Harrington Council plans for decisions from Workshop Meeting

by Harry C. Farrow, Jr.
HARRINGTON. Harrington Council members met in workshop session on Monday night to discuss matters which should be reduced to decisions in the next regular meeting of the Council, which is scheduled for Monday, December 8th.

A matter which has been hanging in limbo for several months is the one involving the 1st National Bank of Maryland, which seeks to contract with the City for a tower to be put in place near the Simmons Cable tower to enable the Bank to send messages and receive them from their Millsboro credit card operation.

Currently the zoning provides for such use for "public utilities", which according to City Solicitor, William W. Walls, Jr., the Bank is not a public utility. Attorneys for the Bank had suggested the term "quasi-utility" in an effort to provide the road for them to come under the zoning definitions in the Harrington Planning and Zoning laws. Mr. Walls had also suggested that the term "accessory uses" be brought into play and define them without being too specific "...but you don't want to be too broad either", he added.

The Bank has indicated in the past in dealing with the City that time might be of the essence so far as getting their footings settled in the ground before the ground freezes, if and when the City approves their request. Mr. Walls said it was his feelings in his discussions with the Bank that sometime in December would be the latest that the Bank could put the footings in the ground.

Discussion took place around the council table in that the agreement for the tower and sending as well as receiving transmissions should be restricted to used by the Bank and not allowing for transmissions where the Bank would be "renting time" on the tower to other companies. It was suggested and affirmed by Solicitor Walls that in those cases the City should be compensated over and above the normal fee under the lease with the Bank.

It was also suggested at about this point in the meeting that entirely too much time was being spent discussing matters such as this with out-of-state companies when in fact, the Council should have a set of rules "...go by them and stick with them. Those corporations who are then seeking a decision on matters such as this can get an answer sooner".

The results of a traffic study were made known on Monday night involving the use of an "alley" which connects Clark and Liberty Streets directly behind Meredith's Garage and the Exxon Service Station at the intersection of US 13 and Delaware Route 14. Traffic west bound on Clark St. have been making a turn onto the dirt alley, which takes them over to Liberty St. and the new shopping center (Liberty Plaza). A member of the State Highway Department had suggested following the traffic survey that the alley be paved and moved further west to be directly opposite the alley which runs alongside the Hi-Grade Dairy.

Councilman Temple made remarks which indicated that on a vote at the next council meeting he would be opposed to doing anything with the alley. "It doesn't make sense to spend money on something as needless as this. We would have to have a survey, which would be very costly and it would involve a large expenditure for acquisition of land and the survey would not be cheap.

Councilman Jarrell urged the Council to have a survey made "...which of course would tell us exactly where the alley is located. How else would we know what we are dealing with here".

"Say No To Drugs" day was kicked off last Wednesday with 500 posters displayed throughout Lake Forest High School to remind Students to say "No" to drugs. Students also participated in the Great American Smokeout program on Thursday. Photo by David Dill

Brandy Markland wins local Hugh O'Brian

Brandy Markland, a sophomore at Lake Forest High School, has been selected to represent Lake Forest at the State of Delaware Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation Seminar April 24-26, 1987 at the Sheraton Inn in Dover, Delaware. All Lake Forest sophomores were invited to compete for the Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation Program. A committee of Lake Forest High School staff members selected the winner.

The Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation brings together a select group of high school sophomores with demonstrated leadership qualities and a group of distinguished leaders in business, education, government and the professions. The participants get a realistic look at what makes America great and a better understanding of our nation's role in the world community.

Two of the Delaware participants will be selected to attend the Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation International Leadership Seminar at the University of Denver from July 31 - August 8.

Brandy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Frunzi in Felton.

School Referendum set for March 10

Officials at Lake Forest School District report that, when voters go to the polls on March 10, 1987, they will be deciding only on a decision to support a bond issue for major capital improvements.

Due to a technical point in Delaware Law, District officials are unable to request for an increase in the current expense rate which would be needed to support teachers' salaries.

"Title 14 Section 1917 of the Delaware

Code restricts school districts from realizing more than a ten percent gain in monies as a result of reassessment," explained District Superintendent, Dr. James H. VanSciver. "Kent County will, this year, go through a reassessment which will result in a reduction of the tax rate in order to not realize more than a ten percent increase.

Councilman Wyatt said a survey would be far too expensive. Councilman Jarrell said "...you (Councilman Wyatt) at the last meeting had suggested we tar and chip certain alleys...one of which is near this one. How are you going to tar and chip if you don't know where they are located. You must have known something in order to render this estimate."

City Manager, George Volenik, said he was able to give the contractors the figures by doing measurements from maps...not from field notes.

In another matter which drew sharp criticism from Mayor Mann was a proposal by Perdue plant in Felton to contract with the City to dump their food wastes in the treatment plant at Harrington. City Manager, George Volenik, made the proposal to the council based on talks with Perdue. Mr. Volenik in response to Council Temple's request "why would we be interested in this sort of thing."

Mr. Volenik said "purely from the standpoint of making money for the City". Mayor Mann said the Council would be asking for trouble despite what tests reveal "because food wastes are the hardest to deal with and with needed maintenance at our plant plus the results being that grease would lodge in our ponds, which will become stagnant and the smell will be very bad. I know because I have been through this and I am talking from my experience". "It will be a dirty, stinking mess...but this is a decision Council must make", he added.

Council Temple said "I don't think it is worth it...and if you want to know how I will vote at the next regular meeting, it will be against this plan".

Mr. Volenik read aloud a letter from the corporate heads at Simmons Cable TV concerning the issue of whether Simmons could join the lease and franchise terms together was resolved by simply stating that the agreement gives Simmons this authority without seeking prior approval from the Council. Simmons apparently agrees with this as well by virtue of the letter which Mr. Volenik read.

Another important matter which is surely to surface again at the regular meeting is the matter of an alarm system at the pumping station. The discussion centered around what kind of alarm system would be best and most economical. The suggestion was made that telephone beeping system be used. Councilman Jarrell objected to this due to the expense involved. "In this situation you would have to pay a person beeper time to carry the beeper around and if this person was out of range of the informing system that person would not know...because he could not be reached. So this system would not work...and it would be extremely expensive," added Mr. Jarrell.

Granted it is something which must be taken care of, but how and with the least expense involved. Mr. Temple suggested some kind of a siren going off with townspeople notifying the City authorities. Someone said they might not be able to reach any of the City employees or council people. Mr. Jarrell said he could be reached and would be glad to take on this responsibility for the citizens of the community which he serves.

STORYTIME AT THE HARRINGTON PUBLIC LIBRARY

On Tuesday, November 18, the Harrington Public Library enjoyed a visit by Mrs. Dorothy Furches, a children's librarian with the Sussex County Department of Libraries.

Mrs. Furches was a guest storyteller for the Library's regular Tuesday afternoon Storytime. The visit was in honor of National Children's Book Week, which was November 17 to 23.

Storytime at the Harrington Public Library is every Tuesday at 1:30.

"For that reason, we are unable to hold a referendum for equalization. We will still be explaining the major cap needs in our district and are confident that our citizens will help us meet them through referendum on March 10."

Teachers' salaries are still a top priority. The district's officials are anticipating a referendum for current expenses possible in the fall of 1987. "It certainly is no secret that our teachers deserve more money,"

VanSiver continued. "I feel that our Board is committed to this; our citizens have expressed a desire for it, we're looking for a date possibly in the fall."

District Board members, administrators and teachers learned of the situation last week and have set December 4 for an organization meeting for the major cap referendum. The meeting is set for 7:00 p.m. at the Lake Forest High School cafeteria.

EVEN SANTA COULD HAVE FORGOTTEN!
All our Christmas Club members who started saving last season with one of our Peoples Bank Christmas Club accounts were very happy when they received their savings checks. All year long, they've set aside a little money each week or each month, money that's been earning interest from the day of deposit to the day of withdrawal. That's like getting a Christmas present every day!
If you're one of those lucky people who have planned ahead, we know you can count on a very good holiday this season. But, if you're not, then we suggest you open a Christmas Club account here and now for your Christmas 1987 holiday shopping.
Remember, even Santa could have forgotten, but we'll bet he'll stop by real soon to open a 1987 Christmas Club account for next year's gift giving needs. Don't you miss out either; join the Peoples Bank Christmas Club '87 now!

Announcing a wonder rate on loans for homeowners.

5.9%*

Tax reform makes our wonder rate more wonderful.

After all the money you've invested in your home, Mellon Bank has come up with a great way for your home to pay you back at an astonishing rate.

It's the Mellon Home Equity Personal Credit Line at a mere 5.9 Annual Percentage Rate. This rate will be guaranteed for 90 days from the date your account is opened.

The equity in your home can still shelter you from some taxes.

The interest on home equity credit lines, or at least a portion of it, will be one of the few deductions remaining under the new tax law. Which makes our wonder rate even more wonderful.

With our 5.9% wonder-rate home equity personal credit line, you can write loans when you need them just by writing checks on your credit line account.

You can even use your low-rate credit line to consolidate all your other loans and then make one low payment instead of many. But whatever you use your credit line for, you only pay interest on the amount you borrow. But don't wait. This offer is good for a limited time only.

To take advantage of this special offer or for more information, visit any Mellon office, call Mellon at 1-800-323-7105 or mail in the coupon.

With a Mellon Personal Credit Line you spend less time borrowing money and more time enjoying it. That, after all, is what quality banking is all about.

Governor nominates Holland for Supreme Court

Governor Castle has nominated Georgetown lawyer Randy J. Holland for appointment to the Supreme Court of Delaware. If confirmed, Holland will succeed Associate Justice John J. McNeilly, whose term expired on October 25 and who retired on October 31.

