

Harrington Council approves price for city hall and sets referendum date

HARRINGTON — The Harrington Council, on Monday night, set June 14th between the hours of 12 noon and 7 p.m. as the times for the referendum on the new city hall.

Last December the town had rejected a site on Liberty Street as the location for a newly constructed city hall. The upcoming referendum will place the current city hall, 110 East Center Street, which the city rents from Mr. and Mrs. William Musser, as the one to be considered for the city hall.

This property will be the only one on the referendum. The funds to purchase the property will be made available through the bi-centennial grant which provides for one half of the purchase price. The other half will be provided by the city through a mortgage arrangement. The amount the city would have to borrow to complete the transaction will be $55,000.

Councilman Donald Jarrell, who heads up the building committee, indicated that some additional monies might be asked for in the loan to do certain renovations to the present hall. Although he admits there appears to be little that has to be done to the building.

In another matter the council discussed the problem that Mrs. Ruth Finch faces in trying to build a house behind her father, Mr. Failing, on Delaware Avenue. She has been trying to get the city to approve her request to build on the 3 acre parcel which is located on the east side of the alley which runs from Liberty Street and parallel with Delaware Avenue. The matter of the frontage on the alley "...or whether she has legal access to her property" as stated by the city solicitor, becomes one of the controlling issues to be resolved. The house she proposes to build is adjacent to the east side of the alley and at the extreme north end of the alley.

The council asked Mrs. Finch to have her attorney present proof that the alley does provide public access. She stated to the council that four or five families use the alley daily to get to the rear of their properties. The alley is 15 feet wide, and divides the Failing property.

In the regular monthly workshop which followed the special meeting, city manager William Smith, presented a proposal to use the Charles Pitts farm for sludge dumping. The cost of the use of the farm is $300 an acre per year.

There are between 120 and 130 acres that can be used. According to Mr. Smith's report, the city would contract to use the farm at 30 acre segments and the payment would be in two parts of $4,500 each.

Councilman James C. Temple, Jr. discussed the need to have a study and review made of the waste water treatment plant to determine if it would handle any more users. "We have quite a bit of growth proposed for the city and I think it is time we looked into the needs down at the sewer plant," he said.

He proposed that an evening be set aside for just this issue "...to determine where we are going with this sewer plant."

Lake Forest Board meets post referendum

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.
HARRINGTON — Monday night the school board met for the first time since last Tuesday's election on the referendum, which saw the district vote in favor of the salary equalization and the building improvement program.

The original tax rate for the two part question was supposed to hike the current tax rate 64.3 per $100 of assessed property valuation, but in fact the board voted to hike the tax rate to 69.9 per $100 of assessed value.

According to board president, H. Earl Roberts, "the need to increase the tax rate another 5.6 cents was in order to meet the cost of out of district tuition for those who need special education facilities."

According to Dr. James H. VanSeiver, district Superintendent, the increased tax hike was not known to the district office until after the referendum. "We are simply also trying to avoid deficits in this area, which has been the case in recent years. If families of these students move out of the district and we have a surplus, then we can adjust the tax rate down next year...but on the other hand if more move in, we can avoid a deficit with this increase now," he said.

The assessed values in the district rose from $188,959,828 up to $196,774,989, which is an additional $7,815,161. "This means that the district has current revenue in the amount of $718,318 and what is anticipated is $1,087,047, which is an increase of about $370,000," he added.

The board has set in motion a means to select a "Citizens Advisory Group", and already 10 citizens of the district have expressed an interest in serving on the committee. Those interested are: Edward Moore (Frederica), John Manter (Harrington), William Dannenhauer (Felton), Cheryl Moore (Felton), Ed Voshell (Felton), Janet Leitch (Frederica), Edward Gerardi (Felton), David Dill (Felton), Kenny Paul Outten (Harrington), and Tom Stanton (Felton).

A meeting is set for June 9th to select the people to serve on the committee and then the committee will select its chairperson.

The matter of the smoking policy was tabled until the June meeting as was the appointment of an assistant for administrative services, a job created when Mr. Richard Moretti resigned.

The board did not decide in what order the money from the referendum would be used in the district. According to board president, H. Earl Roberts, the major work would not begin in the district until sometime during the summer of 1989. "It will take approximately four years to do all of the work, and it will be done in two funding stages. We also must tackle it so that education is not disrupted," he said.

The State Board of Education will meet on the 26th of May (Thursday) to certify to the state board, the district election and the district referendum. The state then will begin work to sell the bonds as a result of the referendum, and this is followed by detailed specifications of the work to be done.

Results of the Lake Forest Referendum which passed last Tuesday

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.
HARRINGTON — The long-sought passage of the LF school district two-part referendum passed by a wide margin last Tuesday. The first part, on salary equalization, passed in all districts except Lake Forest South (Harrington) and the major capital improvement passed in all districts.

This was the third try in an effort to get what the school board stated, was overdue on badly needed repairs to the district buildings. In that part of the referendum which had to do with major capital improvements, a new district administrative building is planned.

What the voters have endorsed is a 17.4 cent hike to the tax of 40.6 cents per $100 of assessed property values, which will make the district eligible for the so-called "minimum of $250,000 in state equalization money."

The bond approved will hike the tax an additional 6.3 cents on the property tax and a $5 increase to the $15 capitation tax already in existence.

Due to the Memorial Day Holiday next week, the Harrington Journal will be closed on Monday, May 30. Therefore, the deadline for news and advertisements in the June 1 issue will be Friday, May 27.

No, folks, this is not the Sports Page. We merely felt that the three athletes below deserved a little special recognition for their achievements.

Teresa Taylor, center, is flanked by her mother and father, Betty and Bob Taylor, as she was named West Virginia Conference Player of the Year, first team All-West Virginia Conference, first team All-District and District 28 All-Tournament. She just completed her sophomore year at Shepherd College in West Virginia. Her 1988 season averages were batting .482; 40 hits; 41 RBI's; 3 doubles; 7 triples; six home runs; and a .904 slugging percentage. Should the Orioles be wondering? Photo by HGF.

Lake Forest varsity baseball coach, Bill Falasco, was named Henlopen Conference Coach of the Year for the second year running. His Spartans were defending southern division champs and have repeated. They are headed for the state tournament which begins on the LF field Tuesday, May 31st at 5 p.m. (opponent to be announced). He says he does not pay too much attention to personal stats. "I just go on today and tomorrow, try to develop a good attitude with the kids, look for their weaknesses and build on that, and correct bad habits." Coach Falasco has been at Lake Forest for 16 years where he has had many winning seasons and many times selected Coach of the Year. Photo by HGF.

Coach Alex Becton was named Tennis Coach of the Year in the Henlopen Conference. This is Coach Becton's 8th year of coaching tennis and it is the first time in the history of the sport at Lake Forest that they have not had a losing season. This year they were .500. Photo by HGF.

Of community interest is the annual Memorial Day Service prepared by the local American Legion, CKRT Post -7, scheduled for twelve o'clock noon at the Hollywood Cemetery, Monday, May 30.

It must be recorded again that the May 14 presentation of the Merry Makers in which Bill Smith's daughter, Elvia Rae, and her fellow singers performed for members and guests, was a resounding success, and one of the club's highlights of the year's activities.

Another event that must not be overlooked is the visit by six young businessmen from Sweden when, under the Group Study Exchange program, they visited the Lake Forest High School facilities under the guidance of Harrington Rotary.

Following District #763's convention in Ocean City, delegates Joe Brame and Mel Luff gave reports of the weekend's activities. Also reported upon was Tom Englehart's account of the seminar for incoming officers held at the Sheraton Inn in Dover.

Contributions during the month were made to the Little League through its advertising program, as well as a renewal of the large-type edition of the Reader's Digest to the Harrington Senior Center.

Plans are getting under way for the club's activity during Heritage Day program scheduled by the Harrington Historical Society in September.

