City Solicitor advises Harrington Council to hold referendum vote for new city hall

HARRINGTON. City Solicitor for the City of Harrington, Gary Dodge a Dover attorney with the firm of Dodge and O'Brien, advised members of the City Council on Monday night during the regular monthly meeting of the Harrington Council that a referendum should be held in the City to determine whether or not to build a new city hall.

"The formality is first to hold a public hearing, which at the end of that meeting set a date and time to hold a vote for the referendum", said Mr. Dodge.

The public hearing will be held on October 21st (Wednesday) at City Hall, 110 Center Street, Harrington, at 7:00 p.m. The public hearing will determine that a public referendum will be held regarding the new city hall. The public hearing will also determine the amount of the money which the City seeks to build the new City Hall...as well as the site of the election on the referendum.

Mayor Farrow urged the City Solicitor and the Council members to consider holding the election on the referendum at some place other than City Hall. "It would be better to hold the election at the firehouse," he said. To hold the election at City Hall during the regular business hours for City Hall tends to dismiss the control over who is entitled to be in City Hall during the election. Citizens were heard to say later that independent inspectors for the election should be hired and voting machines should also be the order of the day.

The City Solicitor indicated that the selection site for the new City Hall would not be part of the referendum. The Council about two months ago made settlement with St. Bernadette's Catholic Church in Harrington for a 250 foot lot on Liberty Street and 250 feet deep for the proposed City Hall. "That's already been decided", they said.

Several other matters were discussed in detail concerning the purchase of the lot on Liberty Street and the mortgage commitment with JCPenney National Bank of Harrington. Mayor Farrow had asked an opinion from the City Solicitor regarding all transactions that have led up to the present time concerning the purchase of the lot on Liberty Street for the City Hall and the mortgage commitment with JCPenney National Bank of Harrington. Mr. Dodge said "...the agreement with JCPenney National Bank is not binding as I see it, because the need for the steps regarding the referendum means the Council must start over". The Charter indicates that following the vote in favor of a referendum "...a month of seeking a bank which will be the best and most responsible bidder for the mortgage is necessary", Mr. Dodge recited.

At a meeting in early September at the law offices of Brown, Shiels and Chasnov for the purpose of formally making settlement on the contract to construct the new City Hall, it was felt by the lawyers present that before construction for a new City Hall, and the fixing of the mortgage for such building, an opinion was necessary indicating that a referendum was or was not necessary to construct a new city hall. The lawyers present were Herman C. Brown representing JCPenney National Bank in Harrington, Harry Terry of the Dover law firm of Terry, Jackson, Terry and Wright, representing the City in the settlement for the construction contract (that firm had also represented the City in the purchase of the lot), and Gary Dodge, the City Solicitor.

Following an hour's delay for holding the settlement, the lawyers emerged and each rendered the following opinions: Mr. Brown indicated that the JCPenney Bank would need an opinion concerning the referendum. Mr. Terry indicated that the title insurance company which he represents would need the matter cleared by way of a referendum, and Mr. Dodge was elected to write the opinion.

Mr. Terry had indicated to the group gathered "...that the charter provided how to borrow money, but there is no specific exception for this type of transaction".

In Section 27 B page 44 of the Harrington Charter "Debt Limit" it is stated that "The Mayor and Council is hereby authorized and empowered to borrow money and issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness from time to time on the faith and credit of the City of Harrington to provide funds for the furnishing of water to the public, for the construction or repair of sewers or sewerage treatment equipment or defray the cost of the share of the City costs, or any permanent municipal improvements of the said City and for these purposes the Mayor and Council shall have full power and authority to issue bonds of the said City of Harrington".

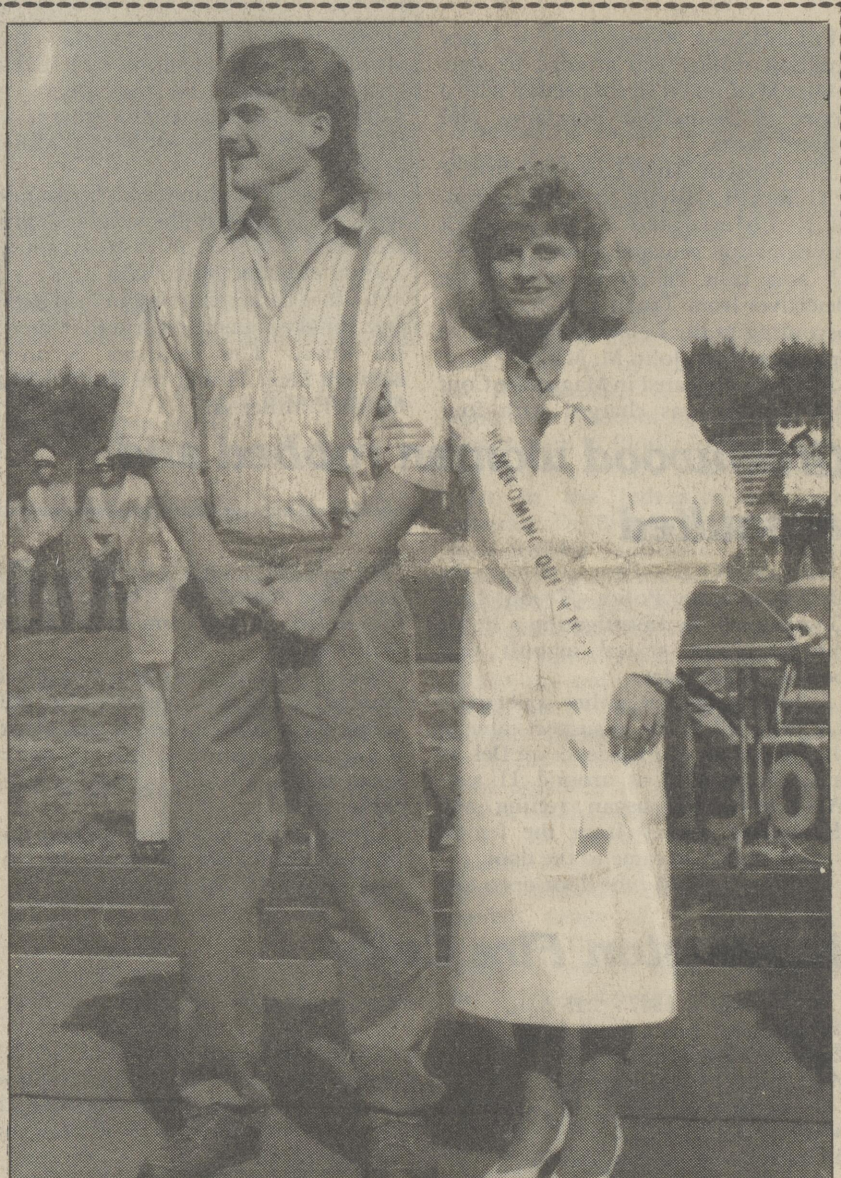

The Charter further recites that the total borrowed shall not exceed 15% of the total assessed value of real property of the City.

The term certificates of indebtedness does not specifically cover a mortgage for a city hall, or so the lawyers reasoned at that point in time. Herman C. Brown, Sr. representing the JCPenney National Bank which had offered to lend the money to build the City Hall said to the group gathered "...it would seem to me that where taxpayers are ultimately asked to pay the debt...in this case the debt for the construction of the new city hall, they should have the say in the matter".

The council a year ago had voted not to go to a referendum or if a referendum was held not to be bound by the outcome.

The decision was largely based on an interpretation of the Charter and advice of counsel. The matter turned in the area of "certificate of indebtedness," that is, what are certificates of indebtedness. At the meeting in Mr. Brown's office it was discussed that the council had the power to borrow money to purchase equipment and vehicles such as a police car. "It would not be

Following referendum discussion council passes on other matters

HARRINGTON. Along with discussion on the matter of the referendum, the Harrington Council agreed to pay Mid-Atlantic Waste Systems of Easton, Md. for the street sweeping many weeks ago.

Councilman Jack Wyatt told the representative of the company the reason for delaying paying of the bill was due to the unsatisfactory job. Mr. Rich Hood said this was the first he had heard of the unsatisfactory aspects of the job. "The time to have registered this complaint was at the time the job was completed", said Mr. Hood.

Mr. Hood indicated that former City Manager George Volenik had indicated that the job would be only for a few hours. "We were supposed to work about 6 hours or one day, but the first day in here they had us working here and there which extended beyond the 6 hours plus we came back the next day", Mr. Hood said. The bill totaled just over $1,700.

The Council heard a report on the following Planning & Zoning matters: 1) returned to Council the matter of Robert Minner's property in front of the cemetery, "with no action taken". Council members questioned Mr. Leonard Englehart, Chairman of the Planning & Zoning Commission, regarding the request of Mr. Minner, which was last before the Commission. Mr. Englehart indicated that the request was for a C-2 zoning. Mr. Wyatt made a motion that the request be denied, which the Council voted in agreement. Mr. Englehart indicated that Mr. Minner had indicated that "...a road was proposed down the middle of Mr. Minner's parcel...and he indicated he would be dividing each side into lots.

This then gets into major subdivision"; 2) an application by Mrs. Esther Grossi to have a building behind her house zoned commercial was denied. Mrs. Grossi indicated "...that all I wanted was the building re-zoned, not the entire property". The Council asked Mrs. Grossi to reapply and seek a "temporary use permit" just for the building. The temporary use permit is good for a year at a time up to three years; 3) Mrs. Hilda Stewart was granted a temporary use permit for a group child care home next to her home on South Street; and 4) a request for a restaurant zoning on two lots adjacent to the Video Center (on U.S. 13 southbound lane, south of Shaw Avenue) was denied.

The acting City Manager, Dawson Shahan, reported that the grease trap behind Liberty Plaza Shopping Center had been cleaned and repaired. Some residents of that area had complained about the grease backing up in their homes through the sewer system. Mr. Shahan indicated that Mr. Benson on West Street extended (the Farmington Road) would pay for the installation of the sewer to his property and then to his house for connection. It had always been stated that the area would require a lift station, but Mr. Shahan said it could be done without the station.

