Count down to school board election

Four vie for two school board seats

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.
HARRINGTON — This month the Lake Forest School District will choose two of four candidates to serve a five year and a two year term. Although the candidates seek to keep the issues of the referendum out of the election, the referendum looms as a large force in the district. The election is scheduled for May 10. The referendum is May 17.

Roberta W. O'Neal

Regardless of who wins the election, the new members will not be sworn in and seated until the July board meeting.

Running as an incumbent for another five-year term is Mrs. Roberta W. O'Neal. She will be opposed by Mrs. Doris Draper, who ran unsuccessfully in the last general election.

Mrs. O'Neal has been associated with education and a member of the school board for nearly 35 years. She said recently that she was dedicated to the goals of the school board and the school system.

"I believe that every child in our (school) system should have the best education the district can afford in whatever field of endeavor they choose," she said.

Mrs. O'Neal admitted having a very positive and optimistic attitude "about this school district."

"Since first elected to the board, I have seen the education performance of the students has improved...and I attribute this to a dedicated staff which has continued to update the curriculum over a five year plan," Mrs. O'Neal said.

"I think we can say this has all been brought about by a better understanding between the (school) board and the community," she added.

Mrs. O'Neal defended her record over the past five years this week by saying "...the (school) board is governed by and large by the State Department of Instruction. This applies not only to the curriculum but also to the salary structure."

"The board sets policy...that's it. We can't always have the subjects we want. That's up to the state. They will say the primary purpose of the school system is to make the student well organized and well rounded," she said. "A board member should not be involved in the internal workings of the day-to-day affairs in the system," she added.

"As for salaries, which some say I am responsible for — all I can say is again the major part of determining is set by the state," she explained. "A superintendent, a principal, a teacher...what have you, is paid according to the state table, based on degree, years of experience...and of course the amount of local funds involved," she concluded.

"All schools in Delaware pay their administrators and teachers a local supplement," she said. "The school board has no authority in determining salaries for administrators or teachers at the state level. A raise to teachers automatically raises the administrators," she said.

"I feel our administrators should get what they are getting. You are talking about people whose job it is to run a multi-million dollar business," she added. "This school district...despite what some would have you believe, is fiscally sound and not likely to go under. We have a very efficient business management team...and all state audits have passed with flying colors," she boasted.

Asked how she would reward our teachers, she said, "I would offer them more salaries. That's the only way. That's what they want...an increase in their salaries."

She stressed the need for passing the referendum, "both parts because the buildings are in need of major repair — plus it is a bad situation in Frederica. They need classrooms there very badly," she continued.

She explained the salary equalization part of the referendum not only would hike salaries #1 to the lowest paid, "...but it will give us needed classroom materials so vitally needed."

Mrs. O'Neal concluded by adding "...we (Lake Forest School District) right now are as good as any district in the state."

Mrs. O'Neal serves on the Board of Directors of the Delaware State Board of Education Association — serving a third term; the Board of Directors of the Harrington Senior Center; an active member of Friends of the Harrington Library; a member of the Ladies Auxiliary American Legion Post and served 25 years as their education chairman. She said the most credible event that happened during her past five years "...was the revision of the Board Policy Manual and participating in the negotiation of two teacher contracts."

Mrs. Doris Draper, a native of Harrington, and a graduate of Harrington High School is making her second bid to be elected to the school board. Her critics say even though she appears to be able to work over figures, she won't be able to make a change in the spending procedure.

Over the past three years she has religiously attended "...just about every regular meeting and most of the workshops," she said. Asked why she wanted to serve on the board — why is it so special? She responded, "I have a real interest in our school system, and I think it can be better academically with curriculum improvement...and I think the buildings can be repaired and brought up to par with a very, very careful spending approach," she said.

"I basically see the role on the school board as being one utilizing pure common sense. I never thought the system was as complicated as everyone tries to make it out to be," she added.

"I see running the school district is much like running a business. It means balanced budgets, meeting payroll and that sort of thing," she said.

"I understand the importance of good balance between the board, the superintendent, the teachers and the all important taxpayers who foot the bill," she said.

"I would work wholeheartedly with our teachers. I sense now that some are afraid to speak out. They are afraid to voice their opinions — and I think some are intimidated," she continued.

Asked her feelings on the referendum, she was quick to respond by saying, "I would like them to run a partial referendum. We now have seven certificates of necessity — it all didn't happen at one time, and it shouldn't be corrected all at one time by the pull of the lever," she said.

"I would like to see two certificates of necessity corrected. North Elementary is in sad shape...roof, electrical...you name it, and East (Elementary) needs classrooms desperately," she said.

"They (the board) talk about a new administration building...which if passed, I am sure they would put it at the high school. But they (the board) have not said where they would put it. I think they should declare — but they haven't. They also have never declared how much space they will free up if a new administration building is constructed," she explained.

"I feel that instead of building an administration building...six elementary or seven junior high classrooms could be built," she said.

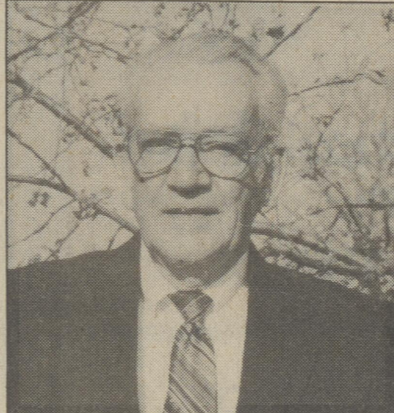

The average size of an elementary classroom is 840 square feet and 700 square feet at the high school. "They (the board) estimates it would cost $511,980 to construct the classrooms needed there, which translates to $101 a square foot, which I felt was high," she said.

