

State Police charge Dover-area man in 1974 murder

by Colleen Lilly

Thirteen years after Claudie Nix's murder outside of Harrington, Delaware State Police arrested a Dover-area man and charged him with second degree murder in the 1974 killing.

Mr. Nix, a trucker with the Albany Felt Co. in St. Stephen, S.C., was driving two miles south of Harrington U.S. 13 when a sniper's bullet went through his truck window and into his chest.

Lester Cane, 36, a Dover-area laborer, was picked up by Troop 3 police for questioning in relation to the murder, according to Cpl. Gerald R. Pepper Jr.

Police questioning led to the charge of second degree murder for Mr. Cane, Friday, February 6. He was committed to the Delaware Correctional Center without bail.

Another suspect is still being sought in the trucker's murder, Cpl. Pepper said.

Mr. Nix, who was on a long distance haul from South Carolina to Albany, N.Y., had defied a nationwide trucker's strike protesting increased fuel prices.

Witnesses to the shooting said a 1968 or 1969 dark-colored Chevrolet with two people inside pulled alongside Mr. Nix's new Mack tractor-trailer and two gun shots were heard.

The shooting occurred at 8:30 p.m. The first shot from the .30-06 caliber rifle missed Mr. Nix, but the second one did not.

The second bullet shattered the cab's left vent window, passed through Mr. Nix's heart and lodged in his shoulder. The truck veered off the right side of the road and smashed into several trees. By the time Mr. Nix's truck stopped so had his heart.

In the past 13 years, more than a dozen detectives have worked on the murder in Delaware. The investigation spanned six states and consumed hundreds of man hours.

At the time of the shooting, investigators had to match the description of the car with cartons of uncomputerized car registrations. Delaware had 18,000 Chevrolets as old as the car seen on the road in 1974. About 8,000 matched the dark color described, either dark blue or green.

Police spent months pouring over the motor vehicle information, and having witnesses recall information. A medium was even called in by police. Nothing turned up from the medium's description of the suspect or the area near Felton where she said the gunman lived.

The police worked on hunches and odd anonymous tips and continued to believe the suspect lived within 20 miles of the scene of the crime.

Mr. Cane lived 14 miles from the scene near Lebanon, south of Dover.

Cpl. Pepper said Mr. Cane was not among the original suspects, but became one once detective Lee S. Daugherty came on the case three years ago.

Cpl. Pepper said Mr. Cane may not have been the one to actually shoot Mr. Nix, but may have been the driver of the car.

The trucker's strike didn't produce any other injuries, although someone shot at a truck on U.S. 13 the night before

Mr. Nix was murdered. Eleven states reported shooting and rock throwing violence in response to truckers not honoring the nationwide boycott. When Mr. Nix died, he was survived by a wife and six children ranging in ages from 12 to 27.

Eloise Nix, his wife, was notified Friday evening about the man arrested and charged with the murder.

Mrs. Nix, who had been married to her husband 31 years before his death, raised two of the children on her own and went to work for the first time after his death.

Mr. Nix had been a devoutly religious man who kept a Bible in his truck and taught a men's Bible class in his hometown church.

He was also a meticulous trucker. Mr. Nix kept precise trip logs and had a flawless driving record.

Vandals hit Burton's for third time in a month

by Colleen Lilly

Burton's Sport Shop on Commerce Street fell victim to its third break-in within a month Monday night as vandals broke the lock on the front door.

Monday night's thieves stole candy, chips, soda and two containers of sugar, Shirley Corrin, part owner of the store said.

In addition to the food stolen, the vandals broke into two of the soda shop's video machines and cleared them of their change.

"They know there's no policemen around," said Ms. Corrin.

Saturday night Burton's front window was broken when one of two fighting teenage girls threw her pocketbook through the window, Ms. Corrin said.

She said charges will be pressed against the girls when both have been picked up by the police. One of the girls was "picked up by the police," Ms. Corrin said.

Trespassing charges might also be pressed since they "weren't supposed to be in the store," she said.

The girls, according to Ms. Corrin, had been asked to leave the store when they began fighting inside Burton's. They took their fight just outside the store and continued it.

Last Saturday, January 31, Ms. Corrin said two black male youths stole the store's money bag out of her purse just as the store was closing. Burton's lost approximately $60 in that robbery.

Another break-in occurred "a week or two before," said Ms. Corrin. In this robbery, the store's kitchen window was broken out and the burglars stole cigarettes, candy and a little money.

Ms. Corrin said she has an idea of who's involved with the robberies, but said, "The police don't follow up on them."

She believes the police should patrol Harrington 24 hours a day.

"There's nothing we can do until the police pick them up," she said.

Sgt. Jeff Cook of the Harrington police refused to say much about the incidents at Burton's, except that they are under investigation and that the police expect to make some arrests "within the next couple of weeks."

"As of today (Tuesday), two burglaries have been reported since the first of the year and one theft of a money bag," he said.

Sgt. Cook said he feared anything he said about the incidents could jeopardize the police investigations.

"Generally, the burglaries are done by kids. We do have some suspects," Sgt. Cook said.

Ms. Corrin said that she's uncertain whether the store will seek any other additional security for Burton's. The matter hasn't been discussed yet.

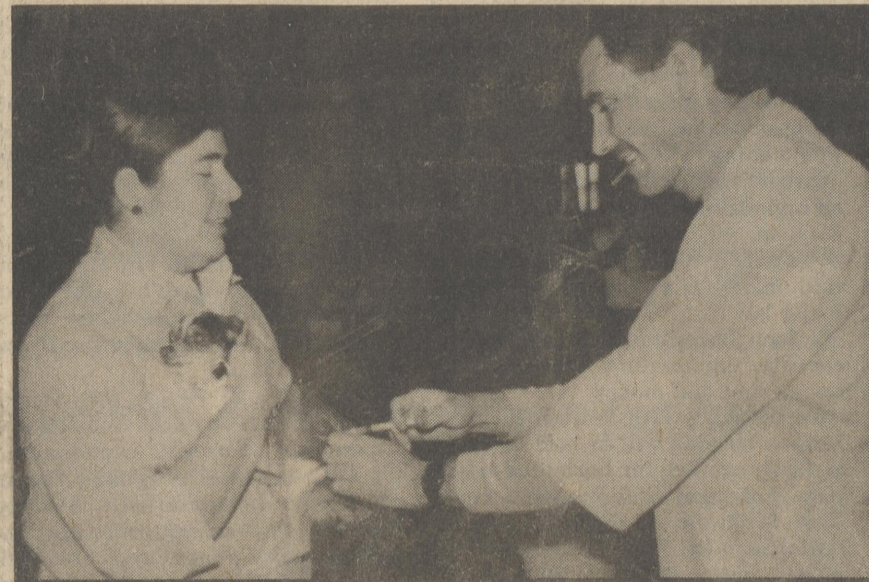

She did say the store would remain open despite the problems Burton's has recently encountered.

William Fensterer found not guilty in murder trial

by William T. Ficka

William A. Fensterer walked out of court a free man Friday after a jury found him not guilty of the 1981 murder of his 17 year-old fiancee.

The tearful Fensterer left the courthouse with his arm around his sobbing mother.

"I'd like to go back to my job and get my life in order," Fensterer replied, when asked about his immediate plans.

The dejected Jack and Shirley Ann Swift, parents of the victim, and family members hurriedly left the courtroom without comment.

"There was overwhelming evidence that she died in the afternoon while Bill was at work," said defense attorney Harold S. Schmittinger.

