Harrington — With its 67th annual opening mere hours away, officials at the Delaware State Fair in Harrington are preparing for what they feel will be record breaking crowds. Last year's event drew 200,000 visitors and optimism is running high for a record-breaking performance this year.

Although the official opening won't happen until Friday, a free preview is set for Thursday night, July 17th. Featured entertainment will be the True-Value Country Showdown, with showtime at 7:30 p.m. All seats are $2.00. Free admission to the grounds will be featured that night. The James E. Strates Midway will also be in operation on the 17th.

Headlining this year's grandstand shows will be Exile (July 19), Conway Twitty (July 25) and Mr. Mister (July 26). The Fair will close on July 26. Gigantic firework displays will be featured after each of the main grandstand shows.

Traditional favorites like stock car racing (July 18 & 23), Demolition Derbies (July 19 & 26) and the Joie Chitwood Thrill Show (July 22) will also be featured during the ten day event. The Chitwood Show will appear on Children's Day and all school age children will be admitted into the Fair and the grandstand show without charge.

The Cowtown Rodeo of Woodstown, NJ will bring the entire rodeo to the Delaware State Fair on Monday, July 21 at 7:30 p.m. The rodeo will be sanctioned by the PRCA, (Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association) based in Colorado Springs, Colorado. This will enable contestants to qualify for association point/money standings and regional/national finals on the PRCA-Winston Pro Rodeo Tour. Because of the PRCA sanction, cowboys are expected to travel from considerable distances to perform at the Fair.

A new attraction to the Fair's grandstand will be the addition of "All Star Professional Wrestling". Show time is 7:30 p.m. on July 20. The star studded line-up will be led by America's favorite patriot, Sargeant Slaughter. Other wrestlers slated for State Fair '86 include: The Russian, The Wild Samoans, Masked Executioner, Tonga Kid, D.C. "Mad Dog" Drake, Chief Jules Strongbow, Shiek El Shaad, Wendi Richter and a host of others.

The all-youth talent showcase returns this year on Sunday, July 20. It is free to the public. The contest will feature 20 acts from a three state area. Contestants range in age from 10 to 18 and competition encompasses dancing, singing and even magic acts.

Various livestock judging events will take place throughout the week from July 21-26. A pretty animal contest will be held on Tuesday, July 22 and the Taste-Freez Dog Show will be held on Monday, July 21.

Approximately 225 commercial and educational exhibitors have leased space throughout the fairgrounds for the duration of the event and the James E. Strates Shows are back for their 16th year. Three special ride promotions will take place on the Strates Midway.

On Monday, July 21, money saving coupons will be available through Coca-Cola at local outlets that sell Coke. Children's Day on Tuesday, July 22 will feature discounts on the midway until 6 p.m. Hardee's Day, July 24 will offer unlimited rides for $6.00 provided the patron has a coupon from any Hardee's restaurant.

Nineteen buildings will be filled to capacity with competitively judged exhibits such as arts and crafts, needlework, 4-H & FFA project work, flowers, culinary items, children's work, garden and farm produce and prize winning livestock. A free barnyard petting zoo will also be manned throughout the Fair by F.F.A. members.

All together, the 1986 Delaware State Fair promises to be "bigger and better" than ever. For a better story, why not come out to the Fair and see it for yourself. There's a giant assortment of great food, rides, shows, exhibits and special events just waiting at the fairgrounds, which is located on U.S. Rt. 13 at Harrington.

Mrs. Gannon guides Summer Challenge Program

LAKE FOREST HIGH SCHOOL — Mrs. Linda Gannon administered to the "Summer Challenge Program" at the high school, which was completed last week.

Some 20 students participated in the program with students attending from as far as Seaford with the majority coming from Lake Forest School District. The program featured four artists, Jane Ash Wilson from Wilmington dealt with the making of banners. Hugh Adkins worked in drama and theatre. Elaine Ippolito from Lewes taught the students the art of paper making and Lewis Tidball, who worked in video.

Miss Gussett and Mrs. Gannon guests at Statue of Liberty Ceremony

Miss Rachael Gussett, a student at Lake Forest High School and Mrs. Linda Gannon, a member of the Lake Forest High School faculty were guests at the Statue of Liberty ceremonies over the 4th of July.

Miss Gussett had won the honor when her written entry was selected among high school students from the State of Delaware.

"We were one of the first people on Ellis Island after they opened it up to the public", said Mrs. Gannon. Miss Gussett and Mrs. Gannon were in New York from Thursday the 3rd of July through the 5th.

"There was a whole lot of confusion as the Island was opened. We were supposed to be among the very first to climb up the Statue...but as a result many dignitaries were awarded this very important moment", said Mrs. Gannon.

There were 50 students and 50 teachers who had been invited as well as government VIP's and their children. "We all pressed forward and upward, but somewhere along the line the dignitaries won out", added Mrs. Gannon. "But it was a wonderful trip and it is a time that we will always remember", she added.

Miss Gussett and Mrs. Gannon attended the "Americana Concert", and were guests aboard the USS Mt. Whitney, a helicopter transport, where they were able to get a first hand view of the tall ships as they sailed up the New York harbor.

Secretary issues Cease and Desist Order to contractor

DNREC Secretary John E. Wilson III has issued a cease and desist order to James Julian Inc. after receiving numerous complaints of smoke and obnoxious odors coming from the company's asphalt batching plant in Harrington. The order was issued on July 8.

James Julian Inc. has been operating a temporary asphalt plant on County Road 316 in Harrington since March, under a permit issued by DNREC's Division of Air and Waste Management. Since the plant began operation in March, the department has received nearly a dozen complaints from residents.

When complaints first arose, company officials pledged to shut down the plant at any time the operation adversely affects the surrounding community. The company has temporarily discontinued operations at times after receiving calls from DNREC officials.

After investigating complaints on June 3 and June 9, however, DNREC's enforcement personnel issued summonses to company officials to appear in Justice of the Peace Court No. 6 to answer complaints of violating the state's air pollution regulations. The criminal complaints carry a penalty of from $50 to $500.

Any violations of a cease and desist order could lead to much larger penalties, however, of up to $25,000.

School District faces budget cuts, seeks new superintendent and considers conduct policy

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.
W. T. CHIPMAN SCHOOL LIBRARY — At a special meeting of the Lake Forest School Board on Monday night, the chief topic of discussion was the imminent possibility of budget cuts in the energy cost allowance for the district.

Two years ago the amount allotted for the district dropped to $1514 and last year to $1505. This year it is projected to $1337. This means the local accounts will have to pick up the difference in what the State will give and what is needed to "...foot the bill for the utilities." The money will have to come from local funds.

The board gave a progress report on Superintendent applications where it is unofficial that twenty some odd people have made application for the district's number one post. The Board will begin interviewing applicants for the job of superintendent. It is expected to carry over for two weeks.

The audit report was reviewed at the meeting on Monday night. The audit was conducted by State Auditor Dennis Greenhouse. One of the findings which Mr. Greenhouse made concerning the district was that there was no policy manual. Since the review, the district has put the final touches on such a manual. The policy manual is designed to set procedures for "...the order of business" which is conducted in the district. Mr. Greenhouse also pointed out the need for better accounting and inventory practices.

The Board is also considering filling the vacancy of assistant principal at the high school to fill the vacancy created by Ron Burrows when he was named high school principal.

The board has directed Mr. Burrows to research "...a code of student conduct policy". Chiefly the board wants to know how other school districts treat the matter of "...look-alike drugs." That is basically the topic and theme of the assignment.

Mr. Michael Thompson, a newly elected member to the board has been asked to study a "...tax equity plan." Mr. Thompson is employed by the Kent County Levy Courts. Basically, the tax "reform" plan would deal with "housing units" which would encompass frame dwellings, doublewides, and mobile homes.

The board released several hirings for teacher vacancies. Susan Bergna was hired as a full time Spanish teacher, Deborah Washchull was hired as a 5th grade teacher at South Elementary replacing the retiring Mrs. Anne Minner, and Kathleen O'Leary has been hired as a 1st grade teacher at South.

The board discussed at the end of the meeting ways to shorten the "board meetings."

Harrington to receive $130,000 in Block Grants

Twelve communities in lower Delaware, including Kent and Sussex County governments, have been allocated $1,473,303 in Community Development Block Grant Funds, Department of Community Affairs Secretary Frances M. West announced recently.

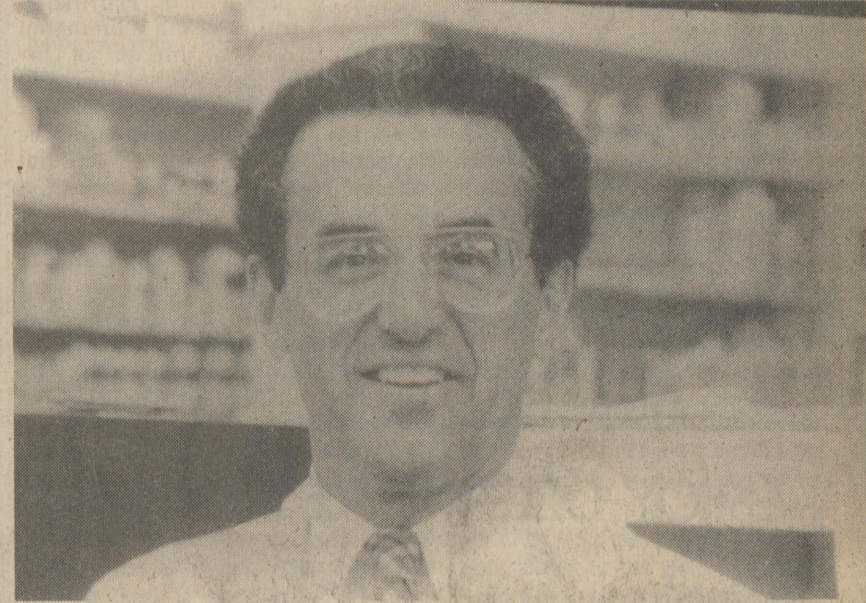

Local communities receiving Block funds for the year ending June 30, 1987 are:

Bowers Beach, Pump Station, $70,000. Camden, Storm Sewer, $50,000. Harrington, Housing Rehabilitation, Water and Sewer Hookups, Ditching and Street Rehabilitation, $130,000. West noted that just over half the dollars allocated are for housing related activities--82 houses will be rehabilitated up to code standards, four unsafe houses will be demolished and the Ruth N. Dorsey emergency housing shelter will be expanded to accommodate more homeless persons. Second were allocations for public works improvements. The town of Bowers Beach received CDBG funding from the state for the first time.

On May 23, 16 proposals totalling $2,240,102 were received by the Department's Division of Housing and Community Development, responsible for administering the State's CDBG program. Division Director Martha S. Harris explained that "over the past month, the proposals were reviewed by

Carl June

Carl June named to Pharmacy Board

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.
Carl R. June, the owner of Harrington Pharmacy and Bridgeville Pharmacy has been appointed to the State Board of Pharmacy to serve a 5 year term.

Mr. June purchased the Harrington Pharmacy 14 years ago from then owner, Tom Clendenning.

The six member board regulated the practice of Pharmacy in Delaware, where approximately 650 pharmacists are licensed. Mr. June's appointment is from Kent County, but he has statewide jurisdiction.

He is a graduate of Philadelphia College of Pharmacy.

