Citizens crowd city hall for hearing on mobile home park

HARRINGTON — A large number of citizens turned out Monday night for a public hearing on a proposed mobile home park on 23 acres off Peck Avenue, which is owned by Dudley Willis of Newark, a former engineer for the City of Harrington. Mr. Willis was seeking to have the zoning changed on the land from the present zoning of "Industrial Park" to "Mobile Home Park".

The residents of the area off Peck Avenue who attended the meeting, were concerned about such problems as the increased load on the sewer plant, a potential for increase in crimes, increased use of water, and the inability of the city to control this type of development.

Regarding the increased uses of water, Mr. Willis indicated that it would be less than 1200 gallons per day, which would be the use of any normal development. "The quantity of sewage does not enter into it," he added.

In the written report which the Planning and Zoning Commission submitted, it indicated that Hi-Grade's new processing plant would use three times the amount of water than previously. "I met with Mr. Hughes this afternoon, and he indicated that they would not use any more than previously," Mr. Willis said. The present Hi-Grade processing plant will be used for storage when they move into the new facility.

The Planning and Zoning Commission also felt the expense attributed to water use and sewage disposal could not be adequately recovered through revenues. "But you can build in your service charges...to meet the expenses", Mr. Willis said.

"There seems to be a lot of attention directed to system infiltration and inflow...both from the written report of the Planning and Zoning Commission and the discussion here tonight", Mr. Willis said.

"There is tremendous potential for reducing the inflow and you could start by caulking the manhole covers. This should have been done a long time ago," he added.

Mr. Willis explained that too much unnecessary surface water "...has been getting into your sewer system. This ultimately ends up at the sewer plant. You are using chemicals to treat everything that ends up there. You are not only causing an unnecessary overload on the plant — but running a very expensive operation."

"This is what I have been saying for some time. It is no wonder we don't have enough money for this or that — because we are too wasteful", said councilman Jimmy Temple.

The Planning and Zoning Commission addressed the problem of traffic in that area. "It is already a well-traveled area now", said commission member, George VonGoerres.

The plot plan indicated a street would connect with East Street and also have an outlet on U.S. 13. The commission's report indicated that this could become a dragway.

"This would definitely be controlled with speed bumps," interrupted Mr. Willis.

"I appreciate the commission addressing the issue of the outlet on U.S. 13 and the bus shelter for the school children. I think so often these issues are not given enough consideration, Mr. Willis added.

"We estimated it would take four buses to take care of the children that would be living in this park," said George VonGoerres.

Councilman Temple said he did not think the park would generate "...over 80 kids. I think that is a bit too much for over 100 units."

The discussion returned again to leaks in the sewer system when Mr. Willis led the discussion indicating that "...many leaks are in the old system, where builders actually broke into the sewer line...made their hook-up that way, and patched around it."

"That patch work has now crumbled away...and it is in these areas where the town should make the corrections," Mr. Willis added.

"When I was with Richardson (Richardson Associates of Newark) we pointed out all of these areas then. And something should have been done then. That's been maybe 15 years or more when we made those recommendations", added Mr. Willis. "Certainly over the years, something should have been done about this problem", he concluded.

The cost of chemicals for the wastewater disposal plant in the last two years has gotten so expensive that the current water and sewer rates do not cover it. According to recent figures released in hearings on the new budget, the sewer plant last year ran in the hole to the tune of $148,000. It has reached the point where council must take a very critical look at this situation. If the infiltration problem could be corrected, the amount of chemicals used would be reduced, and the overall costs would be reduced.

Mrs. Ann Howard Robinson, who with her husband, Don, owns one of the units in Harrington Meadows, raised the question of potential increase in crime with the addition of this type of development.

"I think there have been many more complaints in that area with the addition of Diamond Court apartments," she said.

Police Chief Frank Melvin said, "...since I have been with the police department, the complaints have been as a result of people traveling through there." He indicated he would get some figures together for her.

Mr. Robinson said he was concerned about the development costs which the city could experience. Mr. Willis said the city should pass those expenses off on the developer.

Mr. Ira Huffman, an officer in the Harrington Fire Co. and owner of a business on U.S. 13 and adjacent to Mr. Willis' land said, "...I think you are putting the cart before the horse. You need to draw up real strong regulations and laws before you create your new zoning. I am not against Mr. Willis selling his property for this sort of thing. I just think you need laws, and strong ones first."

John Harrington, a resident at 35 Meadowlane echoed Mr. Huffman's sentiments.

The matter will now be referred to the council for a vote. It is usually held during the regular monthly meeting, which will be July 11th.

In the workshop which followed, this Thursday was the day set for another meeting on the upcoming budget. It will take place at 7:30 p.m. A special meeting will be scheduled for 7:00 p.m., at which time the council will formally vote on acceptance of the results of the referendum. Estimates are now being sought for renovations to new city hall in order to meet certain bi-centennial commission requirements, and suggestions are being offered by the city manager, police chief and librarian. Councilman Jarell is the chairman of the building committee.

Open House for Milford Memorial MRI Unit set for July 7th

Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI), one of today's most advanced diagnostic tools, will arrive at Milford Memorial Hospital next week. An open house will be held on Thursday, July 7th from 6 to 7:30 p.m. so that the general public may tour the mobile unit and learn more about this amazing new technology. The open house will begin in the Hospital's Radiology Department.

Magnetic Resonance Imaging is a painless technique which uses a giant circular magnet and radio frequency waves to create images from within the body. The technology may, in some cases, eliminate the need for exploratory surgery and allow early diagnosis of certain diseases in their more treatable stages.

Especially useful in diagnosing problems of the brain and spine, MRI also gives definition of soft tissue including organs, muscles, nerves and blood vessels. Differences in the body's chemical composition are apparent as well.

