

Delawareans celebrate Delaware Day

by William T. Ficka

All Americans associate the date December 7 with Pearl Harbor. For it was on this day in 1941 that Japan launched its sneak attack on the U.S.A. For Delawareans, it has an extra significance. This was the date in 1787, when Delaware became the first state to ratify the Constitution of the United States.

Delaware had sent five delegates to the Constitutional Convention of 1787. They were: John Dickinson, "the Penman of the Revolution" and the most famous of all Delawareans; Richard Bassett, a lawyer and wealthy landholder; Gunning Bedford Jr., Delaware's attorney general; Jacob Broom, a Wilmington manufacturer; and the influential George Read.

Afraid that representation would be made proportional to a state's size, Read instructed delegates to insist on equal representation in the Congress. Virginia opened the convention with a plan for proportional representation. When Delaware and other small states gave strong resistance to this plan, a compromise was agreed upon giving the smaller states equal representation in the Senate.

The Constitutional Convention was on the verge of adjourning when the compromise was made. Read of Delaware told the assembled delegates that Delaware must withdraw from the convention if any changes were made in suffrage. Gunning Bedford later delivered a scathing address declaring that if the larger states destroyed the confederation "the small states would find a foreign ally of more honor and good faith who would take them by the hand and do them justice." Although the scanty records of the convention don't record the actual author of the compromise, there is an unsigned paper in John Dickinson's handwriting which reads: "In the Convention at Philadelphia in 1787, I proposed the establishment of that branch (the Senate) with an equal representation therein of every state—assenting, in consideration of such a provision, to the establishment of the other branch on another principle."

In his "Collected Essays of Richard S. Rodney on Early Delaware" the author wrote: "The winning of the right to equal representation in the Senate of the United States was a tremendous victory. All of the great states had come to the Convention determined that representation should be according to population." To make sure that their equal representation in the Senate would not be taken away by subsequent amendments, the delegates passed Article 5 which says "that no state, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate."

Although many think the Constitution was passed unanimously, such is not the case. Ten of the 65 delegates never attended the convention. Only 39 of the 55 in attendance would affix their signatures. John Dickinson's name was actually signed by George Read. Dickinson was ill at the time and asked Read to sign for him. Dickinson, incidentally, had voted against the Declaration of Independence. He opposed the use of force against the mother country, because of his belief that a peaceful settlement was still possible. He thought the lack of a central government and the support of allies left us ill-equipped for war. When the actual shooting started, however, only two Congressmen immediately joined the battle—Dickinson and Thomas McKean.

On Nov. 10, 1787, the Delaware State Legislature adopted a resolution calling for a state convention to be held on Dec. 3 to ratify the Federal Constitution. Ten persons from each county were elected on Nov. 26 to attend the convention.

No trace of the minutes of the Delaware convention has ever been found.

Richard S. Rodney wrote, "It is to our own shame that we must confess that the lack of intelligent interest and a niggardly and stupid policy in the past in all historical matters has indelibly stamped Delaware as the worst offender as the destroyer of historical material."

No one knows for sure why the convention stayed in session four days. Indeed, there was such harmonious agreement among the delegates that the historian Bancroft wrote, "the constituent body which met at Dover in the first week in December encountered no difficulty, but how to find language strong enough to express their joy in what had been done."

The delegates unanimously ratified the Constitution on Dec. 7, 1787, thus giving Delaware the distinction of being the first state to ratify the document that has governed the country for 200 years.

School Superintendent and Farm Bureau representatives to meet

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

HARRINGTON. A pending meeting between the Lake Forest School Superintendent, Dr. James VanSciver, representatives of the Farm Bureau who reside in the Lake Forest School District, and representatives of the Kent County Taxpayers Association is being planned for the near future.

Dr. VanSciver said this week that he had spoken to the Executive Director of the Farm Bureau, Sherman Stevenson, with the idea of setting a date to begin talks regarding the problem "...of taxes", which face the Lake Forest School District.

Those from the Farm Bureau who are slated to participate in the talks are Hubert Cannon (Harrington), Phillip Tuthill (Bowers), Frank and David Hrupsa (Masten's Corner), Francis Winkler (Harrington), and William H. Abbott (Felton).

Mr. Fleet Hughlett, President of the Kent County Taxpayers Association is slated to be the representative from that association.

"The format is designed to talk about the mutual concerns of those who reside in this tax district. We cannot be working in opposition to each's goals. Both groups are working at the grass level", said Dr. VanSciver.

"There should be one goal in mind and that is for the best interest of all residents and taxpayers of this District (Lake Forest)", he continued.

"The problem which faces the school district, the farmers, and the taxpayers association is taxation", he continued.

Again Dr. VanSciver stressed the possibilities to property taxes as a means of raising tax revenue are income taxes, wage taxes, and teacher salaries being 100% funded by the State.

"I feel this is a tremendous potential to getting something done. All of these groups have the basic problem at hand. We all ought to be moving in the same direction at the same time. We must reach a proposal that will be mutually beneficial to all concerned," he added.

"There is no limit to what can happen", he said.

"I have been working for a satisfactory solution to the problems which face our district for the past 15 months. The chance to improve on that work effort is frankly quite refreshing", he concluded.

New business opens in Felton

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

FELTON. Jim Stayton and his son, Harold, have opened a deli in downtown Felton. Jim, the one time professional country and western singing star said this week "...I am interested in seeing this go, because it will eventually be the kid's".

Mr. Stayton remarked recently that he gave up the professional singing career principally because he did not want something as demanding as the singing career to come between him and his family. Although the professional singing and performing before live audiences is behind him now he admitted this week that he remains in contact with singing stars Glen Campbell, and Roger Miller.

"The last time I spoke to Glen (Campbell) he remarked that I was probably the smartest one of the bunch to have gotten out when I did. And Glen knows just how demanding this business can be", remarked Mr. Stayton.

Mr. Stayton also stays in contact with Robert Mitchum, who was the one who brought him to Hollywood, and the one who tried to persuade him to remain to pursue a singing career.

The deli which he and his son, Harold, have opened is specializing in fresh cut meats, smoked hams, bar-b-que chicken, salads, and cheesecake. The products for the most part are imported from Pennsylvania Dutch County. "We prepare most of the products right here. The bacon comes in slabs and we slice it daily", said Mr. Stayton.

Mr. Stayton said their slogan is "...never sell a bad product and if we do we will make it up to you".

"Our sausage is fresh, as are the (pig) knuckles. We slice it fresh each day for the dried beef. We also carry the German and Lebanon bologna which is a Pennsylvania Dutch Country recipe", added Mr. Stayton. "We will have a special every Wednesday of chicken and dumplings", he said.

Next door to the deli, Mr. Stayton will open a barber shop. The shop will be owned and managed by Al Windon formerly of West Virginia now making his home in Dover. Mr. Windon has been a master barber for 27 years.

He said recently "...I will be specializing in style cuts...but will offer service to what the customer desires".

Remember Pearl Harbor

by William T. Ficka
If you were at least 10 years old on Dec. 7, 1941, you probably remember exactly where you were and what you were doing when you heard of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

The sneak attack on Pearl Harbor is one of those dramatic historic occurrences, like the death of Franklin Delano Roosevelt and the assassination of John F. Kennedy, that impresses itself indelibly in the memory.