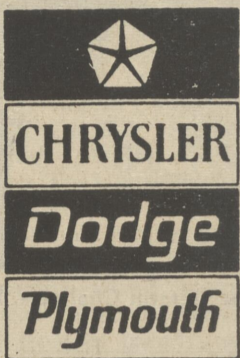

Janie Warren, the local club's scholar under the Rotary Foundation Program, flew to London on May 13 and from there to Dublin. After a few days she returned to London where she toured the area as a guest of England's Department of Agriculture. Later she flew to Stockholm where she was treated to tours of agricultural areas. She was sent on this trip by the U.S. Department of Agriculture where she is employed.

Programs for June include a program by the AME Choir of Harrington being arranged by the Rev. Joseph Brame for Thursday, June 2, to follow the regular meeting of the club. Then on Wednesday, June 8, Gayle Smith is again hosting the annual fishing trip to leave Lewes on the Lewestown lady at 6 a.m. from Fisherman's Wharf. Thursday, June 9, Dr. Arthur Gilbert will present members of the Odyssey of Officials at Lake Forest School District report that East Elementary School second-grader Suzanne Stapleford recently participated in a National Piano Playing Audition at Wesley College.

"Dr. Irl Allison, Sr., Guild Founder, perfected a plan of motivation for piano pupils of the nation that not only tends to keep students studying through grade and high school, but prepares them adequately for colleges with music degrees," explained Richard Seyler, East Elementary Principal. "All candidates receive certificates according to achievement. Judges of the competition give written comments that are of great value to the individual students. Guild grades are attained through management of individual merit, not through competitive elimination. Suzanne will know of her results later in the spring." She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stapleford of Frederica.

As Time Goes By...

Do You Remember?

by Dorothy Graham

To Smile? Hi, and a very special best wishes to each of you!! You make my day many times by the calls, notes, visits and just seeing you at different functions of our life!

Do you remember your wedding day? How about a surprise shower? Do you remember your rehearsal and the dinner following - "rehearsal dinner"? What song or songs did they sing? Was it organ or piano music? Do you remember the color of the walls (where ever you were married)? How about the minister? Did he have gray, brown, black or blonde hair? Do you remember where your wedding pictures are stored? What is all of this leading up to? Well, honey, it's just this — my grandson, Leland Lester Hobbs and Lori Hannah, his fiancé were united in a double ring ceremony at the Harrington Baptist Church on May 14, 1988, 4:30 p.m. The reception was at Farmington Fire Hall. Pastor Watson officiating. The Unity Candle was lit by the Bride's Mother, "Ginny" Hannah and the Groom's Mother Gene Hobbs.

It was interesting at the part of the ceremony that Pastor Watson said to Lori "obey", a startled "ah-ah" sound did emit from the friends and relatives that filled the church. "Bobby" Thompson caught it all on video. As the tape of the wedding unrolled, "Les" was annoyed at all that had transpired. He said, "Hey, I don't remember that," again and again he made the remark - when the organist Rosalee Kelly was playing for the soloist Marlene Hurd, the beautiful song "Oh Hear Us Now Our Father." Again, Les got misty eyed when his Best man and cousin, Todd Dennis and Marlene Hurd sang the duet "Sunrise-Sunset". Now listen, honey, I firmly believe that every once in a while we should go to a wedding to see and hear Love in Bloom. And say, isn't that taping idea a good one, for many that saw it said "Yes, Les, I know what you mean." The adorable little flower girl, Sarah, was like her taffeta gown — a peach! The ring bearer, in white, Michael Needles looked like Les in miniature. It was uncanny how, at his age, how much he looked like L.L. Hobbs Jr. Cute as a button! The bridesmaids wore peach taffeta and carried beautifully detailed ivory purses and the flowers looked as though they had just been picked from a lovely summer garden in Hawaii - miniature white orchids, peach roses and white babies breath. As Rosalee played the wedding music and we all stood for the entrance of the Bride, a spark of anticipation is finally being fulfilled. Lori was a dream in her white taffeta and chintilly lace accented with veils and lots of pearls. Her finger tip veil made her sweet glowing face something to remember. Do you remember your daughter or son's wedding day? Do you remember the headpiece? Lori's was chintilly lace and pearls. Her bouquet of Callalilies, rose handkerchief from her great-great aunt, made a picture that was "picture perfect". Brides are beautiful aren't they? Well, sweetie the Groom, too, was a pleasant sight. His black hair surely did make his white tails and peach cummerbund look sharp. Believe me!

Lori's friend and Maid of Honor was Debbie Blizman of Richmond, Va. "Barb" Sherwood, Felton, Kathy Gervich, Cranberry, Pa., and Tina Hannah were bridesmaids, and all lovely too! Can't forget the Ushers. Oh, no, for a wedding without the handsome males just wouldn't be a complete picture and Todd Hannah of Harrington, Todd Dennis (my grandson), Felton, Abner Baird (Turtle), Felton and Ty Sherwood, also of Felton, rounded out the perfectly lovely satisfying wedding of Lori and Lester. May their days be healthy, happy and prosperous. Know for sure Lester's father and Gene's husband, Leland Lester Hobbs, Sr. was surprisingly happy with the entire wedding picture. Lester Sr. went to sleep November 1987. Gone but not forgotten.

The rehearsal dinner was given by Lester's mother, Gene at the Colony Inn. Out of town guests were able to be present. Decorating by Pete and Gracie Callaway. The wedding party and guests were friendly and chatted a couple of hours. Lots of introducing of course — Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ray, Bride's Grandparents, Mustang, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hannah, Brides Grandparents, Evans City, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hannah, Brides aunt and uncle, also of Evans City; Mrs. Darlene Tindall of Veneta, Ore, Brides aunt; Mrs. Carolyn Worth of New Bedford, Mass.; Miss Juanita Shupe, Brides great aunt of Mustang, Okla.; Miss Dorothy Toaker, Brides aunt, Oklahoma City, Okla.

The toast at the reception was made by Les' cousin, E. Todd Dennis. Everyone and everything at the reception was GREAT. Those ladies of Farmington Ladies Auxiliary can truly give you a tasty meal. Several remarked about the delicious dressing. Their service was "first-class". The gorgeous wedding cake was also DELICIOUS, but honey, you should have been there as they cut the first slice — zap went the first slice in the very surprised groom — Lori had won the first round!! It was fun for everyone and Les was a good sport as he cleaned his eyes, nose and mouth. The music was provided by Donna Cavender - moving sound, broadcasting from WDSB. The newlywed couple had the first dance and the Bride danced with her father and the Groom, his mother. Those that sat by the sidelines enjoyed the dancing as much as those dancing! There were tempos for all kinds of dancing, but do you know when they got into the jitter bug and bunny hop, most everyone's toes and fingers were keeping time, a lot of us danced with our feet under the table and hands above the table. It would have been nice to have been able to take a round the dim lighted room, Me, for one, was remembering the day that was possible. Watching the smiling faces compensated for it.

Gracious me, I almost forgot the shower given at the Colony Inn for Lori. It was a huge success.

Can't finish this column without asking you men — do you remember your bachelor party? Lester won't, I'm sure. You ask him about that!

From the engagement announcement to the honeymoon at Ocean City, Md. — was an affair well enjoyed. No — no one went on the honeymoon with Lori and Les. They are remodeling their home in Harrington. Lori is an R.N. at Kent General. Les works in Dover. Best wishes to two fine young people. We love you.

Do remember to give your sweetie a big hug and kiss in remembrance of days you have had to enjoy the beauty of nature - friends and family, of course. Call your children, mother, father and friends that you haven't heard from lately.

Hi Ann, Barb, Kelley, Dawn, Shilah, Joan, Dickie, Elaine, Dorothy, Randall, Ada, Zena, Hazel, Kathy, Marjorie, Allan, Sally, Michael, Cindy, Twins. Hi in a very special way to all of you out of towners: Troy, Lisa, T.G., Alice, Emile, George, Donna, Sid, Tonni, Josie, Bill, Listen, honey, the list is getting too long. See you next time. Do you remember when they serenaded newlyweds? I remember mine. Gene remembers hers - she was scared half out of her wits. Emile Gerardi do you remember yours? How about it Elizabeth? Anna Mae Short's was quite interesting. They (she and hubby) went away but the serenaders helped themselves and made ice cream. I do believe they made cake also. Quite a surprise I should think! Best wishes to all concerned.