She said this district is largely composed of farmland and senior citizens. "They can't afford a big tax hike put on them all at once. That's why all along I have felt a partial referendum and a tax increase of 8¢ (per $100 of assessed value) to maintain funding for equalization which would offset the loss as a result of the Kent County tax reassessment plan. I think people may have been able to accept that," she responded rather strongly.

"I feel our board has not done enough work to formulate a way to fund our school district. I just think there were other options more plausible and economical for our taxpayers," she continued.

"Property taxing is outdated. The equalization formula that is being used has not been updated since it was implemented in '84...even though when the law was that a committee was to be set up to make changes and keep current. Once committed to the original plan you become locked in and cannot get out. I think the state board (of education) should have made recommendations here," she said.

"I think at one time a referendum could have been run without a tax increase — because we had money moving into the debt service account. That's no longer true because they changed the debt service rate to a half a cent. By doing this there was less coming in than going out. At one point there was $350,000 in excess and had the debt service remained slightly over a cent, we would have had money to make repairs," she continued.

"We could come up with money if they would offer the $100,000 as our settlement for the roof and release of the Exxon heating rebate. Those together would offer up $372,000 to do energy work," she explained.

When asked, does failure of the referendum mean loss of future monies, she replied, "I don't know. I hear this being offered — but I ask why didn't we use it when the referendum failed in November."

"There are some teachers, I am told who feel I am against a salary increase for them. I am not. I am in favor of giving the teachers more, rather than the administrators getting another raise. I favor a masters teaching program which would allow these teachers who qualify to get what they deserve in pay raises," she said, which is the plan being successfully used in Tennessee. "With an earned basis for paying teachers, you would have quality education," she said.

"I further believe the board was too quick to enter into the contract for the buildings, and as I understand it, if we wanted to get out of it now, it would cost us $100,000," she said.

"Let's hold taxes down and try to do what we can afford. Let's get a half of a loaf instead of running the risk of getting nothing. That's what I feel," she concluded.

The two year seat will find banker W. Dale Hammond the incumbent being opposed by Horace Knowles, a retired Wilmington DuPont employee.

The two year seat is the remaining term on David Welch's term. Mr. Welch was killed in the summer of 1987. Mr. Hammond was selected by the board to serve from October to the present election. Mr. Hammond was selected over many who had submitted their names for consideration.

"I have succeeded in bringing to the board a positive attitude," said Mr. Hammond recently.

He cited as one accomplishment "...a board that works together as a whole. If you are on the losing side you have to support the majority to get the job done," he added.

Asked the best way to approach the referendum and how to get it passed, Mr. Hammond responded by saying "Pretty much has to be a package deal. We put up something — and we get back in proportion from the state. It's a good deal."

"I favor an administrative building strictly from an economical standpoint. It would cost less than a cent on the tax increase. It doesn't make sense to keep coming back with a part referendum until you get everything accomplished. It would be too expensive...and most important it would be a place where we would be able to keep records. I favor space for students versus space for administration," he concluded.

"We have a seriously deteriorating building at North; overcrowding at South 'A' and 'B'; and badly needed classrooms at East Elementary. We must pass the referendum to insure the keeping of federal grants and salaries," he said.

Asked what is a model school board member, he said "...one who is involved in the school and the activities. One who is very interested in the students."

Horace Knowles is retired from the Edgemoor plant of DuPont. He was the chief on the reactor working shift work for DuPont Company over 27 years.

"I worked two jobs for over 25 years, which was a great sacrifice to my wife and family," he said recently. I worked the 7-11 shift and at 8 a.m. each day I started each day as a jobber — or home repairs. I worked with my crew until 2:00 pm...came home and rested until it was time to go to work again at 11," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Knowles moved to their new home on the Bowers Beach Road, and even though he is retired, he set out right away, once they got settled in their home, building a two car garage on his own. "If you know how to do it—then chances are you will do it," he said about his garage.

Mr. Knowles says that ever since he moved here from Wilmington "the most talk in the district is that we have poor buildings and bad roofs. I think there is a better way — and that is to build up the roof "A" style. Then you would have a roof good for 20 years," he added.

Mr. Knowles said he favors a partial referendum plan, "but we need to put the school district back where it should be...and I am in favor of abandoning the idea of an administrative building," he said.

"I really have second thoughts about this proposed tax increase which the board feels will cure all of our problems. I don't think so, because it is going to cause more problems with our farmers, who are going to have another bad year, which will be the fourth year in a row — as well as our senior citizens, of which I am one. The seniors have enough burden on them. This proposed tax will just be an extra burden on them" he said.

He said he feels the property tax is as a Sunday School teacher today. Mr. Calhoun is an air force veteran having served four years on his enlistment. He was cited for his willingness to help others and "...never says no to someone in need." He and his wife own L & D Electronics, L & D Laundrymat, owns school buses, and is employed by Brooks Armor Car Company as an automatic bank teller technician. One of the most important volunteer functions Mr. Calhoun performs is that of volunteer fireman and ambulance driver. When it became almost impossible to find qualified drivers for the ambulance during the day hours, Mr. Calhoun joined the fire company and offered his services. The community of Harrington salutes Mr. Calhoun for this award.

outdated and not the best way to go under modern times. "We need legislative intervention here to bring about changes," he said. Mr. Knowles said he favors all teachers being paid the same for number of degrees and years of experience. "I think this might be the best way to prevent teachers from jumping the fence and going to other districts for better pay. I think this is a step in the right direction," he continued. He said he "would like to see the salaries of administrators frozen under the equalization part of the referendum --- and give that portion over to the teachers," he added. Asked how he felt about the referendum and what would make it pass, he said "...it would pass if less certificates of necessity were requested. I think work is needed right away at North (Elementary) and increased classroom space at East (Elementary) and if the tax rate were lower too," he added. He concluded by saying "I favor a line item referendum and let the people make the choice, then recalculate the plan."