The shock attack, which catapulted the U.S.A. into World War II and welded the American people together in a united cause, began at 7:55 a.m. Sunday, Dec. 7. At that very minute (it was early afternoon in Washington) two Japanese peace emissaries were on their way to see Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

An estimated 150 planes roared over Waikiki. A lawyer up for a Sunday morning ride in his small private plane saw his craft riddled with machine-gun bullets, but managed to make a safe landing. The operator of a civilian airport near Honolulu was the first reported casualty. He was gunned down as he started to spin the propeller of his plane.

Many onlookers, both civilian and military, thought it was simply a realistic maneuver. It wasn't until Admiral Husband E. Kimmel sent an alert that they realized the importance of what was happening. The alert said, "To all ships present Hawaiian area: Air raid on Pearl Harbor. This is no drill."

After bombing the naval centers and the ships in the harbor, the single-engine Japanese bombers later attacked Hickam Field, Wheeler Field, Bellows Field, and Schofield Barracks.

The late James Jones, the American writer who would later write "From Here to Eternity," was a young soldier stationed at Schofield Barracks. Jones later wrote: "Absolutely nobody was prepared for it...on Sunday mornings in those days there was a bonus ration of a half-pint of milk, to go with your eggs or pancakes and syrup, also Sunday specials. Most of us were more concerned with getting and holding onto our half-pints of milk than with listening to the explosions that began rumbling up toward us from Wheeler Field two miles away... It was not till the first low-flying fighter came skidding, whamming low overhead with his MG's going that we ran outside, still clutching our half-pints of milk to keep them from being stolen, aware with a sudden sense of awe that we were seeing and acting in a genuine moment of history."

Jones goes on to tell of men diving overboard from burning decks and attempting to swim 100 yards underwater to escape the burning oil and gasoline fires that covered the surface. "Some made it, God knows how," he wrote.

When the carnage was over and the casualties totaled, 2,117 were dead, 1,272 wounded, and 960 missing. Five battleships and three destroyers were sunk. Three battleships and three destroyers were damaged. Of the 202 Navy planes, 150 were destroyed, as were most of the 273 Army planes. With the exception of the Arizona, all of the naval vessels were back in active service within a year.

Word of the attack reached President Roosevelt's office at 1:47 p.m. The next day he delivered his "day of infamy" speech to an anxious nation. On the evening of Dec. 9 he again addressed the nation and told the people, "We are going to win the war and we are going to win the peace that follows."

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox later said, "The essential fact is that the Japanese purpose was to knock out the United States before the war began. In this purpose the Japanese failed."

James Jones said our psychic memory blocks out the bad and unpleasant and files away only "the good parts and the pleasant... Thus we old men can in all good conscience sit over our beers at the American Legion on Friday nights and recall with affection moments of terror thirty years before...perhaps fortunately for us all, there appears to be a psychic process one might label THE DE-EVOLUTION OF A SOLDIER..."

Perhaps Jones is right. But whatever the memories are, good or bad, one thing is certain—Pearl Harbor will never be forgotten.

Brilliant red, pink and cream poinsettias border the emerald green lawns in Longwood Gardens' indoor conservatories as the 1987 Christmas display gets underway. A "Winter Carnival" transports visitors to a fun-filled spot where life-sized topiary animals celebrate happy holidays and 18 antique carved carousel animals seemingly prance through a walnut-paneled room filled with glittering trees.

Longwood's Christmas display begins Dec. 3 and continues daily through Jan. 3, including Christmas and New Year's Day, from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Bright lights twinkle in the acres of outdoor gardens from 5 to 9 p.m. through Jan. 3.

Organ sing-alongs are scheduled daily at 1:30, 2:30, 3:30 and 4:30 p.m. from Dec. 3 through Jan. 3, and local choral groups will perform at 7 and 8 p.m. from Dec. 3 through 23.

Firemen hold auction

The Harrington Volunteer Fire Company held an auction Saturday night, which brought in $1450 for their general fund.

Of the almost one thousand items donated a set of sleigh bells and a hot water heater brought the highest auction price, which was fifty-five dollars. Mrs. Irene Outen's coconut cake was the highest priced cake or pie, at $10.50.

One of the smallest, but high priced items was a camouflage John Deere hat, which brought seventeen dollars from Mike Layton of Harrington.

The auction had a very good turn out, just over one-hundred-fifty people. Ralph Tucker, auction chairman, said "Bruce Betts, Tom Brown, the two auctioneers, and Kay Betts, Terry Morris and Carol Beedle, clerks, did a fantastic job." Their efforts were greatly appreciated.

The fire company Ladies Auxiliary sold refreshments during the auction, and earned eighty-dollars for their organization.

The fire company is planning to have another auction in the Spring. Once again they will be accepting any donations from the community, starting about February.

Postmaster offers holiday mailing tips

Bulky brown paper and loose string are out when it comes to wrapping holiday parcels; proper addressing is in, says Baltimore Division General Manager/Postmaster James A. McDougald.

"The name of the game is for customers to address packages properly, with the name, house number and street, and/or the apartment number," McDougald says. "The city, state and ZIP Code should all be on the last line, -be sure to use the ZIP Code! And put your return address and ZIP Code in the upper left corner."

McDougald also suggests writing a parcel recipient's name and address on a piece of paper and putting that inside the parcel.

"Remember, too, that Postal Service standards require a surcharge for oversized envelopes," McDougald says. The Postal Service offers these additional suggestions for mailing correctly:

*Cushion the contents of packages carefully with crumpled paper, commercially available foam shells or air-pocket padding, and leave no empty space in the box. If the gift item is small, use a padded mailing bag.

*Seal your parcel with one of these kinds of tape: pressure sensitive, nylon-reinforced Kraft paper or glass-reinforced pressure sensitive. Don't use cellophane or masking tape—they're not sturdy enough.

Days of Our Years

The Business & Professional Women's Club, in a letter to the City Council, read at the December meeting of the group Monday evening, protested the charge of the National Guard for the use of its armory by civic organizations.

A member of the Board of Education, who attended the meeting, told the Council that a school for retarded children was using the building without charge.

The Council turned the letter over to the Chamber of Commerce, since this organization spearheaded a drive to secure funds to buy the building site.

The letter said: "At the last meeting of our club we learned that the National Guard has now set a rate of $35, plus a cleaning fee of $10, for anyone who desires to use the Armory."

"At the time the various organizations of the town, including our club, were approached about contributions for this armory it was stated that there would be no charge for the use of the building to any civic groups who did not charge a fee at the door."

Blaze, a 7-year-old pony, will be given away by co-operating Harrington merchants Mon., Dec. 23, at 8 p.m.

Secretary of State Elisha C. Dukes last week said Miss Betty Ann Havelow will become director of the State Corporations Department Jan. 1.

Miss Havelow will replace Mrs. Margaret Story, who has accepted a job with a private firm, Dukes said.

Miss Havelow is a native of Felton. She joined the department in 1961 and was promoted to assistant director the following year.

Roland Cashwell has purchased Hobbs Newsstand, effective as of this past Monday. He said Tuesday he had not determined the closing hours of the establishment.

Cashwell also operates a service station on U.S. 13 north of town.

George Hobbs, the previous owner, has had his hands full, operating the newsstand and restaurant, a school bus. With his brother, Edward and father, Herman, he operates about 160 acres of farmland and has 24 harness horses in training.

