Harrington Council approves zoning

Directs Easement Study to Workshop

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.
HARRINGTON. The Council approved a zoning request by Texaco to pave the way for the giant gasoline producer to build a gas and service station between the two lanes of US 13 south of the intersection of Rt. 14 and US 13.

The Council tabled a proposal by Port Lumber to obtain an easement over the City's lands which is currently a road leading from Route 14 along the west property lines of Independent Bible Fellowship Church back to the City's treatment plant.

It was reported by the City's solicitor, Bill Walls, that Porter is having a problem resolving the easement over the railroad property. The legal entanglement has brought to a halt the negotiations between Port and their lending institution.

Councilman Jarrell objected to a long term easement. He proposed a shorter term with an option to renew. "Anything to the contrary merely ties the hands of future councilmen...and I don't think we want to do this", said Mr. Jarrell. Discussion of what kind of road would be necessary is also under consideration. "I think you also have to consider the weight of the loaded trucks, because they will be hauling logs, and related materials", added Mr. Jarrell. "There is land there for future development. We cannot afford to do that which would prevent future development in that area", added Mr. Jarrell.

The tenure of the council was "...an easement renewal plan".

The Council also voted to approve a Bicentennial grant of $59,128 which would require matching funds. Mr. Volenik, the city manager, added that more money would be available in December. "The committee invited me back in December for some additional money", said Mr. Volenik.

Mr. Volenik summarized that "...the City is not forced to take the money, but if we elect not to do so the money simply goes back. The other part is that we will be receiving more money in December, because everyone was cut back initially to insure that it would go around evenly. There are those towns which will not take anything which will allow for the surplus." Mr. Volenik said.

In other matters the council voted to re-surface several streets in the City such as Gordon, Dixon, Dickerson, Franklin, Reed and Ward. The cost will be $19,891 which as councilman Wyatt said would leave $33,980 in the fund.

The City now owns the property on the southeast corner of Dorman and Liberty Streets. It has been condemned and will be demolished sometime later this month. The property will be auctioned off on November 15th.

The City also adopted the pension plan for city personnel. The vote was all for it, with no objections.

Councilman Sue Ellen Dennis said after the meeting that a study was being made by the State Department of Transportation to take a survey of the traffic exiting from Liberty Plaza Shopping Center onto Liberty St. with the idea of improving congestion in that area.

Felton Council hears complaints, gets report on police car, sets Halloween trick or treat times

by Lola O'Day
FELTON—It was brought to the attention of the Felton Council on Monday night that the Town was facing a problem with an over population of rats. Residents who are being threatened by these rodents may rent metal traps for $5.00. Residents should contact Mr. Sluter, a member of the council.

The police car is temporarily out of service. It was involved in a wreck. The car was parked in front of the Police Department when it was struck in the rear causing $1400 in damages. During the repairs to the car, the Town of Greenwood has loaned one of their cars to Felton.

The Council set October 30th as "Trick or Treat Night" in Felton. According to Mr. Sluter "...there will be extra police officers on duty that night just in case".

A letter from The Avon Club of Felton indicating that the club members would plant two holly trees at City Hall on November 10th.

The Town is looking into hiring a general maintenance man for about 30 hours a week. It would be treated as a permanent job.

There was a request made by a councilman to change the locks on the Town Hall, water tower and the garage for the police cars.

The council authorized putting a new catch basin at the Post Office and also extending the drain pipe 84 feet. Ray Starkey has the bid to do the work.

In other business, a letter of resignation was read from Mrs. JoAnn Morris who will resign as Town Receiver of Taxes effective October 15th.

Hydrants will be flushed again on October 26th, and finally Council heard complaints that there were too many cats running loose in the Town.

Harrington authorizes Brown Branch Ditch Improvements Program

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.
HARRINGTON. For years it has been talked about and discussed but nothing got much further than just that.

At Monday's meeting at City Hall, Mr. Volenik, the City manager, announced that Harrington had been invited to join the soil conservation board.

The ditch which is called Brown's Branch has several ditches that run out from the main stream and has many meanderings through the City.

Chief among the problems is that part of the ditch which collects water in the storm sewer on Hanley Street near where the Diamond State Telephone Company has an office. "This area is constantly flooding...and the program would call for the cleaning to begin there in the street (Hanley) go east under the railroad tracks and follow on out in the direction of Peck Avenue and The Meadows on US 13. This, when completed would clean out the ditch and widen it to allow the water to flow to the east and the highway", said Mr. Volenik.

The effect would be a positive element for the City and allow the drainage to come about. The total cost of the project was not announced nor was the time needed to complete the task. The City voted to give the soil Conservation Board $275, to start the ball rolling.

Harrington applies for $235,000 Grant

HARRINGTON. It was announced at the City Council meeting on Monday night by City Manager George Volenik that an application had been made to the State for a $235,000 grant for the purpose of improving the sewer system in the southeast section of the community.

The structure improvement loan would allow the City to improve the water system in the East Street Fairground section of the community.

Jaycees to sponsor parade

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.
HARRINGTON—The Harrington Jaycees will sponsor their 20th annual Christmas parade in Harrington on Saturday, December 6th.

The rain date will be held the following Saturday.

The parade lineup will begin at 12:30 p.m. and the parade will start promptly at 1:30 p.m. The parade route will be generally what was the route in the past years.

"We would loop the water system through the Fairgrounds to the Port Lumber Company area and extend a road from Route 14 to Port Lumber Company", added Mr. Volenik.

The water improvement system would possibly allow the Fairgrounds better service. During the Fair last year a water problem threatened the closing of the Fair. A new well was drilled to allow the Fair to continue.

The theme of this year's parade is "An Old Fashioned Christmas". There will be no live Santa Claus on the individual floats.

Entry request should be made by Monday, December 1st by sending the forms to Norman Short, R.D. 3, Box 277, Harrington, De. 19952 or by calling 398-3050 evenings or weekends. Requests may also be made by calling

Shay's Rebellion

by Steven R. Boyd
Dr. Stephen R. Boyd is Associate Professor of History at the University of Texas, San Antonio, Texas.
Editor's Note: Two hundred years ago this month, Captain Daniel Shays, a Revolutionary War veteran, and a band of Massachusetts farmers, rose up in arms against the new, postrevolutionary government of Massachusetts. The insurgents had expected the Revolution to bring a golden era of prosperity but even after King George relinquished the governance of North America, debts continued to come due.
Shay's Rebellion sent a shock wave through the United States. The danger of faction became obvious, as did the inability of the states and the Confederation to deal with it. Probably no event did more to advance the prospect of the Constitution Convention.

