Council seeks new City Solicitor

by William Robertson

HARRINGTON - For a number of weeks, the Harrington Town Council has been without a full-time city solicitor due to a charter ordinance which resulted in the resignation of Mr. Lester Blades in June.

Since Blades' resignation, the council attempted to change the charter. Currently the charter states that a city solicitor must have practiced law in the State of Delaware for at least three years before he can be accepted to serve on the council.

The council would like the charter to read that the city solicitor only practice in the State of Delaware, and strike out the number of years from three to none. City manager George Volenik said, "These changes should be made when the legislature meets again."

"At the present time, any city solicitor applying for the vacancy left by Blades must have practiced in the state for three years," according to Volenik.

Volenik said the city is currently seeking someone to fill the position and that he had interviewed an applicant Tuesday, Aug. 4.

"The city has been working with an attorney on a peaceable basis for a couple of non-municipal matters until a new solicitor is found," Volenik said. According to Rep. G. Robert Quillen, "The House could go back in session after the special election on August 22."

If the legislature does not go back into session after the special election the charter changes may have to wait until the legislator meets in January.

David Welch

Welch dies from vehicular accident

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

HARRINGTON — This community is mourning the loss of one of its leaders this week. David L. Welch, 47, of R.D. 1, Harrington was accidentally killed Friday morning, July 31, near Woodside when a 6-wheel truck ran through a Delaware State Highway Survey team of which Mr. Welch was a member.

He, along with a co-worker, Mr. Robin Scott Fulmer of 171 Orchard Avenue, Dover, were killed when they were hit and run over by a truck, owned by Shore Seafood of Pocomoke City, MD and was driven by Albert Wise, Jr., 33, of Atlantic, Virginia.

Mr. Welch died at the scene. Mr. Fulmer died in route to the hospital.

Services for Mr. Welch were held at Calvary Wesleyan Church in Harrington on Monday at 1:00 p.m. with burial in Hollywood Cemetery in Harrington.

He is survived by his wife, Nancy R.; a son, David L. Welch, Jr.; and a daughter, Tina Lynn Welch, both at home; his parents, W. Carroll and Mildred Welch of Harrington; five brothers, Carroll Jr., Louis C., Edgar and Paul, all of Harrington and William of Woodside; four sisters, Evelyn Goodson of Jacksonville, FL, Lillian Fennett of Harrington, and Pauline Gardner and Joan Viggiani, both of Fort Lauderdale, FL.

Instead of flowers, the family suggests contributions to the David L. Welch scholarship fund, in care of Lake Forest High School, Felton.

David Welch was involved in many community affairs. He was elected to the Lake Forest School Board in 1985 and was later chosen by the Board to be its Vice-President. When H. Earl Roberts was elected to the School Board this spring, Mr. Roberts and Mr. Welch were chosen by the Board of Education to be the Board President and Vice-President respectively.

Mr. Welch was deeply involved in the functions of the schools throughout the district. He was extremely conscientious about his role as a school board member and Vice-President of the School Board. It was also true of Mr. Welch, as one school administrator observed this week, "...you could almost count on Dave being at just about every school function."

He was also involved in the community through the Harrington Little League. In the early 1980's, he functioned as an umpire, Vice-President of the League, and later as its President.

Calvary Wesleyan Church in Harrington was Mr. Welch's church. It was here that he got involved in leadership roles serving on the Board of Administration of the church. He was a Sunday School teacher. Rev. William H. Miller, Pastor of Calvary Wesleyan Church, said Sunday from the pulpit, "...David was always inviting people to come to his church, and I dare say he was responsible for many of you attending services here." Reverend Miller offered several prayers for the Welch family despite the fact he wept openly through the task. Reverend Miller referred to David Welch as a close friend and ally in the church. "He was always willing to help me and the church whenever we needed him, and most of the time he helped without being asked," said Reverend Miller.

In addition to those functions at the church, he also served on the building committee, the Wesleyan Men's Group, was a church and youth counselor, and manager of the men's softball team. Their game with Denton was cancelled on Monday night.

He was employed by the State Department of Transportation in the survey team department. He had 29 years service with the state, and was nearing retirement this winter according to one family source.

Mr. Wise has been charged with 2 counts of 2nd Degree Vehicular Homicide which carries a minimum sentence of one year.

Levy Court tables tower for further discussion

by William Robertson

HARRINGTON - A decision to install a 340-foot-high microwave tower just south of Harrington is still waiting to be heard by The First National Bank of Maryland and approximately 800 residents living in the area where the tower is to be installed.

County Administrator Robert O'Brien said last Wednesday night's meeting concluded around 12:30 a.m. after the Levy Court listened to the residents' concerns over the project.

"The two main concerns from the residents were about the effects the tower would have on television reception in the area and possible radiation," O'Brien said.

"Mr. George Bonniwell spoke for a majority of the residents, but the residents did not give the court a definite 'no' on the project," according to O'Brien.

"The tower is scheduled to be constructed along Kent 314. The reason this area was chosen was because it's within the network of other towers that the bank has," O'Brien said.

Once the tower is operating, a digital voice and data signal from Baltimore would be bounced by way of Church Hill, Md., to the bank's credit card and account operations in Millsboro.

As far as interference with television reception, O'Brien said, "It's a short wave length signal which is intensively directed and should not interfere with the residents' reception."

The meeting was tabled 7-0 to allow the county attorney, Max Terry to meet with The First National Bank attorney, Patrick Scanlon, along with the residents' attorney to work out some possible solution by Aug. 18.

O'Brien stated, "We were expecting some opposition from the residents, but the Levy Court is going to do what's best for the interest of the community."

Family considers recent fires suspicious

by William Robertson

HARRINGTON - Within three years Mr. and Mrs. Roy Porter, of 118 Delaware Avenue, have experienced a number of fires and damages to their home and outbuildings.

The most recent incident occurred Saturday morning when the Porters were awakened by neighbors to find the barn behind their home ablaze. This was the third time in three years that the structure has caught fire for no apparent reason, according to Mr. Porter.

When the Harrington Fire Department arrived, the flames and heat were so intense that it melted the siding off the back of their home, melted the skirting off the swimming pool, and damaged a large portion of the backyard.

Once the fire was brought under control, all that remained of the barn was a charred skeleton of framework.

Mr. Porter said, "I've lost everything inside the building, including my children's new bicycles and numerous tools."

"This isn't the first time something like this has happened. When we were remodeling our home, we had to replace 28 windows because someone was taking rocks from the railroad tracks and throwing them through the windows," Porter said.

"Also, when the barn caught fire the second time, the firemen said they smelled kerosene in the building. I never kept kerosene or any other type of flammable materials in the building," Porter stated.

"There's a real sick person out there doing this, and I hope they catch him. We try to keep a nice yard and we put alot of money into it just so someone sick can come along and do something like this and take it all away. It's enough to make you want to give up."

"We have never done anything to anyone, and I don't know why someone wants to do this to us. If someone has a problem with me, let them see me in person. What they are doing is a coward's way of handling things," Porter said.

"When this fire started it almost took my home with it and it could have taken my family as well," Porter stated.

The Kent County Fire Marshal was at the Porters' residence Tuesday, investigating the damage to determine the cause of the blaze.

Lake Forest Board adopts meeting change

The Lake Forest Board of Education recently adopted a new meeting schedule. The board will meet at 7:30 p.m. beginning with a work session at 5 p.m., on the third Monday of each month at the Lake Forest High School library beginning in November.

October meetings will be rotated throughout the district. On Aug. 17, the meeting is slated for Lake Forest North Elementary School in Felton. The Sept. 12 meeting is scheduled at Lake Forest East Elementary, Frederica, and the Oct. 19 meeting will be at W.T. Chipman Junior High School, Harrington.

Felton historical nomination approved by State

by Lola O'Day
FELTON—The Felton Town Council learned during its August 3 meeting that the Delaware State Review Board, as of June 25, approved the nominations of Felton Historical Places in a letter read by Mr. Daniel Griffith of the Bureau of Archaeology and Historical Preservation.

The nominations will be forwarded to the Department of the Interior for a final review. The results of the review will be sent as soon as they are received, according to Griffith.

Mrs. Joyce Jefferson was present at the meeting and requested for an organization meeting to be set up for the Historical Society of Felton. The request for the meeting was granted, and a date was set for Sept. 16, 1987, at 7 p.m. at the Felton Town Hall.

Mrs. Jefferson asked that anyone interested in the society are welcomed to attend.

