

Harrington Council meets among controversy over election

HARRINGTON. The Harrington council met on Monday night at their regular meeting to accept monthly reports, chose an election board and determine matters relating to zoning. The council voted to refer John P. Seymour's request for rezoning of the lands along Peck Avenue for "Diamond Court II" for purposes of constructing additional apartments. The council referred the matter of Robert T. Minner, Sr. and Robert T. Minner, Jr.'s request for rezoning to a combined workshop between the council and the zoning board. The rezoning request by Mr. Richard Shultie of a parcel of land located on the south side of Liberty Street across from Meatland was accepted and the first reading was held. Mr. Shultie had requested the land be rezoned from R-1 to C-1 for the purposes of constructing a barber shop and beauty salon. The parcel was the former Steward's machine shop.

The delinquent water, sewer, and trash bills along with delinquent taxes were referred by motion to the Kent County Sheriff's office for collection. In other matters the council heard a report from the city solicitor concerning the matter of whether Delmarva Power can charge the city for light poles for "street lighting" purposes. Delmarva Power is reasoning that the City can be charged for outdoor lighting as opposed to poles for the carrying of electricity to residences. The matter will be discussed in workshop in February. The council also selected an Election Board for Tuesday's election which consisted of two members from the council, Councilmen Coleman and Brown, and Mrs. Elwood (Betty) Brown who filled the charter's requirement for a resident of the city. The agenda included a provision for the "setting of a referendum date, reference new city hall, a request for a public hearing date for the referendum reference new City Hall, and committee appointments reference new City Hall, and the Mayor struck this from the agenda indicating this was a matter which first should be discussed at a workshop meeting, and also he was not consulted about this matter in advance. When the election was selected, Councilman Coleman suggested that the council adjourn to enable the election board to meet to consider the validity of Mr. Porter's petition. At this point Councilman James C. Temple, Jr. stated that "the election board has no such authority. You show me where it states that", he demanded. According to the charter the council sets the rules and regulations for election", Mr. Temple stated to the council. "The election board is governed by the council...because the (Continued on page 3)

winners. By closing the voting machine, it eliminated the possibility of write-in names, according to the Department of Elections. The council despite this information voted to take Mr. Porter off the ballot. Irate citizens of the 2nd Ward were turned away in large numbers all during the time the election polls were open. They were told they could not vote.

Following the election results, Mr. Willey said "...I thank the people of my ward for their support. I will work for their welfare always". Mr. Porter said he would contest the election. "because all I wanted was to be on the ballot...and let the best man win. I think I was entitled to that and I and the residents of my ward were denied that today".

Willey wins 4th Ward race in Harrington Porter's petition ruled out

HARRINGTON. Morris "Bob" Willey won the council seat in the 4th Ward for Harrington City council in Tuesday's election. The final tally was 66-52. He defeated Mrs. Anne T. Minner, the incumbent. At an emergency meeting called prior to the opening of the election for the purposes of determining the validity of the petition of William H. "Billy" Porter. The council by a vote of 3 to 1, with one councilman not voting, because he said Mr. Porter was his brother, voted to keep Mr. Porter's name off the ballot. Members of the Kent County Elections Department, together with the attorney general's office, were advising the council that if Mr. Porter's name was taken off the ballot "...the voting machine would be closed and Mr. Englehardt would be declared the winner". By closing the voting machine, it eliminated the possibility of write-in names, according to the Department of Elections. The council despite this information voted to take Mr. Porter off the ballot. Irate citizens of the 2nd Ward were turned away in large numbers all during the time the election polls were open. They were told they could not vote.

Following the election results, Mr. Willey said "...I thank the people of my ward for their support. I will work for their welfare always". Mr. Porter said he would contest the election. "because all I wanted was to be on the ballot...and let the best man win. I think I was entitled to that and I and the residents of my ward were denied that today".

Communities stunned — Houston couple charged with abduction, murder

by Bonnie Algier-Mitchell
HOUSTON. A quiet, rural community is still in a state of shock after learning late Thursday afternoon that the missing infant, Matthew Gibson, had been discovered at the home of a Houston couple. Richard W. and Joyce L. Lynch of Broad Street, Houston, Delaware were taken into custody after accompanying State Police and FBI Investigators to Troop 3-Camden. The child they claimed was their son, Richard Lynch III, was identified as the infant son of murder victims Joseph and Beverly Gibson of Hazletville. Investigators in the case went to the Diamond State Telephone Co. for help in tracking incoming and outgoing calls to Joseph and Beverly Gibson or grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gibson, Sr. Here they got a lead in the long, seemingly hopeless case...several calls from the Lynch's Houston residence to both Gibson residences between the time of the baby's birth and the Christmas Eve slayings. Police then visited the Lynch's home to talk with the couple. They found that Joyce Lynch had a baby boy born recently. She told investigators the baby had been born at home by a midwife. Police became suspicious when details of the birth did not coincide when checked out. Richard and Joyce Lynch, along with the infant, were then taken to Troop 3 where positive identification was made by footprints, which matched those on record at Kent General Hospital...the baby was Matthew Gibson. Social columnist Lola O'Day, who writes the Felton/Sandtown news for The Harrington Journal had

Houston! It's hard to believe anything like this could happen in this quiet, friendly, little town. That seems to be what everybody is saying, but this house, belonging to Richard & Joyce Lynch, is where little Matthew Gibson announced news of the birth of a grandchild to Felton residents, Buddy & Thelma Kemp in the January 6th issue of the newspaper. The child, son of Richard and Joyce Lynch had been named Richard Lynch III, Joyce Lynch is the daughter of the Kemps. "This is just the usual type of thing I put in my column," said Mrs. O'Day. "I had no reason to question it, we all knew Joyce was expecting. Thelma (Kemp) had told us at our craft club meeting several months ago," commented Mrs. O'Day. "I'm just sick was found Thursday evening. The baby, safe and healthy, was found thanks to combined efforts of the Del. State Police and F.B.I. Photo by Don Mitchell. about this, I can't believe Buddy and Thelma (Kemp) knew anything about it, (the abduction) they just wouldn't have gone along with it," Mrs. O'Day said. Residents and neighbors of Richard and Joyce Lynch in Houston are also shocked. Several commented about them being "loners" and high school classmates called Richard Lynch "quiet". Joyce Lynch has been described as "keeping to herself." Still, so many questions unanswered, so many whys? And the mystery...the tragedy unfolds. Richard W. Lynch, 26, is being held at the Delaware Correctional Center, Smyrna on four first-degree murder charges in the deaths of Joseph and Beverly Gibson. Joyce L. Lynch, 35, was being held at the Women's Correctional Institute, Claymont on the same charges but Tuesday, it was reported, she had been moved to the infirmary at Gander Hill. The reason for the move was not disclosed but officials said it was for "observation" and not due to any physical condition or injuries. No further details were available. Investigators are still waiting for results from ballistic tests on guns confiscated from the Houston couple's home. Results that will determine whether the weapons were used in the December 24 killings. Late Tuesday morning a detective on the case contacted The Harrington Journal and gathered hospital notes submitted by Kent General Hospital containing admissions, discharges and births for the month of December. No information was given by the detective as to what police were seeking, but it is assumed they are still looking for a clue that would answer the questions of how or why the Gibsons were murdered. At press time, Richard W. Lynch's hearing was scheduled for next week. According to reports Joyce L. Lynch late Tuesday afternoon waived rights to preliminary hearings. It was also stated that due to a conflict of interest Richard Lynch and his wife, Joyce Lynch will each have an attorney from the public defender's office.