THE NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FOR THE HUMANITIES PROVIDES MAJOR FUNDING FOR THE NEW FEDERALIST PAPERS.

During August and September 1786 Massachusetts farmers assembled outside court houses in Northampton, Worcester, Concord, Taunton, Great Barrington and Springfield. There they confronted state judges who had gathered to hold court. Through their physical presence and the threat of violence, the farmers persuaded those state judges to adjourn their respective courts. Over the next few months similar court disruptions occurred across central and western Massachusetts, as that state's farmers, plagued with debts and taxes in a state whose legislature had pursued since the close of the Revolutionary War a deflationary fiscal policy, acted to protect their farms from foreclosure and themselves from imprisonment for non-payment of debt.

Shay's Rebellion (named after Captain Daniel Shays, a Revolutionary War veteran and, in the 1780s, a farmer in Worcester County) was neither the first nor the last time in American history that hardpressed debtors resorted to "Popular action" in an attempt to protect the sources of their livelihood from adverse governmental policies or downturns in the economy.

Shay's Rebellion was more, however, than merely one in a sequence of farmer protests. Even now, on the bicentennial of the rebellion, its consequences affect our lives. Shay's Rebellion furthered the convening of the Federal Convention, influenced the shape of the Constitution, and contributed to the success of the Federalist campaign for ratification.

The movement for the Federal Convention preceded Shay's Rebellion. But the rebellion contributed to the success of the call for a constitutional convention. It was only after news of Shay's Rebellion that most of the states agreed that a convention should be held, that the Confederation Congress authorized such a convention, and various political leaders—including George Washington—agreed to participate in it.

Memories of the 1923 German Inflation

by Edgar Bissantz
For decades prior to World War I, the German mark enjoyed a relatively stable exchange rate of about 24 cents against the U.S. dollar. However, during the war, the German government paid its bills by printing large quantities of marks. Because of the resulting inflation, by the war's end in 1918 the mark had fallen to about 6 cents against the dollar.
Few people today remember that immediately after the war, many U.S. citizens, often at the urging of their bankers, purchased German marks as investments. The bankers pointed out that, although Germany was being asked to pay the Allies huge reparations, the country's land and buildings were essentially intact. Thus, many investors reasoned, the economy would be quickly restored by her industrious people. The mark would regain its "normal" value of 24 cents, which would yield a potential 300 per cent profit to investors. Unfortunately, the bankers did not take into account the fact that the German printing presses were continuing to turn out paper marks, and that the value of the mark was still falling.

In the campaign to secure the ratification, Federalists used the memory of Shays' Rebellion to secure support for the Constitution. They argued that the Constitution would eliminate the causes of discontent which exploded in the rebellion and created a central government powerful enough to suppress such protests in the future. During the debate in the state conventions Federalists further insisted that if the Constitution were not adopted, the inevitable result would be the anarchy of a "national Shays." These arguments persuaded several Massachusetts Antifederalists, who had opposed the rebellion the year before to vote for ratification. They also induced other Antifederalists who had voted against the Constitution to nonetheless acquiesce to its adoption and implementation by the first Congress.
The Constitution did not prevent all farmer protests in the future. Indeed five years after its adoption, an agrarian protest in western Pennsylvania required the sending of fifteen thousand troops into that area. The Whiskey Rebellion, however, illustrates the success of the new Constitution. The constitutional procedures to allow the federal government to suppress a domestic insurrection were activated. Furthermore, the rebellion ended even before troops were dispatched. The rebels were overawed by the prospect of such a force and chose to seek a redress of their grievances through the federal electoral process. All of these are the legacy of Shays' Rebellion.

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.
"...in the end he stood up for America..."
Depending who you talk to about the recent summit meeting between President Reagan and the Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachov will determine which side came out ahead.
It was...to me...the great impasse at Reykjavik...nothing more or nothing less.
It was a time for our President to stand tall and strong. He did that and he stood up for America once again.
For reasons unknown to me when the mention of "Strategic Defense Initiative" or SDI...or Star Wars (all the same) are mentioned, the Russians came running.

They will come back to the bargaining table, again and again and keep the negotiations going. They know as our President that this program is our ace in the hole when it comes to our safety and well being.

Why do the Russians react this way? Is it fear we will gain a tremendous advantage in space. After all, they were the first in space. And if you believe them...which you cannot...they will have you believe they also invented the great American past-time...baseball.

Our President sees the importance of "the Star Wars Program", and he sees it much clearer than you or me...as well as a godly number of his countrymen.

But there is another guy who sees it just as clearly...I bet, and that guy is Mikhail S. Gorbachov.
The program is really a means to an end.
It is our protective shield...believe it or not.
SDI...Star Wars...whatever...it in fact brought down the curtain on the Iceland Summit. The Russians may have played for that score.
And they fully realized that the curtain call would deny Mr. Reagan the political advantage he certainly sought in light of the national elections just three weeks away.

But the jury is still out on that question, because in reality he stood up again for America...and his countrymen will realize it too, as it sinks in.
One final point.
This Summit was unlike other summits which usually had issues resolved long before the super powers met. Otherwise heretofore why meet if nothing permanent was to come out of it...instead of just perfunctory measures.
A new twist to what summits are...but forgotten about what they should be.
Quere...in that light, should our President have gone to Iceland?
However in the end...the bottom line was, Mr. Reagan again stood up for America.

Iceland

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.
The recent summit between the two super powers (U.S. and U.S.S.R.) was held in Iceland. Much is known about Iceland yet there isn't much to say about the tiny island which is the size of our Kentucky.

It has a population of 231,000 and growing. It was settled first by Norway about 1100 years ago, and later by Denmark, which is the reason for some of the real long names for its cities and rivers.

Principally the largest industry is fishing. Money is made from the sea. It is a rather poor country and this stems from its early growth when the Norwegians exploited the country. They purchased fish from Iceland at a low figure and sold back food goods to Iceland people at top prices. Their economy could not flourish.

The country is known for heavy drinking, long days and at times long nights. It is just above the Arctic Circle. The homes are well kept but no fossil fuel is used to heat the homes. It is done principally by piping the steam from the hot springs through tubes to the homes for heat. When our President was there he stayed in a house with a fireplace, but it was closed up. It was not used.

The heavy drinking has led to alcoholism in the young in Iceland. Unless you fish for a living, there is nothing to do. It was reported that the young generation of Iceland was basically very much bored with their lives.

The low lands are fertile and crops, as well as sheep and cattle are raised to help the economy. However there are no railroads in Iceland.