Laura Lee (Lori) is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hannah. Leland Lester Hobbs Jr. is the son of deceased L.L. Hobbs, Sr. and Mrs. Lester Hobbs Sr. (Gene).

*Give Your Best
Whatever you have that is good, my dear,
That will make this old world more true,
Just scatter it everywhere you go
And watch the good come back to you.*

*The more you give, the more content you'll be,
And your measure of joy will grow
More beautiful and deeper day by day
Until it's depth but God can know.*

*If you would make a friend, you must be a friend,
Then success in your life is sure,
Cheerfulness travels like a gleam of light,
And tolerance is bright and pure.*

*Then whatever it is you ask of Life,
Depends each day on what you do;
There's only one way to do the best,
and that's by Giving the best that you have in you.*

Asbury United Methodist Church

William Dore, Pastor.
 "O give thanks to the Lord, for He is good; His steadfast love endures forever!" Psalm 118:1
 Sunday, Mr. Carlton Goodhand of the Gideons brought us the morning message. He spoke about the work of the Gideons in making the Bible available to people in all parts of the world. He asks us to keep this organization in our prayers as it reaches out to others for Jesus Christ.
 Our capable lay readers Sunday were LeRoy Betts, Don Garey and Walter Voss.
 The front of our weekly bulletins for the Pentecost season have been designed by the "Followers" Sunday School class. Last week's bulletin cover was designed by Cindy McCarter. We recognize this class of fifth and sixth graders for their very special contribution to the beautiful season celebrating the descension of the Holy Spirit to fill and empower Jesus' disciples.
 Next Sunday our speaker for the worship service will be the Reverend Dan Walker.

 Prayers are asked for the Peninsula Conference which began May 23rd in Dover, that all involved will put "self" aside and be led by the Holy Spirit to accomplish God's will.
 The Children's Fair last Saturday was a fun time for all attending. The weather was beautiful, and there was a spirit of fun and laughter that the Lord wants his people to have. We appreciate the United Methodist Women, and especially Ruth Layne, for their hard work in making this event possible.
 Serving next Sunday--Acolyte: Christy Olson; Bell Ringer: Christy Olson; Nursery: Sandra and Billy Parker; Greeters: Mr. and Mrs. Donald Garey.
 Bible Trivia: What was strange about the promise God made Abraham that he would be the father of many nations? (answer in Genesis)
 "Do not neglect to show hospitality to strangers, for thereby some have entertained angels unawares." Hebrews 13:2.

Prospect United Methodist Church

And when the day of Pentecost was fully come...Acts 2:1. May 22 was Pentecost Sunday. This was the 50th day after Easter Sunday. Originally it was a Jewish Celebration dedicated to the first-fruits of the corn harvest but the events of Acts 2 transformed the Jewish festival into a Christian one. In accordance with this day our service was centered around the coming of the Holy Spirit recorded in Acts 2. The choir beautifully sang, Come, Holy Spirit.
 Rev. Holliday's sermon was "The Power of New Wine". As the Apostles were all together in the locked room they were filled with fear. The sound of a rushing mighty wind filled the house. As they were filled with the Holy Ghost, they began to speak in other tongues and everyone that heard understood, those who mocked said, "they are filled with new wine." But the new wine was none other than the Holy Spirit. Our Christian faith does matter - we need feeling - ENTHUSIASM. If we are obsessed by God we are enthusiastic!
 Jean Miller's children's sermon was on illness of the body, mind and soul. We can go to the doctor, have tests, get a prescription and then take medicine for a physical or mental ailment. But the illness of the soul is sin-disobedience to God. What the doctor does for our body and mind, God does for our soul. God's love is the prescription for our sin. That love comes to us thru His Son, Jesus.

 Our prayer list: Jerry Hayman, Sonny Shultie, Doris Monath, Myrtle Hanson, Goldie Burton, Karen Melvin. A prayer of thanks was offered for the safe return of Melville and Mary Taylor from Florida.
 Psalter was led by Russell Legates. Scripture was read by Hyland Webb. Ushers were Kim Zeiter and Elaine Zeiter.
 Our Peninsula Annual Conference is this week, May 23-26.
 Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me. Psalm 51:10.
 But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance; against such there is no law. Galatians 5:22, 23.

 The Spartan varsity baseball team continued their winning roll with a win over Woodbridge last Tuesday with a 7-0 trouncing.
 The Spartans moved to a 7-3 record in the conference and overall.
 Greg Reed got the win in relief of Steve Thompson, to improve his record 2-1.
 On Thursday, the Spartans turned in a miserable performance to arch-rival, Milford Bucs. The Spartans wrapped up their second consecutive Southern Division Henlopen Conference title in the win against Woodbridge — but it was a let down at Milford on Thursday. Coach Bill Falasco, voted Coach of the Year in the Conference, was visibly shaken by the defeat. Coach Falasco admitted his Spartans missed key opportunities prior to the ill-fated sixth inning. "We should have been up 5 or 6 runs — but baserunning mistakes and mistakes at the plate on missed bunts just can't be measured. These things come back to haunt you — and they will beat you," said Coach Falasco.

 The Spartans battled back throughout the game, but miscues cost the victory for the Spartan baseball team.

Hughes Scrapper player, Heather Vanderwende, waits to belt the pitch in Monday night Felton Little Action.
 Felton Little League standings are: T-Ball — Sussex Trust 2-4; Donovans Dock 1-5; Berry Van Lines 2-4; Domino Pizza 4-1; High Point 5-1; Murderkill Lions 4-7; Minors — Heritage Homes 4-2; Lake Forest Mobile Homes 4-1; WSFS 0-6; Frenchie's Dock 2-1; Collins Garage 3-1; Stayton's Sand & Gravel 2-4. ## W.T. Chipman girls end with 2 track wins

by Keith S. Burgess
 W.T. Chipman School's Girls' Track team ended a successful season by annexing victories over Seaford 55-45 and Selbyville Junior High 70-26.

This writer is sometimes puzzled when Chipman School (7th and 8th grades) takes on a true junior high (7-8-9) in athletic competition. Sometimes the foe will bring their freshmen, putting Chipman at a disadvantage.
 Selbyville used freshmen, but we don't know if Seaford did or not. But, the Chipman boys also won two meets, so the ninth graders did not tip the balance.

The Seaford meet was close. With the high jump the final event, the Spartans needed only a third place to win the meet. Ginger Jensen cleared 3 feet, 10 inches to finish third, but Alysia Hughes went over 4 feet to win the event and tally the insurance points.

Stacy Smith and Romanda Ross were first and third in the 100. Smith and Mia Benson went 1-3 in the 200.

Smith, Ross, Lowanna Tilghman and Denise Roberts took the 400 relay in 55 seconds. With Arkeya Snell replacing Smith, the Spartans relayed 800 meters in 1:59. Snell and Vanessa Broughton went 1-2, at 400 meters, clocking under 68 seconds.

Roberts (14-7½) Snell (14-5½) and Tilghman (13-8) swept the long jump, with performances good enough to score points at the high school level.
 Cheryl Mundras and tiny Orgela Briggs are seventh graders with under three minute clockings, for 800 meters, already. The pair were first and third against Selbyville in 2:58 and 2:59, respectively. Mundras has done 2:56 and Briggs was running a distance longer than 200 meters for only the second time in her life. She did 3:04, the first time. These girls should be under 2:50 in grade 8, next year and might eventually make the LFHS record book. They have certainly made impressive debuts.

Delema Dixon has thirds in the shot and discus, Broughton was third in the 55 meter hurdles in 10.96.

Ginger Jensen was a strong third in the 1600 meter run in 7:05. Since that effort had to take something out of her, Jensen's 3:08 800 meters for fourth against Seaford and third against Selbyville was a fine effort also. Mundras and Briggs were 1-2 against Selbyville in the event.