In other business, the Town of Felton experienced some problems with water running continuously at the town's pump house. After careful examination, it was discovered that the mercury switch was the cause of the problem and it was repaired.

The town is currently checking into a more modern switch to prevent further problems. The town is also considering placing bars in the windows of the pump house to allow better ventilation. Curb painting for the town began Tuesday, Aug. 4, by Mr. Corkell. The Fletcher Convalescent Home has requested that the ambulance parking zone be done as well for patient arriving and discharging. The curbs in that area have been measured for painting.

Two letters were read by Mr. George Egler to the council. One concerned the resignation of Mrs. Charolet Stevenson. Mrs. Stevenson resigned from her duties of cleaning at the town hall.

The other letter came from the Lake Forest Flag Team thanking the Commissioners of Felton for a gift in support of the Flag Team. The team is hoping to send three teams to Michigan to compete in the World Flag Team Competition.

The council was also submitted a number plans for approval, pending approval by the planning and zoning. Those submitting plans included Mr. James Sluter, house 28 x40, Sewell St., Mr. William Myers, 209 East High St. adding on to a structure under construction; Mr. William Myers, lots 31, 32 and 37 at Kerry Circle; and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ware, to demolish a storage shed and replace it with a new one.

There will be an executive meeting Wednesday, Aug. 12 at 7 p.m. to discuss personnel and building permit regulations.

Also, due to a legal holiday falling on the September meeting date, the meeting has been rescheduled for Sept. 14, at 7:30 p.m.

State Fair water testing is overwhelming success

The Division of Water Resources' free water testing program at the Delaware State Fair was an overwhelming success, according to Dr. Harry W. Otto, manager of the division's Technical Services Section.

Fairgoers were encouraged to bring their domestic well water samples to the DNREC exhibit where laboratory technicians were testing samples for nitrate and chloride content. Eighty-six samples were tested during fair week, compared to eight tests in 1986.

DNREC technicians found 23 samples to be over the recommended 45 milligrams per liter nitrate level, or 10 milligrams of nitrogen per liter. When nitrate concentrations exceed 10 mg N/l, there is a potential health hazard for infants under six months and nursing mothers because excess nitrate intake can reduce available oxygen supply, possibly producing Blue Baby Syndrome or suffocation. Water high in nitrates should not be boiled; this only increases the nitrate concentration.

Of the 86 samples tested, the highest nitrate concentration was found in one taken from outside Milford's city limits. The nitrate content in that water was 140.8 mg/l. Six out of the 12 Milford area water samples tested exceeded the 45 mg/l limit.

Other high nitrate levels were found in samples from the Bridgeville area, with the highest being 96.8 mg/l; Townsend with highest being 89.0 mg/l; and Ellendale and Greenwood, with the highest being 88 mg/l.

Delaware's highest nitrate concentrations are found in Kent and Sussex counties. Any soil condition with a high leaching rate has a greater chance of having a high nitrate concentration. Fertilizers used in lawn care and farming operations contribute to this condition.

None of the 86 water samples were found to exceed the standard domestic well chloride limit of 250 mg/l although the range reached 173.0 mg/l.

Anyone desiring a water test kit may contact the Division of Public Health Laboratory, 89 Kings Highway, Dover, or call 736-4714. A fee to cover the detailed bacteriological and chemical study will be charged.

Carper to testify before Senate

Banking Committee

WASHINGTON — Delaware Congressman Tom Carper will testify before the Senate Banking Committee today at the request of its chairman, Senator William Proxmire of Wisconsin.

Carper will testify on legislation he introduced last week to reform the nation's banking system by allowing national banks and bank holding companies greater flexibility in providing financial services. The debate over expanded bank powers has developed into the most important banking issue for the remainder of the 100th Congress. Its outcome is likely to have a profound effect on the nation's banking industry, and the future of Delaware's financial sector.

The Carper bill would allow national banks the same powers as state-chartered banks. It would also allow bank holding companies to own subsidiaries which provide securities services, but would still prohibit them from underwriting long-term corporate debt (e.g., corporate bonds) and corporate equity (e.g. common stock).

The Delaware legislature passed legislation in May to give state-chartered banks expanded securities powers. However, a U.S. Senate provision contained within a banking bill conference report which will pass Congress this week imposes a moratorium until next March on many new financial activities by state-chartered banks. The moratorium is to allow Congress an opportunity to develop a national policy on expanded bank powers, but it will also delay implementation of the new Delaware law until next year at the earliest.

Further complicating matters, many of Delaware's state-chartered banks are owned by federally regulated holding companies such as Chase, Morgan, Chemical, Mellon and Marine Midland. Glass-Steagall prohibitions on bank securities powers apply to all banks owned by holding companies, state laws notwithstanding.

The Carper legislation gives individual states discretion to allow banks expanded powers within their borders, but does not require states to give their banks those powers. It would also permit Delaware banks owned by holding companies to offer most of the services allowed under our state's new law, but would not require other states to give their banks similar powers.

In short, the bill is more moderate in its approach to expanded bank powers than some other proposals to date, and could gain majority support in both the House and Senate.

Harrington Heritage Day — Historical Tours

Starting at the Senior Center at 1:00 p.m., Mrs. Jean Miller will conduct the Historical Tours of Harrington again this year on Heritage Day, September 19.

If you have never gone on this tour, it can be very educational about the community in which you live.

Jean points out places of interest as the trolley travels from one place to another. She has the help of Taylor and Messick for transportation. There will probably be at least three tours during the afternoon. They are free to the public and start on the West side of the Senior Center parking lot.

Mrs. Miller adds much to the atmosphere as she will be wearing her colonial costume.

Roth bill would establish two year budget for SSA

WASHINGTON — In an effort to strengthen the administration of the Social Security system and help improve service to beneficiaries, Senator William V. Roth, Jr., R-Del. last week introduced legislation to establish a two-year budget for the Social Security Administration (SSA).

"The Social Security Administration serves over 37 million Americans. We owe it to each and every one of them to ensure the kind of stability that will lead to improved management and better service. My bill would make this possible," Roth said.

Noting that the Social Security Act Amendments of 1983 assured the financial health of the Social Security trust fund well into the 21st century, Roth said, "The success of the Social Security system must be measured by more than just the solvency of the trust fund. While this is fundamental, the service provided to beneficiaries must also be beyond doubt."

Roth's legislation would assure that the Social Security Administration "would not be subject to the fluctuations of the annual budget process or held hostage every year to the giant continuing resolution necessary to keep the government from shutting down," he said.

Roth, who earlier this year introduced legislation to establish a biennial federal budget, said, "The present annual budget process creates budgetary uncertainty for recipients of federal funds, results in redundant congressional action on budget matters, encourages the use of budgetary gimmicks, and focuses attention away from developing long-term national priorities."

The Governmental Accounting Office recommended the Social Security Administration as one of several civilian agencies which would best serve as pilots for two-year budgeting, according to Roth. "Given a two year appropriation, Social Security administrators will be better able to plan and meet their personnel and resource needs," Roth said. "In the long run, better planning should mean improved service to Social Security beneficiaries."

Don't start your day supposin' that trouble is just ahead, It's better to stop supposin' and start with a prayer instead, And make it a prayer of thanksgiving for the wonderful things God has wrought

Like the beautiful sunrise and sunset, God's Gifts that are free and not bought--

For what is the use of supposin' the dire things that could happen to you And worry about some misfortune that seldom if ever comes true--

But instead of just idle supposin', step forward and meet each new day Secure in the knowledge God's near you to lead you each step of the way--

For supposin' the worst things will happen only helps to make them come true

And darken the bright, happy moments that the Dear Lord has given to you, So if you desire to be happy and get rid of "the misery of dread"

Just give up "supposin' the worst things" and look for "the best things" instead.

Uncontrolled high blood pressure can affect the blood vessels of the eyes, heart, kidneys and nervous system. The possibility of stroke — a blockage of the blood supply to a part of the brain that kills brain cells — also is increased if you have high blood pressure. Resulting damage from high blood pressure can be prevented or reduced if it is detected and treated early — and if treatment is continued. The only way to determine if your blood pressure is high is to have it checked at least once a year.

Hunting, fishing licenses sales set record: numbers drop in Delaware

Hunters and anglers across the U.S. spent $624 million on state licenses in 1986, hunters spent $322.6 million and fishermen spent $301.8 million for licenses, tags and stamps.
The number of licenses issued in Delaware was down in 1986. Robert Graham, fish and wildlife coordinator, said that while the numbers are down slightly from 1986, revenues have increased. Graham attributed the rise in revenues to increased fees of both hunting and fishing licenses. The increase was granted by the state's General Assembly and was the first increase since 1968.