Their inland streams are milky in color. They are also rich with fish, and they have a fish similar to our trout.

Roth hails Senate vote for Crack Cocaine Month

WASHINGTON--U.S. Senator Bill Roth (R-Del.) today (October 6) hailed Senate passage of legislation designating October as "Crack Cocaine Awareness Month," a Roth initiative to reach younger people. The measure now goes to the White House for President Reagan's signature.

"The growing use and addiction to crack cocaine is no longer confined to urban centers like New York, Detroit and Miami," Roth said. "Delawareans are increasingly caught in the net as our young people discover the dangers of trying crack."

Roth introduced a Senate Resolution in August to establish October as Crack Cocaine Awareness Month, because he sensed that young people did not really understand the highly addictive nature of crack, a toxic form of cocaine produced by heating the powder to

As Time Goes By...

Gab Fest

by Pat Hatfield

With the thermometer hovering around 40 and a hint of frost in the air, these mornings demand a hearty breakfast, and what is better than pancakes and sausage? This is always a favorite, but any day Dad will be asking for hot buttered hominy with the sausage. I grew up on that too, when we used to have to start with the corn and cook it for hours. Now we can buy it in cans. I still cook it about an hour longer.

Yesterday was a day that blest me in many ways. Ellen sent our precious young friend, Dawn, to come and help me for the day. This lovely young Christian woman blesses everyone in her ministry. The house quickly becomes clean and beautiful under her touch because she does it with such love and care.

While she was here we decided that it was high time to get in the house plants, since we had already had to cover them for threat of frost. The windows had all been cleaned and in no time at all, they were repotted, watered and on the window sills with a little vitamin stick in their gulleets or wherever! Dawn established me in a yard chair out in the warm sunshine nearby, so I could give any necessary instructions and it went smoothly and easily.

We have enjoyed the Scarlet Sage so much this summer. I am half tempted to try a little plant in a pot and see if it would keep going for the winter, but I must not attempt too much. Dad promises to have lots of it next summer.

The last watermelon was brought in and looked great, but proved to have no taste whatever. It must be the drought.

We are just not able to duplicate the life-giving rain that comes from above. Dad has been very conservative of water but did take a little to water his strawberry patch so we may be able to have strawberries next spring. He has spent hours on it, crawling on his hands and knees to get every weed, and it is probably the most perfect strawberry patch in the state of Delaware! And you should have seen the birds. When the sprinkler hose was on, they came in flocks to drink and enjoy a bath, so we helped them to survive also.

The old Almanacs and the old-timers are hard at work trying to predict what kind of winter we will have. The squirrels and the woolly bear caterpillars are in for their share of attention. It is fun to observe nature, but no use to get into a tizzy about it. I believe as Dad says "God will have the weather just the way He wants it." I am grateful that we have not had the floods and the tornadoes and all that. We were thinking about the floods in Oklahoma, but our Ted called Sunday evening, and said they did not reach Fort Sills, although they had warning alerts.

Tozer sets record, Spartans outrun Bucs 20-38

by Keith S. Burgess
Mark Tozer upset Milford cross-country rival, Chris Ayres, unbeaten on Delmarva this fall, as Lake Forest 2-0, raced to an easy 20-38 victory, at Killen's Pond State Park Tuesday afternoon.
Ayres beat Tozer by five seconds, as the pair went 1-2, in the three-state, 20 team Salisbury State College Invitational, the same finish as occurred, in the Lake Forest Invitational. Ayres also was runner-up to a Pennsylvania runner, in the Salesianum Invitational.
Tozer has been changing tactics, against Ayres, from race to race and whatever he did Tuesday worked like a charm. When the pair passed this observer, on the nature trail, with a half mile to go, Mark had a substantial lead and kept most of it to the finish. Ayres had set the old 5000 meter course record of 16:53, on a day when every strong runner, in Delaware, plus many stars from, three other states, were in action, on the course. Thus, Tozer's mark (16:41) should stand until the state meet, which will be held, on the same site, in November. Tozer could break it himself before then, but that's not likely since he won't face anybody tough, in the remaining home meets.
Five of the Spartan boys were testing the new course for the first time. All thirteen other local boys, who were on the course for the second time, bettered their individual bests, set 17 days earlier. The Spartans were probably pepped up because of the titanic dual they knew was being waged up front by the two, talented team leaders, Eric Payne (18:27) Mike Eck and William Payne, the latter running at home, for the first time, finished 3rd, 4th and 5th, in a span of two seconds. After Stevenson of Milford, came the Spartans fifth man, Steve Clute also making his home debut. The improving Clute was the final Spartan scorer.

Alvin Hudson was ninth for Lake Forest, with sophomore Jon Kane in 11th as the No. 7 Spartan, sophomore Terry Donovan, in his second cross-country meet ever, showed excellent potential, finishing 14th of 29 runners, in 20:33, with soph Darren Lawson, one second back, dropping 28 seconds, off his previous trip.
Also faster than before were Billy Wolters, Scott Pierce, Wayne Steerman 1 1/2 minutes, Doug Thompson 1 minute, Darrell Allen 22 minutes and 16 seconds, Bobby Hill 2 minutes 36 seconds, Roger Collison 1 minute 13 seconds. Roy Perry made his first home start.

Geldof retires from State after 33 years of service

Peter Geldof Jr. retires October 15 as manager of the Operations Section of the state Division of Parks and Recreation. He was with the state for almost 33 years and is credited with a major role in building Delaware's park system into what it is today.
Mr. Geldof began his career in parks and recreation in 1954 as superintendent of the newly acquired Brandywine Springs State Park, which was later turned over to New Castle County. In 1956 he was put in charge of all state parks, which at that time included only Brandywine Springs, Trap Pond and Fort Delaware. In 1964 he became director of state parks, a job he held until 1975. During that time he was instrumental in adding seven parks to the system. He currently manages the section responsible for state parks operations and maintenance, a section of the parks division that he recommended be established.
In 1984, he received the governor's Diamond State Award in recognition of his service to the state in the field of parks and recreation.
Geldof and his wife, Evanelle, will continue to reside in Dover. He plans to pursue interests in raising and racing standardbred horses and in land development.

Spartans tie Delmar But take over first place

by Mike Dill
The Lake Forest football team came back from a 6-0 deficit to tie defending state champion Delmar 6-6 last Friday night.
By virtue of the Spartans tie and division leading Laurel being upset by Smyrna, the Spartans climbed to first place in the Southern Division.
Delmar jumped out to 6-0 lead in the beginning of the second quarter when all-state halfback Michael Jackson scored from one yard out.
The Spartans tied the game when Steve Sipple, who is known for catching offensive passes, returned an interception 20 yards for a touchdown. When the point after failed, the game stood at six.