New IRS forms for homeowners

Washington--The Internal Revenue Service recently said it has revised Form 8598, Home Mortgage Interest, so that the majority of homeowners will not have to fill out the form and attach it to their 1987 Federal income tax returns. As a result of changes in the tax law for deducting home mortgage interest the IRS developed Form 8598 to assist homeowners in computing how much of their interest is fully deductible as mortgage interest. An early draft of the Form was released last August. Since then the IRS has tested the form and made significant revisions. The IRS said that the major change is not to require completion of this form for homeowners who know that the total price paid for their home plus the cost of improvements is greater than the total of all mortgage debts at all times in 1987. An example would be a homeowner who paid $55,000 for a home plus improvements but the total of the balances of the mortgage and a home equity loan at all times during 1987 was not more than $50,000. Because of this change the IRS now estimates that of the over 29 million homeowners who claim mortgage interest deductions, 500-900 thousand will have to complete the form as compared to about seven million estimated for the earlier version. The IRS said that homeowners who have taken out home equity loans or second mortgages or who have recently refinanced their mortgages should begin now gathering certain records together. Though many of these taxpayers will not have to complete Form 8598, they need to know if the cost of their home plus cost of improvements exceeds the total of the balances of all debts on their home in 1987. Monthly statements from lending institutions will be helpful in determining these balances. To assist homeowners in understanding the new rules, the IRS has developed Publication 932, New Rules for Home Mortgage Interest Deduction is available at most IRS offices or by calling 1-800-424-FORM. In addition, the publication will be available in many financial institutions and post offices or by writing to the IRS at: Forms Distribution Center, P.O. Box 25866, Richmond, VA 23260.

Lake Forest holds Christmas concert

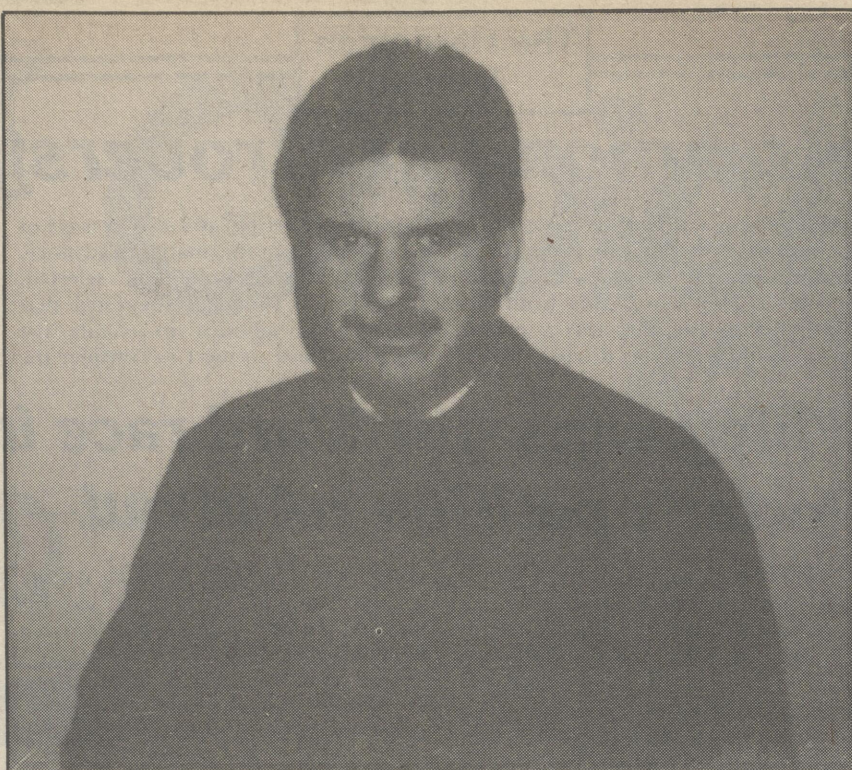

Tuesday evening, December 22, the Lake Forest Band held their Christmas Concert in Felton, Delaware. The auditorium was filled with parents and students out to hear a fine evening of music, and they were not disappointed. They played to their peak. The Jazz Band. Well what can you say...except that they were great! Solo numbers done by sax players Michael Helwig, Curt Jackson and David Chambers were really done well. And you cannot let go by unnoticed the drummers, Paul Voshell and Tom Stayton. It was an enjoyable evening. One of the best attendance by parents I've seen in a long time. I'm sure the directors were very pleased. The Chorus sang several selections and the Drama class put on a play entitled "Back To The Future With Santa." Band and Jazz Ensemble Director-Alex Becton. Chorus Director-Joseph Koneony. Drama-Ms. Denise Baker. The band also marched in two Christmas parades. One in Seaford, Delaware and the other in Bridgeville, bringing home trophies from both parades.

Jaycee Week to mark organizations founding

The Delaware Jaycees will be celebrating "Jaycee Week" from January 17 through 23. The week marks the anniversary of the founding of the United States Jaycees in 1920. Local organizations use this week to tell their communities of their accomplishments. The Jaycees emphasize leadership development through community service, learning opportunities, and participation in chapter management. Chapters welcome men and women aged 21 to 40 who wish to better themselves and their communities. Statewide, chapters are involved in a variety of activities including fundraising for the March of Dimes and the St. Jude's Childrens Research Hospital. A pilot AIDS (Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome) awareness program developed by the Delaware organization is being given favorable consideration by the United States Jaycees and may become a nationwide Jaycee project. Kevin Burdette, President of the Delaware Jaycees, says that this is the first time a program developed in Delaware by local Jaycees has been given such consideration by the national leadership. The Jaycees are also well known for their involvement in the Special Olympic Games, Christmas parades, food distribution programs, gun safety education, and the Blue-Gold football games. Information about the Jaycees may be obtained by contacting Jamie Kegerise, Management Vice President, 130 Kentucky Avenue, Wilmington, DE 19804; 992-9016. The organization was started by a young bank cashier named Henry Giessenbier, who became its first president in 1920. The Jaycees were initially known as the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Today, the United States Jaycees is made up of over 250,000 members, all part of the larger Jaycees International organization with chapters in over 70 countries worldwide.

Mrs. Kathy Truitt, Judge's Secretary
Court of Common Pleas
Court House
Georgetown, Delaware 19947
Dear Mrs. Truitt,
DO NOT ever hang up on me, again. You are a "public servant" and it is "We The People" who pay your salary. Kindly remember that.

Regarding your job, there at the courthouse - I asked you politely if the Judges were elected to their position or if they were appointed by the Governor. Your job requires you to at least find out, if you don't know an answer. Your reply of "go look it up in the Delaware Code" is not acceptable. I have looked it up.

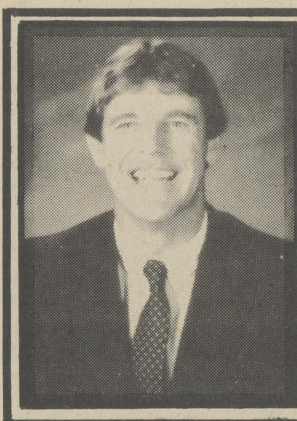

I further asked if the Judges took an "oath of office" and if I could have a copy of the signed "oath of office" - to which you again said "go look it up in the Delaware Code" and then you hung up on me. When I immediately called you back, I was told that you were "not answering her line".