The total number of fishing licenses issued in 1986 was 19,909 compared to 20,398 in 1985. Hunting licenses issued in 1986 totaled 25,664 while 27,997 licenses were sold in 1985.
Revenue from fishing licenses totaled $179,482.20 in 1986 and hunting license sales reached $383,540.90.
The record $624 million collected nationally in license sales will help fund many of the states' fish and wildlife management programs. The Pittman-Robertson and Dingell-Johnson federal acts require states to earmark their hunting and fishing license receipts to match these federal monies. Federal excise taxes are levied on sport hunting and fishing equipment at the manufacturer's level to support federal assistance to the state fish and wildlife programs.

A recent amendment to the Dingell-Johnson fisheries act added revenues from motor boat fuel taxes which greatly enhances state fishery programs. Federal monies are administered by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and are apportioned to the states based on their geographic size and number of licenses sold.
According to Graham, funding from these federal programs has purchased about one half of the total 35,000 acres of wildlife and fisheries lands administered by Delaware's Division of Fish and Wildlife. The most recent purchase using this funding was 1427 acres at the Cedar Swamp Area in December, 1984.
Federal aid funding matched by hunting and fishing license receipts annually fund the operation, maintenance and development of the state's 11 wildlife areas and 42 freshwater ponds and tidal access areas. The money is also used for research, survey, and inventory projects needed to manage the state's fish and wildlife resources.
Graham said future plans call for the construction of ranges for rifled firearms at Omelanden Range; a breakwater/fishing pier at Augustine Beach; boat access areas at the City of Wilmington's East Seventh Street Park and at Collins beach and construction of a new water control spillway at Wagamon's Pond in Milton.

Harrington enters into the semi-pro league

by William Robertson
HARRINGTON — On May 29, 1987, six men from a Milford Semi-Pro baseball team separated from the group to form their own semi-pro team here in Harrington.
After weeks of hard work and determination trying to get sponsors, players and new uniforms, the Harrington Hurricanes were formed and became the fourth team in the state of Delaware to enter into the semi-pro league.
The team consists of 13 players throughout the area including Bob Probst, Don Probst and Ron Probst, Dover; Jeff Greenly, Milford; Erin Ergenzinger, Salisbury; Tom Penuel and Ben Elliott, Georgetown; and Jeff Thompson, Tim Stump, Todd Gruwell, Jim Moss, Mike Dill, John Kirby, Steve Thompson and Elvin Spence of Harrington.
The team is currently 13-14 for the season and is ranked fifth among the nine teams in the league.
Mike Dill, a Harrington Hurricane player, said the team was 13-8 and could have been in the playoffs but the team got hit with some bad breaks in the last six games.
When asked about the team's strengths, Dill said, "When we first started playing we were definitely strong in defense. Hitting the ball was our strong point, but now we're outstanding in pitching and we haven't been able to hit the key base hits we need."
The Hurricanes hold an impressive batting average of .295, according to Dill.
Some of the Hurricanes outstanding batters include Erin Ergenzinger with an average of .345, 20 RBI's and four doubles. Ron Probst follows right behind Ergenzinger with a .343 average, eight stolen bases, three doubles and 10 RBI's. Tim Stump rounds out the top three with an average of .200 and 19 RBI's.
Dill said Delaware currently has four semi-pro teams including one in Milford, Dover, Seaford and Harrington.

When the team first became organized, Jim Moss, another member of the Harrington Hurricanes said the team had some problems getting businesses to sponsor them, but he contributed that to the area.
The sponsorship allows the team to pay for umpires, uniforms, and any traveling expenses they may have.
Dill said the team is currently seeking a sponsor for next year. If one is found, that sponsor's name would be printed on their uniforms and seen at all the games they may have.
While seeking sponsorship, the team has stuck together. Moss said the reason they've stuck together is because they've all been playing baseball together since Little League and they know one another pretty well.

Since the Hurricanes are Harrington's only hometown semi-pro team, the team has become well known throughout the area. Dill said there hasn't been a game yet that a good number of local residents haven't turned out and the team appreciates their support.
The next semi-pro home game will be played Wednesday, August 5, at 7:30 p.m. at the baseball park behind the Moose Lodge.

Zoar and Khan Q Bine take 2 year old series final

by Price Kellar

Zoar was a smashing winner in Tuesday's (July 28) final of New Star Series for 2-year-old pacing colts. The Sonsam-Corrie Messenger took the $10,000 event in a new lifetime best 1:59 for reinsman Pres Moore, Jr. Zoar was tested at every quarter. Tokskalle (Ron Waples) left hard and kept Zoar off the rail through the first 5/8 of the mile. The winner got to the wood as the 1:27.4 three-quarter mark was flashed. Zoar paced home in a 31.1 last quarter and stayed 4 lengths ahead of the late charge of second best Chosen (Joe MacDonald) and Natural Rights who showed. Zoar is owned by James and Pauline Crane of Aiken, S.C. Steve Westfall trains the colt out of the Crane Stable.

Khan-Q-Bine was a surprise winner of the $10,000 final of The Morning Star Series Wednesday. Driver, Larry MacDonald sat back and watched the race develop as odds-on favorite Successful Scarlet and second choice Foxy Scooter used each other up in a 58.4 speed duel to the half. With those two done, it was anybody's race and Khan Q Bine brushed by seven rivals in the last quarter to establish her life-mark at 2:01. The Gengis Khan-Neona Hanover filly is owned by Sheldon Perry of New Jersey and Ronald Kaiser of California. Phil McGee trains the charge.

Emerald Jay took honors as the fastest pacer of the week with his 1:56.3 victory in Sunday's (August 2) $6200 Open Pace. Three weeks ago the 6-year-old Most Happy Fella gelding was claimed by Anita Hardiman and Kathleen Davis for $15,000. Last week he was second by a neck in a $5500 Open, a tune-up for this week's 4 length victory. Stuz Bearcat (Walter Callahan) was a closing second. Queens Over was third.

Megavolt came from off the pace to win the $7000 Open Handicap Pace on Sunday. R.L. Farrington got the winner home in 1:57.4. Pacesetter Croquemonsieur (Dick Macomber) was 1/2 length back in second. Chief Temujin closed to show.

Breana Almahurst shot up the rail in late stretch to take the $6700 Open trot Friday. Markku Vartinen drove the mare to her second successive win against the best trotters on the grounds, this time in 2:01. Donovan Hanover (Ken McNutt) was a head back in second, Vandallina was third. Donovan Hanover left hard with company and was pressured throughout the mile. Donovan appeared to have the race won, but Breana Almahurst found room on the rail to pass four horses in the stretch for the victory.

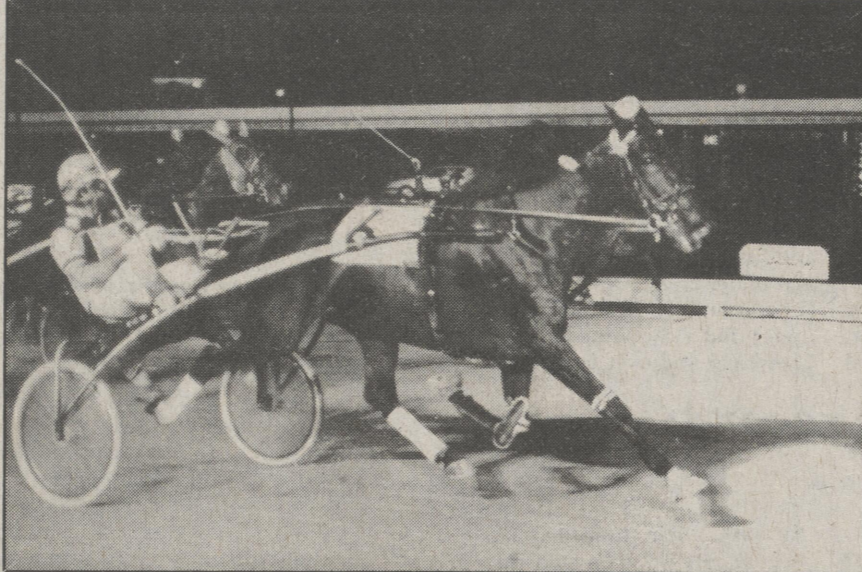

Breana Almahurst is owned by Archie McNeil of West Palm Beach, FL. Joseph Kroll and Team Nordin handle the training duties on the 4-year-old Speedy Crown-Bustle mare.