Delmar had numerous chances to score when they drove deep into Spartan territory, only to come up empty handed when they lost the ball on fumbles.
The tie is particularly disappointing after last week's dramatic 20-18 comeback win over Woodbridge when the Spartans rolled up some impressive offensive numbers.
Delmar held the Spartan offense to just 89 yards on the night.

Parker sparks Spartans to two wins

by Mike Dill
Paige Parker continued to terrorize Henlopen Conference goalies as she scored twice and assisted on a goal to lead the Lake Forest hockey team to a 3-0 win over Indian River and a gutsy 1-0 win over an improved Smyrna team.
The Spartan defense did not allow Indian River a shot on goal in the entire game. Lisa Wilson fed Joanne Outten for the Spartan's other goal.
On Thursday, the Smyrna Eagles traveled to Lake Forest in a battle of two of the top teams in the conference.

Jinni Crouch scored five minutes into the game on an assist from Parker. After the goal by Crouch, the Spartan defense took over.
Spartan goalie Robyn Moreau turned in a fantastic performance, turning away shot after shot by the Eagles. It was the second shutout of the week for Moreau, who registered nine saves.

Varsity girls run at Spingarn in D.C.

by Keith S. Burgess
In 1985, Lake Forest's lady harriers did very well, in the Spingarn Invitational. Senior Kelli Pelton was a first place finisher and the team won the second place trophy. Bad luck, in the form of illness to Melanie Pelton, the No. 1 runner and team leader, dropped the Spartans, a couple of notches, as the locals finished fourth, just behind Central High of D.C.
If Melanie Pelton had been 100%, she would have been in contention for the title won by her sister, last year. Let's hope she has better luck, in 1987. Pelton deserves credit for hanging tough and finishing the grind, as the third Spartan to finish.
Lorraine Lake, a solid No. 2 Spartan, who seems to be improving almost every start, finished the 2.1 miles, in 16:17 and was awarded the ninth place medal.

Stephanie Allen, the irrepressible 14-year-old freshman novice, asks no quarter and gives none. If she can beat you she will, friend or foe alike. Stephanie was the second Spartan, in 17:27. Julie Betts, a sophomore, is in her first harrier year. She is a steady performer and was fourth Spartan, in a good 17:38. Tara Dixon's best 1986 trip was an important part of the fine Lake Forest showing. DeDe Castro and Eve Heterkivi, our Finnish foreign exchange student, ran well. Runners were finishing for several minutes, after the entire Spartan team was in.

Harness Horse News

In the Pocket

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.
Captain Jamie just might be the next Manfred Hanover.
A 4-year-old son of Speedy Crown, the sport's leading trotting sire, Captain Jamie was unraced at two and made the grandtotal of $0 in four starts at age three. But because of his pedigree, he was put into stud service on Prince Edward Island in the Canadian Maritimes, where his parentage got him mares despite his lack of racetrack accomplishment.
Soon, though, Captain Jamie discovered what the racing game was all about under the tutelage of Albert Bernard. He continued to breed mares while trotting to eight in-the-money finishes in nine starts against top competition at Charlottetown Driving Park, finally breaking his maiden on April 24 at the Island oval.
And he hasn't lost since, winning 15 in a row.
Captain Jamie continued in stud service while racing in the Maritimes, where he won 12 straight before shipping stateside for his owners, Barry and Paulette Amodio of New York. The Captain commanded two straight fields at Roosevelt, then moved on to Garden State, where he won his 15th consecutive race on September 24 -- in a nifty 1:57.
So far, he isn't drinking Gatorade. But Captain Jamie, the late-bloomer who's in command in the breeding shed and on the racetrack, may soon find himself traveling in Manfred Hanover's last company.
Saturday at Freehold the final of the Lou Babe Memorial went to Jate Lobell in 1:57.2. This was his 15th in a row and was his last race of the year. Purse was worth $251,500.

At Garden State on Saturday in the Tompkins Geers Stake for 3 year old colt pacers worth $112,998 it was Ambro Emerson for Walter Whelan getting the win.
On Friday at Los Alimatos Forrest Skipper won the Breeders Crown in 1:53.4 for Lubien Fontaine. The time ties a mark for 4 year old pacing horses.
Friday at Garden State in the 3 year old trotting colt race worth $82,000 plus it was Everglade Hanover in 1:58 for Jan Johnson.
In the 2 year old colt pacing stake, there were three divisions worth $75,000 plus it was Simcoe Hanover winning in 1:56.2 for Bill O'Donnell. The 2nd division was won by Redskin for O'Donnell in 1:55.3, and 3rd division was won by Dictionary with John Campbell in the bike in 1:55.4.
On Sunday in the Milton Stake for fillies and mares at Mohawk worth $107,000 plus it was Misty Silver in 1:58 for Bud Fritz.
This week Breeders Crown moves to Canterbury for the 2 year old filly trotters. TV coverage at 8:30 ESPN. And on Saturday at Sportsman's Park in the American National for 3 year old pacing colts and as expected Barbary Spur will be on the grounds...looking for the latest win. At Rosecroft on Saturday in the Colonial for 3 year old colt trotters, Sugar Cane Hanover winner of the Kentucky Futurity is the early favorite.

Milford comes back to beat Spartans

by Mike Dill
The Lake Forest soccer team played 80 minutes of hard nosed soccer, but came up short when the Buc's Matt Caren scored two second half goals to give Milford a 4-2 win.
Milford took an early 1-0 when Mike Collins scored the first of his two goals. The Spartans erased that lead when Jay Green connected on a penalty kick set up when Milford goalie Tim Shockley elbowed the Spartan's Derek Dill.

After Collins scored again before halftime, senior forward Kyle Kelley scored to knot the game at two.
The game between the two hated rivals turned into a tough defensive struggle of slide tackles and great defensive plays.
Walt Lekites and Green both turned in great defensive plays, stopping breakout goals.

Melanie Pelton leads Spartan girls

by Keith S. Burgess
Melanie Pelton seems to be thriving under the stimulus of her 1986 role, as team leader of the Lake Spartan girls' cross-country team.
After a 16th place, in the Lake Forest Invitational and an eighth place finish, at the Salisbury Invitational, she is apparently in good shape, at an early stage of the season.
Melanie clocked a fine 22:17 for 3.1 miles, on Tuesday, running well ahead of her teammates and sliced 65 seconds off her previous mark, despite the lack of competition. Lorraine Lake, who is solidly in the No. 2 spot for Lake Forest was next, with freshman newcomer, Stephanie Allen, getting third and improving by 63 seconds, after Tara Dixon, in fourth, came Sherri Parson, in 27:50 down some two minutes. Eve Heterkivi from Finland made her debut and completed the grind, in fine style.