I suggest that you return my telephone call, as the message I left stated. Otherwise I will have to have you deposited to get this defalcation "On The Record".

As I have previously stated, I have looked it up. What I want is evidence/proof that it has been compiled with! Please send this proof. Again, Do not ever hang up on your employer again.

"Magnet Schools"

Thomas Toch, former editor and writer for Education Week, wrote in the December 13, 1987 edition of the Sunday News Journal a lengthy discourse regarding the advantages of introducing the magnet schools concept to public education.

"The competition among public schools increases quality of education for all," he wrote.

Using terms like "free-market" and "monopoly" Toch makes some strong points for this concept.

Consider, "A chorus of influential reformers has called for measures that would put public schools in competition for students. Allow students to be consumers, they have argued, allow them to choose where they get their education rather than assign them to an institution on the basis of where they live, and schools will be compelled by the marketplace, by the threat of dissatisfied 'customers' taking their 'business' elsewhere, to insure that the education they offer is a good one."

Unfortunately, Toch and others fail to realize that, if you want free enterprise in public education, you can't stop just with the marketing concept. You must also fully consider another essential component of the free enterprise system...resources.

For the magnet school theory to work, you must provide, for all schools, equal opportunity to realize comparable resources.

In many areas, and certainly in Delaware, such is not the case.

Consider the facts.

The powerbrokers in this state refuse to consider alternatives to funding schools, despite the obvious difference in wealth in school districts, despite the recent failure of the "equalization formula," a vehicle designed to "close the gap" between richer school districts and poorer ones. This "equalization formula," as a result of reassessment in Kent County, figures to provide for Lake Forest, the state's poorest school district, about $8,500 while sending to Red Clay, one of Delaware's wealthiest, hundreds of thousands of dollars. That's not what "closes the gap" between the rich and the poor. Still, the Grimes report on the status of education in Delaware, includes language such as "There is no compelling reason to change the way schools are funded in Delaware."

The long range comprehensive land use plan for Kent County earmarks nearly all of Lake Forest's land to be either farmland or conservation land. The farmers, as a result of the recent assessment, figure to place most of their land in the Farmland Assessment Program, making it tax exempt. The Delaware State Fair and the Harrington Raceway are granted tax-exempt status by the Kent County Levy Court.

The Lake Forest School District two-part referendum failed in November.

Still, the Grimes report includes language such as "There is no compelling reason to change the way schools are funded in Delaware."

Still, Thomas Toch writes that the magnet school concept will create competition among public schools will increase the quality of education for all.

That free-market approach will work...only...if public schools are also able to control the flow of their resources and if all public schools are given equal access to equal resources.

If not, you can write some off before the competition starts. The rules will have been written to the clear advantage of some... at the expense of others.

Equal education is a function of equal resources. Give us equal resources... then... let the competition begin!

Waste management: the problem remains

by Congressman Tom Carper
Waste Management Inc.'s decision to pull out of the ocean incineration imbroglio did not come as a complete surprise. The Environmental Protection Agency's attempt to develop a safe method of implementing ocean incineration has met with a public vote of no confidence, and rightly so. Waste Management has simply read the writing on the wall.

While this is a victory for opponents of ocean incineration, it leaves us with the underlying problem which created the controversy in the first place: too much hazardous waste and nowhere to put it all. Now we need to turn our energies toward reducing the amount of hazardous waste we produce and making greater use of existing methods to safely dispose of the toxic materials we cannot otherwise eliminate.

As EPA ponders its next move, I have been working to identify alternative hazardous waste technologies, and to investigate the problems faced by the waste management industry. Waste reduction by industry, by far the best alternative, minimizes the production of hazardous waste at its source. Despite evidence of some industry efforts to reduce waste streams, waste producers as a whole have not taken advantage of all effective waste reduction opportunities that are available.

In order to focus more attention on waste reduction, Senator Biden and I have introduced legislation which would encourage the use of waste reduction technologies. Our legislation would establish an Office of Waste Reduction within EPA to serve as a clearinghouse for companies in search of information on ways to reduce the waste they produce, federal and state assistance programs, and helpful contacts in industry. Congress is expected to consider the Biden-Carper bill, and other waste reduction legislation, sometime in the next session.

While waste reduction is an enviable objective, it is not a panacea. Hazardous waste will always be an unwanted by-product of our way of life, and we must come to terms with the need to better manage the waste we produce. Two areas of concern among developers of innovative, state-of-the-art waste management technologies have been restrictive permitting requirements and local public opposition to the siting of hazardous waste treatment facilities. It's understandable that no one wants a hazardous waste site in their backyard, but without such facilities somewhere - perhaps on-site where wastes are generated in the first place - there will always be pressure to turn to options like ocean incineration.

I have been discussing with E.P.A. and waste treatment groups ways of expediting permitting without circumventing reasonable environmental safeguards and addressing legitimate public concerns about siting. As you can imagine, these are not easy issues to resolve.

Rejecting ocean incineration because of its technological and regulatory shortcomings is not enough. Our responsibility to preserve and improve the quality of our environment requires an equally aggressive effort to seek and implement responsible waste management methods.

Thoughts from Washington

Looking at the whole picture

by U.S. Senator Bill Roth

In calculating your monthly budget, can you imagine not including your entire income? In imagining this, you can get a sense of how the government measures poverty. Despite the fact that the bulk of federal assistance programs have been designed around "in-kind" or non-cash contributions like food stamps or housing subsidies, the government continues to measure poverty on a cash income basis alone.

I recently released a General Accounting Office Report (GAO) that indicated that in-kind benefits now comprise 70 percent of all assistance provided by the government to welfare households. However, only cash assistance is taken into consideration when measuring poverty status. When both cash and non-cash assistance are counted, the total monthly income averaged $819 for a family of two to four. When only cash is counted the average income was $646.

I strongly believe that if we're going to look at how our welfare families are faring economically, we must consider all the assistance that contributes to their support. If the government provides food, shelter and health care through vouchers and government subsidies, then clearly the market value of those items should be considered as income.

This GAO report becomes even more telling when we look at the percent of welfare recipients living, what we call, below the poverty line. When we exclude non-cash assistance we find that only 21 percent of those receiving welfare are above the poverty line. But, when we include the housing subsidies, the food stamps and the other "in-kind" contributions, we see that the numbers come up to 60 percent.

This information provides a type of good news, bad news situation. It shows us that the number of Americans living in poverty is not as great as some would report. On the other hand, it shows that there are 40 percent of our welfare recipients who do live beneath the poverty line.

Recently, there has been much talk and activity involving proposals for welfare reform. Frankly, I believe that as we begin to threat the issue of welfare reform, our solutions will be as ill-founded as our perception of the problem unless we begin to take into account the real demographics of poverty in our country. My report could be a valuable tool in examining welfare reform. It provides valuable information that could help us form a clearer picture of the real situation. It provides information that can be used in determining the current financial status of welfare recipients. And most notably, it graphically illustrates how misleading poverty numbers can be.