Patients lie on a table and move through a gantry, allowing the computer to view the body from many different angles. Detailed cross-sectional images of tissues or organs are reconstructed and permanently stored for interpretation.

Staff technologists, provided by VHA Diagnostic Services, perform the exams under the direction of the radiologists at Milford Memorial Hospital who also read and interpret the results.

"We're very enthusiastic about having MRI available here at Milford Memorial Hospital," said L. Glenn Davis, Administrator. "It means faster diagnosis and more rapid treatment, which translates into better care for our patients."

Until recently, cost of the MRI equipment has limited its availability in many hospitals. MRI at Milford Memorial, however, is mobile and will be shared by three other hospitals in Maryland. The only costs incurred by the Hospital was $20,000 for construction of a special pad to hold the MRI unit. Funding for the construction was provided by the Hospital auxiliary. "By sharing this equipment with other hospitals," said Mr. Davis, "we

HARRINGTON — The drama and excitement of the most spectacular stunts ever filmed for motion pictures or television comes alive in the all-new "Hollywood Stunt World", sponsored by Sussex Trust on Tuesday, July 26, Children's Day at the 1988 Delaware State Fair. All school children will receive free Fairgrounds and Grandstand admission.

The James E. Strates Shows will offer a special ride discount during Children's Day. All rides will be $1.00 until 6 p.m. Taste-Freez Systems of Delmarva will also sponsor a banana split eating contest on Tuesday at 3:30 p.m.

The Hollywood Stunt World begins with a parade of vehicles in a salute to the 101st anniversary celebration of Hollywood USA. The action begins with the classic car chase that includes narrow misses at high speed, a reverse spin of a speeding police car, climaxing with a spectacular rollover crash.

Spectators will learn that motorcycles can be driven on one wheel and new pickup trucks can be driven on two wheels. It may not be too difficult to determine who the toughest stuntman is, when he stretches out on the ground and a new pickup truck is driven over his body.

The action starts to heat up as stuntmen crash through flaming boardwalk barricades, as stuntmen leap off of speeding vehicles into pools of flaming gasoline. Part of the show is the famous 60 foot ramp-to-ramp jump. This is the same stunt which took the life of veteran stuntman Earl "Lucky" Teter at the Indiana State Fairgrounds.

The conclusion of the show features a special appearance by the Hollywood Stunt World Monster Truck. Hollywood Stunt World will perform two shows on Tuesday, July 26, at 1:30 and 8:00 p.m.

Felton Historical Society meeting

by Lola M. O'Day
 On June 20, 1988, our President Mrs. Joyce Jefferson called the meeting to order at 7:30 p.m. There were twelve members present including Helen Thompson, Dorothy O'Day, Musetta Hausler, Bea Harrington, Charles Tribbett, Louise Fisher, Steve Childers, Lola O'Day, Barbara Jacobs, Thelma Gerardi, and Edie Hemphill. Mrs. Rose Sluter and Virgie Carlisle were absent.

The treasurer's report was read and approved with a balance of $459.16 in the bank. Steve made a report that the Town Council members signed the paperwork for our Society to use the Old Town Hall. Steve will investigate on the liability insurance and it will be discussed later.

Linda Gannon's poster of the Historical Society was beautiful. We were identified very well at the Felton Street Fair. Kathryn McGinnis was the winner of the afghan.

Edie brought in the brochures and price list for the crocks we have been discussing for a fund drive for the Society. More information to follow. Edie also brought in several donations:

a small dove-tail wood box for nails; newspaper clippings donated by Clara Peck Walls; a palm leaf hand fan with the name in print W.A. Berry, donated by Clarence Collins. Barbara Jacobs brought in and donated an item from the JCPenney National Bank, The First 100 Years, 1888-1988. The JCPenney National Bank is currently celebrating its 100th anniversary. Lola O'Day donated photographs of the Viola U.M. Church Cemetery on July 12, 1974. Ronald Thomas, State Archeologist, brought equipment and dug out and located one grave, showing a portion of a casket. Ronald Thomas covered the grave and left with the digger. Permission was granted as the question had been brought up so many times, were there any graves there? Several persons present experienced the digging.

Steve brought up the subject on the Society having their own post office box. A motion was passed by Musetta Hausler and Steve Childers. Joyce asked Louise to get us a P.O. Box and she willingly said she would.

New numbers for Milford

Because of the continuing growth in the Milford area, the Diamond State Telephone Company announced that it has added a second telephone exchange to its electronic switcher located on Montgomery Ave.

"Available numbers are almost exhausted," said Jim Strickland, DST manager. "It's been years since the existing 422 exchange was established. The new line expansion is an indicator of the tremendous amount of growth taking place in the community, especially in recent years. In order to provide for new service demands we're adding the new 424 exchange which will provide ten thousand additional call numbers."

The new 424 exchange will have the same features and local calling area as the current 422 exchange. Customers that presently have 422 numbers will not be affected by the addition of the 424 exchange.

can offer patients the latest diagnostic technology at a lower cost and eliminate the inconvenience of patients' travel for these important tests."

The equipment has been modified for placement in a customized trailer with special frame and suspension to minimize road vibration. The trailer is self-contained and carries all equipment and supplies necessary to provide service and life support, should an emergency arise.

After Thursday's open house, the MRI will be available at Milford Memorial two days each week. For more information about the MRI contact the Hospital's Radiology Department at 422-3311, extension 569.

Burrows to attend institute at Harvard

Ronald L. Burrows, Principal at Lake Forest High School, has been selected by the Executive Committee of the Delaware Principals' Academy to attend the 1988 Harvard Principals' Center Summer Institute from July 11th through July 20th. Burrows was selected from a pool of principals across the state.

The Harvard Principals' Summer Institute is the most prestigious institute for educators held in this nation. The Principals' Center at the Harvard Graduate School of Education is a membership organization dedicated to the personal and professional development of school principals.