Schmittinger said the medical testimony regarding the stomach contents of the victim was a decisive factor in the case.

Prosecutor Bartholomew J. Dalton, chief deputy attorney general, agreed that the stomach-contents evidence "was the most damaging to the state."

The 10-woman, 2-man jury deliberated more than six hours before returning the not-guilty verdict at 4:44 p.m. The deliberations were twice interrupted when the jury asked Superior Court Judge Henry duPont Ridgely to clarify points made during testimony.

On Feb. 8, 1984, the 27 year-old Fensterer was found guilty of the Sept. 28, 1981 murder of Stephanie Ann Swift.

Fensterer, a former Milford accountant, was sentenced to life imprisonment in Delaware Correctional Center near Smyrna.

In May 1985, the Delaware Supreme Court overturned the second-degree murder conviction, ruling that an FBI agent's inability to remember how he concluded that a cat leash was the murder weapon deprived the defense of effective cross examination.

The Delaware high court's decision was reversed in November 1985 by the U.S. Supreme Court which ordered the Delaware justices to review the case.

On May 8, the Delaware Supreme Court again overturned the conviction and ordered a retrial.

Last July Fensterer was released from Delaware Correctional Center on $50,000 bond.

In his closing argument Thursday, defense attorney Schmittinger told the jurors that Fensterer could not have killed his fiancee because "he was too much in love."

Passenger safety urged for children

Motor vehicle crashes are the number one killer andcrippler of children. The proper use of child safety seats and safety belts are effective in preventing these deaths and injuries. Although Delaware has a mandatory child safety seat law for children up to the age of four, improper use of safety seats is a continuing and growing problem. Improper installation and use of child safety seats greatly reduces the effectiveness of the seat in preventing death or injury.

February 8-14 has been designated as the fourth annual National Child Passenger Safety Week. The theme of the week is: "Love Your Child-Buckle 'Em Up" to tie in with Valentine's Day on the 14th.

Parents are reminded to buckle-up their children and to be alert to the dangers of improper child safety use. Some common mistakes:

- (1) Failing to secure child safety seats with the auto safety belts
- (2) Placing infants less than 20 pounds in the seat in a forward facing position
- (3) Failing to use the harness in the safety seat
- (4) Bundling infants in blankets before placing them in child safety seats
- (5) Failing to use locking clips to keep the safety belt tight and secure.

The Office of Highway Safety would like to remind parents that children under the age of four must be transported in child safety seats. Parents should follow the seat manufacturer's instructions carefully; however, if they have problems or questions on the proper use of seats, they should contact the Office of Highway Safety. Families who are financially unable to purchase a child safety seat should contact the Delaware Office of Highway Safety at 736-4475 for information about loaner programs.

A 24-year-old Milford man remains incarcerated after being charged with the November, 1986 assault of a three month old child.

severe head injuries, was hospitalized at Christiana Hospital for more than a month. The child has since been placed into the custody of the Division of Child Protective Services.

Fire lane parking restrictions noted at Lake Forest High School

Staff at Lake Forest High School, in cooperation with the office of the State Fire Marshall, are launching a community awareness program regarding the safety of students and spectators attending events scheduled at the school.

"It is necessary that our participants and spectators not park in marked fire lanes or lawn areas around the school," said Principal Ron Burrows. "These areas must be clear in the event of a situation arising which would necessitate emergency vehicles having to have access to the building.

"Also we may save tax dollars if we don't have to reseed lawn areas which have been worn due to parking in lawn areas.

"We are under the directive of the State Fire Marshall's office regarding this matter," Burrows continued. "The school will be fined and we will be required to tow vehicles at the owners' expense if these guidelines are not followed. No warnings will be issued.

"We would certainly be appreciative of the cooperation of all guests to our school. Following these guidelines will not only be in cooperation with the State Fire Marshall's Office but they will also improve safety conditions at our school."

Additional arrest made in robbery

A third arrest has been made in connection with the January 28 armed robbery of a Georgetown liquor store.

Twenty-six year old S.D. Johnson, Jr., of R.D. 2, Lincoln, was arrested at his home Tuesday morning by investigators. He has been charged with robbery, conspiracy, possession of a deadly weapon during the commission of a felony, possession of a deadly weapon by a person prohibited and carrying a concealed deadly weapon. Two other men were apprehended shortly after the January robbery of Bedford Liquors in Georgetown.

Following an arraignment at Magistrate Court 3, Johnson was committed to the Sussex Correctional Institute in default of $43,000 secured bond.

Hall to lift student self-concept at Lake Forest

Mike Hall has lifted a lot of weight in his life.

This past November, the Laurel resident competed against athletes from 30 nations in the Powerlifting World Championships in The Netherlands. The 6'3", 380-pounder walked away with the world title after hoisting a total of 2,200 pounds.

For this and similar accomplishments, Hall has been honored as Delaware's "Athlete of the Year" by the Delaware Sportswriters and Broadcasters and the 1986 Delaware State News "Athlete of the Year."

For the burly lifter, who has now opened a fitness center in Millsboro, that wasn't his best effort. He raised 2,700 pounds in July in Rosemont, Illinois at the Senior National Championships and had amassed a drug-free world record 600-pound bench press in last April's North American Powerlifting Championships.

According to Lake Forest School Superintendent, Dr. James H. VanSicer, it's not so much the weights, but rather Hall's philosophy, that makes him an appealing speaker for the District's students.

"Mike is a firm believer in reaching goals without artificial stimulation," VanSicer said. "He has done what he has without the aid of steroids. And he is adamant about selling youth on life's opportunities in a drug free environment."

Hall will be taking his weights and his philosophy to Lake Forest High School for a presentation and lifting exhibition on February 23. The program, scheduled to take place in the school's auditorium at 2:00 p.m. will be open to all students.

Hall, who has been lifting weights since he was 14, set goals for himself while serving in the Marines. He saw others using steroids to make greater gains.

"Everybody was treating them like heroes," he said, "but I knew what they were doing. I made a vow then that I'd show the world and kids that we could do it without drugs."

The world title in The Netherlands was very important to Hall.

"I wanted to beat the drug users and not just as a champion," he pointed out. "I wanted to be the world champion. I didn't want to have anybody say that I didn't beat this one or that one. I beat all comers, drug users or not."

"Not a bad statement for our students," VanSicer added. "And they couldn't hear it from a more sincere guy."

Students make decisions for future

During the next few weeks, high school students throughout the state of Delaware will be making decisions that will affect their lives not only for the present, but also for the future.

These decisions involve course selections and the subsequent educational path that a student will follow. Parents and students need to closely examine all options open to them. Many times educational decisions are made in the blind and for all the wrong reasons.

Students, with the aid of their parents and the school system, need to ask themselves three basic questions:

- 1: Where am I?
- 2: Where do I want to go?
- 3: How am I going to get there?

By answering these questions truthfully, logically and realistically, a student is then ready to choose their educational path albeit general curriculum, academic or vocational.

Future employers and postsecondary educational institutions will closely scrutinize the particular curriculum a student has chosen in high school. A general curriculum is not a favorite of employers or educational institutions because a student may be ill prepared for both.

An academic curriculum is usually chosen by students desiring to pursue collegiate studies. This is an excellent option for college bound students, but if they later choose not to attend college they also may be lacking in skills desired by an employer.

A vocational curriculum may very well be the best alternative. Through careful planning early in their high school career, a student can major in a particular vocational area (mainly offered at Vocational Technical schools) and also take certain academic level courses. The end result is a saleable skill, which is in demand by area employers, and the academic background needed to pursue collegiate studies. Many students and parents are caught up in the myth that vocational students can not attend college. This is simply not true. Many vocational graduates can and do pursue higher studies at both two and four year institutions.