Against Dover, Melanie Pelton, stayed back with Lorraine Lake, in an effort to help Lake get a better time. With Pelton setting the pace and urging her teammate ahead, Lake lowered her mark from 24 minutes flat to a very good 23:28. Julie Betts and Stephanie Allen also ran together and finished in 25:29 with Tara Dixon next after the first Dover runner. Dover offered only token opposition.

Dawn Kane medals in Spingarn D.C. run

by Keith S. Burgess
Dawn Kane, an eighth grader, was up against tough competition, in Washington, D.C. Saturday. Kane was up against a field that included many high school freshmen. But even worse, Kane hadn't had a race this year. The rivals had probably had several.
Kane trounced many of her older, more experienced rivals and ended up with the ninth-place medal. We knew Dawn was tough, after winning some

Bonita Fisher, in her first start ever for Chipman, showed excellent promise coming across, a minute after Kane, in 13th place, quite an impressive debut. Elaine Zeitler was next. Elaine ran last year and is another good prospect.
Wendee Pardee (17th), Diane Wilson (18th), Jill Blades (22nd) and Crystal Hannum (27th) also contributed, as the girls brought home, a third place team trophy for their school.

Tozer, Spartans 2nd in Spingarn Invitational

by Keith S. Burgess
Five Lake Forest School District cross-country teams, competed in the Spingarn Invitational, in Fort DuPont Park, Washington, D.C. on Saturday. This meet featured teams from New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and Virginia, with the majority coming from the D.C. area. There were many excellent performances, by the locals, as the Lake Forest teams and individuals, ran well all day, especially when the caliber of the opposition, is considered. Lake Forest had to be one of the smallest schools entered but brought home two team trophies and several individual awards.
The Spartan boys won the third place team trophy, in 1985, paced by then sophomore, Mark Tozer's, fourth place finish, in 17:11, for 5,000 meters. This time, Mark improved to 16:48 and finished a strong second, as did his team. He just might win it, in 1987. Senior Eric Payne and sophomore, Mike Eck, had great efforts and won the 7th place and ninth place medals, with clockings of 17:45 and 17:52, respectively. This pair each ran the tough, hilly course, some 40 seconds faster, than they did the easier, flatter home course, at Killen's Pond. Coach Jim Blades' strategy of conserving energy, against Dover, two days earlier, paid off. Also, the local athletes had to be stimulated by the entire scenario, a trip to the nation's capital and the tough, big city competition.

William Deputy, like Eck, is a welcome addition to this year's team. Deputy's performance was also exceptional. He ran 19:02, at Brandywine Creek Park, in Wilmington and ran 18:34, on a course almost as tough Saturday.
Jon Kane had his top trip of the year, as fifth Spartan, Kane was half a minute faster (19:24) than his best home course effort. Steve Clute and Alvin Hudson also did well, in this meet.
Sidwell Friends, a District of Columbia, private school, edged the Spartans, who turned in another top, trophy-winning performance.
Some local fans, friends and parents made the trip and helped cheer on the Lake Forest athletes, on the course and at the finish. It helps.

Lawson leads jayvees in Spingarn

by Keith S. Burgess

Local harness racing fans and there are many hereabouts, know what it means to "throw a shoe".

Sophomore Darren Lawson is one of the brightest of the numerous rookies, on the Lake Forest cross-country team, which is having an exceptional year. And this year was supposed to be a "building year". Darren had a good 20.34 clocking for 3.1 miles, at Killen's Pond. In the Spingarn Invitational Jayvee race, Darren was approaching the finish, when he came to the final 200 yards, which is a steep downhill and is somewhat uneven. Cross-country coaches preach constantly to their charges. "Use that downhill, let the downhill take you down, as fast as possible, without falling on your face." Only a small percentage of scholastic runners do this. At a similar downhill at Brandywine Creek, in Wilmington, we saw several races there. Coaches are screaming, "take off down that hill."

Runners are running bolt upright, heels digging in, slowing the pace, completely nullifying the advantage, that is there for the taking.

Lawson almost literally "flew" down that hill, lost a shoe, but didn't slow up and clocked a swift 19.55, against the 20.34, at home. His time was only eight seconds away from Spartan varsity time Saturday. Most high school runners can't take advantage of the downhill, Darren Lawson can.

Freshman Scott Pierce, 20.55 at home, ran 20.16, at Spingarn, another superb performance, by a "can't-miss" prospect. Terry Donovan was next in 20.47. Terry is coming along nicely. This sophomore reported for the team, several weeks behind the others. Saturday's was only his fourth race, while his teammates were running in their seventh. We feel all he needs is experience to be a tough competitor.

Bobby Hill didn't seem to care too much for cross-country, during pre-season training. But this Sandtown speedster, may have a different story to tell now. Like Stephanie Allen, he will beat you if it's possible. Bobby, a novice also, keeps improving and his 21.16, Saturday was another big step forward, for him, as No. 4 Spartan, to finish.

Another showing steady progress is Roger Collison, who is built like a long-distance runner. Roger did 21.36, 20 seconds faster than on the easier home course.

Darrell Allen, another freshman, ran with a bad blister hampering him, but still ran 21.42, compared to 22 flat at home.

Roy Perry also had a faster clocking Saturday, at Spingarn, than at home.

There is much talent, on this jayvee squad. They will help, as next year's squad seeks to make the proud local boast, of a winning season, come true for the 30th straight autumn.

3-0 Spartans outrun Dover 15-48

by Keith S. Burgess

The Spartans 15-48 triumph was almost a perfect score since only one Dover runner (sixth) was able to crack the top Lake Forest seven runners. Knowing Dover's lack of challengers and that the big Spingarn Invitational, in Washington, D.C. was coming up, two days later, Coach Jim Blades had his best five runners run together at a slower pace, in order to be better prepared, for the D.C. trip.

Mark Tozer (18.88), Wm. Deputy, Mike Eck, Ray Powell and Eric Payne finished within a few seconds of each other. After Hine of Dover came Steve Clute, Alvin Hudson and Jon Kane.

After Dover's second and third finishers came Terry Donovan, Scott Pierce, Billy Walters, Darren Lawson, Bobby Hill and Roger Collison. This sextet, good runners all, are athletes who would enjoy an exalted No. 4 status, at Dover High. All are underclassmen, whose turn in the spotlight will come, some as early as 1987.