The base pillars at the City's water tower has been studied and surveyed. "It appears that these are surface cracks and not ones that go into the pillar boxes themselves", said Mr. Shahan. "It would appear, based on Bobby Brown's (a city consultant) recommendation, that the price of $1315, by Coker Construction to fix, repair and fill these cracks is a good price and should be done", said Mr. Shahan.

Delaware memorabilia sold at Wilson's Auction

by William Ficka

Delaware history buffs gathered at Wilson's Auction Sales in Lincoln Monday night to place bids on items ranging from ice picks and ash trays, to books and butter dishes.

Before the 6 p.m. auction began some 150 collectors of Delaware artifacts and mementos circulated throughout the main auction room checking the condition of the 553 items that were on sale. A separate auction was held in the restaurant area for coin collectors.

Many of the postcards at Monday's auction belonged to the late Raymond Dill, of Dover, who died on Aug. 4, 1985, nine days short of his 65th birthday. Dill was probably the greatest collector of Delaware memorabilia in the state's history. He had literally thousands of items in his huge collection. Wilson's Auction Sales had held five auctions and expect to hold one or two more before the vast collection is completely sold.

The arduous job of cataloging this immense collection belonged to the painstaking Faith Swain, office manager at Wilson's.

Asked if the postcards were the last of Dill's collection, Faith laughed, "No, it's not. There will be another auction on November twenty-third. We'll also have a lot of books that belonged to Gilbert Frederick of Laurel."

A Dill postcard depicting the 1914 Greater Delaware State Fair held in

South "B" kindergarten class visits Firehouse

by Bonnie Algier-Mitchell

Last week kindergarten students at South B Elementary helped to celebrate Fire Prevention Week with a visit to Station 50, the Harrington Volunteer Fire Dept. This was a great learning experience for the children.

The students and teachers, Mrs. Braswell and Mrs. Chambers, had a nice day for their walking trip. At the firehouse they were greeted by firemen Harold Brode, Bob Bloodsworth, Franklin Derrickson, Dale Dean, Richard Bennett, Leroy Calhoun and Charles Busker, who took time out from their busy schedules to talk to the students about fire safety. The afternoon classes also met Mr. Smokey White who is a fire policeman for Station-50.

Mr. Bloodsworth talked to the children about home fire safety, the 911 emergency number and lots of things that grown-ups take for granted about fire prevention.

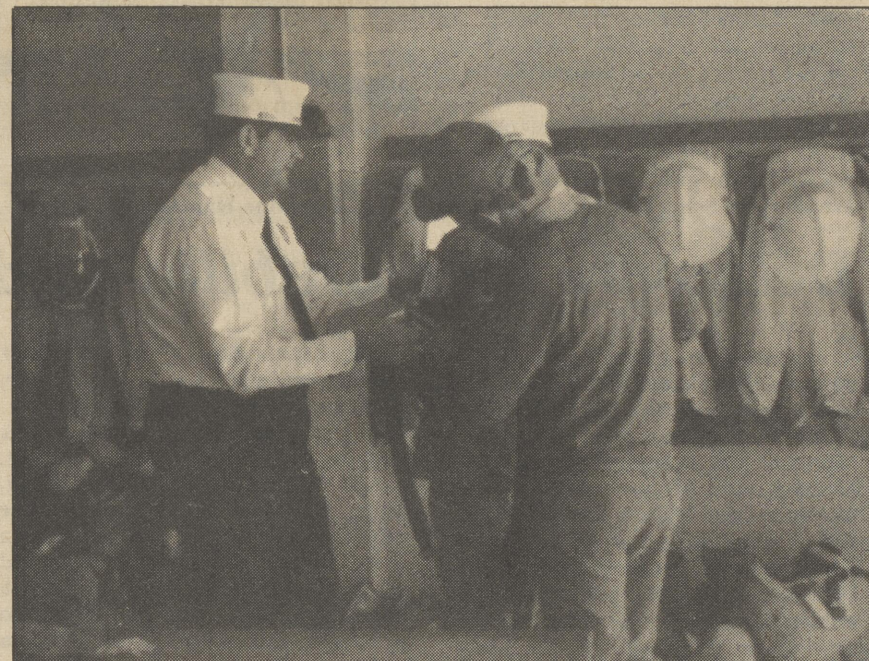

The firemen also demonstrated some of the clothing and apparatus they wear, so the children could get a first-hand look at what to expect if they see a firefighter in action. Each child got a chance to spray the fire hose which was alot of fun. They also got to sit in a fire truck and had a ride back to the school in the rescue truck.

It was a big day for the children who now know more about fire safety and prevention.

During the month of October the students in Mrs. Chambers and Mrs. Braswell's classes will be helping around home to earn money to donate towards the purchase of a suit for a Harrington fireman. The cost of one suit is approximately $200. They will present the money at the end of the month in the name of their classes at South B.

Record number of Chipman students qualify for Johns Hopkins talent search

Lake Forest School District's W.T. Chipman Junior High School had 36 seventh-graders qualify for the Johns Hopkins Talent search program.

"That is the largest number ever to qualify from this school," said James Boyd, counselor.

The program identifies youth who are talented in math or verbal skills. In order to qualify, students had to rank in the 97th percentile or above in Total Math, Total Verbal or Total Battery of their sixth grade CTBS tests.

"I believe this is strong indication of the importance of transitions between elementary schools and the junior high school," Superintendent James H. VanSciver remarked. "Even more than that, I feel it highlights the growing strengths of our elementary programs."

The following students qualified: Michele Baccio, Michelle Besole, Fay Bender, Bobby Bishop, Brian Dellinger, Shirley Draper, Rachael Duffin, Frank Eastman, Stephen Englehart, Nikki Ferguson, Wendy Fitzgerald, Michelle Harper, Beverly Harrington, Karen Hudson, Allison Jack, Stephanie

These students will now have the opportunity to take the national SAT in January. The SAT is a test designed for college-bound junior and seniors.

Chipman featured in National Journal

Lake Forest School District's W.T. Chipman Jr. School was featured in The School Administrator in September.

The school's innovative "Student Advocate Program" was featured in the Across The Nation section of the journal.

Three unique features of Chipman's "Student Advocate Program," which is designed to assist at risk students, are that advocates deal with students on a one-to-one basis, that advocates volunteer to participate and that each identified student selects the adult in the school who will be the advocate for that student.

The program, piloted last spring, improved student attendance, behavior and achievement.

"I think this is a tribute, not only to the leadership of Marge Davis (principal) but also to all the staff who volunteered their time and effort to participate," said Lake Forest Superintendent Dr. James H. VanSciver. "I believe this is demonstrative of the commitment to youth these people show."

School lunch: It makes a world of difference

Delaware schools will observe National School Lunch Week October 11-17 to recognize the program's contribution to the health and well-being of Delaware children since 1946.

Governor Michael N. Castle, in a statement in support of the observance, urged citizens to learn about and appreciate how school food services benefit the children, families, farms and industries of the state.

Some 52,900 students take the school lunch each day in Delaware, according to Dr. Sandra C. Brunson, state supervisor of school food services at the Department of Public Instruction.

All public schools in Delaware take part in the federally supported program, Dr. Brunson said, as do some non-public schools and most residential child care institutions.

About 37 percent of school lunches in Delaware are served free or at a reduced price to students who qualify based on family size and income.

The state's 640 school cafeteria workers prepare a "Type A" lunch every day—one designed to provide at least one-third of the daily nutrition school children need.

Cuts in federal subsidies for the lunches several years ago forced most school districts to raise the price to the current range of 65 to 90 cents. However, federal support has now stabilized, and Dr. Brunson noted that most school districts have not raised prices since then.

"More than ever, school lunch remains a bargain," Dr. Brunson said, "especially when homemakers assess the cost of the food and count the value of the time they spend preparing a bag lunch for children to take to school."

Federal aid to school lunch in Delaware amounted to over $6.6 million last year. The state contributed nearly $2.3 million to the salaries of cafeteria staff. Income totaled some $17.7 million.

During National School Lunch Week, school food service will offer special menus in conjunction with a variety of activities to highlight its programs. Repeating last year's theme, "School Lunch: It Makes a World of Difference," the event illustrates how vital child nutrition has become and how far it has progressed in the last 40 years. National School Lunch Week will feature four official menus representing ethnic groups that have contributed to the American life style. The menus -- West African, Scandinavian, Middle Eastern, and All-American--will be served during the week. Other special menus will be offered throughout the month. Most school's will serve foods important to Delaware agriculture, including poultry and certain vegetables and fruits.

Observance of School Lunch Week and Month is coordinated by the Delaware School Food Service Association. Association officers are Jean Crevison, Indian River School District, president; Janet R. Scheidt, Caesar Rodney School District, secretary; and Frances Deats, Fairview Elementary School, Capital School District, treasurer.

The following is Governor Mike Castle's Proclamation:

STATEMENT IN OBSERVANCE OF SCHOOL LUNCH WEEK AND SCHOOL LUNCH MONTH

WHEREAS, the School Lunch Program makes Delaware children healthier, stronger, and better able to concentrate on their studies, and so enables them to obtain the full benefits from instruction; and

WHEREAS, nearly 52,900 Delaware students choose a school lunch each day, guaranteeing them a sound, well-balanced meal, prepared by more than 600 cafeteria workers; and also learn good nutrition and proper eating habits; and

WHEREAS, both the American and Delaware School Food Service Association have for over twenty years coordinated National School Lunch Week ceremonies and activities that transcend the national observance.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, MICHAEL N. CASTLE, Governor of the State of Delaware, do hereby declare the week of October 11-17, 1987, as:

SCHOOL LUNCH WEEK

and the month of October, 1987, as:

SCHOOL LUNCH MONTH

in the State of Delaware, and urge all citizens to visit the schools, learn about the Delaware school food services, sample the meals, and thus, appreciate how the program contributes to the health, vigor, and prosperity of our State.

Sussex County firm acquires high tech machine

A Milford based stitching firm has acquired a highly advanced machine to manufacture premium quilted bedspreads...

The Milford Stitching Company, Inc., manufacturer of bedspreads, draperies, and supplier of hardware all under one roof, is the only firm on the east coast to have this machine...It's called the "Gribetz Multi-Needle Quilt Machine," a computerized piece of equipment that raises the standards of top-quality bedspreads.