Checkoff program benefits Olympics

As America's finest amateur athletes and the United States Olympic Committee vigorously prepare for next month's winter games at Calgary, they are strongly and enthusiastically supported by thousands of Delawareans through the state's Income Tax Checkoff Program.

Delaware adopted the U.S. Olympic Tax Checkoff Program in 1985 and is one of only eight states in the country to do so. This "Checkoff" program makes it possible for Delawareans to donate any portion of their state tax refund directly to the U.S. Olympic Committee. Tens of thousands of dollars have been contributed to the U.S. Olympic Committee since the checkoff option was initiated and much of that money has aided Delaware athletes. It is predicted by the state's Division of Internal Revenue that donations will increase significantly this olympic year as more people become aware of the option.

The unprecedented number of Olympic athletes who are either native Delawareans or who are Delaware trained first come to the attention of the world during the 1984 Winter Games in Sarajevo. Earlier this month, thirty-three athletes from our area successfully competed at the National Figure Skating Championships in Denver, Colorado. This tradition of athletic excellence continues to be a great source of pride to residents of the Blue Hen State as more than a half dozen young men & women from Delaware are expected to again represent America in 1988 Winter Olympic Games.

Dorothy Baker, State Chairman of the United States Olympic Committee is delighted with the growing response to the Olympic Tax Checkoff Program which she worked hard to establish.

"The Income Tax Checkoff is very important to our young athletes and to the U.S. Olympic Committee in Delaware," said Baker. "The USOC is the only National Olympic Committee in the world that is not supported on a continuous basis by government. This tax checkoff gives Delawareans a chance to directly support their Olympic Team."

The American athletes and coaches, who are presently training for this year's winter and summer games, have repeatedly expressed their appreciation to the people of the State of Delaware for providing them with the opportunity to represent our nation with the international arena.

Harrington Council

council is the governing body of the town", he added.

The city solicitor suggested that "someone must make the decision on the validity of the petition". The petition in question was Mr. William Porter's because it contained too many signatures.

Mayor Farrow had suggested at the meeting held the previous Monday that the sensible thing to do was to strike the excess names on the petition. In Mr. Porter's case names from 27 through 59 were contained on the back side of the petition. The charter calls for "not less than 10 nor more than 25" signatures on one's petition.

Councilman Temple requested a written opinion from the city solicitor and signed by the city solicitor stating that the election board could make a determination on the validity of Mr. Porter's petition "...or for that matter the council". Mr. Temple did not get his request.

Marty Thornton, vice president and senior farm manager of The Peoples Bank, Bloomington, Ill., will talk on developing a strategy for profit at the upcoming Delmarva Corn/Soybean Conference, Feb. 3, in Salisbury, Md.

Lane Palmer, editor emeritus of Farm Journal magazine and a longtime reporter and writer specializing in national and international agriculture, will speak on quality and competition in home and world markets at the Delmarva Corn/Soybean Conference.

Delmarva corn and soybean conference set for February 3

"Making the Most of Your Production Dollars" will be the theme of the 1988 Delmarva Corn and Soybean Technology Conference, to be held Wednesday, February 3, from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center in Salisbury, Md.

The meeting, which is sponsored by Delmarva's agribusiness industries and the Delaware and Maryland Cooperative Extension systems, will feature money-saving tips on herbicide, fertilizer, equipment and land use, a safety and health workshop, plus a trade show and machinery exhibits.

Featured speakers at the daylong event will be Martin Thornton, vice president and senior farm manager of the People's Bank of Bloomington, Ill., and Lane Palmer, editor emeritus of the Farm Journal magazine. Thornton will speak on developing a strategy for profit. Palmer will talk about quality and competition in world and home markets.

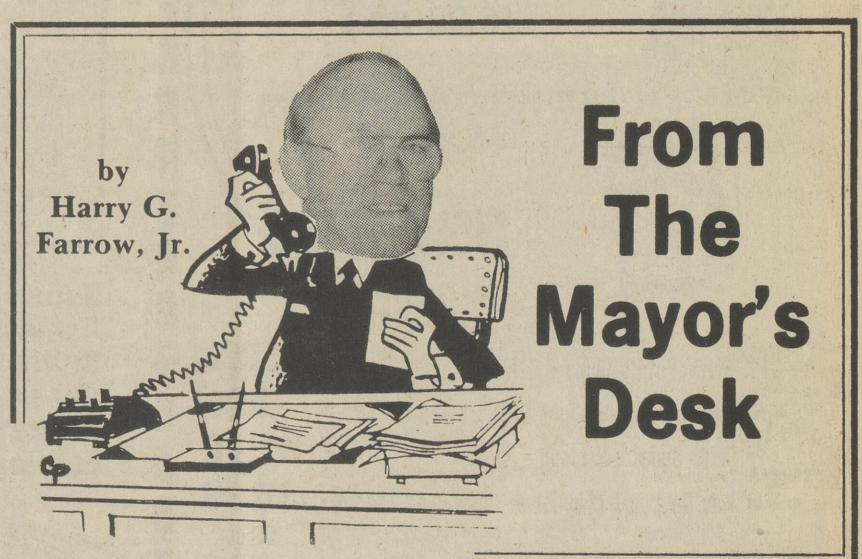

Lunch will be available by reservation only this year. Tickets are available through January 29 at all Delaware and Eastern Shore Maryland County Extension offices. No tickets will be sold at the door.

A laff a day...

By William T. Ficka

Well, Christmas is over and Santa is off for another year. What an easy job! The only guy who works less than Santa is the guy who writes concession speeches for Harold Stassen.

A reporter was interviewing elderly men to determine the reasons for their longevity. He asked each man the same question: "To what do you attribute your long life?"
"I never drank or smoked and always made sure I slept eight hours a night," said the first man.
"How old are you?"
"Eighty-nine."
The second man said, "I got plenty of fresh air and exercise and always ate plenty of green vegetables. To these habits I give credit for my ninety-four years."
The third man said, "I buried five wives and I'm looking for my sixth. I drank a quart of Jack Daniels every day and smoked a dozen cigars."
"That's amazing," said the reporter. "Five wives, a quart a day, a dozen cigars. How old are you?"
"Twenty-three."

From The Mayor's Desk

Tuesday was a sad day for the citizens of Harrington particularly those in the 2nd Ward when they were denied the right to vote. I think the council could have corrected everything and made everything right on Tuesday morning during an emergency-called meeting by allowing all petitions to stand on the ballot.

The only ones who were objecting to Mr. Porter's petition was the council not the candidates nor any other body or individual. The vote of the council to throw out Mr. Porter's petition and thereby strike him from the ballot worked a negative effect on the voters of the 2nd ward.

The striking of Mr. Porter's petition resulted in the closing down of the voting machine for that ward. The State law says that where there is only one viable candidate for an office that candidate wins. This according to the Attorney General's office seals the machine and even the write ins are sealed off.

The action by the council in effect snatched the right to vote from the voters of the 2nd ward. It is my opinion and I offered it to the council repeatedly since last Monday (the 4th of January) that the charter might say "no less than 10 signatures or more than 25" for the petitions. However, it does not say or direct what the result will be if this is not done.

There are more options available to the council as it pertains to the petition than throwing a petition out completely. The rippling effect this caused with end result was too grave for the over all effect.

Petitions are not voting elections. They merely signal to the voters, the council, the election board, etc. that a petitioner has enough support to get on the ballot. That's all!

