

Council advised to set standards for manufactured homes

by William Robertson
HARRINGTON—Whether the double-wide on Vernon Road is allowed in the city limits of Harrington still remains a question to be answered. During a special town council meeting Thursday night, Lester Blades of the Dover law firm of Terry, Jackson, Terry and Wright, provided the council with definitions used by Dover, Rehoboth Beach, the Department of Motor Vehicle and the Kent County Levy

Court. Blades told councilmembers that there is no clear cut definition of a "mobile home" because most dealers now refer to them as manufactured homes. The name "mobile home" is no longer a word in use today to describe any type of home whether it be a double-wide, side-by-side, or if it came on wheels, Blades said. Blades has been instructed by the council to meet with the city manager and the city building inspector to provide a standard definition of a manufactured home. Blades was also asked by the council to see how other towns within the region are handling double-wides and other types of manufactured homes. The council also approved the purchase of a tractor to help with the spreading of sludge on the Dave

Peterson farm. In October, the city will have received a grant to help them purchase a new tractor. The purchase of a microwave oven for city hall employees brought up some controversy among councilmembers. The microwave was purchased for $100 by the city. Councilman James Temple told the council he didn't think that the city taxpayer's money should be used for a microwave which will be used by only three employees. Temple wanted to know who would be responsible if a person came in the building with a pacemaker and the microwave was running at the time. The person with the pacemaker could experience problems. Councilwoman Sue Ellen Dennis approved the purchase of the microwave. Dennis said the town has given over $5,000 to different organizations in the town. "...why couldn't a $100 be spent on the city employees." Dennis felt the microwave would be a positive donation to the employees and would serve as a morale booster. The discussion ended on the note who would pay for the microwave. The matter was tabled for future discussion.

Lake Forest billboard destroyed by vandals

Vandals using chainsaws destroyed the graffiti board that had been erected at Lake Forest High School. "This is a most unfortunate development," said Lake Forest Superintendent Dr. James H. VanSciver. "The students at the school had been utilizing this billboard to the fullest. The graffiti was changing almost daily. The seniors had just prepared it for graduation with a nice message. Now, it's gone."

number of possibilities concerning information are being explored. "Anyone who knows anything about this situation may certainly call me," VanSciver continued. "It is a matter of great importance to the students of our school." Plans for the future are for school administrators to meet with students to discuss options regarding this development. The billboard had been erected as a vehicle to help encourage students to not paint on the road.

Felton Council expects ditch work to be done by Kent Conservations

by Lola M. O'Day
FELTON - On June 9, the Felton Town Council held a special meeting concerning the work to be done on a ditch. During the meeting, Attorney Harry Fisher III, submitted the agreement that had been drawn up and signed by property owners to be finalized by the council and agreed upon. Attorney Fisher informed the town council, at its last meeting that an additional grant for $5,000 was added to the original $11,000 by Kent Conservation. A motion was made and seconded to authorize President Egler to sign the right of way easement for the Kent Conservation Ditch Project. The driver of the pulpwood load, dumped on Church and Main Streets of Felton, has refused to pay for damages. The town will repair the damages, and then forward the estimate of cost to the liable person, (truck driver), for his insurance company to handle. The Felton Street Fair scheduled for June 20, will be blocking the streets from Main to High. The streets will be closed to traffic from 8 a.m. instead of the regularly scheduled 6 a.m.

Chicken Festival proves to be healthy and fun

Milford is an old hand at hosting chicken festivals, having had three during the 1980's. It takes advantage of them to hold a parade, work out the local civic groups and show off the town. Milford's Chamber of Commerce led the way this year under the direction of its president, Jack Nylund. Hardly had the last piece of chicken been eaten and the parking lot emptied than planners began work on the 40th edition of the festival which will be held with a cooking contest in Salisbury, Maryland, next June.

MILFORD - The 39th annual Delmarva Chicken Festival held in Milford last weekend proved that fun sure can be healthy as festival goers and participants treated themselves to old fashioned fun, plenty of lean chicken and some fierce competition. Festival chairman, V. George Carey, put a line of thunderstorms on hold for the Saturday portion, assuring that the 15,000 people who came enjoyed a cool breeze and cloudy shade from what would have been a very hot and bright sun.

Lake Forest School Board sets tax rate

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.
The Lake Forest School Board voted unanimously Monday night to approve the tax rate for fiscal year (FY '88) 88 to be $0.406 per $100 of assessed value on real estate in the school district. The figures just released by the Kent County Assessment Board shows total assessed value on real estate in the district to be $188,959,828. The total assessed valuation multiplied by the tax rate ($0.406) totals approximately $767,176.90. The tax rate is approximately $1.00 below last year's tax rate, but the income realized from the taxes will be more as a result of the new assessments. In FY '87 the net assessed value of real estate in the district was $53,578,400 as opposed to the FY '88 assessed valuations which are $188,959,828. This represents an increase of three and one half times the amount in '87 or a 28% increase over last year's revenue budget.

This does not preclude a person from smoking outside the buildings. The policy just applies to enclosed buildings of the district. The Board elected this to be a six month trial basis beginning August 1st, 1987. The reason given for necessitating this policy was for health and safety reasons. In other matters the Board addressed another matter concerning the recent election in the school district for the seat occupied by Mr. Earl Roberts. He was the incumbent opposed by Mrs. Doris Wechtenhiser Draper. In a letter dated May 18th, 1987, addressed to the Lake Forest School Board, Mrs. Draper cited a possible conflict of interest existing between Mr. Roberts and the Lake Forest Education Association, which is the union for the school district. LFEA paid for an advertisement in favor of Mr. Roberts, the advertisement amounted to $200. She reasoned that where Mr. Roberts was endorsed by the association through the advertisement she felt that he sitting as a board member negotiating teacher's contracts would, in fact pose a problem and therein she felt lies the conflict of interest.

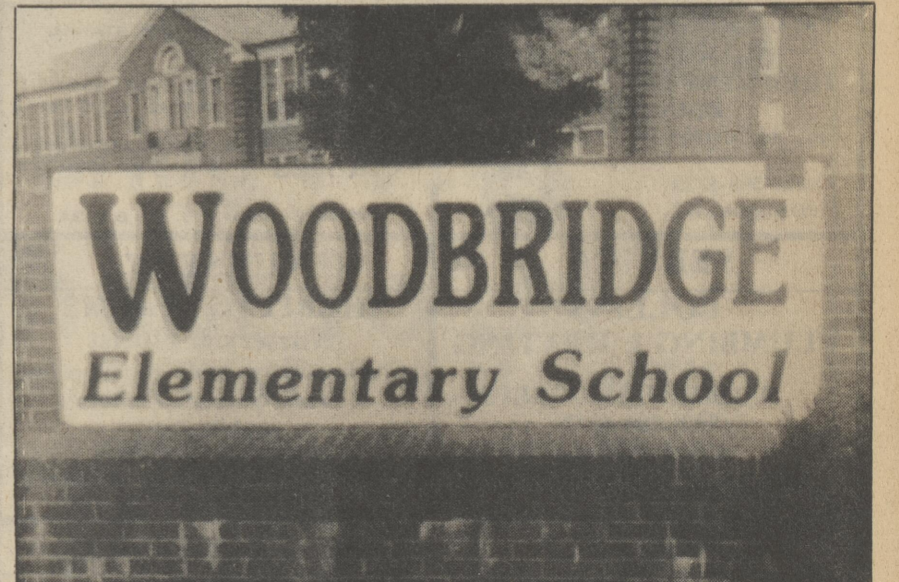

In the breakdown of the tax proposal this coming fiscal year over last year's budget, there is shown in Current Expense Taxes an increase of $61,728 ($659,284 to $721,012); in Debt Service Taxes there is an increase of $1411,000 ($8037 to $9448). In the Minor Capital Improvement Tax program there is an increase from $154,038 to $165,340 or a difference of $11,302.00. The Tuition Tax is down from last year's amount by $46,143.00 ($126,044 to $79,901). This tax is paid to speciality schools which certain students are required to attend in order to receive special schooling. The District has students attending the Charlton School, the Kent Orthopedic, Kent Intensive Learning Center, Sterck, Visually Impaired and the Vocational Intensive Learning Center. The Capitation Tax rate will remain at $15 per person who are of voting age or have reached their majority, but there will be an increase in this category because there are 340 new names to add to this list.