The machine, valued at over $100,000, produces a much higher quality quilted bedspread, while eliminating the stitching on the reverse side. Often the patterns of other traditionally manufactured bedspreads appear broken and unmatched. The Gribetz Machine perfectly matches patterns as the three pieces of a bedspread are sewn together.

A key component to the Gribetz Machine is the Stutchlok Bobbin. This feature helps eliminate thread slipback, a problem encountered by many hotel operators.

"This is truly a high tech advancement for the sewing industry," says Herb Konowitz, the president of Milford Stitching. "And our firm is delighted to be part of this new technology. A leader in industry advancement, the Gribetz Machine is a sound investment for producing the highest quality bedspreads available."

Milford Stitching products can be found in elegant settings across the country, from Four Star Hotels to the White House. Their products also offer a touch of class locally to the Dover Air Force Base, Kent General Hospital and the Sheraton Inn-Dover.

As Milford Stitching steps up the production of perfect quilted bedspreads--nationwide recognition is expected to grow!

Delaware memorabilia sold

because they know he was such a discriminating collector," said one postcard collector.

Some of the top prices pulled down Monday night by auctioneer and sales manager Dave Wilson were $230 for a Robert Shaw print, $225 for a Delaware Glass cranberry butter dish, $110 for a Delaware Glass cranberry toothpick holder, and $82.50 for "The Poetical and Prose Writings of Dr. John Lofland, The Milford Bard."

Previous auctions saw Dill's copy of the Pomery and Beers "Atlas of the State of Delaware" sell for $700 and his copy of "Scharf's History" go for $575.

On sale were numbered copies of a painting by Herman "Ham" McNatt, former Milford mayor. The painting, titled "Delaware Blues," depicts three marching blue hens, one beating a drum, another shouldering a rifle, and the third holding the flag of the first 13 states. McNatt was on hand to autograph copies for buyers. It was a bargain at $5.

Among the Delaware collectors present were Edgar Townsend, of Wyoming, former Supreme Court Clerk of the Court; Lou Deunemouster, of Chewold, publisher of a catalog of Blue Grass records and albums; and 21-year-old Terry Hinzman, of Harrington, whose collection, if it keeps growing at its present rate, should one day rival that of the late Raymond Dill.

The next auction of Delaware memorabilia at Wilson's Auction Sales will be held on Monday, Nov. 23, at 6 p.m.

City Solicitor advises Harrington Council to hold referendum vote for new city hall

thought reasonable that each time you needed a truck for the street work or a police car you would be required to have a referendum," said one at the meeting. "But, as Mr. Brown pointed out, this is not a piece of equipment. It is much more debt, plus this sort of thing is not spelled out in the charter, which is the reason for an opinion on a referendum."

Following that same meeting Mr. Terry indicated that "...if Gary (Dodge) says a referendum is necessary I would go along with that opinion, but if he renders an opinion which says a referendum is not necessary, I would not write the title insurance insuring the loan. I, instead, would let him (Mr. Dodge) write the title insurance."

Mr. Dodge now has rendered an opinion indicating a referendum is necessary, and drafted a resolution which the Council approved on Monday night to hold a public hearing which will set up the referendum vote.

The City has qualified for bicentennial funds approximately $90,000. The City must match this figure with their own funds, plus additional funds to cover the cost of site improvements such as paving of the parking lot, landscaping, curbing and sidewalks. The City has until the end of next June (1988) to complete the construction process.

The JCPenney National Bank has offered to lend the money to the City for the new City Hall at an interest rate of 75% of prime which would render it slightly in excess of 6% under the theory of it being a tax free loan to the Bank. Mayor Farrow has suggested that bond counsel be retained to render an opinion that the loan is tax free. If it is proved not to be tax free, the interest rate would go to the "street price" (the going rate at the time).

Twardus brothers stun rivals in D.C. run

by Keith S. Burgess

Those Journal readers who are track and cross-country fans, may remember the great debut in 1986, of Dany Twardus.

Danny was then an 11-year-old seventh grader, at W.T. Chipman School in Harrington. Chipman has a cross-country team, but has no one to compete against since Smyrna, Woodbridge, Milton, Rehoboth and Lewes junior highs dropped the sport.

Coach Baxter Smith kept the interest alive, kept his kids running and entered them in an invitational junior high meet in Washington, D.C. last fall. Danny Twardus was competing against experienced runners who have a schedule of perhaps ten to twelve starts. Many of them were high school freshmen. Yet, Twardus, in his only start of the year, the first such effort ever for him, narrowly missed the top ten finishers. He ran more than two hilly miles in 14.57.

We knew he would be better as an eighth grader, but we were discouraged to hear that Danny hurt his leg and was slowed by a bad cold. In the meantime we had heard about Bryon Twardus, who was going to compete in this year's Spingarn Invitational as an 11-year-old seventh grader, who would be two months younger than Danny was in 1986.

Forty-some harriers toed the mark, in the 2.1 mile test, over the hilly Du Pont Park course. Again, many freshmen were entered, who had already had a half dozen starts.

Chipman had a legal team of five starters. The small blonde Felton brothers started well and hung tough against their much taller rivals. Both finished strongly and the seventh grader Bryon was a sixth-place finisher in a sparkling 14.15 with his eighth-grade brother finishing eighth in 14.22. Both received medals. Danny, despite his physical problems, ran a great 35 seconds faster in the second cross-country meet of his career.

At this point, ages 11 and 12, these lads are near the top of all the prospects we have seen in three decades of cross-country. We can hardly wait to see them don the colors of Lake Forest High School. With other young runners already in the fold, the Spartans may be strong through 1992.

Mike Burrows, a Frederica redhead, was only a little more than a minute behind Danny Twardus. Burrows, as a seventh grader, could have a fine harrier career also. Giovanni Barbosa and James Stewart hung in gamely and completed the grind, enabling Chipman to post a team score, which was fairly close to third place.

One girl competed for Chipman in the junior high race. Donna Faye Dennis is a hockey player and as such, is in good shape, although the two sports are not alike. With almost no mileage under her belt, Donna Faye displayed a strong graceful stride and was in the top fifteen runners for much of the race before being forced to drop out. We feel Miss Dennis has the talent to be an excellent runner, once she gets the opportunity to train and compete on a regular basis. Perhaps in track this spring?

LF gridders impressive in Homecoming win

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

LAKE FOREST HIGH SCHOOL. The mighty Spartans under the supreme coaching of head coach Jim Fleming tamed the Delmar Wildcats into house cats. The win was the first of the season for Coach Fleming and also his first win since returning to the helm of the Spartans football team.

The win gave the Spartans a 1-1 record in the conference and 1-3 overall. The Spartans looked real good in the homecoming match.

After last week's loss to Woodbridge, Coach Fleming said in the locker room "that the loss to Woodbridge was hard to take. We could have won that game. It is the kind of game the guys must understand they can win".

The message must have gotten over to the team, especially to Carl Young who led all rushers with 150 yards on 11 carries, two scoring jaunts by fleet footed Rodney Parker, and the throwing with confidence of Petie Davis. He threw two touchdown strikes one to Bobby Reed for a 1 yard score and another to Steve Thompson who galloped the last 31 yards for the TD.

Behind Carl Young who Coach Fleming lauds praises on each week,

"...why because he works hard and he has the pride...the pride to win ball games"... was reserve running back James Boling who scampered for 77 yards in the 1-sided victory. He also scored on a 55 yard broken running field foot race to the end zone.

The Spartans under the watchful eyes of coaches Bill Falasco, Chester Scott and Eisenbrey urged the team to a high spirit before the game commenced. On the first series of plays, swift running Rodney Parker got loose and raced the final 37 yards for the score.

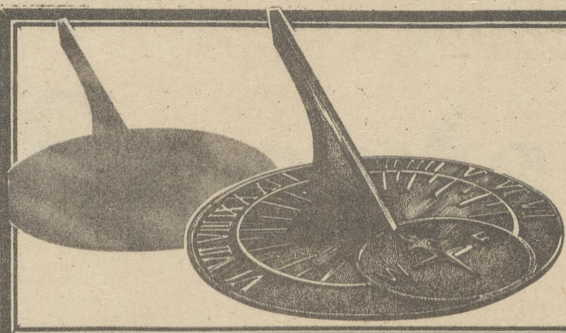

Delmar got right back into it and took the kickoff 78 yards for the score. Each team missed the conversion and the score was tied 6-6.

It was a new ball game, and from that point on Delmar was never in the game as the Spartan attack got into high gear, never to be stopped in this game.

On the kickoff, Rodney Parker took the ball on the 22 yard line and raced up field behind "the wall" for 78 yards and the score. Quarterback Petie Davis ran the ball in for the 2 point conversion and the Spartans led 14-6...and the dust had not settled yet.

OCTOBER 19, 1977

FELTON—Several mothers and teachers turned up on Monday night to register their displeasure with the conditions as they exist in the elementary levels of the Lake Forest School District. One mother, Mrs. Leo (Barbara) Grodkiewicz of near Bowers Beach registered strenuous criticism for the number of pupils per classroom in the Lake Forest East Elementary School. At one time last month there were some 41 pupils in one 4th grade classroom. Although that situation has corrected itself in that the solution was to go to split classes, Mrs. Grodkiewicz has protested as being bad for the pupils and the entire situation.

Mrs. Robert (Dorothy Messick) Collins was named the new cafeteria manager at the Chipman Jr. High School. Mrs. Collins has been the acting manager since the official retirement of Miss Hazel Johnson in August.

Children will need a social security number

Starting with the Federal tax return for 1987, parents claiming children as dependants will have to show the Social Security number for children age 5 and older, according to Tom Tobin, Social Security manager in Dover.

Documents which will establish a young child's identity and which are usually available to most families, include a report card, school identification card, newspaper birth announcement, court order for name change, church membership or confirmation record, doctor or hospital record, vaccination certificate, day care or nursery school record, or child's membership in youth organizations, such as Scouts.

This is not an exclusive list, Tobin said. Any document providing enough identifying data can be used.