Bill Haughton dead at 62

JERICHO, NY — Living Hall of Famer, William R. (Billy) Haughton died Tuesday morning at 8:30 a.m. as a result of an accident Saturday, July 5th at Yonker's Raceway. The cause of death was listed as massive injuries to the brain stem.

It is believed that Mr. Haughton never regained consciousness. He was admitted to Westchester Medical Center in Valhalla, NY, where he died.

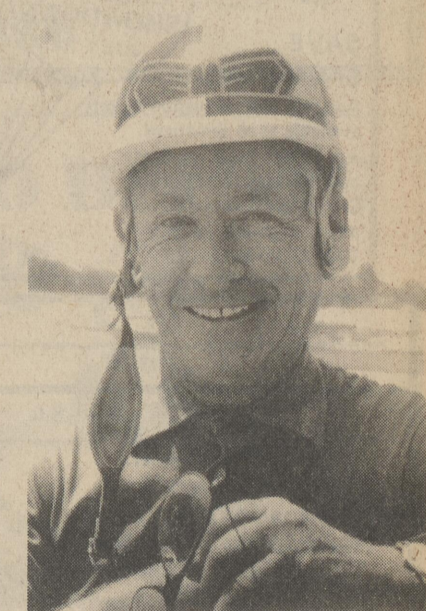

The following is a brief biography of Mr. Haughton whose tragic death has dealt the harness horse industry a tremendous set-back.

He was born on November 2, 1923 in Gloversville, NY.

The biggest and possible the best stable in North American harness racing was presided over by 62-year-old Billy Haughton. More owners have colts and fillies with the green and white at the start of the season, mainly because they know that many of the sport's champions will be stablemates of their hopefuls-- and that their babies could well be the stars of tomorrow based on Haughton's impressive past performances.

The difficult thing in trying to catalogue Haughton's champions is knowing where to start. A partial list of past stars includes Green Speed, 1977's Harness Horse of the Year; Handle With Care, possibly the greatest pacing mare of the last dozen years; million dollar winners Keystone Pioneer and Rum Customer; International winner Cold Comfort; Trenton Time, one of only two other horses to win a race in which Niatross was entered; Duke Rodney and Belle Acton, stars of 20 years ago -- the list just keeps on going.

One other horse that should be mentioned is Burgomeister, who gave Bill his fourth Hambletonian winner in 1980. Burgomeister was a colt co-owned and principally developed by Bill's son Peter, a tremendously-talented individual who was emerging as one of the sport's superstars when he was tragically killed in an auto accident after driving at The Meadowlands in January of 1980. Billy dedicated the horse's campaign to the memory of his son, and when the horse won the Hambletonian, Billy said "I just wish Peter would have been here." Haughton's loss of a son must have been comforted by a tremendous outpouring of sympathy from the harness community, which established several awards and memorials -- including an annual award to a promising young horseman, which was won by Tom Haughton, Bill's son and Peter's brother, in its first year.

Billy Haughton

Billy Haughton will always remember 1984 and 1985 as being the years of Nihilator. Haughton trained the son of Niatross. In 1984, Nihilator became the richest two-year-old with earnings of $1,361,367, and at the time he was the fastest two-year-old of all time with a world race record of 1:52.4. This is still a world record for two-year-old colt pacers on a mile track. (Razze Hanover, however, is now the fastest two-year-old of all time with her time trial of 1:52.2) In 1984, Nihilator won the Woodrow Wilson and 11 other starts, losing only in the final of the Breeders Crown. He was named 1984 Two-Year-Old Colt Pacer.

In 1985, the Haughton-trainee became the richest standardbred of all time with career earnings of $3,225,653. Nihilator also set a single world record of 1:49.3

which is the fastest race mile ever. He won 19 sub-1:55 miles last year. Nihilator along with driver Bill O'Donnell captured numerous stakes for the Haughton stable including the Meadowlands Pace, the Little Brown Jug, and the Breeders Crown. He lost twice last year, but he finished his career in glorious style by being named Horse of the Year.

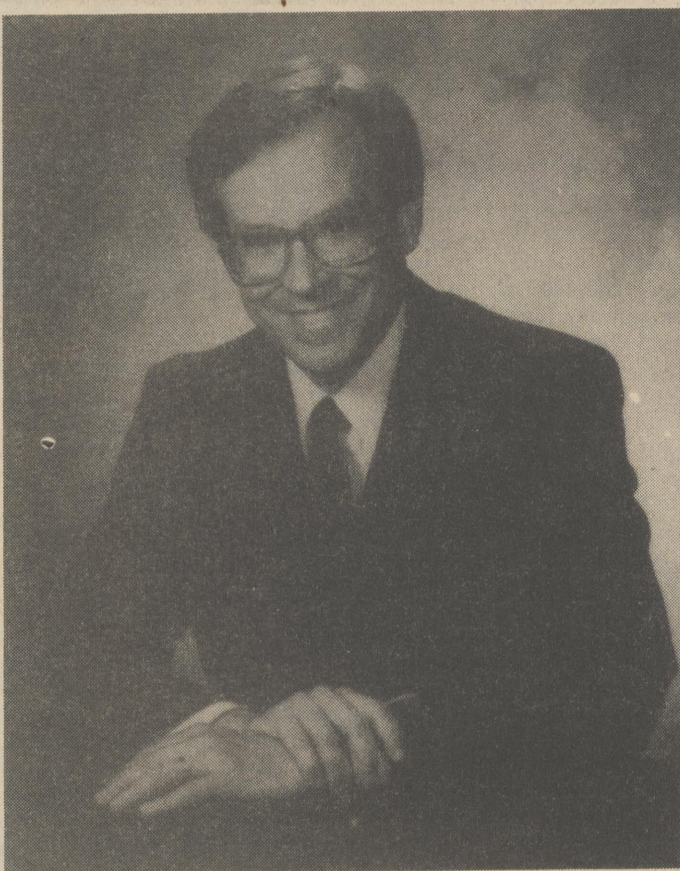

But as usual, Billy was not sitting on the sidelines in 1985. He drove the winners of $1.8 million. Some of his top performers included Valentina, who he steered to victory in the La Palma Pace at Yonkers, the Chapman Memorial at Roosevelt, and in a division of the Lady Baltimore at Freestate. He was also behind Caressable when she won the $125,775 First Lady Series at Rosecroft. Other good ones for Haughton included Speedy Somali, Season Champion, and Singer's Star.

Haughton, a Director of the U.S. Trotting Association from downstate New York (District 8A), got his start at the fairgrounds in upstate New York, and he came to work for veteran horseman Billy Muckle. One day young Haughton came off the track after a tough race and vented his frustrations. Muckle, who was listening said, "Before you start doing things you'll be sorry for, I want you to remember how much the horse and the equipment are worth and how much your life is worth. But most of all, I want you to remember that another day is coming." Haughton always remembered this advice and continued to live by it.

Funeral arrangements are to be a wake at Orlando Funeral Home, 261 South Street, Route 107, Oyster Long Island, NY, with the viewing on Wednesday and Thursday from 2:00 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. and from 7:00 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. The funeral will be Friday at 11:00 a.m. at the St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church, Route 107, Jericho, LI, NY, with burial in Holy Rood Cemetery, Old Country Road, Westbury, LI, NY.

In lieu of flowers the family wishes contributions be made in Mr. Haughton's name to any of the following: Hall of Fame of the Trotter, Main Street, Goshen, NY 10928; University of Penn New Bolton Center, Large Animal Clinic, 382 W. Street Road, Kennett Square, PA 19348; and Cornell University, Large Animal Center, Ithaca, NY 14850.

Dennis E. Greenhouse

Greenhouse seeks re-election as auditor

MIDDLETOWN — Dennis E. Greenhouse on Tuesday officially announced his intention to seek re-election to the office of Delaware State Auditor this year. Greenhouse, a Democrat, was first elected to the office in 1982.

The 36-year-old Wilmington native said he plans, "like all incumbents," to run on his record.

"I don't know how many people remember my campaign promises from the last election," Greenhouse said. "But, just for the record, I've fulfilled them all."

Greenhouse says he is proudest of the Auditor's Office Hotline, installed by him in 1983. "The Hotline program has already identified over $850,000 in mis-spent State funds," Greenhouse said.

Another accomplishment Greenhouse cited is bringing the audit cycle up to date for the first time in more than ten years. This in spite of the extremely heavy work load brought about by the Single Audit Act of 1984, which charges the States with the responsibility for Federal-fund audits.

Asked about his plans for the future of the Office, Greenhouse said he intends to "go on plugging up leaks in State spending." He said he is still hopeful of establishing a volunteer group like the Grace Commission for Delaware, a plan he proposed to the Governor last year.

"Delaware is on the right track," Greenhouse said. "As a state Auditor I have the duty to see to it that State funds are spent according to law. I also believe it is my responsibility to help stop government waste."

Greenhouse said he will unveil new programs and plans as the campaign progresses.

Sen. Thurman Adams seeks re-election

Sen. Thurman Adams, Jr., a Bridgeville Democrat, today announced he will be a candidate for re-election to the Senate from the 19th Senatorial District.

Senator Adams, a native of Bridgeville, will be seeking his fifth term in the Senate, where he has served since 1972.

Adams, president of T.G. Adams & Sons, Inc., is chairman of the Senate Executive Committee which handles all gubernatorial appointments subject to Senate confirmation. He also is chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee and serves on the Public Safety, Banking, and Insurance and Elections Committees.

During his 14 years in the Senate, Adams has been a strong supporter of the University of Delaware, of which he is a graduate, a sound State pension system, agribusiness, and small business.

Adams is president of Harrington Raceway, a trustee of the Wilmington Medical Center, a director of the Delaware State Fair, Milford Memorial Hospital, and the Baltimore Trust Company, and is a member of the University of Delaware Agricultural Alumni Association, the Lions Club and Nur Temple.

He served on the old State Highway Commission from 1961 to 1970 and is a former president of the Eastern Shore Feed and Grain Dealers Association.

Senator Adams resides in Bridgeville with his wife, Hilda. They have 3 children and 5 grandsons.

two three-person panels knowledgeable in housing rehabilitation and public works.

Panel members represented the Governor's Council on Housing and CD, New Castle County's CD and Housing office, the Depts. of Transportation and Natural Resources and Environmental Control and the State Division of Community Services.

The CDBG proposed activities were reviewed for:

- benefit to low and moderate income persons;
- management capacity and/or past performances of the community under prior year Delaware CDBG programs;
- Community conformance with the State's Community Development Plan and its own local Housing

Development Plan;

- reasonableness of project costs;
- extent to which the project builds upon previous works or supplements other work that will be funded from other sources.

Harris added that each community receiving housing rehabilitation funds has agreed to adopt the State Housing Code by June 1, 1987.

West further noted that since 1981, when Delaware took over administration of the federal small cities block grant program, the Department of Community Affairs has allocated nearly $7 million throughout Kent and Sussex Counties to benefit primarily Delaware's low and moderate income citizens.

Opinion

Senator Minner's column

by Sen. Ruth Ann Minner

This year's budget bill contains $306,852,000 for public education, a staggering amount when one considers the size of Delaware.

This week I thought I'd discuss some of the steps we legislators took in the budget to continue Delaware's progress toward a public education system of which we all can be proud.