I am truly frustrated that the council elected to treat this question in this manner.

I am truly sorry that the citizens of this community must continue to suffer in matters relating to their city government.

I also feel that every council member should be voting on matters of this magnitude. On the first roll call two councilmembers elected not to vote at all. One said he "...could not vote because he (Mr. Porter) was his brother, and it would be a conflict of interest." The other said initially that he did not understand the question, but on the second go around he voted to purge the petition off the ballot...when he had implied at earlier meetings that he was not in favor of throwing Mr. Porter's petition off the ballot.

Prepare for the SAT

Delaware Tech, Terry Campus and the Lake Forest School District are teaming up to offer a course that has been designed to help high school students prepare for the Scholastic Aptitude Test.

The course will begin on Thursday, January 14, 1988 and will be held in eight sessions from 6-9 p.m. There is a charge.

Students will become familiar with the verbal section of the test while they develop their own test-taking strategies.

The course, which will meet at Lake Forest High School, will also work to improve participant's vocabulary and increase reading speed and comprehension.

For more information, contact the Office of Continuing Education at 736-5402.

"Eat Smart for a Healthy Heart"

The Capital, Caesar Rodney, Lake Forest and Milford School Districts are participating in the American Heart Association of Delaware's "Eat Smart for a Healthy Heart" program. This program was scheduled for February to coincide with Heart Month.

A total of 30 Kent County schools will offer heart smart food selections on their menus during the first week of February. The "Eat Smart for a Healthy Heart" program will promote healthy food choices by emphasizing low fat, low cholesterol and low sodium menu selections in the school cafeteria. The students will also receive educational materials designed to help them learn how to eat well to keep their hearts healthy.

Heart disease begins in childhood and often progresses without any visible symptoms until middle adulthood. It can be prevented if steps are taken early to encourage the development of healthy attitudes, habits and lifestyles in children. The American Heart Association of Delaware is working with 74 schools in nine districts throughout the state that will participate in this program.

For additional information on the "Eat Smart for a Healthy Heart" program, or other topics relating to heart disease, call the American Heart Association of Delaware at 734-9321.

Harrington Rotary Club

After a two-week lull in Harrington Rotary Club activities due to the weekly Thursday meetings falling on Christmas and New Year's Eve respectively, Harrington Rotary returns to its weekly activities and is looking forward to a productive new year.

It is with a great deal of pleasure that the club welcomed its newest member at its regular meeting in the person of Darrell Gravatt, financial consultant with Merrill-Lynch in Dover. He is a graduate of West Chester University and is living with his wife, the former Lisa Welch, in Harrington. The club welcomes his membership as well as all persons who are desirous of belonging to Rotary International of which the local club is a part.

Congratulations go out to Frank Soriano, who as Vice President of Harrington Rotary, is also a Delaware Specialist for Migrant Education, and appointed to the Migrant Student Record Transfer System Committee by the National Association of State

Directors of Migrant Education. Frank, as secretary to the organization, will be in charge of monitoring of the MSRTS to assure that necessary information is being placed on a student's educational and health records and provide direction to the staff in Little Rock, Arkansas. This is a noteworthy effort and the club is proud to have one of its members involved with such a fine organization.

Janie Warren, a Rotary Foundation Scholar from our area has returned home from Australia after a year's study at the New England University in Armidale, and has returned to the Department of Agriculture in Washington. The club is planning a welcome-home celebration in the near future.

Winona Deputy will be in charge of the program on Thursday, January 21, when Don Gibson will present a program that is sure to be of interest to all persons living in our area.

A New Year's Meditation
Give us through the coming year

Quietness of Mind,
Teach us to be patient and always to be kind.

Give us Reassurance when everything goes wrong.

So our Faith remains unflinching and our hope and courage strong.
And show us that in quietness we feel Your Presence near.

Filling us with Joy and Peace throughout the coming year.

Chit-Chat with Bonnie

by Bonnie Algier-Mitchell 398-8551

Well I made it through the first snow storm of 1988 with just a touch of "cabin fever". I really didn't have to go out, so I kind of enjoyed the beautiful sight of the snow covered trees and the white ground. But now it's turning into that sloshy mess, that's just part of it.

On Wednesday my son, Shane Larimore, was an overnight guest. He was down with a bad cold and needed a mother's touch.

So sorry to hear that the Christmas trip of Betty Remington of Harrington had to be cancelled. Seems as though she was to spend the holidays in Hawaii with her son, Bruce Pleasantington and family. Bruce and family life in Kailua, Hawaii, near Oahu, where the terrible flood hit. They lost nearly everything they had, but were not injured. Betty commented that they are young and strong and determined to start over. Our prayers are with them.

Many, many happy wishes for the grandparents, relatives and friends of little Matthew Gibson, who was returned in excellent condition Thursday evening. My heart goes out to you, God Bless!

Little Miss Crystal Mears was a Saturday afternoon guest of her friend, Roberta Mitchell.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Yvonne Algier and family in the loss of her mother, Viola Breeding, near Greenwood.

Sunday afternoon Crystal Mears, daughter of Connie and Herbie Mears of Harrington, had the honor of modeling in Simon's Bridal Show, Dover.

It hurts to lose earthly treasures, but how much more terrible to lose heavenly ones because of having the wrong priorities in life. Where will you make your lifetime investments? In silver or in service? In dollars or in discipleship? In palaces or in purity? How is your heavenly bank account? Have you made any deposits lately?

Other clergy from the Lake Forest Ministerium will participate. An offering to benefit the Lake Forest Ministerium's Food Pantry and Fuel Fund will be offered.

Asbury United Methodist Church

Pastor William Dore. "O Lord, how manifold are thy works! In wisdom hast thou made them all; the earth is full of thy creatures." Psalm 105:24

At Sunday's service the officers of the United Methodist Men and the United Methodist Women were presented and dedicated their efforts in these organizations to the glory of God.

Volunteers are being sought to contribute Lenten devotions to be included in the next Asbury Visitor. The deadline is only a few weeks away so contact Francis Mason as soon as possible if you will help. There is no outline to be followed so the devotion can take the form that you wish.

The family on Liberty Street that was recently burned out is in need of many household items. If you can help, contact Ruth Dore at 398-3390.

January 18-25 is the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity.

The Prayer Chain will meet in the chapel following Sunday's service. Be prepared to spend some time, as this meeting will probably last an hour or more. Let him call for the elders of the church, and let them pray

This service is one of three community liturgies shared by the member churches of the Lake Forest Ministerium. Every Thanksgiving Eve, our community churches gather to worship as a community. Member churches also gather on Good Friday to worship and pray together. The ministerium is composed of clergy and laity from the following area churches: West Harrington Methodist Church, St. Paul AME Church, St. Bernadette Roman Catholic Church, Felton U.M. Church, Calvary Wesleyan Church, Metropolitan U.M. Church, Asbury U.M. Church, St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Mt. over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord; and the prayer of faith will save the sick man and the Lord will raise him up; and if he has committed sins, he will be forgiven. Therefore confess your sins to one another, and pray for one another, that you may be healed. The prayer of a righteous man has great power in its effects."

Serving next Sunday—Acolyte: Robin McCarter, Nursery: Rose Kibler and Tracy Hughes, Greeters: Mrs. Theodore Harrington and Mrs. Oscar Dickerson. Coming Up: Thursday, 6:30—choir Auxiliary meets.