Selbyville won only three events. Broughton moved up to second in the hurdles with Alysia Hughes getting third.

Ross moved to second behind Smith in the 100. Jensen was the 1600 winner. The results in the high jump, long jump, shot, discus, the relays and the 400 saw the Chipman girls finish in the same spots, as they did against Seaford. The season is over and it appears this team will send prospects to LFHS in '89 and '90.

Spartan boys 2nd in 13 team State meet

by Keith S. Burgess
 Lake Forest's track season ended as it began, with an excellent showing. The Spartans shrugged off the loss, by injury of Jason Tiggs, who last year was state champion, at 200 and 400 meters. Tiggs also anchored the state champion Spartan 1600 meter relay team, which established a school record of 3:27.5. Tiggs could have been expected to score heavily in four events. Howard Career Center of Wilmington would have still been state champs if Tiggs had been healthy, but the Spartans would have been much closer.

The packed stadium at Dover High was rooting for senior Spartan pole vaulter, Bob Reed, to set a new, state record. Reed earlier had tied the old mark of 14 feet, 6 inches. Reed cleared 14 feet by perhaps nine or ten inches, then narrowly missed on his first try at 14-7. He hopes to get the new mark in the Meet of Champions, held in Philadelphia in two weeks.

Lake Forest's other winner, Mark Tozer, added his fourth state championship in two years, when he finally shook Howard's Al Pegram in the 1600 meter run, to win in 4:25.3. The old school mark of 4:29.6 had been set by Tozer in the Henlopen meet one week earlier.

Pegram eased off to 4:33.5, which may have helped him beat Tozer at 3200 meters, with 10:00.4 to 10:15. The 1600 was contested under a warm sun, which has been conspicuously absent for practically all of this track season. Both runners were undoubtedly slowed by the unfamiliar heat and humidity in the 1600, at least as far as the possibility of a good time in the 3200 was concerned.

Pegram had done 9:52 this spring and Tozer did 9:54 as a junior, but both visibly slowed after running together through a fast 4.49 for four laps.

Terraine Giddens was a close second, at 200 meters, in 23.5, just one tick off his school mark.

Freshman Mac Holmes took Tiggs' place in the 800 meter relay. Lake Forest's second place of 1:31.9 was faster than that of the Spartans' state champ foursome in 1987.

Lake Forest's 400 relay quartet was also second in 44.5. The Spartan's speedy relayers were Petie Davis, Herman Mosley, Rod Parker, Mac Holmes and Terraine Giddens, good for 16 points in the two races.

Giddens (11.2) third and Parker (11.2) fifth saw Parker hit a new best and establishes him as a leading candidate, with Davis for the No. 1 sprint spot at Lake Forest in 1989.

Paul Adkins, Marvin Hicks and Pete Luckenbach, were 4-5-6 in the discus respectively.

Steve Clute did a bang up job in the 800. He drew a bad pole position and as a result was caught in heavy traffic early. Eventually, he found racing room and fought his way up to fifth place, in a personal best 2:06+. But, for the crowded conditions, at the start, we are certain he would have been clocked in 2:04+.

Carl Young was another Spartan to record a new personal record as he was sixth, in the 300 intermediate hurdles in 42.7. Petie Davis was sixth in the long jump (20-1 1/2).

Freshman rising star, Mac Holmes, unleashed a lifetime best leap of 42-6 in the triple jump for sixth place. Ironically, Holmes would have been state champ in Division I (big schools) by more than a foot.

Spartan relays (1600) and (3200) came in fifth each, although in both cases, the quartets were made up of young, inexperienced athletes, who were running in events not suited to them. But they hung tough and picked up four points. Since Lake Forest only beat third-place Tower Hill by three points, the importance of never giving up until the finish line is reached, is apparent.

State champs Bob Reed and Mark Tozer are graduating and are irreplaceable. Athletes of this caliber perhaps come along every 10 years. Reed's course, is tied for the honor on page one best in Delaware, in history, and he has one start left. Jason Tiggs and Terraine Giddens virtually rewrote the Spartan record book and own four records between them. They, also cannot be replaced. Tozer owns two long distance records (1600 and 3200).

Steve Clute started achieving success at W.T. Chipman and although not a record breaker, he was extremely valuable as a leader and as an athlete, who could run very well at 400, 1600, 3200 and the cross-country distance of 5,000 meters. The school won state titles in both track and cross-country, which he was here and this was due, in no small part, to the hardworking Steve Clute. While Spartan students with perhaps more athletic ability were reluctant to tackle the hard work of long distance running, Clute was giving his all for LFHS.

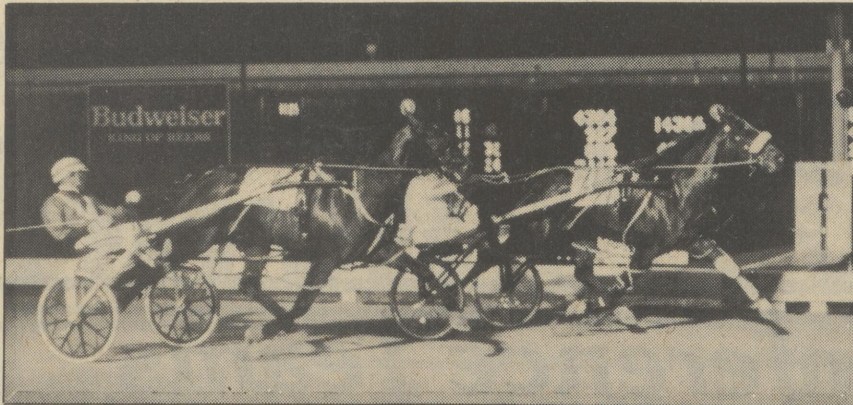

Marvin Hicks is better-known for his exploits in football and wrestling (state champ) but has scored a ton of points in the shot and discus, for his school. Paul Adkins and Kevin Carter are the final seniors, of the eight who are done here. Both are weight men with Adkins throwing the discus close to 135 feet, to become No. 4 on the all-time list here.

In addition to some promising newcomers mentioned earlier, Jim Blades is fortunate to have three freshmen, who have made giant strides already.

Ricky Porter cleared 10 feet in the pole vault, Saturday, which tied the sixth place effort. Ricky lost the position, under the more misses rule, but reached a new high. He and Darren Lawson should handle the event here in 1989.

Alex Winchester returns as the No. 1 high hurdler, as he was this year. His 15.7 was one tenth of a second off of sixth Saturday. Mike Smith did six feet in the high jump. Only three jumpers beat that, but Mike lost out on the more misses rule. He's done six feet, two inches and is only 2 1/2 inches from the school mark. With lads like these, look for continued track and cross-country success at Lake Forest.

LF Spartan girls get fourth at State track meet

by Keith S. Burgess

Lake Forest's girls' track team was fourth in the 16-team Division II track meet, held at Dover High on Saturday. Like the Spartan boys, Lake Forest was the first public high school in the competition. This means that the non-public schools are not restricted to a district boundary, as is the case here. Some of these non-public schools reputedly recruit, even from other states. We may have witnessed one such recruiting episode Saturday.

Mary McGuire, the little ball of fire, who competed in and usually scored in four events, saw all her hard work pay off, as she is now a state champion. The senior hurdled the discus 108 feet, 9 inches to upset the top seed, set a new personal best and approached the school mark of 113-11, set by Sharon Burton five years ago.

Mary was third in the high jump (4-10) behind the second-place effort of teammate and fellow senior, Africia Bell, who did 5 feet even.

Tara Dixon, the Spartan superstar, set a new school mark in the 300 hurdles, when she clocked 46.6, the same time as the winning hurdler. Dixon just missed in her attempt to win this event for the third straight time. However, she will be back in 1989.

Dixon tied her school mark in the 100 meters, when she was second in 15.2. Dixon ran anchor on a Spartan quartet, that was third in 1:49.6 in the 800 relay. Tonya Norris, Renee Coverdale and Shani Palmer completed this race in the fastest such clocking here, in the last seven years.