On June 10th, 1987, the School Board responded to Mrs. Draper's letter, and the response was read aloud on Monday night. The response letter was introduced by Mr. David Welch, vice-president of the Board, and Mr. Welch noted for the record that Mr. Roberts was not aware of the response prior to the June 10th deadline. The response letter was read aloud by Board member Michael Thompson. The response letter denied any conflict of interest labeling the chief ingredient being that no money changed hands, that is from the LFEA to Mr. Roberts. A section in the letter allowed that "...we (the Board) welcome constructive criticism, but we do not give license to disrupt..." etc.

In conclusion the letter indicated that the matter was being referred to the Board's attorney to study the possibility of court action for defamation of character. Mrs. Draper was allowed to respond at Monday's meeting. She responded by saying that a letter written on June 12th, 1987 to the Board as a response to the June 10th letter recited that "...I can assure this Board...that asking of this Board...on (matters) of best use of the tax dollar and the best education for our children...is a taxpayer's right". In the June 12th letter to the Board, Mrs. Draper also asked the following questions: 1. have there been any problems within the last 6 months regarding discipline on school buses; 2. is insurance on students 1 hour before

Point of View

Are today's graduates prepared for the job market?

Martha Watkins, Houston

"I think they are. They receive the proper education and I should know because I just recently graduated from high school."

Bobbie Cox, Harrington

"They receive an excellent education and they are more prepared for the job market today than compared to those years ago."

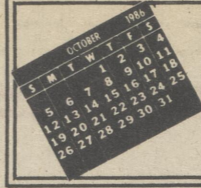

Bonnie Mitchell, Harrington

"No I don't think so. It's a high-tech society today and I don't feel teens today realize how many other people are out there trying to get jobs."

Yvette Jianniney, Felton

"I think it depends on the individual and not how the individual was educated."

defender and began taking an active role in Delaware Democratic politics. His 1970 election to the New Castle County Council from a heavily Republican district called attention to him as a candidate and led to his nomination in 1972, at the age of 29, to run for the United States Senate against a Republican incumbent then seeking his third term as one of the most popular political figures in the history of Delaware.

Biden conducted a vigorous, upbeat campaign that accented his youth, the strong involvement of the Biden family and the largest corps of campaign volunteers, mostly young, ever fielded in Delaware. On November 6, 1972, just two weeks before his 30th birthday, Biden scored the biggest upset in the state's political history and became the second youngest candidate ever elected to the United States Senate.

Now well into his third term at the age of 44, Biden ranks 25th in Senate seniority, serves as Chairman of the Judiciary Committee and is the ranking Democratic member of the Foreign Relations Committee, where he chairs the Subcommittee on European Affairs.

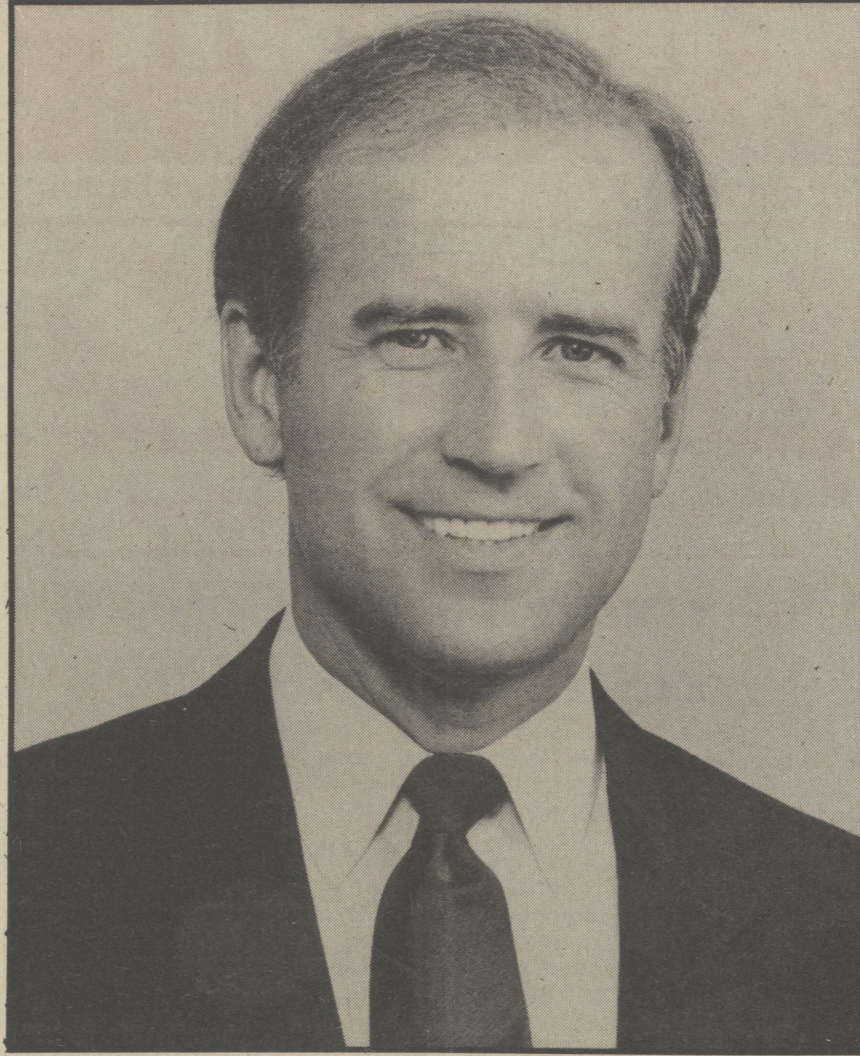

Chairman of the Senate Democratic Task Force on Crime and Co-Chairman of the Senate Caucus on International Narcotics Control, Biden was a chief architect of the Comprehensive Crime Control Act of 1984, widely hailed as the most significant reform of the federal criminal code ever enacted, and he played a leading role in passing the 1986 anti-drug bill. He has long advocated and is currently sponsoring legislation in the Senate to provide for a new Cabinet-level office to direct and coordinate all federal anti-drug programs.

Biden has also been one of the Senate's strongest defenders of civil rights. In 1982, he played a key role in winning extension of the Voting Rights Act, and in 1983 he was the Senate leader in the effort to preserve the independence of the Civil Rights Commission.

The Delaware senator and presidential candidate is widely recognized as one of the Senate's leading foreign-policy experts. Biden chairs the Special Committee on Nuclear Weapons in Europe for the North Atlantic Assembly, NATO's parliamentary arm, and he has met in Moscow with Soviet leaders at the request of two American presidents. He led efforts in the Senate to remove U.S. forces from Lebanon and to prevent the transfer of sophisticated weapons to the Middle East.

Senator Biden lives in Wilmington with his wife Jill and their three children. As he has throughout his Senate career, Biden commutes between Wilmington and Washington each day the Senate is in session.

Lake Forest High School Teachers' Frog-Jumping Contest

What do "Little Ronnie", "Special Eddie", "Big P", "Marcus Frogus" and "Busy Ness Monster" all have in common? Ask the Lake Forest High School teachers! On Friday, June 11, at 12:00 Noon, the first great frog-jumping contest was held to see just who had the best jumping frog.

There were some cheers, laughter and even some woes; And even some with wet clothes. From 1/2" to 1', the great frogs would hop; There were even some that were a flop! But all had great laughs and fun— And there really wasn't a #1!

Trivia game comes to Lake Forest

Lake Forest School District's W.T. Chipman Junior High P.T.A. is putting a new twist in the popular game of Trivial Pursuit.

"We customized it for Lake Forest School District and its communities," said Gloria VanNess, Chipman PTA Fundraising Chairperson. "This fun but challenging board game is called 'Trifles'. It's similar to Trivial Pursuit; it has categories that include history, science, geography, entertainment and the arts.