Sunday—Prayer Chain meets; 7:30—Community service at St. Bernadette's. Did you know? Rev. A.D. Davis was pastor of this charge from 1868 to 1871. One memorable event at that time was a Sunday School excursion to Lewes. The railroad company provided five coaches, but so many people wished to go that they had to add freight and cattle cars to take care of the crowd. Twice on the way to Lewes the train ran out of steam and had to stop until more steam could be made. The boys made use of the delay to get off the train and pick huckleberries!

W.T. Chipman clips Bulldogs in basketball game

by Don Mitchell

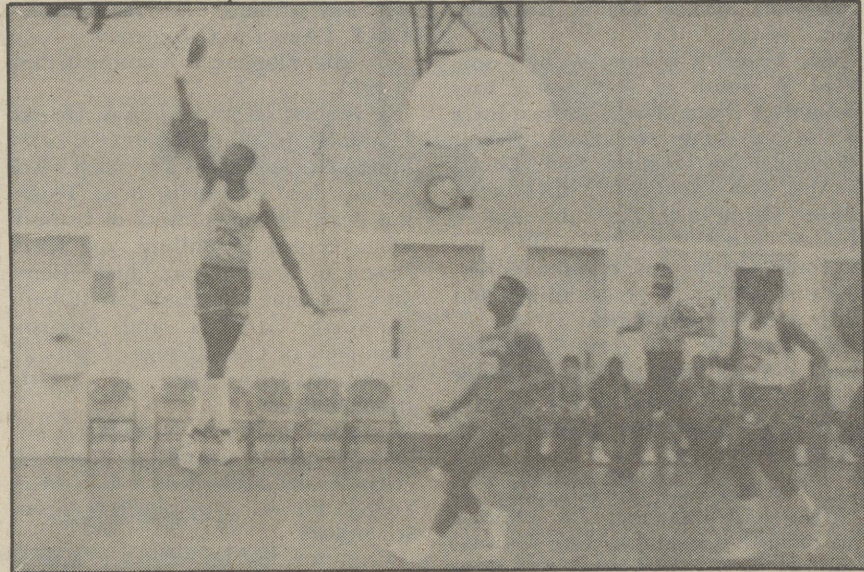

HARRINGTON. Thursday, January 7 Chipman basketball action got back underway after the Christmas vacation. Chipman started the new year off with a bang as they rolled over the Laurel Bulldogs for a final score of 61-51.

The first half pretty much belonged to Chipman, then in the third quarter the "Dogs" started playing catch up. But as the final minutes clicked off the clock, try as they may, the Bulldogs just could not make up enough ground to overtake Chipman.

Excitement" #24 Kenny Bailey was burning up the court. He played havoc with the Laurel offense as well as slamming a few baskets himself.

Chipman Captain #35 Jerman Harman made several impressive three pointers that would make Larry Byrd envious. Harman, like Bailey, showed speed, accuracy and ball-handling capabilities.

But to give credit were credit is due, the team as a whole played well, and everyone on the team contributed to the victory.

Spartan girls varsity basketball team wins two more

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

LAKE FOREST HIGH SCHOOL. The Lake Forest girls varsity basketball team picked up two more victories last week to extend their undefeated record to 6-0 over all and 2-0 in the conference.

In the game against Woodbridge last Tuesday night the Spartans edged the "Blue Raiders" 42-37 for their fifth straight win of the season. Evette Hicks pumped in 12 points and grabbed 14 rebounds in a winning effort for the fighting Spartans. "It seems like a new star emerges in each game. Evette had a good game. It was a rough game with Melanie (Pelton) fouling out, and Africa (Bell) and Evette (Hicks) each carried four fouls into and through the fourth quarter", said head coach Pat Borowski.

"It was not a pretty game, but we managed to lead the entire game", said Coach Borowski. The Blue Raiders tied the game with two and a half minutes to go at 35, "...but then we caught fire again, ran off 5 straight points, and were never headed after that", she said. The Spartans suffered with a bad shooting eye and were off at the foul line as well. "...but we never got completely cold", she said. The Spartans turned in a real good defensive game which has been one of Coach Borowski's hallmarks with her teams. "They put up a real good zone defense, and our gals just shot over them", said Coach Borowski.

Tara Dixon had a pretty sharp eye and Arlene May turned in 8 points down from her average. "...but she (Arlene) did a good job on defense and ball handling. She is getting double teamed now...but she hits that open girl", said Coach Borowski. When Arlene May is covered pretty well it leaves Melanie Pelton and Tara Dixon open for a good shot at the hoop. "The double teaming has not slowed us down, because the girls are working together. They know if they do they will go right on", said

Coach Borowski. The Spartans were 6 out of 15 from the foul line in this game. "I don't know what has happened to our shooting at the line. All that I can say is that we are working on it", said Coach Borowski.

In the Cape game, the Spartans came from behind to protect their undefeated season. "With a minute and 38 seconds left on the clock, we finally got the lead", said Coach Borowski. Cape had led at one point by as many as 8.

"At the half it was 19-13 in favor of Cape and they sank the first field goal immediately after the second half started which pushed the score to 21-13", said the coach.

Cape was ahead 28-23 at the end of the third quarter. "Both teams were tight and everyone's shooting was way off", said Coach Borowski as she explained the theory being "...I think these two schools over the past couple of years have produced good girls teams. A big rivalry has risen up as a result of that", she said.

Cape has a center, Zelda Shepherd, who goes over 6 feet, and in this game Africa Bell was to emerge as the star as she held Zelda Shepherd to 14 points scored 14 herself, and played without committing a foul.

"In the fourth quarter Africa really shined. She had 9 of her 14 points and held Zelda (Shepherd) to just 2 points," said Coach Borowski. "This was the turning point in the game, and we scored 18 to their 11. This was the difference", said Coach Borowski.

Cape played a very tight zone. "...and Melanie (Pelton) and Arlene (May) just shot over them." Pelton scored 9 and May sank 10 points. "Arlene also had another good defensive game with 6 steals", said Coach Borowski. "She intercepts passes and takes the ball away from the person with the ball...but in this game she also had 10 turnovers", added Coach Borowski.

Freddie and Tracey Johnson, Wix and Hicks win wrestling matches

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

LAKE FOREST HIGH SCHOOL. Freddie Johnson got the Spartan varsity wrestlers off to a good start Saturday with a pin in the match against Cape Henlopen. "Freddie took the kid down three times and got the pin on the third try. Freddie cuts a lot of weight to get to the 103 lb. requirement...so he is very strong", said Coach Tom Shaffer.