Mother's Day

MAY 8

A Lovely Surprise

Life has started all over for me,
The young years of happiness
Have come again in a sweeter form
Than a mother could ever guess
The love and devotion I gave my child
I thought I could give no other,
But life held a lovely surprise for me—
This year I became a grandmother.

The City Council, at its regular May meeting Monday night accepted the bid of W. B. Mitten & Sons, Dover, for installation of sewer and water mains, with incidentals, on five streets. Bid was $6904. Other bids were as follows: Joseph Richardson, Harrington $7233.55, and C. C. Burris Jr., Inc., Middletown, $7590.50. The Mitten & Sons bid on installation of sewer main was $2.10 per foot.

Sunday was one of those days just made for racing, as the wheels went whirling around the track. Wheels were not the only things that went around. Champ Clark (ex-champ, that is!) lost the fan blade from his air conditioned super Mustang. It soared high in the air like a whirley bird. Then Tom Brown did his tricks of the day driving car No. 9, spinning around

The spraying for gypsy moths hopefully is going to prove worthwhile. As the new ditching has been dug and a lot of dead stumps, leaf litter or other objects that the insect will go to the ground if no hiding place is available on the trees. The gypsy moth usually emerges in late April and early May. They produce silk from their glands located in their head and lay down a trail of silk continually as they move. When larvae reach the outer branches or tops of trees, they drop on silken threads that are easily fractured by slight gusts of wind. Some larvae may be carried for long distances by wind. A Thought For Mother's Day
We all remember Mother on her special day,
We send her gifts and flowers and lovely cards that say
How very much we thank her for the things that Mothers do,
The sacrifices that they make, but when

this day is through
We're prone to take for granted her precious love and care,
The fact, that when we need her, Mother's always there,
She will never mention in, nor ask for any praise,
The joy of doing things for us is her reward always.
But just the same, it would be nice if we'd find time to say
Just one small word of heartfelt thanks to Mother every day.
HAPPY MOTHER'S DAY TO ALL MOTHERS!

In June 1982, Roberta O'Neal retired from her job as a teacher. For the past five years she has served as a member of the Lake Forest School Board. She is one of five people directly responsible for the expenditure of millions of our school tax dollars.

During those five years Roberta O'Neal has, at our expense, taken annual trips costing thousands of dollars. When she first became a board member, the Lake Forest superintendent was being paid $43,000.00 a year. With the participation of Roberta O'Neal, the superintendent has been granted a salary of $64,314.00 a year. That's an increase of over $20,000.00 a year. AND FOR WHAT? After five years of Roberta O'Neal the Lake Forest School District has become a shambles and a disaster.

The time has come for us to retire Roberta O'Neal from the Lake Forest School Board. Vote for Doris Draper on May 10, 1988. Doris Draper will make your school tax dollars work for you and the children of Lake Forest.

W.T. Chipman trackmen beat Dover 60-40

by Keith S. Burgess
Baxter Smith, as Chipman track coach, has developed some good athletes for the Lake Forest program and apparently is prepared to continue to do so.
Kenny Bailey and Lamar Benson opened the meet with a 1-2 finish, in the 110 hurdles event, with Bailey clocking 15.47.
Terrence Benson's 1:57 time for 100 meters is outstanding at the grade 7-8 level. Tony Hooks and Eric Moses completed the sweep.
Danny Twardus along with his brother, Bryon, are regarded as exceptional distance running prospects.
The brothers are very young but each was able to make an impressive debut, at age 11, by defeating many older, a much more experienced runners, including freshmen, in cross-country races, in Washington, D.C. Against Dover, Danny miscounted the laps and sprinted hard, at the end of three laps. It's next-to-impossible to recover when this happens, but Danny courageously fought back to record a very good 5.39 mile, good for third place, just four seconds out of first. We think he could have won, if he hadn't erred. If not he would have made the Dover winner run in the 5.20's to beat him. The 13-year-old also saw his 12-year-old brother Bryon come in fourth in an also very good 5.44, in the first meet of the junior school season. Mark Bordley, Bailey, Hooks and T. Benson annexed the 400 relay, in 47.8.

Robert Godwin and Jermaine Harmon recorded 59 and 60 second efforts, respectively in going 1-2, in the 400.
At 800 meters, Howard Young had a good third place effort, in 2.41.
Terrence Benson captured his second individual event with a fine 25.2 victory, at 200 meters. Eric Moses was second.
Bordley, Benson, Godwin and Herman clocked 1.45.3 in a 800 meter relay victory. Kenny Bailey jumped 5 feet, same as the winner, but lost on the more misses rule.

Tony Hooks' 18 feet, six inches long jump effort is indicative of enough ability to help the varsity, just as soon as he arrives, at the high school. Mark Bordley did well with 17-2.
Mark Harmon's discus toss of 106 plus feet was a very good performance, good for second place. Warren Willis was third in the shot.
In addition to the Twardus brothers, it appears that most of the aforementioned athletes can make the grade at the varsity level, if they keep their interest in track, and continue the hard work that is required for success, in any sport.