Freshmen, with good potential, Doug Thompson and Darrell Allen, outpaced the rest of the finishers, in the on-sided dual-meet victory.

The event was held at Killen's Pond State Park. New personal marks were set by, Jon Kane, Scott Pierce, Bobby Hill and Roger Collison.

Danny Twardus: Is he another Mark Tozer?

by Keith S. Burgess

After some three decades, in this business, this writer thinks he knows talent when he sees it. Another, who can spot this commodity is Chipman coach, Baxter Smith. Several of Smith's former charges are currently, on the high school varsity, which has picked up three trophies in four, multi-team, multi-state, invitationals races this season.

Mark Tozer, a junior at LFHS, would have to at least be in the top five, long-distance runners developed, in this HOTBED of long-distance running, over 30 years of competition. We first saw Mark run on the Chipman team, at Woodbridge, as a 12 year-old seventh grader (birthday, Sept. 17). We know because that's our birthdate too. Mark ran well, finished second behind a strong, Chipman eighth grader, who was 14.

Now comes another protege of Smith's 11 year-old Danny Twardus. This mighty mite, told the starting line, in Washington, D.C. for his first, cross-country race. Several inches under five feet, the little guy looked lost in a forest of high school freshmen, some who towered over the little fellow, looking down at him from a height, in several cases of over six feet. We wonder what they thought? Did they think he should have competed, in the elementary race held earlier? And what did they think when the game speedster passed most of them, on the course? Incredible as it may seem, Twardus was 11th, only one place away, from a medal, as he cruised two and one-tenth miles, in 14.36. His rivals were much older, as old as 15, in some cases and of course, much more experienced.

Is he another Mark Tozer or if not maybe a Chuck Tozer, or a Danny Parker, or a Chris Wetherhold, Chris Palmissano, Chuck Carter, Harry Benson, Harry Knotts, Dennis Rogers, Howard Parker etc. The above listed were former greats here, some were state champions and even a couple of age-group world records were once owned locally.

It's very early, in the embryo career of the Fleet Feltonian, remember his name. We think he will be heard from. Good performances were logged by Brian Bird (28th) and Czar Bloom (29th). Bloom recently won his age division in a 5K race, in Dover.

Steve Cawby and Matt Burrows, finished a second apart, as did Robert Godwin and Robert Crisco, some 25 seconds later. Mark Wix was the final Chipman finisher. There is some talent, in the above octet. Unfortunately, all downstate rivals, have quit, some five schools in all. Perhaps, another start or two can be lined up, hopefully. But they did a real good job, Saturday.

Excellent deer hunting season predicted

The Division of Fish and Wildlife reports the outlook for this year's deer season is again excellent, with the statewide deer population in good condition following a relatively mild winter, a good most year and proper management.

Delaware has an estimated population of 10,000 to 12,000 white-tailed deer. Depending upon the weather, the Division anticipates a total harvest of 2,500.

Hunters can participate in five seasons: bow, early muzzleloader, early shotgun, late shotgun and late muzzleloader. Each hunter may take two deer - one with a shotgun and one with a bow or muzzleloader.

Remaining white-tail bow seasons are Oct. 13-31, Nov. 17-Jan. 10 and Jan. 10-31.

The early muzzleloader season runs statewide from Oct. 9-17.

White-tail shotgun season is Nov. 7-15, statewide.

Late shotgun season is Jan. 12-17, only in New Castle County, north of I-95.

Late muzzleloader season is Jan. 15-17, in New Castle County, south of I-95, Kent and Sussex counties.

A Delaware resident hunting license is $12.50. A non-resident license is $45, with a $25 permit required for deer hunting and trapping.

Hunters should be sure to check the 1986-87 hunting and trapping guide for complete information.

Canvasback hunting season closed

State and federal wildlife officials are urging hunters to avoid accidentally shooting canvasback ducks during the 1986-87 hunting season. Canvasbacks cannot be taken legally in Delaware or any of the other states in the three eastern flyways this year.

For the past three years, the canvasback population in the three affected flyways has been below target levels established by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Habitat losses, drought and predation in the birds' main nesting grounds are the major causes. Hunting may contribute to population declines of canvasbacks and it is believed the closure will help the bird recover more rapidly.

Hunters should improve their ability to identify canvasbacks in flight. The male is a large-bodied duck with a reddish brown head and a black breast and tail. The female has a brown head and breast and her body is darker than that of the male. Both sexes can be distinguished from their more abundant and similar-appearing relative, the redhead duck, by their long, black, wedge-shaped bills and elongated heads which are especially noticeable in flight.

A plan to cut waste

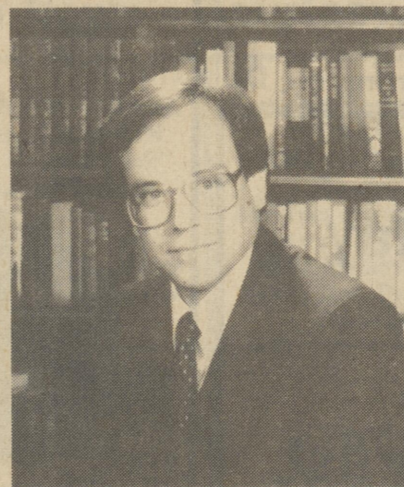

Wasteful government spending practices can erode tax dollars and cost you money. Dennis Greenhouse has a plan to cut waste in State spending.

1. The Hotline program, which has already uncovered over $1 million in mis-spent State money.
2. The Seeker program, to help collect money owed to the state.
3. Uniform inventory and expense policies, for tighter controls over spending.

And then there's his plan for a volunteer Commission to help improve financial management practices in State government. Waste is expensive. You can count on Greenhouse to do something about it.

Georgetown closes season with "Run What You Brung"

by Don Allen

The Georgetown Speedway will wrap up its thrilling 1986 racing season on Saturday, October 18th. The evening's ticket of action, sponsored by "Delaware Country" WDSO-FM94.7 of Dover, De., will feature a 35 lap open competition race on the half-mile, offering $1,500 to the winner and $100 to take the green, plus thrilling features for the Limited Late Models and Street Modifieds.