Holland, 39, is a member of the law firm of Morris, Nichols, Arsh & Tunnell and is that firm's Resident Partner in its Georgetown office. A graduate of Milford High School, Holland received his undergraduate degree in economics from Swarthmore College and his law degree from the University of Pennsylvania, where he graduated with honors in 1972. He was admitted to practice law in Delaware the same year.

Holland, a Republican, has served in numerous public and professional offices. He is a member of the Board of Bar Examiners, a member of the Superior Court's Civil Rules Advisory Committee, a Director of the Delaware Bar Foundation, and a member of the Board of Editors of "Delaware Lawyer". From its inception in 1977 until earlier this year, Holland was a member of the Judicial Nominating Commission, and, at various times, served as its Secretary and as Chairman. In 1983 he was a delegate from Delaware to the Judicial Conference of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit. Holland also is author of a chapter in the Delaware Supreme Court Appellate Handbook, and currently serves as Secretary of the Court Consolidation Committee.

Active in the community, Holland is Chairman of the Administrative Board for the Avenue United Methodist Church, which he also serves as Lay Leader and member of the Board of Trustees. He is a Trustee of the Peninsula Conference of the United Methodist Church. For many years he has been legal counsel to the Board of Directors of the Milford Memorial Hospital, and from 1974-81 he served as City Solicitor for the City of Milford. Holland also is active in the Milford Little League program as a coach and manager.

A Milford resident, Holland is married and has a son.

Although the Delaware Constitution provides that members of the Supreme Court may hold over in office 60 days following the expiration of their terms, Justice McNeilly retired from the bench effective October 31. After consulting with the leadership of the State Senate, the Governor intends to call for a special session to consider his nomination of Holland.

Organ transplant drive — Boy Scouts newest good turn

The need for human organ and tissue transplant donations will be the focus of a nationwide appeal to be conducted this fall by the Boy Scouts of America.

A grant of $400,000 to underwrite the program will come from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, Michigan and substantial additional support is being provided by Dow Chemical Company.

The Good Turn, requested by President Reagan, will involve up to 1.5 million youth volunteers from Boy Scout troops, Varsity Scout teams, and Explorer posts.

Each will discuss organ and tissue donation with his or her own family and four other households in the neighborhood. In addition, BSA youth members will distribute literature and donor cards.

The goal will be to encourage family members to tell their next-of-kin their personal wishes relative to donation if they are involved in an accident resulting in their death.

"We expect to reach up to six million American families," Chief Scout Executive Ben Love said. He noted that last year over 17,000 American lives were lost due to a shortage of donated human tissue and organs.

The campaign will run through the end of the year. A report will be given to President Reagan in Washington during the 1987 Scouting Anniversary Week celebration next February.

Milford Chamber of Commerce changes organizational structure

The Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce of Milford unanimously approved a resolution on November 18th, to change their organizational structure, and have named Mr. Jack A. Nylund, their Chief Executive Officer, as the President of the organization.

The 18 member board of the Chamber will consist of the Chairman of the Board, six vice chairmen and a Treasurer.

Following the meeting, the directors congratulated Mr. Nylund on a job well-done over the last ten years and praised him for his efforts on behalf of the community of Milford and southern Delaware.

Delaware Extension hires vegetable assistant

Lori A. Rider of Bridgeville recently joined the extension staff at the University of Delaware Research and Education Center in Georgetown as an extension vegetable assistant.

Rider, who received a B.S. degree in agriculture from Cornell University in 1981, will help specialist Ed Kee conduct variety trials on watermelons, cucumbers, broccoli, peppers and potatoes. She will also assist with herbicide trials on lima beans at the center's experimental farm. Her duties will include all phases of the trials from planning, planting and harvest to computer analysis of the data.

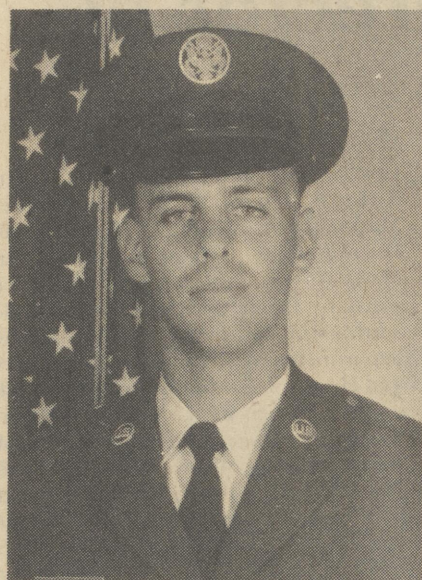

While attending college, Rider spent three summers as a crops technician in charge of pesticide treatments at the Agway Farm Research Center in New York. She has also worked on herbicide development at Monsanto Agricultural Chemicals and managed an agricultural equipment leasing office for Telmark, Inc., which covered 24 counties in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

After moving to Delaware, Rider worked briefly at the Georgetown Research and Education Center collecting and organizing vegetable research data before becoming a soil conservationist for the Sussex Conservation District from November 1985 to August 1986. Her extension appointment became effective in October.

Rider and her husband Robert operate a five-acre vegetable farm in Bridgeville.

A Christmas Carol: A ghost of an idea

"A Christmas Carol" by Charles Dickens has been a part of many imaginations since it was first published in 1843. One-hundred and forty-three years later the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council, The Community Players of Salisbury, Inc., and the Wicomico Performing Arts Association are pleased to rekindle the spirit represented by this classic tale when "A Christmas Carol" is performed live in Salisbury on December 12, 13 and 14, 1986.

In 1841, Charles Dickens has been writing with enormous success for eight years but by 1843, success was waning and bills were piling up. To support a growing family Dickens was forced to produce a story quickly. It also had to be guaranteed to sell. In October, 1843, he began work on a Christmas story and by the end of November, "A Christmas Carol" was born ironically out of the very need and greed it cautioned against.

And the plot? Dickens lifted that almost entirely, including Tiny Tim, from Mr. Wardle's tale in "The Pickwick Papers." Even the title "A Christmas Carol" was taken from Mr. Wardle's song.

Because Dickens' financed the publication of "A Christmas Carol" independently and he insisted on expensive binding and illustrations, his book was not the monetary success he had hoped. But what had started out as a cold-blooded money maker, changed Dickens' own nature and his image before the world. For better or worse, "A Christmas Carol" linked Charles Dickens with Christmas forever. When we say "Merry Christmas" we are simply quoting Charles Dickens!

To purchase tickets, stop by the Arts Council office in the Civic Center or mail a check to SWAC, P.O. Box 881, Salisbury, Md. 21801.

All performances will be held at Wicomico Senior High School and time are Friday 8:15 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday 2:15 p.m.

Delaware Choral Society to present Christmas concert

A Christmas concert will be presented by the Delaware Choral Society on Sunday afternoon December 7 at 4:00 p.m. in the Presbyterian Church of Dover, S. State and Reed Streets. The program will consist of Bach Cantata 150 and a series of unusual and interesting Christmas carols interspersed with readings of passages from the Bible.

The conductor is Dr. Peter J. McCarthy of Newark and the assistant conductor is Catherine Crusco of Dover. Accompaniment will be by the Delaware Chamber Ensemble consisting of violins, cello, bass, bassoon and organ. Paul Francisco, age 13 will be the treble soloist.

There is an admission charge. Tickets will be available at the door.

Sussex Libraries to feature a Scandinavian Christmas

A Scandinavian Christmas will be the theme for Sussex County libraries this 1986 season. The Sussex County Department of Libraries Children's Services, along with the Cultural Awareness Council, will present a Scandinavian Christmas Program at several county libraries. Legends of Juletome, Julenisse, elves, trolls, and gnomes, nature emphasis, a wonderful World War II occurrence involving a Scandinavian tree are among the tidbits of information.

Mr. Joseph Conaway, Sussex County Administrator, will be featured as Santa Claus at the December 18 Bridgeville Library presentation.

An exciting activity will be writing letters to Santa in the countries of Finland and Denmark. The Denmark Santa will send a copy of a Hans Christian Anderson fairy tale. Should a child desire the address, he or she must consult the nearest public library.

Slaughter Beach Celebration

The Town of Slaughter Beach will join the statewide celebration marking the year-long observance of the ratification of the U.S. Constitution by the State of Delaware with an Open House in the Memorial Fire Company Firehouse, Bay Avenue, Slaughter Beach on Sunday, December 7th, from 1 to 4 p.m.

The program, to which all are invited, will feature Memorial Fire Company members presenting displays of trucks and personnel equipment.

Refreshments will be served during the afternoon by the Women's Auxiliary for all.

The Women's Auxiliary will have homemade baked goods, soup and arts and crafts for sale.

Delayed Retirement Credits

by I.S. Levitt, District Manager Social Security Administration, Dover

Social Security pays full retirement benefits at 65 or a reduced amount as early as 62. People, however, can get an extra "bonus" if they decide to delay retirement past 65.

Here is how individuals earn delayed retirement credits of 1/4 of 1 percent for each month from 65 through 69 that no benefit is paid due to work. This amounts to 3 percent a year. Benefit will be permanently increased by that percentage when it is finally paid.

The current maximum credit is 15 percent for someone who receives no benefits at all until 70. Credits cannot be earned after 70 because benefits can be paid from that point on regardless of earnings. However credits earned before 70 continue to supplement the benefit.

In addition, your benefit could be even higher for two reasons. First, your benefit rate will be increased to keep pace with the cost of living. Second, your additional earnings from 65 through 69 may result in a higher benefit.

For more information about Social Security benefits and delayed retirement credits, call the Dover Social Security Office.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Eric Wise

Kenton - Wise wed

Linda Ann Kenton and J. Eric Wise were married September 27, in Asbury Methodist Church, Harrington. The ceremony was conducted by Reverend William Dore and Father Tom Reese.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel C. Kenton of Harrington. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. William A. Wise, also of Harrington.