The sixth annual Principals' Center Summer Institute will encourage participants to examine how to improve school from within, the necessary components of school change, and how school leaders respond creatively to renewed public interest in school improvement.

LF Board to add local purchasing policy

In an effort to cement an economic relationship between Lake Forest School district and its communities, the Lake Forest Board of Education has initiated the process to include language in its policy manual which will promote local purchasing by district staff.

The policy, which will pass through first reading during the July Board meeting, reads, "Since local vendors are usually citizens and taxpayers of the school district, and since their economic condition can have a direct bearing on the economic condition of the school system, and since the school system has as its mission the promotion of a higher standard of living for all its residents, the School Board encourages the use of local purchasing whenever equal quality, quantity and prices are available."

The second reading will be during the August Board meeting after which the language will become part of the policy.

State Parks will air ocean swimming safety PSA's

Educating beachgoers about the hazards of ocean swimming is one of this summer's top priorities in Delaware's State Parks.

"We want to prevent accidents before they happen," says Greg Wilson, lifeguard supervisor for the parks. "Lifeguards in our seashore parks record approximately 375 rescues each year."

According to Wilson, lifeguards undergo an extensive training course in early June when they are taught preventative and reactive lifeguarding. Park officials want to extend this awareness to members of the public who use Delaware's Atlantic beaches from Cape Henlopen to Fenwick Island.

The south side of the Indian River

Inlet in Delaware Seashore State Park is a unique swimming area and a nationally known surfing hot spot, according to Wilson. "It has the right conditions of currents and the jetty helps the wave formation. Rip currents are frequent and can be powerful," says Wilson.

As part of the safety campaign, the parks have developed public service announcements. One PSA will be distributed to local television stations for airing in early July. The 60-second spot will graphically illustrate shorebreak and rip currents. A brochure will also be available to the public for a detailed explanation on the most dangerous ocean conditions. For a copy of the Safe Ocean Swimming Guide, call 736-4702.

Hardee's sponsors "Green Shores" program to help Bay

The State of Maryland and Hardee's Restaurants have formed a partnership to clean up the Chesapeake Bay. Hardee's has stepped forward as the corporate sponsor of Maryland's Green Shores Program in an effort to revitalize Bay waters. The Green Shores Program was devised by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and is being implemented by Maryland's Governor William Donald Schaefer. The program represents the State of Maryland's and Hardee's contribution to a cleaner Bay by planting trees, shrubs and grasses along the 1,600 miles of Bay shore and 1,000 miles of stream banks within the Chesapeake Bay Critical Area. The plantings are expected to prevent runoff and reduce pollution.

Hardee's sponsorship is in the form of a contribution to the Chesapeake Bay Trust and establishing a fund earmarked strictly for the purchase of the thousands of trees needed for plantings for the Green Shores program.

The message that Hardee's and the State of Maryland are attempting to convey through the Green Shores Program is that, as citizens, each of us can do something to contribute to restoring the Bay to a vital body of water that we can enjoy. For more information on how you can help, or on the Green Shores Program, contact the Maryland Department of Natural Resources at (301) 974-3987.

Hardee's, the nation's third largest fast food hamburger restaurant chain, is headquartered in Rocky Mount, NC and has 3,000 restaurants chainwide.

Thoughts from Washington

Honoring those who gave their freedom for the cause of freedom

by U.S. Senator Bill Roth

On a sunny Saturday in Dover they joined together to exchange memories of days that were not so bright -- days of courage and sacrifice. Recently, almost 100 former Prisoners of War (POW) from Delaware gathered together to be honored at a ceremony at the Dover Air Force Base. I was pleased to be able to present to many of these former POWs, the first POW medals to go to Delawareans.

A few years ago, it was drawn to my attention that there was no medal recognizing former POWs. After learning this, I introduced legislation to authorize such a medal. I remember well the day that I introduced that legislation as the great Barry Goldwater came up to me on the Senate floor and said, "Bill, I can't think why we haven't done this before and I want to be a cosponsor." That legislation became law back in November of 1985.

The Prisoner of War medal recognizes military service under extraordinary difficult circumstances. Held in hostile confinement at the mercy of their captors, often physically and psychologically abused, POWs do not know when or if their imprisonment will end. In many cases, the scars of imprisonment remain for life.

The medal features the American eagle encircled by barbed wire and bayonets representing the spirit of the imprisoned soldier. It is available to POWs still alive today who were in the armed services or who received an honorable discharge. The medal can be awarded posthumously to the POWs legal heir. To qualify, the former POW must have been taken prisoner during an armed conflict such as World War I, World War II, Korea and Vietnam.

Application forms for the medals are available through the Military Services, veterans organizations or other public service offices or by calling any of my offices in Delaware. In addition, a toll free number (1-800-873-3768) has been established by the Department of Defense to take requests for applications and answer questions about the medal.

I am proud to have been able to play a part in recognizing the sacrifices made by our POWs -- recognizing those who gave their freedom for the cause of freedom.

TEST YOUR BUDGET KNOWLEDGE

Most political candidates claim that the federal deficit is America's number one problem. As the election heats up, voters can expect different proposals dealing with taxes, spending and the deficit. The following budget quiz tests how well prepared you are to analyze candidates' promises.

Many candidates say President Reagan has cut the budget too deeply. Candidates making such statements urge higher levels of funding for many programs. Are these statements true? Since 1980, federal spending has:

- (a) been cut by $102 billion;
- (b) been cut by $56 billion;
- (c) increased by $61 billion;
- (d) increased by $465 billion.

To the surprise of most people, the correct answer is (d). Federal spending was $591 billion in 1980. The Office of Management and Budget estimates that the government will spend $1.056 trillion in 1988, an increase of $465 billion in just eight years.