First, the teachers. In January, the teachers received a flat increase of $285 in the state portion of their salary. In the budget bill, entry level teachers will get an increase of $1,600 and those teachers not receiving the top dollar will get $1,995.

While the increases may not be all that educational personnel wanted, they are substantial and will raise the pay of Delaware teachers closer to the regional level.

But there's a lot more to public education than the pay of teachers. The budget bill contains literally scores of programs aimed at improving educational opportunities for all of our children. For a few examples:

We have increased the state contribution for supplies and materials, including books, by $25 per unit at a total cost of $160,000. We have increased funds allocated to youth organizations in our schools, such as Future Farmers of America and Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, to make up cuts in federal funds.

We also increased the funding for Kent County's special education children by $148,000 to provide additional vocational education, increased education refinement funds by $115,000 to help districts establish courses in the arts, started a new Read Aloud program to help children with reading difficulties, and funded a Summer Institute for non-teachers with college degrees to qualify for teaching certificates.

There's also an extra $165,000 for home-bound instruction for children who are sick or injured, an extra $360,000 for placement of handicapped and autistic children in private institutions, more money for the Delaware Teacher Center which provides educational materials to teachers, and an extra $30,000 to develop curricula to make it easier for juniors and seniors in high school to make the transition to DelTech or some other junior college.

They say you can't solve the problems of education by throwing money at them, but it sure helps.

Does sex equality require forgetting sex?

by Robert L. Simon

It has become extremely unfashionable to be against sex equality. Even opponents of the ERA, such as President Reagan, claim to be for equal rights for women. However, it is not so clear what proponents of sex equality are for. Often, widespread support for an abstract ideal simply conceals fundamental disagreement over what the ideal means when applied in action.

In the absence of the ERA, the legal assault on sex discrimination will depend significantly upon the 14th Amendment to the Constitution, which guarantees us equal protection of the laws. Unfortunately, the meaning of equal protection is no less controversial than that of sex equality, and raises equally troubling questions of interpretation.

In particular, does the 14th Amendment imply that we are discriminating if we are not blind to sex? For example, are insurance companies discriminating when they use sex differences in longevity to set premiums? Is a co-ed college discriminating against women if it favors males in admissions so as to insure a roughly equal sex ratio among its students? Is that college discriminating if it hires a female gynecologist because of female students' wishes?

The obscurity of the ideal of sex equality was brought home to me recently when, upon inspecting the menu of a restaurant, I noted the directive to address requests to my "waitperson." Is this usage simply a particularly infelicitous extension of the normally defensible principle that language ought not arbitrarily link jobs to sex? Or is that principle inapplicable when such equivalent terms as "waiter" and "waitress" are available?

Upon reflection—for which I had ample time due to the shortage of waitpersons in my immediate area—it seemed that deeper issues were at stake. What the replacement of waiters and waitresses with waitpersons suggests is that to insure sex equality, we must be blind to sex.

Should sex blindness be accepted as a Constitutional standard of sex equality, or as a principle required by considerations of morality and social justice?

On the contrary, sex equality in athletics requires separate but equivalent opportunities for men and women in most sports. This recognition of difference insures that women can enjoy the benefits of top competition.

Do we want to say that any single sex college is discriminatory? What of the fashion industry, which presents us with different styles for men and women? Or consider the entertainment world, which has never been known to confuse an actress with an actor. Should they all be viewed as insidious elements of sexual "socialization" which teaches men and women to behave differently?

What about sexual attraction? If the moral ideal of sex equality is equated with sex blindness, it would follow that anyone who has a fixed sexual attraction is discriminating. Is fixed sexual attraction really only a form of sexism to be purged from our nature?

Perhaps the ideal of sex blindness is meant to apply only in the realm of public law and not to private relations, even as a moral code. Thus, the 14th Amendment cannot justify intrusion in our private lives.

However, we must not assume too deep a gulf between the public realm of law and the private or personal. Surely, if we attach great significance to the sex of our friends, lovers, and relations, this will have some carry-over effect in the public area. Sex differences whether they are biological or learned, may persist in public life and have some influence on the choice of careers or even the style men and women adopt in their professional roles. As the illustrations cited earlier suggest, it is far from clear that such differences should always be ignored.

Moreover, if such legal ideals as equal protection are to embody our deepest moral aspirations, the legal requirement of sex equality should not differ radically from that which we apply in our personal lives.

This does not mean that sexual discrimination should be tolerated or that restriction of women to traditional female roles is permissible. It does suggest, however, the proponents of sex equality should not assume that departure from sex blindness but sometimes requires equal recognition of and respect for difference.

The claim that individuals should not be unequal because of their sex should be distinguished from the far more dubious view that acknowledgment of sex differences is necessarily a form of sexual discrimination. On the contrary, the replacement of waiter and waitresses by waitpersons is not a blow in the fight against discrimination. The good news is that sex equality does not require that we forget about sex.

Buckworth calls for safety rules on the water

by Gerald A. Buckworth

The State Senate had an opportunity to make Delaware's waterway safer for young boaters and what did they do? They recklessly torpedoed it. Now they are rightly being castigated by the editorial boards of Delaware newspapers for their irresponsibility.

As you know, the Indian River Inlet was the sight of a tragic double drowning earlier this year, when 2 children were washed overboard in 65 feet of water. Neither was wearing a life preserver. One body was never discovered.

Shortly afterward, I introduced legislation requiring boat owners to make sure their young passengers, (age 12 and under) wear life preservers. That bill enjoyed unanimous support in the House, where it was sent right over to the Senate. That is where the trouble began.

One Senator said of my bill, "This law would make a family boating expedition a very uncomfortable thing for our children." Other Senators nodded their heads and mumbled nonsense about how the bill would take the fun out of boating. Two editorial boards echoed my response when they wrote, "Tragic drownings are even less fun."

What is the Senate thinking? Their reckless handling of a measure designed to save life is unconscionable. I would like to remind this paper's readers that this is the same Senate that has been sitting on the proposed Boating Under the Influence Bill for over a year, despite the fact that it has the support of the Delaware Marine Police, Coast Guardsmen and six editorial boards in Delaware.

The newspapers are urging readers to contact their Senators and urge them to give these bills further consideration. For the safety of all boaters, young and old, I encourage you likewise.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

The School Board members will receive these recommendations and commendation in a more detailed form. However, in response to requests, I am stating them briefly here:

1. Because there are more than 500 students in the Chipman school and only one counselor, auxiliary clerical help needs to be available to the counselor to enable him to spend more time counseling students and to develop supplementary materials for the Teacher Advisory Program.
2. Throughout the first eight grades, I should like to see more emphasis on geography with many hands-on experiences. In addition, cooperation among the art and music and the foreign language departments can make geography relevant and therefore more interesting.
3. Because grade points determine class rank and, to a great extent, scholarship recipients, I am concerned about the lack of a single grading plan in the high school math department. I urge the School Board to require district administrators to examine the current grading plans and choose a mutually satisfactory, more fair, method of determining the math grades of Lake Forest students.
4. In an effort to encourage more participation in interscholastic academic events, I would recommend considering such participation, as well as outstanding participation in the various clubs at the high school, in the screening process for membership in the National Honor Society.

In the area of commendations, I should like to mention the provision of guidance counselors in the elementary schools and additional counseling services for special education students.

Remembering that the primary purpose of the public school is to prepare students for life in a participatory democracy, I think it appropriate to give special recognition to those school programs which provide directly for experiences in citizenship training. In this area, I would single out the FFA because students of all academic levels are accepted into the program and their community service is obvious in such activities as the provision of the "Petting Barn" at the Delaware State Fair.

I would commend the School Board for listening with genuine concern to the people they represent. I hope they continue to do so.

I should like to conclude my remarks by saying that my retirement does not mark the end of my interest in the Lake Forest School District. Effort is being made to improve wherever possible, and I am sure that this effort will continue.

Sincerely,
SARAH S. WEBB

Delaware's FHA office ought to remain open

by Congressman Tom Carper

Every state in the nation should have at least one Federal Housing Administration (FHA) office to help Americans who want to buy their own homes. In early June, I was successful in getting legislation passed overwhelmingly by the House of Representatives that would accomplish just that.

My reasons for sponsoring this amendment are several. But the primary one is that I have been fighting a long-running battle to save Delaware's only Federal Housing Administration (FHA) office. The highly efficient and profitable office, located in Wilmington, has been threatened since Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Secretary Samuel Pierce recommended its closing earlier this year in a purported cost-saving measure.

Frankly, this closing does not even qualify as "penny wise and pound foolish"—it's just foolish. Our FHA office, on a shoestring budget, has helped thousands of low and moderate-income Delaware families buy homes over the past 35 years.

At the same time, it has created millions of dollars in revenues for the federal government and provided quality, personal service to our citizens. In the first four months of 1986, it had created revenues of over $300,000, already two times greater than its operating costs would be for the entire year.

Delaware's Senators Joe Biden and Bill Roth believe as I do that HUD's proposed closing is imprudent. So, in the latest of a long line of efforts, we recently wrote to Secretary Pierce, again urging him to postpone the scheduled July 18 closing of our FHA office.

In HUD's own estimates, the cost of the Wilmington closing exceeds $44,000, we noted. If the office is closed and subsequently must be reopened, the result would be an unnecessary expenditure of taxpayer's dollars, we pointed out.

We requested that the office remain open until the Senate has considered its version of the Housing Act of 1986 and, specifically, has acted on a proposed Biden-Roth amendment, similar to mine, requiring an FHA office in every state. We also requested that the three individuals presently employed at the Wilmington office retain their positions during this interim period.

"Our objective, to maintain a local FHA presence in Delaware, is based on the clearly defined need in our state for continued FHA services to be provided at the existing level of quality. We are also concerned that the revenues generated by the FHA office in our state not be diminished," we wrote to Secretary Pierce.

We all agree that we need to cut fat out of the federal government. This proposed closing cuts muscle, and we shouldn't do it.

DEFICIT TRIALS

By Edwin Feulner

The year: 2017 A.D. The place: the ruins of American civilization, somewhere in the old capital. An old man, held captive in a futuristic glass interrogation booth, is on trial. His crime: failing to control deficit spending.

Old man (to child prosecutor): "I've already told you, it was all going to work out somehow. There was even talk of an amendment. But no one was willing to make the sacrifices. I'm afraid you're much too young to understand."

Young boy: "Maybe so. But I'm afraid the numbers speak for themselves." (Camera pans ruins and haggard, ragged spectators.) By 1986, for example, the national debt had reached two-trillion dollars. Didn't that frighten you?"

The play goes on for another thirty seconds, the dialogue ending with a close-up of the old man.

"I have a question," the old man says. "Are you ever going to forgive us?"

This eerie projection of the not-too-distant-future is one of a long-running series of W.R. Grace & Company commercials on government waste. The three major television networks have refused to allow it on the air during prime time because the commercial is "controversial" and does not advertise a product. According to the networks, "The Deficit Trials" falls under the Fairness Doctrine rule requiring equal time for opposing viewpoints, adding this as a further reason not to run it — even though Grace has reportedly offered to pay for equal time.