Course selection decisions are critical decisions that merit careful consideration by the student, parents, and the school system. One should investigate all the facts before making a decision.

"I'm A Tough Old Bird But I Grow Mighty Tender Chickens"

Although William Davis didn't start producing chickens for Perdue's broiler program until he was over 60 years of age, he is the number one producer in his area. His farm is located in Accomack County, which is the furthest south of any Perdue producer, making him a good example of Perdue's ability to service and supply all its producers and help them become successful.

"The best thing I ever did was build my chicken houses and grow for Perdue. With farming, if you don't get anything out of your crop, you have to wait until next year. With Perdue you always have another flock coming in. Perdue can never get enough chickens to meet their demands, so they always want more. I make a real good living growing chickens for Perdue. My only regret is that I didn't start ten years earlier.

"The people at Perdue take a real interest in their chickens and the producers. The people I deal with at Perdue are all real nice. I couldn't ask for them to be any better to me—all of them—and I enjoy working with them. In fact, I'm so pleased with my chicken business, I've stopped farming. All I do now is grow chickens and I grow some mighty tender ones."

Mr. Davis makes a good living producing broilers for Perdue on his farm in Virginia. If you're interested in learning more about our broiler program, return the coupon or call 301-543-3000 and talk chicken with Perdue.

Rotary Club News

by Melvin Brobst
Under the supervision of Rotarian George Thompson, an interesting program was given during last week's weekly meeting of Harrington Rotary when a debate was held on the proposition of whether or not Rotary International should change its by-laws to allow women to become members. The affirmative team had as its captain, Mel Luff, with Mel Brobst, Dick Moretti, and Gayle Smith presenting the affirmative arguments. The negative team was captained by Art Gilbert, with Mel Wyatt, Bill Smith, and Leon Porter giving their opinions on the question. Judges were Gordon Rennie, Frank Soriano, George Thompson, and president Roger Trice. After the many-sided debate, the judges decided to announce their decision at a later date. Incidentally, a California club has been considering this problem for some time but was refused its decision by Rotary International, which resulted in its presentation through the courts and finally became on the agenda of the Supreme Court who had decided to hear the case.

In other matters, support for the Close-Up program to assist nine students from Lake Forest High School attend a session in Washington, D.C. in April that will enable them to better understand the workings of government, has been tabled until a future date.

Notice was received that Miss Elva Jane Warren, a graduate student being sponsored by the Harrington Rotary Club for a year's study, had arrived in Armidale, New South Wales, Australia. There is a sixteen hour difference in time, and she called her parents at 4:20 a.m. the day of her arrival, which was 8:20 p.m. of the day she called! She was met at the airport by the president of the college she is to attend, and his wife, and was entertained at dinner. She flew from BWI airport on Saturday, January 31, with stops at Los Angeles, Honolulu, New Zealand, and then Sydney. She was then transferred to a smaller plane for her flight to Armidale where she will be attending the University of New England (so named) because immigrants from that area located in Armidale, in Armidale, New South Wales, Australia, located close to the east coast of Australia. She will be studying Agriculture Economics. It is certain she will be the guest of various Rotary Clubs in the area and she is carrying many trophies of Harrington and the First State, made available to her by the local club and the Visitors' Center in Dover.

Bill Smith, past president of Harrington Rotary, has returned from Milford Hospital, where he underwent surgery and is now on the road to recovery.

Mayor Harry G. Farrow, Jr., has returned to membership in the Harrington Rotary club after an absence of several years. Other visitors and hopefully potential new members were: Tom Englehart, a civilian employee at the Dover Air Force Base, and Donald Chalmers, local business man. Bill Satterfield, a member of the Salisbury, Maryland Rotary Club dropped by as a visitor.

Harrington Rotary meets weekly on Monday evenings at the Harrington Restaurant and Newsstand, 100 Delaware Avenue, at 6:15 p.m., Roger Trice, president. Visitors are always welcome.

Gab Fest by Pat Hatfield...I grew up in the days when you scooted out of a warm bed and hurried downstairs to dress in front of the old iron kitchen range, because mother or daddy had come down early and built up a fire from corncobs or kindling prepared the night before.

"Love" "My Message To The World"

I came to tell you that Love is the most important thing in your life. Without Love you have nothing - but with Love you have everything.

I spent my entire life on earth as man teaching you Love, showing you Love, and being the ultimate example of Love, as I died for the Love of you, each and everyone of you. My single most important commandment is Love;

Love the Lord thy God
Love thy self
Love thy neighbor
Love thy enemy

Almost 2000 years have passed since my coming and still the world has almost completely missed my message of Love. Why? Because to most it is just a word without a definition. My true definition of Love is described in my Bible in I Corinthians, Chapter 13. I put it there for all the world to see, but few have seen it. Most everyone uses the word Love everyday but few know its definition and true meaning.

The reason the world is so full of hate is because it knows so little about Love, which is the only means of cancelling out hate.

Entire sermons are preached on Love and you have missed the meaning because you know not the definition.

It is now time for my "Love Message" to be seen on the "Bulletin Board of the World", for all men to see.

I ask my church to display my "definition" of Love inside of its buildings and temples for all to see, and also to display it on the outside near the door so that all may see and read it, even when the buildings are locked. If we want the world to know it must be presented for passers by to see and read.

Some of you reading this know of me (you know my name) but you don't know me personally; some of you, My Church, do know me personally; some have heard my name and turned their backs; and yet some have never heard of me at all.

At this very moment if you desire to know me as your Lord and your Savior and your brother, then ask me into your heart and I will immediately enter and show you the change that Love can have in your life.

I Love you all, each and everyone.

Spartan cagers drop two

by Mike Dill

The Lake Forest boys' basketball team, fresh off their first victory of the year, dropped two games last week to Henlopen Conference powers Smyrna and Dover.

Smyrna's Jay Garnett, the leading scorer in the Henlopen Conference, scored 30 points, and forwards Kevin Dickerson and Tim Bothell scored 12 and 11 points respectively to lead the Eagles past the Spartans 66-50.

Chuck Bell led the Spartans with 11 points, James Tiggs added eight, Mike Bleen has seven, and James Hicks chipped in six points.

Later in the week, the Spartans ran into a hot Dover High School team and came away 88-70 losers.

As was the case of Garnett in the Smyrna game, the Spartans had to try to contain Dover's Chris Lawrence. The Spartans had trouble with the red hot Lawrence as he pumped in 31 points.

Lawrence's output overshadowed the play of Spartan senior Steve Sipple. Sipple, the sixth man off the bench, came on to score 16 points. James Hicks helped out with 15 points and Chuck Bell pumped in 10.

Harness Horse News

Brandywine remains in business

Brandywine Raceway will be staying in business, thanks to new bank loans and concessions made by the horsemen. The Delaware Harness Racing Commission met last Wednesday to award this season's racing dates.

Brandywine, which lost $7.8 million over the past five years, slipped in competition to Atlantic City casinos and lotteries. The raceway had an alternative to let its property at Concord Pike and Naaman's Road in Wilmington sit idly until alternative plans could be made.

New Castle County rejected a proposal to convert the track into an upscale shopping mall and office complex in November.

Cloverleaf Standardbred Owners Association lobbied hard to keep the track open. Lower purses for drivers this season will save the raceway $500,000.

Brandywine received enough bank financing to rehire its staff and begin its 35th season.