Bob Read pole vaults 14' 6", ties state record

by Keith S. Burgess
Lake Forest's track team now have a 5-0 dual meet record after a rout of Seaford, on the Blue Jays' brand-spanking-new, all weather track. Back in 1948, the track powers downstate were Dover, Milford, Seaford and Caesar Rodney. Few other Kent and Sussex County schools, if any, had thindlad teams.
Laurel was the first downstate school to get an all-weather track. Now, Laurel has only a girl's track team. What a shame! Lake Forest, Cape Henlopen, Smyrna and Dover have the fast, modern surfaces, which often lead to track scholarships, for those athletes fortunate enough to train and compete regularly, on such tracks.

good clockings. Scott Pierce (11.27), Paul Shaffer (11.29) equalled the state meet qualifying time, with Mike Sanders just missing with 11.31.
Bob Reed won the high jump with 5-9, with Ray Smith getting third.
Seaford managed only one point, in the weight events, as Marvin Hicks (43 feet plus), Kevin Wright and Paul Adkins swept the shot, then Adkins (122-6) and Hicks went 1-2, in the discus.
Carl Parker, Peety Davis, Herman

Mosley and Terraine Giddens annexed the 400 meter relay, in 44.8. Parker, Davis, Giddens and Tiggs took the 800 relay, in 1.41.2.
Davis was runner-up in the long jump with a good 20 feet, 3 inches. Mac Holmes was third in the long jump and second, in the triple jump.
Alex Winchester and Carl Young went 2-3, in the 110 hurdles, behind Seaford's Mann, who is No. 1 in the state. Young was second, in the 300 hurdles, also.

Spartan track girls beat Seaford, Milford, Laurel

by Keith S. Burgess
Lake Forest girls' track team defeated Seaford, Laurel and Milford to raise their seasonal log to 4-2. Both defeats were close contests.
At Seaford, the Spartans more than doubled the total of the host Lady Blue Jays.
Versatile Tara Dixon is a natural athlete who can be used in several events, depending on where she is needed on a given day.
Running the 800 for the first time this spring, Dixon, under wraps, cruised to an easy 2.42 win, with Jill Blades third. Dixon, Amy Draper, Melanie Pelton and Ann Hollister captured the 1600 meter relay. Dixon, Shani Palmer, Renee Coverdale and Tonya Norris were first in the 400 relay. Dixon and Mary McGuire were 2-3, in the 100 hurdles.

Tonya Norris captured the 100 meters (13.6) and was second, in the 200.
Shani Palmer and the improving Ann Hollister were first and second, in the 400 meters.
Melanie Pelton (6.02) Jill Blades and Dawn Kane swept the 1600 meter run. Blades, Pelton, Julie Betts and Elaine Zeitler took the opening 3200 relay in 12.16. Betts and Zeitler were 1-2, in the open 3200.
Africia Bell (5 feet) and Ilka Beverunge were second and third, in the high jump.
Mary McGuire, a real competitor, is much smaller than the average weight event person, uncorked a lifetime best of 102 feet, 10 inches, to easily capture the discus with Christine Swafford third.

Deanna Scott (31-4) snared the triple jump, with Renee Coverdale next. Coverdale and Scott were 2-3, in the long jump.
Mi ord appeared to be in contention, as the Bucs had a strong team, on the track. But Lake Forest scored well, in the running, then swamped the visitors, in field events, to easily win 88-46.
Sprinter Shani Palmer and jumper Deanna Scott missed the meet, but veteran Lorraine Lake returned to the squad and scored, in three events.
Mary McGuire had her best meet ever. The Canterbury blonde took the high hurdles in 17.5, with Melissa Scott, in third. McGuire again spun the platter past the century mark with 101-24, then tied with Africia Bell for first, in the high jump. Ilka Beverunge completed the Spartan sweep. McGuire then capped off a prolific 18 point day, by finishing second to Christine Swafford, in the shot put.
Tara Dixon triple jumped a fine 33 feet plus to win yet another unfamiliar event, then captured the 300 hurdles, in 55.8, with Melissa Scott third. Dixon turned in sterling anchor legs, on two winning relays. Tonya Norris, Renee Coverdale and freshman Amy Draper ran with Tara on the 800 relay 1.54.8, then Dixon, Draper, Amy Hollister and Lorraine Lake took the 1600 relay, in 4.47.8. Draper, Hollister and Elaine Zeitler are comparatively new people, who are showing good improvement. Draper is a cross-country runner, who has shown she can fill in capably as a sprinter on the short relays.
Lake, Zeitler, Melanie Pelton and Julie Betts captured the 3200 meter relay, in 12.08.4. Betts and Zeitler were first and second, in the 3200 meter run. Melanie Pelton and Jill Blades were 2-3, at 800 meters. Pelton and Dawn Kane did the same, at 1600 meters, as did Lake and Hollister, in the 400. In the last three races named, Milford won them all but prevailed only by 15-12 here, as the Spartans depth virtually nullified the Bucs efforts.
Renee Coverdale, a strong runner and jumper had a second in the long jump and a third, in the triple. Voanita Cherry and Christine Swafford were second and third, in the shot put.
In the meet with Laurel contested at the same time as the Milford meet, the results were similar with a few changes. Pelton and Kane moved up to 1-2, in the 1600. Norris, Coverdale, Draper and Bell won the 400 relay against Laurel. Lake, Hollister and Florence Caskey swept the 400 versus Laurel.
Also Pelton and Blades moved up to first and second in the 800 meters and Norris and Michelle Vanness advanced to second and third, at 200 meters.