ABC, CBS, and NBC say they will not broadcast in prime time any advertisements that involve "a controversial issue of public importance." You read that right. If it's not "Silver Spoons," "Dynasty," or some other drizzle, viewers are presumed not to be able to comprehend it. Thinking, according to network doctrine, is reserved for network news pundits, who presumably bring their flapdoodle ideas from on high. Viewers of NBC Nightly News must suffer through John Chancellor's predominantly liberal nightly commentaries, but these same viewers can't be shown "The Deficit Trials." The networks profess to have concern for public service, at least that's what they usually say when airing some "documentary" or quasi-news program. But now the truth is out. The networks are only for public service so long as it coincides with their self-interest, i.e., boosting the images of their overpaid pundits.

The really perplexing thing about the networks' rejection of "The Deficit Trials" is that other public interest advertising — some of it by W.R. Grace — has run before on network television.

A 1984 Grace ad portrayed a government collector greeting a newborn baby with a contract binding him to his share of the national debt.

The collector (holding out contract): "Morning. Shall we get down to business? Now that you've joined us, you'll enjoy numerous rights and privileges. But you will share certain problems, as well. Specifically, you owe the United States government, in round numbers, $50,000."

Baby: "Waaaaahhh!"
No one at the networks has explained why "The Deficit Trials" is "controversial" while the baby commercial was not. No one is asking the networks to give away prime commercial time — they would make money on the commercial, lots of it.

What we need on network television is more such advertising, not less. Controversial or not, issue advertising contributes to the public dialogue. If it is done in good taste, is accurate, and does not libel anyone, I certainly would rather be amused by such "controversial" messages than a new pitch for a feminine deodorant spray.

(Feulner is president of The Heritage Foundation, a Washington-based public policy research institute.)

Over The Backyard Fence

Gab Fest by Pat Hatfield

Well, we sure are going through a terrific heat wave with the thermometer hovering around 100 every day. It's too hot to breathe if you could live without it. Mostly heat doesn't bother me, but with all my other health problems this is getting to me, and I spend most of my time in front of the fans. This morning there is a bit of a north breeze, and we are grateful for that. Dad works in the garden early and then heads for the easy chair and the fans. We do not push it at our age.

And the vegetables that are maturing are very inferior. They have no flavor. Nature has lost its balance without the healing rains. Even the last rhubarb we fixed was more or less tasteless.

When Dad gets out the hose to do a bit of watering, the birds have a field day. They bathe and cavort and express their joy. Tess has a bird bath in her yard and she says there is one robin who considers it his own special property. Yesterday, with the temperature over 100, he just sat in the middle of the bowl, with a dip now and then.

These days, known as the "Dog Days" are traditionally hot because then the Dog Star is in prominence. Then, of course, there is the old superstition about St. Swithin's Day. Isn't that July 15? Or is it the 21st? If it rains that day it is supposed to rain forty days and forty nights afterward. I remember one year when Ronald was growing up, it rained all that day. "Puff" Rice had come to spend the day with him and they had to play games in the house because of the pouring rain.

And it did rain a lot for some weeks afterward. We had to put on our galoshes to pull up the onions out of the heavy mud. Now, we need rain so much. Dad says it will rain during Fair Week. It always does!

Dad is beginning to cut the first glads. They are affected by the drought and the heat also. The stems are crooked and the flowers not placed on the stems as we would like to see them for show glads. However each individual bloom is lovely. The first ones to come in are pure white.

There are more snakes around this summer than usual. Tess has seen three in her yard and we have seen a couple here. Dad says they are coming from the ditches to seek water. Truly, water is Nature's lifeline.

The World Needs Friendly Folks Like You

In this troubled world, it's refreshing to find

Someone who still has the time to be kind

Someone who still has the faith to believe

That the more you give the more you receive

Someone who is ready by thought,

word or deed

To reach out a hand in the hour of need.

Safety tips for barbequed food

The savory smells of sizzling steak, barbequed chicken and grill-cooked burgers--what summer celebration is complete without these? Barbequing has been a long-time favorite for meat preparation, and it continues to grow in popularity, according to Debbie Amsden, University of Delaware extension home economist.

But along with the summer heat comes the increased risk of microorganisms that can cause food poisoning. Amsden offers several safety precautions to help reduce food-poisoning risks.

Prepare all foods in a clean area with well-washed hands and utensils. Keep all foods refrigerated until preparation or grilling time. If meats are to be marinated, do so in a glass or plastic container in the refrigerator for a minimum of six to eight hours before cooking. Turn the meat at least once to let the flavors penetrate.

The grill itself should be kept clean and free of food particles. To prepare the grill for cooking, rinse it in warm water then coat it with a non-stick vegetable spray. Or lightly rub the grill with vegetable oil to make clean-up easier and to help keep food from sticking. Thoroughly wash the grill in hot water and soap after each use.

When building the fire, be sure it is hot enough to properly cook the meat. "A good rule is to use thirty briquets to grill one pound of meat," Amsden advises. "Cook all meats at a low to moderate temperature unless a recipe indicates otherwise."

To judge the temperature of the fire, hold your hand at the cooking height, palm side down. "Count the number of seconds you can hold your hand in that position before the heat forces you to pull it away. At low to moderate temperatures you should be able to hold you hand over the heat for four or five seconds," the home economist says.

To increase grill temperature, move the grill closer to the coals or push the coals together. To lower grill temperature, raise the grill higher and spread the coals apart.

Be sure food is fully cooked before serving. The time it takes to cook the meat depends on the position of the grill, weather, temperature of the coals and degree of doneness desired. Meats should be tested for doneness while they're cooking.

To test steaks and chops, make a slit near the bone and check the color. "Depending on the thickness of the meat and how well you want it cooked, it can take anywhere from 15 to 50 minutes to completely cook," Amsden says.

Poultry is done when the meat pulls easily from the bone and the thighs and drumsticks move easily.

Fish should be cut at the thickest part and tested with a fork. The meat will flake when the fish is cooked. Shellfish will turn a milky color and become opaque when properly cooked.

Larger cuts of meat--whole hams or roasts--require a meat thermometer to test for doneness. Amsden also recommends that larger cuts sit for 15 minutes before carving.

When food is fully cooked, place it on a clean plate or serving dish, not on the same plate used to bring raw food to the grill. The uncooked food may have left some microorganisms on the plate. All plates used to carry uncooked food should be thoroughly washed before being used again.

When the meal is over, promptly put away all foods and leftovers.

New series and Davis four-bagger highlight week's racing at Big B

by Moira Sullivan
A muggy Sunday night set the stage for a showcase of speed and a dazzling four win driving display by the meet's leading driver Eddie Davis on the Brandywine Oval.
Early rains dampened the track but not the motor of Race Power as the six-year-old son of Race Time powered to a six length triumph winning the $7,000 Open with Davis at the controls in 1:56.3. Keepin The Faith took the first $6,000 division of The Star Wars Series in almost the same fashion, taking the lead before the half and pulling off to a four length 1:57.1 score, the first of a driver-trainer double for Davis and conditioner Ray Weasells. The next Star Wars division was a decisive 1:57.3 victory for Mr. Rodeo Drive and driver Steve Elliott as they assumed the lead past the quarter and held off Will to Win by two and a half lengths at the wire. Solo Mio was a distant third. The second half of the Wessels-Davis double occurred when Track Robbery, a two year old Big Towner colt sat 4th and blew out in the stretch to a four length 1:58.3 win over older horses.

Another Star Wars log went to Ross Hayter and Gnocchi in 1:57.1 over Sentry Lobell and Rebel Royce. Ironstone Hello and Eddie Davis fashioned another comfortable win in 1:56.4, taking $8,000 Preferred Pace and bringing the Smyrna, DE native to the winner's circle for the fourth time in one night. Flashy Devil and Jim Pfeiffer were the surprise winners an Open Pace, in 1:59.2 returning $25.80 to their backers. The final Star Wars log was a hard-fought victory for Three and Two a Sonny Dancer teamed the Ricci Rennie Time colt to a neck victory over Milgrim's Storm, who barley held off a stirring late rush by Megavolt to get third money. That close finish was timed in 1:57.3.

Saturday night's commencement of The Cinderella Series for three year-old pacing fillies resulted in an easy win for I'm A Scooter and Gary Cameron, II in 1:57.3. They held off a late-rushing Loni Almahurst while Glow Softly enjoyed a good trip to finish third. In the second series division it was all Sales Girl as Delaware's finest, Eddie Davis, simply pointed the swift daughter of Abercrombie to the lead in front of the clubhouse and had to retake the lead again up the backside then drew off by four lengths to cross the wire in 1:57. Scarlet O Hawk hung on for second, with Timber Jenny fading to third after attempting to wrest the lead from an unrelenting Sales Girl.

Two $6,000 co-features for Filly and Mare Open Pacers saw Big Nine enter the winner's circle for Bob Shahan in 1:59.2. Golden Escort closed quickly for second place honors, with H R's Soft Hello taking the show spot. In the second Open division Whisper Wave returned to devastate all comers after finishing fifth against the boys last week. Dave Howard steered the razor sharp mare to a leisurely three-quarters in 1:29.1 then accelerated through a last quarter in 28.3 to hold off the pocket-sitting Beaten Lengths, leaving the first-over Lightning Laura the show dollars. The 1:57.4 win is Whisper's Wave's third this month at Brandywine.

Tuesday night Stanley Dancer and Satellite, a freshman French Chef colt, made his debut at the Big B a winning one, touring the oval in 2:00.1. Later that night, Rain God, a two year old Governor Skipper half-brother to Smog and Shower Power won his third race in as many starts for Eddie Davis in 2:00.3, his fastest time to date. Two races later Conch Chowder and Jay Picciano strutted their stuff to establish a new season's mark for three year old filly trotters at Brandywine. Taking command as the gate sprung, the two never looked back and reached the wire in 2:00.4, a neck in front of Highwater Mark.

Lake Forest New Wave Swim Team

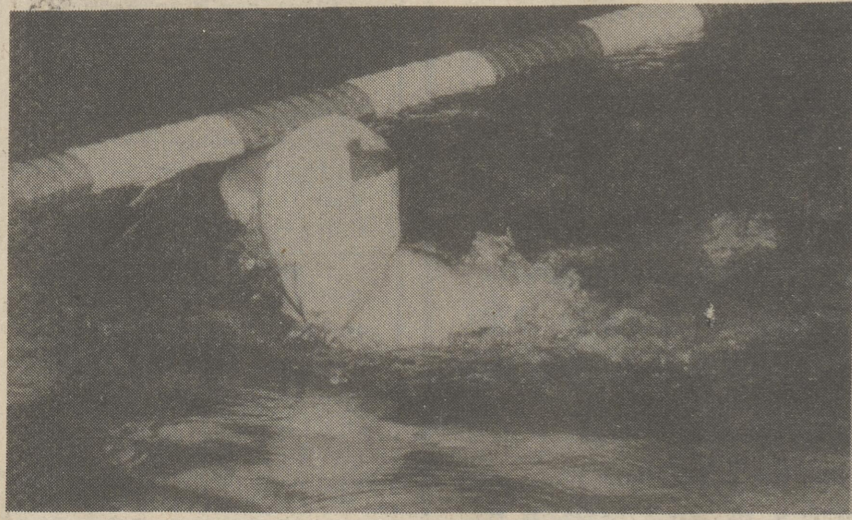

Last week was a full schedule of competition for the Lake Forest "New Wave" Swim Team.
On Monday, July 7th, Lake Forest defeated Seaford Golf and Country Club by a score of 329 to 223. Triple winners were Alyss Lange, Micheal Crockett, Jeff Smith, Rhett Burbank, Jana Lynne Smith, and Jessica Coe. Double winners were Maggie Mason, Jenny Moynihan, Wesley Wood, Rebekah Crockett, Angie Mason, Jason Monroe, and Any Draper.
The New Wave team net some strong competition from the Kent Swim Club on Thursday, July 10th. Kent out pointed Lake Forest by a score of 328 to 233. Alyss Lange won four events while Michael Crockett and Maggie Mason both swam for three victories. Jeff Smith, Wesley Wood, and Jessica Coe each had two wins.
The week ended on a positive note for

Lake Forest with a fabulous showing at the Kent Invitational, that was held at the Kent Swim Club on Saturday, July 12th. New Wave swimmers accomplished 24 victories out of 66 events. Alyss Lange set two meet records in 6 and under girls 25 meter freestyle and 25 meter backstroke. Maggie Mason set a meet record for girls 8 and under 25 meter fly and Jeff Smith followed up with another record time for boys 8 and under 25 meter fly. Multiple winners were Maggie Mason (3), Monica Saltarelli (3), Jeff Smith (2), Alyss Lange (2), and Jana Lynne Smith (2).