Although Brandywine requested an opening date of March 22, Dover Downs received that week and in turn is yielding a week in November to Harrington Raceway.

Harrington's racing season is "just about the same as last year," said Gary Simpson of Harrington Raceway.

It appeared Harrington would lose a week of racing, but a request for additional days was granted. Mr. Simpson said the number of days of racing is within a day of last year's schedule.

"We'd like to get to the point where racing through November," he said.

Harrington will continue to run the Triple Trifecta as part of its racing season.

Racing at Harrington begins September 8 and runs through November 14. Dover's 1987 schedule runs through March 28 and resumes November 15 until December 31. Brandywine will run from March 29 to September 7; its schedule coincides with racing at Meadowlands.

Meadowlands racing will be simulcast at Brandywine, which should draw extra money into Brandywine.

No plans beyond this season have been considered for racing in Delaware.

D&L Photos announces CFFC discount

Premiere Delmarva Motorsports photographers, D&L Photos of Seaford, Delaware, announced recently that they will be giving a discount on services and merchandise to all Checkered Flag Fan Club Members throughout the 1987 season. D&L Photos has been catering to the photographic needs of the Eastern Shore motorsports community since 1983 and currently has concessions at the Georgetown Speedway in central Sussex County and the Airport Speedway south of Wilmington, Delaware. They handle publicity for the Georgetown Speedway and offer photographic publicity services to the race teams of the area.

D&L President Don Allen explained his firm's decision in this way, "My wife Linda and I didn't become fully aware of the CFFC and its goals until last season. Since then we have become members and we have purchased memberships for our entire staff. We are very impressed with what the club is doing, especially in the case of the Injured Driver's Fund and want to support it as much as we possibly can."

D&L will be offering a standing 5% discount to any of its customers who show a current CFFC membership card. This offer is good for merchandise as well as other photographic services that the firm does.

CAM 2 supports Georgetown

CAM 2 Racing Fuels and their local distributor, Snookie's Speed Parts of Milton, DE, are the first to announce their support of the 1987 Georgetown Speedway Points Fund. CAM 2, a subsidiary of the Sun Oil Company, is a manufacturer of a full line of high octane racing fuels.

Along with their $1,000 sponsorship of the fund, they will also be providing an additional $2,000 in product contingencies that will be distributed to Georgetown's racers throughout the season.

Last season was the first for a guaranteed points fund at Georgetown and at their recent banquet, nearly $17,000 was distributed to the top ten teams in each of the speedway's three regular divisions. With CAM 2's support the 1987 fund already stands at $6,000.

Spartan girls pull within one of Laurel

by Mike Dill

The Lake Forest girls' basketball team won two games last week defeating Smyrna 44-20 and beating Dover 38-31. But the biggest win of the week was by Caesar Rodney, upsetting Laurel, and letting the Spartans pull within one game of the division leading Bulldogs.

Melanie Pelton had a game high 16 points and Tara Dixon both added eight points apiece to lead the Spartans, who never let Smyrna hit double figures in any quarter of the game.

Mt. Carmel Eagles defeats L.D. Caulk 68-67

Mt. Carmel Eagles of Milford Christian Basketball team defeated L.D. Caulk & Co. Saturday evening, 68-67. Coach, Melvin Greene, said his boys have improved and controlled the offensive tempo; however, they need to improve with rebounds. Donald Polk led his team with 19 points and 11 rebounds, followed by Vincent Waples with 13 points and 8 rebounds, Larry Cooper with 8 and Terry Nichols with 7. Terry played offensively as well as defensively and his movements on the floor are very swift.

"We have to correct our mistakes and build from there," the coach said, "and not take any team for granted; and hopefully by tournament time the team will be in control offensively, defensively, rebounding and have only a few turnovers, if any."

Gary Duncan "GABO" played good defensively with a slip of the finger steal from a Caulk player, Gabo got fouled and made both foul shots. Gabo had 6 points. If Dr. "J" with the Sixers ever retires, they should check the Eagles out for Micah Parker who is a good imitation of Dr. "J" with quickness on his feet, leaps in the air and fantastic steals. Parker had 5 points.

The Eagles had 10 turnovers while L.D. Caulk had 12. With one minute left in the game, Vincent Waples made a fantastic steal when hustling for the ball, passed the ball to Donald Polk and Polk made a dynamic shot which won the game for the Eagles.

Fensterer found not guilty in murder trial

Prosecutor Dalton, who hasn't lost a case since 1979, agreed that Fensterer loved the girl.

"If he had not loved her, he would not have been jealous. He would not have done it," said Dalton.

When Schmittinger picked up a blue cat leash, the alleged murder weapon, and began winding it around his neck to demonstrate a point, the victim's mother, overcome with emotion, fled the courtroom.

The crux of the case was the time of Swift's death.

Schmittinger and co-defense counsel Charles Whitehurst contended the time of death was sometime in the afternoon while Fensterer was at work.

Dalton and co-counsel Deputy Attorney General Mark W. Bunitsky maintained that death occurred between 7:15 and 7:30 p.m.

The defense brought in pathologists Dr. Cyril Wecht, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Dr. Lawrence Virgilio, of Beebe Hospital in Lewes, as expert witnesses. Both pathologists agreed that death occurred sometime in mid-afternoon. They based their findings on undigested food particles found in the victim's stomach.

Dalton brought in Delaware Assistant State Medical Examiner Dr. Judith G. Tobin, who said death occurred between 2 p.m. and 10 p.m. Dalton also quoted from the writings of various experts who said that emotional and psychological factors can delay the digestive process.

Had he been convicted, Fensterer would have faced a life sentence with eligibility for parole after 11 years, according to Dalton.

Carper votes to override president on clean water legislation

Congressman Tom Carper joined an overwhelming number of his House colleagues today in voting to override President Reagan's veto of legislation reauthorizing the Clean Water Act. The vote was 401-26.

Congressman Tom Carper described the vote as "a major victory for those of us intent upon maintaining the nation's commitment to cleaning up our rivers, bays and estuaries, and keeping them clean."

"The vote also represents a victory for Delaware and its inland bays. Last June, I joined Senators Roth and Biden in urging the Environmental Protection Agency to include the Rehoboth, Indian River and Little Assawoman Bays in the National Estuary Program. The new Clean Water Act will direct the EPA to give priority consideration to these three Delaware Bays."

Another provision of the bill of special importance to Delaware is the Sewage Treatment Plant Construction Program. The success of the program to date has resulted in only two communities of more than 500 inhabitants being without sewage systems and secondary treatment facilities. Virtually no other state can make that claim. State officials estimate that Delaware will be eligible for approximately $12 million of construction money in 1987 and 1988 under the new Clean Water Act.

"The President objected to the sewage plant construction provisions of the bill arguing that they were too expensive. The main source of his objection, a $6 billion revolving fund for future sewage plant construction was not included in the President's version of the bill."

Miller High Life featured at Richmond

RICHMOND, Va.--Over $360,000 has been posted by Richmond Fairgrounds Raceway for its upcoming February weekend of NASCAR racing.

The 3-day Mid-Atlantic opening of stock car racing for 1987 will feature a field of Winston Cup cars which have competed in the Daytona 500 only the week before.

As the No.2 event of the 20-race Winston Cup series, Richmond's Miller High Life 400 will be the first short-track outing of the season.

$338,925 has been posted for the 218-mile 400-lap race on the .542-mile oval. Getting their first opportunity to "show their wares" will be the Virginia-strong NASCAR Late Model Stock Cars, with over 80 entries expected for the event--a prize of $22,810 on the line.