President Reagan recently proposed his budget for 1989. In his budget, he requested total spending of $1.094 trillion in 1989 compared to $1.056 trillion in 1988. According to the rules Congress uses to put together the budget, the president is proposing that spending:

- (a) rise by $38 trillion;
- (b) rise by $38 billion;
- (c) rise by $48 billion;
- (d) fall by $8.2 billion.

As strange as it may seem, the correct answer is (d). According to Congress, the president is cutting spending when he does not propose to increase spending fast enough to match the "current services budget." The current services budget is an imaginary budget which automatically assumes spending should increase. Instead of comparing budget proposals to previous years, like every American family and business must do, Congress uses an imaginary budget that misleads voters.

The current services budget has a dramatic impact on people's perceptions of federal fiscal trends. After hearing countless stories of Reagan's budget cuts, most people believe that the president has "cut spending to the bone." In reality, all Reagan has done is not increase spending as fast as the current services budget. Understanding how politicians use the current services budget to trick people helps to explain why most Americans are unaware of the tremendous growth of spending.

Moving to taxes, many candidates blame tax cuts for the deficit. According to these candidates, Reagan's tax cuts have starved the government of revenue and left the country with large deficits. How true are these assertions? Since 1980, federal tax revenues have:

- (a) fallen by $189 billion;
- (b) fallen by $70 billion;
- (c) stayed the same;
- (d) increased by $383 billion.

After hearing some of the presidential candidates, one might think the right answer was (a) or (b). In reality, (d) is the right answer.

Federal tax revenues were $517 billion in 1980, and they are estimated to be $900 billion this year. Once again, the current services budget is responsible for the confusion. Congress considers it a tax "cut" if revenues do not increase as fast as the current services budget projects they could.

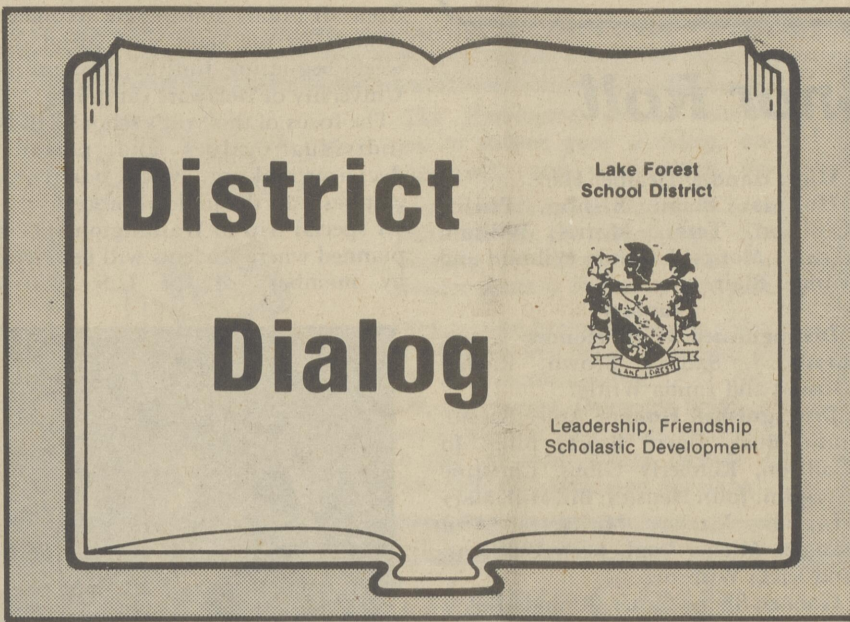

Some candidates have proposed a spending freeze as a way to eliminate the deficit. If spending were frozen at the $1.056 trillion 1988 level, how long would it take for the deficit to disappear:

- (a) 19 years;
- (b) 12 years;
- (c) three years;
- (d) never.

The correct answer is (c). Even without further tax increases, revenues are expected to grow by $215 billion in the next three years. If Congress simply stopped increasing spending, the country would have a budget surplus in 1991. A spending freeze is a rare example of a politician promising something that would work.

It is up to you, the voter, to make sure you understand the real facts, not just the story politicians give you. The facts often disagree with what politicians would like voters to believe. Any promises politicians make should be scrutinized very carefully.

Lake Forest athletics

by James H. Blades

Lake Forest School District Athletic Director

The Lake Forest School District interscholastic athletic program allows students of the Lake Forest School District the opportunity to participate in ten different sport teams at the junior high level and sixteen different sport teams at the high school level. During the past athletic year, students had the opportunity to be coached by an experienced thirty-six person coaching staff.

Athletics allow the student athlete to fully realize the mental, physical, social, and emotional development which is so much a part of the total development of the student. The student athlete experiences many situations in sport which can be used to help make wise decisions during life. The lessons learned on the athletic field make a tremendous difference in the development of the whole person both on and off the field of competition.

The facilities which are afforded our student athletes are among the finest in lower Delaware. Lake Forest is often the site of Conference as well as State Championship events. With the help from all segments of the total sports program, Lake Forest continues to upgrade facilities and provide the best that can be provided for the student athlete.

This past sports year has seen Lake Forest coaches and athletes win six Henlopen or Southern Division championships. Those championships were won by: Boys' Cross Country, Girls' Hockey, Girls' Basketball, Boys' Baseball, Girls' Track and Field, and Boys' Track and Field. Along with the championships, five individual coaches were named Coach of the Year for the Henlopen Conference. For a small school district that amount of championships and Coach of the Year honors is truly noteworthy. Many larger school districts within Kent and Sussex County would be hard pressed to match those accomplishments.

In summary, when an individual looks at the number of dedicated coaches that the Lake Forest School District has working for it, counts the number of student athletes involved in athletics, realizes the excellent facilities that Lake Forest is fortunate to have, then that person can realize the tremendous resources which work together to produce excellent athletics in the Lake Forest School District both now and in the future.