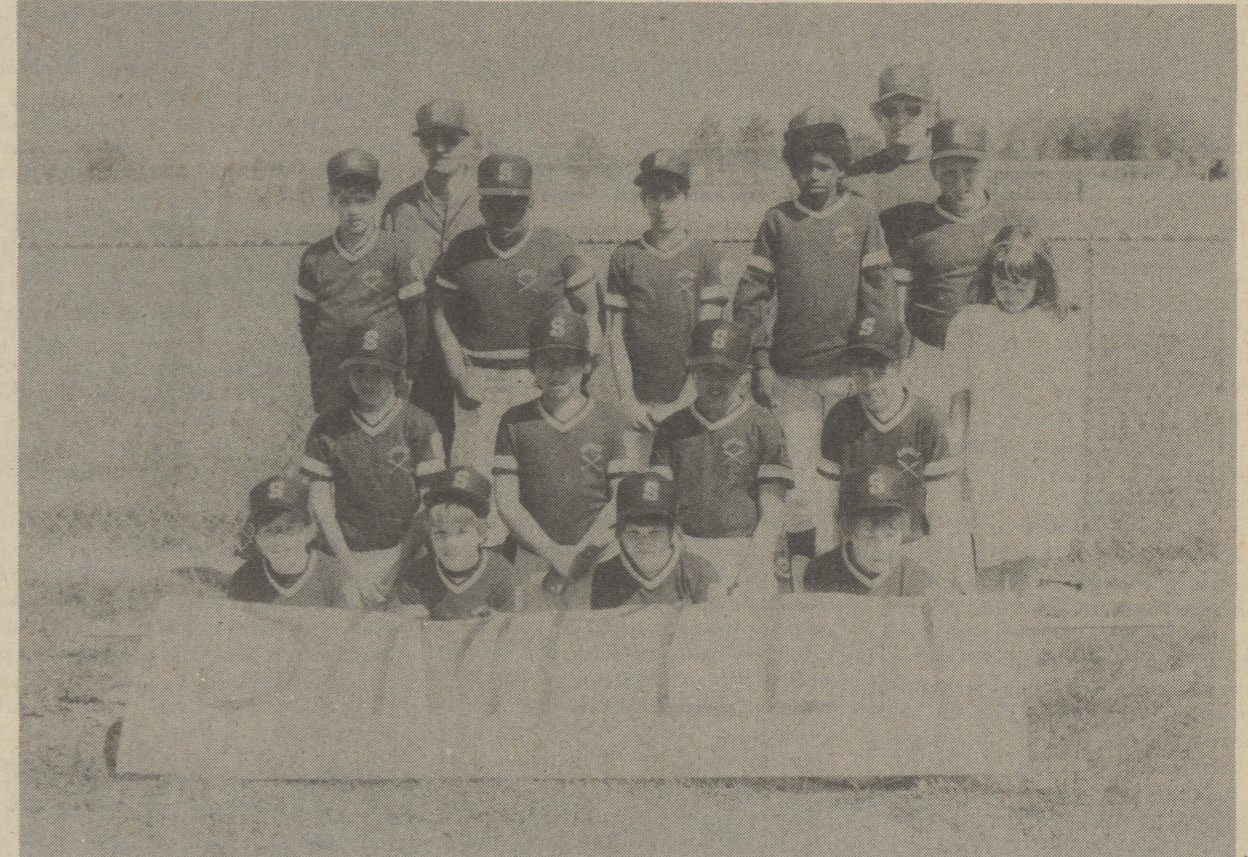

Other first place winners for Lake Forest were Jonathan Griffith, Jenny Moynihan, Wesley Wood, Jill Blades, Scott Blades, Michael Crockett, Elizabeth McCarron, Randy Bruant, Tara Crowe, Jason Monroe, and Triston Sorriano.

Harrington juniors crush Milford

by Mike Dill
Harrington's Senior League all-star team comprised of the league's premiere 13 year olds opened their all-star slate impressively by crushing Milford 20-2 before being eliminated by losses to Camden Wyoming and Middletown.
Pete Davis had a triple, two singles, and three RBI's to lead Harrington's 15 hit attack.
Brett Vincent also had three hits that included three RBI's and Bobbie Stubbs had a single and a double for Harrington.

T.R. Cannon went the distance to pick up the win, holding Milford to six hits, striking out seven, and walking four. The following evening was not as quite as enjoyable for Harrington as they were thrashed by Camden Wyoming 13-3.
Harrington was led by Chris Vangorder and T.R. Cannon who both had two hits apiece and Greg Porter, who added a run scoring double.
With elimination on the horizon, the Harrington Juniors traveled North to take on the Middletown all-star.
In a wild affair that took two nights to complete because of darkness, Middletown nipped Harrington 10-9 in the bottom of the eighth when Middletown scored on Harrington third baseman Robbie Stubbs throwing error. T.R. Cannon took the loss for Harrington despite just pitching one inning and giving up an unearned run. Pete Davis and Greg Porter stroked doubles to lead Harrington.

WYUS to broadcast post-season little league action

St. Bernadette's

ST. JOHN'S

SUMMER BIBLE SCHOOL: We will have a Summer Bible School program for the first time this year for Pre K to grade 4. Students in grades 5 to 8 are welcomed as aides and helpers. Registrations are being taken now and can be obtained on the table outside the office downstairs. Please fill out the form and leave it on the table. Feel free to take some extras for your friends. You may return them later.

Summer Bible School at St. John's. August 11 to 15, 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. at St. John's Church. $5.00 per child.

Summer Bible School at St. Bernadette's. The Summer Bible School Program is for both St. John's and St. Bernadette's. We would like to provide carpools from St. Bernadette's. If anyone is interested or could help with this or is interested in registering his/her child, please call Mary Louise 422-5319 or 422-5827.

*Anyone interested in teaching the program at St. John's or St. Bernadette's is asked to contact Mary Louise, 422-

5319 or 422-5827. Catechists (teachers) are needed for various grades. Training will be provided. A team situation can be used for any grade level. (This means that 2 people can alternate weeks teaching.)

At St. Bernadette's we need someone to alternate teaching grade 2 for this coming year.

At St. John's we need someone for Grade 1 and 4. This would be a team situation.

ENGAGED ENCOUNTER

Are you getting married, or know a couple who will be getting married soon? Why not consider going on an Engaged Encounter Weekend? Engaged Encounter fulfills the requirements for marriage preparation and is the most comprehensive program available. An Engaged Encounter Weekend also makes a terrific wedding present. Weekends are held once a month except for December. For more information contact: The Family Life Bureau, 573-3140 or Bob and Eileen Donnelly, 731-0425.

The Year of the Vole

The meadow vole—a compact little rodent that resembles a furry cigar—is no newcomer to Delaware gardens and orchards. But it's currently enjoying a population explosion that has made it much more noticeable. Reports have been coming into county extension offices from all over the state that the little fellows are hungry this year. This is bad news, says Delaware State College extension agent Glenn Layton, for they can be very destructive to ornamental plantings, including annual and perennial flowers, turf, shrubs and small trees.

The vole (also called the meadow mouse and sometimes confused with the field mouse) has a stocky body, short legs, a stubby tail, small eyes, and ears that are partially hidden. Usually brown or gray, its dense undercoat is covered with longer guard hairs.

An extensive runway system through surface debris and vegetation is the most obvious sign of a vole infestation, Layton says. The system has numerous openings and nearby vegetation may be clipped close to the ground. There may be feces and scraps of vegetation in well-traveled runways. They also dig shallow underground tunnels that can damage plants.

Voles are active day and night year-round. Several adults and young may live in one tunnel system. Populations seem to peak every two or three years, Layton says, depending on food availability, climate, predators and other stress factors.

Voles damage plants both by their feeding habits and their tunnels, which can ruin turf as well as interfere with irrigation water patterns. They often girdle fruit and forest trees, causing damage to commercial stock. Their teeth marks are haphazard, leaving no particular pattern on the bark or inner portion of plants chewed. Voles feed on bark year-round, but are particularly destructive to trees in fall and winter.

In late summer and fall voles also store seeds, tubers, bulbs and rhizomes for winter feeding. This is when you may find them trying to pull flowers or vegetables into their holes, or gnawing their way through late-season beets or turnips.

To prevent vole damage, the county agent suggests using hardware cloth as a barrier around young trees. Since voles are excellent diggers, place the bottom of the wire 6 inches below the soil surface. To discourage them further, clear away dense vegetation or litter piles in the garden so the little rodents can't use them for food and cover.

Snap-type mouse traps may help eliminate small vole infestations. Bait traps with peanut butter and oatmeal, or apple slices, and place them with the bait side in the runway. Layton says pelleted baits such as Rodenticide AG or Mole or Mouse Knots that contain zinc phosphide or strychnine can be effective against voles when strategically placed. Repeated use of anti-coagulant baits such as Havoc or de-Con can also be effective.

For additional information on vole control, contact your county extension office in Newark (451-2506), Dover (736-1448) or Georgetown (856-7303).

Raceweek

"Piece of Cake" for Brennan in Georgetown modifieds

by Don Allen

It all came together for Ocean View, NJ's Billy Brennan Friday night when he brought his Tuckahoe Cheesecake Factory Special to victory lane after leading the entire 30 lap Modified portion of the Danny Roe & Sons Auto Body sponsored program. Billy's victory in the Hemi powered #5 Olsen ended a long dry spell not only for him, but for all those loyal Mopar fans on Delmarva.

Billy sat on the pole for the start on the smooth, tacky, half-mile. The entire race night at Georgetown was dedicated to the benefit of the Georgetown Little League's 1986 Fund Drive and Billy certainly "batted a thousand" as he wasted no time in opening a half-lap lead over the five car battle for second before the first caution fell on lap ten. That caution came out for one of those five cars that were dueling for second.

Bob Toreky, in the J. Robert West Constructors #69, had been making a fine showing as he battled with Hal Browning, the other Hemi in the field, Ed Brown, Jr., Bob Wilkins and Ron Keys for the runner-up slot. Bob had just pulled even with Browning's Grotto Pizza #100, exiting the second turn, when the car suddenly slowed, the victim of a broken rear axle.

