

Make Quilted Pads For Dresser Drawer

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS.

THERE seems to be no corner in the house where the decorators' art is not applied. Closets used to be drab and dreary places but now they are bedecked in scalloped shelf edgings, gay garment bags and bright hat boxes. Dresser drawers are also perking up. Time was when a clean newspaper was put in the bottom of a drawer every so often, and the date of the one removed proclaimed how long it had been since this housewife task had been performed. Now, we make gads to fit the drawers. We scent them with our favorite sachet and find infinite joy in their soft colorings.

Machine quilting is just the thing to give the pads the stiffness and body they require so that they will lay flat in the bottom of the drawer and not wrinkle up. Glazed chintz in a plain soft blue with darker blue bindings is used for the pads made to fit the chest of drawers shown here. Thin muslin is used for the backing and sheet wadding for the padding. When all three layers of material have been cut the right size, baste them together. The first row of basting is run diagonally across the center and then the rows are spaced about six inches apart as shown. Here also is a sketch of a machine quilter in operation. It is merely a foot with an indicator attached. The end of the indicator runs along each previous row stitched making an accurate gauge for the spacing of the quilting. After the pads are quilted, bind the edges as shown.

NOTE: Mrs. Spears' Book 2—Gifts, Novelties and Embroidery, has helped thousands of women to use odds and ends of materials and their spare time to make things to sell and to use. Book 1—SEWING, for the Home Decorator, is full of inspiration for every homemaker. These books make delightful gifts. Mrs. Spears will autograph them on request. Crazy-patch quilt leaflet is included free with every order for both books. Books are 25 cents each. Address: Mrs. Spears, 210 S. Desplantes, Chicago, Ill.

Grant's Homecoming

After the Civil war came to an end, U. S. Grant went home for a visit. When he had left home he was just another man, but now he was famous, known throughout the land. Her face expressionless, his mother met him and said, "Well, Ulysses, you've become a great man, haven't you?" Then she turned and went on with her household work.

Women Must Utilize Their Natural Gifts

By PATRICIA LINDSAY

SOMEONE has said, "No beauties are born, all are made." And what hope and encouragement to all women lie in that statement! True it is that few of us are born beautiful but persistency in making the most of what Nature endowed us with does make us attractive. And after all, it is the interesting-looking woman today, rather than the pretty-pretty, who is recognized and toasted as the modern beauty. The woman who has developed her natural gifts by being beauty-loving and beauty-seeking.

Gone are the days when one's earnest devotion to good looks was frowned upon, or when doctors voiced their disapproval of cosmetics. Today it is considered a woman's duty to society to be as lovely as possible and leading physicians believe strongly that the healthy, normal woman should keep abreast of her times and make herself most attractive.

No matter what your age, your occupation, your circumstances, you owe it to yourself as a woman, and to those around you, to make the most of your feminine heritage. Husbands and children alike unconsciously dote on wives and mothers who have not allowed themselves to become duds. Proud is the child who can produce a personable mother to show his friends and schoolmates.

—But Don't Be Extravagant!

But in seeking beauty, I do not advocate spending the rent or grocery money on expensive treatments or a flossy wardrobe. No, indeed. If you can afford such luxuries well and good, but don't encourage frowns and wrinkles and a distorted mind by fretting over what you cannot have. You can exercise your body into a pleasing figure just as well in your own home as you can in a costly studio. Current newspapers and magazines offer sound advice on meticulous grooming and body care, so there is little excuse for you to moan because you have not the where-withal for frequent visits to beauty salons.

Every woman's budget, however, should allow for occasional visits to a reliable physician to check her general health and diet, and also Myrna Loy epitomizes the charm for which women should strive. An arresting, smiling personality, an interest in her work, and a piquant beauty enhanced by scrupulous grooming.

For a few good cosmetics—specific aids for ailing skin or hair and those necessary to preserve personal daintiness. To these, every woman has a right—they assist her mentally.

But just as pertinent as cosmetics to a woman's loveliness is the right approach to living. Gracious thoughts and characteristics, an active interest in something other than herself and her home, a desire to be an inspiration to society, rather than a burden. Such attainments certainly enhance the charm any woman creates by being pleasing to look at.