In the 1600 meter run, McKinney and Goodrich of Dover were 1-2, with Fisher of Chipman getting third.

Ginger Jensen cleared 4 feet to take the high jump. Denise Roberts annexed the long jump with a near-14 feet effort.

Chipman now led 22-19, but immediately fell behind again, when Dover swept the 800 meter (half-mile run). Chipman used to be strong, in the distance events, until every school, on the Chipman schedule, dropped fall cross-country.

Dover pulled out the squeaker by taking all the shot and discus points except for a third by Delema Dixon, in the discus.

Stacy Smith, Romorda Ross, Denise Roberts, Alysia Hughes each ran 30 seconds for 200 meters, to

This Chipman team has several people already good enough to compete at the high school level and that is after only one 1988 meet. There were several events, that were decided by an inch or two, or a tenth of a second. If just one of these had gone Chipman's way, the result would have been reversed.

three innings to hold off the Spartans, beating them 7-4.

The Spartans were behind 2-0 after the first inning and 4-1 after the second inning, but the Spartans got hot with consecutive hits by Steve Thompson, Chris Garton and Tony Noble after John Hensley had led off the inning with a walk. The Spartans pushed across three runs in the top of the third, and they looked like they would take charge.

Both starting pitchers started off rather shaky, and it looked like neither would be around very long. The Dover pitcher settled down and pitched the rest of the way, but Steve Thompson was not able to cure his wildness.

The Spartans were not able to get anything going in the top of the fourth, and when the Senators of Dover opened the bottom of the fourth, they put together a little offense which allowed them to score a run each in the next

The Spartans are off to one of their worst starts in some time. The defending southern division champs have not been able to get in enough playing time to be at this stage season ready.

Coach Falasco said at the start of the home half of the fourth inning that if Garton could set them down in the inning he felt it might be a back-breaker for Dover. "Had we been able to do that it would maybe have made a big difference," said Coach Falasco.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
After reading this morning's headlines concerning the Smyrna District problems, I could not help but relate it to what may occur in the Lake Forest School District if we don't pass the referendum. Smyrna is about to lose a great many teachers (88 and possibly more), its special education and extra-curricular programs. Lake Forest is just a step away from this. Special education programs are directed toward helping the child who is struggling in school, who needs smaller classes. If these children go into the regular classes, they may fail and then quit school. Extra-curricular activities, while an important part of all student life, can be very important for those kids who literally stay in school just to participate in sports. These kids get educated in the process. Instead of dropping out, becoming a burden on society, they go to work and pay taxes. After seeing what has happened in Smyrna, how can anyone vote against the Lake Forest referendum. We need YES votes for our children on May 17th.

Lois P. Jones
Felton, DE

Dear Editor:
I am in the 9th grade at Lake Forest High School. The summer before I entered 7th grade, the district lost the Spanish teacher it had had for about 6 years. The referendum had failed twice, forcing her to go to a neighboring district where the pay was about $2,000 higher. This teacher not only taught the subject of Spanish, but made it fun in the process. I know this because my older sister and her friends were always talking about Spanish and Spanish Club. At the end of my sister's second year of Spanish, she could speak and read Spanish well. At the same stage in my Spanish classes, I cannot even come near her capabilities. Why is this? I have had 4 teachers and one long-term substitute for this time period. Each teacher was not sure of what the teacher before taught and all tried to make up for what we missed the very first year.

I do not criticize the teachers or the administrators within the Lake Forest District. The voters are at fault for not voting the funds so our teachers can be paid well enough to stay. The district at times hired unqualified teachers because the better qualified ones were working elsewhere and would hardly leave to take a $2,000 pay cut.
VOTERS IN THE LAKE FOREST DISTRICT, I am tired of saying goodbye to teachers. Please correct this situation by voting YES on May 17.
Tiffany L. Jones
Felton, DE

Dear Editor:
Lake Forest School District has two most important events coming up in the next two weeks. These events will have significant impact on the future of our schools.
I urge every voter who is interested in the future of education in our communities to exercise the right...to fulfill the responsibility...to vote.
How important is one vote?
In 1645, one vote gave Oliver Cromwell control of England.
In 1649, one vote caused Charles I of England to be executed.
In 1776, one vote gave America the English language instead of German.
In 1845, one vote brought Texas into the union.
In 1868, one vote saved President Andrew Johnson from impeachment.

In 1875, one vote changed France from a monarchy to a republic.
In 1876, one vote gave Rutherford B. Hayes the presidency of the United States.
In 1923, one vote gave Adolf Hitler leadership of the Nazi Party.
In 1941, one vote saved Selective Service...just weeks before Pearl Harbor was attacked.
In May of 1988, one vote may well change the course of Lake Forest School District.
See you at the polls on May 10 for our Board of Education election and on May 17 for our two-part referendum. We need your support!
Sincerely yours,
James H. VanSciver, Ed.D.
Superintendent
Lake Forest School District