IRS announces payment limitations for divorces

Washington--The Internal Revenue Service today announced that for divorce or separation instruments executed after Dec. 31, 1986, the Tax Reform Act of 1986 removes certain limitations on the types of payments that may qualify as alimony and separate maintenance payments for federal income tax purposes. As a result, certain payments that would not have qualified as alimony or separate maintenance payments before the act will now qualify.

The new law eases the limitations on "front-loaded" alimony or separate maintenance payments by repealing the minimum term rule and significantly revising the recapture rule. Thus, alimony or separate maintenance payments need be made only during three years after separation, rather than six. In addition, the amount of annual payments exempt from any front-loading limitation goes up to $15,000 from $10,000.

In addition to providing a new recapture rule, the new law retroactively amends the old recapture rule in the case of divorce or separation instruments that continue to be governed by pre-Tax Reform Act law. Under this amendment, the recapture rule of earlier law will apply only during the first three years after separation, rather than the first six.

Finally, as under earlier law, payments will qualify as alimony or separate maintenance payments only if the payer spouse's liability to continue to make payments ends on the death of the payee spouse. However, the new act provides that the divorce or separation instrument need not expressly state that liability to make alimony or separate maintenance payments ends on the death of the payee spouse if, for example, that liability would end under state law.

The IRS also reminded taxpayers claiming deductions for alimony payments that they must enter the recipient's last name and social security number on their 1986 income tax returns. Taxpayers receiving alimony must report it as income on their 1986 income tax return.

World class athlete joins Kent General's Physical Therapy Dept.

Carol Galloway, P.T., has joined Kent General's Physical Therapy staff. A world class long jumper, she has also come to Dover to train for several international events.

Ms. Galloway, who is a native of Montreal, Canada, came to the states on a track scholarship. She attended Maryland Eastern Shore and Delaware State College before graduating as an Academic All-American from the University of Connecticut.

Her training in physical therapy has included internships with the Hartford Visiting Nurse Association, and the U.S. Coast Guard in New London, Conn.

After a day at Kent General, Ms. Galloway spends 2 to 3 hours sharpening her skills at Delaware State College under supervision of Fred Sowerby, the school's Women's Track and Field Coach. Mr. Sowerby, who has produced a number of nationally ranked athletes, is also her uncle.

Ms. Galloway doesn't believe women athletes in the United States have an opportunity to reach their full potential. Most, she says, stop competing after college. Her personal plans, however, are long range, including the 1988 Olympics.

Fourteen tapes added to Tel-Med library

Tel-Med, which provides free medical, dental and other health-related information by telephone, has added 14 new tapes to its library of more than 400 pre-recorded messages. A service of Kent General Hospital and the Delaware Academy of Medicine, Tel-Med received more than 43,000 calls in its first three years of operation.

The tapes added to Tel-Med library in 1987 are: #92 Strep Throat; #132 Cocaine Abuse; #206 Health for Infants; #415 Stress; #561 Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis (Lou Gherig's Disease); #610 Diabetes Emergencies; #616 Bulimia; #724 Alzheimer's Disease; #890 Premenstrual Syndrome; #947 Fetal Alcohol Syndrome; #1000 Vital Organ Donation; #1071 CT Scan; #1111 Exercise Your Heart; and #5012 Weight Reduction.

A listing of all Tel-Med tapes, except these additions, can be found in the Blue Pages of the Lower Delaware Diamond State Telephone Directory. Each tape in the listing is assigned a number. Once you find a topic of interest, dial 734-5534 and give the operator the number.

It's often helpful to keep a piece of paper and pencil nearby, since many tapes refer to local organizations that can provide additional information about the subject. Tel-Med is staffed weekdays from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Saturdays and Sundays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

You'll find questions like "Where Did I Come From, Mama?" and "When Should I See a Psychiatrist?" answered in straightforward, easy-to-understand language. Tel-Med also offers definitions of hundreds of common, and not-so-common, diseases and conditions, such as Chickenpox, Scoliosis, and Gonorrhea.

Although the tapes have been screened by physicians, dentists, and other health experts to ensure accuracy, Tel-Med is strictly an information service. It is not designed for emergency help or to replace your physician.

Women's History Week comes in March

"Women's History as Our Future" is the theme for this year's National Women's History Week in Delaware, to be celebrated March 1-7, 1987. The 1987 Women's History Week activities are coordinated by the Women's History Project, a coalition of women's groups convened by the Delaware Commission for Women.

Of special interest are activities targeted at eighth-grade students throughout the State. To provide role models and stimulate student's thinking about the career options open to them, volunteer women speakers from a wide spectrum of professions will address eighth-grade classes in a "What's My Line" format.

Posters featuring a specially-designed Women's History Week logo will be distributed to schools, and every eighth grader will receive a folder displaying the logo. Resource packets with suggested readings and activities will be made available to all eighth-grade Social Studies teachers. And finally, one minute biographical taped spots summarizing the accomplishments of five distinguished Delaware women have been produced, using students as announcers. They will be broadcast over local radio stations and announced over the public address systems of participating schools.

To highlight Women's History Week, the Sixth Annual Hall of Fame of Delaware Women awards ceremony will be held on March 5 in Georgetown, and the Delaware Women's Conference is scheduled for March 7 at the University of Delaware's Clayton Hall.

For further information, call the Delaware Commission for Women, 571-2660.

legislation. While the President would have us walk away from this responsibility altogether after 1993, this fund would provide a smooth transition mechanism which will allow the federal government to get out of the sewage plant construction business and at the same time enable states to meet their future sewage plant construction needs and keep our streams and rivers clean.

Other highlights of the bill include: grants to assist states in controlling non-point sources of pollution such as runoff from streets and fields; more reasonable stormwater discharge requirements; and the establishment of programs to better monitor and reduce pollution in lakes and estuaries.

A virtually identical Clean Water Act reauthorization was passed last year by the House and Senate with unanimous approval. The President vetoed that bill after the 99th Congress had already adjourned providing Congress with no opportunity to override the veto.

Raceweek

Bill Elliott charges back winning Daytona pole and Busch Clash

Bill Elliott will be the man to watch in Sunday's Daytona 500 at the Daytona International Speedway.

On Monday, Elliott took the pole position for the Daytona 500, after winning the $210,000 Busch Clash Saturday.

Elliott's new Thunderbird turned the second fastest lap ever at 210.364 mph winning the pole. It was second to his own record of 212.229 mph set last May at Talladega.

Still to come before the Daytona 500, the "superbowl" of NASCAR racing, are the qualifying races, which will be held tomorrow. Elliott will also be driving in the 300 mile late model sportsman race on Saturday.

Elliott's own 210 mph lap demolished his own track qualifying mark of 205.114 mph set two years ago. Elliott attributes his fast times to the work he's been doing with his car and the 200 pounds NASCAR dropped from the cars.

Elliott's pole win was his third straight. Davey Allison took the outside spot on the front row for Sunday's race at 209.084 mph.

Elliott won 11 super speedway races in 1985, including the Daytona 500.

In the Busch Clash, Elliott pulled away with an easy victory after slipping back early in the race. Elliott's victory netted him $75,000 in the 20 lap, 50 mile

He drew the pole for the Clash, slipping to sixth in the 10 car field. He easily gained, taking fifth in lap two, fourth in the third and second in lap seven.

Elliott grabbed the lead from Darrell Waltrip in the fourth turn of lap eight and retained the lead for the rest of the race.

Elliott finished the race in 15 minutes and 10 seconds. He beat out Geoff Bodine by two car lengths.