Councilman Wilson G. Bradley, First Ward, told The Harrington Journal he had filed for his third three-year term, in the January elections. Mrs. Kathryn Horse Show Winner: Ten year old Derek Lofland of Greenwood and a member of the Greenwood Hi-Flyers 4-H Club was recently awarded the title of Champion Western Pony with "Rio Concho". This State 4-H Horse Show was held at the Paul White Farm in Viola.

Harrington Rotary Club

News

The Possum Point Players' presentation of "The Balancing Act", by Steve Seyfried, sponsored by Harrington Rotary, was well received when it was given on November 12, with William Thompson, a native Harringtonian, in the title role. This was the club's offering to the community on the occasion of the state's observance of the Bicentennial celebration on the signing of the U.S. Constitution. While there was no profit to report, which was not the purpose of the production, the fairly large audience was appreciative by its response to the efforts of the performers to bring to life John Dickinson and his family to the struggle they had to endure during those troublesome times.

The annual Christmas party is scheduled for Thursday, December 17, at the Harrington Colony Inn, when a grab-bag selection will be offered by members and their guests, to be in charge of the Rev. Susan Mills.

Harrington Rotary will be represented in the annual Christmas parade on Saturday, December 5, with officers riding in a 1947 Chrysler convertible furnished by E.B. Warrington, antique car distributor of Felton.

A slate of officers will be submitted shortly to the membership for approval, by the nominating committee, Leon Porter, chairman, as required by Rotary International, to take effect in July of 1988.

Reminder is given of the city hall referendum scheduled for Tuesday, December 15, at the town hall on Center Street, from noon to 7:00 p.m.

Chit-Chat with Bonnie

by Bonnie Algier-Mitchell 398-8551

What a blessing we had on Thanksgiving Day, a very lovely, warm fall day. Don and I were so blessed to have our son, Shane and daughters, Susan Nicole and Roberta around the table for the Thanksgiving feast.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Larimore, Brad Larimore, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Larimore and son, Charlie traveled to Milton Thursday to share Thanksgiving dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Post and children, Nicholas and Summer. Many members of the Larimore and Post families joined together to enjoy the day together.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Porter shared Thanksgiving dinner with their son and family, Darrell, Cindy and Jake Porter. Also joining them were Eugene's parents.

Last Tuesday The Harrington Journal was named "Office of the Week" by WAFL Radio Station, Milford. They enjoyed being treated to donuts as their award!

Friday evening Bob and Paula and Don and Bonnie Mitchell enjoyed dinner at the Szechuan Cafe in Milford. What a wonderful day!

On Friday I received a very nice phone call from a dear lady, Sylvia (Taylor) who remembered me as a child, when my family lived near Hickman and attended Todd's Chapel. Mrs. Taylor's first husband, "Reds", has passed away and she has remarried. She and her husband are very active at the Harrington Senior Center. It was so nice to be remembered by "Mrs. Taylor," as I always called her and I hope to chat with her again soon.

On Sunday evening a birthday celebration was held in honor of Scott Gerardi, son of Pete and Delores Gerardi. Many family members attended the party held at his home.

Birthday wishes to Alice Brittingham, Marguerite Walsh and Cora M. Killen. Overnight guest of Roberta Mitchell Saturday evening was her brother, Shane Larimore.

The Welch family all joined their father, Clarence Welch at home on Thursday to celebrate Thanksgiving together.

Many get well wishes to my friend, Marie Winkler. Hope you feel better soon!!

Grand Prize Winner: Dwayne Rust, and all the other 4th graders at Lake Forest Elementary helped to decorate Shear Expectations for the holidays. Each student drew a pumpkin from their own imagination. We even had a mouse pumpkin, and a pumpkin on the beach.

Bicentennial State Coin
To Be Minted

A Delaware Bicentennial coin is being minted to celebrate 200 years of statehood. Delaware attained statehood on December 7, 1787 as the first state in the Union. A stunning one ounce coin has been especially designed. Each Commemorative is .999 silver.

Due to the historical significance of this milestone a limited edition of only 10,000 commemorative coins will be minted. Each coin is to be numbered on the rim and comes with a certificate of authenticity. The value of the coins will increase due to this limited edition.

Sunday, November 29, being the first Sunday in advent, we were led in the service of lighting of the first candle by Derek Dill. Our beautiful advent wreath was made by Jean Miller. In his youth sermon, Rev. Holliday used the advent wreath as his object lesson explaining the meaning of the circle, evergreens, 4 candles, and the flame. This circle is a symbol of the perfect nature of God as revealed in Jesus, while the greens reflect Christ's life growing within each of us.

Raceweek

Finale held at Middleford

by Bonnie Algier-Mitchell & Mark Miller

Recently Middleford Speedway held its final Short Track event of the year. In addition to the regular program, it also featured a special "Race of Champions." This included all the heat and final winners of the season.

In lightweight kart action Bob Brooks took the win over Buddy Bozman, while Jean Metzner held off Mike Bloom for fourth with Shane Larimore of Andrewville rounding out the top five. Bozman came back to win the "Race of Champions" final over C. Moore with Brooks over Shane Larimore #9, and Walt Wilson.

In the micro-sprint class, McMahon put the Alternative Exterminating #79 car in front and kept it there. He took the first feature win over Wayne Dutton in the Jack Sapps Auto Trim #96, while Mark Maloney in the Roy Savage #30 car took 3rd. McMahon returned later in the day to also capture the 20 lap "Race of Champions."

In the Micro-Sportsman action saw Ron Crossby put his #9 car ahead to take the win over Pennsylvania's, Peter Lee, with John Borthwick and Howard Cohee rounding out the top four. In the race of champions final, Walt Valderes captured the win over Crossby, with Joh Borthwick coming out on top of a duel with Lee. James Borthwick finished in the fifth spot.

Gary O'Neal took his win in the industrial flathead, outdistancing Lew Welch and J.R. Cullen.

Heavyweight kart action saw a familiar face to kart racing back at the track and still as hot as ever, with Bryan Murphy driving the Larimore prepared #9 kart. Cliff Foskey put his #21 in front and barely held off the Houston "hot shoe" Murphy for the win. Murphy still shows some fine driving style and this writer was very impressed. Ron Messick finished 3rd. Foskey made it two in a row as he came back to win the "Race of Champions", with Messick taking the runner-up spot.

Super Stock kart class's Mike Bloom showed he could win in any class as he took the win over Phil Metzner with Bob Schaeffer holding off Ted Johnson for third. Metzner then picked up the win in the "Race of Champions", as he kept Schaeffer at bay to the checkers.

Dale Blades finished third.