The bride wore a lovely white satin gown featuring a high collar of venise lace and a V'd neckline of illusion. Long fitted sleeves were adorned with lace cut-outs of embroidery and elegant scalloped edging. A crown of venise lace and pearls was chosen as the bridal headpiece. She carried fresh white lillies, white fuchsia, white roses and white stephanotis.

The matron of honor was Susan

Kenton, sister of the bride. The bridesmaids were Rose Kibler, sister of the bride, of Milford and Christi Wise, sister of the groom.

The best man was Ben Wise, brother of the groom, of Chestertown, Maryland. Ushers were Todd Wise, brother of the groom, Tony Kibler of Milford and Robert Kenton, brother of the bride.

Flowergirl was Miss Andrea Short, cousin of the groom, of Dover. Ringbearer was Master Aaron Kibler, nephew of the bride, of Milford.

Guest book attendant was Miss Brie Ann Knox, of Harrington.

A reception was held at The Colony Inn, Milford. Following a honeymoon trip to Atlantic City the couple are making their home in rural Caroline County Maryland, near Goldsboro.

Gab Fest by Pat Hatfield

Greenwood is a sleepy little country town, and usually, I expect its loyal citizens think that nothing much happens here. From time immemorial people have been amazed to discover diamonds on their doorstep.

I don't know how many of our readers are familiar with the magazine called "Country People." When I opened my copy of an Autumn issue I was astonished and delighted to find a big article about our own Elmer's Market, outside of Greenwood. There were pictures of their Halloween decorations and a story about the Hamsteads and their business. They feature "pumpkin families" and pumpkin Mother Goose characters and pumpkin dolls, and there is a humorous contest going on that offers all the pumpkins you can carry in your arms for a price. All of this was well worth a visit and delighted the child within all of us.

Now that the Christmas season is approaching, my friends have been urging me to make a special trip out to Elmer's Market to see the Christmas display. We made it yesterday and it is truly a trip to Fairyland.

We stood fascinated with the lovely trees, all decorated. There were red ones and green ones and gold and silver. My favorite was a white and silver, all white with silver tinsel and balls. Dad's favorite was next to it...a green tree with white decorations...white angels, paper lace doilies, white doves...breathtaking.

I understand that you may buy the tree decorated as it is, or you may purchase a tree and select your own decorations.

Along with the children, we watched the automatic toys doing their thing...Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus, dolls, animals.

You may also buy old fashioned candies like you had in the long ago, done up in small packages...pink, white and chocolate coconut bonbons, chocolate covered nuts, old-fashioned chocolate drops, nonpareils, etc.

Of course we can never leave that fascinating place without a purchase. We came home with a huge head of snowy white cauliflower, at a very good price. I had it with cheese sauce for our dinner. Since our turnips did not mature, we bought some turnips also. The broccoli and brussel sprouts were perfection, too.

Thanksgiving is almost here, and we have a special reason to celebrate this year. It also falls on Dad's birthday, the 27th and he will be 87 years old. The day before the icy cold, he brought in two huge buds of his favorite rose, the dark, red, "Mr. Lincoln". And our dear friend and minister, Michael Russell, brought him a pumpkin cream pie, and also included one for me since my birthday is tangled up with the holidays also. Truly our cup runneth over with love.

Thanksgiving
With humble hearts we bow our heads
To thank Thee Lord for daily care,
And for this feast of good things spread,
In which we're privileged to share.

Now thinking back upon the year,
We trust our acts merit thy praise,
But in our hearts there lurks a fear
That we have failed in many ways.

Still Lord, in spite of failures sore,
It seems that you've been pleased to serve
Us blessings rich, so many more
Than we can feel that we deserve.

And as a new year drops its days
Into our laps, teach us to care,
And with our blessings learn thy ways,
So that less favored ones may share.

Then as our faces homeward turn,
Grant us another blessing dear,
The one for which we fondly yearn,
To meet again the coming year.
A Happy Thanksgiving to all. We have so much to be thankful for.

Milford downs Spartans

Bucs win Bell for first time since 1980

by Mike Dill

Milford High School used a rock like defense to hold Lake Forest to 55 yards of total offense as the Bucs won the "Battle of the Bell" for the first time in six years.

Milford ended their season with a 3-7 record, their highest win total since 1980. The Spartans finished their season with a 1-8-1 record, the first losing season at Lake Forest since the same 1980 season.

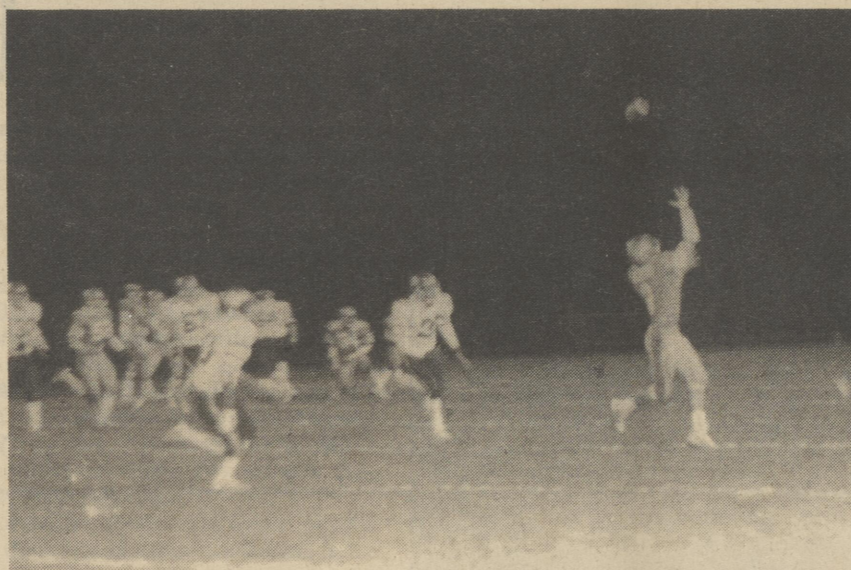

Milford started their quest for the Bell when the Bucs to a 8-0 halftime lead. Kelly Pracz, Milford's huge defensive tackle, recovered halfback Carl Young's fumble at the Spartan 25 yard line. Milford moved the ball to the 16 yard line, where Buccaneer quarterback David Dill fired a touchdown pass to end Scott Jackson. Halfback William Horsey added the two point conversion with a run.

Milford added another touchdown late in the third quarter when Milford halfback Lonnie Akins, who rushed for 119 yards, scored from 19 yards out. Akins score was set up by a fumble by Spartan halfback Wendell Watson. Dill booted the ball through the upright to give Milford a 15-0 lead.

On the ensuing kickoff, the Spartans put their only points on the scoreboard when Carl Young returned the kick 80 yards for a score and cut the lead to nine points.

Milford added an insurance touchdown in the fourth quarter when Akins added another touchdown with a five yard run to clinch the victory.

Local bowhunter, Eric Wise, takes trophy buck

Eric Wise

Eric Wise, son of Mr. & Mrs. William Wise of Harrington, took what appears to be a record-book whitetail buck on November 15th near his home in rural Caroline County Maryland.

Wise's big deer weighed 205 lbs. and was bagged with bow and arrow. The ten-point rack, upon initial measurement, scored 125½ points using the Pope and Young scoring system. POope and Young's record book recognizes outstanding specimens of world-wide big game taken by hunters using bow and arrow. Scoring is accomplished through measurement formulas for specific game species. Whitetail deer are rated using combined antler measurements. Symmetrical racks score high, as deductions from raw scores are made for irregular size and shape between left and right sides of antlers.

The buck fell after running 30 yards from point of impact. Wise placed his arrow to a vital area with a 40 yard hit from his compound bow. Wise was still hunting from a stand at the time of the successful shot.

Lake Forest lunch program participation highest in State

Figures released recently by the Department of Public Instruction indicate that Lake Forest School District's school lunch program had the highest participation in Delaware for the 1985-86 school year. "This means," explained District Supervisor of Food Service Janice Hinzman, "that the ratio of student enrollment to the number of students participating in the lunch program is 79.5 percent. The state participation average is 56.7 percent. "The success of the program," Hinzman continued, "can be attributed to dedicated teamwork, a willingness to try new ideas and a firm belief in preparing and serving food our staff is proud of."

The food service staff prepares an average of 2,482 student meals per day. Approximately 60 percent of district staff also purchase meals.

Kent Vo-Tech students help county get ready for Bicentennial Horticulture Students at Kent Center in Woodside spent their whole Saturday recently (November 13th) planting 2000 tulip bulbs at the County Courthouse in Dover. The bulbs flower next spring, they will help beautify the historic area for the thousands expected for Delaware's Bicentennial Celebration in 1987.

The Court House grounds will have two Betsy Ross flags in red, white and blue tulips twelve feet long and six feet wide, with thirteen stars for the original thirteen colonies. In addition, students

Dr. VanSciver to speak at Principals Conference

Officials at Lake Forest School District report that Superintendent Dr. James H. VanSciver has been invited to present at the National Association of Secondary School Principals 71st Annual Convention in February.

The five-day program, expected to attract thousands of secondary school administrators, is scheduled for San Antonio, Texas.

VanSciver's program, entitled "School Crises - A Real Ordeal" outlines steps for building level administrators to take when faced with a major crisis in the school. Attention is given to dealing with the press and community, minimizing disruption in the school and providing for the humanizing aspects with respect to staff and students.

With a variety of topics published and presented in his past, VanSciver most recently had two articles published in NASSP's Student Activities. "How to Plan a Talent Show" appeared in the October issue and "Drafting a Student Council Constitution" was published in November. "Athletic Accountability: Promote the Program" appeared in the November NASSP Bulletin.

Lake Forest referendum meeting set for Dec. 4

Anyone interested in working on Lake Forest School District's referendum program is invited to an organizational meeting scheduled for Thursday, December 4, at 7:00 p.m., at the Lake Forest High School cafeteria.

Contact district superintendent Dr. James H. VanSciver at 398-3244 for more information.