Georgetown Speedway Director, Tony Donofrio, supervises the dumping of one load of the nearly 1800 tons of new clay added to the track surface in mid-January. Photo by D & L Photos

Heart transplant completed at Georgetown Speedway

by Don Allen

"The clay surface is the heart of our operation and we knew that we had to renew it again this off-season or we would be right back where we started in 1984. Maybe this time we've brought in enough to last for a couple of seasons." So said President of First State Promotions, Inc. and Georgetown Speedway Director Tony Donofrio as he watched the last of the nearly 1,800 tons of new clay being dumped on his central Sussex County facility.

Over the three seasons that Georgetown Speedway has operated under the First State banner, it has built a reputation as one of the fastest, most competitive half-miles on the east coast. A resurfacing before the start of the '86 season made for some very memorable auto racing during the summer months. However during some of the late season events the old hardpan surface began to reappear in the turns. This time First State, with the help of local heavy equipment leaser Roland Hitchens and Ritter Farms, has brought in twice the amount of pure clay that they did in 1986.

The prep crews were able to complete the initial grading of the new material before the recent winter storm. When the final dressing is done, the racing surface will have the same banking and basic geometry as before, thus preserving the "safety zone" outside the turns and on the backstretch. This access road area is one of the reasons that the facility has become known as a "forgiving" speedway and one that is very easy on equipment.

The full 1987 Georgetown Speedway schedule will be announced sometime in February.

Kicking off the year will be the first of four appearances by the sprint cars of the United Racing Club. The April 24th event will mark the first time in nearly a quarter-century that those high velocity, open wheel warriors have competed at Georgetown. MODCAR and ESMRA are on the docket as well as the return of last year's thrilling "Georgetown Scrambles" series for Modifieds.

There are still 1987 Season Passes available and can be obtained by writing to First State Promotions, Inc., P.O. Box 31, Lewes, Delaware, 19958 or by calling 302-645-5432.

DIRT Modifieds winter tour set

WEEDSPORT, N.Y...As many people prepare to dig in for the brunt of the Winter months, the DIRT Modifieds will head South. The "Florida Swing" will take place February 9 through 14 at Volusia County Speedway.

The "Florida Swing" gives you the perfect opportunity to escape the doldrums of winter. A week of Florida sunshine and some great Modified racing is the cure for the Winter time blues.

The DIRT Modifieds will be in competition on February 9, 10, 11, 13 and 14 with the 12 being an off night. The first four races are 30 laps while the final night will feature a 50 lap, $5,000 to win main event.

Over 40 entries have been received from all over the United States. It is the perfect opportunity for the drivers to shake down their equipment for the upcoming season. It's also a chance to get away from winter for a little while.

It remains to be seen whether any of the cars will be sporting the new DIRT body styles. It would be a good time to do some testing with the new configuration.

Following the week in Florida, the DIRT Mods will make their first ever appearance in Texas and Louisiana. The "Texas Swing" will run from February 18th through the 22nd at four different tracks.

Shown is a portion of the nearly 1800 tons of new clay added to the Georgetown Speedway track surface in mid-January. It should make for some super racing in 1987! Photo by D & L Photos

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

To the citizens of Harrington, especially citizens of the third ward. Three councilpersons have publicly expressed positive feelings regarding the building of a new city hall and promising no increase in taxes. I want the citizens of Harrington to know that I support building a new city hall. I also, will not vote to raise taxes. At this date I am not aware of any councilpersons that will vote for increased taxes. I believe that most councilpersons, including myself are interested in determining when it will be feasible to lower the tax rate.

When I was a Candidate, I expressed that I was interested in housing (Rehabilitation of and additional houses) broadening of the tax base and growth for the city. I deeply feel that if you voted for me based on the above mentioned issues that I have kept my promise to you. I further feel that most members of the council have worked diligently for progress. Evidence of progress is readily visible if you enjoy eating at the Colony Inn, sleeping at the motel and shopping at the new mall. Some citizens had their homes rehabilitated and more homes will be rehabilitated with no cost to the owner or the city. Other citizens took advantage of 3% interest loans to renovate their homes. Money was procured to aid in the building of the senior citizen dining hall. Two companies build houses for our citizens. To me this represents progress with no cost to the citizens but certainly broadens the tax base.

I want the citizens whom I represent to know there has been no change in my commitment to you. I want you to know that I am dedicated to the present and the future and not the past. I only utilize the past to ensure that the same mistake will not be made and as a stepping stone toward improvement in the future.

On the night Council's applications for rehabilitation of houses and monies to build the senior citizen dining hall were presented to Levy Court, I stood before the commissioners and verbally urged them to accept and honor our applications. I have received information that there should be monies available for rehabilitation of houses, probably in July.

People have talked with me of their concerns for industry to relocate here. Be assured that the majority of members of council and others are and have been striving to make this a reality. However, I am told that a city hall (one you can be proud of) a public library and housing are three main ingredients to entice industry. Industries should commence arriving in Harrington this year.

For the last month or so, many rumors and lies have surfaced. I only pray that you will not be misled by false prophets. I urge you to wait for the truth as the truth will surface.

As your councilman I would appreciate receiving your views in writing. Address 208 West Street, Harrington.

Your Councilman
Daniel R. Coleman

Dear Editor:

To The Citizens Of Harrington
I feel compelled to respond to the letter To The Citizens Of Harrington, especially citizens of the third ward, contained in this issue of this newspaper from our councilman, Daniel R. Coleman.

I am a resident of the third ward and it has never been my contention, or that of my neighbors, that a 4,100 square foot city hall complex such as Mr. Coleman supports is one of the needs of the City of Harrington.

I am also one of the people who would be acting on a 3% interest loan to improve my property. It is important that everyone understands that the criteria for eligibility for the low interest loan was low income and need. Perhaps even more important is that everyone understands that at no time was the Harrington City Council, in any way, shape or form, responsible for me getting the loan. This was strictly a Kent County project and the money came to me through the Delaware State Housing Authority. At no point in time did the Harrington City Council ever have the authority, right or privilege to vote for or against this project. The loan was available to everyone in Kent County who qualified. Being a resident of The City of Harrington, the third ward, and most of all being represented at Harrington City Council by Daniel R. Coleman was never a requirement. This fact was confirmed to me by our City Manager, George Volenick.

When Daniel R. Coleman was present at Levy Court and verbally urged that body to accept and honor applications, (as Mr. Coleman said he did) he was never acting on my behalf or representing The City of Harrington as councilman from the third ward. If additional monies will be available in July, they will not be awarded to people because of The City Council or any of its members.

However, all is not lost. I do sincerely thank you Mr. Coleman for your promise to lower taxes. I hope I see this item on an agenda very soon.

Sincerely,
Anne Paladino

Sheltering the homeless

by Congressman Tom Carper

It has become an all too familiar story. A woman and her two children are without a place to stay in the dead of winter. With no family or friends to turn to, they search out a shelter for the homeless. If they are lucky, they will find a shelter with room to take them.

It's a scenario we in Delaware frequently associate with New York City, or Chicago, or Washington, D.C. But it is increasingly the case in Wilmington, and Dover, and Georgetown as well.

The homeless are perhaps the fastest growing population in America. The National Conference of Mayors and the National Coalition for the Homeless estimate that the number of homeless will increase by 25% this winter alone.

That's consistent with the trend here in Delaware. At the only shelter in Kent County, the Ruth N. Dorsey Relief Shelter, the number of homeless they serve has increased from 271 in 1984, to 393 in 1985, to 491 in 1986. And this year, Nancy Tate, the Director of the Whatcoat Social Service Agency which runs the shelter, expects the number to continue to climb.