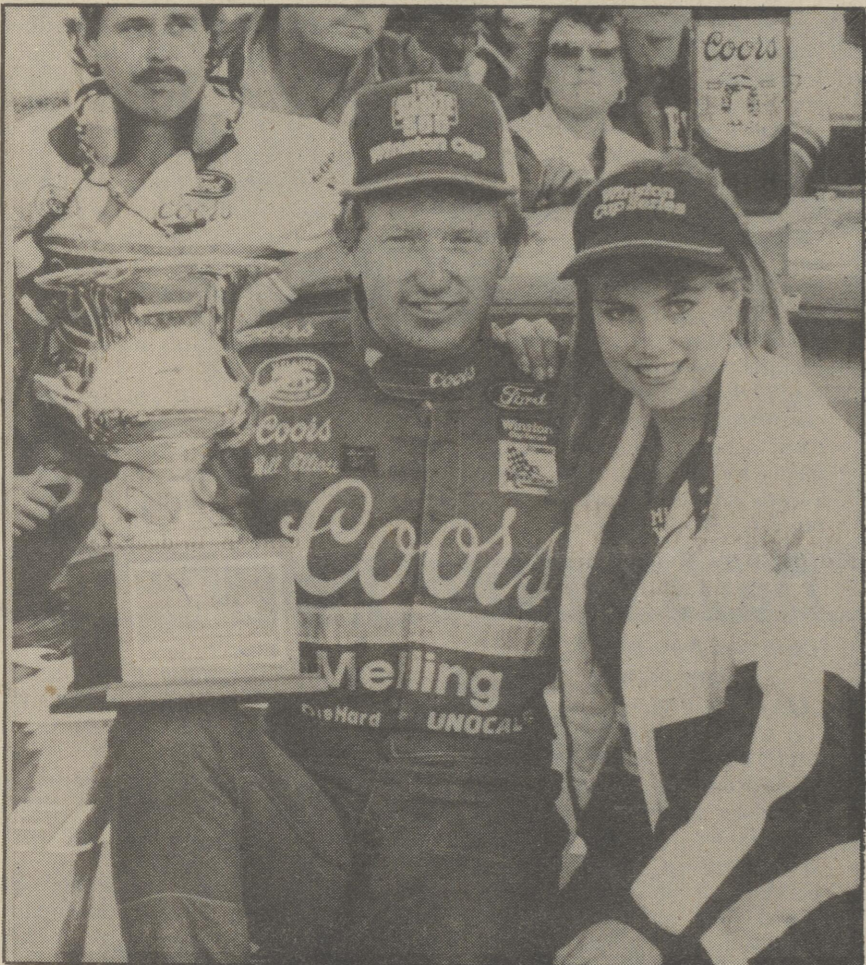

As had been the case most of the season, Roy Collings put his 1st State Cycles, Harley-Davidson across the finish line 1st in the Open Pro class.

Collings grabbed the lead from Mark Miller on lap 2 and never looked back. Collings duplicated the feat in the "Race of Champions."

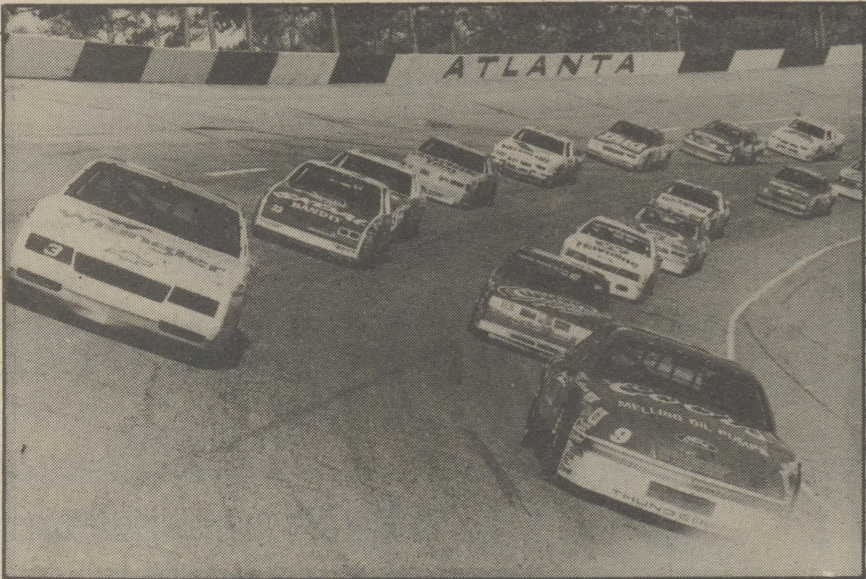

In the 500 class, Mark Miller made his final rides at Middleford winning ones. Miller captured both the 500 features and the "Race of Champions" on the Dover Cycles, E.J. Wilson Welding, Bill Sharp, N.D. Yamaha.

This was Miller's last riding appearance at Middleford Speedway as he will put his effort next season into track operations at Middleford. In talking with Miller recently he said "...It's gotten to be too much...trying to ride and promote...you can't give either 100%, it's not fair to the business or my sponsors to not put 100% effort into either."

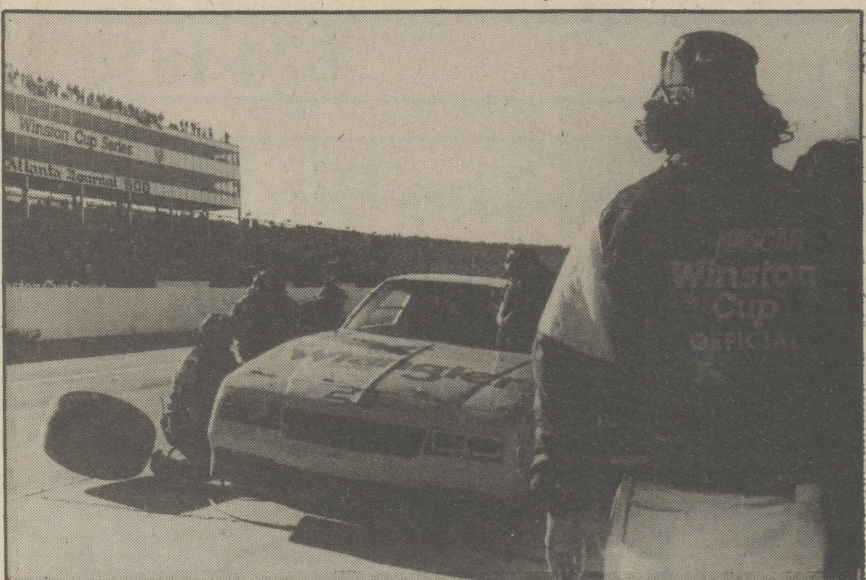

Don't forget the Middleford Speedway Awards Banquet on January 30, 1988 at the Colony Inn at Milford. Cut off date for tickets will be January 15th but don't wait until the last minute. There will be NO tickets at the door. Contact Mark at 335-4386 or 422-4914.

Theofiles bring Speed Shop to Delaware

by Don Mitchell

DELMAR, DE. The speed shop business is nothing new to John "The Greek" Theofiles. He has been involved in it for better than twenty years.

As a youngster, John, worked part-time for Bob's Speed Shop in Laurel. After graduation he went to work for Wharton & Barnard at their South Salisbury Blvd. store, Salisbury, Md.

When Wharton & Barnard opened W&B Hi Performance on Edgemore Ave., Salisbury, in 1972, John became the manager.

By that time "The Greek" was establishing a reputation for himself as a drag racer. In 1981 John bought out W&B Hi Performance and started J.G.R.C., but he never forgot his roots as a drag racer. He sponsors drag cars and stock cars alike, as a matter of fact, it would probably be hard to find a race fan that had not heard of John "The Greek."

Recently John opened J.G.R.C. on Bi-State Blvd. in Delmar, Delaware, Friday and Saturday John had his grand opening. On hand were some of the members of the Mason/Dixon Classic Car Club with some pretty classic and classy cars. Featured was a '57 Chevy Belair, 2 door, hardtop with factory Fuel Injection, that would make any diehard Chevy lover drool.

The new store is very well stocked, carrying parts for the family car as well as race cars and 4X4's.

Behind the counter, on the wall, is a sign... "If we don't have your part, we'll get it."

John, a family man, is joined at the store by his wife Lois. The Theofiles reside in Seaford, DE with their three children, Nicole, 18, John, 15, and Michelle, 11.