The only rules for the headlining, "Run What Ya Brung" battle are that the car must weigh 2,500 lbs. with driver and no sprint car chassis are allowed. Last year's edition of this hybrid form of dirt track competition saw the best in Modified and Late Model machines converge on Georgetown, sporting some of the most radical body work imaginable, not to mention engines that were producing well over 600 horsepower. Aerodynamics are the name of the game in a RWYB race and the cars are outfitted with every type of wing and air dam imaginable to help the chassis get the most out of its powerplant. When the thunder of the engines died last year, Craig VonDohren had brought his Keystone Pretzels Modified to the winner's circle with an unofficial track speed record of 20.03 seconds, for an average lap speed of 89.87 miles per hour.

Dennis Hazard and his staff from "Delaware Country" will be on hand to greet the fans and the evening's winners. They will be giving away door prizes throughout the night as well as presenting beautiful AM-FM clock-radio-telephone to the winners of all three features.

The fans can also get in on the fun by sponsoring laps in the 35 lap RWYB feature. Laps are $10.00 each and can be obtained by contacting the speedway office at 1-302-645-5432 or by coming to the scoring tower on racenight.

"Miss Georgetown Speedway", Linda Sanders, making the final appearance of her reign, will be aided in the winner's circle ceremonies by "Miss DIRT Magazine", Tracy Patterson.

Gates for this gala season finale will open at 4:30 p.m. and racing will start at 7:00 p.m.

East Windsor Speedway Late Models get total new look for '87

EAST WINDSOR, NJ—In hopes of revitalizing a faltering racing division, East Windsor Speedway race director Don Jones has put together an entire different rules format for the late model division at his track for the 1987 season. After a fast development in its early stages back in the 1970's car counts and fan interest has fallen off badly in recent times.

Jones figures that giving this entire ranks a completely new look may add new appeal and interest. At the present time dirt track late model racing is facing a tremendous growth in the southern states. Come 1987 the East Windsor Speedway will innovate that southern type appearance into their late models.

Competitors will be allowed to do absolutely anything they wish with the sheet metal body style next season. This includes adding an aerodynamic wing to their cars. That move alone should increase the speeds to what the small block modifieds are now turning at this half-mile clay oval.

In addition, the new late model rules will allow quick change rears, a four barrel carburetor and stock manifolds. Anything else can also be done to the engine as long as it checks out to 345 cubic inches after the race. There will also be no set back limit on the powerplant and any type ignition will be allowed.

What all this boils down to is only the current cubic inch limit ruling will remain in effect. Every thing else will change drastically in the East Windsor Speedway's late model ranks in hopes of even bettering the racing action more at the "Mecca of New Jersey Dirt Track Racing" next year.

The current style late models make their grand finale appearance at this track on Sunday afternoon, October 26th. They will go at it in a big 25-lap feature race that carries with it a double prize.

As usual, it will be the east's finest small block modified stock cars and drivers headlining the last race of one of East Windsor Speedway's most successful campaigns in its colorful 22 year history. A 25-lap main tops their part of this card.

Rounding out the day's activities, which get underway at 1:00 p.m., is a 25-lap street stock feature race. Back on Sunday, October 5th no less than a remarkable 51 street stock racers jammed the pit area as this division continues to grow by leaps and bounds.

Prior to this, on Sunday, October 19th, the third Four Wheel Drive Triple Hill Mud Climb of the season gets underway at 11 a.m. Last month well over 100 four wheelers took to the grueling 450 foot course which the competitors have labeled as hard as any on their circuit. This was a tremendous increase over the initial mud climb truck count lured by an attractive purse of over $6,000 in prize money and beautiful trophies. Pit gates open at 8 a.m. for inspection and registration.

Collis wins third with point race tightening

NAZARETH—Carl Collis picked up his third win of the year Sunday night at the Nazareth Raceway and gained a little ground on point leader Doug Hoffman for the 1986 track title. The title will be decided in the big 200-lapper on Saturday, October 18, a double point show.

On the start of the modified 30-lapper it was second starting Butch Tittle charging to the lead. By the fourth curcuit, Tom Hager moved in to challenge, with Collis and Hoffman next in line. Tittle, in a fine piece of driving, led lap after lap with a three car battle behind him. Hager finally lost second to Collis on lap 11. Sammy Rogers joined the show the next lap by taking Hoffman for fourth.

Tittle survived four restarts and the pressure from the challengers. Hoffman made his move on a 20th lap restart and slipped to third. Tittle finally gave way to Collis on lap 26. Hoffman then worked on Tittle for second in a real crowd pleasing duel. A last lap restart didn't phase Collis as he still hung on for his third win of the year and career win 28. Tittle, in one of his best showings, placed in second followed by Hoffman, Hager, Rogers, Steve Botcher and Scott Kania.

Chris Higgs, driving the Blaine Barry No. 67, found his way back to the winner's circle after a dry spell when he won his fourth 15-lap street stock feature of the year. Higgs grabbed the lead on a eighth lap restart from Ray Ostrander. The finishers were Higgs, Ken Dotter, point leader Barry Kutz, Terry Schweinbinz and Jack Zeiner Jr.

The next big race of the year will be the 200-lap Northeastern Dirt Track Modified Championship on Saturday, October 18. Promoter Jerry Fried passed along the wrong points for the show due to a mix-up. The race will carry double points, not triple as announced by mistake by Fried.

Feature winners: Collis, Tittle, Hoffman, Hager, Rogers, Botcher, Kania, Wismer, Lentini and Pursell.

Elliott offers advice to point leader

ROCKINGHAM, N.C.—Bill Elliott won't pick a favorite in this year's battle for the Winston Cup stock car racing championship.

But he does have a few words of advice for current point leader Dale Earnhardt as the drivers and teams head for the Nationwide 500 October 19th at North Carolina Motor Speedway.

"I don't expect Dale or his car owner, Richard Childress, to lay back at all during these last three races," Elliott said after the Oakwood Homes 500 at Charlotte October 4th.

"The Charlotte race was a true indicator that the team means to do what it said it would -- race every event for the Winston Cup. And it did at Charlotte, coming from two laps behind to win the event in Dale's backyard."

"But they need to continue to do their homework and preparation and not get complacent. I know from experience last year. Bad luck can hit you whether you are in the lead or trying to come from behind," Elliott said.

Last year, it was the Coors/Melling Ford driver involved with Waltrip in the war for the Winston Cup.

"Yeah, I won't ever forget last year," the Georgian drawled. "We had a big lead after Darlington and everyone was telling us we had the title locked. Then came Dover, Martinsville and North Wilkesboro and all of a sudden, instead of being 206 points ahead, we were 30 behind."

"You can have freaky things happen for no reason -- like a broken axle at Dover, a wreck we got caught in the middle of at Martinsville and a broken flywheel at North Wilkesboro. We just got a bad streak of luck."