Renee Scott, a senior, long jumped 15-7, good for fifth place. Her lifetime best was achieved in her final meet. Voanita Cherry spun the discus 95-feet 5 1/2 inches to come in sixth. She should be a worthy successor to McGuire and has a chance to be the best ever here, since she has the size, that McGuire does not have.

Senior Tina Swafford, like several others, reached her peak in this meet, hurling the shot 31 feet, 2 inches for a lifetime best and 5th place.

Other examples of Spartan peakings at the right time saw the 1600 and 3200 relay squads finish 5th and 6th respectively, with the fastest clockings of the spring.

Shani Palmer, the Woodside Will-of-the-Wisp has an unusual running style. She appears to be floating around the track. She's known as a talented relay specialist, who sometimes runs the 400. In the 1600 relay, Palmer opened with a sparkling leg of 52.6, which is more than four, full seconds faster than that done by any distaff Spartan this season. That's only 1 1/2 seconds of the school mark here and Palmer, a junior, has only run the event sporadically. We are looking forward to see her run in 1989.

The girls also graduate eight seniors. Ilka Bewerunge, a pretty, 6 feet, 1 inch foreign exchange student, from Germany, lettered in the high jump. Melissa Scott was a hurdler, Melanie Pelton and Lorraine Lake started running at Chipman and were valuable performers as distance runners in cross country and track. The other seniors were covered elsewhere in this article.

We would like to comment on Africia Bell. Africia jumped 4 feet 11 inches as a high jumper at Chipman. A leg injury, in basketball, necessitated several operations and severely curtailed what promised to be one of the most outstanding and versatile athletic careers in the twenty years of Lake Forest existence.

Bell did manage to jump 5-2 and become a co-holder of the school mark here, but still wears a brace some of the time. Tisha Milligan of Seaford set a new state mark of 5-6 this spring. But for the injury, we feel that Bell and Milligan would have had some exciting confrontations over the last three years.

The girls will not be hurt too badly by graduation and with Baxter Smith sending up some prospects from Chipman School, the ladies can look forward to another good year in 1989.

Delaware comes up big in Battle of the Brandywine prevues

by Marv Bachrad

A Delaware based horse won one division while the First State's all time leading driver won another highlighting a Super Sunday of harness racing at Brandywine, last week.

The David Rovine Stable which trained the winner of last years Battle of the Brandywine, have a chance for an unprecedented second in a row this season after Only Mine led off the three $20,000 Battle Prevue divisions, the elimination round for the 29th renewal of the $100,000 Battle of the Brandywine.

Only Mine, scored the fastest victory of the night when Donald Dancer guided the Big Towner colt to a 1:56.1 win. Big Eyes set the mean fractions. He was stung racing two wide by Loncar (Ray Remmen) for a 28, opening quarter. Townation and Yves Filion then immediately came at him on the clubhouse turn and they raced as a two-some until after the three-quarters, when the Canadian owned colt went on a break while leading on the outside. Big Eyes then opened up four lengths around the far turn before Dancer and Only Mine streaked past the big hearted colt for the win. Big Eyes and driver John Hogan had to settle for a well earned second while Bobby Aussie (Bill Mullin) was third.

Burnam and Star Splash never had a chance, as they were impeded when Townation went off stride at the three-quarters.

In similar fashion, Champagne Enforcer took advantage of a breaking horse to win the second division. Hot Selection took the lead quickly from the eight post, and led through panels of 28.4 and 59 appearing to be well in control as the 3-year-olds approached the three-quarters. Suddenly, the Warm Breeze colt broke stride. Alert Bill O'Donnell took advantage of the situation, sending the son of little known Samadhi, an unraced Meadow Skipper brother to Sonsam, from second into the lead and on to victory in 1:57. Owned by Harold Williams, Phoenix Brook Farm and trainer Robert Nixon, Champagne Enforcer won for the fifth time in his last six starts. Even Odds (Ben Webster) closed for second money while Kimbell Almahurst took show honors for Eddie Davis.

Davis then made the winners circle with Eddie The Quick in the 3rd Prevue. Leaving fast from the seven post, Eddie The Quick didn't get past early leader Governor Dan (Bob Shahan) until after the first quarter. They never looked back fashioning a 1:57 victory holding off the O'Donnell driven Hearty Welcome by a head. Store Wars, who was the odds-on favorite, was shuffled back from his one post position and never had a chance to escape from road trouble until late in the stretch when Ben Webster shook him loose and closed fast for third and a berth in The *****000 Battle on Sunday.

In other Sunday races, Donald Dancer and the Rovine stable and trainer Joe Holloway combined for two more winners. Sonrise Sonset came from far back for a 1:58.3 triumph in a $5,200 Open Pace and New Creation was much the best in a 1:58.2 victory in a $2,900 pace. All but one race of 11, were faster than 2:00.

Yves Filion and Seminole Lobell were much the best in a $7,200 Open Pace. They never saw the rail, after being impeded early and parked unovered until late in the stretch enroute to a 1:58.1 win over Champagne Lobell (Archie McNeil) with Suitcase (Shahan) third.

On Saturday, a $900 yearling purchase at the 1986 Octoberfest Freehold sale, stamped himself a rags-to-riches story when 21-year-old driver Vince Fusco, Jr. steered the 3-year-old to victory in The $10,000 Stepping Stone Series Final. The George Allen colt found racing room late in the stretch and shot through to score a 1:59.4 triumph edging Thrusty Guy (Bobby Myers) in the photo. Rexworth (Jody Stafford) finished third.

In highly competitive female pacing feature action, Jameela received a perfect drive from Jody Stafford, who saved room along the inside, moved to the outside and had just enough to overtake leader Dream Magic (Morgan McInnis) in the last two strides for a 1:58.3 neck triumph in a $5,200 Fillies and Mares Open Pace. Dream Magic led from the start and had her way for a 1:00.4 half and had to settle for second despite a 57.4 last half mile and 28.4 final quarter. Classy Nancy, was third for the first time after 9 wins and a second in her career.

Nellie Rocklin returned to form in a $4,200 Fillies and Mares Open with Ross Hayter steering the veteran 5-year-old to her first win of the season a 1:59.2 score. Tyler Dove (Bob Uebel) just nipped Country Hanover N (Eddie Dunnigan) for the place. Another track regular, Meta Escape returned to the circle in another Fillies and Mares event, pulling Jim Porter to a 2:00 win. Cindy's Action started the weekend action with an impressive 2:00 effort winning the $5,000 Open-Handicap Trot. The 5-year-old Speed In Action mare, never saw the rail after starting on the outside and was parked all the journey. She wore down Warm Toast (Jimmy Takter), who had led from after the quarter, to pull away for a 1 1/4 length victory. Warm Toast held second with Meridot Windswept rallying from far back for third.

W.T. Chipman boys down Seaford, Selbyville

by Keith S. Burgess

Baxter Smith's W.T. Chipman School boys track team downed Selbyville Junior High 58-42 and Seaford 68-32 in a double-dual meet at Lake Forest High School.

Against Selbyville, which used 9th graders, the locals opened on a high note with a sweep of the hurdles and never looked back. Kenny Bailey (15.5), Lamar Benson (15.53) and Tater Harris did the honors. Terrence Benson (11.68) took 2nd in the 100 in what may be his best century ever.

The Twardus brothers, Danny, 13 and Bryon, 12, were first and second at 1600 meters. Danny's clocking is a new, personal best, while seventh grader Bryon's was either a new, personal record, or just a clock tick away. Steve Cawby (5.53) in third, ran very well also.

Hall of Selbyville, the 100 winner was clocked in 11.5. He had a terrible start but is very fast. He is also a 16-year-old freshman, who may not get to run track in 1989, since Indian River High does not have a track team at present.

Mark Bordley, Tony Hooks, Kenny Bailey and Terrence Benson captured the 400 relay in 48 seconds. Chipman was awarded the 800 relay, when Selbyville was disqualified for passing the baton outside the zone.

Robert Godwin did the 400 in 60.8 for 5 points, while Terrence Benson (25.9) Jermaine Harmon and Eric Moses swept the 200.