Cut It Out cut the mile to win the $6500 Filly and Mare Open Saturday. Trainer-driver Robert Rosen reined the 5-year-old Levity-Jenuine Frost mare to a 1:58.2 victory. Tapper's Girl (Dan Kimmel) was second. Scarlet Sister got up for third. Cut It Out is owned by the Karnak Stable of Sherman Oaks California.

Saturday saw one of Harness racing's most respected horsemen take his last trip as a driver. Jimmy Larente concluded four decades of being a total horseman quietly behind fifth place finishing Lorcan in Brandywine's first race. A winner's circle presentation was made as Mr. Larente was recognized by his fellow horsemen for collecting 2,196 wins and career earnings of nearly $7.6 Million. Larente will continue to own and train horses but the stable's driving gloves will now be filled by his sons Bob and Jimmy, Jr.

Larente retires from driving, remains trainer

WILMINGTON, DE — One of the top drivers in harness racing over a span of four decades, Jimmy Larente, drove for the last time in competition on Saturday, August 1, at Brandywine Raceway.

Larente, who was one of the first fifty drivers in history to record 2,000 victories, drove the 4-year-old pacer, Lorcan, in his final start and finished fifth. He will continue in harness racing, but solely as a trainer and turn over driving assignments from his stable to his two sons, Jimmy Jr., age 27 and Bobby, who is 25.

The Montreal born horseman closes out his driving career ranked 33rd among more than 12,000 horsemen who have been listed by the United States Trotting Association. He registered 2,196 driving wins and $7,664,576 in purses, which is 89th highest total, in the sports long history.

He arrived in the Delaware Valley in time for the 1966 season, is second trainer and first driver for the powerful Frank Safford Stable. In a short time, Larente became a regular on the sport's famed "Grand Circuit" driving in many prestigious stakes events. At the same time, he quickly became one of the most popular drivers at Brandywine and Liberty Bell Park.

Two years later, he formed his own stable. He raced such standouts as: H.T. Navy, Mr. Ovarnite, Fashion Blaze, Mr. Roberts, Flash Lobell, Freedom Knight, Armbo Raven, Thunder Lobell and Mr. Wight, who helped him establish well respected reputation as an outstanding developer of young horses in the industry.

Scully, whom he purchased as a yearling in 1978, went on to become the fastest double-gaited performer in history. Still, racing in the Larente stable, the big Noble Victory horse is the fastest combined winner ever over a five-eighths mile track. Larente drove him to a 1:58.1 victory during his 3-year-old season in which he was a pacer and son, Jimmy Jr. steered him to a winning 2:00.2 effort on the trot as a 6-year-old in 1983. Scully's aggregate fastest times - 3:54.3 over a mile track - on the pace and trot is also a world record.

More recently, Larente broke, trained and sent to the races such successful campaigners as stakes winners Jiffy Lobell, Butler B G and Brian's Breeze.

Larente is a third plateau member of a four generation family in the sport. His grandfather first became interested in standardbreds in his native Quebec. His father, Paul was also a noted horseman in the province. Ironically, his father also retired from driving at age 56. Larente's two sons have been associated with his stable since they finished high school.

While he will now forego driving, Larente will continue to train horses. He and his sons plan to break and train colts each winter in Aiken, South Carolina and then race each Spring and Summer at Brandywine.

Turpin and Bounds score repeat wins in Georgetown stockers

by Don Allen
GEORGETOWN--Limited Late Model and Street Modified competition at the Georgetown Speedway Friday night, July 31st, produced repeat wins for two of those divisions' finest drivers. The 20 lap Limited event ushered two time Georgetown Champion Jeff Turpin, to victory lane in his Smith's Used Cars, Weller's Tire Service Camaro. Finishing in second was multi-feature winner Oscar Fields followed by Ryan Bloom, John Penuel and Butch Hilliard to round out the top five.

Dale Bounds brought his Accubilt, Barr International Street Mod to the checkered after a race long duel with the machine of Gary Ingram. Ingram took second in the ten lap contest as Herschel Moore, C.R. Robinson and James Sockriter filled out the top five.

Turpin started sixth and in short order he threaded the needle to pull even with leader Mel Joseph Jr., exiting turn two on the second lap. Jeff came around to lead lap two, but Joseph refused to give up and the two duelled wheel-to-wheel for the next three laps. On lap five the Ford faltered and pulled to the infield.

At the halfway mark, when the one and only caution flag in the race came out, Jeff had lapped all but the second and third place cars of Fields and Bloom. When racing resumed Jeff used the extremely adhesive racing surface to the hilt and motored away. Jeff put a lap third place car of Bloom just before passing under the checkered.

Bounds' victory was not nearly as easy thanks to the sterling performance turned in by Gary Ingram. Ingram whipped his Monte Carlo onto the point from third and commanded the first two circuits as Bounds motored to the front from eighth. On lap three the duel for the lead began and though Bounds led the remainder of the laps, the rest of the front runners with Ingram showing the way didn't give him a moment's rest.

GEORGETOWN. Round one of the long awaited "Georgetown Scrambles" Series for Modifieds, sponsored in part by WDSB-FM 94.7 "Delaware County", got underway at the Georgetown Speedway Friday night, July 31st. Surprises were the norm in last year's series and thanks to Johnny Bennett and Freddy Brightbill, winners of the first two 20 lappers, it looks as if the trend will continue. Both pilots dominated on their way to victory in the two features, Bennett in his tested but winless mount and Brightbill in an untested, practically rebuilt racer.

Bennett, laid claim to the first half of the twin bill at the wheel of his #707 Olsen. John has been making the tow to Delaware for several seasons and has chalked up numerous qualifying heat wins but a feature win has constantly eluded him and his C&J Bennett Racing Team.

All that changed Friday night as Bennett, starting on the pole, pulled out all the stops on his immaculate racer and led from flag-to-flag. Only three caution periods delayed the event that was run on the clay surface that was made extremely "heavy" by a mid-afternoon thunder squall. On each restart Bennett roared away from challengers John Pinter, Bob Wilkins and Bob Toreky leaving them to battle for second.

Bennett snared his first checkered with a ten car-length lead over Wilkin's to become Georgetown's sixth different Modified feature winner of 1987. Finishing in third was Toreky followed by Pinter and Ron Keys to round out the top five.

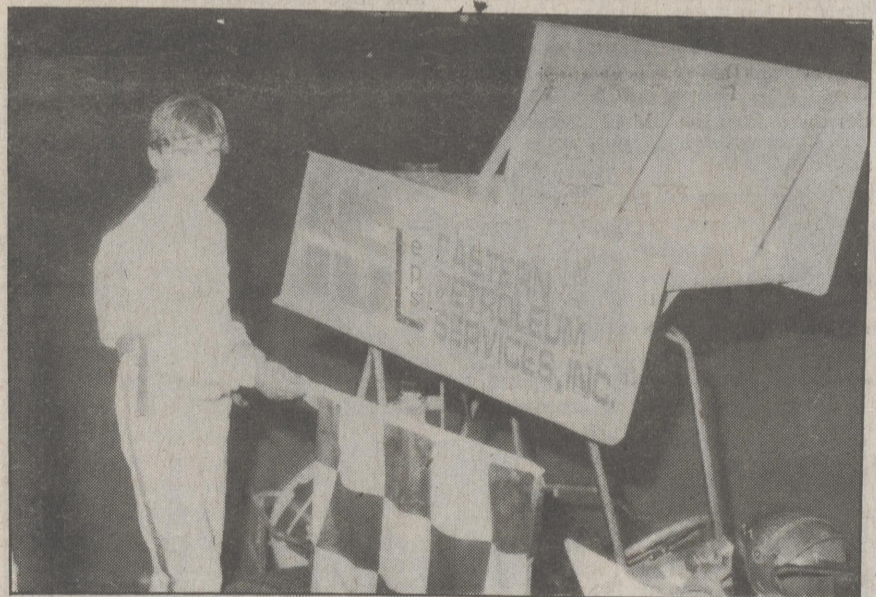

In the nightcap Modified feature, Freddy Brightbill turned on one of the finest performances yet seen out of his '87 Olsen this season.

By the second feature, the car was dialed in and Freddy rocketed from third starting spot to lead the entire event. Freddy's lead was never as

Walls wins his first at Middleford

by Bonnie Algier-Mitchell
In a flawless performance, 15-year old Scott Walls captured his first Micro Feature win Friday night, July 31st at Middleford Speedway.