Dear Editor:
I served on the Woodbridge Board of Education for 10 years, July 1977 until June 1987 and I am proud of the accomplishments which were made in the district during this period of time. Each new member of the Board of Education spends the first two years of his or her five year term of office learning the many different operations of a school district and how to work with the other four board members in providing the best education for all of the children in the district with the limited services available.
During my time as a board member, the district finances were always balanced and the financial management of the district is a board-superintendent responsibility, which requires understanding and attention. Salaries for the Woodbridge teachers have increased in the Woodbridge School District over the past few years which has allowed us to be competitive in keeping good teachers in our district and employing good new teachers.
Also, because of the hard work on the part of the past board members and staff, the district has improved in textbook purchases for our children as well as workbooks, teaching equipment and supplies. The teaching faculties are aware of these improvements over the past 5-10 years and have been appreciative. This part of the educational process is essential to good teaching and learning.
A great deal of good has been happening in the Woodbridge School District over the past few years such as: improved teacher retention with the signing of a three year teacher agreement with the Board of Education; providing the Early Childhood Education Center for our Pre Kindergarten, Kindergarten, and developmental first grade students; providing continuous education in the elementary and nursery schools; decrease in the student absentee rate and drop-out rate; an extra-curricular program that has brought state championships in track and state second place in basketball. So many good things are going on for our students and the board vacancy of one year for which I am running needs a person that knows what the board has been working towards and will work with the board for the continued programs essential to our children, such as the need for facility improvement. I am aware and have been a part of the work the board has done over the past five years in designing a long range program for the improvement of our facilities and will work to my maximum with the board and the community in seeing these goals become a reality.

I feel that my experience on the Board of Education will be a valuable asset in helping the district move towards realizing its future goals and maintaining the good that already exists in our educational system. The one year vacancy needs this experience and leadership and I am proud to offer and pledge my services and knowledge. I hope that you will join with me in my campaign for continued improvement and not a coming year of delay in what is needed for our children.

Rumors and Referendums

by Dr. James H. VanSciver
Superintendent

Board members have elected to propose a two-part referendum for voter approval on May 17.

One part will increase property taxes 6.3¢ and capitation taxes $5 to fund the local share of a $4.2 million major capital improvement project. The other will increase property taxes 17.4¢ in order for the district to not lose $250,000 in equalization monies we now have and get an additional $350,000 in equalization funds.

After the referenda failed in November, some people called to say that they voted no because they heard a rumor that indicated we were wasting money on a golf course or that we had $1 million in the bank.

Rumors are dangerous; are of unknown origin; are of unknown intent.

Town meetings were completed. School Board meetings were scheduled. Board members and I will be available in my office every Tuesday and Thursday from 6:00 P.M. - 9:00 P.M. to answer questions. I am available at any time.

This is a most important matter. We will take the time to give you any information you need to make the choice you feel most appropriate.

Please do not go to the polls with a question unanswered.

We need your support.

FAA FAA AWAY

By Edwin Feulner

Over the last seven years I've watched funny things happen to a lot of conservatives in Washington. Though most of them were full of free-market, anti-bureaucratic fervor when they came to town, much of this disappeared when they were given bureaucratic empires to manage. Instead of becoming part of the solution, too many of them became part of the problem—fiercely arguing, for example, for bigger budgets and expanded authority.

This is why it was so refreshing the other day to hear James Burnley, the secretary of transportation, talk about the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA).

Instead of defending his turf, Burnley forthrightly admitted that the FAA bureaucracy is cumbersome and inefficient. The FAA's air traffic control services, for example, have had a difficult time keeping pace with increases in flight traffic, not because there isn't enough money in the budget or because the agency is short-handed, but because the system itself is built to move at its own slow pace and predetermined direction, lumbering along just well enough to get by.

Burnley was careful to point out that today's aviation problems are not the fault of FAA employees, per se. They are working as hard as they can to maintain necessary levels of safety and efficiency. But that's not the same as being really efficient. This is why complaints about the FAA have been heard for a generation—regardless of who happened to be in charge at the time.

Burnley cites three major institutional problems faced by the FAA:

(1) Personnel. Because FAA employees are part of the federal civil service system, the agency is not always able to provide air traffic controllers where they are needed most. Under civil service rules, it is difficult or impossible to provide extra pay or benefits to attract controllers to areas where they are in short supply. The result is that the FAA often has too many controllers in one city, when another city may be seriously understaffed.

(2) Procurement. Federal procurement rules make it difficult for the FAA to obtain new technology in a timely manner. The result is that the computers and other equipment used by our air traffic controllers are often decades behind the times.

(3) Budget. Each year appropriations for air traffic control must go through the uncertainties of the federal budget process. The result is that long-term planning is nearly impossible. When money is spent, it is often for a project in the district of a powerful member of Congress, rather than a more-needed project in some other district.

One solution Burnley suggested is hiring private companies—"contracting out"—to perform certain FAA functions. While this would help, it doesn't go quite far enough. If we really want to improve air traffic control services, we would consider another option mentioned by Burnley—removing air traffic control from the FAA's hands altogether, creating a new not-for-profit cooperative (jointly owned by the airlines, private pilots, and the controllers themselves) to manage the system.

According to Robert Poole of the California-based Reason Foundation, who developed the privatization plan, this would not only free the air traffic system from the problems it now faces, but would give it the flexibility it needs to meet the growing demands. Safety regulation would be left with the FAA. But with air traffic handled by a separate organization, the FAA would be able to better concentrate its resources on this vital function.

It is too early to tell whether these ideas for reforming FAA will go very far. Already, critics are saying the proposals would create more problems than they solve—that the solution to delays and congestion is to give the FAA more money.

Let's hope Burnley continues with his sensible ideas and rejects those who command more "business as usual."

Senatorial Report

by Senator Ruth Ann Minner

For some years now I've been working to provide tax breaks to working families with children by allowing the same child care deduction that the federal government permits.

The theory is that children in families with two working parents would benefit from the tax break more than the parents because it would encourage parents to get the best child care possible for their children, rather than leave them unattended, or with unskilled care providers, or with pre-teen siblings.

Last week in the Senate, another bill 9SB 316) to help working families was defeated—the so-called family leave bill.