Howard Young was second, at 800 meters, in 2:31.9, several seconds faster than before. Tired from his yeoman work in the 1600, Danny Twardus came in with a good kick for third. Willis Warren was 3rd in the shot.

Tony Hooks (18 feet) and Robert Godwin were first and second in the long jump, against each visiting team. Jermaine Harmon and Kenny Bailey each made 5 feet 1 inch, for second and third in the high jump in the Seaford meet.

Willis Warren's 35-7 toss, won the shot put. Mark Bordley, Lamar Benson, Bob Godwin and Jermaine Harmon relayed 800 meters in 1:48.4.

Godwin (60.8), Bailey and Harris blanked Seaford in the 400 meters, while the Twardus brothers dropped back to second and third against Seaford in the 1600 meters.

Terrence Benson's 11.68 stood up against the Blue Jays, while the hurdles, the 400 relay, the 800 and the 200, saw Chipman's runners finish in the same spots against both Selbyville and Seaford.

This is a strong team, which should send some very good prospects to bolster the Lake Forest High Spartans.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
On Tuesday, May 17, 1988, the Lake Forest community took a major step towards making education important in our schools, in our homes and in our communities.

With the passage of both parts of the referendum, Lake Forest voters have provided school officials with the opportunity to help our schools complete the mission for which they exist, that of improving the standard of living for all those who live in our communities.

The passage of the referendum package was important. It was needed. It was accomplished.

Along the way, we have seen another important scenario unfolding, that of educators, students and community members joining together to promote quality education in our schools. This process, this combining of efforts is what will truly make Lake Forest great. The interest in and support of our schools was clearly in the minds of many who worked so hard for passage of the referendum package.

You have had a major impact on our schools, a mark which has been both positive and effective.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Oberly:

I am a member of the Kent-Sussex Taxpayers Association. I have requested information (see attached) from our president, Mr. Fleet Hughlett. The letter attached was hand delivered to Mr. Hughlett on May 9, 1988.

To date I have received only an oral response from Mrs. Draper concerning question number four.

I wish to have this information in order that I may be confident that the business of our Association is being conducted in an open and legal manner.

I would appreciate any steps your office may take to secure this information for me. Please inform me as to any further steps I must take in order to put into action any process to collect this information.

Thank you in advance for your attention to this matter.

Dear Mr. Hughlett:

As a member of the Kent-Sussex Taxpayers Association, I request from you the following information.

1. I would like a copy of our budget. I wish to see a listing of monies brought in. I wish to see a listing of monies spent. I wish to know who authorizes these expenditures and by what authority they do so.

2. I would like to see a list of officers of our Association. I wish to know how and when they were elected. I wish to know the qualifications for the offices they hold.

3. I wish to see a copy of our Associations' constitution and/or bylaws.

4. I wish to know if our Association is paying for advertisements for either Mrs. Draper or Mr. Knowles in their attempt to be elected to the Lake Forest Board of Education. I wish to know how much has been paid out for this purpose. I wish to know who

If I deem our Association's responses to these requests either inappropriate or delayed, I shall communicate with the Delaware Attorney General's office the need to conduct an investigation of our Association. My fear is that people may have been tricked into paying dues to our Association and their money is being used to promote the interests of a few people.

"Middle States"

by Linda Davis, Lake Forest High School Chairperson
Patricia Farley, W.T. Chipman Junior High School Chairperson

"How well did you do on your exams?" "I don't know yet. I do know that I worked very hard preparing for them. I went over every bit of work to make sure that I was doing what I should be doing. I found out what I was doing well, what I needed to work on to improve, and when test time came, I did my best. Now I have to wait for the results."

Such a conversation is usually heard among students, but, of late, could possibly be heard among the teachers and administrators of Lake Forest High and W.T. Chipman Junior High Schools. Lake Forest School District's two secondary schools have recently undergone an extensive year-long self-study requiring many hours of extra work from all staff members. The year's work culminated in a three-day visit by an evaluating team appointed by the Middle States Association of Secondary Schools, the nation's major accounting agency.

The year of self-study starts with an examination of the community that the schools serve. Surveys are used to determine the needs of the area's students. Then the school develops a written statement outlining how its program plans to meet those needs. After the groundwork has been laid, all staff members evaluate all parts of the school; the buildings, the services provided, the courses of study, the extra-curricular activities, and the staff itself. The staff learns what in the program is excellent, what is unique, and what needs to be improved so that the school can fulfill its stated purpose. At the end of the year of self-study, a Middle States Association team of evaluators, made up of experienced teachers and administrators, arrives to scrutinize the school's report and to become immersed in school life. The visiting team then makes recommendations and commendations for each school to review and act upon in the coming year. A regional board reviews both the school's and the team's reports to determine if the school should be accredited.

Earning accreditation is a lengthy process--one that requires extra time, extra effort, and yes, extra financing. It is also a voluntary process. Why, then, did the Lake Forest School District make this a priority for its two secondary schools? The process brings forth new insights, fresh ideas, an objective look at the district's workings. In other words, it fosters self-improvement. That's the essence of education, and that's what the Lake Forest School District is all about.

Rewarding uniformity

by Kenneth A. Bisson, M.D.

"Because we had a 100 per cent sign-up for fluoride treatments, we are going to make and share a pizza." I was dismayed to read that statement in my son's weekly parents letter from his third grade teacher. A push toward conformity had tested the integrity of a class of third graders.

What will a child do when facing a system designed to reward uniformity? Let's consider this question using the relatively innocuous case of offering a pizza lunch for 100 per cent sign-up for school fluoride.

We begin by assessing the effect of the school fluoride on each student's dental health. A decision to participate should depend on each student's unique circumstances regarding the fluoride content of his water, his toothpaste, and his preference for receiving any needed supplements from the family dentist or from the school.

As a family physician I guide parents making fluoride choices. In the well water across our county, natural levels of fluoride range from far below to far above the standard city water's controlled level of one part per million. I see children with fluorosis from excessive fluoride and children with cavities which may have been avoided by increased fluoride use.

Thus, depending on his non-school fluoride use, a student may view the school's program from one of two perspectives: 1) I will benefit from participating in the school fluoride program, or 2) I will not benefit from participating in the school program.

First consider the student who wants to participate and will benefit from additional fluoride treatment. His opportunity to receive pizza may be denied by the failure of another student to select the alternative preferred by the teacher. Will he feel motivated to urge classmates to select the preferred choice? What message is being given about individuals thinking for themselves? Are these students being asked to "help" others to make the "right" choice?

Although they may not be consciously aware of it, these students will be influenced by the many implications of this situation. The teacher's push toward conformity glorifies peer pressure. This is the same peer pressure we often ask our children to resist by urging them to "think for themselves."

Now let's consider the student risking harm from additional fluoride. For this student, a choice to not participate will preserve his teeth. Making that choice requires him to be true to himself. He thus demonstrates confidence in his ability to pursue his own values. By honestly doing so he maintains his integrity. Although his relationship with his teacher and classmates may unfortunately suffer, his self-esteem is not diminished by that choice.

Suppose however that this student fails to pursue his own values and instead sacrifices them in order to select the choice preferred by his teacher. Of course, now everyone will get to enjoy a pizza lunch. But in abandoning his own values, this student is passing a judgment on himself that, after many repetitions, will cost him much more than unattractive teeth. When a child surrenders to pressure and denies the importance of his own values, he also surrenders his self-esteem.

Self-esteem is the reputation we acquire with ourselves. I believe that a primary challenge for parents and teachers, in working with children, is to enhance self-esteem. As a parent, I consider the encouragement of each of my children's self-esteem to be as important as providing food, clothing, and shelter. A high self-esteem is a major requirement of a fulfilling life. An individual with low self-esteem, by definition, will feel inadequate and unworthy of a happy, successful life.

I hope every parent and teacher will consider enhancing a child's self-esteem when choosing reward systems. We can reward uniformity or we can encourage self-responsibility, competence, confidence, and integrity. The better choice is obvious.