With Todd Wise (X) on the pole and Walls (16) in second, the flagman gave them the green. A caution came out on lap 2 for the #30 mount and on the restart Walls got the jump on Wise and never looked back.

Although Walls could feel Wise breathing down his neck, Wise just couldn't overtake young Walls Friday night.

There was a good battle going on some car lengths back between #3 Butch Harrington and #88 Alan Garey for the 3/4 spots.

To an excited group of fans and happy crew, Scott brought his Eastern Petroleum Services #16 mount in for his first checkered. As his Dad, Eddie Walls made his way into victory lane he commented, "You couldn't have done any better." And he couldn't have!

In Lightweight Karting action... "if it weren't for bad luck"... Mike Bloom #3 and Shane Larimore #9 seemed to have "no luck at all".

Bloom, who has won quite a few recently and Larimore, lookin' for his first win, were battling it out for one and two spots with Jean Metzner #14

Beaumont, Penuel, Bounds have wins at Delaware International Speedway

DELMAR, DE—Alex Beaumont tangled with Eddie Pettyjohn with two to go and went on to win his third late model feature in the WAFL/WYUS sponsored program Saturday night at the Delaware International Speedway. Bill Penuel returned to action and recorded his first feature win in the limited late models and Dale Bounds collected his seventh win in the street modifieds.

J.C. Webster was the early leader in the late model main with Mike Tauber and Lou Johnson in the top three. David Hill stopped on lap one to bring out the yellow and on the restart, Tauber took the lead. Johnson took the second spot until Alex Beaumont moved underneath to take the spot.

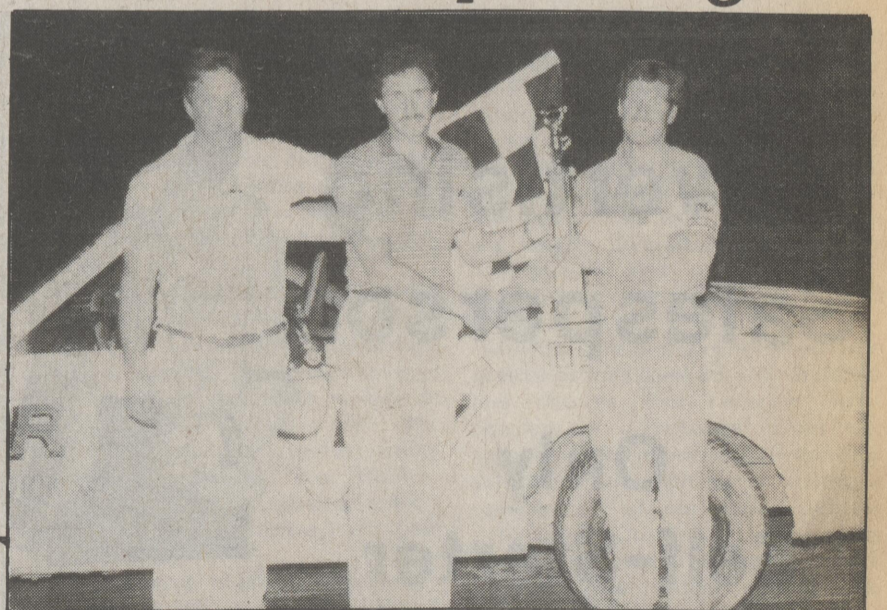

Tauber stopped on the fifth lap when he ran over some of the sheet metal on his own car. Beaumont inherited the lead with Eddie Pettyjohn taking second. Johnson made it a three car battle for first with Pettyjohn taking the lead on lap twelve. Johnson came to a stop one lap later to bring out the caution.

The battle for the lead was left to Pettyjohn and Beaumont. With two laps to go the two cars made contact in the second turn with Pettyjohn spinning to a stop. Eddie started in the rear and made a wild two lap charge to the front falling two car lengths behind Beaumont at the checkered. It was the third win of the season for Alex. Pettyjohn finished in the second spot with Webster third, Charlie Wilkerson fourth and Lou Johnson fifth.

Mel Joseph Jr. took the early lead in the limited late model main with Bill Penuel and Phil Murray in tow. The tight action caused several yellows in the early stages but at the half-way mark the top three were the same with Murray in the second spot. The leader Joseph comfortable as Bennett's had been because the mount of Bob Toreky nipped at his heels through every turn. The pair worked the track perfectly as the rest of the field strained to keep the pace.

At the checkered it was Brightbill and Toreky followed by John Pinter in third, Charlie Decker in fourth and Charlie Phillips snaring fifth.

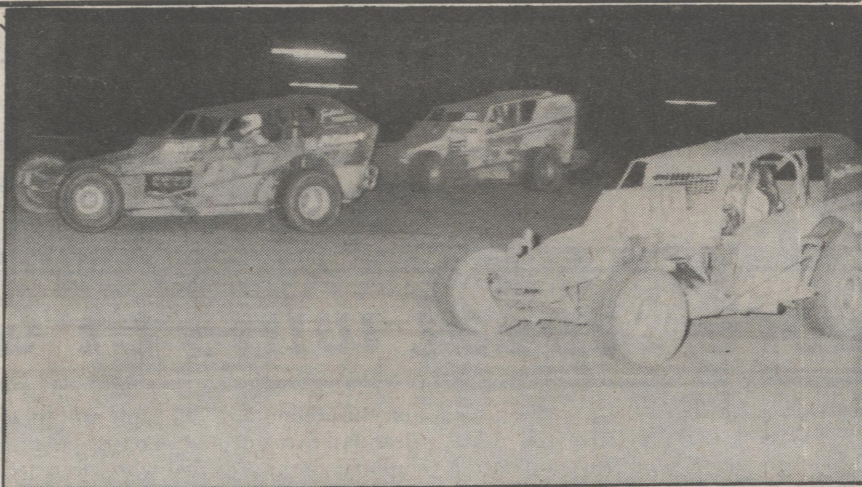

This was Brightbill's third Georgetown win for '87 adding to his unique record. All three of his wins have come on "twin bill" nights.

Bennett's luck went to the opposite extreme when a busted transmission left him dead last with a DNF in the second event.

The constant finishes of John Pinter and Bob Toreky put them in contention for the "Best Overall Georgetown Scrambles Performance Bonus" sponsored by WDSB-FM 94.7, D&L Photos, and Georgetown's Racing Fans. Fans can become "Bonus Boosters" for $5.00 each by coming to the speedway office on the grandstand side on either of the next two racenights.

The second round of the "Scrambles" will roll to the line on Friday, August 14th.

MDA benefit race slated for Georgetown

by Don Allen
It was made public recently that the second annual "Race Against MD For Jerry's Kids" sponsored by Budweiser, Anheuser-Busch and N-K-S Distributor Inc. of New Castle, De., will be held at the Georgetown Speedway on Friday night, August 21st. The event made its debut in Delaware in 1986 and that year raised over $4,300 for the benefit of the Muscular Dystrophy Association to aid in the fight against muscle diseases.

The match race is the brainchild of young Modified pilot Ron Keys, his J. Earl Keys Racing team and local motorsports radio journalist and track announcer, David Brown. The event is run using two of Keys Racing's Modified cars, one driven by Keys and the other by Brown. The object is for rookie driver Brown to finish five laps before the veteran Keys can complete six. The "purse" for the race is in the form of pledges to MDA made prior to the running of the event and all proceeds go to "Jerry Kids".

In addition to the "Race Against MD" there will also be an amateur "Pit Crew Competition" staged prior to the start of the evening's scheduled race action. The contest will be open to everyone and will involve crews of four people changing a tire and washing the windshield on a passenger car. Entry fee for the contest will go to MDA.

The evening's racecard at Georgetown on the 21st will feature the final appearance there of the super sprint cars of the URC for the 1987 season. In addition there will be action for the Modifieds, Limited Late Models and Street Modifieds. Gates will open at 6 p.m. and the pit crew competition will commence at 7 p.m.

pulled to the infield on an eleventh lap yellow leaving the lead to Penuel.