Fair Housing bill is good policy

by Congressman Tom Carper

Twenty years after the Congress banned housing discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, or national origin, discrimination continues at an alarming rate. The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development estimates that over two million instances of housing discrimination occur each year.

Nationally, for example, HUD reports that a black person who visits four real estate agents will be discriminated against at least once almost three-quarters of the time for rental housing and almost half of the time when seeking to buy a home.

These shocking statistics have led Congress to seek a more effective means to combat discrimination in housing, without imposing onerous new requirements on the real estate industry.

Most experts believe that the main reason the Fair Housing Act of 1968 has not put an end to housing discrimination is because the law does not provide for effective enforcement. Currently, the only way someone can fight back if they think they have been the victim of discrimination is to sue in federal court. The Justice Department may also bring suit in federal court when there is "a pattern or practice" of housing discrimination. But not everyone has the resources to pay lawyers to pursue a costly suit in court. And the Justice Department's suits often drag on for years, offering no immediate relief to people searching for a place to live.

discrimination enforcement has been the agency perhaps best equipped to do something about it: HUD. Under current law, HUD can only use informal methods to resolve disputes involving discrimination. HUD has no legal recourse if its efforts to mediate disputes fail, and there are no incentives for either side to reach a fair resolution quickly.

That may change if Congress passes the Fair Housing Amendments of 1988. Under these proposed amendments, which I support along with a broad spectrum of groups ranging from realtors and homebuilders to civil rights groups and labor unions, HUD will have the authority it needs to enforce the original intent of the Fair Housing Act.

In addition to allowing HUD to sue alleged violators of the 1968 law, this legislation also gives HUD the authority to file charges when there is reasonable cause to believe that discrimination has taken place or is about to take place. HUD would pursue those cases, either before an administrative law judge, or in federal district court with a trial by jury if it were requested. The bill also extends housing discrimination protections to the handicapped and, in most cases, to families with children under 18.

As a member of the House subcommittee on Housing, I'm pleased with the consensus which has developed in support of this bill. Its enactment will be an important new addition to the civil rights laws of our country.

Senatorial Report

by Senator Ruth Ann Minner
18th Senatorial District

Last week the Fiscal 1989 budget bill calling for the expenditure of $1,044,036,600 in state funds for the next 12 months was introduced, and by the time you read this, the annual capital bond bill of about $222 million will also have been introduced and maybe even passed.

The budget bill (SB 480) funds 19,912.5 positions, with federal funds and fees funding another 2,677.7 jobs. One of the new positions will be a director of community mental retardation programs at Stockley Center to ease some of the burden on Supt. Rick Campbell, who has been wearing too many hats in the opinion of some legislators.

I will continue to monitor the problems at the Stockley Center, which I have been involved with as a member of a special General Assembly committee looking into allegations of mismanagement at the center, so that I can recommend other changes as needed.

Unfortunately, the budget bill does not contain money sufficient to staff the expanded facilities of the Millford Service Center, which should be completed by the last quarter of the present fiscal year. I'm looking for ways to get the $85,000 needed to open and staff the facility on schedule. In any event, the expanded facilities will be funded as of July 1, 1989.

As you may recall, I served as a member of the Farm Assistance Task Force which earlier this year studied the problems of Delaware's farm community and recommended some corrective measures under budget restraints of $350,000 set by the Governor.

I'm happy to report that the recommendations of the Task Force have been included in the budget bill and the bond bill, if recommendations are followed.

The budget bill contains $37,500 to hire an environmental specialist to help farmers comply with federal and state regulations, a one-time $50,000 appropriation for a study of alternative crops and crop management, and $37,500 to hire a farm financial management specialist to assist farmers on the brink of disaster and help prevent others from getting into financial straits because of poor farm management.

Items scheduled to be included in the bond bill are $175,000 to pay the state share of manure sheds already approved by federal and state authorities, intended to eliminate a lengthy waiting list; a $50,000 study by the University of Delaware on high-tech poultry producing and processing methods; and $56,200 in irrigation equipment for the University's Research and Education Center at Georgetown, which will indirectly lead to better information for farmers on irrigation problems.

Frankly, I don't think we're doing enough for farmers, especially in light of the surplus state funds available. But that's all the Castle Administration was willing to allot, and I guess we're stuck with it. However, if the current drought gets any worse we'll certainly have to take another look at farmer assistance.

Paradoxical taxi fares

by Joseph S. Fulda

Often, I commute to work on Long Island in the wee hours of the morning in so-called gypsy cabs -- the unlicensed taxis which abound in my section of upper Manhattan. A flat rate (usually $20.00 plus toll) is agreed upon at the start of the trip and paid at its close. Most of the time, the story ends there.

Sometimes, however, when we pass the airport on the way, an argument ensues. The driver points out that the fare to the airport is more ($30.00 minimum), yet the cost of that trip measured in time and mileage is less. So, he concludes, he has been had, despite his agreement to the terms and a clear, initial bid on my part stating the time involved (45 minutes) and the destination (Hempstead in Nassau County).

Is he right or wrong? And why? The prime principle of economics is that prices are determined by supply and demand, not costs. Some products may cost a quarter and sell for a half-dollar, while others go for a dollar yet cost only a dime to make. The second producer is neither a profiteer nor an exploiter, and the first producer is neither a benefactor nor a patron. Both producers merely respond to market signals based on supply and demand.

To return to the taxi fare, the market price for a commute to the heart of Nassau County is indeed less than the market price for the shorter, faster trip -- in the same direction -- to the airport. That this is so is evidenced by the very facts of the case: I can always obtain a taxi at the lower rate for the longer, slower trip.

Why this is so is a bit more subtle. A taxi is the only sensible means of travel to the airport, especially during the wee hours of the morning. Commuting, on the other hand, can easily be accomplished by rail -- much slower, yet much cheaper -- or by car pools with other early birds. Moreover, people are willing to pay more for an occasional trip, when loaded down with baggage, than when they must make the trip several times a week. Furthermore, the number of gypsies emptying speeding about during these hours is very high. Many drivers consider themselves lucky to get any substantial fare at that hour; a few have even suggested a regular contract!