The bill, as amended, would have required all Delaware employers with at least 25 employees to grant family leave without pay for up to 18 months in 2 years to any employee who requested such leave to care for a newborn infant, an adopted child, or an ailing relative.

During the leave period, the employee's benefits, including health care, would have continued.

Those who opposed the bill, including all 8 Republican members of the Senate, paid lip service to the need for strengthening the family in today's society but balked at the idea of a legislative body telling employers what kind of benefits they must provide for their employees.

Time after time, these opponents insisted that such benefits should be the subject of negotiations between management and the employees. Does that mean the Republicans favor unionization of all businesses?

It wasn't too long ago that the same people were using the same argument against the state's Workmen's Compensation Act, which taxes employers to provide compensation to workers injured on the job. The Act was passed because employers were not taking care of employees injured on the job.

I supported SB 316 because I believe its effect on a great number of Delaware's small businesses would be inconsequential. By limiting the bill's provisions to those employers with 25 or more employees, about 88 percent of Delaware's employers were exempted.

For those businesses which would be covered, I also believe the benefits of family leave would more than justify the minimal cost to the employer. Employees from happy families make better employees than those from bitter and frustrated families. Employees who do not have to worry about loved ones while in the work place make better employees. And happy employees contribute to a stable work force, which saves businesses money.

Unhappily, the defeat of SB 316 is one more set-back for the family. But this type of bill will continue to surface in legislatures throughout the nation until the business community realizes that more than 50 percent of families now have two working parents, and the effect on the stability of the family has been devastating.

Ghosts of the Wild West and the Revolutionary War

by U.S. Senator Bill Roth

Do some members of Congress believe that Jesse James and Billy the Kid still terrorize the Wild West? Do some still hear the call of Paul Revere, "the British are coming, the British are coming?" What else could explain the continued maintenance of the guard on the pony express routes to the Wild West or of the moated forts to guard against assault by British sailing ships?

We no longer need to maintain these forts or the mass of bases called for in World War II when we were a nation under arms. They may have been very valuable at one time, but they have since outlived their usefulness. We all know why these unnecessary bases are really kept open. They have been maintained for selfish, political reasons in order to continue the flow of defense dollars into some states and districts. But the budgetary good times are gone. We simply cannot justify throwing money away.

Earlier this year, I introduced legislation which could save the federal government an estimated $2 billion annually by consolidating some U.S. bases. I am pleased to report that the Senate Armed Services Committee recently reported out an amendment to the annual Defense Authorization bill based on my legislation which will next go to the Senate floor for a vote.

A conservative estimate of the potential savings of allowing the Department of Defense to consolidate its bases is $2 billion annually. This figure was derived by the Grace Commission, a group that looks for government savings. They also mention that savings could actually prove far greater.

The Secretary of Defense has established a nine-member bipartisan commission to recommend a list of military bases which can be closed without detriment to the national defense. Under my proposal, the Secretary will have 15 days from the time he receives the Commission's report to accept or reject all of the recommendations; he cannot play politics with base closings by picking and choosing among the recommendations. Closures cannot be dragged out for political purposes either. They must be initiated no later than September 30, 1991 and must be completed no later than September 30, 1995. To help those communities who are hurt by the closing of a local military base, the Secretary of Defense could make economic adjustment assistance available to the impacted community.

This bill is a product of many lengthy consultations between myself, Secretary of Defense Carlucci, Senators Sam Nunn and John Warner of the Senate Armed Services Committee, House Armed Services Chairman Les Aspin and Rep. Richard Army. I think we have produced a fair and balanced bill which encourages and deserves strong bipartisan support.

There is no one in Congress who is not well aware of the budgetary crisis facing our nation. Yet, we have persisted in maintaining military bases which have no visible military use. Hopefully, this amendment will put an end to that practice.

Radioactive Waste Bill gets Senate O.K.

by Congressman Tom Carper

Last October, the House of Representatives passed legislation I introduced to give congressional consent to the Appalachian States Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact. That interstate agreement between the states of Delaware, Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia, would establish a responsible approach to managing the low-level radioactive waste produced by the four states. On April 22, the U.S. Senate joined the House in passing my legislation unanimously.

The disposal of low-level radioactive waste has become increasingly difficult in recent years. While the amount of waste produced has increased, the number of sites for their disposal has been reduced to three. Last year, fourteen generators of 1200 cubic feet of low-level radioactive waste in Delaware shipped their waste all the way to Hanford, Washington.

With this Compact, those cross-country shipments will no longer be necessary. The state of Pennsylvania has agreed to be the host state for a regional low-level radioactive waste disposal facility because they produce 90% of the total amount of low-level waste generated by the four Compact sites. By agreeing to host the facility, Pennsylvania will be allowed to choose its location as long as it meets stringent geological, social, environmental, and technical standards.

Congressional approval of the Compact is welcome news for Delaware. With it, we can establish a safer and more efficient policy for disposing of the low-level radioactive waste we produce.

Person-to-Person Announcement

by Rebecca Moore

Those of you who read "Person to Person" on a regular basis will recall that last Fall we began a series of articles about Vicki Kline, who was expecting her sixth child. We followed Vicki through this potentially life-threatening experience, met each of her family members, and learned of her experiences having such a large family in a zero-population growth world. I had planned to write one last article about the Klines just prior to Vicki's delivery, but somebody had other thoughts in mind. Just about the time I was getting around to calling Vicki and getting all the information on her last six weeks of pregnancy, I learned that Vicki was in the hospital.