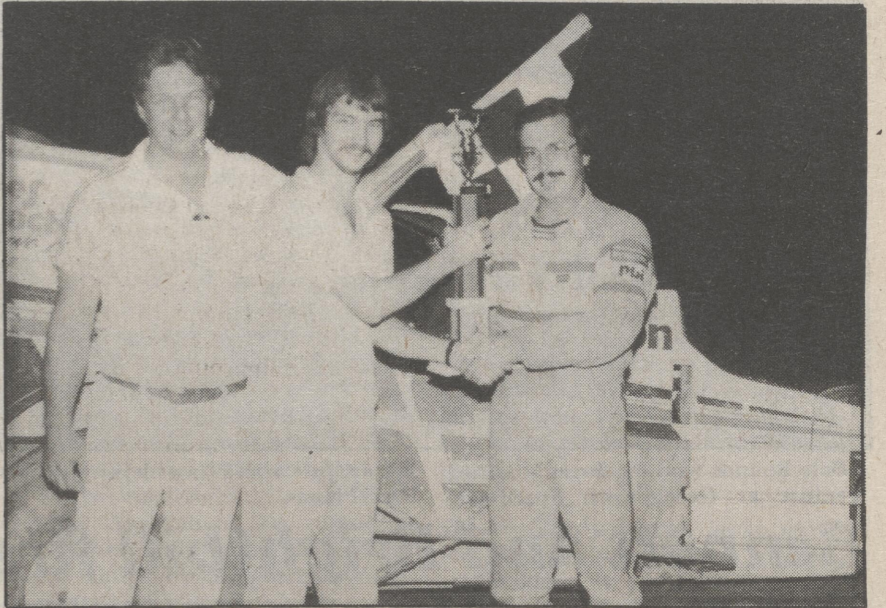

Penuel held off the challenges of Oscar Fields and Murray to record his first win of the season. Fields finished in second with Murray, Bunky White, and Buddy Messick in the top five.

Dale Bounds survived a crash filled street modified main to record his seventh win of the season. C.R. Robinson came on strong on the final lap to finish second with Tommy Elliott, who was involved in several crashes, finishing in third.

In the five lap "King of Kings" for the limited late model winners, Mel Joseph Jr. was the winner. Phil Murray finished in second with Oscar Fields third and Bunky White fourth.

DELMAR, DE--Tom Capie took the lead just before the half-way mark and went on to record his first victory of 1987 in the WAFL/WYUS sponsored program Saturday night at the Delaware International Speedway. Capie became the 11th different winner and now is eligible to defend his "King of Kings" title on August 15th.

Gary Trice moved by pole sitter, Barry Burkhart to take the lead on lap one. Brian Brittingham blew a rear tire and stopped on the front straight to bring out the one and only yellow of the 25 lap event.

Trice stayed in control on the restart with Capie moving into second and H.J. Bunting taking third. Capie kept the pressure on Trice until lap nine when Gary's motor started to foul and Capie took the lead.

Capie started to open a slight advantage with Bunting and Bob Toreky locking into a tight battle for the second spot. With the green staying out, Capie was able to open a comfortable advantage and take his first win in the Petroco Racing #53.

Bunting had a strong second place finish with Toreky third, Freddy Brightbill fourth and Bobby Wilkins rounding out the top five. Heat races were captured by Ron Keys over Bob Toreky and in the second heat, Tom Capie over Barry Burkhart.

The Old Timers feature was captured by former Delmarva driver, Pee Wee Pobletts. Scott Detweiler was second with Ed Brooks, Jere Herr and Gailen Hausman rounding out the top five.

This Saturday night will mark the fifth appearance of the United Racing Club Super Sprints sponsored by Taylor & Messick along with the modifieds, late models, limited lates and street modifieds.

There was a false start, then a restart and the finish was #64, 31, 39 and 14. In 500cc action, Salisbury's Roy Collings on his #27Harley-Davidson took the checkered after doing battle with Milford's Mark Miller on his #2Yamaha.

Letter to the Editor An open letter to Tom Carper

Congressman Tom Carper
131 Cannon House Office Bldg.
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Carper:

I feel compelled to write to you as a response to your news letter about PROTECTING U.S. INTERESTS and IT'S TIME TO NEGOTIATE. It is hard for me to understand how any congressman can honestly believe you can negotiate a settlement in Nicaragua. Ortega turned against the people who helped him come to power. He, like Castro, promised freedom and help from oppression but gave the people worse, communism. If you were around during Castro's fight in Cuba you know we had the same situation as we now have with Ortega.

I believe the U.S. is losing its cold war with communism because their system of propaganda has weakened and practically broke the will of the U.S. to resist and prevent communist expansion throughout the world. We have swallowed the peaceful co-existence line and the negotiation nonsense. Would you cite some incidents where negotiations with communists have prevented their control? Do you know of any communist country where it has reinstated "basic civil liberties such as freedom of the press, assembly, and dissent"? Do you honestly believe that Nicaragua will refuse the Soviets and Cubans military advisors and military bases if we forsake the Contras, after the Soviets have poured millions of dollars into Nicaragua? Tell me why the Russians are so interested to pour millions into Nicaragua when their status of living is so low.

Let me state what so evidently has happened and what will happen with Nicaragua and eventually other countries. A revolutionary leader promises and fights for people's freedom from a government unable to solve political and economic problems. The people follow his propaganda and back him, but once the revolutionary leader gains control, he turns communist (he was that all along). He takes away freedom from the people because he says there are still groups resisting him like "Contras". The U.S. is not communist so we wish to see the overthrow of the now existing communist government with all its tremendous Russian supplied military machine. The U.S. then seeks to assist the resistance forces to gain freedom for the enslaved people. The Russians continue to send in great military equipment and advisors so that the communist have highly sophisticated war equipment and the opposing people are practically helpless. Once the U.S. gets involved to help the country regain its freedom the propaganda begins in the U.S. News Media against resistance and the congressmen begin their debates and draw out negotiations. Congress is so partisan it can't negotiate anything. Give the debates and negotiating process long enough and the resistance is broken and the communists murder thousands of people including children, but we never hear this in the News Media. The communist never live up to any promises made during the negotiating because they say the U.S. still helped the resistance and Americans are bad, bad people anyway.

Thus the Russians are winning the war undeclared but still winning more than any Hitler. The congressmen who opposed helping the resistance forces and proposed negotiation now dissolve themselves of any responsibility for the communist takeover and control by saying we failed to negotiate properly because we helped the resistance during the process. This whole process in varied forms has been going on since WW II in Korea, Southeast Asia, Africa, the Middle East and Central America.

It seems to me that you and some other congressmen have a definite blindness (I don't mean this disrespectfully). Can you not see the communist method and its expansion in the last 40 years? Why do most of the countries in the world hate the U.S.? We have done so much for them. Because the propaganda machine has been turning out hate for years. The communist have murdered millions and advanced much more than Germany or Japan did in WW II. If you and some other congressmen were around then we would have never defeated Nazism.

If I am wrong in all this I would appreciate a logical answer. I would appreciate an explanation of your solution in dealing with what has been happening in the world turmoil since the inception of communism. My concern is not only for the immediate but also for the future for my children and grandchildren. Where is it all going? What is your prospect of the outcome by your methods?

I am, what I believe, an ordinary citizen that tries to understand at least the general trend of things. I am not a member of any political pressure group or special interest group or anything. I'm busy working like most people. This is what I see, please explain to me if I'm wrong. I see a definite weakening and breaking of our American system. Through the News Media bias and government trends we have disarmament, nuclear freeze, hatred for the U.S. ban the bomb and feed the poor, discredit to our leaders, trying to find every fault with our presidents to foment distrust, more and more laws to control people, continual leniency about immoral conduct, definite cover-up of communist domination but a definite favoring to the communist system, and on and on. Do you dismiss all this by saying people like me are just alarmists?

If you and other congressmen like you are right, then give us a total package of your system for solutions. What is your philosophy for freedom in the world? Don't just tell us you think we ought to negotiate and hope the outcome will be good. Give the American people your system of meeting the struggle between freedom and the enslavement encroaching the peoples of the world. If you congressmen would tell the American people what you believe and the methods you intend to employ then we can vote accordingly and if we vote you in then we can blame ourselves when we are fighting terrorists on American soil in a few years and we are enriched by Russian military bases. We then will justly deserve the loss of our freedom and the American system.

I will end my letter here because I doubt you have read this far. However, I do remain,

Respectfully,
Clifford Lones

A safe solution to disposing of our radioactive waste

by Congressman Tom Carper

Newcomers to Delaware quickly recognize that the people of our state are among the most environmentally aware in the nation. We've fought hard to keep the water we drink clear and the air we breathe pure. Along the way, we've learned some important lessons from our past mistakes.

Delaware's 15 Superfund sites, spread through all three counties, are a lingering reminder of one of those lessons: when it comes to hazardous waste, the decisions we make today will affect our environment for generations to come.

The same can be said of our management of radioactive waste. Last year, 1200 cubic feet of low-level radioactive waste was produced in the state of Delaware by 14 different waste generators. Low-level radioactive wastes include such items as rags, papers, and protective clothing used in manufacturing, research, and medical procedures involving radioactive materials.