Keep Child's Mind Active

If you are truly concerned about her beauty you cannot fail to keep her mind active and growing. What nonsense to allow her to concentrate on make-up! Teach her simple daily groomings. Fill her day with small duties and childish pleasures. Let her grow! Every child loves to be read to. Every child loves to paint and draw pictures. Think up new activities that will teach her to be self-reliant and progressive.

There is no beauty as appealing in all the world as a child's beauty. It must be held sacred. It must not be scarred by stupid parents who feel that artificial beauty aids can possibly make their child more attractive! Body health, skin health, mental health are the goals to be reached. Help your child by concentrating on her. She will grow to lovely womanhood, happy in the knowledge that her parents were wise parents who did not sacrifice her youth needlessly.

Origin of Word 'Chipper' Although it is conceivable that the word "chipper" may come from "chipmunk," an Algonquin word, with the derived meaning, "as lively as a chipmunk," it is generally listed in dictionaries as derived from English dialect forms akin to "chirrup" and "perit," with the addition of some onomatopoeia.

Star Dust

★ It's a Western Year
★ Watch Cagney Go!
★ Sleeping Producers
—By Virginia Vale

THIS begins to look more and more like a Western year, so far as the movies are concerned. Glorified Westerns these new ones will be, with the big studios offering you good casts, stories and sets, with A-1 directors handling the whole thing.

Walter Wanger will tempt you soon with "Stage Coach," starring Claire Trevor and John Wayne, Louise Platt, John Carradine, Donald Meek, George Bancroft, Thomas Mitchell and Andy Devine, with John Ford as director. The picture was shot at Kernville, Calif., and the story is one of those things in which an odd assortment of characters is thrown together under unusual circumstances. Wanger borrowed John Wayne from Republic at no small cost; incidentally, it was John Ford who discovered Wayne some seven years ago, when the young man was working as a prop boy.

Cecil B. DeMille gives you "Union Pacific," history from a movie angle, but history for all that. Darryl Zanuck contributes "Jesse James," which, if it even faintly resembles the stage play of that name, recently done in New York, should make you cheer.

And you'll see James Cagney in "Oklahoma Kid" by courtesy of Warner Brothers. It is said that his characterization is based on "Billy the Kid," and that's interesting. Years ago, before Hollywood had whipped up interest in young Mr. Cagney, he was just one more of New York's actors, doing pretty well, but wanting to do better. Mary McCall Jr., now one of Hollywood's best scenario writers, learned that one of the major companies was about to do a picture based on the life and adventures of Billy the Kid, and she and her husband did all they could to persuade the governing powers that Cagney, a friend of theirs, was just the boy for the part.

He didn't get it. Hollywood didn't know him, which was their bad luck. Now he has his chance.

Speaking of actors who aren't appreciated brings up the young woman known professionally as Elsa Lanchester, and otherwise as Mrs. Charles Laughton. If you meet a motion picture producer kicking himself around the block you'll know that she is the reason.

For "The Beachcomber," made by Laughton independently, with the two Laughtons in leading roles, had no more than begun its showing in New York in late December than everyone began to rave about Elsa Lanchester's performance. She had everything! And Hollywood, when she was there with her husband, gave her no chance to do anything but the bride in "The Bride of Frankenstein" and a couple of bits. Better see "The Beachcomber" when it comes your way; it is being mentioned as one of the best of the year.

Not a few of our best movie stars are envying Joe Blondell and Dick Powell these days. For since they broke with Warner Brothers they can accept those tempting radio offers that they used to turn down, regretfully, because the studio wouldn't let them accept.

Jack Haley was busy enough to suit him before "The Wizard of Oz" came into his life, what with doubling in movies and radio. Now he figures that he'll have to spend exactly one month out of the next three on making up for his role of "The Tin Woodman" in the screen version of the Frank Baum story; three hours a day to put make-up on, three to take it off—23 1/2 days altogether.

Lawrence Tibbett is preparing to commute from New York to Hollywood and back again this winter. He's been signed for that new radio program—known generally as "The Carole Lombard-Cary Grant program"—but he is also scheduled for frequent appearances at the Metropolitan Opera House, where he is one of the biggest draws. So he will fit back and forth, with practically no spare time except while he's flitting.