Last Thursday afternoon at 5:15, Vicki began to have some uncomfortable contractions. When contractions first begin, it's hard to tell if they are the real thing or not. This was the case with Vicki, so she went ahead with her evening's plans and went to a friend's house for a Mary Kay facial. Keeping one eye on the clock through all this, Vicki timed the continuing contractions. The contractions were becoming stronger--this was not false labor. It was time to get serious about this, as it was obvious that Baby Number Six was well on the way.

Returning home, things really began to move. At 10:10, the amniotic sac surrounding the baby ruptured, and the fluid inside drained out. It was definitely time to head for the hospital. Timmy, Kerri, Stacey, Gregory and Cyndie were dropped off at the home of Peter and Sharyn Helms in Dover, and Vicki and Ken headed for Kent General Hospital and the remaining moments of the long nine months.

Arriving at Kent at 11:00, Vicki was ushered into the birthing room in the maternity ward. Vicki was busy doing LaMaze breathing, and Ken was busy giving her support and coaching. Ken and Vicki have taken LaMaze training six times--in each pregnancy, and they are strong believers in this method of childbirth. This was all taking place on April 28th--Vicki's mother's birthday. They were all hoping that Baby Number Six would arrive on the 28th, so there could be two celebrations on that day, but this was not to be.

At exactly 1:01 on the morning of April 29th, David Andrew Kline took his first breath. He let out a walloping yell, and let all the occupants of the birthing room know that he was alive and well. Dr. Bengzon took "Drew" and placed him on Vicki's stomach so Mom and Dad could get a closer look at their new little one. For the next hour, Vicki, Ken, and Drew took the time to get to know each other. This is a very special time called "bonding" and it brings the family so close. Drew is not a tiny baby. He weighed in at nine pounds, fourteen and three quarters ounces! He is one BIG baby!

The days since then have been busy ones for the Klines. Drew's big sisters and brothers all came in to visit on Friday afternoon. They each took a turn holding him and getting acquainted with him. Everyone was real pleased!

On Saturday, the color of Drew's skin began to change from a healthy pink to a not-so-healthy yellow. Drew became jaundiced. The yellow color of his skin was caused by an increase in bilirubin in his system. If not properly treated, jaundice can cause permanent brain damage. It was found several years ago, that phototherapy, or exposure to lights, breaks down the bilirubin, and the infant is able to eliminate it, thereby removing the danger. Drew was placed in a heated box, wearing covers over his eyes. Florescent lights line the top of this box, and a maximum of Drew's skin was exposed to the lights. All day Saturday and Sunday, Drew stayed in his box, leaving only for visits with Mom when he got hungry. This is hard for the family. Vicki had wanted to have "rooming in"--this is an arrangement in which Drew would be able to stay right in the room with Vicki at all times, except for when Vicki needed a break. Because of Drew's jaundice, the rooming in was not possible.

But Monday is another day. Vicki and Drew are scheduled to go home. Provided Drew's bilirubin count is down, they will bid farewell to Kent General Hospital, and bringing home Baby is always a special event!

David Andrew Kline--nine pounds, fourteen and three quarters ounces, twenty-two inches long. Complete with ten fingers and ten toes, and everything he needs to make him a complete human being. All this being the result of the combining of two tiny cells, invisible to the naked eye. Is there any miracle to compare with the birth of a child? It's been an interesting nine months, and Vicki is relieved to have her precious son out where she can see him and hold him. The pregnancy is over, but the real joy has begun. Congratulations and God's blessings on all of the Klines, now that Baby Drew has made eight!

Prospect United Methodist Church

We were pleased to have Rev. Dan Walker, chaplain of the Methodist Manor of Seaford, as our guest speaker on Sunday, May 1. Rev. Walker gave us an inspiring message using John 15:5 I am the vine, ye are the branches, as his text. He began by telling us a little about his childhood in South Carolina and how his love of reading inspired him to do certain things. At one point he wanted to be like Tarzan and tried swinging on the vines in the woods near his home. Since these vines were connected at both top and bottom, they didn't swing well, so he cut them off at the roots. Later, when he tried swinging, he found he made a very sudden plunge to earth. So it is with us if we cut ourselves off from Christ.

"Remember your leaders, those who spoke to you the word of God; consider the outcome of their life and imitate their faith. Jesus Christ is the same yesterday and today and forever." Hebrews 13:7-8 RSV

When Jesus said, 'Apart from me you can do nothing', he really wasn't speaking of vines and branches, but of our relationship with him. He is the source of life, strength and productivity of a Christian. As the branches we are to bear fruit for Jesus, and to witness for Him. He has called us to help Him; are you answering?

The children's sermon was given by Jean Miller. Her theme was 'Be Prepared'. She gave each child a plain sheet of paper and asked him/her to draw a clown. They told her they needed pencils; she opened a new pack and gave them an unsharpened pencil. They told her they needed it sharpened. She then explained this is what she meant by being prepared. We prepare ourselves to live with Jesus by reading the Bible, going to church, praying and witnessing.

Ushers were John Calvert, David Calvert. Scripture was read by Anthony Gallo. Russell Legates led the service.

Our prayer list: Sonny Shultie, Jerry Hayman, Marshall Anthony, Shirley Walters, George Lock and Karen Melvin.

Words of praise to God were given for the remarkable improvement in Virginia Smith and Karen Melvin.

Coming Events: Friday, May 6, Sale at Spence's Bazaar; Monday, May 9, Pastor-Parish Meeting at Trinity.

Don't forget your Mother on Sunday, May 8; but remember her all year long! God made all the lovely things,

*The trees, the skies of blue,