At present, all the waste produced in our state is shipped to a disposal facility on the other side of the country in the state of Washington. In fact, in the entire United States there are only three low-level radioactive waste disposal sites. It's not surprising that pressure has steadily been building to expand that number.

In 1986, Congress set up a timetable for states to establish regional sites for low-level radioactive waste disposal, and to have interstate compacts ratified. On Tuesday, July 28, I introduced the "Appalachian States Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact Act of 1987," legislation which seeks congressional ratification of a compact entered into between the states of Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia.

The state of Pennsylvania has already agreed to be the host state for the compact's low-level radioactive waste disposal site. By agreeing to be the host state, Pennsylvania will be allowed to choose its location, as long as it meets stringent geological, social, environmental, and technical standards.

The Appalachian Compact also creates a commission which will establish regulations to reduce low-level waste generation in the compact states, ensure that the waste that is generated is packaged and disposed of properly, disseminate information on waste management technologies, and maintain records of all the waste disposed of by each state.

Delaware needs to become a member of a compact by the end of this year. If we don't, waste producers will have to pay stiff penalties each time they ship low-level waste out of the state. The other three states are in a similar predicament.

It's my hope that the strong bipartisan support this compact has already received in the House is a harbinger of its timely passage. Only then can Delawareans be assured that the low-level waste we produce will be disposed of safely.

District Dialog

"Chickens and Children"

It is not difficult, when living in Kent County, to hear farmers talking about their broilers, their fryers, their roasters or their layers.

Of course they're talking about their chickens.

It is necessary to point out that this type of dialog is appropriate since it would be highly unlikely to see broilers, fryers, layers or roasters all mixed together in the same house. For convenience sake, chickens are housed in a manner which facilitates the care with which they are processed.

In education, we must take care that we do not treat students in the same manner as we do chickens. Whether it be for convenience sake or not, we must avoid labeling our students as "my academics," "my generals" or "my vocationalists."

Classes are labeled...not students.

A student may take an academic English class and a general mathematics class. The potential for such mixing is without limitation.

You may hear an educator make this mistake. If so, you need remind that individual of this important axiom.

We are not in the business of processing large masses of people through a system which is irresponsible to their individual needs.

Learning is a very individual process. We must be careful to not fall into the trap of providing for our classes a generic experience, one in which some students will find success but in which others will find either frustration or boredom.

We must shape our learning experiences in order that they closely resemble the needs of our learners. We must continually strive to make education unique and beneficial for each student.

We must remember that students are neither broilers or layers, neither roasters or fryers.

Students are people.

On July 26th an article appeared in the Sunday edition of the Delaware State News relating to the Lake Forest School Board. An article appearing on Wednesday the 29th of July in The Harrington Journal was too close to the subject matter in the 26th of July article in the Delaware State News. I feel this was not proper by The Harrington Journal, and I feel a public apology is warranted. I feel, however, the subject matter of both articles was noteworthy.

U.S. AND WORLD AGRICULTURE:
REASON, COMPASSION, POLI-TICS, AND SUBSIDIES

Editor's Note: Congressman Tom Carper on Friday in Dover addressed "Friends of Agriculture" group and endorsed President Reagan's goal of eliminating government subsidies to farmers worldwide by the end of the century. Here, following, are his remarks:

Greetings,

I am pleased to have this opportunity to be here with you this morning to speak my piece about federal agricultural policy.

I realize it may not be all that early for our farmer friends here today, but judging from the looks on some faces, our media friends are having a bit of trouble. You should understand by now that I will talk about nearly anything at any time of day, and I consider it the highest compliment that all of you have come to share your time with me this morning.

Many of you have heard me speak before on the state of our nation's agricultural economy. Unfortunately, my message is pretty much the same -- it's hurting. Grain prices have, indeed, dropped as we had expected when we lowered loan prices in the 1985 Farm Bill. The dollar has dropped relative to Western European and Japanese currencies. But, exports are not rebounding as rapidly as we hoped. Producers of wheat, feed grains and other commodities are receiving a larger share of their incomes from the federal government than ever before. And the Federal Dole for price supports continues to be unaffordably immense. I repeat the figures every time I speak on the subject, but we have to drive the message home. In 1986, we spent nearly $26 billion for price supports -- up 10 times from the $2.7 billion we spent in 1980. We will exceed $25 billion again this year, and the best guess is we'll top $20 billion in 1988.

Ultimately, no one benefits from the current situation -- not farmers, consumers or taxpayers. We pumped $26 billion into our farm economy last year and what do we have to show for it -- more farm foreclosures than anytime since the Depression, a farm credit system in crisis, entire towns withering away, and for those farmers who are hanging in there, a greater dependence than ever on Uncle Sam. All the while, our coffers are running over with many basic commodities. There is something tragically wrong here. More than a few analysts are predicting little, or at most, slow improvement in farm exports and continuing surpluses of many commodities for years to come. Which translates to continued high federal spending.

Wasn't the 1985 farm bill supposed to take care of this mess? If you looked to the farm bill to make the U.S. competitive in commodity prices and cut production, then it seems the bill was a success. Grain prices are down and we are looking at close to 30% idled land under volunteer set-asides. If you were looking for lower prices and higher exports, well...the export situation remains grim. A worldwide recession, debt problems in importing nations, intensified competition from other exporting nations, domestic farm policies and a strong dollar have all contributed to export woes.

Granted, the overall value of the dollar has dropped significantly relative to Western European currencies and the Japanese Yen. However, 30% of our competition comes from countries with weak currencies such as Canada,

Senatorial Report

by Sen. Ruth Ann Minner
18th Senatorial District

As I mentioned last week, I've been deeply involved for several years with three organizations seeking economic equality for women--the Rutgers University Women's Political Caucus, the Organization of Women Legislators, and the Congressional Caucus for Women's Issues.

Equal pay for equal work for women is only one of the many economic issues being addressed by these groups.

Another significant issue is women's poverty. Women at all ages are twice as likely to be poor than men and women predominate in the high poverty classifications such as those who live alone, female-headed households, and the aged. For instance, more than 70 percent of the elderly poor are women--a shocking 2.3 million.

Studies have shown that poverty among the elderly is closely associated with sole reliance on Social Security. A person relying solely on Social Security is seven times more likely to be poor than a person who receives wage or salary income.

Women receive lower Social Security income than men for a variety of reasons, principal of which are the fact that women have lower paying jobs and are more likely to have moved in and out of the labor force to have children, care for elderly relatives, or to meet other family emergencies.

To be eligible for Social Security a woman must have worked at least 10 years, and to be eligible for disability benefits a woman must have worked at least five of the ten years preceding the disability.

Even worse, for every year over five spent outside the labor force a zero is averaged into a person's wage record, lowering her benefits for life. Many homemakers have not worked outside the home for the required number of years or, if they have, they are penalized by the zero averaging because they have left the work force to care for their children or because of other family-related reasons.

Is it any wonder that 71 percent of the elderly poor are women?

One proposal pending in Congress would go a long way toward correcting this poverty inequity. HR 674 and S. 3 would amend the Social Security Act to provide that the combined earnings of a husband and wife during their marriage shall be divided equally and shared between them for benefit purposes in order to recognize the economic contribution of each spouse to the marriage and insure that each spouse will have Social Security protection in his or her own right.

But to understand the problems faced by those of us interested in bringing about economic equality for women, you should be aware that the Senate version would not take effect until the year 2001!

Should poor women have to wait 14 years to see the light at the end of the tunnel?

Manufacturing institute in DE jobs

by U.S. Senator Bill Roth

Its happening right in our own backyard--technological advances of national preeminence in the area of composite research. Composites are light-weight, high-strength materials produced by combining two separate substances such as a fiber and a plastic. Material used in bullet-proof vests and in the Voyager aircraft are examples of advanced composites.

The University of Delaware's composite research facility has made great strides in this area and the state's giant home chemical industry represents a national resource for basic research in composite materials. Delaware's leadership in this field is by no means assured, however. We must focus now on the transfer of research on composites in the lab to production of commercial products on the factory floor.

For this reason, I have introduced legislation to establish an Institute for Composite Development and Application in Delaware to build on the advances of the University's facility. The idea behind this prototype institute is to bring together federal and state government, industry and academic interests to work together in applying this materials technology for commercial use. Federal funding for this project will come from the existing Department of Defense research and development funds.