Lake Forest students view planets

Second and sixth grade students at Lake Forest South Elementary in Harrington will have a unique opportunity December 9. Dr. Patrick Gleeson, a Physics and Astronomy professor at Delaware State College, will visit the school to present a Space Science lesson. Students will learn firsthand how a high-powered telescope works and receive background data on the solar system. Special emphasis will be given to Jupiter, Mars and the Moon. Students will return to the school parking lot in the evening (second graders and parents - 6:00 p.m.; sixth graders and parents - 7:00 p.m.) to view the stars and planets through the telescope.

According to Dr. Gleeson, students should have an excellent view of the Moon, and the planets Jupiter and Mars. The combined motion of these two planets and the motion of the Earth gives the effect of Mars chasing after Jupiter. On December 9, they should appear to be close together. Every successive evening, Mars will get closer to Jupiter and will actually seem to catch up to and pass Jupiter on December 19, 1986. This foot race is only apparent, but nevertheless, provides a great opportunity for children to observe the presence of planets, and the very special motion they describe in our solar system. In addition, the Moon is always spectacular through the telescope. The lunar topography, characterized by craters, flatlands, mountain ranges, etc. is extremely clear and easily observed.

Lake Forest South Elementary second and sixth graders are excited about this opportunity. South Elementary Principal, Earl Griffin commends Dr. Gleeson, who has two children attending the school, and Delaware State College for their efforts in support of the students.

Harrington Senior Center Still Young at 19

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

HARRINGTON — It all started in July of 1967.

The first Director of the Harrington Senior Center was Mrs. Herman (Mildred) Minner. In the first year of its organization the members...67 strong then met three days a week in the Harrington New Century Club on Dorman Street.

Mrs. Edgar (Gladys) Hill who was one of the original members commented this week, as she hurriedly ate her lunch preparing to join her fellow members for a sing-a-long at a nursing home or hospital in some nearby community, "we brought in covered dishes at first so we could have our meals as we made our ceramics. We only had one kiln at the time. So in our spare time we played games to pass the time." Today, the Center has a Jolly Timers Band which has about 20 members and Senior Sounds Chorus, which also boasts around 20 people.

Shortly after that first year, although the accounts are rather sketchy, The Harrington Senior Center moved from the Century Club to their present location on Fleming Street. This was sometime in 1969. They acquired the property which was the home of "Doc" Downs who operated a drug store for many years in the area near the present location of Burton's Sport Shop.

The second director became Mrs. Angelia Johnson. That was approximately 1970 according to some remaining few who were present at that time. There were several women who were members of the Center, who in their day had been outstanding cooks. Mrs. Gladys Hill was in the forefront here and she was joined by Mrs. Ann McWilliams in the kitchen, which became one of the hallmarks of the Center.

Meals were prepared, and the membership grew. If for no other reason, good food and meals were being prepared at the Center. Word traveled fast and the membership grew just about at the same speed.

Through money raised from the meals and bazaars, they have two a year, one at Christmas and Spring, where beautiful handmade items are donated for sale to raise money to help operate the Center and assist in the Building Fund. How they raise money!!!

The members of the Center have been used to work and some very hard work for all of them dated back to the turn of the century when life was tough, and you had to keep moving to survive. So with this theme of life instilled in them, they set out on a very successful course.

They raised enough money to put on an addition in 1971, just a few years following their inception. What quick success they enjoyed and what praise other members of the community bestowed on them. All stood in awe of these proud community builders.

It put life back in the old town, which had been lacking for so many years. They prospered and their prosperity became contagious.

Although the Center still continues, many of the old programs, many new ones have been put in place. The meals are no longer prepared at the Center (but this offers time for other things). "We get our meals now from Modern Maturity Center in Dover, Bob (Bonniwell) sees to it that we receive our meals now," said Mrs. Hill.

Mr. Bonniwell is a native of Harrington.

The Harrington Senior Center has the means to store food in large refrigerators and ranges to keep food warm. This is how it is done today.

The Center continues the service of carrying food to the "home bounders". "We always had this service. In the beginning, Jennie Morris would carry me around in her car, and I would carry the food to the home bounders," said Mrs. Hill.

The meals seem to have been the center of the Center's growth down through the years. Following Mrs. Hill and Mrs. McWilliams, Mrs. Marion Moore, a well known cook and caterer in Harrington took over the cooking chores. "She cooked I guess for about 10 years," added Mrs. Hill.

The Harrington Senior Center has been a welcomed addition to the community. It has been a beacon of goodwill, "...and good advertisement for the community," one member added.

The Center now boasts 902 members as of this week. The list keeps growing. The Center keeps growing with more and more members and more and more programs.

The "Out Reach" program came into play more when meals were no longer originated in the Center. It has allowed more and more time for members to get out and spread the word about the Center.

Today the Center is reaching more and more people in and outside the community. The Center offers Medicare and Blue Cross assistance every Wednesday. Representatives from Blue Cross, Social Security and the Insurance Commissioner's office attend the Center regularly conducting seminars, and solving whatever problems our senior members of the community have.

They offer free flu shots through the State of Delaware very able public health service, which is just one of the nice health programs. They also offer free diabetic screening. They offer the assets of the Nemours Clinic program which renders 100% payment for drugs, glasses, and health care based on age, marital status and income. They have a Blood Bank group, which means they donate their blood once or twice a year.

The Center processed over 100 food applications for people in need of food assistance this year, and they participate in commodity distribution once a month for people 60 or older.

Where do they find the time and the energy to complete these long lists of responsibilities?

With all this they still find time to relax and travel. They offer one day trips to several days. The Center recently got up a trip to Alaska. Can you imagine that? Some of us youngsters haven't been too far from the Delaware shores, let alone Alaska!

There have been three additions to the Center since 1970. The recent addition now includes the new dining hall at the Center and a parking lot. The property cost $10,000 which they have paid for through fund raisers.

They are workers, because some time way, way back they learned how to work and assume responsibilities. It is ingrained in them. No wonder they have been successful.

The building fund was begun in 1983 for the latest addition (the dining hall). "We received $50,000 from the Community Block Program and the remainder of $34,900 was raised through fund raisers...like the square foot club (where square feet were sold in the new building) and the bazaars", said Gene Price, the current Director of the Center.

Mr. Price said they have short and long range plans for the Center. They have raised enough money to enlarge the men's and women's restrooms which will cost $5,000. "We want to constantly make plans for expansion. We hope to have a small downstairs office, expand the recreation area so that we can put in a shuffle board and increase the size of the crafts area," said Mr. Price. "We want to keep projects going. There is a plan to pave the new parking area to the rear of the new addition. So the Center will continue to grow and this is a good outlook for the members of the Center to see things happening and growing before them", added Mr. Price.

The Center has daily planners. On Monday, there is Bible studies carried on each week by a different member of a Harrington Church. On Tuesdays, there is band practice. Wednesday the chorus practices. Thursday, there is the making of crafts, and Fridays bridge club meets. Blood pressure screening is also held on Fridays. "So there is something going on each day each week," said Mr. Price.

Over 80 volunteers help out in the kitchen and dining areas. Velma Chism and Addie Crewe are regulars. There is a permanent staff on hand to render assistance starting with the Executive Director Gene Price, Susan Welch, Center Aide, Mrs. Pat Weaver, receptionist and Mrs. Debbie Cain in Out Reach and nutrition.

Once old age was a dreaded thing. In Harrington it is a thing of the past. Is it any wonder why people in Harrington hope for old age...? Why of course, so they can join the Harrington Senior Center. A wonderful organization for the community of Harrington composed of hard working people who get the job done. The real leaders of the community.

Lot's of sunshine to The Harrington Senior Center.

Richmond wins Riverside, Rudd loss very costly

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. -- A $1 lug nut cost Ricky Rudd $30,000 and a cloud of dust knocked Harry Gant off the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel stage as the 1986 Winston Cup season came to a conclusion at Riverside International Raceway.

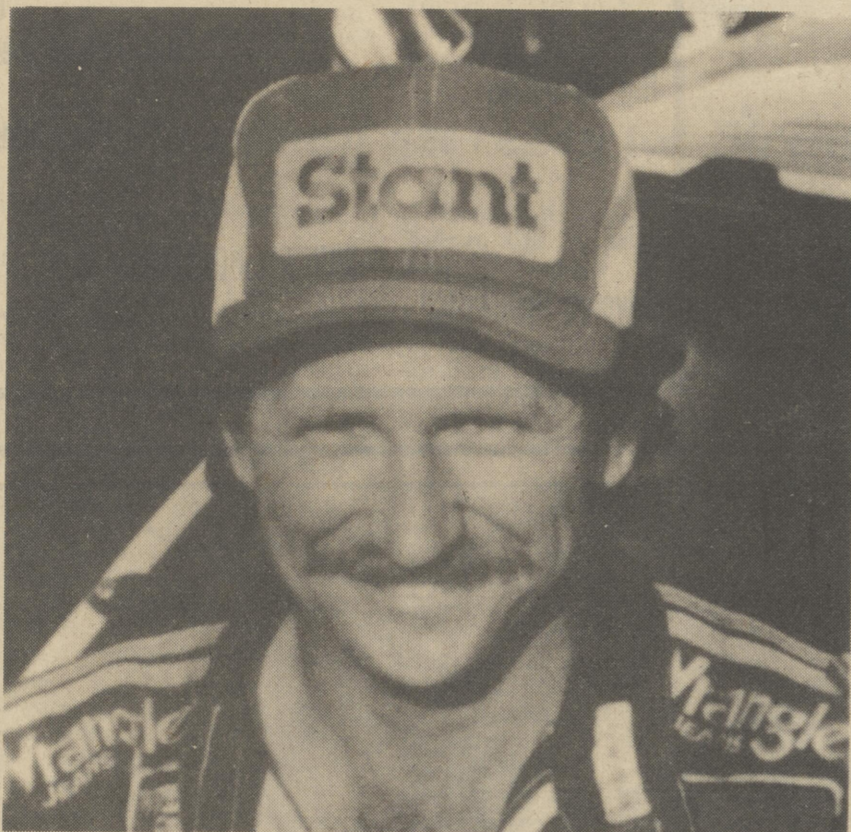

Rudd, cruising in third place, had a lug nut fall behind a wheel during a pit stop, eventually breaking a brake caliper and costing the Chesapeake, Va., Motorcraft Ford driver a chance to pass Bill Elliott for fourth place in the final point standings.