Four laps later, on lap 14, Freddy Brightbill got "snakebit", while running in the seventh, when an injector belt broke causing his mount to come to a halt on the front stretch. On the following restart Brennan once again thundered, regaining his dominant lead.

Only two more cautions interrupted Billy's impressive romp and during the extended periods under green, his pursuers were hard pressed to keep the Olsen in sight. The final caution came out for the disabled cars of Deron Rust and Ron Keys on lap 26. Both had been in the thick of the hunt for Brennan, but equipment failure sent them to the pits.

For the final four laps, Billy showed the field nothing but his rear bumper and crossed the strips with room to spare to win his first feature in over three years. When last seen, the Brennan team, with head wrench David Keene at the helm, was closing the Georgetown still in high spirits. That was the only time Friday night that they were last.

Coming Wednesday, July 16th, will be Banks Co. Night at the Speedway, featuring the first half of the "Georgetown Scrambles" Series for Modifieds. This two racenight series, the second coming on Friday, July 25th, will offer Twin 20 lap events on each night with an $800 winner's purse for each race. The series also boasts a $1,000 series points fund sponsored by Richard Y. Johnson and Son Contractors and the L & W Insurance Agency. $750 of this will go to the driver with the best overall finish in the series, with the remainder going to one driver who finishes between second and fifteenth in the overall points. This winning spot will be determined by the luck of the draw prior to the first feature on the second night of the series. For additional information contact the speedway office at (302) 645-5432.

HEAT RESULTS: 1st Heat-Bob Toreky, Freddy Brightbill, Harold Bunting, Nelson James. 2nd Heat-Ron Keys, Bob Wilkins, Ed Brown, Jr., Gary Trice, Billy Brennan.

FEATURE RESULTS: Brennan, Wilkins, Browning, Brown, G. Trice, Craig Von Dohren, John Pinter, Harold Bunting, Tom Daggett, Jr., Dvid Trice, Keys, Brightbill, Rust, James, J.V. Wells, Toreky, Glenn Frye, Howard Huepfel.

FROM THE FIFTH TURN: The Georgetown Little League's night at the speedway was very successful, netting that fine organization in excess of $1,000. The bulk of that figure was generated by the much touted match race between Street Modified pilot Ira Hitchens and Speedway Director Tony Donofrio. Donofrio finished a dismal second but in an interview the following afternoon, he implied that his racing career is looking up. "Geez, I've had five offers to race since last night. Everything from Streets to Modifieds. All of them said they would match race me because they could use a win!" Tony said.

Bob Wilkins and the Blue Hen Team gave their recently purchased Kniessel machine a try during pre-race hot laps. The mount looked very promising. Hopefully it will put an end to Bobby's "bridesmaid streak" at Georgetown, once it gets acclimated to the manicured, tacky clay surface. With the expert crew that is the Blue Hen Team, that adjustment period should be short.

At the height of the celebration in the Brennan pit, Dave Keene made the statement the team had gotten off to a bad start that evening. The car had no brakes when they got ready to load it at the shop. That caused them to miss the 5:00 p.m. Cape May Lewes Ferry. They got to the track just as the second heat was rolling out. The car refused to fire. Finally it did and they fell in at the rear. After listening to all of this, Billy spoke up. "Yeah, maybe next week we'll put on the other two plug wires", he said with a grin.

Drivers look forward to the "Challenge of Harrington"

by Don Allen

Harrington, DE — As the Delaware State Fair Championship Automobile Races draw near, the cream of the Delmarva drivers are gearing up for the challenge of that venerable series of events held on the half-mile at the Harrington, De. fairgrounds.

"Oh it's definitely a challenge, but it's also like a homecoming too, or that's the way it feels for me." That is how Bob Wilkins, pilot of the Blue Hen Racing #30 Modified, out of Milford, De., describes the racing at the Delaware State Fair. "I say my very first stock car race there when I was about six and I can still remember the impression that all the noise and excitement made on me," Bob recalled. Fond memories like these come flooding back to drivers and fans alike each year when the closing days of July roll around in Delaware.

The champ series, sponsored by Kent County Motor Sales, will be held on Friday, July 18th and Wednesday, July 23rd and will offer competition for Modifieds, Late Models, Limited Late Models and Street Modifieds to the standing room only crowds that frequent the events. "You can't beat Harrington for exposure. In fact, it's made to order for showing off your sponsor's name," Wilkins continued. "I think their crowd capacity is somewhere around six thousand and for many of the folks that go there, it's a totally new experience or, in many cases, the only auto races that they attend during the year, so you've almost got a captive audience."

In closing, Bob, who took the Don "Sharky" Breeding modified to victory there in the 1983 events, winning him the coveted Kent County Motor Sales Trophy, recalled how it feels to be greeted by those crowds of fans. "It's a real rush, possibly the best one I've had in racing," Bob reminisced. "It's a big charge to be introduced before your feature and feel all that warmth from the fans, but when I got out of the car in that winner's circle, well it's something that I'll remember all my life!"

Fields picks up season second

by Don Allen

GEORGETOWN, DE-Bridgeville, DE native, Oscar Fields, scored his second win in three starts in the Independence Day Limited Late Model feature at the Georgetown Speedway. Fields outdueled Bill Penuel and Lee Joines after taking the lead on lap 15 of the 20 lap event to cross the stripe first in his Bodie's Dairy Markets #5 Camaro. Penuel finished in second followed by Joines, Jeff Turpin and the fifth place car Tim White.

Fields had started near the rear of the field and moved into the top five on lap three. He took the point after Mel Joseph, who had led the first 13 circuits, lost a transmission can come to a halt at the entrance to turn one.

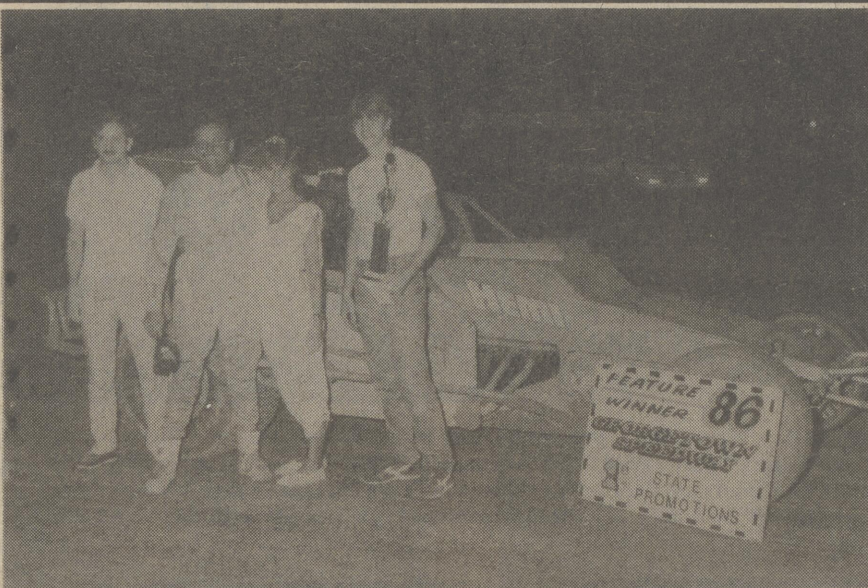

For the final five laps Oscar handily held off the challenges of first Jim Mitchell, who fell by the wayside with just three to go, and then Bill Penuel and Lee Joines. This was Joines' first night back this season and his third place finish was an impressive one.

FEATURE RESULTS: Fields, Penuel, Joines, Turpin, T. White,

Gerald Jester, Buddy Messick, Donald Robinson, Alan Reed, Preston Beach, Leon Johnson, Jim Mitchell, Mel Joseph Jr., Bunky White, Doug Beach, Chuck Prettyman, Butch Hilliard, Eddie Williams.

Tommy Elliott scored his first Georgetown Street Modified win '86 in another "blanket action" filled 10 lap feature. The last several SM events at the speedway have had some of the closest, cleanest competition in the history of the division. Three-wide and sometimes four-wide battles for the checkered are becoming the norm and Friday night was full of much of the same.

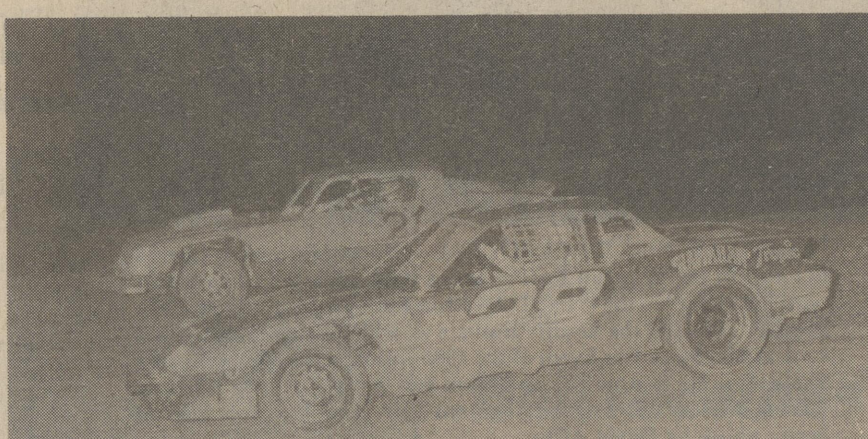

Elliott, whose driving finesse has been an asset to the class, held off newcomers Ray Tucker and Mark Byram and veterans John Mumford, Ryan Bloom, Kenny Pettyjohn and Ira Hitchens to put his Carlton Shockley Contractors Monte Carlo in victory lane. Tucker finished second in his first outing followed by Mumford, Bloom and Hitchens to round out the top five.

URC Sprints join "King of Kings" special

by Charlie Brown

A field of nearly 100 cars were ready for their first practice session when the rain came, washing out Saturday night's program at the U.S. 13 Speedway.

The racing program was to include the mighty United Racing Club super sprints for their fifth appearance of 1986. The URC cars are scheduled for an eight race series to determine the Delaware State Sprint Car Champion sponsored by Taylor and Messick of Harrington.

The URC Sprints have agreed to return this Saturday night and will be added to the special "King of Kings" program. The "King of Kings" event is a special 5 lap match race which is open to any modified driver who has won a feature event at the speedway in '86. The impressive list of winners includes six time winner, Freddy Brightbill and five time winner Harold Bunting. Also eligible to compete are Bobby Wilkins, Richard Jarvis, John Pinter, Tom Capie, Paul Weaver and Barry Burkhart. The winner's share in the event will be $250 plus a bonus from Blue Hen Cylinder Heads. Additional contributions are anticipated from the teams' many fans and sponsors prior to the running of the "King of Kings" event.

The URC sprints will join the double points program for modified, late model, limited late model and street modifieds. The $600 bounty still stands for anyone who can defeat eleven time feature winner, Eddie Pettyjohn. Gates open at 5:30 with the first heat getting the green at 8:00 p.m.