Harrington Historical Society Christmas gift

The Greater Harrington Historical Society is aware the community is looking ahead to the Holiday Season. They have several items which they want to share with others.

First, there will be an inner light turned on behind the beautiful Rose window in the Museum at 110 Felming Street for all to see and admire. This will be done on December 1 and will stay on until January 2, 1988. There will also be electric candles burning in the front windows.

On Monday and Tuesday of this week there was activity of another nature. In the front of the L & D Electronics store was the display made by Mr. Elbert Stevens of old Harrington in miniature. President Ken McKnatt and Archives Director, Clarence Collins were in charge of the exhibit. Mrs. Stevens donated this to the Historical Society after Mr. Stevens' death and it stands as a memorial to him, one of the Society's original members.

On Thursday, December 2, the Society will hold their annual Christmas dinner. This dinner is open to all members and their families. The Society furnishes the meat and participants bring a covered dish and their own place settings. The dinner will be held at the W.T. Chipman School cafeteria at 6:30 p.m. Jack Carpenter has arranged for entertainment. Anyone interested in becoming a member and coming to this function should call Ken McKnatt at 398-8354 or Dorothea Coverdale at 398-3957.

The very first edition of the Society's newsletter is due to be mailed at this time also. It is an informative little bit of paper which needs a name. (Information inside the newsletter).

Also look for their entry in the Christmas Parade on Saturday, a project headed up by Rhonda Hitchens.

testifying that they had voted to ratify the brand new Constitution of the United States.

Mr. Hughes died in 1953 at Beebe Hospital in Lewes, Delaware, at the age of eighty-six (86). A native of Felton, he had been Delaware's secretary of state from 1897 to 1901. Mr. Hughes also served as a United States Senator from the State of Delaware for one term.

Harrington Sunshine 4-H club news

by Tammy McHugh

The new 4-H year has gotten off to a good start. The new officers for this year are Elaine Zeitler, president; Tammy Rust, vice president; Jason Gallo, secretary; Tammy Anthony, treasurer; and Tammy McHugh, reporter.

October was a busy month for our club. We had a table at the Dover Mall for Boscov's 4-H Day. Club members passed out free plant cuttings with the message, "Grow with 4-H." Our club had participation in the Great Pumpkin Contest and in the pumpkin decoration contest.

The Kent County Achievement Banquet was held on October 17 at the Nelly Stokes School. After dinner, county 4-H'ers were acknowledged for their achievements and accomplishments for the past year. We received awards for our work in last year's projects. Trophy winners for judging were Elaine Zeitler and Tammy McHugh.

We ended October with a Halloween party at Prospect Church. We played games and had a "Mini Gong Show." Everyone had a fun time and even Miss Hinsman dressed up. Costumes were judged and prizes were given.

In November, our club made Thanksgiving favors for the elderly. We met at Prospect Church and everyone gave a speech to practice for the County public Speaking Contest.

We are now ready for December and are looking towards many Christmas activities.

4-H is open to all who are ages 9-19. The Harrington Sunshine club meets the first Monday of every month at 7 p.m. at St. Stephens Church. Anyone interested in joining can call the County 4-H office at 697-4000.

Lake Forest, Woodbridge Districts Go To Court Over Boundary Dispute... BRIDGEVILLE. According to a spokesman for Woodbridge the '53 boundary agreed upon by the two districts by Lake Forest in '70 and Woodbridge in '74 was not intended to be changed. In April 1977 the State Board held that the '53 boundary definition was proper, and the two boards agreed there was no intent to change the boundary.

The State Board further ruled that the disputed area belonged to the Woodbridge School District. Woodbridge has historically collected the taxes on properties in the disputed area. The tax rate in Woodbridge is 56.8¢ per $100 assessed value whereas Lake Forest tax rate is more than twice this amount.

At a special School Board meeting on Monday, December 5, in the Lake Forest High School library, the Board named Robert Moretti as the new vice principal.

The Board announced their decision after conducting interviews with the final two applicants. (There were 10 applicants all together.)

Moretti, 32, single, is from Latrobe, Pa. He has been Media Coordinator at Glasgow School since 1973. He is studying for his PHD degree.

Local Interest...Darin Dell will be singing at Delaware State College Sunday, December 11 in the one act Opera "Amahl and the Night Visitors".

All-Star drivers race at Dover Downs for David Banks Fund

DOVER, DE—Family, associates and friends will take part in a special tribute to convalescing harness driver David Banks on Sunday, December 6 at Dover Downs. Eight of the greatest drivers in harness racing will be on hand to join in the program which will help defray the high costs of Bank's recovery.

A pair of renowned Delaware horsemen are included in the world class roster of drivers that will compete in the afternoon program. Twice national driving champion Eddie Davis of Smyrna and Townsend native Steve Warrington will join World Champion driver Herve Filion; this season's leading money winner John Campbell; North America's leading race winning driver Michel Lachance and prominent Bill O'Donnell will also be on hand. Add to the list, Joe Marsh Jr., Donald Dancer, Ted Wing, Buddy Gilmour and Ben Webster, all stars in their own right.

Banks was seriously injured in a spectacular racing accident in early September at Delmarva Downs, near Ocean City, Maryland. The 38-year-old native of Dagsboro, Delaware was rushed via helicopter to a nearby hospital where he was admitted in critical condition. He was later transferred to a rehabilitation center in Colorado. He is permanently paralyzed below the waist as a result of the accident. He is expected to return home after three months.

A David Banks Fund has been established to help with the enormous medical and rehabilitation expenses. Greg and Barbara White, proprietors of A Little Xtra, a tack shop at Delmarva Downs, have been instrumental to the campaign. Members of many horsemen's organizations have joined in the effort including the Cloverleaf Standardbred Owners Association, comprised of Delaware and Maryland residents. Kathy Davis has been the driving force to recruit the imposing roster of drivers.