Instead of collecting the $115,000 point fund bonus for fourth place, Rudd will settle for $85,000 and fifth place. Elliott and his Coors/Melling Thunderbird finished 21 points ahead of Rudd in the point standings after the 29 race series.

Gant, running in tenth place after climbing from his 23rd starting position, was involved in a four-car wreck in the dust-shrouded Esses, ending the Skoal Bandit Chevrolet driver's season. Only the top ten in the final standings go to the stage to accept awards during the NASCAR Awards Banquet December 5.

Tim Richmond's Winston Western 500 victory, coupled with Darrell Waltrip's fourth place, left the Folger's Coffee Chevrolet driver six points shy of second place in the final standings, earning $2210,000 in point fund money. Waltrip earned $325,000. Those six points kept Richmond from becoming the fourth Winston Cup driver to go over $1 million in winnings in a season. Winston Cup champion Dale Earnhardt will total approximately $1.9 million this season, Waltrip approximately $1.4 and Elliott

The Champ

Dale Earnhardt, 1986 Winston Cup champion, was one of 35 NASCAR drivers to share nearly $25,000 in contingency awards from Stant, Inc., a Purolator company. Stant-equipped race cars won every Winston Cup race this season and Stant radiator pressure caps were by far the number one choice of drivers and mechanic in NASCAR's premier series. For the 1987 season, Stant has announced renewal of its sponsorship commitment to Winston Cup racing with $29,000 in awards to be posted.

approximately $1.1 million, not including the $240,000 he collected for winning The Winston at Atlanta in May.

Richmond will finish the year at approximately $970,000.

The 1986 season will be one remembered as a "transitional" year for drivers. Richmond, Rusty Wallace and Bobby Hillin Jr. all made their first appearance in the top ten in the final Winston Cup standings. The only "veteran drivers" to make the top ten were Earnhardt (eight full seasons of competition), Bobby Allison (19 full seasons), Waltrip (12 full seasons) and Ricky Rudd (eight full seasons).

The others in the top ten include Bodine (four full seasons of Winston Cup competition), Richmond (six), Elliott (four), Wallace (three), Hillin (three), and Kyle Petty (six).

Winston Cup stalwarts Gant, Neil Bonnett and Terry Labonte all had disappointing years. Gant went from third in 1985 to 11th in 1986 while Bonnett fell from fourth to 13th. Labonte slid from seventh to 12th.

Earnhardt, on the other hand, climbed from eighth in 1985 to win the title with his Richard Childress Wrangler/Goodwrench Chevrolet. Richmond, switching teams between seasons, went from 11th last year to third this season. Allison climbed from 12th to seventh while his Miller American Buick teammate Hillin, went from 15th to ninth. Wallace made the biggest jump, moving from 19th to 6th with his Alugard Pontiac owned by Raymond Beadle.

The $2 million Winston Cup point fund will be distributed among the top 20 drivers at the Waldorf, December 5.

Winston Cup worth $2,000,000

The 1986 NASCAR Winston Cup point fund is worth a record $2,000,000. This is an increase of $1,250,000 over the 1985 point fund.

The point fund will be paid entirely at the 1986 NASCAR Winston Cup awards banquet on December 5, 1986 at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City.

Kulwicki named Rookie of the Year

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. -- Alan Kulwicki of Greenfield, Wis., has won the Champion Spark Plug Rookie of the Year Award for the 1986 NASCAR Winston Cup season, NASCAR officials announced last week.

Driver of the Quincy's Family Steakhouses Ford, he collected 246 total Champion Spark Plug Rookie points this season, beating out Mike Waltrip 238; Chet Phillip 201; and Pancho Carter 138.

The 31 year old Kulwicki, who holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Mechanical Engineering from the University of Wisconsin, competed in 23 of the circuit's 29 races this season. He was the highest finishing rookie of a chase that included as many as 11 drivers at one point, in 17 races.

His best finishes this year included fourth in Martinsville (Va.) Speedway's Sovran Bank 500 in April and a seventh in Delaware 500 in September. He also posted a pair of 10th place finishes.

"Obviously, we're very happy and pretty excited to have won Rookie of the Year," Kulwicki said. "This is something we worked hard for all season long and it was our goal to win it."

"Even with this, I realize that I'm just a little guy on the block right now, but so were Darrell Waltrip and Bill Elliott in the early stages of their careers," he added. "I'm going to give it 100 percent of my effort to be as successful in this sport as they are today."

As a boost towards that goal, Kulwicki will receive a $10,000 check from the Champion Spark Plug Co. at the annual NASCAR Winston Cup Awards Banquet in New York City on Dec. 5. He will also receive $1,000 in each Winston Cup race in which he competes during the 1987 season.

Shirley: 3 time champ

Nashville, Tenn. -- Three-time world champion Top Fuel drag racer Shirley Muldowney -- a feminine winner in a masculine sport -- will be the focus of a 60 minute special titled Shirley -- The First Lady of Auto Racing to be telecast on The Nashville Network (TNN) Sunday, December 7.

Muldowney was the first woman to qualify in drag racing's fastest class, the first woman to win a championship and the first person of either sex to win three world championships. Her success in the late 1970's not only created heated competition, but attracted the interest of female fans for the first time to drag races. Her chief rival, "Big Daddy" Don Garlits said a few male fans had to sacrifice their egos for the benefit of the sport. "Guys would tell me they would have to wash the dishes for a month sometimes when Shirley would put me away," he recalled with a smile.

The special, which will air at 1:00 P.M. (repeats at 6:00 p.m. and 10:30 p.m., all times Eastern), looks closely at Muldowney's teenage years in Schenectady, New York, -- where her troublesome street racing prompted local police to order her, "Shape up or you will join the Army." Narrated by Steve Evans, Shirley -- The First Lady of Auto Racing focuses on Muldowney's comeback attempt in 1986 after 20 months of recuperation for injuries suffered in a June 30, 1984, crash in Montreal, Quebec, Canada. That crash broke bones in every finger; broke her left hand, pelvis and right leg; broke and dislocated her ankle; tore cartilage in her left knee; and nearly severed her right thumb.

SHIRLEY!

The courageous comeback of Shirley Muldowney, three-time world champion drag racer, will be featured in "Shirley!", a 60 minute special to be telecast on TNN Sunday, Dec. 7. Muldowney returned to racing this season after 20 months of recuperation for injuries suffered in a June 30, 1984, crash in Montreal, Quebec, Canada.

Dave Bishop of Easton finishes 2nd in National contest

Richard Rutledge, a columnist for "Racing News," is the winner of the 1986 "Pick the Winston Cup Champion" contest sponsored by R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. for media members.

Rutledge, of Dallestown, Pa., correctly predicted Dale Earnhardt would win the Winston Cup title this year with a total of 4,438 points. Earnhardt's championship-winning total was 4,468.30 points more than Rutledge's guess. The columnist wins a trip for two to the 1987 running of The Winston at Charlotte Motor Speedway, the Winston 500 at Talladega, Ala., or the 1987 NASCAR Winston Cup Awards Banquet in New York City.

Taking second place, worth $750, was DAVE BISHOP, a free-lance writer from Easton, Md. and owner of Hobby Horse in Easton. He predicted

Earnhardt with 4,404 points. Third ($500) was Rick Richards from the News-Dispatch in Michigan City, Ind., (4,399 points). Fourth place $300 went to Rel Bocket of the Milwaukee Sentinel 4,397 points while Tom Boggie of the Schenectady (N.Y.) Gazette claimed the $200 fifth prize with 4,391 points. A total of 21 media members picked Earnhardt to win the 1986 Winston Cup.

Spencer, Baldwin & Harbach head up latest entrants to Walls Turkey Derby

Wall Township -- With the thirteenth running of Wall Stadium Turkey Derby right around the corner, the entry list continues to grow at a rapid pace. Heading the list of latest entrants is newly crowned NASCAR modified champ Jimmy Spencer. Even though Spencers trips to the Jersey shore speedway have been few, his presence was felt July of '85 as he captured the prestigious Garden State Classic.

Spencer will be behind the wheel of the Frank Cicci owned Quick Stop Beverage sponsored #24.

Also joining the list are Fred Harbach of Huntington Station, N.Y. and Tom Baldwin, of Bellport, N.Y. Both drivers have the honor of running in all but one Turkey Derby. Harbach currently heads up the all time Turkey Derby point standing while Baldwin is in third. Rounding out the big two day program will be the moderns, street stocks and the mini modifieds. With the exception of the mini mods, all other features will be presented on Saturday.

All modified competitors who are planning on running the Turkey Derby are urged to call the speedway office to enter the event. Entry fee prior to the day of the race.

Lap fund is currently well over $4500. For information call 201-681-6400.

The Viola Fire Flies 4-H Club had their monthly meeting on November 10, at the Viola Ruritan Building at 7:00 p.m.

The club has decided not to participate in the Harrington Christmas Parade, as was planned before. This is because there was not enough participation.

The Viola Fire Flies would like to welcome all of the public to come vote on their Christmas tree enrolled in Ethan Allen Furniture Store. They are looking forward to all of your support!

You can also come see their tree at the Golden Years Nursing Home in Felton from December 15th to the 22nd. The elderly would also appreciate a visit.