Foreign born applicants will also need the appropriate Immigration and Naturalization Service documents.

Only original documents or copies certified by the issuing agency can be used.

To apply for a Social Security number, call the Dover (674-3610) or Georgetown (856-6301) Social Security offices.

Pastor William Dore. Sunday School is at 9:45 a.m. with Morning Worship following at 11 a.m.

Ephesians 2:4-5—"But because of his great love for us, God who is rich in mercy made us alive with Christ even when we were dead in transgressions—it is by grace you have been saved." vs. 8 "For it is by grace you have been saved, through faith—and this not of yourselves it is the gift of God."

Sunday was Laity Sunday at Asbury and Houston. Delores Collins, Walter Voss, Guy Winebrenner and Kathy Monroe all took part in leading our Worship. Mr. Winebrenner led the meditation and began with the reminder that we all are "sinners saved by grace." Another point that was well taken was that we are all lay people of Asbury. It was a good and special time in the Lord. The fact that it was Laity Sunday, freed Pastor Dore to be part of our Sunday School hour and it was good to see him in our classrooms.

He Waits

by Collette Fedor

Be anxious for nothing,

Do not dismay,

For He is e'er with you,

Leading the way,

From a life of false values,

To the path that is true,

His love and His wisdom,

Gives strength to renew,

The faith that has wandered,

To fields filled with tares,

With patience eternal,

He waits, for your prayers.

LF Spartan gridders impressive in Homecoming win

This was about mid-way through the first quarter.

Delmar took the kickoff and lost the ball on downs. The Spartans took over but were not able to move the ball. With fourth down and long yardage...about 30 yards for the first down...and 32 for the touchdown, Carl Young motored those 32 precious yards for the TD.

Now the Spartans led 20-6 for the conversion failed.

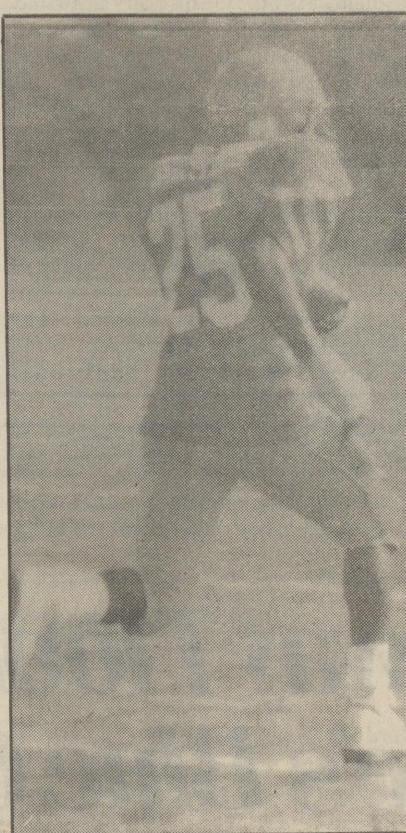

The next score came on a 1 yard pass from Petie Davis to Bobby Reed who got open in the end zone. The scoring began when Rodney Parker intercepted a pass and returned the ball about 25 yards to the Delmar 15 yard line. Davis moved the ball on an option keeper to the one. Garton booted the ball through the uprights and the Spartans led at the half 28-6.

When the Spartans got the ball for the first time at the start of the third quarter, Davis passed accurately to Steve Thompson for a 34 yard touchdown. The kick failed making the score 34-6. This drive started on the 37 yard line of Lake Forest. It took four plays to reach the end zone.

Robert Warren scored the 7th touchdown just before the third quarter ended. This was set up by a Jeff Parker interception. Carl Young was then given the ball and he rolled like a freight train for 42 yards being brought down from behind at the 3-yard line. Greg Porter substituted for Petie Davis handed off to Warren who romped the 3 yards for the score. Garton made the PAT try. The score at the end of the third quarter 46-6.

The 8th and final touchdown came after 2 plus minutes into the fourth quarter. Sophomore running back Wayne Church took a handoff, cut to the right sideline and scampered the remaining 36 yards for the TD. Garton missed the PAT with the Spartans leading 52-6.

This was all the scoring the Spartans would do in this football game...as more and more sophomores poured into the game.

Coach Fleming has warned all year that his team was young. "Basically we have a lot of sophomores on the squad. We are young in many ways. But I have always said, our day is coming we plan to get better and better...and I hope today has silenced the critics," he said.

This Friday the Spartans are on the road to Caesar Rodney. The last time a Coach Fleming team faced CR it was also on the road, and the Spartans won the game with the help of the foot of Eric Warren booting field goals and the general running attack. Look for Coach Fleming to have a bag of tricks to play on CR.

Lake Forest harriers outspeed Milford 17-44

by Keith S. Burgess

Milford Coach Joe MacDonald was checking the grade, in school, of each Lake Forest Spartan cross-country finisher, at the dual meet in Milford last week. The Buc's are a young team, a team of the future, it seems.

However, so are the Spartans, as eight of the top ten locals were underclassmen. So while MacDonald's team may be able to beat some of the other Henlopen teams, over the next two or three years, it will still be hard to defeat the Spartans because Jim Blades and Baxter Smith (Chipman Coach) seem to be able to come up with new, young talent.

Mark Tozer again had a private workout as he won easily with 17.27 for the three miles, as Lake Forest downed Milford 17-44, to stay unbeaten. Mike Eck, the No. 2 Spartan was next in 18.30. Steve Clute was third with Griffin of Milford, a former Harrington lad, in fourth. Tozer and Clute are the only seniors in Lake Forest's top ten runners.

Freshman David Elder, the find of 1987, was fourth though hampered by the lingering effects of a recent ankle sprain. Though Elder's career is only 17 days old, he has beaten every teammate, except the veteran trio of Tozer, Eck and Clute.

Jon Kane turned in his best effort of 1987, finishing one second behind Elder.

Mike Sanders, a soph novice, was eighth, with improving Roger Collison, in ninth.

Scott Pierce, in eleventh, obviously did not have a good day, after recording excellent performances in his first four starts. Darren Lawson, two seconds back, also is a much faster runner, most of the time. Yet both lads still managed to finish in the top half of the 28 starters.

Since Milford, like most Henlopen schools, does not have girls cross-country, the lady Spartans had to run alone. Melanie Pelton cruised three miles in 23.21. Steadily improving freshmen, Elaine Zeidler, Jill Blades and Amy Draper were next, followed by Stephanie Allen, Julie Betts, and newcomer, Barbara Dill.

Mark Tozer wins Spingarn D.C. Invitational

by Keith S. Burgess

After finishing second, the last two years, Lake Forest standout senior, Mark Tozer won the Spingarn Cross-Country Invitational, held in Du Pont Park, Washington, D.C.

Lake Forest captured the second-place trophy being edged by four points by St. Benedict's Prep of Newark, N.J. Lake Forest lodged a protest when a St. Benedict's runner took an unauthorized short cut, saving an estimated thirty yards. The infraction occurred in front of an official, who remembered the incident, but could not recall the color of the uniform worn by the culprit. The obvious question here is "Why was the official there, if she couldn't fulfill her duties?"

If the offender had been disqualified, Lake Forest would have brought home the first-place trophy. If the short cut had not been taken, St. Benedict's would have still won by two points.

Coach Jim Blades felt that his Spartans had a great day with several high points featuring local athletes in the five races entered. These were: Boys and Girls' Varsityes, Boys' and Girls' Junior High and Boys' Jayvees. Lake Forest was the only Delaware school competing, but the opposition, much of it big city, knew the yokels were there, even though no Spartan team was at full strength Saturday.

Tozer won his third Invitational in four tries, as he has started out his sixth harrier season with a bang. Mark has now won the Spingarn, Lake Forst, and Salisbury Invitationals, and was a strong third in the Salesianum Invitational, behind two Philadelphia runners. Mark was also unpressed in his dual meet starts. He has defeated perhaps 250 rivals from a half dozen states already this season.

Saturday Mark was in 15th place or so, after the first quarter of a mile and was having trouble finding passing room. Meanwhile a trio of D.C. runners were having a field day up front, probably trying to steal the race, while some talented harriers were stuck in traffic. Mark probably had to expend extra energy to get into the lead, but there he was a few minutes later, when he was the first runner to cross a key bridge.

A quarter of a mile from the finish, Mark held a lead of ten or fifteen yards, on his only remaining competition, a runner from Central High, who had been one of the trio of early leaders. Mark sprinted downhill and his rival could get no closer. Tozer's 16:34 was 14

Delaware State Chapter of Trout Unlimited meeting

The Delaware State Chapter of Trout Unlimited will conduct their Annual Fall Meeting, Monday, October 19, 1987, 7:30 p.m. at the Ashland Nature Center (Delaware Nature Education Society), Hockessin, Delaware.

The evening's program will include: a seconds faster than his 1986 effort.

Mike Eck, who should be a worthy successor in the No. 1 spot, to Tozer in 1988, was 9th at Spingarn in 1986. Mike posted another 17.52, same as last year, but got seventh this time.

Steve Clute, a much improved senior, clocked 18.46, compared to 19.27 last year and came in 11th. Steve was the victim of the St. Benedict lad who cut the course to ensure a tenth place.

Scott Pierce, a sophomore is in his fourth year of cross-country and is definitely no longer an apprentice. With the three veterans across Lake Forest's fate hinged on the performance of its younger runners. Pierce ran a truly great race, finishing 12th, clocking 19.01, compared to 20.16 as a freshman.

Another soph, Mike Sanders, has no previous cross-country experience but does have a season of track. Sanders completed the Spartan scoring with an excellent finish in 17th place, in 19.22 at one point in the race, after a mile or so. St. Benedict's appeared to be easy victors, but the late surge by Clute, Pierce and the rookie Sanders, just missed pulling off an upset win.

Roger Collison, the No. 6 Spartan improved by 64 seconds over last year. Dave Elder, a bright freshman prospect, after 5 good outings, turned in his first sub-par trip, but as Coach Blades pointed out, young athletes are susceptible to peaks and valleys and Elder hit his first valley. But he will rebound. We are sure of that. This kid has talent in this sport, of that there is no doubt.