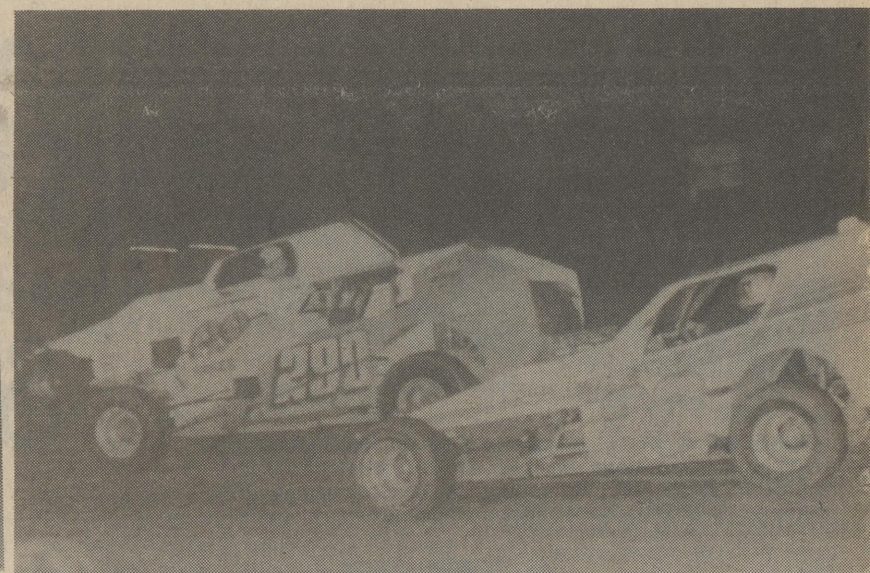

The U.S. 13 Speedway and Spectacular Promotions have joined forces for the Friday, July 18th racing program at the Delaware State Fair. The State Fair program will carry regular U.S. 13 points and Spectacular Promotions will contribute $500 to the U.S. 13 point fund which is already in excess of $18,000!

Funny Car "Smoke Out" set at 13 Dragway

by Charlie Brown

The 200 mile per hour "Funny cars" will return to the U.S. 13 Dragway this Sunday, July 20. The program will include a "smoke out" competition for the "Funny Cars" and a $1200 to win Super Eliminator competition for cars that qualify at 12.99 seconds or less. The event will be sponsored by A.J.'s Custom & Off Road and Blue Hen Cylinder Head Service and will also feature eliminations in Combo, Pro

Bike, and Hot Rod Trophy. The special "smoke out" competition will be held during the first round as eight 200 m.p.h. "Funny Cars" will go head to head to see who can do the best burnout! Todd Mack in his "Big Mac Attack" will be trying to regain his title that he lost last year but will have tough competition from the likes of Roberta Shultz who has already made several runs over 200 at U.S. 13 this season.

behind him and had to steer hard right to avoid collision. This allowed Fields to get away. White and now Lee Joines, were able to close ground and Fields' lead was in question for the remainder of the event, not only from their challenges but also from some menacing under the front of his racer as he went through the turns. Luckily the car held together and Oscar bested White by about four car-lengths at the finish.

The Georgetown record books picked up another first-time winner in the Street Modified division when hometown driver Mark Byram held off the charges of Tom Elliott in a last lap dash for the checkered. Elliott took the lead from John Mumford on lap four of the ten lap event with Byram hot on his heels. Byram commandeered the point one lap later, starting a duel that saw the lead change two more times before the end of the race. Byram moved under Elliott on the last lap for the win. Byram's win added a unique footnote to Georgetown's rich history. The night's first feature was won by Oscar Fields in his #5 Modified and, wouldn't you know it, Byram's car number is 55!

Hitchens tames Whirlwind at Georgetown

by Don Allen

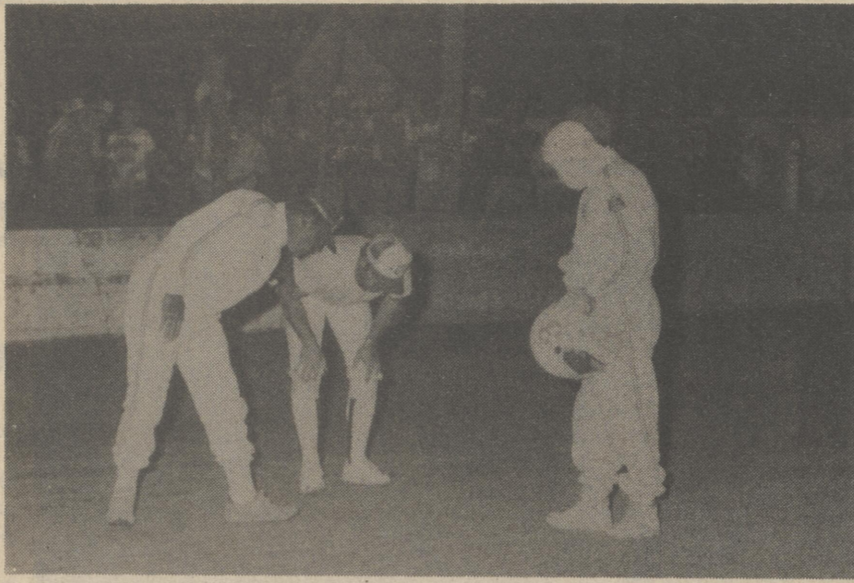

Georgetown Speedway — It was all for fun Friday night when Ira Hitchens and Speedway Director, Tony Donofrio donned their driving suits and a pair of Street Modifieds to tussle for five laps on the Georgetown Speedway clay for the benefit of The Georgetown Little League. The contest, built humorously as "the match race of the century" between "The Sussex County Flash" (Hitchens) and the Italian "Whirlwind" (Donofrio), had raised nearly $300 in sponsorship dollars for the "little slugger" 1986 fund drive by the time starter, Bill Lawson, appropriately dressed in baseball cap and uniform, dropped the green flag. Donofrio played a little trick on the Speedway loyal patriots when announcer Charlie Brown called him out on the track. The car that Tony was to drive had been a much guarded secret. Hitchens had already brought his Southern States, Grotto Pizza #3 to the infield to make final preparations when Donofrio was introduced. Suddenly the roar of a "Big Block" was heard on pit road and the T & J #25 modified of Freddy Brightbill blasted onto the track when everyone thought to be Donofrio at the controls. The look on Hitchens' face was priceless as the familiar mount flashed around the track at top speed for three laps before retiring to the pits.

After a brief interview with Ira, Brown announced that the word from the pits was that Tony didn't feel that the mount had enough to whip Ira's Chevelle and he was going to go to his back up car. In reality, Tony had been waiting behind the wheel of 1985 SM champion Ronnie Robinson's Chicken Shack, Colony Pool and Patio #44, while Freddy wowed the fans.

After pre-race ceremonies that included a driver's meeting officiated by Lawson, and the toss of the coin to determine starting spots, the race went green with Donofrio starting on the pole. Tony's little hot lap trick backfired as Ira poured on the coals and succeeded in lapping the #44, just past the half way mark, on the way to his first win at Georgetown.

In the winner's circle it was all smiles as Lawson presented both competitors with trophies on behalf of the Little League. He also congratulated Ira on the win and Tony for finishing "second instead of last."

The "Italian Whirlwind", promoter Tony Donofrio, left, flagman Bill Lawson and the "Sussex County Flash", Ira Hitchens, driver of the Street Modified #3, right look for the tossed coin to determine who would get the pole in their "Match Race of the Century" held to benefit the Georgetown Little League on Friday night. Winsett, Price, B Coverdale, Ellis and Gygrynuk winners at Middleford

by Mark Miller

The third round of the Delaware Short Track Championship Series provided plenty of action and controversy.

In motorcycle action, New Jersey's Georgie Price saw his win streak end at eight, as Lancaster PA's Rick Winsett handed Price his first feature loss of the year, as he led the 500 cc feature wire to wire. Price won the 125 feature over Harold Dorsey with Seaford's Jeff Caudill third, as well as remaining undefeated in the 250 class with a win over Roy Collings, and Milford's Mark Miller, the defending Track Champion.

The micro feature was marred by the disqualification of two drivers by starter Bruce Webb. When the smoke had cleared, it was Bud Coverdale and the #190 "Gray Blister", taking his second feature win in the series, with Larry Winchell, Bucky McNatt and Milford's Paul Mills rounding out the top four. Mills is the current point leader in the series.

ATV's provided some of the night's best racing as Ray Ellis and Rob Gygrynuk waged war in the 250 final. Ellis won the battle, but Gygrynuk is winning the war, as he holds a slim lead in the point standings.

Gygrynuk captured the ATC 200 final and increased his points lead with the win over Scott Justice and Steve Winten who suffered mechanical woes.

Dale Blades increased his points lead with a second place finish to Mike Passwaters with Milford's Phillip Metzger third and Kim Carter, fourth in the Go-Kart class.

Wesley receives assets of Singing Players

Wesley College recently announced the acceptance of a gift which awarded the assets of the retiring, thirteen-year old SINGING PLAYERS, INC of Dover, Delaware, to the college.

Mrs. Margaret Storey, formerly a Wesley College faculty member and the founder and director of the SINGING PLAYERS, indicated that the gift to Wesley College is intended as an extension of the SINGING PLAYERS' objective to enrich community living and to provide quality opportunities for the development and showcasing of artistic talent in the area.

U. of D. extension plans information-packed program for Fair tent

Visitors to the Delaware State Fair in Harrington should find lots to keep them occupied in the tent being sponsored by University of Delaware Cooperative Extension. From the time the tent opens at 5:00 p.m. Friday, July 18, until it closes eight days later, planners say it will be jammed with an ever-changing schedule of entertainment, educational presentations and exhibits.

"We plan to have something to interest everyone," says extension state ag program leader Dave Woodward, who's coordinating the effort. "There will be presentations on everything from health and fitness to water quality, farm and family financial management, high-tech agriculture, and drip irrigation for field crops and home gardens. There'll be live music and special presentations on a stage at one end of the 40 foot by 60 foot tent. And every day we'll have a drawing for free tickets to University of Delaware football games.

Delaware extension master gardeners are landscaping the tent area. Inside the tent, they plan to install a special live display of ground covers suitable for Delaware growing conditions. They will also man a booth to answer gardening questions and provide information of turf production and weed control. In another part of the tent, extension specialists plan to set up a demonstration garden showing the use of plastic mulch & drip irrigation.

Scientists from the university's College of Agricultural Sciences will also be on hand several days. On Tuesday, July 22, for example, representatives from the agricultural engineering department will have presentations on misting systems for evaporative cooling of poultry houses, nozzles for field sprayers, and the use of computers for kids of all ages. Youthful visitors can also try their hand at measuring the horsepower they generate by turning a crank to produce an electric current. They'll even get paid for the current they generate.

On Thursday, animal scientists will explain the research being conducted in that department to clone a virus for use as a poultry vaccine, to find ways to speed broiler growth, and to rapidly test

Bell receives Caruthers Award

SALISBURY, MD--Salisbury State College student Debra L. Bell, daughter of Donna F. Walls of Ellendale and Ralph T. Bell of Milford, is the recipient of the T.J. Caruthers Award.

Bell, a 1981 graduate of Lake Forest High School, recently graduated magna cum laude with a degree in French.

During her years at SSC she was a member and then president of the French Club. She is a member of Phi Alpha Theta, a national honor society, and Phi Kappa Phi, a national honor society which recognizes outstanding scholarship in students from all areas of instruction. She was president of Lambda Iota Tau, an honor society designed to recognize English majors who have achieved scholastic excellence. She is a member of the Maryland Foreign Language Association and the Student National Education Association. Bell has gained experience in her major by working as a French tutor, a French instructor, a teacher's aide in French and a substitute teacher in French. She plans to continue teaching.