On behalf of the club, Congratulations Michele Bass and Cathy Carlson for winning the National Congress in Chicago. Michele and Cathy were the only two from our club. A job well done to both of you!

Our leader, Marylou Bass has spent three days at the North East Regional Leaders Forum. Mrs. Bass works very hard for our club, and, as you can see, the work pays off!

Yours truly,

Pam Stevens

Contestants sought for Delaware Junior Miss program

Applications are now available throughout the state in all public and private high schools for the DELAWARE JUNIOR MISS PROGRAM. If you are interested in participating in the program and are a senior girl, please stop by your school office and see your guidance counselor. The DELAWARE JUNIOR MISS PROGRAM will be held on Saturday, March 7, 1987 at Cape Henlopen High School in Lewes, Delaware. There are no entry fees or costs to the contestants. Contestants will be judged on five attributes: Scholastic average, poise and appearance, talent, physical fitness, and a judges interview. Sign up now to participate in the program. Scholarship funds are available to contestants and the winner. See your guidance counselor for an application or call 856-7888 for more information.

4-H Club News

Congratulations to the thirty-two 4-H'ers who participated in the International Foods Programs recently. Each 4-H'er was asked to prepare a dish from another country. They then brought this dish to the event and everyone sampled the foods from the different countries. Some 4-H'ers even chose to dress in the costume of the country they represented. Our special guest speaker was Bjorn Rothstein from Sweden, a foreign exchange student attending Seaford High School. He told us about his country and how it is different from the United States. All of the 4-H'ers really enjoyed learning about the differences and the foods. Those 4-H'ers who participated were: Carrie Argo, Donya Argo, Heather

Senator Minner's column

by Sen. Ruth Ann Minner
18th District

As a member, I attended last week's second meeting of the Governor's Environmental Legacy Commission, which is working to try to shape Delaware's environmental future.

The group was broken down into five working committees, which will address specific environmental issues and report back to the Commission next August. The areas of study will be:

--Water, dealing with all aspects of the identification and control of water pollutants.

--Waste, which will be concerned with all phases of the disposal of solid, liquid, and hazardous waste.

--Ecological and Living Resources, which will deal with threats to our ecology and fish and wildlife.

--Land Use, which will investigate all aspects of the cause and effect of land use on our environment.

Air, the committee on which I work, which will study problems running the whole range of air pollution, from the ozone to the home.

Among the things my committee will be studying is the total concept of ozone control, including the effects of auto emissions; noise control, which is a greater problem in New Castle County because in the rural areas of Kent and Sussex Counties farmers are exempted from most provisions of our noise control laws; toxic air pollution, involving largely so-called smokestack industries; the interstate impact of air pollutants, because they drift from state to state and the pollution of one nearby state may adversely impact Delaware.

Of particular interest to me will be the study of all offensive odors, from the hair spray and deodorants used in a small enclosed space like a bathroom to widespread offensive odors from sewage disposal plants to slaughterhouses. Some of these problems are already plaguing the people of the 18th Senatorial District.

The Senate organized last Wednesday for the 134th General Assembly and there will be no changes in leadership, staff, or committee chairmen. Those of us in the majority think the Senate has built a solid record and see no reason to fix something that isn't broken.

I want to wish all of you a very safe and enjoyable Thanksgiving holiday with your loved ones.

How should courts interpret the Constitution?

by Thomas G. West

Dr. Thomas G. West is an Associate Professor in the Department of Politics at the University of Dallas.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Last summer and fall, Attorney General Edwin Meese and Supreme Court Justice William Brennan began a public debate about how the Supreme Court should interpret the Constitution of the United States. The Attorney General declared that the Court should follow the original intention of those who framed and ratified the Constitution. The Justice denied that such jurisprudence was possible.

In this article, Professor West reviews the debate and argues that the correct answer is to be found by reflecting on what it means to have a written Constitution. West does not ally himself completely either with Meese or with Brennan, but instead suggests that the principles of the Constitution can be adapted to changing circumstances. THE NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FOR THE HUMANITIES PROVIDES MAJOR FUNDING FOR THE NEW FEDERALIST PAPERS.

Last summer Attorney General Edwin Meese gave a speech before the American Bar Association that caused this question—how should the Supreme Court interpret the Constitution—to become a matter of public discussion and debate. That was a very good thing for him to have done, and I for one am grateful. The future of democracy would be bleak if the meaning of the Constitution were to be decided by a private conversation among judges and lawyers from which the public is excluded. For decades—since the great controversy over Roosevelt's court-packing plan in the 1930's—the Supreme Court, aided by its allies in the universities and the legal profession, has transformed the way it views the Constitution without serious public discussion of the new principles of its jurisprudence.

How should judges, especially Supreme Court justices apply the Constitution when they decide whether actions of the state and federal governments are constitutional? The importance of the question is obvious. The Constitution is the supreme law of the land, and its meaning affects every American citizen in the most intimate way. For example, does the Constitution really grant a right of abortion to a fifteen-year-old girl against the laws of a state and without her parents' consent or even their knowledge? Does the Constitution really require the citizens of Texas to pay for free public education for illegal immigrants? Does the Constitution really tolerate the teaching of Marxist dogma in our high schools while forbidding the teaching of respect for God? Recent Supreme Court decisions have said "yes" to all these questions. It does not take much insight to see that the Supreme Court has had a strong tendency in recent years, not to follow the Constitution, but to read into that document its own personal views of right and wrong.

Attorney General Edwin Meese challenged this last summer. Meese called for the Court to practice a "jurisprudence of original intention." He said that the Court should read the Constitution in "the sense in which the Constitution was accepted and ratified by the nation." Meese was only stating what is implicit in the idea of constitutional government: that the Constitution is the basic law, that its authority comes from its being approved by the people, and that the basic law must have some meaning if its being approved by the people means anything at all.

Justice William J. Brennan gave a speech last fall, and this speech ridiculed and denounced Meese's insistence that the Supreme Court should interpret the Constitution in the light of original intention. Brennan said that the jurisprudence of original intent "is little more than arrogance cloaked as humility. It is arrogant," he said, "to pretend that from our vantage we can gauge accurately the intent of the Framers on application of principle to specific, contemporary questions. Typically, all that can be gleaned is that the Framers themselves did not agree about the applications or meaning of particular constitutional provisions, and hid their differences in cloaks of generality."

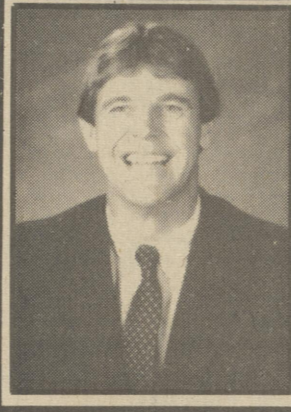

The true method of constitutional interpretation, according to Brennan, is for judges to adapt the Constitution to changing times. To quote again from his Georgetown speech: "Those who would restrict claims of right to the values of 1789 specifically articulated in the Constitution turn a blind eye to social progress. ...For the genius of the Constitution rests not in any static meaning it might have had in a world that is dead and gone, but in the adaptability of its great principles to cope with current problems and current needs. What the constitutional fundamentals meant to the wisdom of other times cannot be their measure to the vision of our time."

In one sense, Brennan is indeed correct: We always have and always will need to adapt "constitutional fundamentals" to new situations. But what one means by "constitutional fundamentals" is crucial. These fundamentals must be grounded in the text of the Constitution and in the thinking of the society that framed and ratified it. Otherwise the judiciary will be a despotism accountable to no one. It is this Brennan doesn't seem to comprehend.

That Brennan's view of constitutional fundamentals is less than satisfactory becomes clear when one examines his view of the Eighth Amendment. He believes that the Eighth Amendment forbids the death penalty as "cruel and unusual punishment" under all circumstances. This view, he admits, is not yet subscribed to by a majority of the justices of the Supreme Court. Nor is it justified by the Constitution's text, which clearly shows that capital punishment is sanctioned in several instances. The Fifth Amendment states that "No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury...; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; ...nor be deprived of life...without due process of law."

If Justice Brennan really believes in "constitutional fundamentals," then how does he justify his stance that capital punishment is unconstitutional? The Constitution itself shows that it is. The "fundamental" ban on "cruel and unusual punishment" clearly did not apply to the death penalty when it was written. So how did it suddenly change? Either constitutional fundamentals are fundamental, and they don't change, or they are not fundamental and do change.

If the Constitution is to be taken seriously, it must have a real, discernible meaning—a meaning that does not change from one generation to the next. Its fundamentals are applied to new situations certainly; but they themselves stay the same. A constitution, after all, is a fundamental law, ratified by the people as a solemn and extraordinary act. It stands above all institutions created by it—even the judiciary.

Lake Forest School District
Leadership, Friendship
Scholastic Development

"Relationships"

To say it takes a team effort for a school system to effectively develop, implement and evaluate its programs is an understatement.

Certainly a strong bond must be fused between the schools and the community. While educators have a responsibility to demonstrate leadership in community affairs, it is also true that the school personnel, in a general sense, must look to the community for the direction the education process must take.

A number of relationships exist within a school system which may contribute to either the success or the failure of the system in fulfilling its responsibilities. Few of these affiliations are as important as that which exists between the teachers' association and the formal district leadership.

Not unlike a pair of newlyweds, they come together with a strong sense of understanding of what each wants out of the relationship, yet unsure of the means which will be used to get it. For the experience to be successful, each must exercise patience and understanding in dealing with the other; each must realize the background from which the other has come; each must look to the future with hope and promise.

There will be disagreements. That is the beauty of dealing with people.

Hopefully, the strength of the relationship will be demonstrated through attempts to minimize those sources of irritation, deal with them effectively when they arise, and realize that they are an important part of the growth of the district.

It won't be a perfect marriage.

But the attitude both parties take with them when declaring this bond of understanding and intentions will go a long way towards determining the future of education in our communities.