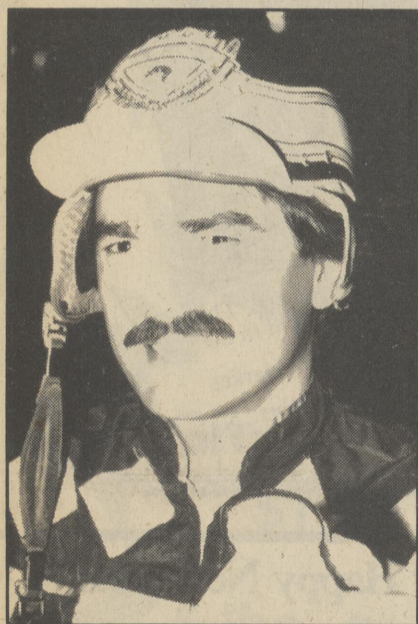

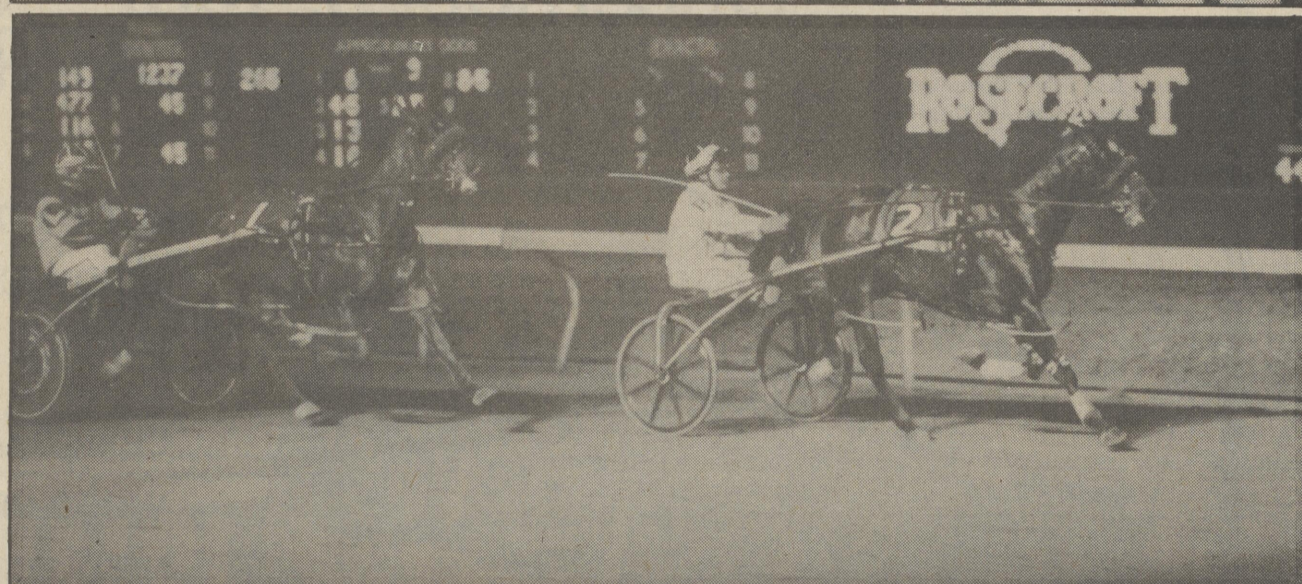

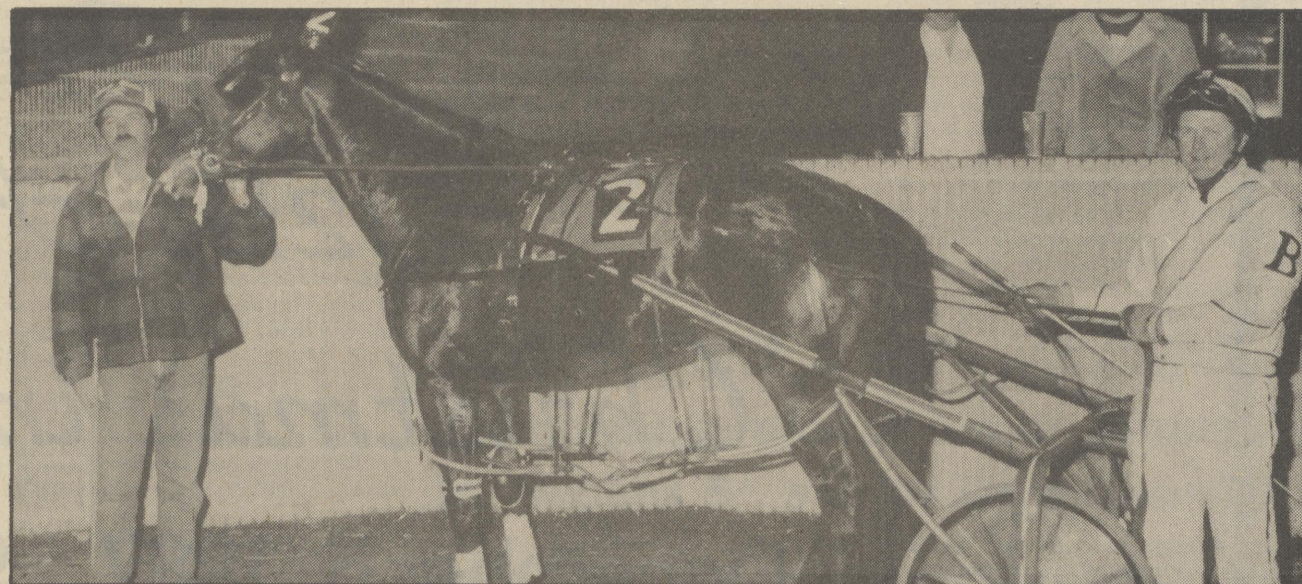

Dover Downs will donate their portion of the proceeds from admission tickets for the day. A host of other promotions to raise money for the David Banks Fund are also scheduled.

Each of the famed drivers will compete in a minimum of three races during the third through seventh on the thirteen race card. When not on the track, the drivers will sign autographs at a special location in the grandstand.

First post is 1 p.m. for the David Banks Day, Sunday, December 6 at Dover Downs.

David Banks of Dagsboro was injured in a harness horse driving accident on September 1st 1987 at Delmarva Downs. The accident has left Mr. Banks paralyzed from the 5th rib down. In the photo to the right, Mr. Banks is seen reining RBS Fox to victory at Rosecroft on March 12, 1986. Mr. Banks and his father Raymond owned harness horses together and David campaigned the fleet footed equines to many victories in Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey and the New York tracks. Mr. Banks, 38, is currently hospitalized in Craig Hospital in Englewood, Colorado. During his driving career, which began in 1977, he won 472 races and his career winnings were $2.3 million.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
I am glad to read that the Friends For A Better Harrington (whose members are still unknown to this writer) are doing everything within their power to persuade the citizenry of Harrington to vote affirmatively in regard to the proposed city hall complex. This is their right.

I wish to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to the astute members of the Building Committee for the time and effort they have obviously donated to this controversial project.

There isn't any doubt in my mind that this is a golden opportunity to build the proposed complex. However, should the City go in debt for this particular project? Should this be the number one priority for our City? What priority has been given to the water system, programs for our youth, street lights, street repair, sidewalks (new and/or repair), or projects others in this community may have a desire for? Is it in the best interest of the taxpayers of this fair city to obligate them on the supposition that new industry will construct facilities within our boundaries? This important decision should be made using current unobligated funds.

It is my hope that no individuals or group of individuals will take a personal affront to these comments and/or questions, for this is not my intention.
Thank you.

Yours truly,
Michael D. Stayton
Harrington

P.S.

Will the City of Harrington permit any individual or group to use its postage meter on a reimbursable basis as it has the Friends For A Better Harrington?

Dear Citizens of Harrington:

You have recently received an informative mailing from Friends for a Better Harrington. I have been asked several questions that I wish to share answers for them with all of you.

#1-Why not renovate several existing buildings in the downtown area?

*About 1 1/2 years ago, while the building committee was researching and touring possible structures to renovate, we were approaching several owners concerning the sale of their property downtown. As prices came together, we found the cost of either renovation or razing of these existing buildings to be impractical, as all buildings were older than 75 years of age and needed many improvements according to the building inspector. Razing the buildings would be almost 1/2 the cost of buying the properties. Therefore, when all the research was completed, it was a unanimous recommendation by the building committee that we purchase property and build a new City Hall facility where both would be paid with 1/2 City funds and 1/2 State Bicentennial Grant monies. (The State grant monies do not have to be repaid.)

#2-How is the building to be heated?

*The City Hall will have a gas heating system.

#3-How will the building be furnished?

*All furnishings currently owned by the City will be placed in the new facility. If a few more chairs or tables, etc. are needed, we will check with the State's Division of Purchasing in Delaware City for their used office furniture. Needless to say, donations would be graciously accepted.

#4-Will the City Council have a separate room for its meetings?