Tim Fisher, in the jayvee race, finished near the front, in 20.17 a fine effort, which was the sixth best Spartan effort of the day.

Terry Donovan is a strong runner, with more footspeed, than most of his teammates. His mistake Saturday was running in brand-new running shoes, which should have been broken in first. The resulting blisters slowed him up, naturally.

Donovan was near the front of the jayvee race for quite a while and still hung on for a good clocking despite the blisters. One of these days Terry is going to put all the components together. When that happens, watch out! Other jayvees to do well were: Darrell Allen, Mike Cawby, and Czar Bloom.

Tozer, Eck, Clute and Pierce were medal winners Saturday, with Mike Sanders missing an award by only two places.

LF Spartan booters even record

LAKE FOREST HIGH SCHOOL. The Lake Forest Varsity soccer team bested Worcester (Md.) High on Thursday to even their record at 4-4. The score of the game was 1-0 and the scoring came when Greg Reed got a goal on an assist from Scott Talley. The game was a non-conference match.

In the Pocket

by Harry C. Farrow, Jr.

The top five drivers as of October 12th are: 1) Mike Lachance (579); 2) John Campbell (467); 3) Herve Filion (447); 4) Bill O'Donnell (355); 5) Steve Condren (301).

The Messenger, held on October 11th at Roosevelt Raceway, worth $447,000 was won by Redskin (John Campbell) in 1:58 with Jate Lobell second and Simcoe Hanover third.

The Lady Suffolk, held on October 9th, at Roosevelt Raceway, worth $58,000 was won by Luscious Almhurst (Ben Wilder) with Victory Lamont second and Crown Starlett third.

The Breeders Crown this week is at Hazel Park and is worth $385,000 for two year old filly trotters.

Melanie Pelton leads Spartans in D.C. run

by Keith S. Burgess

Senior Melanie Pelton was running in the Spingard D.C. Invitational, for the third and last year. Pelton ran a solid, determined race and finished the 2.1 mile grind in ninth place to become the Spartans only medal winner in this race.

Pelton's excellent effort, over the Du Pont Park hilly course saw her post a clocking of 16:52, 38 seconds faster than in 1986. Coach Blades was missing three of his better runners. At full strength he estimates his Spartans would have had a shot at third place.

Julie Betts had her best performance this fall, running slightly better than last fall in D.C. Freshman Elaine Zeidler is having a most impressive first varsity season. She has already lettered and ran a good 18 flat, Saturday.

Stephanie Allen and Sherri Parson were other Spartans to traverse the hilly layout and complete the team scoring for Lake Forest.

This writer is an unofficial recruiter for cross-country. Whenever we are talking to a young, slender prospect (boy) who is cowed by the distance, we say "If the girls can do it, surely you could too. Sometimes the play works."

Spartan hockey sticks come alive

The Lake Forest Varsity Hockey team went on the road last week against the Milford Bucs and the Delmar Wildcats winning in both efforts.

In the Delmar game, the Spartans downed Delmar 2-1 with Jimmi Crouch getting the game winner. The Wildcats had led through the first half 1-0. Paige Parker tied the game for the fighting Spartan girls with a goal midway into the second half. Then Jimmi came through with the goal to give the Spartans the victory lifting their record in conference to 4-1 and 7-1-0 overall. The Spartans rest comfortably in second place behind the high stepping Laurel bunch.

According to Coach Pat Borowski, "...we are bidding our time waiting for the playoffs."

Mohan/Moore maul Middleford

by Mark Miller

Scott Mohan, and Charlie Moore each took feature wins in Friday night action at Middleford.

Moore got his win in the lightweight kart final, after passing early leader Jean Metzner on lap three and never looked back. Metzner had down second until lap nineteen when Shane Larimore made a nice move to clinch second, while Walt Wilson and Craig Mullins rounded out the top five.

Mohan meanwhile picked up his win in the Open Pro cycle class aboard his Larry Mohan-tuned Yamaha. Mohan had the pole for the final by virtue of his heat win, and when the green-light flashed he was again leading into turn one.

Mohan was followed closely by Roy Collings, Tom Kisielnicki and Guy Stuart while Mark Miller was caught napping, and got left on the starting line. Mohan began to open up his lead, while Collings held down second, Kisielnicki had charged into third and was having the ride of his career.

While Bob Bowker was closing on "Kiss", Miller had caught the pack and moved by Kaczka, and Stuart. Two laps later Miller dropped Bowker and "Kiss" to fourth and fifth. At the checkers it was Mohan, over Collings with Miller, Bowker, Kisielnicki making up the top five.

Greg Coverdale put in a fine showing as he picked up his second win in as many weeks in the C.A.M. Racing/Coverdale Insurance/Suzuki powered #17 car.

Coverdale led from the out-set followed by Dan McMahan in the Alternative Exterminating #79 with Rick Krebel in the Eastern Petroleum Services, Paul Mills and Todd Wise packing the top five. By lap six Krebel dropped McMahan to third, while Walls, and Wise moved past Mills. Things stayed the same until lap thirteen when Wise passed Walls. Two laps later Walls dropped both McMahan and Wise to fourth and fifth. At the checkers Coverdale took a well deserved win, with the team of Krebel and Walls finishing second and third, with McMahan, Wise and Gene Smith in the G&S TV/Harrington Motor Co. Suzuki/Mills Brothers mount rounding out the top six.

Curtain falls on Georgetown's '87 race season

GEORGETOWN, DE—The Georgetown Speedway's 1987 season of stock car action came to a close Saturday night, October 10th and the record setting action that has been the norm all summer continued till the last checkered flag.

The Modified portion of the racecard featured twenty lap events and a five lap dash for 1987's feature winners. The event kicked off the evening's feature action and seven of the eleven drivers eligible for the match race were on hand. Tom Daggett Jr. drew the pole position with Pete Visconti, Bob Toreky, Jeff Patilla, Tom Capie, Johnny Bennett Jr., and Paul Weaver filling out the field in that order. Daggett made the most of his pole position and opened a strong lead in the first three laps, but Toreky and Visconti had their mounts cranked to the max to keep him in sight. On lap four Daggett took a high line through the second turn and Visconti gained on him. The same thing happened on the final lap and "Legs" Visconti marched to within inches of Daggett's rear bumper. Visconti took the low groove entering turn three and pulled even with the leader. The pair's engines were screaming as they exited the final turn and Visconti's determination won out as he nosed out Daggett at the checkered, picking up $200 in the process for his second Georgetown checkered flag of the season. Toreky finished in third followed by Capie, Weaver, Patilla and Bennett.

The first twenty lap Modified feature saw Tom Capie score his seventh season win making him the winningest driver in that division in '87. Visconti led the first two circuits before Toreky, up from eighth starting spot, snatched it away on lap three. By lap eight Toreky's mount had started to show front end damage and he was forced to pit. This gave Visconti the lead once more, but a blown tire put an end to that on lap ten. Capie had been challenging Visconti's lead when the tire let go and on the restart Tom set the pace. Capie pulled out all the stops in the final laps and held a healthy lead over the second and third place cars of Chip Slocum and Paul Weaver at the checkered.

During his lead Toreky shattered the track speed record set on May 15th. Bob turned a lap in 19.69 seconds for an average speed of 91.42 mph., breaking Ron Keys' record of 19.99 seconds.

Toreky brought his #14 to the winner's circle for the sixth time in '87 in the second twenty lapper. Wayne Weaver sat the pole for the first four laps. Hot on his heels was Ricky Elliott. Elliott challenged on lap five and took the lead out of turn four. A rash of cautions broke out on lap six for mechanical failures on various cars but the last one flew for Elliott.

The field had gone green with Elliott on the point and coming out of two the second and third place cars of Paul Weaver and Toreky went to the outside of him entering turn four. Contact was made and Elliott's car slid sideways. As Ricky fought for control, most of the field was able to go by but Ron Roberts and Deron Rust were left with no where to go and the trio ended the night disabled on the front stretch.

Weaver set the pace in his #0 with Toreky in second. On lap eleven Toreky found his chance and passed Weaver on the outside coming out of turn four. With one lap to go Weaver fell out, leaving second to Capie but Toreky had opened a considerable lead and crossed the stripe unchallenged.

The Limited Late Models competed in a twenty lap feature and Jeff Turpin picked up his eighth season win. Turpin took the lead from Fields on lap five and never looked back even though the brand new mount piloted by John Kenney was running strong in second at the finish.

Tommy Elliott scored his first season win of 1987 in the ten lap Street Modified feature. Kenny Pettyjohn led the first half of the event before falling out with mechanical problems. This gave the lead to Herschel Moore. Moore has had strong runs all season but the checkered has always eluded him. On the final turn of the final lap Moore's dreams were dashed again when 1987 Street Mod Champ, Richard White Jr. made a bid for the lead. Elliott was sitting in third and as the leaders battled out of turn four, he steered his Monte Carlo to the outside to snare the checkered by a fender.

FROM THE FIFTH TURN: The generous Georgetown Speedway fans donated over $750 to benefit injured Limited Late Model driver Donald "Duck" Robinson. Donald suffered severe back injuries two weeks ago while driving brother Ronnie's Street Modified in competition. The Georgetown native has undergone two lengthy surgeries at Christiana Hospital and will begin physical therapy this coming week. Donald's prognosis is good but the recovery will be a long and costly one. Messages of cheer will go a long way toward speeding the process. Cards can be sent to: Donald Robinson, Room 4015, Christiana Hospital, Christiana, Delaware 19702.

Miller/Walls win at Middleford

by Bonnie Algier-Mitchell

Milford's Scott Walls and Mark Miller captured feature wins in the Saturday night portion of the weekends triple header.

Walls avenged the Friday night loss to Coverdale by leading every lap of the feature in the Eastern Petroleum Services/Ed Walls sponsored car #16.

Walls jumped out to an early lead, with Rick Krebel in the E.P.S. back-up car #16X and Greg Coverdale in tow.

Todd Wise, Donnie Ennis and Wayne Dutton in the Jack Sapp Auto Trim #96 car were battling over third.