More state troopers for Delaware

by Governor Michael N. Castle

Last week I signed legislation which will help us build an even better State Police force -- and help make sure that State Troopers are there when we need them.

In fact, by the time you read this article, a new class of troopers will already have begun the rigorous training course that prepares Delaware's finest for a career in law enforcement.

That class was made possible by legislation I signed authorizing the Superintendent of the State Police to begin a new recruit class ahead of schedule.

I also okayed an additional new class to begin training on January 1, 1989. That class will keep us moving toward our goal of maintaining authorized troop strength in all three counties.

The Delaware State Police have a long and illustrious history; they have maintained the highest standards, and have risen to every challenge.

Certainly the challenges have increased in recent years. In addition to meeting the responsibilities of combating crime and responding to emergencies of every conceivable sort, our troopers have had to contend with a growing population and heavier road use due to tourism and the simple fact that people drive more.

In response to those growing demands, we have taken two parallel courses toward providing more and better service to our citizens.

The first is to increase the number of troopers. I recommended an increase in troop strength in my budget this year, and I have since agreed to add even more troopers.

In fact, since 1985 the number of troopers on duty has increased from 422 to 449.

And over the next several years, we will be watching closely to determine the needs of taxpayers for this important service. There is no question that I am committed to maintaining an appropriate State Police force statewide.

The second course involves innovative changes in management of the Delaware State Police.

We have shifted some administrative jobs from troopers to civilian personnel, increasing the force of troopers available for police work.

We are developing new staffing patterns which will increase the number of troopers on duty when the demand is greatest.

And we are constantly looking for more efficient ways to provide police service. In this area, in particular, I believe Superintendent Graviet has done an exceptional job of bringing new, streamlined management procedures into play.

Delaware State Troopers have a tough job as they do it well. I am committed to supporting them fully.

Preserving our coastal environment

by Congressman Tom Carper

Delawareans have a heightened sense of awareness when it comes to the need for environmental protection. We understand just how fragile our environment is, and how important it is to maintain a balance between development and nature.

Earlier this month I joined many of my colleagues on the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee in designating September 17th through October 10th as COASTWEEKS '88.

COASTWEEKS, now in its sixth year, is a unique annual celebration of our nation's coastal resources. Each year, more and more people take advantage of our beaches and coastal waters in Delaware and throughout the nation for swimming, fishing, boating and exploring. But development and ever-increasing population pressures pose new challenges in the effort to protect and preserve these areas for ourselves and future generations.

COASTWEEKS is part of the efforts to address the problems associated with coastal development, and do something positive to improve our coastal environment. Beach clean-ups all over the country are among the most commendable events. Hundreds of Delawareans joined me last year in a day-long beach clean-up of our ocean and bay coast sponsored by the Dept. of Natural Resources and Environmental Control. I look forward to this year's beach clean-up and Delaware's celebration of COASTWEEKS '88.

Coastal development was also among my concerns when I joined forty-five of my colleagues in urging the House to provide $12 million for the National Estuaries Program authorized under the Clean Water Act.

Last year, I released an Office of Technology Assessment report which found that while "estuaries and coastal waters are among the most ecologically important of all aquatic environments," these waters "have exhibited a variety of adverse impacts, and their overall health is declining or threatened."

Without positive efforts to combat this decline, not only will our marine environments be ruined, but the economic base of our coastal communities, the commercial fishing industry and tourism will be threatened as well.

That's where the National Estuaries Program comes in with a relatively low-cost remedy. The program brings together federal, state, and local agencies, as well as other interested groups, to sit down at the same table and hammer out workable comprehensive management plans to preserve and rehabilitate endangered waters. These water body management conferences promote creative partnerships for careful planning now, before it's too late.

When Congress reauthorized the Clean Water Act in 1987, the Delaware Bay, along with the Rehoboth, Little Assawoman, and Indian River Bays were selected to be given priority consideration for inclusion in the National Estuaries Program. The governor has also asked EPA to include the bays in the program. If they are, the designation should complement the work of ongoing state and local efforts to implement a strategy for improving the quality of these irreplaceable coastal resources.

Up, up and away

by Rebecca Moore

The United States Air Force has some pretty amazing creatures sitting out on its flight lines. Dover can rightfully swagger around and boast about the fact that within its borders sits the free world's largest airplane -- the C5. What a marvel of modern technology this gargantuan bird is! It's mind boggling to think that anything that huge can somehow become airborne. But off they go, into the wild, blue yonder, and those of us on the ground merely shake our heads in wonder.

Up in the cockpit of this mammoth beast, you'll find the usual flight crew; but these people were not just pulled in off the street and tossed into a pilot's or engineer's seat. These people spent years training for their positions long before they had the privilege of actually flying one of these mega-bucks marvels.

About a year ago, Dover Air Force Base acquired two new pieces of equipment which are used to further the training of pilots, engineers, and load masters. Two incredibly complex, and yet innocent-looking machines strike fear in the hearts of just about every flight crew member who annually cross their thresholds. These intimidating marvels of technology are the C5 Simulators. Their home is a two-story brick building constructed just for them. The simulators do just what their name implies--they simulate the flight of the C5, and they do it so well, one would swear it was the real thing. In the simulator, crew members can learn exactly what to do in the event of any emergency, before it happens during an actual flight. The simulator can be programmed to do anything the C5 can do, and it can also be programmed to perform any disaster one can think of. Pretty neat little piece of machinery!

Last Tuesday, I donned my "I'm lost and I don't know what I'm doing" facial expression, and I went in search of a man named Fred Booth. Mr. Booth is a retired C5 flight engineer and is now an instructor in the simulator. Now I was really on foreign turf. I didn't have the vaguest idea where I was going or what Fred Booth looked like, and I just knew I was going to do something stupid like falling over the gangplank and meeting an untimely death. But the urge to bring you all a fascinating story urged me upward and onward into the great unknown--and right into the domain of a gorgeous lady named Cathy Hutchinson. She had a smile that would make anybody feel right at home, and that's what I did--I made myself at home.

Cathy thinks the simulator is the greatest invention since Kitty Hawk, and she thoroughly enjoys talking all about it. Any misgivings I had about my simulated trip were quickly cast aside after talking with Cathy. By the time Cathy and I ended our conversation, I was really looking forward to it all.

Mr. Booth arrived on the scene, and I liked him immediately. This man grins all the time, and has an outgoing personality that could get a smile out of the most chronic introvert. Like Cathy, Mr. Booth is crazy about his job and it was with a great deal of pride that he took me on a guided tour of the simulators' domain. Please bear in mind that I'm intimidated by a Commodore 64, and even this electronic gadgetry I'm typing on causes me to quake a bit, so I was really staggered by what I saw within the confines of the new building. Computers taking up an entire room, training rooms that would have floored even Einstein--but then I saw the simulator and I was really overwhelmed. The simulator is two stories high, and looks like a stork with too many legs. Actually, it reminded me of the spacecrafts that took our astronauts to the moon. A big white box, sitting on six steel legs which move on hydraulic systems give the simulator a rather gangly appearance. But inside this peculiar-looking machine, flight crews are receiving training they could never receive in the actual C5.

At 12:00, it was time to take off. I crossed the gangplank on the second floor (and I didn't trip!) and entered a C5 cockpit along with the pilot, copilot, two engineers, Mr. Booth, and Mr. Kristic, the pilot instructor. Everyone was so serious! There was no back-slapping or joking--no body fools around in the simulator! I was given a headset so I could listen in on all the communications within the cockpit, and was given a seat behind the co-pilot and in front of the engineer. All about me were gadgets--very confusing gadgets. I didn't have the slightest idea what they were for, but I decided to keep my big mouth shut, lest I made a complete idiot out of myself. Looking out the windshield of the simulator, I saw Route 113. It was nighttime, but I could see the headlights of cars on the highway and the lights of Dover off to the right. Actually, I was seeing computer images. The simulator can project images of any runway that the C5 frequents--it's awfully convincing.