What may be even more disturbing are the kinds of people who are becoming our state's homeless population. According to Kevin Hopper, the Administrator of Community Services for the Salvation Army, a comprehensive study soon to be released by his organization and the Urban Agent Division of the University of Delaware reveals that the vast majority of our homeless-seventy-five percent-are women and children. The report also indicates that 50% of Delaware's homeless have steady jobs, and 30% become homeless after being forced to leave single family housing units already occupied by two or more families.

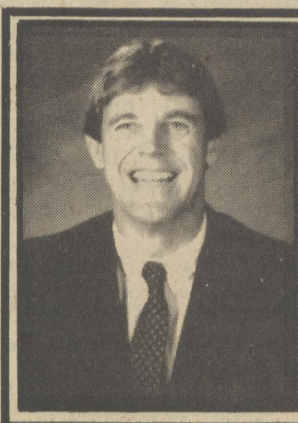

The magnitude of the homeless crisis has led Congress to act. Last week, the House and Senate overwhelmingly passed legislation to provide an additional $50 million in emergency funds for homeless shelters this winter. This stop-gap measure will transfer funds from the disaster relief program of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) to their emergency food and shelter program. FEMA, in turn, will provide financial assistance to non-profit voluntary organizations, such as Whatcoat and the Salvation Army, as well as local governments which provide food and shelter to the homeless.

On the same day the House passed the $50 million measure, my Subcommittee on Housing opened hearings on more comprehensive emergency legislation to better address the problems of the homeless. "The Emergency Relief For The Homeless Act" is a $500 million package which would not only provide additional funds for homeless shelters, but would also improve the availability of health care to homeless people and establish an Interagency Office of the Homeless within the Department of Health and Human Services. This new office would identify and lease underutilized federal, state and local government properties for use by agencies assisting the homeless.

This legislation, which places a special emphasis on homeless families and children, is on a fast track. It is my hope that the House will act swiftly to pass it, and to deauthorize a like amount of funds for other projects that are less urgent. Already, it is estimated that 54% of those who seek out a homeless shelter in Delaware are turned away for lack of space.

There are presently only 900 beds available for the homeless in Delaware. I believe the agencies operating the homeless shelters are doing the very best they can with the resources at their disposal. This new legislation will help ease their burden, but it's a little like putting a band-aid on the problem. We need to find innovative ways, involving public and private partnerships, to make decent housing affordable to low and middle-income families. It will take more-much more-help from all levels of government, business, labor, churches, community groups, and individual citizens if we are going to stem the growing tide of homelessness in America.

Why Is This Man Smiling?

The news shot like a missile through thousands of households on the evening January 4, 1987.

"Two weeks of fun ends tomorrow for thousands of area youngsters," the local newscaster said. "They go back to school."

Does she have any idea what she said? Does she have any idea what kind of concept she planted in the minds of countless students, their parents and their teachers?

Could she be right?

If school isn't fun anymore, is it because of the same societal pressures that convinced our youth that it was difficult, at best, to have a good time unless you were under the influence of an artificial stimulant have also persuaded them to conclude that anything that has to do with the betterment of one's mental capacities has to be cruel and unusual punishment?

Can education be fun? Are our schools staffed with people who either do not know how or do not care to lead our youth down the road of educational enlightenment on the vehicles of enthusiasm, excitement and inspiration?

Certainly, this is well worth looking at.

It would be easy to project a melancholy appearance after the numerous reports revealing the suspected shortcomings in our educational system. The comparisons with other cultures don't help either unless one realizes that this matter goes far beyond the schoolhouse door and enters into the living room of every household in this country.

Still, this is the land of opportunity. Education is the profession of opportunity. There is no greater place to make a difference in our world today. The potential is there for our staff, for our students and for our community members.

All we have to do is smile a little more.

Senator Minner's column

by Sen. Ruth Ann Minner

Last week I introduced and the Senate passed a resolution urging personnel of the Department of Public Safety to discontinue enforcement of some of the intra-state provisions of the new Federal motor Carrier Act until they can better publicize these changes to the Delaware trucking community.

Now, before someone starts accusing me of asking the State Police to wink their eyes at law-breaking, let me explain what happened.

Last year late in June, the Department of Public Safety came to the members of the General Assembly with the message that, unless we complied with the new federal law, we would lose federal highway dollars.

Since the federal law and regulations run about 3,000 pages, there wasn't time for us to read every new provision but we were assured that there were no substantial changes and that we could adopt the federal law by a one-paragraph reference in the Delaware Code.

It wasn't long after the General Assembly adopted the federal code to bring the State into compliance that we

Toward better campaign finance laws

By Governor Michael N. Castle

Like most Delawareans, I have watched the degradation of election politics by negative campaigning, mudslinging and special interest spending in other states with alarm. But I have taken some comfort from the fact that Delaware has largely been spared these kinds of election practices.

Last November, however, allegations of a questionable campaign financing scheme by a political action committee convinced me it was time to reexamine the laws that guarantee the integrity of our election process in Delaware.

Since November, my staff and I have researched campaign financing laws in literally every state in the nation, as well as, federal law. It is evident to me that we can do more to guarantee fair, honest and open elections in our state.

For that reason, I have asked six Delawareans of unquestioned integrity to conduct a thorough study of our laws and recommend to me and the General Assembly ways we can make them better.

It is of paramount importance that this group feel free to consider any and all changes that might make campaign finance laws better in Delaware. For that reason, I have not made any specific recommendations to the found out there were some clinkers in the law which affected intra-state as well as interstate truckers.

The result was, for instance, that intra-state Delaware truckers were being stopped and cited for driving without a seat belt although the Delaware legislature had rejected a mandatory seat belt law.

Other truckers were stopped for not having certain documents not required in Delaware.

I'm sure the legislature never intended to adopt a mandatory seat belt law when it voted to be in compliance with the federal law and I know I wasn't made aware of the fact that the federal act affected truckers who don't cross State lines.

The Department of Public Safety didn't do a good job of publicizing the new regulations, and I don't think it's fair to spring a lot of new regulations on truckers without advanced warning and a publicity campaign.

It's my hope that the Department will make members of the trucking community aware of the major changes before ticketing them, and I understand a fact sheet is already in preparation.

But, after 20 years of involvement in election reform, I have strong feelings on the subject, and there are several things I believe must be done.

First, Delaware needs a strong and effective Election Commission, perhaps modeled on the federal Election Commission, with the power to enforce our laws effectively.

Second, we must give serious consideration to whether transfer of funds from one campaign to another should be permitted at all. I would urge that it be outlawed.

Finally, the laws which today require limited disclosure of who contributes to political campaigns and where the money comes from must be expanded to require accounting for every dollar that is spent on an election campaign. And, we must require more frequent reporting of contributions, so that when voters go to the polls on Election Day they know who is providing financial support to a candidate.

Over the last 20 years, we have been spared the abuses and embarrassments other states have suffered in political campaigns. I'm proud of that fact, and I believe the time is right to strengthen our laws so that we can keep our record clean.

Roth fights for Delaware water resources

by U.S. Senator Bill Roth

Next time you take a trip to one of Delaware's beaches or bays, take a minute to think about what it would be like if the water was thick with sludge, slime or some other type of pollution. It's not a very pleasant thought, but it does make you appreciate the need to protect the water quality of our Delaware coastline and inland waterways.