ODDS AND ENDS—Charlie Chaplin says that he positively will talk in his new picture, which will be a burlesque on the Hitler dictatorship. . . . If he makes the picture as slowly as he has some others, there's danger that the European scene will have changed so completely that it will be ancient history. . . . Loretta Young's sister, Polly Ann, has an important role in Monogram's "Sky Pirate," first of a series of six "Tallspin Tommy" features.

First Mention of Sugar Cane
Perhaps the first authoritative mention of sugar cane is in the records of the expedition of Alexander the Great down the Indus river in 325 B. C. Nearachus, an admiral in this expedition, mentions honey-bearing reeds and Dioscorides, who lived during the time of Nero, wrote: "There is a sort of hard honey which is called saccharum (sugar) found upon canes in India. It is grainy like salt and brittle between the teeth, but of sweet taste withal."

Shadowless Groundhog

Groundhog day, February 2, is a perennial calendar joke on people who persist in belief in the Sign of the Shadow. For their little rodent prophet never fails to deceive them by sleeping while they watch. The groundhog is one of the soundest of all winter sleepers, and has never been known to emerge from his cozy winter quarters until long after his shadow could be a matter of public concern. It appears about the end of February in the more southerly part of his range, as late as May up in the mountainous northwest.

The present State administration, elected by Democrats, is moaning over the malignant mayhem the Republican Legislature is inflicting on it. Now maybe the administration knows how the real Democrats have been feeling the past two years.

Members of the Legislature, unable to get the House records out of a safe, to which no one seems to know the combination, are bemoaning the fact that they have no yeggs among their members. If there is any money in that safe, the Delaware Legislature must be slipping.

Glenn Gildersleeve says music teachers in the public school should become familiar with "hot" music. Larry Clinton, Benny Goodman and their ilk. Mr. Gildersleeve is being paid good money to serve as state director of music education—not to discuss zoology.

The editorial page of a city paper should be the most interesting page of the paper—that is, when editorial expression represents the editor's own opinion. When editorial expression is subsidized, dictated or biased, it is worthless. That is why we never read the editorials in the Wilmington and Philadelphia papers.

THE EMPIRE STATE BUILDING

That building's tall—that Empire State—

And like all other hicks,
I "cricked" my neck in looking up—
In fact, I got two "cricks."
I counted up to fifty floors,
And looking up at it

For all that time my neck hurt so
I had to rest a bit.

Then, starting from the fifty floors,
I counted all the rest.

It's taller than the corn they grow
Out in the Middle West.

Great building, yes, sir; and the man
Who built that house was great;

The tallest building in the world—
New York's own Empire State.

But when somebody writes some songs

Or verse, and people sing
Or read them, and thruout the years,
Sad, dreary years, they bring
A spark to lighten up your home
And cheer you when you're blue,
And make you smile and hope again—
Ain't he a great man, too?

I read somewhere about a man,
A doctor, so it seems,
Or something like that, who had lots
Of notions—or of dreams
About disease—about a plague
Men never had before:

He went right in—and lost his life—
But saved a thousand more!

We say the Empire Building's great—
We say that it is tall—
But when I think of that one man—
It ain't tall—after all!

PNEUMONIA TREATMENTS NOW VERY MUCH MORE EFFECTIVE

But Coughs From Colds Break Down Resistance

The scientists and doctors of the world have made great strides in the diagnosis and treatment of the dreaded pneumonia. They have learned the various types and almost every city has hospital facilities that are fast reducing the death rate.

Most doctors agree that when a person's resistance is low he is much more susceptible, and that coughs following a cold certainly break down your resistance.

At the least suspicion of pneumonia, call your doctor at once, and at the first sign of a cough due to a cold start taking Mentho-Mulsion immediately.

Mentho-Mulsion is that time-tested cough remedy, made from ingredients used by many doctors for years. Now fortified with both Vitamins "A" and "D." Mentho-Mulsion, at only 75c, is recommended, sold and guaranteed by good druggists everywhere.—ad.

73,000,000 Calls

Last year, the people of Delaware asked us to put through 73,000,000 Bell telephone calls!

That was a big order. To fill it required men and women, telephones and trucks, machines and money.