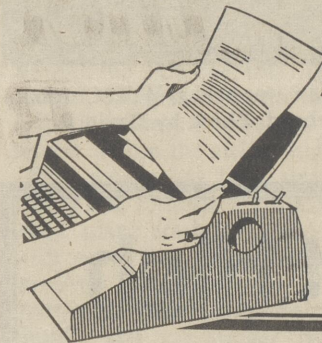

On lap fifteen Walls was in a commanding lead over Coverdale with Wise, Ennis, Dutton, and Bob King in the Kustom Concrete #60 rounding out the top six, which would stay that way for the remaining laps.

Miller picked up two wins in the 500cc. and Open Pro classes aboard the E.J. Wilson/dover Cycles/Bill Sharp ND backed Yamaha.

After leading every lap in route to victory lane, in the 250/500 combined feature Miller again gated first with Kisielnicki and 250cc winner Gene Kaczka in tow. By lap four Miller had built an insurmountable lead and held it of the win as "Kiss" held off Kaczka for second and would later capture the Senior Class on the Flat Down Carpet Yamaha.

Mike Bloom, after suffering mechanical problems on Friday took the lightweight kart feature. Bloom wasted little time, as he jumped to the lead, with Shane Larimore nipping at his heels. Bloom managed to hold off Larimore who matched his previous nights performance by finishing a fine second over Jean Metzner with Jay Baker, and Walt Wilson rounding out the top five.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Harry:
On behalf of the students and staff of Lake Forest High School and myself, I would like to thank you for your most generous gift of a Polaroid camera. I understand that the cost of the camera was sixty dollars.
As you know, this camera will be used to take the pictures of the Students of the Week and Student of the Month. These pictures will be displayed in a display case in the lobby. These pictures mean a great deal to these students and their parents.

Thank you again.

Sincerely,

Editor's Note: The following letter was submitted to the Harrington Journal by Dudley L. Willis. Mr. Willis sent this letter to Mr. William Paskey, Jr., Kent County Levy Court.

Dear Mr. Farrow:
The attached letter protests the County's new Comprehensive Plan (Draft Form), and this protest is based upon how the Plan treats the City of Harrington.

Very truly yours,
Dudley L. Willis

October 6, 1987

Mr. William Paskey, Jr., President
Kent County Levy Court
414 Federal Street,
County Administration Building
Dover, DE 19901

Dear Sirs:
I have reviewed the draft copy of the County's New Comprehensive Plan, and I find many good parts of it. However, on an overall basis, it has glaring errors which ruin its credibility and give it a negative value.

My basis for the opinion expressed above is the manner in which the City of Harrington is analyzed and tabulated to show a zero-growth pattern for the next 20 years as this projection is based upon a straightline projection of historical census data with the last entry that for 1980.

The zero-growth projection will signal to potential industrial land seekers that there are major problems in the Harrington area and that it should be avoided. However, Harrington has probably done more to help itself and prepare for growth than any other part of the County. This statement is based upon the following:

1) Over the past 15 years, many derelict buildings have been torn down. These included an old theatre, a large hotel, two large store buildings and approximately fifteen houses which did not warrant restoration.

2) Most of the streets in all parts of the City are now paved or have paving currently under construction or scheduled.

3) Ten single family townhouses were built and occupied in 1980 (Harrington Meadows).

4) Approximately twenty single family residential units have been built and occupied within the past five years.

5) Thirty new apartments were built on Peck Avenue and occupied in 1987.

6) A major shopping center has been built.

7) A motel has been built.

8) A dairy/fast food store has been built.

9) A major fast food outlet has been built.

10) The city has purchased the land for and will soon start construction of a new city hall.

11) The People's Bank has torn down an old theatre and built a new bank building.

12) The First National Bank of Harrington has remodeled their bank and added drive-through banking and a new parking lot.

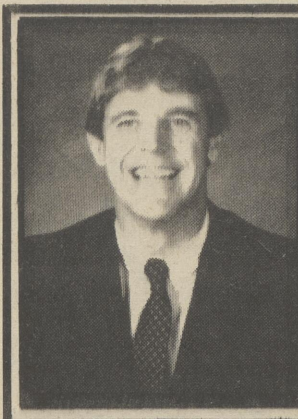

13) Land has been purchased and a new Hi-Grade milk processing plant will be built soon.

After thirty years of decline, the City of Harrington is now in an obvious and rapid growth pattern, and this belies the zero-growth predictions of the Draft Comprehensive Plan.

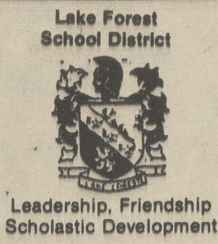

To approve and publish a plan which is so obviously flawed will ruin the credibility of any future County Planning efforts.

Very truly yours,

Dudley L. Willis

District Dialog

by Dr. James H. VanSciver
Superintendent

"The Cost"

We are asking residents to go to the polls on November 10 and vote "yes" twice to pass both parts of our referendum.

One part will decide whether voters support a proposed major capital improvement program. In the second, voters will decide whether the District will increase its current expense tax.

How much will it cost residents?

That is an important question which needs a straight forward answer.

The major capital improvement portion will cost an approximate 6.5¢ in property tax and $5.00 in capitation tax. The current expense portion will add another 17¢ in property tax over a three-year period.

The following will show what this will mean to residents' tax bills. Again, I stress that this is after three years. Also, this is for the school tax only.

The cost on the assessed value of an average home in Lake Forest School District would be as follows: (A) $42,500 (Assessed Valuation); (B) $202.55 (Current Property & Capitation Taxes-2 persons); (C) $312.43 (New Property & Capitation Taxes-2 persons); (D) $109.88 (Increase Over 3 Years).

The assessment is sixty percent of the property value. To determine the property value, divide the assessed valuation by sixty percent.

With these figures, we are assuming that there are two residents 18 years old or over in terms of figuring the capitation tax. If there is only one in the residence, subtract $15.00 from B, $20.00 from C and $5.00 from D. If there are more than two residents 18 years old or over in the residence, for each one over two, add $15.00 to B, $20.00 to C and $5.00 to D.

That $109.88 (D) is about $2.00 per week. Today, $2.00 buys a cheeseburger, small fries and a drink. That is what we would be asking residents to give to their schools.

The cost is important to know about. It is what you pay for educating our youth and improving our communities.

There are those who say that education is not expensive; it is priceless.

We are asking our voters to support our schools on November 10 with two "Yes" votes.

A new space policy: Free Enterprise

by J. Brian Phillips

Since the Challenger Shuttle disaster effectively grounded America's space program in January 1986, President Reagan has increasingly called for private businesses to enter the space industry. Space Services Inc., which made a successful test launch in 1982, plans to begin commercial operations in late 1988, as does start-up firm American Rocket. Aerospace veterans Martin Marietta and McDonnell Douglas already have received orders for satellite launches. Despite this, America still trails the Soviet Union in satellite launches, & the Europeans and Japanese are quickly catching up.

The launching of Sputnik in 1957 was taken by many Americans as a signal of Soviet technological superiority. To calm a frightened public, the U.S. government poured billions of dollars into the space race and, to this day, the American space program has been a virtual government monopoly.

In the aftermath of the Challenger explosion, editorial writers and columnists across the nation condemned the politicalization of NASA. However, they failed to realize that any agency whose budget is politically controlled -- such as NASA -- is eventually politicized. As Challenger demonstrated, when political expediency replaces scientific judgment, the results can be tragic.

Over the years, NASA's monopoly has been enhanced by subsidization, legislation, and regulation. Space Services Inc. President David Hannah Jr. told a Houston space conference shortly after his company completed its successful launch: "I consider the slowest aspect of our program is going to be politics. Getting the necessary approvals from the State Department and the United Nations is going to be much harder to work than the technical implementations."

In a report for the National Center for Policy Analysis, Dr. Jerry Grey, publisher of Aerospace America, elaborates on this: "Private companies in the satellite communications industry must answer to 13 federal regulatory bodies, two international organizations, and four international treaties."

Proponents of a government-run space program argue that the vast capital and resources required for such ventures can best be obtained by government. But private firms are responding to this problem by moving toward smaller equipment and by using older, proven technology. This saves millions of dollars. Additionally, many companies are forming partnerships on projects, such as Space Industries, Inc. and Westinghouse, which are planning a joint space laboratory. McDonnell Douglas is looking for a partner to manufacture pharmaceuticals in space.

The costs of doing business in space are high, but so are the potential rewards. Companies which start small and use their profits to expand could quickly become major factors in the development of space. Furthermore, once many of the risks have been eliminated, other firms will be more inclined to exploit the unique opportunities offered by space.

Some backers of NASA contend that there are parallels with the federal government's role in the development of the early West.

Space, they argue, is merely another frontier to be conquered. While this is true, it must be noted that the government's role in developing the West was pretty much limited to protecting property rights, e.g., establishing the rules by which the vast tracks of unsettled land could be claimed, and building a series of forts to protect pioneers. The real development of the West -- railroads, mines, agriculture, etc. -- was mostly a product of private enterprise.

Until the Challenger disaster, the Shuttle was to be America's principal launch vehicle. Expensible launch vehicles were to become obsolete. Consequently, when the Shuttle program shut down in the wake of the loss of Challenger, America was left without a dependable launch system, and U.S. satellite launches have fallen more than a year behind schedule.

Private companies, by their very nature, will not all use the same launch vehicles. Martin Marietta will use its Titan rocket; McDonnell Douglas will use its Delta Rocket; Space Services will use the Conestoga, while American Rocket will use a hybrid vehicle. Thus, if one system fails, there will be others to fill the gap.

There is an old adage about putting all your eggs in one basket. America's "space eggs" have all been placed in one basket -- NASA -- and the consequences are painfully clear. It is time for a space policy which eliminates this government monopoly and allows America's entrepreneurs the freedom they need to reach for the stars.

A laff a day...

by William T. Ficka

A woman who continually shoplifted went to see a psychiatrist. After two years of treatment the psychiatrist said, "Congratulations, your kleptomania is cured. You'll never shoplift again."
"But how can I be sure?" she asked.
"Go to the biggest department store and walk up and down the aisles. You won't shoplift a single thing."
"Oh, thank you doctor," she said as she got up to leave.

"But if you do have a relapse," said the doctor, "I could use a 22-inch color TV."