*No. The City Council will be using the Library area for all meetings. This is to make use of available space and not have costs for an extra room that would not be utilized often.

Citizens, ask yourselves - ask the generation before you if they have ever seen such an opportunity afforded - where the State will pay for 1/2 of the cost of such a capital improvement in which the whole community can benefit for future generations to come.

If you should have any questions, please don't hesitate to call me.

Sincerely,
Sue Ellen Dennis
Vice Mayor
City of Harrington

Dear Editor:

Teachers, don't despair, I'm sure the referendum will pass in the spring. From what I read in the papers and from what people are telling Jym, I'm sure they will support the increase in salaries. They see the need for that.

As for the building part of the package, I'm sure that the schools in Harrington and Felton were nice buildings thirty or even twenty years ago. But they aren't now! I went to a school that looked like these two in 1962. Later it burned down. I hope these do not do the same.

It is very important for all of us to join together to pass the referendum package in the spring. I will be working hard to do this.

Sincerely,
Paula VanSciver

Dear Editor:

To all citizens in receipt of information regarding the construction of the new City Hall, I ask that you really read, study and evaluate the information. Postage for mailing this information was provided by a group of dedicated individuals truly interested in the future growth of the city.

When you look at the total financial assistance to the City provided by the State of Delaware that group enlarges. It not only includes citizens of Harrington but elected and appointed officials of the State of Delaware. Not only will the plans for the future of the city benefit citizens of the city but citizens of State. Due to the involvement of so many individuals, I sincerely feel that failure to take advantage of opportunities afforded the city by the State of Delaware will have grave financial repercussions in future years.

Once again rumors are circulating that the Council will raise your property taxes. Once again I emphatically state that I will not vote for an increase. To my knowledge no council person plans an increase in property taxes. The building will be paid for by continued broadening of the tax base through utilization of land of the industrial park, by encouragement of business to relocate here and other avenues available to the council.

I want to thank Mr. & Mrs. Musser for their continued cooperation with the city government. I further express my appreciation to Mrs. Musser for informing the public of the truth and stating that she and her husband will vote for building a new City Hall.

An Open Letter to the People of Sussex County

Please allow me this opportunity to introduce myself to you. I am Ken McDowell of Bridgeville, the recently elected Sussex County Democratic Party Chairman. In the months ahead I will use this forum to communicate to you many of the policy positions that distinguish the Sussex County Democratic party from its rival, the Sussex Republican Party.

Over the next months we intend to point out the problems that continue to go unanswered in Dover and Georgetown under the present Republican Administrations. We intend to ask the tough question and take the tough stands because we feel that is what all the people of Sussex County expect of the elected officials.

We watch with great concern the dismantling of the once professionally operated County Government in favor of a government of political appointments and partisan land use decisions. Disorganization and intrigue are the order of the day in Georgetown while our taxes are increased and unnecessary surpluses are created.

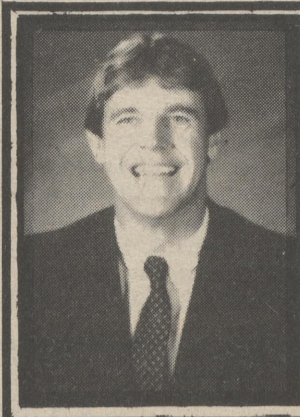

A Republican Governor tells us that more people are working today than ever before but he doesn't tell us that the average salary of the working person is less than it was only a few short years ago. A Republican fundraiser brings to Delaware the head of the Chrysler Corporation two weeks before 1700 Chrysler employees are laid off. High paying manufacturing jobs in Delaware have been lost by the thousands while lower paying banking jobs have been substituted. But we are told things couldn't be better.

The Farming Community aces economic disaster but the Governor is noticeably silent on solutions to this major problem. Problems continue to mount in Education, Corrections, Highways, and the Environment but we are told to have patience, and after a few more studies, everything will be better at least by the Year 2000.

The Democratic Party has always been a party with a strong tradition of leadership. We look back to that tradition and forward to a better day in Sussex and Delaware under the leadership of Democratic elected officials who will represent all the people of this great County.

Sincerely,
K. McDowell

"Yearning For Protection"

Robert Cole wrote, in the September, 1987 issue of the Kappan, an interesting piece regarding the art of schooling.

What makes the article the more stimulating is the fact that Cole, as editor of the Kappan, has ample opportunity to see thousands of schools at work, to read thousands of education manuscripts submitted for publication, to hear a variety of speakers remark on both the shortcomings and the success stories of our schools. More than that, Cole is a father; a father with, he readily admits, a 16-year old high school junior who isn't real excited about leaving the house each morning for a daily dose of what we hope will be our finest effort at helping her grow.

He writes of both perfection and change and of the fact that these two concepts somehow do not always seem to be in concert in our education processes.

"Schools have not proved to be very good at building an intrinsic motivation," he says.

We make the mistake of assuming that most students are aware that what happens in school will be good for them after graduation. Most are not.

"So they carry on with business as usual. The people who work in schools tinker with the system they take as a given; the extraordinary pressures of everyday affairs militate against change. The system creaks along, doing as well as it can (which is sometimes very well indeed, and sometimes alarmingly poorly). Year after year, decade after decade, the system changes hardly at all."

He reports that, even in periods when schooling receives much attention and people are heard to murmur that coveted idea, "perfection," we often settle for a good deal less.

Fear of change, the anxiety of looking at what we do from a new perspective, often hampers our ability to introduce new systems, new concepts, new results.

At Lake Forest, we are working hard at a natural but revolutionary phenomenon. Rather than responding with "we can't and here's why," we are now beginning to simply ask "why not?"

Philosophically that is a big step.

It means that those of us charged with the responsibility of providing the best education possible for our youth will not let perceived barriers prevent us in the accomplishment of our mission.

It means that our youth, our parents and our communities will not grow old as they yearn for perfection in our schools.

A laff a day...

by William T. Ficka

The young man was leaving home for the first time and heading for the big city. His father thought that he should give the boy a few words of advice. The father spoke for an hour, ending his lecture by saying, "Son, in the big city you'll see theatres called burlesque shows. They're a good place to stay away from, because if you go to one you're sure to see something you shouldn't see."

As soon as the boy got to the big city he naturally headed for a burlesque show. And, as so many youngsters before him, he found out his father was right. He did see something he shouldn't see -- he saw his father.

Some FHA borrowers deserve refunds

by Senator Joe Biden

WASHINGTON - A woman called my office recently with an interesting dilemma, asking if I could help.

A "tracer" company had contacted her and said they'd tell her how to find money that the federal government owed her if she was willing to give up 30 percent.

That didn't sound like a very good deal to her.

And it didn't sound like a very good deal to me, either, so I had members of my staff look into the matter.

What we learned is that thousands of people who have sold or refinanced homes under Federal Home Administration mortgages might be eligible for refunds and not even know it.

But don't hold your breath waiting for the FHA to call. That agency hasn't

Budget turkey to gobble up taxpayers dollars

by Senator Bill Roth

Another Thanksgiving has passed and all that remains are fond memories and leftover turkey. One turkey, however, arrived early this year with the promise of unpleasant leftovers well into next year. Just like the uninvited guest who won't leave, the American taxpayers must now accommodate a $9 billion tax increase next year, compliments of the Congressional budget negotiators.