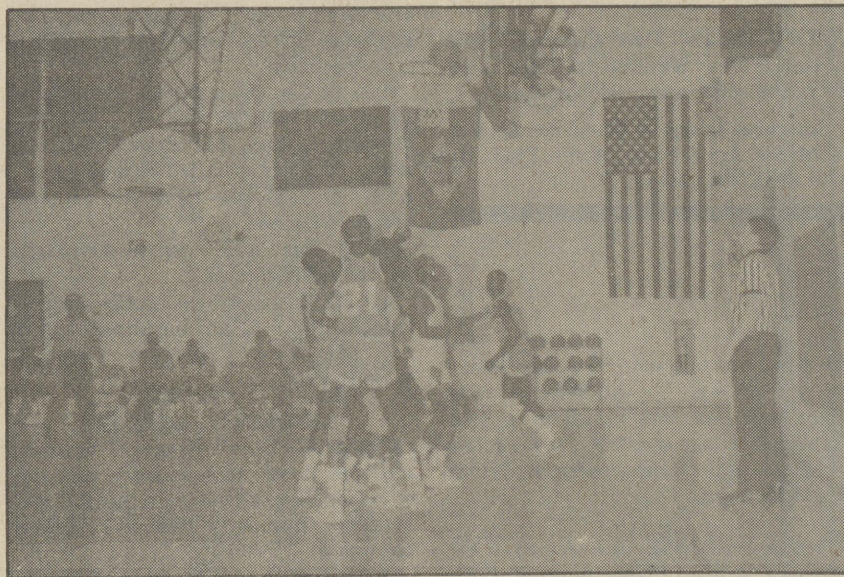

Tracey Johnson won the 145 lb. class by virtue of a forfeit. Kevin Wix won his match 14-3. "He has two take downs and three times he had the boy on his back but he just could not pin him", said the coach.

opponent "...kept backing away and going out of bounds," said Coach Shaffer. According to Coach Shaffer, Marvin's opponent was warned twice in the first period and one time in the second period and disqualified him in the 3rd. "Marvin is very aggressive and continues to demonstrate he can handle his opponent. He has the experience and techniques, and that's the real difference", said Coach Shaffer.

In other matches (112) John Moyer was pinned. "The guy he wrestled has 3 years experience and has been the top light weight for the past 3 years. John (Moyer) had a couple of reversals and

Mack Lobell named 1987 Horse of the Year

COLUMBUS, OHIO (USTA)--Fair Winds Farm and One More Time Stable's Mack Lobell, fastest trotter in the history of harness racing, has been named Horse of the Year in balloting conducted by The United States Trotting Association and United States Harness Writers Association. In the vote to determine the overall Horse of the Year, "Mack" out-pollled Jate Lobel 230-9, the most lopsided margin since Niatross' 239-1 thrashing of French Chef back in 1980.

The son of Mystic Park was every bit as dominant on the racetrack as the vote total would indicate. Beaten only three times (on each occasion by Napoletano), Mack annexed two-thirds of the Trotting Triple Crown. His straight-heat win in the $1,046,300 Hambletonian came in a stake-record time of 1:53-3/5.

He also set new standards in the other Triple Crown events, trotting a 1:57-4/5 mile in taking the $324,115 Yonker Trot (at the time, a world record on a 3/8-mile track). Despite losing the final of the Kentucky Futurity by a half-length, his 1:55 win in a preliminary heat was the fastest in the nearly 100 years of that event.

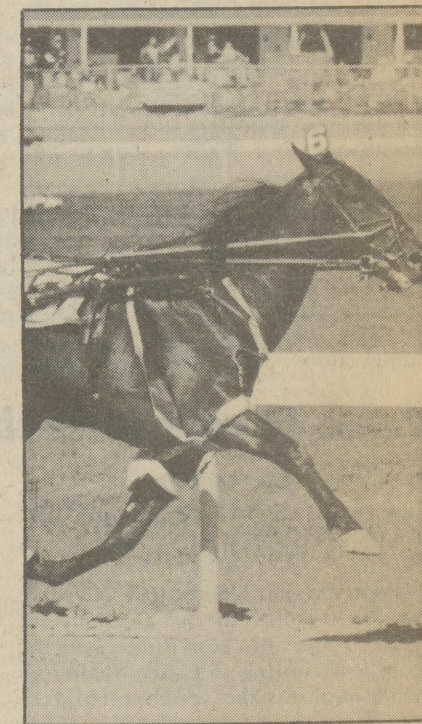

In the Futurity, regarded by many as the most memorable mile of the year, Mack led at every station until the final one, being edged by Napoletano. But to defeat Mack Lobell, Napoletano had to trot a :26-1/5 final quarter - the fastest last fraction in trotting history.

Two other of Mack Lobell's miles stand out. He destroyed eleven others in the $442,662 Breeders Crown at Pompano Park, drawing-out to a 12-1/2 length victory in 1:54-1/5, more than two seconds faster than any trotter had ever gone on a 3/8-mile track.

Of course, the "big" mile - the 1:52-1/5 effort in winning a heat of the Review Futurity at Springfield, IL in August - lopped 2-1/5 seconds off the old overall world record. In that one, Mack flew through fractions of :27-1/5; :54-4/5; and 1:23-1/5 while writing his name squarely atop the World Record table.

Squadly by Trainer of the Year Charles Sylvester, Mack now heads to Fair Winds Farm in Cream Ridge, N.J. where he retires to stud. The object of an $8 million syndication packaged by co-owner Louis P. Guida, Mack will stand for a $20,000 fee, a price third to only Speedy Crown ($50,000) and Super Bowl ($30,000). Carrying no blood of those two top stallions in his own pedigree, Mack is sure to court dozens of top broodmares whose owners are looking for an "outcross." The "King" of the trotting sport will now meet the "queens" of the trotting turf.

Person-to-Person

Four generations

by Rebecca Moore

Mother, father, son and daughter... perhaps grandmother and grandfather... all parts of the nuclear family-- that unit which is the basis of just about everything. Have you noticed how the family has changed over the years? So often, now, the only way parents can communicate with their grown children is by writing or long-distance telephone. My parents live in Philadelphia, as does my brother; but I live sixty-five miles south of Philly, and my sister lives twelve thousand miles away in Japan. My husband is from Atlanta, Georgia, and his parents and one sister still live there; but his brother lives in North Carolina, and his youngest sister lives in Texas and will be moving to Germany in the spring. Times have changed, and this is not always easy. The holidays make us think of family and togetherness. But because of separating distance, that togetherness is not always possible.

Not everyone, though, has a family spread all over the map. Come with me, and meet a colorful local family that intends to stay put.

On the main street of Frederica, sitting right on the eastbound side, you'll find a large house. It's a very unusual house, in that it also serves as a store. For three generations, Morris' Store has met the needs of Frederica. Three generations...that's a lot of years!

Morris' Store is really quite like a miniature department store. It is long and narrow. Merchandise is displayed on shelves, in cases and hanging from walls and rafters. Whatever you may be in the need for, you're likely to find it somewhere in the store. Candy, over-the-counter medications, canned goods and groceries, household items, frozen foods, in-season fish, fly swatters--you name it, Morris' has it. It was extremely difficult resisting all the chocolate candy displayed on the counter top--in fact, I didn't resist and left the store with a bag full of goodies.

The history of Morris' Store could probably fill volumes, considering the fact it's been in the family for so long. Written records have been found dating back to 1901, but the store was in the family before that time. The store has gone through many changes over the years. When it first opened, the store had a dual purpose--it was both a hardware store, and a wheelwright. A wheelwright was a wheel maker, but the Morris family didn't stop with the wheels--they made the entire carriage. Obviously, we have little need for a wheelwright in the 1980's, so the store progressed along with the times. My modifications have taken place over the years, and the days of hardware and carriages have gone forever. At one time, the store was only about half its present size. Then, the inventory included even men's and women's clothes, shoes, firearms and ammunition. Don't ask me where they put all that merchandise in such a confined space. Back then, Morris' stocked cheeses--cheeses that had been aged for four to five years. The cheeses were stored in the basement and had to be turned over every so often. That was one of the jobs Jim Morris, the present owner, performed as a child.