"But there is a twist. One category, called ETC. will deal with local facts of interest, giving an insight into the history and unique features of the various towns in Lake Forest School District." Individuals, groups and businesses may help sponsor the PTA in this endeavor by sponsoring blocks around the game board. For example, there are 32 outer blocks that would highlight the business name, location, logo or other information.

"All blocks are available on a first come, first serve basis," VanNess continued. "This advertising will help

A THOUGHT Mixed Marriages

Marriages between Catholics and Protestants are commonplace today; marriages between Christians and Jews are on the increase. Jewish Rabbis are very concerned about the increasing popularity of "inter-faith" marriages. Harvard sociologists, Elihu Bergman, frets that Jews will simply disappear into the American mainstream, that the Jewish community will diminish in the next hundred years to one hundred thousand from the present five and a half million. Catholic leaders are also concerned at statistics that show 50% of Catholics who marry non-Catholics will eventually stop practicing their faith. In an age when Catholics and Protestants and Jews have made serious attempts to better understand one another, "mixed marriages" present a distinct challenge.

For the moment, let us consider just one form of the "mixed marriage," the one between two people who intend to remain practicing members of different Christian Churches. This is contrasted in the first place, with marriages between Christians and non-Christians and, in the second place, with a marriage in which neither, or only one partner, is actively a member of a Church.

First, we should note that the Church has become quite accepting of mixed marriages. They may be held in Church (rather than in the rectory) and be celebrated at a Nuptial Mass. With the bishop's permission, they may be celebrated in the Church of the non-Catholic party. In spite of the Church's change in attitude, problems do remain. Coming from different religious backgrounds, the bride and groom may have different ideas of marriage, of commitment and of marital deportment.

Couples who are considering entering an "inter-church" marriage should have honest, open discussions of the level of their religious commitment along with an expression of mutual respect for this commitment. The non-Catholic party should learn something of Catholicism so as to appreciate better his or her spouse's value system and belief, especially as these bear on marriage itself. Likewise, the Catholic should be open to learning more about the non-Catholic's religious commitment and affiliation. Above all, there should be a realistic discussion about rearing their children. Serious disagreement on this point can only cause a high level of tension in the marriage itself.

Years of dialogue among Catholics, Protestants and Jews have demonstrated the value of the open, sensitive communication of differing points of view. This ecumenical dialogue provides a useful lesson for spouses in a "mixed" marriage.

California Cuties Comedy Softball Show to appear in Greenwood

The world famed comedy softball team, The California Cuties have scheduled an appearance in Greenwood on July 8, 1987 against the W.B.O.C. Channel 16 All-Stars.

If you are one of the very few sports fans who have not seen this zany foursome, then we suggest you trot out to the Greenwood Little League Field to witness their combined game and comedy show.

The Cuties began as a special services entertainment for our servicemen stationed on Guam, in the South Pacific, way back in 1946, and in turn became a career for organizer, and comedy star, Trino Palacios. 1986 was their 40th year on the road, and though Trino is now the oldest barnstorming athlete in the world, he vows to continue performing until called to that great "ball game in the sky."

Free ATV class offered at the Delaware State Fair

A free ATV rider class will be offered Wednesday, July 22, at the Delaware State Fairgrounds in Harrington.

Open to riders of all ages, the class will include a safety inspection and a chance to drive on a special training course. The class will begin at 8:30 a.m., and parents of drivers are welcome to attend.

"By taking eight drivers through at a time, we think we can handle up to 50 participants," says Ron Jester. The University of Delaware extension safety specialist is coordinating the event.

Jester says participants must wear appropriate safety gear, including a helmet, goggles, long-sleeved shirt, though the years are recorded, he still looks and plays, like a man in his thirties. Mother Nature has treated him kindly!

The Cuties attire themselves in wild ladies garb, but are in truth a band of top notch ball players from California. Ron Rupp performs as Fifi Flirt, and is the pitching ace of the visitors. He boasts a 98-mile per hour fast ball and is considered to have the greatest change up in all of softball (and baseball).

Leapin Lena handles the catching duties, and at 6'5" managed to collect 25 home runs in 1986. And this was her (his) first year on the road!

Shortstop is covered by Hedda Hooker, a wide ranging, rifle armed speed merchant, who can run the hundred in under 10 seconds.

And first base is covered by mystery man, Lotta Fanny.

So come out to the ball park on July 8. You'll be glad you did.

Tickets are available at Greenwood Trust, Country Boy Restaurant and Olympic Sporting Good. Or call 349-5352.

long pants and sturdy footwear. The driving course will include both a serpentine track and a figure-8 track, a ditch bank, an obstacle course, a restricted course with limited space and sharp turns, hill maneuvers, an acceleration lane and an emergency braking lane.

Twenty judges and assistants will be stationed along the course to analyze the performance of the drivers.

To register for the class, ATV owners can obtain registration forms from county extension offices and local ATV dealers. Registrations will be accepted until July 21.

W.T. Chipman School track wrap-up

W. T. Chipman School boys' and girls' track teams are coached by Baxter Smith. Smith, a soft-spoken Maine native, has been sending prospects to Lake Forest High School for quite a few years now. Some former Chipman standouts were instrumental as Lake Forest boys won the state cross-country championship last fall and had an undefeated season and were state champions in track also.

Lake Forest girls had a great year also, winning the Henlopen Conference dual meet cross-country championship and finishing second, in the state track meet.

Chipman's boys, grades 7 and 8, lost only to Selbyville Junior High, losing by a respectable 58-40, to a team that used ninth graders. Other results: Chipman 60, Dover 40; Chipman 73, Seaford 27; Chipman 62, Millsboro 38; Chipman 70, Caesar Rodney 30.

Mac Holmes set a new school record of 19 feet, 6 inches. He had other leaps over 20 feet, in which he fouled by scant margins. Mac is an excellent quarter miler and might fill one of two vacancies on the Lake Forest 1600 meter relay quartet, which has been state champs each of the last two seasons.

Greg Schwamberger may have a bright future in the discus event. Greg has a toss of almost 118 feet. Only Barry Chaffinch (121) has thrown better at Chipman and Chaffinch threw better than 152 feet, as the best platter spinner, in Delaware, in 1986.

David Elder has captured this writer's imagination. Our fondness for distance runners is well known.

This area has been a hotbed for distance stars since 1957. With nine state champion cross-country teams and many outstanding individuals we boast a record hereabouts, that few school districts can match. Especially districts as small as this one.

David Elder had only a few starts, did not get to run much at all on anything but slow, dirt ovals and had very little mileage under his belt, by the end of the season. Yet he was close to unbeatable, at the junior high level and clocked respectable times of 2:27 for 800 meters and 5:27, for 1600 meters. He has hardly scratched the surface of his talent. David is tall and lean and given the excellent coaching, competition, all weather cork, rubber, asphalt track, he will be exposed to at Lake Forest, he might join the ranks of Harry Knotts, Harry Benson, Dan Parks, Dennis Rogers, Chris Palmisano, Chuck Carter, Chuck and Mark Tozer, etc.

The above named are only a few of the top distance runners, who starred at Harrington and Lake Forest High's. Quite a few of them received athletic scholarship offers. Chris Wetherhold was twice a state champion and had his pick of the service academies. The Hackett brothers, Clarence and Dwight also attracted the attention of College scouts. The Parker brothers, Jackie and Howard are now top flight harness drivers. Both ran on state champion cross-country teams. Howard also held three age-group, world records, as a youth. We hope to see David Elder running for Jim Blades this fall.