The world market for composites is expected to grow from the present $4.5 billion per year to nearly $12 billion by the year 2000. It is estimated that Delaware alone can realistically expect the research and development portion of the industry to generate some $300 million in business annually by 2000. When manufacturing is taken into account, the total impact on the state's economy could amount to roughly $1.5 billion, with some 16,000 new jobs created throughout all sectors of the state's economy. My legislation would help us reach that potential and cement Delaware's advantage.

Not only would such an institute help assure millions of dollars of new business for Delaware annually and create thousands of jobs, it would also help the U.S. maintain its world leadership in this field of research and help us apply such research in a timely manner to produce high quality, competitively priced products. Otherwise, we might concede this technological breakthrough to our foreign competition as we have in other areas. If the demonstration effort I have proposed produces the results I envision, manufacturing technology centers could be established in other areas such as computer chips and boards, casting, forging, advanced electronics and biochemistry.

My legislation would make Delaware an example for the nation in this endeavor. Centers established in locales where they can light the fire of interest and ambition represent a tool we must use in this new age of international competitiveness. The composites institute and related technology centers are the best way I know to achieve timely application of the nation's hard earned research and development.

Australia, Mexico and Brazil, and they are still beating us in the international markets.

The value of the dollar is an important piece of the agricultural trade puzzle. But it is competitive enhancements, such as export subsidies and import restrictions, which are becoming an increasingly difficult problem for U.S. producers.

We are as guilty as the next guy in this department -- I've already discussed our healthy $26 billion agriculture subsidy program. Indeed, farm subsidies cost consumers and taxpayers worldwide more than $100 billion a year. The distortion of production and marketing patterns is profound. "Free Market" and "Competition" are terms that don't apply to world agriculture trade these days.

The incentives to eliminate subsidies as a way to free up the international marketplace are certainly there. In my efforts to find a way to balance the federal budget, I would gratefully accept a $26 billion spending reduction. I'd wager that Western European countries, especially West Germany and France, would welcome relief from the burden of farmer subsidies. Less-developed countries, who cannot compete with the treasures of larger and more powerful nations, would also welcome such a move.

I suspect many of you are familiar with the President's proposal of July 6, announced at the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) talks in Geneva, to phase out all import restrictions and export subsidies over the next ten years. That proposal deserves a long, hard look. The obstacles are considerable. The Europeans -- deeply mired in subsidies -- received the idea with an overwhelming lack of enthusiasm. Congress isn't exactly jumping at the idea. Despite its cool reception, countries like Canada and Australia have indicated their interest.

The hurdles to achieving an international agreement on this "zero-zero" subsidy plan are staggering. At home, we must consider the impact of such a move on farmers, many of whom are absolutely dependent on federal price and income support. We must also take a close look at ramifications on small, diversified, family-farm operations and on the overall production of essential agricultural products.

Moving in this direction would also present us with some difficult decisions and choices. For example, what constitutes a subsidy? Does the agricultural extension service count as a subsidy? What would we be willing to compromise in our export subsidy programs? Congress is currently considering trade legislation which proposes more federal spending to promote U.S. agricultural products. Should we pull the rug out from under these subsidies?

Clearly, we cannot afford to go this route unilaterally. By doing so, we would abdicate our share of the world agriculture market. The only hope is an international agreement that gets all the ag supporters on board. The U.S. Trade Representative, Clayton Yeutter, recognizes the difficulty of getting the GATT nations--some 90 in all--to adopt the U.S. view. As he says, simply, "This is a negotiation."

Difficult as the task might be, it is also worthwhile. Farm subsidies are not working because they are not the answer. Yes, we need to ensure an adequate production of agriculture commodities at a reasonable price under conditions that allow farmers to survive. What we don't need is an escalating farm subsidy war that diverts vital resources into the production of surplus orders. It's global foolishness, and we simply can't afford it.

I say, "hats off, Mr. President. Let's let Mr. Yeutter continue to earn his pay." Thank You.

Person-to-Person

Sooner or later

by Rebecca Moore

Do undertakers scare you? Do you think of an undertaker as a man who always wears black and is dark and mysterious? Well, folks, the fact is, sooner or later all of us will have to go and visit an undertaker, because eventually someone close to us will die. Perhaps that's not real pleasant, but it is reality. Knowledge diminishes fear, so come with me and meet a newcomer to the profession most people would like to avoid.

Charles and Deborah Carey live near Felton with their son, Charles III (Charlie). Mrs. Carey is a graduate of Delaware State College and works for the Delaware Department of Corrections as a reading teacher to juveniles. She's a beautiful lady with a brilliant, warm smile. Charlie is five years old with gorgeous, deep brown eyes. There's not an ounce of shyness in this vivacious kindergartener. He's a terrific conversationalist, and is a pleasure to be with. Mr. Carey does not dress in black, so forget stereotypes. In fact the first few times I saw Mr. Carey, he was wearing white, or pastels—the colors all laboratory technicians wear at Kent General Hospital. You thought I said Mr. Carey was an undertaker, didn't you? Read on!

Mr. Carey's interest in undertaking goes back to his pre-teen years. Like the rest of our Nation, he watched in horror as President Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas in November of 1963. The televised funeral proceedings sparked an interest in Mr. Carey and that interest stayed with him. After graduating from high school, Mr. Carey spent two years in the Army, where he was trained in memorial activities. Vietnam was slowing down, so the need for Mr. Carey's services was limited. Soldiers, however, do not sit still, and Mr. Carey was retained as a PHEBOTOMIST, or laboratory technician. That was pretty convenient, and has come in real handy since his discharge from the Army.

Like many people, Mr. Carey had to set aside his aspirations for a time when responsibilities of home and family took priority. Over a period of several years, depending on their availability, Mr. Carey took classes at Del Tech and eventually graduated in 1978 with an associates degree in Human Services. That might seem a little odd since his goal was to become a mortician, but his degree in Human Services gave him the knowledge he would need in dealing with people, and this is the most vital part of an undertaker's job.

The biggest problem facing Mr. Carey was the actual mortuary training. There's lots of good schools in our wonderful little state, but none teaches mortuary science. The closest school was located a two-hour drive away in Baltimore. Monday through Thursday it was over to Baltimore, Friday through Sunday it was off to Kent General Hospital with its test tubes and centrifuges. Time with his family was almost non-existent, but Mrs. Carey was extremely helpful and supportive during his schooling.

Catonsville Community College Mortuary School, just outside of Baltimore, offers a rather complicated course which includes classes in law, psychology, and even accounting, as well as the necessary scientific and procedural classes. Between seventy-five and one hundred people were enrolled along with Mr. Carey.

With an associates degree and his mortician's training completed after a year and a half, what's Mr. Carey up to now? This much is certain—he's just as busy as ever. Mr. Carey has been associated with Bennie Smith Funeral Services for many years, and this association has continued. He is now an apprentice and is preparing to take his national boards to gain his license. This is in addition to his family and his full-time job at Kent General!

Bennie Smith is the proprietor of six different funeral homes in both Delaware and Maryland. In addition to these, he is also the director of the mortuary at Dover Air Force Base. Through his association with Bennie Smith, Mr. Carey has taken part in the final preparations for the victims of the Beirut bombing, the Granada conflict, and most recently, the Starke tragedy.

These were not easy tasks for anyone to perform.

The death of a loved one is always traumatic. Grief makes even the simplest, routine task impossible. In the midst of devastating grief, survivors have the responsibility of making funeral arrangements. There's somebody there, however, to help—the undertaker.

There's a certain aura of mystery pervading a funeral home. What goes on there? What's behind that door? What happens next? Your initial visit with the funeral director may be an unnerving experience, so let's try to shed some light on the subject. To begin with, the undertaker is not out to get you—quite the contrary; he's there to help you. He takes care of the responsibilities, so you can take care of your sorrow. Arrangements for funeral services will be made at this time. Also, you'll be taken to a display room where you can select a suitable casket and clothing. There are always certain legalities, such as death certificates, and these are all handled by the funeral director. His primary purpose is to help you get through a difficult experience.

Funeral expenses vary according to the wishes of the survivors. Caskets range in price from $400.00 up to $5,000.00. Other expenses, the use of the limousine, for instance, are itemized and are in addition to the cost of the casket.

The undertaker, whether it be Charles Carey, or someone else, is no different from you or me. He's not spooky or someone to fear. He lives in a normal house and drives a normal car. He loves his wife, raises a family, has hobbies, prepares a mean barbeque and probably even has a passion for chocolate. He's all these things, plus a little something else—he's got a depth of understanding that helps us get through the most difficult times of our lives. It's a good thing we've got him!