The flight crew members were busy checking gages and calculations, so I just sat back and waited for the action to start. The crew members never know what will happen during their "flight"--they are briefed prior to the flight as to their destination and other basic information, but that's about all. Mr. Booth and Mr. Kristic took the time to point out various gages and gadgets to keep an eye on during our trip, and they told me what to expect between Dover and our destination of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. I was glad they did this, because I really didn't know how I would react to any sudden changes--my stomach can be unpredictable. But before too long, we were taxiing out on to the runway.

Now, don't ask me to get too technical about any of this, but life inside the cockpit got interesting real quick. It all started with a fire in one of the plane's engines. There was no panic in the cockpit--the crew members just pulled the right levers and pushed the right buttons. I would have been hysterical, but these guys just took it all in stride. That's why they sit in front of dials and gages, and I sit in front of a typewriter. Problems resolved, we were soon up to full power, plowing down the runway. Sitting sideways in the cockpit, I had to hang on to my right armrest, or I would have ended up on the floor. I couldn't believe we were actually on the ground and not several hundred feet in the air. This was incredible--it was so real and yet 100% fake. We were soaring, having never left the ground.

Mr. Kristic pulled out a notebook and showed me a map unlike anything I had ever seen. This was a roadmap of the skies. He showed me our flight pattern up to Harrisburg. There was no sign of Route 13 or I-95--this map was all lines and circles where the mechanical birds fly. Several spots looked like Dover Downs, but this was not the case--they were holding patterns--where the planes fly in circles in the event that traffic is backed up and they are unable to land.

Somewhere between Dover and Harrisburg, Mr. Kristic, who controls much of what the simulator does, decided to throw in a little turbulence. At 20%, we began to bounce and rumble. This caused no one any unnecessary distress, so Mr. Kristic increased the turbulence to 60%. Then we really began to rock and roll. He grinned and said "How about some rain?" Sure enough, the simulator got "showered". Obviously proud of what this machine could do, he added hail to the little show he was pleased to put on for me. It was totally amazing.

In what seemed like just a few minutes, we began our final approach into Harrisburg. The pilot headed the "plane" for the distinctive lights of the runway. Sliding sideways in my seat, I was shocked when suddenly the air traffic controller in the control tower (actually Mr. Kristic) ordered us to divert--there was a truck on the runway. Gazing out the front windows, I saw two tiny red lights--a maintenance truck was sitting right square at the end of the runway. Here, again, the crew was poised under pressure. The pilot merely increased our altitude and we were off again. We flew in a large circle and again headed for the runway. This time, there was no obstruction on the runway, and the landing took place without a hitch. A familiar bump told me we were back on terra firma--but we had never left it in the first place.

I noticed a definite change in all the crew members at the end of the flight. Prior to the flight, tension had been running high. Each of the crew members is being observed and scrutinized throughout the flight. Each one has to perform at 100% of his capabilities and the pressure is intense. But once the flight is over, you can hear an audible sigh of relief. The pressure is off--at least until the next stage of training. Back on the ground, with the pressure gone, all the crew members were laughing and outgoing--what an understandable change!

Once it settled into my brain that I was still in Dover and not, as I thought, in Harrisburg, Mr. Booth began pointing out some of the simulator's fine points. "Have you ever been to Hawaii?" he asked. "That's only a dream," I told him. "Well, let's show you what it's like to be sitting on the runway at Hickam Air Force Base in Hawaii." Within seconds, we were there. We could see Diamondhead and that famous row of luxurious hotels along the beach. Too bad I couldn't walk out the door and feel the real thing waiting for me!

With my extremely limited technical vocabulary, I asked Mr. Booth what this or that doohickey was for, and there was no hesitation on his part--he knew this machine like the back of his hand. But then I really blew it. I had to ask him how the pilot gets something this huge to make turns and get into the desired position. "Oh--that's easy. Why don't you sit in the co-pilot's seat and get some first-hand experience," Mr. Booth suggested. With great hesitation, I slid into the seat and gazed out at Hickam's runway--but we weren't sitting on it, we were approaching it, and I was controlling it! HORRORS! In front of me was a half steering wheel sitting on a column protruding out of the floor. Grasping the "yolk" I tried to follow Mr. Booth's instructions, but to no avail. I grimaced in despair as I crashed the simulator. Somewhere west of the runway at Hickam Air Force Base, my shattered ego lay crushed and crushed. How embarrassing can you get? Ah, well--I was obviously never meant to be a pilot, anyway!

What an incredible experience! In one afternoon, I traveled by plane, to Harrisburg, and then, with the flip of a few switches, I arrived in Hawaii, only to end it all, plowing into the side of some lush, green mountain. But to someone who prefers life on the farm, this venture into the world of incredible technology was truly worth the effort. Thanks to Mrs. Hutchinson, Mr. Booth, Mr. Kristic and all the crew members. You gave a naive newspaper writer an experience she'll never forget!

Census Bureau report released

County government employment grew by about 34,000 workers from October 1985 to October 1986, an increase of 1.8 percent, according to the Commerce Department's Census Bureau.

Total employment reached nearly 1,926,000 in October 1986, up from just over 1,891,000 a year earlier. Some 1,607,000 employees, or about 83 percent of the county labor force, worked full-time.

County government payrolls in October 1986 totaled $3 billion, an increase of 6.7 percent over the year. Full-time county employees earned an average of $1,766 in October 1986, an increase of 4.6 percent from the previous October.

Although county government employment nearly tripled from 1957 to 1986, monthly payrolls grew many times faster, from $184 million in October 1957 to $3 billion in October 1986. In the last 10 years, October payroll increases have averaged 8.8 percent.

Although comparatively few county governments nationwide provide services such as schools or hospitals, a considerable portion of total employment and payrolls are for these services. County-operated hospitals and educational institutions (elementary, secondary and higher education) accounted for 36 percent of all county government employment.

The report provides national estimates of county government employment, payrolls, and average earnings for full-time workers, by function and population-size groups. The report also contains selected statistics on these subjects for the 390 individual county governments that had 100,000 or more population in 1982.

Copies of the report, County Government Employment in 1986, Series GE86, No. 4, are available from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

needed to implement the Chapter I program.

"This invitation came as a result of remarks I made at the Pioneer Hi-Bred-sponsored conference on rural education in Iowa two months ago," VanSciver said.

"There are those who, on a national level, would unknowingly strip us of our ability to meet the needs of our communities. There are those who would render us helpless by opening up public education to a free-market format, allowing students to attend schools of their choice. This they purport, would be a system which would lead to improvements in all schools.

"I enthusiastically dispute that claim and emphasize that, in the absence of equal access to resources, it is unfair to pit small rural schools against wealthier larger districts. That is the stand which must be made.

The meeting is scheduled for May 26-27 in Langhorne, Pennsylvania.

District officials point out that all expenses are paid for with federal monies.

Jerry Fritts appointed as Director of Respiratory Care at MMH

Jerry Fritts, R.R.T. has joined Milford Memorial Hospital as its new Director of Respiratory Care within the Cardiopulmonary Department. In this newly created position, Mr. Fritts will be responsible for supervising the daily activities of the Respiratory Care Department and its 12-person staff.

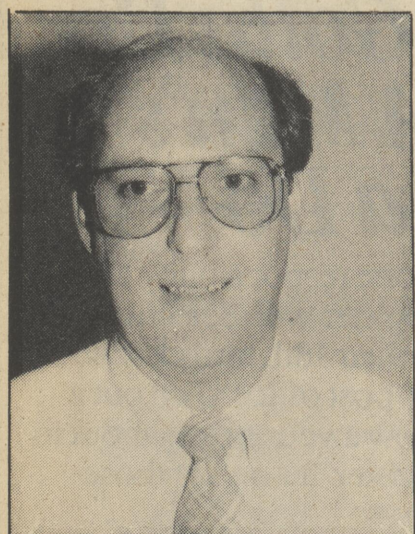

Mr. Fritts' position was developed due to the tremendous recent growth within the Hospital's Cardiopulmonary Department.

department when the 68-bed hospital first opened in 1983.
