to expense up to $50,000 of the costs of tangible personal property would help small business recapture some of its loss and serve as a growth incentive by encouraging capital investment. The House of Representatives passed version would allow companies to expense only $10,000.

Recent figures have shown 70 to 80 percent of all new jobs are created by businesses employing fewer than 100 people, Sloan said. According to one MIT economist who studied employment trends for nine years, no net new jobs were produced by the nation's top 500 corporations, while all the growth was attributed to small businesses.

Brandywine season

The early week was plagued by three nights of drenching rain. Despite the inclement weather, Jersey Blizzard made a clean sweep of The Progress Trotting Series. The 3 year old Lindy's Crown gelding took the series $10,000 final. Walter Gower Jr. was content to race fourth on the outside for most of the mile. When front runners Secret Circuit and Flashmint along with late challenger Corker all broke stride, Jersey Blizzard trotted through the rain for a 2:06.2 win. The homebred is owned by one of the most successful scholastic track and field coaches in the sport, Paul Minore of Willingboro High School, New Jersey. He coached Olympic four Gold Medal winner Carl Lewis and his current team is considered his best ever.

Friday night action spotlighted trotters and it was all Jimmy Taktar. Both of his drives came through with impressive victories. The 4 year old Super Bowl horse Super Lamar reached the quarter million dollar mark in career earnings scoring a 2:00.4 triumph in the $8,000 Invitational Trot. Nemo Hanover stormed from way back to be second. A couple of races earlier, Crowning Bid, a 4 year old daughter of Lindy's Crown scorched the stonedust surface with a 2:00.4 win as well. The night's pacing features, the 3rd leg of The Starlet Series for fillies and mares, found Bikini Time, a 2:01.3 winner for Bob Shahan; Jody Stafford and Senorita Uno, wire to wire in 2:02 and the fleet Rolls Lauxmont overpowering her rivals for Jim Campbell with a 1:58 powerhouse performance.

A major upset marked Wednesday's Princess Series. The career five race winning streak established by H H Shadow was abruptly ended when the Distant Thunder filly broke stride at the top of the stretch with Proud Towner pacing alongside. The Big Towner 3 year old came on to win for Bob Shahan with a 2:04.1 clocking over the rain soaked track. Other series wins were posted by: Brassy Lass, driven by Presely Moore Jr. in 2:03.2; Candi's Trick, a 2:03.4 win with Bob Wyatt at the reins and Ever Lee, an upset 2:04.4 victory for Bob Sampson.

Similarly, the sloppy track prevailed on Tuesday when General Dynamic put on a strong second half show grinding out a 2:02 performance for Art Giambrone, to win one of the three 4th round divisions of The Stepping Stone Series. Slide Slide Slide rallied from last along the rail to miss by a head. Sir Alba Jenkins scored the fastest win of the night for defending driving champion, Forrest Gerry, III. They teamed for a fast closing 2:00.4 score. All three of the series winners paid double figure prices with H D Tana, the highest. The 4 year old won at 17-1 for driver C.D. Harris, in 2:02.2.

The $7,000 Filly and Mare Open was the Saturday feature. Jameela took command early and never relinquished her lead scoring a 1:59 victory. Ross Hayer drove the 5 year old daughter of Keystone Ore to her third win in her last four starts. Whata Lil finished second and lightning Laura was third. A pair of Sidewheeler Series divisions shared the spotlight. Sentry Lobell, with Larry Manges at the controls, turned in the fastest victory of the night, a 1:58.2 triumph in one division for 3 and 4 year old pacers. Shorty J. Clipper was a neck back finishing second in front of Latour. Gipper, stormed down the stretch for Eddie Davis to overtake Super Star Osborne and BG's Byrd for a 2:00.2 victory in the other section.