Put in economic terms, the demand for cabs at the time I commute is very low, especially for commuter trips. The choice facing a would-be supplier is often not an airport trip or a commuter's trip, but a commuter's trip or no trip at all (or perhaps a few local trips). Later in the day, during rush hour, when the demand for taxis is far greater, the gap between airport fare and a commuter's fare narrows, for the demand for taxis is far closer to the supply of taxis available for hire.

The laws of supply and demand can sometimes appear to have paradoxical results, but if one truly understands the principle and also knows the market situation involved, the paradoxes disappear.

U.S. Senator William Roth (R-Del) remembered our former POWs at Dover AFB recently and presented them with the new POW medal. These that are featured here are from our area. They were involved in intense fighting on the front lines during World War II. It is through their efforts and men like them that has contributed to our freedom. Let "Freedom Ring" this patriot's day for them and for us for whom they so valiantly fought.

Harrington Rotary Club

by Melvin L. Brobst

At graduation exercises held at the W.T. Chipman Junior School, Dr. Arthur Gilbert, Supervisor of Curriculum and Special Programs for the Lake Forest School District and member of Harrington Rotary, presented the annual Rotary awards to Melanie Size for most improved service, and to Mia Benson for meritorious service that consisted of a certificate 8th-grade award together with a $50.00 government bond. The awards were made on the morning of Wednesday, June 15.

A tour of the Nanticoke Homes facilities was made recently, arranged for by Leon Porter and conducted by Carlton Goodhand of the Nanticoke staff. The tour followed the weekly meeting at Colony Inn.

Plans are underway for Heritage Day in September when local Rotarians will be in charge of the Information Booth and conducting a raffle on the hour, every hour, when valuable prizes will be given to the lucky holders of the winning tickets. Dr. Arthur Gilbert, Frank Soriano, and Mrs. Winona Deputy are the committee and in charge of the arrangements. Last year's activity was quite successful and this year's schedule promises to be the same.

At the June 2nd meeting, the Rev. Joseph Brame, a member of Harrington Rotary, presented his AME Senior Choir in a program of choral music that was enjoyed by all.

An interesting presentation was given during last month's program when Dr. Arthur Gilbert introduced the team from the Odyssey of the Mind group from the Lake Forest School District who attended the University of Maryland when it hosted teams from various schools in demonstrations of experimental projects in a competitive program. The students were very knowledgeable and proves that if this is the calibre of the educational achievements of our young people today, the future is sure to be in good hands, and they can be congratulated on their progress.

July is the beginning of a new Rotary year and incoming officers of the local club consist of Frank Soriano, President; Tom Englehart, Vice-President; Mrs. Jenny Asbury, Secretary; and Dr. Arthur Gilbert, Treasurer. We wish them all a good year, and thank the retiring president, Roger Trice for his efforts in serving Rotary during the past year.

Harrington Rotary meets weekly at the Colony Inn each Thursday evening at 6:15 p.m. and visitors as well as prospective new members are always welcome.

Prospect United Methodist Church

Suffer little children, and forbid them not to come unto me: for of such is the kingdom of heaven. Matthew 19:14

A very special service took place in Prospect Church Sunday morning when graduation exercises were held for 46 children that participated in Vacation Bible School. To coincide with the summer olympics, the theme of Bible School was Champions for Jesus. Each day the children went to Victory Village to training camps to win the race. The race they are competing in, however, is the race of life in order to win the crown of eternal life. In the olympics there is one winner to each race, but in the race of life, all can be winners.

The exercises Sunday were patterned after each day's Bible School activities.

The pledge to the American Flag, to the Christian Flag, and to the Bible were given, followed by singing of a hymn. Each class gave a short presentation of what they had studied during the week. The kindergarten class had nine students and they sang a song they had learned. The primary class had seventeen students and they repeated a champion's pledge. The middle class had eleven students and they did an interview of Saul, later known as Paul, after his conversion on the road to Damascus. They also repeated memory verses. The youth class was the smallest with two members and its presentation was a flannel graph explaining the whole armour of God. Seven students were in the junior class and they read

St. Bernadette's Catholic Church

Vacation Bible School will be held at St. John's Catholic Church from August 8-12th in the evenings (6 to 8:30 p.m.). We will accept children who will be in pre-K through grade 4 in '88-'89. To register, please call Cathy Peterman at 422-6223 by the middle of July. There is a materials fee payable the first night.

The Catholic Communities of St. Bernadette and St. John's and all the other parishes in this area welcome Carlos Vasquez, a seminarian from the diocese of Wilmington, as he develops the ministry to Spanish speaking people in southern Delaware. A Mass in Spanish is celebrated at St. John's every Sunday afternoon at 12:30 p.m. Carlos can be contacted at St. John's, 422-5123.

A Consultation Process has begun in the Catholic diocese of Wilmington. During the past year many Catholics filled out survey forms and mailed them back to the diocese. These forms have been gathered and collated. All parishes will be asked to hold special consultation meetings in which all parishioners are invited to speak their ideas about the Church. Representatives from each parish will then meet with people from other parishes for area consultations, also based on the survey results. Finally, all these thoughts will be taken to Bishop Mulvey on the diocesan level so that goals can then be set for the Catholic Church in the Diocese.

A Healing Mass will be held at St. Mary of the Assumption, Hockessin, Delaware on July 1, 1988 at 8 p.m. Rev. James Jackson will be the celebrant, and Rev. Nino LaStella will give the Homily.

William Dore, Pastor "A man's mind plans his way, but the Lord directs his steps."