It is a most special kind of relationship.

BEING JUDGMENTAL

By Edwin Feulner

The gall of this guy Edwin Meese. Sometimes the attorney general talks so much sense that liberals, or "progressives," as most now prefer to be called, seem to get about as upset as they do contemplating those outrageous folks who aid anti-Communist freedom-fighters.

Remember when Attorney General Meese galled the Left by saying it was too easy for criminals to escape justice? Or, a few months ago, when the report by his commission on pornography seemed, well, too anti-pornography?

Such cases cue the progressive chorus into the familiar chants. Meese and his henchmen, they say, are censors out to ride roughshod over the First Amendment and send book-burners into libraries.

This is the "slippery-slope theory" so dear to the American Civil Liberties Union. Give a conservative A, according to the theory, and in no time he'll be trying to get Z. Today he'll censor Hustler, tomorrow Homer. (Rarely does the ACLU apply that logic against the Left, which has moved, for example, from championing equal rights to championing state-enforced preferential treatment based on race and gender.)

And now, just when the outrage was cooling over Meese's anti-pornography campaign, the attorney general has popped off against the Supreme Court, the sacred cow of sacred cows. As the front-page headline in The New York Times said, "Meese Says Court Doesn't Make Law," followed by the misleading subhead "Asserts Rulings of Top Justices Bind Only Those in Case."

Maybe you, too, think Congress, not the Supreme Court, is supposed to make law, and that all Meese has done is restate what everyone knows. Then you haven't kept up with progressive thought over the last generation, hence aren't aware that to a huge extent ours has become a government of, by, and for the judges and the bureaucrats, both of who enjoy the privilege of being beyond accountability to the lowly electorate. Remember when liberalism used to be about, or so said liberals, "power to the people"?

Now, what did Meese actually say? Simply that a Supreme Court decision "does not establish a 'supreme law of the land' (as the Court wrote of its own powers in a 1958 decision) that is binding on all persons and parts of government, henceforth and forevermore." The executive branch, Meese also said, is bound "for whatever enforcement is necessary."

Meese's point, indeed, is so fundamental that to reject it would seem to imply acquiescence is a form of tyranny, if tyranny is a form of government that doesn't depend on the consent of the governed.

Meese also noted that the Court itself is not bound by its own decisions, which it has overruled from time to time. Besides, those who disagree with a Court ruling can work for a constitutional amendment, as have those who oppose the abortion rulings. Or they can simply back legislation that the Court could later rule is constitutional even though it thus overturns a previous ruling. This is all Meese meant when he said Court rulings "do not necessarily determine future public policy."

The real source of the latest outcry against Meese is the frustration of those whose positions have been rejected at the polls and who are therefore determined to impose them by judicial fiat.

The common will, of course, is not always the commonweal. But (1) neither is the will of the Court, and (2) the Constitution's arrangement of checks and balances offers ways to work against Court decisions.

The Bill of Rights protects individual rights from being trampled by the majority. But it is an irresponsible leap from there to the view that the decisions of nine unelected persons should forever be hailed as infallible and unchallengeable. This is especially so when you consider that so many of today's progressive judges "interpret" the Constitution not according to the intent of its authors, but rather in whatever ways further the judges' policy goals. It's called lawmaking, and it's supposed to be the province of Congress.

Even with the best judges, judicial tyranny is not a good way to govern. The tyranny of today's judges, as we have witnessed again and again, is quite a dangerous way to govern.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Seven hundred million dollars is an awful lot of money to spend on a road!

A "by-pass" we don't need for it would only by-pass the problem...Too many automobiles in Delaware!

One sixty four seat "railbus" costs a mere $325,000. That 700 million for the proposed "by-pass" could purchase 2154 of these tiny vehicles, making up a twenty mile long train, carrying 137,846 folks and a potential of making twelve Wilmington-"Resorts" one-way trips per day for a total of 1,654,154 passengers.

Can any super-highway boast those figures and at the same time, save lives and give Delaware relief from congestion? Nope!

Sincerely yours,
Stephen von Bonin
Regional Director, National Association of Railroad Passengers
Delaware Coordinator, Delaware Valley Association of Railroad Passengers

Dear Harry,

In reference to the article in the Harrington Journal regarding "Lake Forest School Board prepares for Referendum", I would like to point out several fallacies with Mr. Thompson's recommendations. First of all, mobile homes are not exempt from taxation. All mobile homes are taxed and all land they sit on is taxed whether owned individually or in a park. As for a better balance that Mr. Thompson wants, this will occur when the County reassessment is completed. As for a tax on income level, this is absurd. The following people would not pay:

1. Those on Social Security
2. The unemployed

3. Those on welfare
4. Those on disability

In addition, the self-employed shelter a lot of income through their respective businesses.

How would you collect this proposed income tax? You can't take from the above and what would you do if someone did not pay? At least with a property tax you can put a lien on the property. Those people who rent still pay as the amount needed for taxes, etc. are included in the rent and the landlord pays in the end.

Sincerely,
William C. Raynor, Secretary
Kent County Board of Assessment

Roth applauds action on Pentagon Reform

by U.S. Senator Bill Roth

One of the nicest things anyone has ever called me was in 1984 when Newsweek magazine labelled me a "cheap hawk." -- a supporter of a strong national defense, but at the most economical costs. I have always supported strong financial support for a strong defense. At the same time I have worked to see that the taxpayers dollars which are spent on defense are not eaten up by fraud and waste.

We've all known for some time that the Department of Defense is in need of constructive reform. Horror stories of gross mismanagement and waste which have surfaced have, I think, appalled all taxpayers. As Chairman of the Governmental Affairs Committee, I have uncovered many examples of unwise spending on the part of the Pentagon and for years I have been an outspoken advocate of reform.

Two years ago, I went down to the White House to recommend the creation of a Blue Ribbon Commission on Defense Management with Dave Packard as Chairman. President Reagan agreed that such a commission could prove valuable and therefore, established what has come to be known as the "Packard Commission".

In urging the creation of this commission, I set out an agenda of critical management and security issues I believed needed to be explored. These included establishing an independent civilian procurement office, ensuring the accuracy of cost estimates and eliminating excessive contractor profits.

I was particularly pleased to see that many of the recommendations of the Packard Commission were adopted as part of the Defense Authorization Bill which Congress passed in the last hours before adjournment.

There is still much more to be done to ensure that the taxpayer's dollars are spent wisely on defense. But, this is certainly a step in the right direction and I am gratified to see some concrete action taken.

A sound, strong defense is vital to this country. We cannot afford to do without it. But, economically we cannot afford to throw money into wasteful defense spending. Hopefully, the Packard Commission's efforts will set the stage for further reform at the Department of Defense.

THE ABORTION CHEERLEADERS

By Edwin Feulner

The U.S. Supreme Court last month said it will review the constitutionality of an Illinois law requiring young women to notify their parents at least 24 hours ahead of time if they plan to have an abortion.

The law applies to unmarried girls under 18 who are dependents of their parents or considered legally "incompetent" to act on their own.

Abortion-mill operators have challenged the law, claiming the 24-hour waiting period is an unconstitutional infringement of the abortion "right," established in 1973 in the controversial Roe v. Wade Supreme Court ruling.

How the Rehnquist Court will view the issue is anybody's guess. The framers of the U.S. Constitution did not address the abortion issue, and would undoubtedly be appalled that their "living document" today is being used to justify abortion-on-demand.

The Supreme Court's decision to review the Illinois law came just days before a federal judge in Minnesota struck down a similar state law on constitutional grounds. The judge's ruling sounded like it was lifted from the lecture notes of a sophomore sociology class. In his 59-page opinion, the judge criticized the law because it didn't "enhance parent-child communications or improve family relations generally"—two basic tenets of the Bill of Rights, of course.

What has happened since Roe v. Wade is a matter of record. The "right" to have an abortion in some minds has taken its place alongside other constitutional rights, such as freedom of speech, the right to worship as one chooses, and so on.

What the so-called "pro-choice" people are saying is that every American woman old enough to have a baby should have the unrestricted "right" during much of her pregnancy to destroy the life she is carrying. As a result of this exotic interpretation of constitutional law, thousands of abortion clinics are now plying their trade in towns and cities everywhere. Using assembly-line techniques that would have made Nazi Germany's Dr. Mengele proud, they have now rid America of millions of babies: more deaths than in all of our wars combined.

Not unlike drug pushers, they are now even peddling their wares in America's high schools. This latest development was driven home recently when Washington-area newspapers reported that a local Alexandria, Va., church, just a stone's throw from a public high school, had decided to get into the abortion-counseling business.

Abortions will not be performed at the clinic, officials say. But everything else needed by "sexually active" teens (as the touchy-feely types like to call them) will be readily available. Everything, that is, except parental guidance, which will not be required for teens to receive "family planning information and devices and treatment for sexually transmitted diseases." Which brings us back to the Illinois and Minnesota laws.

Abortion has become even more than a life-and-death issue. When a house of worship is turned into a VD-treatment clinic and abortion referral service something is rotten in Alexandria. And that same something is rotten from coast-to-coast.

Adults taking refuge in churches are now playing games with the lives of children, behind the backs of their parents.

Abortion has now become a casual "oops-I-goofed" after-the-act method of birth control. It is sickening what is happening in America—doubly so when clergymen are leading the cheers, and federal judges justify it in the name of the U.S. Constitution.

(Feulner is president of The Heritage Foundation, a Washington-based public policy research institute.)

Harrington Raceway ends '86 season

HARRINGTON — Attendance jumped 17% while total handle was held to a 2% increase over 1985, as Harrington Raceway closed its 1986 fall harness meet on November 15. The downstate Delaware racetrack averaged 1,340 patrons and an average handle of $89,442 for the 50 day meet.