A condo, a co-op—what's the difference? ASK MR. BERKO

Dear Mr. Berko: We are considering buying a condominium in Florida. Is a condo the same as a co-op. My cousin owns a co-op in N.Y. and he tells me he doesn't own the apartment he purchased and lives in. This doesn't make sense. If I buy a condo can they make me move out?
Sam F., Zion, IL

Dear Sam: A condominium and a co-op are very different ownership conditions. A co-op owner, like your cousin, has bought stock representing a portion of the ownership of the building. He has been assigned a specific apartment from which he cannot be moved except under extreme conditions and court action. However, if he wants to sell his stock in the cooperative and his rights to the apartment, the buyer must be approved by the other owners. Many times this hinders sales and reduces the value. A condo is a different situation. You own your own apartment and a proportionate share of common areas such as the pool, lobby, halls, common areas and grounds. Because of this difference, it is usually difficult to borrow on a co-op and relatively easy with a condominium. We are sending you our pamphlet "Consumers Guide to Co-ops and Condos". Any other readers who want a free copy can send us this column with a 22 cent stamp.

Dear Mr. Berko: I have noticed the abbreviation SSI on information given out by the Social Security Administration. Does this program have anything for people like me who are currently receiving Social Security benefits?
Mary C., San Diego, CA

Dear Mr. Berko: I was injured in the Army in 1944, during WW2. I never applied for VA benefits because I was in an institution. Can I apply now and get the money I was entitled to all these years?
—Ralph W., Bridgeport, MI

Dear Mary: SSI (Supplementary Security Income) provides monthly checks to persons who are 65 or older, blind or disabled and in need of financial help. Applicants must have income and assets below a certain amount. We are sending you a copy of our book Consumers Guide to Social Security Benefits including Medicare. It will give you all the information about SSI and all other benefits. Read it carefully. It may contain information about benefits for which you or other family members are eligible.

Dear Ralph: It is not too late to apply for your benefits, but even if benefits are granted, you can forget about getting 40 years back money and becoming wealthy. Any benefits authorized would start the first day of the month after your application. It will

Billions of dollars go unclaimed each year because people do not know they are eligible and they do not apply. Mr. Berko has included every little-known and well-known benefit (and tips on how to apply) in Complete Guide to Federal and State Benefits for Veterans, Their Families and Survivors. This 192 page book is $5.95, plus $2.00 shipping, from Ask Mr. Berko, PO Box 336, South Orange, N.J. 07079-0336. Questions on any subject can be sent to the same address or this publication.

Senatorial Report

by Sen. Ruth Ann Minner
18th Senatorial District

It now appears that so many problems have arisen with the Governor's "Quality of Life" land use bills that there will not be a special Senate session after all to consider them.

The Senate Highways and Transportation Committee has now held four hearings on the land use package and I've sat in on them all as a member of the Committee. I haven't heard a single witness endorse the package as a whole and citizen complaints run from the developers, who say a development tax will cut down growth of our economy, to environmentalists who say the bills in the package do not address environmental concerns strongly enough.

One bill in the package allows the Department of Transportation to levy a development assessment fee without limits on developers of new commercial or housing ventures to help pay for the state costs generated by the new developments. But all the fees would be earmarked for roads, and there's a lot more to development than roads.

Consider for a minute what new development costs the state. Of course, there is additional traffic which spurs the need for road improvements. But there is also sewage disposal, water resources, the environment, farmland preservation, schools, natural resources, erosion control, and soil and water conservation.

The Governor's Environmental Legacy Commission, which I've served on for more than two years, has suggested that an Infrastructure Fee be assessed against new development and divided among the State agencies which would incur additional expenditures as a result of development. That sounds to me like a more reasonable approach than giving all the development fee revenue to the Transportation Department.

The Council on Highways, which plays an integral part in selecting priorities for building highways where the need is rather than where the political clout is, is completely left out of the land use process under the Governor's package.

Local control of zoning and growth planning would be lost to the Transportation Department under several of the bills.

The Senate had thought that it could fine tune the major bills and bring them to a vote in October. It now appears the bills need a major overhaul.

Those bills which must be rewritten or scrapped in favor of improved new bills also should receive careful study by the General Assembly. It is apparent that there is not now time to give any package serious consideration before the regular session begins in January.

Flying the friendly skies starts with leaving on time

by Congressman Tom Carper

There was good news for Delmarva late last month when Federal Aviation Administrator T. Allen McArtor announced that the Flight Service Station at the Salisbury-Wicomico airport would remain open until at least the end of 1989. Most of the region's congressional delegations have been working for months to forestall the proposed closing of the station, which has become almost an annual event.

While I'm glad to see that the FAA has come to its senses about keeping the fourth busiest flight service station in the country open, it's only a beginning. Beyond the fight over this flight service station, Congress is in the midst of an important debate over the need for reform within the airline industry.

That debate has been spurred by a spring and summer of close calls and a tragic plane crash in Detroit, coupled with reports of air traffic controllers working sixteen hour days, and increasingly overburdened airports that simply can no longer handle the explosion of air traffic in the 1980's.

In addition to these safety concerns, most airline passengers agree that in recent years the quality of airline service has declined rapidly. In fact, in the last year flight delays and cancellations have reached record levels, and complaints to federal agencies about baggage problems, missed connections and other miscues have tripled.

The House of Representatives is looking for ways to improve airline service, and last week we passed legislation to require airlines to report regularly on their service performance. The Airline Passenger Protection Act of 1987 is a consumer-right-to-know bill which is long overdue. If enacted, it will require airlines to submit performance information to the U.S. Department of Transportation on late arrivals, lost or damaged baggage, cancelled flights, the bumping of passengers, missed connections at "hub" airports, and complaints filed by passengers against an airline.

The information will be compiled by DOT on a monthly basis. DOT performance reports will then be made available to airline ticket offices and travel agencies, which in turn must make the information available to the public. The bill mandates that flight-by-flight on-time arrival information must be made available to consumers through the computer reservation process. Tickets must also provide toll-free complaint numbers for the airline and the FAA.

There are also penalties for sloppy service. If an airline loses you luggage, for example, they'll owe you a one-way ticket on the route you traveled. If they lose it for twenty-four hours or more, it's a round-trip ticket on the same route. Advertisements for discount fares will have to include specific information on flight availability and refund policies. If an airline knowingly violates a consumer protection provision of the bill, they'll be fined $1000. And if they falsify the information they're required to report to DOT, the fine is $10,000 per violation.

We don't want to return to the "bad old days" when the airline industry was overregulated. But we do want airlines to be accountable to the consumers they serve. I think the Airline Passenger Protection Act is a step in that direction.

Keeping secrets in and drugs out

by U.S. Senator Bill Roth

In recent years, we've all become increasingly concerned about acts of espionage against the United States and the continuing flow of illegal drugs into our country. We want to keep our secrets in this country and keep illegal drugs out.

Although these issues may seem unrelated, I recently had the opportunity to address both in the State Department Authorization bill. I introduced two anti-espionage amendments to the bill and another amendment to crack down on international drug trade. I was pleased that my colleagues agreed on the necessity of these measures and approved all three amendments.

We are taking steps in this country to combat the threat of espionage on the part of the Soviet Union. However, my concern is that once we have worked to block activities on their part it is only logical that they would "farm out" such activities to other Communist controlled or East bloc countries. In fact, former F.B.I. Director and current C.I.A. Director William Webster testified before the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations, on which I serve as ranking minority member, and cited examples of espionage operations carried out by Eastern Europeans in the United States at the behest of the Soviet Union.

One of my anti-espionage amendments would extend travel restrictions and reporting requirements which are in place upon the Soviet Union to diplomats and trade mission personnel from Soviet Satellite countries including Poland, East Germany, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Rumania and Cuba. It is a simple but effective way to lessen the chances the Soviet bloc allies have of successfully stealing our secrets.

Along the same lines, my other anti-espionage amendment would halt construction on any American embassy or other installation in any Communist-controlled country until the Administration provides a report on the security considerations and plans for those facilities and the President certifies that appropriate security precautions have been taken so that the construction can go forward. We recently discovered that the Soviets had "bugged" our Moscow Embassy; we must make sure they are afforded no similar opportunities in Eastern Europe.

My third amendment was an anti-drug trafficking measure. Specifically, it would crack down on countries like the Bahamas which don't fully cooperate with our country in eliminating international drug trade. In addition to penalties under existing law, it would allow for a reduction of visas, a cutoff of air service and would require termination of U.S. Customs preclearance facilities for such countries. Under current law, the President must certify that certain countries are cooperating fully in drug interdiction efforts or they will be subject to a cut off in foreign aid.

The State Department Authorization bill passed the Senate with my amendments attached. Naturally, I was pleased to see this legislation also address two of the most upsetting and destructive problems facing our country.

Person-to-Person

A Frederica miracle

by Rebecca Moore

Do you believe in miracles? Do you feel that miracles still happen, or are they strictly a thing of the past? Perhaps we are so caught up in the routine of our daily lives that we fail to notice the miracles all around us—the sun rising so predictably each morning, the brilliance of a scarlet rhododendron in early June, the incomparable miracle of a new life.

A miracle of another kind lives in Frederica. She's thirty-two years old. She's the wife of Richard & the mother of Daniel. She's small of stature and build, with a short, contemporary hairstyle, and a smattering of freckles across her attractive face. And her name is Diane Phillips. This brief description seems pretty unmiraculous, but once you hear the rest of Diane's story, you will agree that she's a miracle, too.

In December of 1981, Diane visited her physician for a routine physical and found that her spleen was enlarged. Casting bedside manner to the wind, he immediately informed her that he thought she had Hodgkin's disease—a form of cancer of the lymph system. Since she had exhibited no other symptoms, this diagnosis of cancer left Diane in a rather distressed frame of mind. Diane left the office and spent the next few days trying to make some sense out of her circumstances. Sitting at her desk in Dover at the Department of Natural Resources, Diane received a phone call. Results of her bloodwork had indicated an extremely elevated white cell count. Her diagnosis? Not Hodgkin's disease as originally suspected, but rather, chronic myelogenous leukemia. Diane sat at her desk, surrounded by her co-workers, and fought desperately to maintain her composure. She had just been handed a death sentence.