At Sunday's service our special music was by Brian Hendricks. He asks in music, are you humbly grateful or grumbly hateful? It all comes down to your attitude. Which one are you? We recognize Billy Joiner, Pastor Dore and Ruth's grandson, for his part in Sunday's service.

Sunday's bulletin cover was designed by Heather Beauchamp of the "Followers" Sunday School class. Each member of this 5th and 6th grade class has designed a bulletin cover for the Pentecost season.

We appreciate all who had a part in making Vacation Bible School the fun and successful week that it was. Everyone who was able to join us walked away with a blessing.

The Upper Rooms for July/August are available in the church vestibule. The Parking Lot, Fund and Copier Fund are open for contributions. The church needs your donation to help pay these expenses without the need of a bank loan.

Mark your calendar for the church picnic at Callaway's Hitching Post on July 10. Sunday School and Worship Service will be held there as well with carpools from the church to the site. Plan to be a part!

Damaged Goods is a smashing success at Brandywine

Donavan Hanover returns to take trotting feature

by Chris McErlan

Damaged Goods made a triumphant return to Brandywine on Sunday (June 26) as he scored a popular victory in the $4,500 Open Handicap.

Damaged Goods, fresh from a New York Sire Stakes victory a week earlier, looked like a different horse than the eighth place finisher that raced at Brandywine two weeks earlier. Twenty three year old Jody Stafford let the favored Damaged Goods sit in nicely behind the crack three year old filly Scrivener (Dave Pinkney, Jr.) through fractions of :28.4, :59 and 1:28.

Fillies and Mares were in the spotlight Saturday (June 25) evening as Meadowlands invader Ever Amy broke local champ Little Lou-Rain's streak of three straight victories in the Open ranks with a 1:57.2 victory.

Ever Amy (Jeff Cameron driving) got the perfect trip behind the quick mare Mar Terrino (Steve Oliwa), as that foe set a :29.1, :59, 1:28 pace into the lane. Ever Amy came out when the smallest of openings appeared straightening away in the stretch and wore down her rival in the final seventy yards. Inertia rallied for the show spot.

OK Dream Girl (Philip Klein), narrowly beaten in her recent races, got her chance in the spotlight with a smashing four length win in the co-featured $4,200 Fillies and Mares Open pace. OK Dream Girl drew off from her eight rivals after a half mile and coasted home four lengths in front of Marland Mandy and Bejays Mate N. Time of the race was 1:59.1.

Donavan Hanover, Brandywine's top trotter in 1987, returned to his favorite stomping grounds Friday (June 24) for a half-length win in 2:00.2. Robert Shahan, currently on top of the Brandywine driving standings, had Donavan Hanover follow the cover of Action Spur until that rival began to tire at the far turn. Donavan Hanover went three wide and drew along side the favorite Regal Windswept approaching the top of the stretch. The two battled back and forth for a sixteenth until the three-year-old Regal Windswept made a miscue and went off-stride, as Donavan Hanover went on to register a three-quarters of a length victory in 2:00.2. Diamond Dealer (Mike Simons) was a fast closing second while Earthquaker D rallied for the show spot.

Leading driver Bob Shahan is getting a stern challenge for the top spot on the driving standings as he holds a 43-40 advantage over Smyrna native Joe Dugan, Jr., who edged closer with a driving double on Sunday. Dugan also ranks second to Shahan in driving doubles for the current meet. On the trainers side, Robert Kinsey has a slim 14-13 advantage over Karen Jerred with Don Bowdoin and Joe Holloway in close pursuit with 12 victories apiece.

In The Pocket

COLUMBUS, OH (USTA) — Stanley F. Bergstein, Ernest B. Morris and K.D. Owen will be enshrined in the Harness Racing Hall of Fame in ceremonies at Goshen, N.Y., Sunday, July 3. At the same time, Clyde Hirt, Robert Zellner and Thomas Shehan will be inducted into the Writers' Corner of the Hall. All were elected to this, the sport's most prestigious honor, by members of the U.S. Harness Writers Association.

Bergstein, executive vice-president of Harness Tracks of America, is one of the most widely-known figures in the sport. Morris has been active in the sport for nearly a half-century as a breeder, owner and USTA counsel. Owen has bred many top performers, including 1967 Hambletonian winner Speedy Streak.

Hirt, executive columnist and editorial director of Sports Eye, was also recently selected as president of the Harness Writers Association. Zellner was among the founders of the Harness Writers Association more than forty years ago, and was a charter member of the Newsday staff when that honored newspaper was founded in 1940. Shehan has written for papers in Boston, New York, Miami and Chicago, keeps active by writing for racing trade publications and serves as USTA director, representing New England.

Should he continue at the current pace, Herve Filion will reclaim the world record for dash wins in a single year, wrested from him by Michel LaChance two years ago.

U.S. Trotting Association records show Filion with 403 wins through June 12. At approximately the same time in 1986, the year he set a new world record with 770 wins, LaChance had registered 306 wins.

Filion, of course steadily adds to his career totals - currently 10,798 wins. He has won more races, in fact more competitive events, than any other man or woman in history.

Baker and Rust win first Saturday night at Delmar

by Charlie Brown

DELMAR - Dan Baker captured his first win ever at the Delaware International Speedway in the weather delayed D & D Dismantling 20 lap feature and Deron Rust held off a fierce challenge to win the WICO Country 94 FM sponsored 25 lap modified main. For Rust, it was his first career win. John Kenney came from the rear of the field to win the econo mod. main.

H.J. Bunting grabbed the lead from his pole starting position in the fog delayed D & D Dismantling 20 lap modified feature. Dan Baker quickly settled into the second spot with Bobby Wilkins, Ricky Elliott, and Norman Short in the top five. The first yellow was out on lap six when the leader, Bunting lost a left front wheel down the back straight.