Because of the importance of our Delaware water resources to all Delawareans, whether it be for their livelihood or simple recreation, I voted to override President Reagan's veto of the Clean Water Act. I originally cosponsored this legislation because it offers many benefits for Delaware and because clean water is a necessary investment in our future.

The Clean Water Act designates Delaware Bay and Delaware Inland Bays for top priority consideration in the National Estuary Program. This measure was a high priority for me because, in becoming part of the program, Delaware will become eligible for additional funds to maintain and improve water quality in our bays. This legislation also authorizes $11.9 million annually through 1990 for the construction and improvement of sewage treatment facilities in Delaware. And, the Clean Water Act will also ban sludge dumping in a site located 12 miles offshore from New York City and prevent the city of Boston from dumping waste at the 106 mile site off the coast of Delaware. Last year, I introduced legislation to prevent any dumping at the 106 mile site, so naturally, I am pleased with this provision.

Along the same lines, I recently wrote to the Administrator of the EPA to voice my concerns regarding ocean incineration and the involvement of special interest groups. Last May, the EPA made the decision not to consider any ocean incineration permit applications at this stage of the proceedings. This decision is currently being challenged in court by a hazardous waste management company. In my letter, I urged the agency to avoid catering to special interest groups and to continue to seek alternate ways of waste management.

I have always opposed ocean incineration and I will continue to fight efforts to use this technology. It makes no sense to me to spend time, effort and money to protect the quality of our water and then risk all that by using a questionable technology to dispose of hazardous waste off our coast. Delaware's coast and waterways deserve the utmost care. They are too valuable a resource to take any chances with questionable technologies and an investment in their preservation and protection is more than justifiable.

"AMERIKA" THE SILLY

By Edwin Feulner

What fools are saying is wrong with the ABC mini-series Amerika says a lot about what's really wrong with America.

Amerika is about life in the United States 10 years after it is conquered—with minimal bloodshed, apparently—by the Soviet Union. Despite heated opposition from U.S. liberals, Kremlin officials, the United Nations, and even some conservatives, ABC is scheduled to air the fourteen-and-a-half-hour production from February 15 through February 20.

A brief history is in order. In 1983 ABC aired a "docudrama," The Day After, about life after nuclear holocaust. It angered conservatives because it oversimplified things the way liberals generally do. Amerika was produced, some say, because ABC felt compelled to produce something to pacify the Right.

The Day After implied, for example, that any use of nuclear weapons would force lead to global holocaust, and wholly ignored what is behind America's nuclear deterrent: Moscow's desire to obtain across-the-board military superiority to further its expansionist designs.

It may be true, as the "peace" lobby constantly says, that Moscow doesn't want nuclear war any more than we do. But the occupation of Afghanistan is only the latest demonstration that the Kremlin still doesn't shrink from going all the way to genocide, carried out by the most grisly means, in pursuit of its expansionist ends. Soviet history since the 1917 revolution also shows that the Kremlin has no qualms about laying waste to scores of millions of its own citizens.

All that is in addition to the cultural genocide Moscow carries out wherever it extends its sway. "Culture" in any reasonable sense presupposes the freedoms guaranteed in the U.S. Bill of Rights—such things as freedom of speech and religion. The very essence of totalitarianism is not only its destruction of all basic freedoms, but also—and this distinguishes it from authoritarianism—its attempt to reshape the minds and spirits of its victims.

That's why, back when liberal had something to do with liberty liberals would have been the first to cheer on those trying to expose and ultimately defeat history's most vile form of tyranny. Today, as their rage over Amerika shows, they're more interested in opposing tyranny's opponents. One can easily enough understand the Soviet's unsuccessful attempt to intimidate ABC out of airing Amerika, but opposition from those who profit from the blessings of liberty is shameful, if no longer surprising.

Amerika's writer, director, and producer, Donald Wyre, says he was "a little dumb" in not anticipating the firestorm of outrage the show elicited from the Left. "I portrayed the Soviets in a much kinder light than historically they have articulated themselves in occupational circumstances," Wyre told The Washington Post. "I made a specific effort to portray them more generously than might have been possible."

Which is another illustration of the futility of trying to appease the Left. Indications so far are that Amerika will generate far more outrage from the Left than The Day After did from the Right. The conservative criticism of Amerika, based on preliminary showings, is based on what Wyre admits: the Soviets are portrayed as far nicer guys than they are. They're destroyed freedom in the show, but the population seems more bored than bitter and brutalized.

The real trouble with Amerika is this: With so many real-life examples of Soviet brutality around, it's wasteful and silly to resort to fiction. Why not docudramas portraying what the Soviets are doing right now in Afghanistan, for example? Things like bayonetting pregnant women, raping teenage girls and flinging them from helicopters, burning women and children alive, boobytrapping toys—these are only a few of the unspeakably vicious forms of terror the Soviets are using to terrorize and depopulate Afghanistan.

As usual, American liberals have things not only wrong, but topsy-turvy. (Feulner is president of The Heritage Foundation, a Washington-based public policy research institute.)

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church

Bishop of Delaware, the Rt. Rev'd. Cabell Tennis, addressed delegates and guests on Friday evening. He presented his observations and goals for the future of our diocese. At the Saturday convention eucharist, the Rt. Rev'd. Benjamin Nzimbi, a bishop from Kenya, spoke movingly to the convention about the tremendous Christian renewal which is happening in Africa. Bishop Nzimbi's diocese is only five years old, yet it has grown from nine parishes to twenty-nine in that short period. It was gratifying to hear of the growth of the Christian faith in another part of the Anglican Communion.

The convention delegates viewed a videotape about the Lambeth Conference of 1988. Every ten years, the bishops of the world-wide Anglican communion congregate in England. The 1988 Lambeth Conference will differ from previous conferences, in that members of each diocese of the Anglican Communion will have an opportunity to present their bishop their concerns for the future of the church. Members of St. Stephen's will be able to view the special Lambeth Conference video conference in the near future. The Vicar of St. Stephen's, the Rev'd. Susan Mills, and St. Stephen's delegates and alternate, Ellen Perry, Richard Seely and Robert McNally, attended the diocesan convention.

St. Stephen's was host on Monday, February 9th, to the Lake Forest Ministerium's Youth Group. Our get-together for junior and senior high school students was a "Game Night" for fun and fellowship. Special thanks go to Anne Reeve, A.B. Vaughan and Doug Thompson for their preparation of this event.

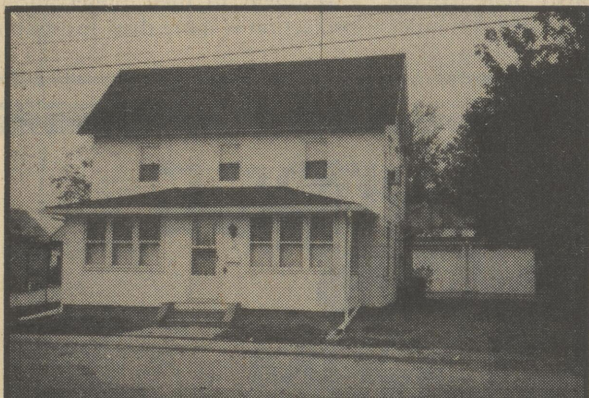

St. Stephen's members and friends are asked to mark their calendars for the annual Pancake Supper. This year the supper will be held on March 3rd, from 5:00 to 7:00 p.m. Members of St. Stephen's are asked to sign the sheet in the parish hall to indicate how they will participate at the Pancake Supper. We need the participation of all our congregation to make the Shrove Tuesday supper a success.