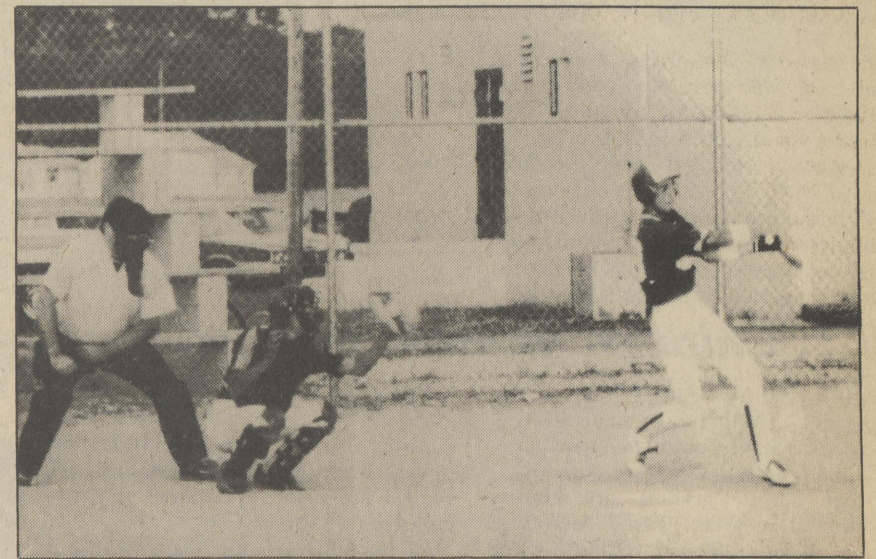

Dawson Hudson was the second fastest hurdler, in Chipman history this spring. Only Jerome Harris excelled Hudson's 15.3. Harris became the best hurdler, in Lake Forest history and was one of Delaware's best.

Alex Winchester hurdled 15.6 and ran 200 meters in 25.4. He will be a welcome addition to the Lake Forest hurdle and sprint corps.

Mike Smith sprinted 100 meters, in 11.8 and high jumped five feet. Herman Mosely (11.9) and Smith could join

Sipple & Thompson pace big league over Lower Sussex 6-0

by Mike Dill

Steve Sipple saved the Harrington Big League team from a winless week by slamming a two run homer and a double in 6-0 win over Lower Sussex.

Harrington, which managed only three hits off two Lower Sussex pitchers, took a 3-0 in the bottom of the third when Steve Thompson ripped a single that cleared the bases when the ball got past the Lower Sussex rightfielder.

Sipple then ripped a 3-2 fastball over the left field fence to seal the victory.

Moss & Ergenzinger lead

Harrington Hurricanes over Pepsi

by Mike Dill

The Harrington Hurricanes one night after a disappointing loss to Ocean City, used stellar performances by pitcher Jim Moss and catcher Erin Ergenzinger to down Pepsi 7-4 and improve their record to 3-3.

Moss, who came on to pitch in the second after starter Benny Elliott retired with arm problems, effectively used a fastball and curveball to hold Pepsi to five hits. The only trouble Moss encountered was in the top of the third when he gave up back to back doubles by Dave Zearra and Don Graham.

After giving up an RBI single to Alan Jones, Moss retired the next two batters of the inning and then proceeded to retire the next nine batters in a row.

Ergenzinger, on the night of his 19th birthday, gave himself a present by smashing a two run homer and driving in four runs to lead the offense.

The Hurricanes now 3-3 trail league leaders Dover and Seaford by 1½ games with an important doubleheader this Sunday against Dover at Delaware State College at 1:30 p.m.

Delaware deadheat and outstanding distaff racing spark Brandywine

by Price Kellar

The most exciting race of Sunday's stellar card was not the fifth race feature. It was instead the seventh race, a claimer, which produced the first win deadheat of the season. The deadheat was loaded with irony and rich in Southern Delaware connections. The winners' names both began with D, both were driven by men from Southern Delaware named Eddie, and both are owned by Southern Delaware interests. Discard and Donco could not be separated at the end of a 2:01 mile.

Discard was steered to the winner's circle by Harrington native Eddie Dennis for his seventh win in 19 starts this year. Discard's lifetime earning rose to 9,855 for Arleen and Karen J. Jerred of Harrington. Donco was driven by Eddie Davis of Smyrna for owners Donald F. Pyle, Jr. and George W. Davis also of that Southern Delaware community. It was Donco's sixth win in 17 tries this season and his lifetime earnings increased to $48,684.

together as fine a field of open filly and mare pacers as has been assembled at Brandywine this year. The Cameron family saw their Brand New Dream prove herself clearly the best in a 1:58.2 romp. Two weeks remain to purchase 1984 Delaware Duck Stamps Wildlife fanciers and stamp collectors who have not yet purchased a 1984 Delaware Duck Stamp have just two weeks left to do so.

The stamp, featuring a pair of mallards, was painted by Maryland artist Nolan Hahn. It is available only in sheets of 10 at $50. 1984 stamps will no longer be sold by the state after June 30.

Other state waterfowl stamps still for sale include pintails (1985), which will only be available in sheets of 10 after July 1, and wigeons (86). 1987's duck stamp, a pair of redheads, goes on sale July 1.

Income from the sale of stamps and art prints of the designs is earmarked to pay for waterfowl management and habitat enhancement projects.

Stamps are $5 each and may be purchased over the counter or by personal check mailed to the Division of Fish and Wildlife, P.O. Box 1401, Dover, DE 19903. Return address should be included when ordering by mail.

Requests for the 1984 stamps must be postmarked by June 30.

Holmes and Winchester, in an effort to replace the several graduated speedsters, at Lake Forest.

Other eighth graders are Harvey Moore, Mike Gray, James Anderson, Craig Killen, Robert Crisco, Greg Porter. Alex Winchester was "Most Valuable Player."

Ken Bailey, a seventh grader won the "Most Improved Award." Other seventh graders are: Chris Kershner, Ashton Garey, Steve Cawby, Eric Moses and Danny Twardus. Twardus attracted attention last fall, when he finished near the front, in a race, in Washington, D.C. against 7th, 8th and 9th graders, at age 11. He appears to be a "can't miss" prospect.

Chipman's girls did well also finishing at 3-2, dropping decisions to Dover and Caesar Rodney, two of Delaware's largest schools.

Chipman defeated Selbyville, 58-42, Seaford 52-47 and Sussex Central 56-44. Dawn Kane is poised to step into the starting lineup, at Lake Forest. She has clocked 2:56 for 800 meters and 6:26 for 1600 meters. A veteran of two cross-country seasons, she can handle 3200 meters also. Elaine Zeitler and Jill Blades are also experienced distance runners.

Valerie Sullivan shot put and discus should help at the high school, especially in the discus. Kristy Scott, in the hurdles and Amy Draper (74 seconds for 400 meters) should be welcome additions, also. Other eighth graders are Bonita Fisher and Stephanie Mannering.

Valerie Sullivan took the "Most Valuable" award. Seventh grader Denise Roberts was "Most Improved". With a leap of 14 feet, 6 inches, she is already jumping far enough to score in high school meets. Her 200 meters time of 29.7, is very good for seventh grade. Stacy Smith, 13.9 for 100 meters is another comer.

Other seventh grade prospects are Jennifer Stubbs, Cindy Morris, Lowanna Tilghman, Alysia Hughes, Christy Treier, Ginger Jensen, Stacy Frazier and Tasha Bordley.

Brandywine's featured fifth race on Sunday was the setting for the fastest last quarter of the meet and it was a mare beating the boys who set the standard. Nellie Rocklin came from out of the pocket for driver Carl Fockler to complete a 27.4 last fraction. The trip saw Jef's Gammon go easily to the lead and amble to the 3/4 in 1:31.1. The race seemed in hand when Nellie Rocklin let loose with a monster brush to best the field in 1:59.2. Russ Lyn Scott followed the winner in to place, while Jef's Gammon slipped to third.

Saturday's card was highlighted by three win performances for drivers Eddie Davis and Pres Moore, Jr.

Wise whips'em at Middleford

by Bonnie Algier-Mitchell & Mark Miller

Harrington's Todd Wise didn't let the rain put a damper on his evening as he took the Micro feature event at Middleford Speedway's weekly Friday night short track events.

After some delay due to weather conditions and doubts on track conditions, the field of Micro's headed out to take the green. As the flagman gave them the go Wise took the lead and never looked back as he captured his first win of the season. The win helped him close the gap between himself and current points lead Greg Coverdale of Milford.

While Wise was leading, a real dogfight was going on for second. Rick Krebel held down second until lap nine when Scott Wall put his car into second after coming from fifth, while Jack Kohland made a charge from eighth, which left him in fourth.

Mel Miller made his first appearance at Middleford a profitable one, as he took the Heavyweight Kart final over Phil Matzner, after Buddy Bloom was disqualified for starting out of position.