The budget agreement reached in Washington last month greatly disturbed me because it indicated that the Congressional leadership finds it much easier to trim the taxpayer than to trim the budget. Faced with the deadline of mandatory across-the-board budget cuts required by Gramm-Rudman, they responded with minimal spending cuts and maximum tax increases.

I believe that if Congress could restrain spending growth and make some hard decisions on spending cuts, we should be able to achieve our goal of a balanced budget without tax increases. There are a number of areas where closer scrutiny can provide greater efficiency and cost-effectiveness.

Ideas I have for cutting spending include: a modified freeze on discretionary spending, not including a freeze on Social Security cost of living increases; a phase-out of agricultural subsidies; a federal employee early retirement option, closing obsolete military bases; and postponing acquisition of additional aircraft carriers as a means of reducing the growth of defense spending. I also believe Congress should enact the spending reductions agreed upon by the Congressional Authorizing committees.

In the future, I hope to see these and other ideas more fully developed. It is time to make the hard choices and deal with the deficit. This must be done through responsible spending cuts instead of creating budget packages with minimal spending cuts thrown in as a sugar coating to convince the American taxpayer to swallow a substantial tax increase.

Senatorial Report

by Senator Ruth Ann Minner

Farmers and other landowners who are fed up with having their crops torn up by so-called all terrain vehicles (ATVs) will be happy to learn that enforcement of anti-trespassing laws will be beefed up and plans are in the works to encourage ATVs to do their thing in a special area set aside for them.

After receiving many complaints from landowners over the past two years, I began looking into the possibility of establishing an ATV park where drivers of these all terrain vehicles could pursue their hobby without disturbing other citizens.

The Park and Recreation Division began an unsuccessful search for a site in which ATV use would not be incompatible with non-motorized recreation and efforts to protect nature and wildlife areas. The Division determined that no such site was available.

Next I provided the Division with maps of 15 old Highway Division borrow pits which were surplus to the Division's needs. The Transportation Department then surveyed these sites and found only one which would be suitable for ATV use.

The Transportation Department was perfectly willing to deed the site to Parks and Recreation and, after a long delay, the Department of Natural Resources has agreed to accept the site for an ATV park.

The site is in Sussex County adjacent to Holts Landing State Park. As far as I can determine, the site is acceptable to officials of the First State ATV Club, the largest organization of ATVs in the state.

Officials of the club assure me that ATV users would gladly pay a permit fee and a daily use fee for use of the facility when it becomes available. As a matter of fact, ATVs would prefer to practice their "sport" in large groups than singly or in small packs.

If the details for the ATV park can be worked out--such as management responsibility, insurance, and enforcement--the ATVs will no longer have a reason to trespass on private property. Instead, they can head for the ATV park and organize races, demonstrations, or whatever else they want.

Meanwhile, I'd like to emphasize to landowners that it is their responsibility to swear out warrants and prosecute ATV trespassers. The State Police are intensifying enforcement, but they can't be everywhere all the time.

Quill in Pen Area surveyed for Gypsy Moths

Have you ever wondered what can be done to slow the spread of the dreaded Gypsy Moth? Well, the Delaware Department of Agriculture is doing their part by conducting a survey of Kent, Sussex and New Castle counties now through mid-December, checking for egg masses and treatment sites. Under Department guidelines, if there are more than 250 egg masses per acre, that land will be marked for insecticide treatment.

The Gypsy Moth is at its most destructive when it is in the larvae stage, which occurs in May. The caterpillar has a fondness for hardwood tree foliage, such as Oak and Hickory, which are plentiful here in Kent County. The caterpillars are covered with long black hairs and have red and blue spots on their backs. When grown, the moths are tan and white.

The moth was first discovered in Massachusetts in 1869 and thought eradicated in the decade which followed. But, around 1900, the moth reappeared and began moving southward. It was spotted in Delaware in the late 1970's in New Castle County. The moth has continued to move southward and is now stationed mainly in Kent and Sussex counties.

The Gypsy Moth can literally wipe out trees and other vegetation with their endless appetites. Hopefully, the Department of Agriculture will be able to target the problem areas in the county and halt the further destruction of these pests.

Please keep in mind that the Department of Agriculture will spray only wooded areas and not housing developments. If you have hardwood trees you suspect of being infested with Gypsy Moth eggs, please contact me at 398-8400 or 736-4083.

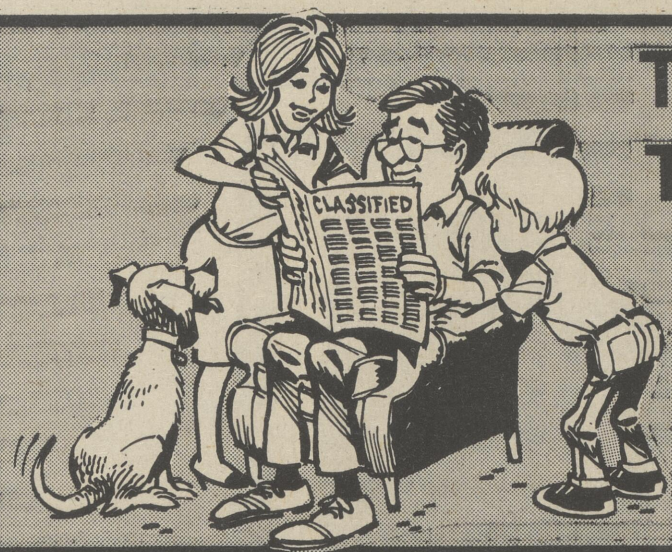

Bobby
G. Robert Quillen
State Representative
30th District

Guidelines for treatment of residential housing developments for Gypsy Moth suppression

1. Residential developments must consist of at least 10 contiguous acres of wooded land.
2. Developments must have at least 50 percent tree canopy cover as determined by the department, and trees must be species susceptible to gypsy moth infestation.
3. Developments must have at least 250 viable gypsy moth egg masses per acre, based on the department's survey.
4. A coordinator must be appointed by residents to act as a liaison between residents and the department. The coordinator will have authority to act on behalf of residents and will be responsible for gaining their cooperation with the project and informing them of any progress on the project.
5. The coordinator must agree to provide adequate manpower for ground support activities during spraying, as deemed necessary by the department. This may consist of placing balloons, recording atmospheric data and related activities.
6. The department will provide technical assistance and materials necessary to organize the spraying program. It also will assist the coordinator by helping explain program operations to residents and clarifying their responsibilities in the program.

POSTAL EXAM

ALL POST OFFICES IN THE 197 & 199 Zip Code Areas with Rural Carrier positions will be accepting applications for the Rural Carrier exam November 9 thru December 4. The starting salary varies depending on the size of the route carried and can go as high as $31,000 per year plus excellent benefits. When positions become available the individuals with the highest scores are hired. You should not miss your chance to fill one of these highly desirable and competitive positions.

STUDY GUIDE by POSTAL EXAM PREPARATION CENTER

The study guide by P.E.P.C. was researched and written by the foremost authority in America on how to gain employment with the Postal Service. The author, Mr. Stephen McNally, has the following qualifications:
1) former postal employee
2) currently a Ph. D candidate in education
3) averaged 96 on two of the strictly scored Rural Carrier exams
Mr. McNally, who averaged 100% on 7 out of 7 of the various Postal exams stated, "The Rural Carrier exam is by far the most difficult of the 5 exams commonly offered to the general public." For this reason, proper preparation is essential to obtaining one's maximum score.
You may purchase this study guide for $15.00 (1st class postage and handling included.) (indicate Rural Carrier on your order)