"The figures show that we were successful in attracting our normal patron base and probably introducing new fans to the sport of harness racing," said F. Gary Simpson, Harrington's General Manager. "I'm not surprised at the handle figures. The last several years have not been glorious times for agriculture and it's related service industries on Delmarva which is our primary market area...also newcomers to harness racing tend not to wager as much as a seasoned fan."

A new plus to racing at Harrington this year was the addition of the First State Bicentennial Pacing Series for Delaware owned horses. In the late closer-final for two-year olds, Buoy O Buoy took the honors while Time to Scoot was second. Closing Saturday saw the final for three-year-olds with heavy favorite Scarlet Maid placing second and the Al Sleva Sr. pacer, My Old Man taking the honors. The Bicentennial Pacing Series was sponsored by the State of Delaware and administered by the Department of Agriculture.

Harrington's U.D.R.S. driver of the year was Walter Callahan. The 1986 Harrington dash driving champion was Larry Garwood, who was in close competition for the award with last year's winner Bob Shaban.

Rosecroft features the $11,800 Fort Washington Pace this Saturday. The top eight moneywinners from three weeks of preliminary action compete in this attraction, now in its fourth year. Although the Fort Washington is open to all genders, a trio of females, B Fortunate, Yankee Tribute and Sowcat Kitten, are strong candidates for championship honors. No filly or mare has ever won this event.

B Fortunate reigns as the fastest three-year-old filly in Rosecroft history, with a 1:56.3 mile on October 25. She's handled by Gilles Gendron, the eighth winningest driver in harness racing history.

Sowcat Kitten has defeated B. Fortunate and Yankee Tribute in the recent past.

The $250,000 William Haughton Memorial Pace, an important simulcast from Yonkers, NY, adds luster to Saturday's Fort Washington program.

The Maryland Racing Commission has approved a schedule change for Rosecroft. Three Wednesdays, December 3, 10 and 17, have been added. Three Thursdays, December 4, 11 and 18, were dropped.

A good battle for the autumn meet driving championship has developed. Through Thursday, November 20, Gilles Gendron leads with 29 wins, defending champ Jim Morand has 25, Bryce Truitt 21 and Rhoel Filion 22. Dale Mangan controls the trainers' standings with 16 tallies.

A total of 281 racing dates for 1987 were granted to Meadowlands Racetrack today by the New Jersey State Racing Commission. Of the total, 191 harness dates will be run from Friday, January 2 through Saturday, August 15. The thoroughbred dates will run from Saturday, September 5 through Saturday, December 19.

Sam Anzalone, Meadowlands General Manager, said that the New Jersey Sports Authority also reserved the right with the Racing Commission to request additional dates from December 26 through December 31 for either thoroughbred or standardbred racing. Those dates this year (1986) will be run as standardbred programs.

Anzalone also announced that the Sports Authority had received approval from the Racing Commission for 86 thoroughbred dates at Monmouth Park from Friday, May 29 through Saturday, September 5. Monmouth Park and Meadowlands will run a combined day-night thoroughbred doubleheader on September 5, closing day for Monmouth and opening night for the Meadowlands.

PSC restricts utilities on terminating heat during winter

DOVER — The Public Service Commission's rules governing the termination of heating service for non-payment of bills will be in effect from November 15, 1986, through March 31, 1987.

The rules ensure that the utility customer has the opportunity to avoid having his electric or natural gas service discontinued. They do not, however, eliminate the customer's obligation to pay his utility bills.

Each investor-owned utility that provides electricity or natural gas for residential heating must follow specific procedures before terminating service for non-payment.

The procedures apply to utilities regulated by the Commission. These include Delmarva Power & Light Company, Chesapeake Utilities Corporation, Delaware Electric Cooperative and Georgetown Service & Gas Company. The procedures do not apply to municipally owned utilities or companies that deliver fuel oil or propane by truck.

The utility must give the customer five working days' notice before it terminates service. The notice must be in writing, and it must state the date when the service will be cut off and the steps the customer may take to avert the termination.

In addition, the utility must make two attempts on separate days to contact the customer by telephone, and one attempt must be made after 6 p.m.

The Commission's rules prohibit a utility from terminating electric or natural gas service in certain circumstances.

A utility cannot terminate service to a residence occupied by a person who is ill and whose health would be jeopardized by the lack of heat. The medical condition must be certified by a physician or an accredited Christian Science practitioner, and a statement about the condition must be furnished to the utility.

Utilities are prohibited from terminating service on days when the outside temperature at 8 a.m. is 20 degrees Fahrenheit or less.

Service cannot be terminated if there is a good-faith dispute about the unpaid bill. The customer must bring the dispute to the utility's attention before service is terminated.

If the customer is unable to pay the electric or gas bill, he may choose to contact the utility to work out an installment agreement. The overdue bill can be paid in smaller increments over a period of several months.

If the customer cannot pay the bill and cannot arrange an installment agreement, he should attempt to obtain financial assistance from a public or private agency. Information on aid programs is listed on the termination notice or is available from the utility.

The Commission recommends that customers notify the utility immediately if they are having trouble paying their electric or gas bills. In most cases, arrangements can be worked out to avoid suspension of heating service.

The Commission adopted its heating termination rules in 1979. They have been in effect during every winter since then.

Hospice Care provision extended

by I.S. Levitt, District Manager
Social Security Administration, Dover

Hospice care is a special program of home care designed to provide pain relief, symptom management, and supportive services to terminally ill people and their families.

Medicare hospital insurance can help pay for hospice care if a doctor certifies that a patient is terminally ill. In addition, the patient must sign a statement choosing hospice care instead of standard Medicare benefits for the terminal illness. The care must be provided by a Medicare-certified hospice program.

Medicare can pay for a maximum of two 90-day periods of care and one 30-day period. However, if a patient still needs hospice care after the hospice periods are exhausted, the hospice will continue care unless the patient no longer wants hospice services.

During a hospice period, Medicare pays the full cost of all covered services for the terminal illness. There are no deductible or co-payments except for the part of the cost of outpatient drugs and inpatient respite care. Respite care is a short-term inpatient stay which may be necessary for the patient in order to give temporary relief to the person who regularly assists with home care.

The patient is responsible for 5 percent of the cost of outpatient drugs up to a maximum of $5 toward each prescription. For inpatient respite care, the patient pays 5 percent of the cost up to a maximum of $492 (in 1986; $520 in 1987) during a period that begins when a hospice plan is first chosen and ends 14 days after such care is cancelled. A pamphlet, "Hospice Benefits under Medicare," is available at Social Security offices.

Gas prices remain same

Full service prices in Delaware now average 93.8 cents for regular grade and 96.3 for unleaded gas. At self-service stations, the average price per gallon is 72.9 cents for regular and 76.6 cents for unleaded. Unleaded premium is currently averaging $1.00 per gallon and diesel fuel is at 93.8 cents.

The Delaware AAA warns that the use of credit cards can result in motorists paying an average of four cents more per gallon at most stations.

Motorists traveling in the First State over Thanksgiving can expect to pay an average of 84.9 cents for a gallon of gasoline according to the Holiday Fuel Gauge Survey conducted by the Delaware Motor Club AAA.

Despite a two cent per gallon increase in the State fuel tax which went into effect on October 1, the current average is approximately the same as motorists paid for gas over the Fourth of July holiday period this year.

Woodbridge P.T.A. - Keeping Children Safe

Woodbridge P.T.A. Keeping Children Safe...In honor of National P.T.A. Child Safety and Protection Month, the Woodbridge Elementary School P.T.A. sent home information to help parents keep their children safe.

The packet contained a Lifesaver ID, a piece of durable material that can be sewn in clothes or looped on a shoelace. The ID provides the child's name, address, phone, medical information and permission for doctors to do whatever is deemed necessary to insure the safety of the child.

Suggestions to prevent child abuse by parents and a checklist of important things latchkey children must be taught to do to insure their safety, were included.

Woodbridge Elementary School Second Grades Hold Novemberfest... Appropriately costumed "Indians" and "Pilgrims" of the W.E.S. second grades entertained parents and friends Wednesday (11/19) with poems, songs and dances reminiscent of the first Thanksgiving.

After the performance, the children were served a feast. The menu included wild turkey, venison, goose, cranberries, cornbread, pies and other specialties which would have graced the table on the first Thanksgiving.

Woodbridge Elementary School First Graders Enjoy "Cinderella"...On October 17, the first graders of the W.E.S. were bussed to Delaware State College where they were entertained by a performance of "Cinderella".

Santa's Secret Workshop at W.E.S. will be held at Woodbridge Elementary School December 1-5.

Each classroom will have a prearranged time set aside for shopping. A variety of gifts in all price ranges will be available. Parents will be present to help gift wrap.

If you can help or if you would like to donate wrapping paper, please call Ann Hurst (349-5241) or Sherry Yoder (349-5328).

W.E.S. Band and Chorus to Perform at December P.T.A. Meeting...The P.T.A. General Meeting at 7:00 p.m. on Thursday December 18, will feature the Woodbridge Elementary School Band and Chorus under Carolyn Whit. Refreshments will be served. (Please note this meeting will be held on a Thursday).

Temple sets environmental forum for Dec. 4 Symposium

Temple University will launch the first in a series of five major environmental seminars on Thursday, December 4, with a conference on the health risks posed by radon pollution in homes, trash-to-steam plants, toxic chemical spills and buried nuclear waste.

Future seminars in the series will be devoted to Waste Site Selection and Policy Forum Seminars, a five-part series on topical issues of environmental concern. The seminars will bring together decision-makers and researchers from government, industry, Temple and other universities.

For more information about the symposium on "The Environment and Human Health: Applications of Risk Analysis," contact Cheryl King, forum coordinator, Environmental Science and Policy Forum, at (215) 787-6938 or write to the Office of the Vice Provost for Research and Graduate Studies, University Services Building, Room 406, Philadelphia, Pa. 19122.