Baker was the new leader but the yellow was quickly out once again on lap seven when Wayne Weaver, Bobby Sapp, John Pinter, Matt Slowinski and Norman Short tangled in the second turn. Short did a slow roll but none of the drivers were injured.

Baker controlled the restart with Wilkins on his bumper. Garry Trice, Paul Weaver and Bob Toreky moved in to make it a five car battle for the lead. Trice moved into the second spot and was able to stick his nose inside Baker but Baker was not to be shaken and went on to his first win ever at Delaware International. Trice finished in the runner-up spot with Wilkins, Paul Weaver and Toreky rounding out the top five. Sixth through tenth were Deron Rust, Matt Slowinski, Eddie Brown, Wayne Weaver, and Gary Gollub.

Deron Rust grabbed the lead from Ron Roberts at the start of the second modified main. Rust quickly found his groove and started to open an advantage over the rest of the field. By the half-way sign, Rust had half a track lead over second place Bobby Wilkins. Bobby Sapp was in the third spot with Roberts and Freddy Brightbill. Brightbill spun in turn one to bring out the first yellow on lap sixteen. This erased the huge lead of Rust and put Wilkins and the hard charging Bob Toreky on Deron's back bumper. Rust held off their challenge on the restart but the yellow was out for the second and final time when Tom Capie spun.

Rust went back to running his groove on the restart and made no mistakes to earn his first career modified victory. Wilkins finished in the second spot with Paul Weaver, Toreky, and Sapp rounding out the top five. Sixth through tenth were Gary Trice, H.J. Bunting, Brightbill, Wayne Weaver and Dan Baker. Heats were won by Wilkins over Garry Gollub and in the second Brightbill over Rust.

Morris Tucker took the lead on the first lap of the econo modified main. Last week's feature winner, Brian Brittingham moved into second with Calvin Musser in third. The leader, Tucker, blew a tire on lap six to bring out the yellow. Brittingham was now the leader and Jeff Turpin was in the second spot.

John Kenney began his march to the front with seven to go. Kenney took second on lap eleven and moved by Brittingham one lap later for the lead and the win. Brittingham finished in second with Turpin, Musser and Oscar Fields in the top five. Sixth through tenth were Tucker, Sammy Lowe, Mike Kenney, Scott Morris and Doug Beach. It was the fifth win of the season for Kenney.

This Wednesday night will be the annual Camp Barnes Benefit race with action in the modified, late model, econo modified and street modified divisions sponsored by WCTD FM 107. Saturday night will be the third appearance of the United Racing Club sponsored by Taylor and Messick plus the regular program sponsored by Sterwin Products from Pitman-Moore.

Drew Hammond receives United States National Award

The United States Achievement Academy announced recently that Drew Hammond has been named a United States National Award winner in Foreign Language.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10% of all American high school students.

Drew, who attends Lake Forest High School, was nominated for this National Award by Lynn Harvey, a Spanish Teacher at the school. Drew will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

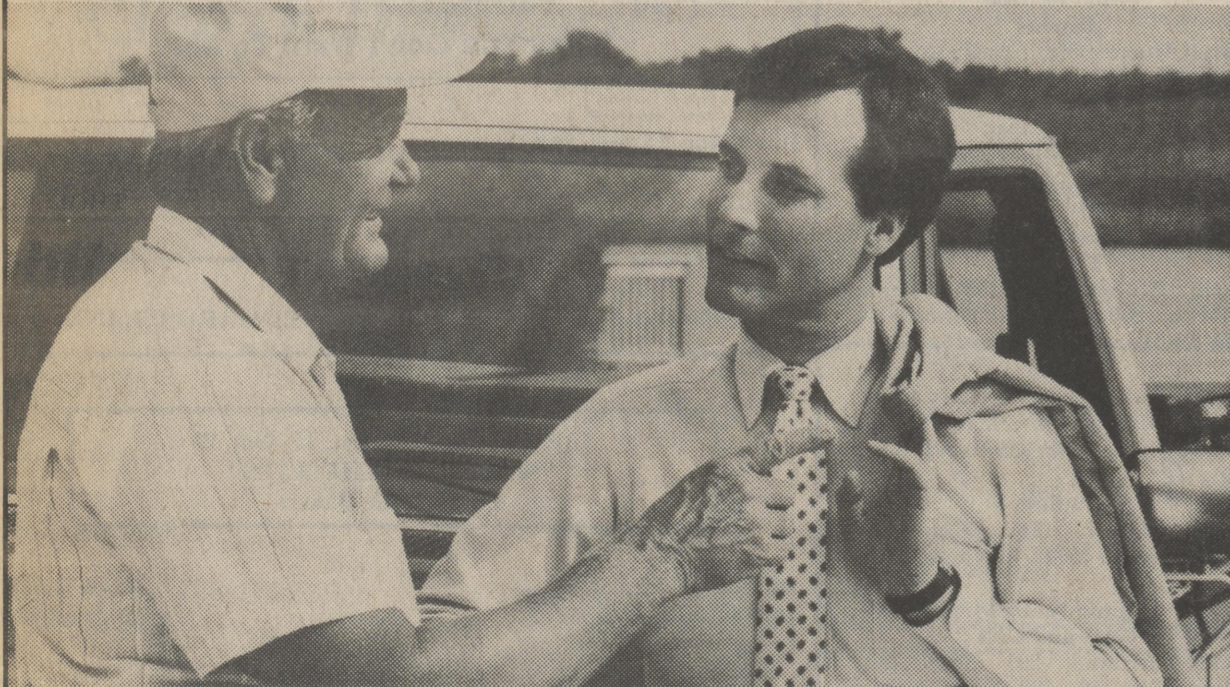

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly United States Achievement Academy award winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendations of teachers, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Drew is the son of Carole and Dale Hammond. The grandparents are Violetta and Bill Hammond of Felton, and Marie Wright of Camden and Edward Wright of Felton.