Another first came when Dean Ivory captured his first win in the ATV 250 class over Scott Justice who had taken the ATV 200 final over Ron Ivory earlier.

Kelvin Lynch topped Vince Ware for the quad win.

Roy Collings took the checkered in both the 500cc cycle, and Open Pro finals aboard his First State Cycles/Hage/Harley-Davidson for the second week in a row. Collings led Bob Bowker to the checkered in the 500 final after Bowker jumped into second when Mark Miller, Milford, bobbled in turn two and Bowker took advantage, and had his best finish to date.

In the Open Pro final it was Collings again, but this time Miller was not to be denied as he kept the #2 Dover Cycles/E.J. Wilson Welding/R-M Racing-Rennie Dail Yamaha in second. When asked if he cared to comment on his win, Collings said "What a track!"

URC returns to Georgetown June 19

by Don Allen

Sprint car competition will return to the Georgetown Speedway on Friday, June 19th, when the superstars of the United Racing Club mount their second 1987 assault on the fast half-mile. The event will be the fourth round in the eleven race, Taylor and Messick Farm Equipment sponsored Delaware Sprint Car Championship Series.

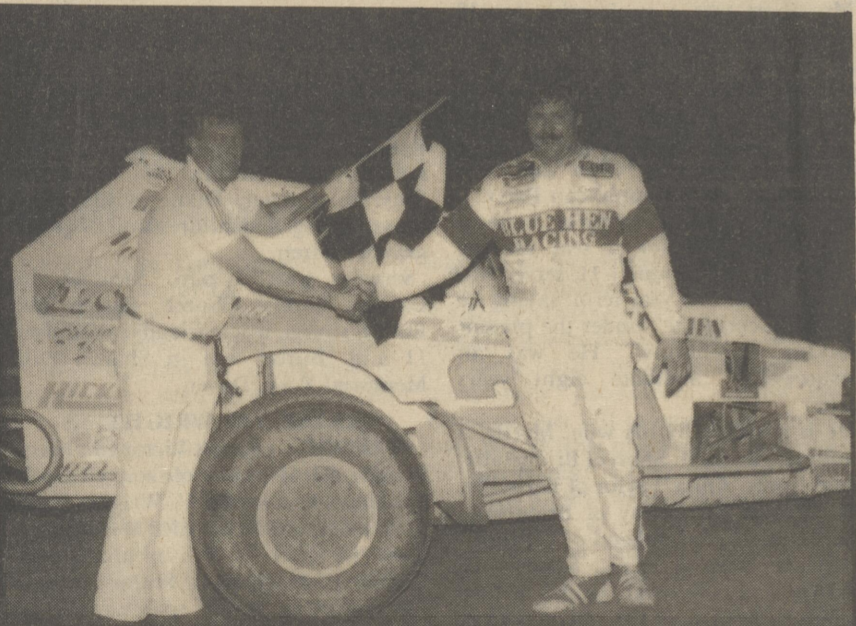

Glenn Fitzcharles has chalked up two wins in the series to date, giving him a comfortable lead in points. Four time URC champion and current Georgetown sprint car speed record holder (19.23/93.60 mph set on May 1, 1987) Dave Kelly has one win in the series, that coming in Georgetown's season opener, but has scored two DNF's in other Delmarva action. This has put him tenth in the series point standings.

Sharing the clay with the sprinters on the 19th will be a 30-lap feature for the Modifieds, 20 laps for the Limited Late Models and a 10 lap contest for the Street Modifieds.

Gates will open at 6:00 p.m. and racing will begin at 8:30 p.m.

DELMAR, DE—The Delaware International Speedway lost its race with "Mother Nature" Saturday night as rains washed out the evening's feature programs. Rain checks from the event will be honored at their June 13th value for the remainder of the 1987 season. This Saturday night will be highlighted by "Triple 20's" for the modifieds along with the regular program sponsored by Taylor & Messick, John Deere of Harrington.

Only the street modified main had been completed and the modified field was on the track when a severe storm blew into the area. The largest field of the season was on hand headed by a field of twenty-seven modifieds. Modified heats were won by Ricky Elliott over Tom Capie and Freddy Brightbill in the first heat and John Pinter over Kenny Brightbill and Peter Visconti in the second. Gary Trice won the consi over Ron Roberts and Deron Rust.

The top 3 finishers in the modified heats competed in a three lap, $500 winner-take-all dash that was won by Kenny Brightbill in the Blue Hen Racing #30. Nephew Freddy Brightbill finished in second with John Pinter third, Visconti fourth and Capie fifth. Ricky Elliott did not start.

The late model field was also the largest of the season. Eddie Pettyjohn was the winner in the first heat over David Hill and Alex Beaumont. In the second heat it was Mike Tauber over Lou Johnson and Joey Carey.

The 10 lap street modified feature was the only main to beat the storm. Darren Wroten took the early lead over Dixie Van Meter and Jack Messick. Messick moved his way into second and C.R. Robinson took third.

Wroten fell off the pace just at the halfway mark with Messick taking the lead. Elwood Driscoll and Richard White Jr. closed on Robinson in the battle for second. White had just moved into the second spot when he tangled with the lapped car of Danny Naugel to bring out the yellow. Messick held on to the lead on the restart and went on for his first win of the season. Robinson finished in the second spot with Dale Bounds third, White fourth, and Simon Sharp fifth. Sixth through tenth were Van Meter, Jeff Parker, Driscoll, Naugel and Bob Pritchett.

Dail never lost a round as he went against Maryland's Chuck Stack for the overall win. Dail got the holeshot on his R-M Racing/Mike Dunn/Silver Bullet Kawasaki and never looked back.

Scott Justice captured both the 200 and 250cc ATV classes on his Honda's, while Mark Miller (#2 Yamaha) captured the Open Street final in his first drag event ever.

This sport is new to Middleford, but is proving to be a good time for ATV and cycle enthusiasts. Next round in the series will be June 28th. For more information call Mark 422-4914.

Carol Henson wins funny car annual at 13 Dragway

by Charlie Brown

Female Funny Car pilot, Carol Henson put together three perfect rounds to win Sunday's 7th Annual Funny Car Smoke Out at the U.S. 13 Dragway. Bill Groton of Seaford won the $1,000 Super ET, Fred Neidlinger of Bridgeville took Heavy ET, Michael Durham of Dover captured Pro Bike and Anton Hall of Lewes won Hot Rod Trophy.

The first round of funny car action gave the fans a good indication of what was yet to come. The two fastest runs in the round were recorded by John Paris in his "Yankee Doodle Dandy" Vette who had a 6.94/206.4 and Carol Henson in her "Crazy Daisy" with a 6.62/208.3.

In round two, Henson crushed the "Cape Codder" of Ed Parker with a 6.61/206.4 to Parker's 7.88/184.4. Paris advanced by edging Dennis Bedrosian with a 6.90/194.8 to Bedrosian's 6.92/199.1.

Paris ran his quickest round of the day in the finals against Henson but it proved to be not quick enough. Paris blasted a 6.89/208.3 but the consistent Henson recorded the win with a 6.62/205.4.

Bill Groton took his "Crime Fighter" GTO to a $81,000 final round victory in Super ET. Groton ran a 11.95/113.6 for the win. Runner-up went to Frank Lecates of Salisbury in his dragster with a run of 10.08/118.7 and Steve

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
After reading the article in last week's Harrington Journal, I had to laugh at the ridiculous suggestion by councilperson Dennis of taking the legal notices from our hometown newspaper, The Harrington Journal and putting them in The Milford Chronicle.

Why, would anyone on the Harrington Town Council make such a motion, especially the vice mayor? Where is your loyalty? If you want your news in The Milford Chronicle, move to Milford.

You councilmembers say you want new business to come to our town, well why should they? Will they be supported or will you go to Milford or elsewhere to conduct your business.

How can they be sure after hearing of the non-support, almost banning the town's use of the long established hometown newspaper, The Harrington Journal by its council.

Dear Editor:
I got sick all over after reading last week's article in The Harrington Journal pertaining to the council's actions. It made me so nervous I didn't know what to do or what to say.