"The same thing could happen to Dale in these final three races. You can't count Darrell Waltrip out of this yet. He's behind in the points but strange things happen on the race track."

Elliott wouldn't be surprised if neither Waltrip nor Earnhardt won a race the remainder of the year.

"Darrell might win this race at Rockingham. He's won the Nationwide 500 every time he has won the Winston Cup. But there are a bunch of hungry guys out there who are seeing their seasons come down to these last few races and they have yet to win. You KNOW Cale (Yarborough) is wanting a win as is King Richard (Petty). Joe Ruttman and Kyle (Petty) have been streaky -- they've run good enough to win at times and other times they haven't been a factor."

"Neil Bonnett runs well at Rockingham and that team has been solid lately. Geoff Bodine is due to win again -- look at how many races they've led (23 of 26) and they've only won twice. Bobby Allison runs good at Rockingham. Buddy Baker is running good enough to win."

"Ricky Rudd dominated Dover, and that was a one-mile track like Rockingham is. Morgan Shepherd has that Nationwide Pontiac running and that team would like nothing more than to win the race their own sponsor's name is on. Tim Richmond is a strong factor every time he runs. Rusty Wallace runs good enough to win every time out.

"And don't count us out of a victory before the year is over," Elliott reminded.

"You've got 15 teams right there who could easily win Sunday depending on the breaks of the race. And there's probably three or four more I missed."

"Dale may be in the lead right now, but it's not over yet. Points have a habit of disappearing in big chunks when you start reading the papers instead of attending to business at hand — which is racing."

"I don't think that will happen with Childress and Dale. After all, Darrell said they didn't know how to read, so they won't be bothered by what the media says!"

"There's a maximum point swing of 444 points left before the end of the year. When you think about that, Dale's 159 point lead isn't that much," Elliott said. "And 'old D.W.' is going to keep coming at him until the end. You can count on that," Elliott concluded with a wink.

Slim lead separates Waltrip & Elliott for MPD

WINSTON—SALEM, N.C.—Darrell Waltrip and Bill Elliott are fast turning the balloting for the Most Popular Driver Award on the NASCAR Winston Cup circuit into a two-driver affair.

Waltrip holds a slim 173 point lead over Elliott with just over a month left in the voting to determine the Most Popular Driver Award for 1986.

This is the third year that the general public have been able to vote for their favorite driver on the Winston Cup circuit. Before 1984, only NASCAR members were eligible to vote.

Elliott has won the award, sponsored by the National Motorsports Press Association (NMPA), the last two years. The driver who receives the most votes will receive a check for $20,000 from Winston cigarettes at the annual NMPA convention in Charlotte.

In the early balloting, Waltrip has received 1,816 votes compared to 1,643 for Elliott. Richard Petty was third with 1,181 or one more than Tim Richmond.

The official ballot is being placed in most major racing publications, newspapers and in race track programs. Fans can also pick up a ballot from the various fan clubs.

Everyone must use an official ballot and all ballots must be postmarked by November 14.

HPD arrested Ricky Fisher of Harrington for trespassing. Fisher was observed on the steps of the old Harrington Journal and has allegedly been warned several times in the past. Fisher was processed and given future court appearance.

HPD arrested Ricky Fisher again later in the evening for disorderly conduct at Hardees Restaurant. Fisher allegedly was panhandling for money and became abusive to customers in the establishment. Fisher was incarcerated in Delaware Correctional Center in default of bond.

HPD arrested Lee Asbury of Harrington for DUI, fictitious tags, unregistered motor vehicle, driving during revocation, no proof insurance and headlight violation. Asbury was observed southbound on U.S. #13 when stopped and is incarcerated in Delaware Correctional Center in default of bond.

effectiveness of law enforcement, Roth said we need to do more. "I hope Crack Cocaine Awareness Month can be the catalyst to focus the efforts of parents, educators, community leaders and law enforcement professionals to a common goal of eradicating this dangerous drug from our streets," Roth proclaimed.

Roth pointed out that while drug and alcohol use among teenagers has held steady or declined in recent years, the use of and addiction to cocaine and crack has climbed dramatically. "Nothing is more important than preserving the promise of youth from the devastation of drug addiction," he said.

My father's banker in Wichita persuaded him to buy $1,000 worth of marks, to remain on deposit in a German bank in the seaport of Bremen. My father soon received a bank statement crediting him with what was then a substantial number of marks. After that, other statements arrived at regular intervals, their balances always listing certain deductions for the cost of postage, carrying charges, and letters written.

At the same time, the value of the mark was being eroded by the continuing inflation. But American investors were scarcely aware of that. Finally, in 1923, the value of my father's account had become so small that it was a nuisance for the bank. My father was asked to withdraw his balance in full.

As I was about to depart on a student tour of Europe, my father forwarded the statements to me. He asked me to visit the bank on my stopover in Bremen, close out the account, and take the money to use on my tour. Little did my father realize what was going on.

By the time I checked into my hotel in Bremen, the collapse of the German currency was in full swing. The existing currency had been overprinted to raise their denominations by millions or billions of marks. Cities and towns were printing their own paper money, of value only locally and momentarily. Merchants refused to give up their wares for the German paper money that was losing value from minute to minute. Few pedestrians were to be seen, and there was no vehicular traffic at all. The streets of the great seaport were practically deserted. One could walk without fear right down the middle of the street. Business had come to a standstill.

I found the bank, closed my father's account, and received in settlement a few paper notes -- then practically worthless. I placed them in a letter to my father and went to the post office. Several women, each seated behind a large basket of paper money, were officiating. One took my letter, weighed it, and wrote in pencil the amount of postage in the corner of the envelope -- by that time postage stamps were a thing of the past -- and gave me three bills from her basket in change. The postage to mail the letter to my father cost more than the marks in the envelope! Alas, my father's thousand dollar bank account had disappeared with the inflation.

Those three mark notes that I received from the Bremen postmistress many years ago -- a million mark bill issued by the Freie Hansestadt Bremen, a ten million mark bill, and a thousand mark bill overprinted for one billion marks -- have been framed and still hang over my desk, as a reminder that only where government can print paper money, without regard for anything of value, can such a thing happen.

In Memory

IN HER MEMORY
 It's been nine years since we've heard you laugh or watch you smile.

Is it better not to know the last time something special - and yet ordinary occurs? Should it slip away silently, when no one is looking?

God chose your time for leaving us. There's still an emptiness that can't be completely filled, but God left us with sixteen years of memories of Karla - Her lifetime here with us. Remembering those years eases the heartache and makes us thankful for the time He did allow us together. The Langford Family