Leukemia is a disease of the bloodstream, and its origins are not fully understood. In our bodies there are three basic types of blood cells—white blood cells, (leukocytes) which combat infection, red blood cells, (erythrocytes) which carry oxygen, and platelets, which cause clotting. Most blood cells are produced in our bone marrow. In leukemia, there is an increased production of white blood cells. These cells, however, are immature and are of no value to the individual. Because of the excessive number of white blood cells, the production of red blood cells and platelets diminishes and causes anemia and increased bleeding. Antineoplastic drugs (chemotherapy) are used to interfere with the multiplication of blood cells and produce a state of remission. But in most cases, the individual becomes resistant to treatment and the prognosis is not good.

Diane was referred to Dr. John Benzel and was sent immediately to Memorial Division of Wilmington Medical Center for further testing and treatment. One can only imagine the terror Diane was experiencing. Just a week before she had nothing more to worry about than getting to work on time, what to fix for dinner, and which disposable diaper was best for her one-year-old son. But suddenly, without warning, Diane was faced with the cold reality that she was fighting a fatal disease with a prognosis of only three to five years.

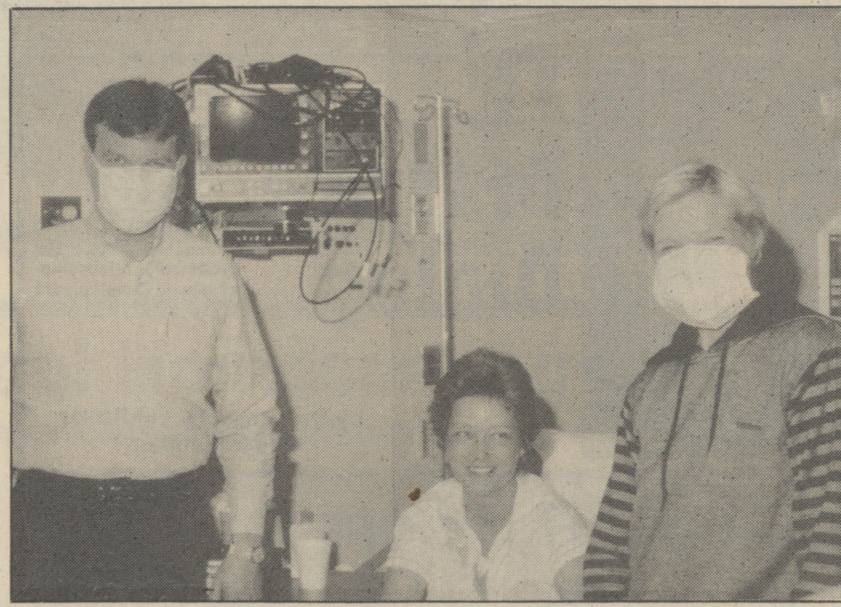

In one way, Diane was quite fortunate. Her treatment was an oral form of chemotherapy which she took everyday just as one would take vitamins or blood pressure medications. She did not have to experience repeated injections or the horrendous side-effects for which chemo is so notorious. She did well on Dr. Benzel's prescribed treatment and after the first few weeks, Diane's life returned to normal.

A clock within Diane's head slowly turned as the days passed into months and then into years. One...two...three years...her cell counts were normal...the treatment was working...four...continued normalcy...Diane's white cell counts went soaring. Diane needed a miracle.

Bone marrow transplantation is a comparatively new treatment for leukemia and certain forms of cancer. Since the excessive white blood cells are produced in the bone marrow, the idea behind the transplant is to destroy the unhealthy marrow and replace it with healthy marrow which will produce mature white blood cells at a normal rate. Blood relatives have always been used as donors. If a blood relative is not available or is not a close enough match, little hope remains.

There were three possible bone marrow donors for Diane—her mother, father, and her sister. A thorough analysis of all three showed that only her father came close as a match for Diane, but even he was not close enough. The miracle Diane needed vanished. Her last hope was gone...or was it?

Milwaukee, Wisconsin—The Fonz, Richie Cunningham, "Happy Days" and breweries. That's what Milwaukee brings to mind. But to Dr. Benzel, Milwaukee, Wisconsin offered hope to a dying young woman. For Milwaukee boasts an incredible medical center which, among other things, contains a facility for unrelated bone marrow transplants.

Visiting Milwaukee in January of 1987, Diane met with Dr. Robert Ash, the head of the bone marrow transplant division of the Medical College of Wisconsin, which is a division of the Milwaukee County Medical Complex. Dr. Ash agreed with Dr. Benzel that Diane needed a transplant, but a donor had to be found. The Blood Center of Southeastern Wisconsin maintains a list of 11,000 routine blood donors who already submitted to testing and have agreed to consider the possibility of becoming bone marrow donors. Dr. Ash went to work finding a donor for Diane.

In March, Diane set out on a adventure. It took a great deal of nerve, but she had nothing to lose and everything to gain. A compatible donor had been found—Milwaukee was waiting. Diane said good-bye to Richard and Daniel and left for four months of agony and ecstasy.

Preparation for the transplant required the complete destruction of Diane's unhealthy bone marrow. This was accomplished through a process called Total Body Irradiation, or TBI. Diane was administered chemotherapy for three days, followed by three days of radiation treatments given three times daily. A Hickman Broviac catheter had been surgically implanted in Diane's chest several days prior to this. Chemotherapy was administered through the Broviac, so Diane did not have to contend with repeated injections.

Meanwhile, Corrine Grapatin, a mail carrier and aerobics instructor from Milwaukee, went through a procedure called bone marrow aspiration. During this procedure, Corrine was given general anesthetic, and marrow was withdrawn from the iliac crests (hip bones). These bones are particularly dense and are the best for aspiration. Although the hospital did not encourage donors and recipients to meet each other, Diane wanted to meet Corinne and Corinne wanted to meet Diane. This was all arranged and Corinne even stayed with Diane during the transplant procedure. This was quite a moving experience for both of them. Corinne was literally giving Diane's life back to her.

The transplant took place following Diane's last radiation treatment, in a small, sterile room, specially designed for transplants. An intravenous therapy pole with six hooks, intravenous fluids and medications, and two pumps stood beside Diane's bed. Behind Diane was an entire wall containing an electronically-controlled air filtration system. Anyone entering the room wore a sterile mask and gown. Every precaution was taken to eliminate the risk of infection. Into this sterile environment was brought an intravenous bag containing a thick, red fluid—Corinne's life-giving bone marrow. The actual transplant took less than one hour. The marrow entered Diane's body through the Broviac, and during the procedure, Diane sat on her bed and chatted with Corinne, Richard and her parents. The transplant proceeded just like any other treatment, but this time, a miracle was taking place.

One week after the transplant, Diane was on top of the world. Radiation and chemotherapy had produced no side-effects and she was optimistic about the results of the transplant. But all that changed overnight. Diane's hair fell out—not just a few at a time, but in huge masses. "I would wake up in the middle of the night", Diane said, "with so much hair in my nose and mouth, I couldn't breathe." Her feet burned constantly as a result of the radiation. Mouth ulcers developed. Nausea—five to six times a day for six solid weeks left Diane in a totally weakened, exhausted state. Besides the physical agony Diane endured, she was also faced with the indignities of hospital life. "If you think having a baby destroys your dignity and modesty, wait 'til you see what a transplant does to you!" as Diane so aptly put it. Nothing entered or exited Diane's body without being tested and analyzed. She had no privacy. She couldn't even see people's faces, because they were shrouded in surgical masks. The experience was incredibly demoralizing. But through it all Diane kept reminding herself, "This is giving me back my life!"

On April 17, six weeks after the procedure, Diane was permitted to leave the hospital. Since Wisconsin is quite a ways from Delaware, Diane had to stay in the local area, so she and her mother, who had stayed with Diane through the entire process, rented a minuscule apartment close by the hospital complex. Here, Diane had a certain amount of freedom and she began to regain her strength and her dignity. A degree of normalcy was returning to Diane's life.

June 24th—after four months of miracle, Diane returned to her beautiful gray house on the country road just west of Frederica. The trees were a little greener, the flowers a little more vibrant, Daniel a little taller, home was just a little more wonderful. Home—with its red kitchen countertops, country decor and white wicker furniture. It was so good to be home!

The agony and ecstasy were over. With her, Diane carried enough medication to give any pharmacist a headache. She carried lists of do's and don'ts—don't eat in fast-food restaurants, (too great a risk of bacteria development from food setting around) don't vacuum or dust, don't go into the basement because of molds and mildew; do have a blood transfusion every three weeks, do take your medications, do return to normalcy. But mostly, Diane carried within her a miracle—a miracle of modern technology with a 65% success rate, but also, as Diane put it, "a miracle from God!"

Diane Phillips—she's a living, breathing miracle. Six months ago, she was dying. Today, the thought of dying rarely crosses her mind. Diane wants her story told. Not just so people can marvel at the miracle that is Diane, but so the news of hope will spread to others. Thousands of people around the world are dying of leukemia, but now there is hope for them. Yes, Diane is a miracle, but more than that, she offers hope where once there was none.

* * * * * Bone marrow transplantation is a miracle treatment, but it is also a very expensive one. Diane's doctors pulled no punches with her and told her right from the start what the costs would be like. Diane and Richard recently received Diane's hospital bill—just the hospital bill, no doctor's fees, medications, airline tickets, apartment or food bills. The hospital bill was ninety-six pages long. (That's enough to wallpaper a whole room!) Diane chuckled and came to $157,000.00. The projected cost of the transplant? Between $250,000.00 and $300,000.00. Medical insurance pays a maximum of 80%. A few quick calculations leave Richard and Diane with a bill the size of the cost of a new home. Richard and Diane are in business for themselves. They own Delmarva Rubber and Gasket in Dover. Their lives are comfortable, not extravagant. The miracle of Diane is an expensive one, and the medical bills will have to be paid. A fund has been set up for Diane at the Sussex Trust Bank in Frederica. At present, only $255.00 have been donated. The need is great, and your contribution would be appreciated so much.