I want the people of this city to know what's going on, whether they read The Harrington Journal or not. If I have to personally go and pass out handbills, I will do so to alert the citizens of this town as to what the council is trying to do.

Mrs. Sue Ellen Dennis, vice mayor, has always been outspoken at the meetings on what she doesn't like or would like, and she tries to have things done to suit her. She doesn't seem to be able to do her job right now, and I doubt she'll ever be able to do it right in the future.

One night I accidentally happened to be the one that stopped a meeting when I made the remark that "I have seen everything now." It was the night they were swearing in Mrs. Anne Minner. Mrs. Dennis nominated her to fill the seat vacated by Mr. James Boyd, who never did anything while he was on the council for the City of Harrington.

I find it so odd that Mrs. Minner just so happened to be present at that meeting during the time of her nomination.

While the mayor was swearing in Mrs. Minner, I made the remark, "I've seen everything now," along with a couple of other statements. At that time, the councilmembers starting yelling at me, telling me to be quiet, and they even tried to have me removed from the meeting.

Ever since Mrs. Dennis has been on the council, she has been trying to dictate and do everything she wants supposedly for the City of Harrington. Mrs. Dennis has stated that the new city hall building would be paid by revenues from new businesses coming to Harrington, and yet I don't see any businesses coming here. So what's going to pay for it now?

The one business that I did know of was Ginger Peachy. The lady who owns the L & M Fashions building, where they wanted to move into, told me that

What's the 'real' problem here? Is it that The Harrington Journal has brought out some doings that the council had been trying to keep 'under the table'. My personal feeling is...since Mr. Farrow was elected the citizens are probably more well informed than in quite some time.

The citizens of Harrington want to know what's going on in city hall, at town meetings and in the town of Harrington. That's the purpose of our hometown paper, The Harrington Journal.

So may I suggest Mrs. Dennis and all councilmembers...be loyal to the citizens of the Town of Harrington, see that they are informed of hometown news in the hometown newspaper, The Harrington Journal. If not, Mrs. Dennis and supporters of this 'joke'...move to Milford!!

Bonnie Algier-Mitchell

they didn't offer her enough, so she has refused to let them move there. Just because a business is negotiating doesn't mean that they are promising to move here.

I also understand that our city manager, who is now making $26,000 a year, has recently promoted Mrs. Norma Short to assistant city manager, and she'll probably be getting a big raise too.

I also want to know what is going on at city hall when our mayor calls a meeting at two in the afternoon one day, and at four the afternoon the following day.

I also understand that the council has proposed installing water meters on our homes. This will end up costing the owners of the property money for installing them, and I don't know how much more when they start receiving water bills. We already have one of the highest water rates in Kent County.

Mr. Farrow, you are the mayor of this town and people are going to forsake you if you don't come up with something pretty soon to straighten all of this out. People are going to get sick and tired of what's going on.

Another thing, are we going to allow The Milford Chronicle to take over our hometown newspaper? Mrs. Dennis has suggested to the council that it take the legal notices from the hometown paper and give them to The Milford Chronicle. Now wouldn't that be just nice. Why not just let them take everything out of The Harrington Journal and give it to The Milford Chronicle.

I don't know how in the world the people of Harrington can sit still and let the council mess around. They should be doing for the people of Harrington and not against them. I also don't know why the people are not at the meetings. Is it just that they don't care anymore, are they no longer interested, or is it that they don't care what the council does to them. I wish someone could tell me why.

National Housing and Community Development Program serves Delaware well

by Congressman Tom Carper

When the town of Clayton needed a new water tower last year, they went looking for a way to fund the project. The town applied for funds from a program called the Community Block Grant (CDBG). When the city of Dover set out to begin building a shelter for the homeless, they too looked to the CDBG program for help.

Last year the state of Delaware received almost $7 million in CDBG money. And next year we are likely to get that much again. That's because recently the House of Representatives reauthorized the CDBG program, along with most of our country's other important housing and community development initiatives, for fiscal year 1988.

Many of these housing and community development programs are household names in Delaware. The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA), for example, has made owning a home affordable to hundreds of Delaware families in Kent and Sussex counties. The Urban Development Action Grant (UDAG) program has been used extensively by the City of Wilmington to spur economic development. Both FmHA and UDAG were renewed for another year despite attempts by the Reagan Administration to virtually eliminate them.

Also renewed were housing assistance programs which have benefited thousands of low-income families in Delaware, as well as many of our state's elderly and handicapped citizens.

All told, the $17.2 billion authorized for housing and community development programs next year is about the same as we spent for those programs this year, plus an adjustment for inflation. That's good news because it meets the spending target established by the House budget resolution in April.

As a member of the Housing subcommittee which drew up the legislation we passed recently, I was particularly pleased that the House of Representatives approved two provisions which I authored. The first of these will make permanent a temporary provision passed by Congress last fall to ensure that every state has at least one Federal Housing Administration (FHA) office to serve low- and middle-income homebuyers.

Last year, you will recall, the Department of Housing and Urban Development closed Delaware's only FHA office. Delaware's congressional delegation worked together to get the office reopened, but only temporarily. My legislation will keep it open indefinitely.

Even more gratifying was the decision of the House to endorse my efforts to make the removal of lead-based paint from subsidized housing a national housing priority.

The U.S. Centers for Disease Control estimated 700,000 preschool children were suffering from lead poisoning in 1985. Two hundred children died that year of lead poisoning. Each year we delay in removing this health hazard from subsidized housing, thousands of lives are unnecessarily threatened.

Our country faces many serious housing problems in the years ahead. Thousands of families, as well as many elderly and handicapped Americans who live on modest fixed incomes, will continue to need housing assistance. Low- and middle-income families will continue to need the help of the FmHA and FHA if they are to realize their dream of owning a home. And all across America, small towns and cities like Clayton and Dover will need help with community development projects.

The housing and community development bill we passed in the House will better ensure that these important housing needs are met. Not only that, it will do so at a price our country can afford to pay.

"Funny But Inappropriate"

Summer is upon us.

With summer comes the trips to the beach. With the trips to the beach come the trips to the novelty shops.

A controversy is raging in some shore communities regarding the appropriateness of some of the items which may be purchased in those shops.

T-shirts were selected as the controversy of choice. Battle lines were quickly drawn with rhetoric flowing rapidly about that dirty word "censorship." "Freedom of expression" wasn't far behind.

At the beach, it could have been T-shirts, it could have been hats; in fact, the issue could have been symbolized by any one of a number of collectables which are openly displayed for all to see.

Where do we as a society draw the line? What kind of message is this sending to our youth?

The situation extends far beyond the beach scene.

There are a number of gestures, jokes and examples of "bad" language, both oral and written, which come our way each day. They may be on the print media or they may find the airways and find themselves coming to us through either the radio or television.

Do we accept them? Do we take action? Do we notice that our children study us as we act or fail to act?

Do we laugh?

Do we know the difference between what is funny and what is inappropriate?

Do we run the risk of sending a single confusing message to our youth?

A message that says it is possible to be funny but inappropriate rather than funny or inappropriate?

Roth: Thumbs down to tax increase

by Senator William Roth

When was the last time you heard someone talking about raising your taxes? Chances are that it was within the last few weeks. There has been a great deal of talk in Washington about tax increases -- talk that I find very disturbing. The 1980's have been a time of economic prosperity in this country. Those who argue that tax rates should be raised are suggesting a return to the economic stagnation of the late 70's. I intend to strongly resist these efforts to reverse the economic progress we have made.

As co-author of the 1981 Roth-Kemp tax cuts, which reduced taxes across-the-board by 25 percent over three years, I find mention of a tax hike doubly distressing. Our tax cuts helped pave the way for the economic resurgence of today. Roth-Kemp, and the Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981 which was built upon it, has produced a most vigorous period of economic growth. This growth has raised the incomes and standard of living of the average American. Thirteen million jobs have been created. Inflation has fallen from 12 percent in 1980 to one percent in 1986. Interest rates are about 8 percent compared to a high of 21 percent in 1980.