The T.J. Caruthers Award was established by the late Dr. Caruthers to recognize students who show outstanding promise as teachers.

Farm Fitness 5 K run slated for July 26 at Delaware State Fair

The Delaware Farm Bureau's rural health committee, together with the Delaware Cooperative Extension System, Delaware Department of Agriculture, Delaware Dairy Producers, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Delaware, and Taylor and Messick, Inc., are sponsoring a five kilometer farm fitness run Saturday, July 26, at the Delaware State Fair in Harrington.

The Farm Fitness Challenge 5K race will start at 8 a.m. in front of the grandstand and proceed on a scenic 3.1 mile course through the Harrington country. Registration forms are available at the Delaware Farm Bureau office (697-3183), county extension offices in Georgetown (856-7303), Dover (736-1448) and Newark (451-2506), and local sporting goods outlets.

The first 100 runners who enter will receive T-shirts. Trophies will be given to the top male and female finisher, as well as to winners in the following classes--farmer, farmer's spouse, 4-H, FFA, Grange member, Farm Bureau member, farm family, plus 12 different age classes.

Those not conditioned for a 5K run can participate in a one-mile "fun run" or walk. The purpose of the event is to promote good health through proper nutrition and exercise.

There will be several water stops and spray areas along the 5K course and plenty of refreshments at the finish line--including fresh Delaware produce. Each runner will receive an educational packet on nutrition and exercise.

Camden man catches 820 lb. blue marlin

As fish stories go, this is a big one. On Wednesday, July 9, while trolling 77 miles off the coast, a Camden man caught an 820 lb. blue marlin—a potential state record. Bruce King's catch, which was brought back and weighed at Lewes Harbor Marina, far exceeds the present state record blue marlin - 715 lbs. - caught by John Livingston in 1983. The Division of Fish and Wildlife will certify King's record after receiving the proper paper work, including a receipt from a taxidermist—a new requirement this year for blue and white marlin. To be considered for a state record, marlin, which have limited local value as a food fish, must be either released or if brought back, mounted.

Equine demonstration and clinic to be held at State Fair

A comprehensive equine demonstration and clinic will be held at the Delaware State Fairgrounds in Harrington, Tuesday, July 22. The event, which is being sponsored by the state extension 4-H Horse Advisory Committee and the Delaware State Fair horse department, will include an afternoon demonstration starting at 3 p.m., followed by a clinic at 6 p.m. Both programs will take place in the horse arena. In case of rain they will be moved indoors.

This educational event will be presented by Virginia Bockman of Fox Fire Farm, Old Wick, NJ. Bockman exhibits both English and Western horses.

The demonstration and clinic are open to all individuals interested in horses and horsemanship, regardless of race, color, sex, handicap, age or national origin. The equine program will demonstrate the versatility of the pleasure horse.

Kirby and Brown selected to District I All-Star team

by Mike Dill

For the second consecutive year, Harrington pitchers John Kirby and Ricky Brown have been selected to the American League District I all-star team.

The American League is comprised of ten big league teams in Sussex County. The American League champion Seaford Jays make up the bulk of the team with nine players, and six other players from various teams.

Kirby, a 1985 first team all-state pitcher, will be making his third straight appearance as a big league all-star. The Cecil Community College pitcher will probably be asked to take his turn on the hill again this year as the American League all-stars will look to defend last year's Delaware state title.

Joining Kirby will be Harrington native Ricky Brown, a Lake Forest junior and 1986 second team all state pitcher.

Besides pitching, both players will see action in the field, Kirby manning first and Brown holding down second or short.

The District I best of five championships start this week in Seaford with the American Leagues taking on the National League based Camden Wyoming Simpson Lumber.

Webb powers Milford over Dover

by Mike Dill

Mike Webb went three for four with a three run homer and five RBI's to back the seven hit pitching of Jon Thomas as the Milford Yanks upset the Dover Comets in Eastern Shore Baseball League action.

The Comets, who were tied for first place, were continually kept off stride by Thomas, who mixed a fastball with a sharp breaking curve.

With the exception of a first inning homer to Carlos Rivera, Thomas was flawless, striking out five and walking none.

Donald Hall had three RBI's from his designated hitter slot and Chris Scott, Toby Short, and Tim Stump added RBI singles. Stump also added to the effort by scoring three times.

In The Pocket

by Harry G. Farrow Jr.

At Maywood Park on Friday in the $80,200 (GALT) for 3 year old colt trotters it was Gunslinger Spur getting up for Dick Stillings in 1:59.2 for the win.

In the 2 year old filly pace at Yonkers on Friday night in the $233,500 pace "The La Paloma" it was Halcyon getting the win in 2:00.2 for John Campbell.

At the Meadowlands on Friday in the $50,000 (each) Meadowlands Pace Eliminations with the first four back this Friday for the $100,000 Meadowlands Pace it was Robust Hanover winning by a nose for John Campbell over Barberry Spur in 1:52.2 followed by Tucson Hanover, and Cretan Thunder. Sherman Almahurst won the second heat in 1:52.3 for Ron Waples over Masquerade, Souffle and Laughs. In the third heat it was Amity Chef in a photo over Cash Asset in 1:53.1 for John Campbell again with Play the Palace second and Tijuana Blue Chip third.

At the Meadowlands on Saturday in the $40,000 Invitational pace it was Dangarvon winning for Benny Webster in 1:52.1.

On Saturday at Greenwood in the $82,900 Ontario Jockey Club Maturity Pace it was Figgvar winning in 2:00.2 for Stanley Dancer.

The $435,000 Sheppard for 2 year old colt pacers Saturday at Yonkers it was Simoee Hanover winning in 1:59.4 for Mike Lachance.

The Hanover-Kempt worth $67,050 it was won by Shannon Bright with Berndt Lindstedt in the bike Saturday at Vernon in 1:58. Venele Typhoon won for Buddy Gilmour in 1:59.

4-H Citizenship - Washington Focus 1986

Two local Delaware teenagers will join more than 4,000 4-H members from 44 states for "Citizenship-Washington Focus 1986" at the National 4-H Center in Chevy Chase, Md., July 6-12.

Donya Argo (Milford), and Kathy Carlson of Camden received 4-H scholarships to attend. 4-H volunteer Mrs. Jay Hukill (Harbeson) will accompany the group.

As they interact with other 4-H members from across the country, the Delaware delegates will exchange ideas and learn different customs. The program aims to promote awareness of 4-H activities, which are a part of the nationwide Cooperative Extension System. Extension is the educational arm of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Drawing upon what they learn during the week, delegates will develop plans for citizenship projects in their own communities.

U. of D. extension plans information-packed program or Fair tent chickens for exposure and resistance to various poultry diseases. Representatives of the departments of agricultural economics, plant science, and entomology will be present on other days.

At an Ask-the-Specialist booth, extension specialists will answer visitor questions on a variety of topics including insect and weed control, emotional stress, farm and family finances, computer use, marketing, poultry and livestock production, irrigation, plant diseases, soil fertility and field crop production. A computer will be available for demonstration purposes, and depending on the specialists present one-on-one counseling on any of these topics will be available.

At another booth, visitors will be able to learn about the career opportunities in agriculture and agribusiness. This will feature video shows on the college and university, and computer games to challenge teachers will be invited to view educational software available for use in ag, math and science classrooms.

One added feature--radio station WKEN (Dover) will be broadcasting from a booth inside the tent.

Fair visitors are encouraged to check the sign outside the tent for a list of each day's scheduled events, as many programs will be presented only once. The tent will be open daily from 10:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. from July 19 to 26. Look for it southwest of the fair office, next to the carnival and picnic area.

DNREC to hold public hearing on July 28

The Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Control (DNREC) will hold a public hearing on Monday, July 28 to consider the adoption of amendments to the state's septic regulations. The hearing will be held at 7:00 p.m. in the Richardson-Robbins auditorium (DNREC offices) at 89 Kings Highway, Dover.

Most of the amendments are housekeeping items, according to Al Farling, manager of the Groundwater Section in DNREC's Division of Water Resources, and address technical questions that have arisen since the regulations were adopted in 1985.

Also included in the amendments, however, are regulations governing the installation of low-pressure piping systems. Such systems are used extensively in some states in areas where existing conditions preclude the use of a conventional gravity system. In a low-pressure pipe system, a pumping chamber and a series of pipes are used to regulate the outflow septage and to spread it over a wider area than conventional systems. Because the system applies the outflow uniformly and at regular intervals, the system can be installed closer to the surface, and in an estimated 50 to 80 percent of cases where conventional systems cannot be installed, could eliminate the need for an elevated mound. The low-pressure pipe system can be installed for an estimated $2,500 to $3,500 compared with the $5,000 to $10,000 cost of the mound system.

The proposed amendments also contain a provision for a rural variance in cases where a septic system of any kind would not be allowed, but where undeveloped land is available for installation of a much larger than normal seepage bed.

The public may review the proposed amendments Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., at DNREC offices at 715 Grantham Lane, New Castle; 89 Kings Highway, Dover; or 418 N. DuPont Highway, Georgetown.

Harrington Public Library holds puppet show

The Harrington Public Library had a puppet show on July 9, sponsored by the Division of Libraries. Pam Nelson of Pam Pipes & Puppets, Inc. did an hour long show of puppet plays, stories and songs.

The audience participated in the song "Aiken Drum" and Wally the Frog made an appearance and asked the audience to assist him with a song. The library was packed with an enthusiastic audience of 38 people.

Husband charged with murder of man near Lincoln

LINCOLN. Kenneth P. Hays, 35, of Lincoln has been charged with first degree murder in the shooting death of Charles Baker, 37 of 6528 Little River, Annandale, Va. Also shot was Mr. Hays' wife Karen, 31, of RD #2 Box 406, Lincoln, Delaware.

The incident occurred around 8:00 a.m. Sunday morning at the home of Mrs. Hays, from whom Mr. Hays was estranged.

The Delaware State Police reported that Mr. Hays went to his wife's home which was also listed as his last known address. There he was met by Mr. Baker at the front door. There was an argument between Mr. Hays and Mr. Baker. Mr. Hays returned to his truck to get a shotgun. He promptly shot Mr. Baker. He also shot Mrs. Hays wounding her but the gun shot did not kill her. Later Mr. Baker was transferred to Nanticoke Hospital where he died from his injuries.

Following the shooting, Mr. Hays took Mrs. Hays captive and fled in the truck along with a child. A second child was left behind at the shooting scene.

Four hours later Mr. Hays returned to the scene and surrendered to the Delaware State Police. Mrs. Hays was taken to Milford Hospital and treated for some of her wounds. She was then transferred to Christiana Hospital where she remains in critical condition.

Neither child was harmed. Mr. Hays has been charged with first degree murder, attempted murder, 2 counts of kidnapping and 4 counts of possession of a deadly weapon during the commission of a felony. He is being held without bail in the Sussex Correctional Institute in Georgetown.

Kent and Sussex Industries seek subcontracts work

Kent-Sussex Industries, Inc. (KSI) of Milford and the Lower Shore Sheltered Workshop (LSSW) of Salisbury have launched a cooperative program aimed at bringing in more contract work for each facility.

The immediate concern is to make the business community aware of the many kinds of work the two facilities can perform. These include light manufacturing, assembling, packaging, woodworking, sewing, photocopying, and mailing. The facilities boast excellent records in meeting deadlines and turning out high quality work.