Jim Morris, the third generation owner of Morris' Store, was born in the house, just on the other side of the wall which divides the house from the store. Dr. Chipman delivered him, and he has many memories of the famous, local doctor. Two doors up the road from the store, there lived a young lady named Earlene. In 1949, Jim and Earlene were married. That was the same year that Mr. Morris took over the running of the store. Mr. Morris has spent his entire life in Frederica, with the exception of one year. During that year, Uncle Sam gave him an all-expense-paid trip across the United States, into Alaska, and over to Japan. It was the end of World War II, and Mr. Morris was sent to Japan to relieve the soldiers who had been stationed there. He enjoyed his stint into a different culture, but his heart was back in Frederica. "I saw enough," Mr. Morris told me. He wanted to go home, and when he got back, he stayed put.

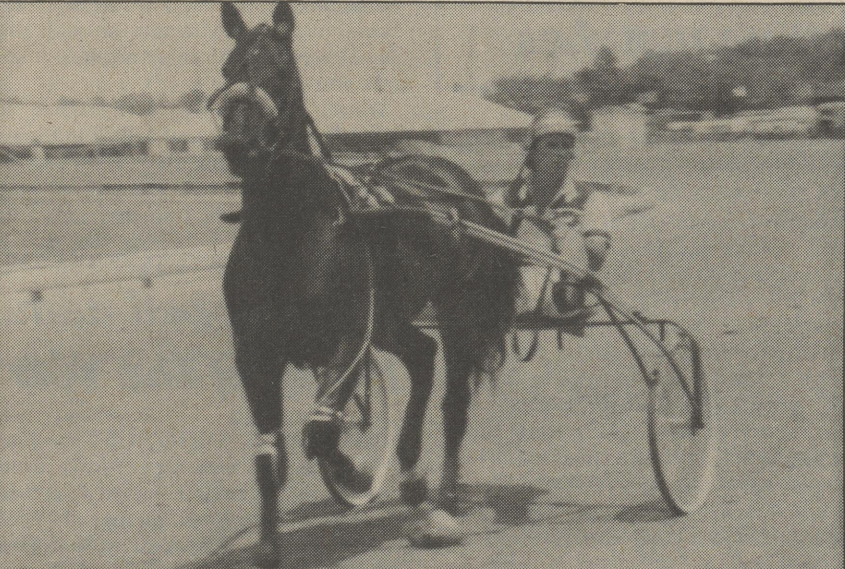

It's been thirty-eight years since Mr. and Mrs. Morris were married and took over the running of the store. There are now four members of the fourth generation of Morris's. Three boys and one girl have all been involved in the operation of the store. The oldest son lives right down the road, is married, with two children, and is a butcher at a Dover grocery store. The second son lives at home and also works at a Dover grocery store. Number three son, Jim, is a carpenter and woodcarver who works in the family store. When business is slow, he picks up a piece of wood and turns it into a beautiful, lifelike creation--his birds look as though they will take off any moment, they're so realistic. Completing the Morris family, is Earlene, who was named for her mother. Earlene is thirteen years old, and is a student at Chipman School. Mr. Morris lights up when he talks of his children. You can tell where his passions lie.

For over twenty years, twice a day, from September through June, Mr. Morris climbs into the seat of a big, orange school bus and runs two different routes. He's a familiar sight in the Lake Forest School District after all these years. You might see him behind the wheel, with a hunting hat on his head or wearing a sweater with a mallard duck embroidered on the front. One glance tells you Mr. Morris loves to hunt. But the days of hunting are pretty much a thing of the past, for time and responsibilities sometimes get in the way of our simple pleasures.

A visit to Morris' Store is interesting for a number of reasons, but one of these reasons involves a furry little creature. Outside of Morris' Store, you'll see a sign advertising muskrats. Now, if the thoughts of a muskrat do not thrill you, perhaps you'd better stop reading. Muskrats (I think they'd be a little more desirable if they had another name like "marshbunny" or something like that) are little animals that are commonly found in swampy areas in North America and Europe. Their name comes from an unpleasant, musky odor they possess. Muskrats have webbed hind feet, a ten-inch tail, and they grow to a length of about one foot. Although muskrats don't seem to be able to get along very well among themselves, they still manage to repopulate themselves at an amazing rate. Should you be in the market for one of these beady-eyed rodents, you can find them in a refrigerator case at Morris' Store. They're not expensive, and if properly cooked, are quite good--or so I am told. Sorry, but rodent meat somehow does not appeal to me. In spite of my lack of interest in indulging in muskrat, Mr. Morris told me some interesting bits of trivia about them. The quality of the muskrat's meat and fur depends on what it eats. A plant called a three-square reed is the best food for muskrats. So if muskrat meat is on your menu this week, just hope that he's had a steady diet of three square reed.

My visit with Mr. Morris in his store was interesting and pleasant. Mr. Morris knows just about everyone there is to know, and he is always thoughtful and gracious. Although our visit was brief, I thoroughly enjoyed myself, and I look forward to the next time I get the itch for a bag of chocolate candy, or I become brave enough to sink my teeth into a muskrat. Should you be in the market for a muskrat or an amusing story, just stop down at Morris' Store--Mr. Morris has plenty of both. He's not going anywhere, and he looks forward to the day when he can turn the store over to the Fourth Generation.

one escape, but he caught him in a cradle and pinned him", said Coach Shaffer.

Brian Wyatt at 119 lost 10-3. "He gave up back points in the 2nd and 3rd periods and this cost him", said the coach. According to Coach Shaffer he made basic mistakes which cost him the match.

Steve Porter was pinned in the 125 lb. class. "He wrestled as a freshman and then missed last year...and has missed a lot of this year's matches due to illness, which explains a lot of it", said Coach Shaffer. In the 2nd period Porter was reversed and pinned.

Steve Coppock was disqualified in the 130 lb. class when it was ruled that he deliberately hit his opponent in the face with his elbow. "I don't know how the ref could say that, because the guy was riding the arm", said Coach Shaffer.

Larry Keller was pinned by his opponent. He was taken down twice in the 1st period and in the 2nd period he was pinned. "This is a good example of an experienced wrestler against Larry who is not an experienced wrestler...but he is perfect for his weight", added Coach Shaffer.

Phillip Collison scored a 2-2 tie in the 140 lb. class with his opponent, who beat Phillip in the Seaford tournament 4-3. "These two are very close, and you can say that Phillip has improved over the Seaford tournament," said Coach Shaffer. "Phillip had the guy on his belly for the entire 3rd period trying for an arm bar...but the guy just laid on Phillip's legs and tied him up for the tie", he said.

Tom Grant was pinned in the 152 lb. class. "Tom did not score any points, was taken down and pinned," the Coach said. Grant was reversed in the 2nd period and put on his back for the pin.

We forfeited the 171 lb. class and Coach Shaffer moved Donnie Harrington up to the 189 lb. class. We were against one of the best in the conference in the 171 lb. "Donnie did get an escape and take down and was competitive...but got pinned", said Coach Shaffer. Harrington just made a mistake and got pinned.