For more than six years, I have heard opponents argue that Roth-Kemp was a "giveaway to the rich," that wealthy taxpayers would escape paying their share of income taxes and shift the burden onto middle- and lower-income groups. However, recent data released by the Internal Revenue Service blows that argument right out of the water, indicating that since the 1981 Roth-Kemp tax cuts, the tax burden for middle- and lower-income taxpayers has decreased while wealthy taxpayers are contributing a larger share. Specifically, the IRS data shows that taxpayers with income above around $108,000 in 1985, the top one percent of all taxpayers, paid almost 20 percent more in taxes in 1985 than in 1981. At the same time, taxes for middle-income earners declined by 11 percent.

I hope this new information will finally lay the myth to rest that Roth-Kemp was a "giveaway to the rich," when in fact, it was just the opposite. I also hope that it will encourage proponents of an income tax increase to take a moment to reflect on the positive results of a tax cut and the potential negative impact of a tax hike.

airplane versus ship situation

When the young man touched his aircraft down in Moscow's Red Square it caused quite a stir. From those of us who are standing on the outside looking in on this situation, we ask ourselves how could this happen.

From the other side the Russians were probably noting this can't happen...it shouldn't happen...or it won't happen again.

The latter phrase is probably more closer to the situation, because less than 24 hours after the landing took place, the Russian officers who were in charge of providing the security around Moscow were gone. Who knows where, but they probably will never be heard from again.

That's the airplane situation! Now the ship situation concerning the USS Stark. Now it is coming out that all the protective devices available to this ship were not deployed. As a result 30 some odd seamen lost their lives.

It seems to me that instead of blaming the President of the United States for lost lives...some 300 odd during his administration without a war going on, that people at the command level must bear the responsibility for these blunders.

Those in command of the Stark at the time of the shelling should be whisked away and banished from the service as were the Soviet counterparts. There is no excuse...there can be no excuse for this sort of thing. If a naval officer is so fearful of having his career riding on each and every command decision, I feel that person should not be in that responsible position.

Sunglasses and lotion no answer to dwindling ozone layer

by Senator Joe Biden

Well, here we go again. This ranks right up there with trees causing air pollution, and ketchup becoming a school lunch vegetable.

We now learn from Secretary of the Interior Donald Hodel that our only response to the dwindling of the earth's protective ozone layer should be to encourage wider use of hats, sunglasses and sun-screening lotions. This is absurd.

One of the Reagan Administration's few environmental initiatives has been to establish the United States as a leader in ongoing international negotiations to protect the ozone layer (the Earth's natural shield against harmful ultraviolet radiation) and to control the use of man-made ozone-depleting chemicals.

Under the leadership of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the State Department, the U.S. has brought about a proposed agreement among 31 nations to freeze production of chlorofluorocarbons (CFCs) and significantly reduce their

by Senator Ruth Ann Minner

Gov. Mike Castle's Quality of Life proposals aired last week caught me and some other members of the Governor's Environmental Legacy Commission off guard.

The Commission has been working for many months on just the sort of problems addressed by 15 bills on land use proposed by the Governor and his Land Use and Economic Development Committee. In fact, the Environmental Legacy group has a subcommittee on land use presently investigating all aspects of land use and development as it affects the environment.

Since the final report of the Environmental Legacy unit is not due until next Jan. 1, I was surprised that the Governor did not choose to wait for our recommendations rather than try to get General Assembly approval of 15 complicated and controversial bills in the last three weeks of session.

I haven't studied the Governor's proposed legislation in detail yet, but at least some of the bills appear to be the kind I can support.

One bill, for instance, would require land speculators to begin construction in 10 years in order to be rezoned or retain the land's approved zoning.

Another bill would prohibit the zoning of land assessed under the Farmland Assessment Act from being zoned for any density greater than one dwelling unit per acre or for commercial or industrial use.

Yet another would allow assessment taxes against a developer to help pay for the increased traffic, erosion, schools, or other cost-related outgrowths of the development.

Another controversial measure would require each county to adopt a comprehensive plan within three years. Thereafter, the plan would have to be updated every five years and any deviation from the plan would require a three-fourths vote of a county governing body.

Certainly Delaware will continue to grow and it is incumbent on government to insure that such growth is orderly and controlled. Whether or not the General Assembly has time this year to wrestle with these complicated problems remains to be seen.

Legislation introduced to create provisional license

State Representative Terry Spence (R-Stratford) and Senator Robert Connor (R-Penn Acres) intend to introduce legislation creating a provisional license for all drivers under the age of 18. Specifically, the legislation would not permit minors to drive between the hours of 12:00 midnight and 5:00 a.m.

In describing his bill, Spence said, "Statistics show that young, novice drivers are over-represented in traffic crashes and these accidents are primarily the result of their inexperience, poor nighttime driving skills and alcohol. The purpose of this bill is to reduce the number of fatalities and serious injury among minors."

The legislation would require minors to first satisfy the requirement of a provisional license for a 12 month period. If, however, during that period the driver has points charged against his license, he would have another 12 months added to his provisional status for each violation, not to exceed four years.

"Driving is a privilege, one that requires a learning period for first time drivers. This bill allows for such time," said Connor.

The penalty for those driving between the hours of midnight and 5:00 a.m. would be suspension of one's driver's license for sixty days. Exemptions would apply to members of the military, anyone going to and from work or anyone accompanied by parent or guardian.

Similar legislation is in effect in thirty-five states.

I couldn't believe some of the daring moves he made in this recent visit to Poland. His visit to Gdansk which is the birthplace of Lech Walesa's solidarity inspiring the huge crowds there in the new meaning of solidarity. He then went to Lublin right on the Soviet border and challenged the right of the communist state to exist in Poland. He did virtually the same thing in 1983 when he last visited Poland. He visited his parents grave in a very moving scene, but he also visited the grave of Catholic priest Father Jerzy Popieluszko, who was brutally murdered by the communist soldiers and police. He extolled his country men...and young priests as well that Father Jerzy died a hero's death and was a mortal.

He expressed openly that the communist could never reach an accommodation and reconciliation with the Polish people until human rights were respected. But General Jaruzelski, who feels that he is better at knowing what is best for the Polish people than the Pope, publicly rebuked the Pope by saying that the Pope should take some of the problems facing Poland back to Rome to be solved. But what the communist in Poland should know is that the priests there...the cardinals there...and the Pope take Poland's problems with them wherever they go.

It seems now the time is ripe for the Vatican and the Polish communist regime to work out a recognition of the communist regime with very, very stringent and controversial conditions for this recognition.

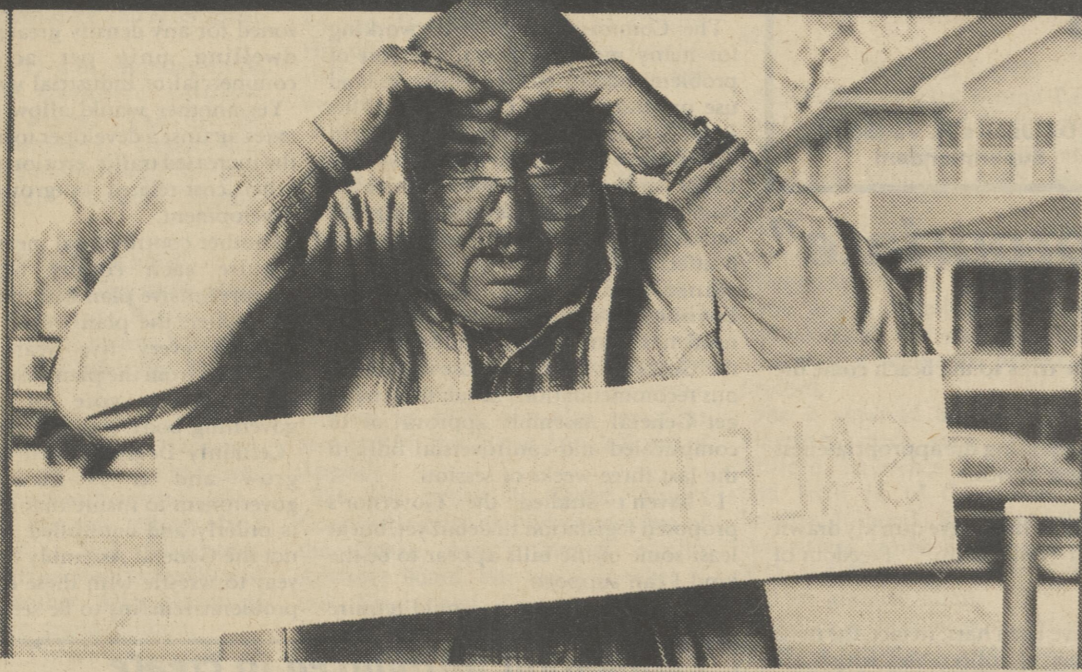

Praise the Pope for his daringness for those people who are forever trapped there.

negotiations on and sign the proposed international agreement on CFCs. Second, I urge passage of my bill, the Global Climate Protection Act. The global warming issue is closely related to the ozone issue because the same product -- CFCs -- is a substantial cause of both.

My bill calls for development of a government-wide and international strategy to combat global warming, along with recommendations for legislative action. I would expect any strategy to address the problem of global warming would call for expanding energy conservation efforts, restricting CFC use, and preserving tropical forests -- all vital to protection of the global climate.

Ozone depletion, like global warming, poses a deadly threat to our plant's future. We cannot allow our efforts to protect our environment against long-term catastrophic changes to be sidetracked by frivolous and shortsighted proposals that completely fail to address the problem.

Mutt or pedigree...it really doesn't matter

by Rebecca Moore

Dandie Dinmont, Vizsla, Bichon Frise and Borzoi. Odd sounding, difficult to pronounce, and what could they possibly have in common? Any dog-lover can probably tell you. All these exotic-sounding names are breeds of dogs.

Do you have one of these galavanting about in your backyard or sacked out in your favorite livingroom chair? Whether their heritage is barely pronounceable or they are of unknown origin, dogs are the most popular pet in this country, and with good reason. Dogs do more than just sit and look pretty like other finned, whiskered and feathered pets. A dog is trainable, and he provides companionship, protection and loyalty. As with any pet, a dog has its share of problems—fleas, a fascination with the neighbor's trash, live entertainment at 2 a.m., managing to miss the carefully-placed newspapers—but most dog owners gladly tolerate the inconveniences.

In the U.S. there are 125 breeds of dogs and these are broken down into six groups: sporting dogs (spaniels, setters and retrievers), hounds (basset, beagle, saluki, etc.), toys (chihuahua, maltese, pomeranian, etc.), working dogs (German shepherd, St. Bernard, etc.), terriers (Cairn, Bedlington, border, etc.), and non-sporting dogs (bulldog, keeshond, etc.). The smallest breed of dog is the chihuahua, which weighs one to six pounds and stands a mere five inches. The Irish Wolfhound, on the other hand, stands thirty to thirty-four inches tall, and the St. Bernard can grow to weigh up to two hundred pounds.

Kent County was recently treated to a dog show. The Legislative Mall in downtown Dover was alive with dozens of different breeds from the wrinkles of the shar-pei to the shiny blackness of the huge Newfoundlands. I was a bit skeptical about this visit, for I still retained some less-than-pleasant memories of a recent cat show; but the afternoon turned out to be truly delightful. The dogs were beautiful and their owners outgoing and friendly. We were encouraged to play with the dogs and my children spent most of their time rolling about in the grass with Pomeranians and Pugs.

It was here that I met some fascinating people. Like John Ferrante, a resident of Washington, D.C. and owner of Visconti Kennels, who has a passion for a fancy little Shih Tzu named

Washington, D.C. businessman, John Ferranti, showed his prized Shih Tzu, Madonna, in a recent dog show in Dover. The Shih Tzu originated in China and Tibet.

Madonna. The Shih Tzu is related to the Pekingese and the Lhasa Apso and was originally found in China and Tibet. They are small lapdogs and have never had to work for a living. You can usually spot a Shih Tzu because of the distinctive top knot on its head.

A local breeder, Klaus Twisselman of Felton, is the proud owner of the dog which took the award for "best in show". Mr. Twisselman breeds a beautiful little dog called Lakeland terrier. Years ago, Lakelands were bred in northern England and they were not pampered pets. Spring in northern England brings lambing season, and with it the foxes who like nothing better than a tender spring lamb for dinner. So Lakeland were bred to tolerate undesirable weather conditions and eliminate the destructive foxes. In spite of its fierce ancestry, the Lakeland has a wonderful sense of humor and is known for its pleasant disposition.

Mr. Twisselman is rather an interesting character, himself. Lakeland terriers are not his only animal interest. He also breeds rabbits and has appeared on television and in several national publications as a result of his work. Mr. Twisselman was not born in the United States, but an adventurous spirit drew him from Germany to the United States in 1955. He now works as a butcher at G and B Store in Felton. He even makes the store's sausage, and I can guarantee it is definitely delicious. Linda Smith is also a local breeder who owns "Custom Canines" in Camden. Her pride and joy is in the form of the Lhasa Apso. This short-statured, but long-haired beauty also has its origins in Tibet. His coat is heavy and long and covers every inch of his body, including his face, giving him the appearance of a mop that somehow came to life. Like the Shih Tzu, the groomed Lhasa sports a topknot, so its bright eyes can be seen. Mrs. Smith's Lhasas have been purchased by owners from as far away as Denmark.

In order to become involved in dog shows, one need only to own a pure bred dog—one whose parents are of the same breed. A premium list is published on a regular basis, listing all dog shows around the country and other necessary information. There are eight different classes in which dogs are judged—puppy, novice, bred by exhibitor, American bred, open (any age or breed), winners, specials, and best of opposite sex. For some reason, the winning dogs are almost always male.

It doesn't seem to matter if your dog is the proud recipient of a string of blue ribbons, or he's just that good old mutt to whom love is blind—he's still quite an animal. There's something very special about the relationship between a human being and his dog. Sure, they're a problem from time to time, but how dull life would be without them!

Seat belt law fails by two votes

by William Robertson

DOVER — Delaware drivers will not be required by law to use seat belts after mandatory legislation requiring the use of the safety devices fell two votes short of passage in the House on Thursday night.

Rep. Joseph R. Petrilli, R-Pike Creek Valley, sponsored the original House bill, H.B. 80, which would have required front seat passengers and the driver in a car to use seat belts or be fined $25 for the first offense. Police could have enforced the law only if a vehicle was stopped for another violation.

An amendment was introduced by Petrilli which would have penalized drivers and front seat passengers who did not use seat belts with up to two points on their licenses for the first offense. No fine would have been imposed. The amendment passed by a vote of 22-17.

Petrilli's amendment met with some opposition from Motor Vehicle Director, Robert J. Voshell, who told House members that his division did not plan to use those points towards suspending or revoking a driver's license. Also, the information on the violation would not be passed on to insurance companies, he said.

Front seat passengers caught not using a seat belt and having no driver's license would receive no points and no fine, Voshell said.

Petrilli stated he preferred that the points add up toward suspension or revocation of a driver's license, with no information given to insurance companies.

Another amendment, offered by Rep. E. Stuart Outten, D-Dover North, was defeated 19-22 by the House. The amendment would have required that only front seat passengers 16 and younger use seat belts.

Edward R. Davis, who represents Traffic Safety Now, a pro-seat belt organization said he would ask Petrilli to try to run the original bill without the amendments.

Mellon Bank to close Milford & Harrington offices

WILMINGTON — The Milford and Harrington community offices of Mellon Bank (DE) will close July 31, Kaye Brown, head of Community Banking Administration, said recently. All employees have been offered other positions in the branch system, Brown said.

The Milford office is located at 652 N. duPont Highway, Milford, and the Harrington office is at Routes 13 and 14, Harrington. The Bank announced in March that both offices would be closed.

Earlier this week, Mellon Bank mailed letters to customers of the two offices notifying them of the July 31 date and the community offices where their accounts will be transferred. The letters also gave names and telephone numbers where inquiries should be referred.

"The decision to close these offices was a difficult one," said H. Harrison Kephart, Jr., chairman of the board and president of Mellon Bank (DE). "We are sensitive to the needs of our communities and we remain committed to providing the highest quality services to all our customers."