Some 425 men and women! Experienced people with an average of more than 12 years in telephone work. Led by men and women who have learned and earned their jobs by serving in the ranks, these people have an annual payroll of about $780,000.

Telephones? Yes—43,000 of them—all connected with each other and connectable with 34,000,000 other telephones all over the world.

Trucks? About 75 motor vehicles. Driven by careful drivers. Twenty-seven Bell drivers in Delaware have over 100,000 miles of safe driving to their credit.

Machines and money. More than $10,000,000 invested in telephone plant in Delaware. Where does the money come from? Nearly three-quarters of a million people have invested part of their savings in Bell System securities. Right here in Delaware there are 1,750 people who own stock of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. And some 250 Delawareans own Bell Telephone bonds. The Diamond State Telephone Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Simpson, of Cape Charles, Va., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hopkins on Thursday.

JEHU CAMPER ROUTS ROBBERS AT HIS SERVICE STATION

His red night-gown flapping in the wind, and a furious gleam in his eye,

Jehu Camper blazed away with his "trusty" shotgun about three o'clock this morning at three fellows who had been robbing his service station, on the highway on the outskirts of Harrington. We say "trusty" shotgun advisedly, for one of the men gave a loud yell and Jehu believes he winged him.

The men took flight and abandoned their car, which, according to police, had been stolen in Maryland some time ago. Two sets of Maryland license plates were found in the car. In escaping, the men stole the car belonging to John Lord, a local plumber. To date, nothing further has been heard of them.

Mr. Camper says that a hurried check-up reveals very little, if anything, missing.

A POPULAR PHYSICIAN

While on a visit to a very beautiful mountainous State last autumn, we enjoyed many delightful drives. Over one stretch of this fine scenery, I noticed many signs, both large and small, scattered over the mountain side, in large letters saying: "Dr. Pepper." I did not read further—but turned to our driver and asked: "Who is this Dr. Pepper? He must be a very popular physician—what does he specialize in?" The two youngsters in the back seat let out a whoop and kept the yell going for some time. I inquired: "Why so much mirth?" Our driver tried to hide his smile in answering: "Dr. Pepper is a popular cold drink here." There was nothing for me to do but join in the fun—at my expense.—K. B. S. Robinson, Bayard, Fla.

NEW YORK

Discordant sounds, a restless surge, A flame across the sky; Ten thousand people rushing on— I wonder where—and why? I see bright faces shining there, Brave faces, unafraid, Upon which hope now sits enthroned— How soon will that hope fade? That restless, tireless, heedless throng— I gaze at it in awe— For I came here from peaceful scenes Down north of Arkansasaw. I see bent forms and haggard eyes, I see the silvered hair, And cheeks of rose have now become The pallid cheeks of care. And in that throng are beaten men Whose eyes no longer gleam, Still clutching to their empty breasts The fragment of a dream— Brave dream, whose ashes went into Manhattan's gaping maw— But I came here from peaceful scenes Down north of Arkansasaw. Why strive to climb on prostrate forms; Why strive to brave the wrath Of fate until its hand shall sweep You from its narrow path? Manhattan's way—and yet not mine! Let time exact its toll— The love of friends be mine and then I shall have reached my goal. Ambition sated on the pyre Of friendship—does it pay? Well, I'm from north of Arkansasaw— And south of I-o-w-a-y.

Special Missionary Service The Church of the Nazarene, located on Mechanic street, Harrington, will have for their speaker Rev. P. L. Beal, of India, on January 15th.

Rev. Mr. Beal will bring to us some wonderful thoughts, as he is the District Superintendent of our work in India, being well qualified to present facts about the conditions in this great harvest field.

We invite the people to attend this service, feeling sur you will go away helped and with greater ideals for achievement.

The Church with a warm welcome. S. F. Cook, pastor

ST. GEORGES BRIDGE

Henry C. Ray, blocked off the highway for about five miles north of the crossing, diverting traffic by way of Summit Bridge and Middletown.

Capt. J. R. Reynolds commands the Waukegan. A pilot whose name was not immediately learned, was also aboard.

Light rains and overcast sky gave a sombre note as crowds of townspeople flocked to both sides of the canal. Residents in the vicinity of the bridge said it collapsed like a child's bridge set when stepped on.

Quin is survived by his wife, Elizabeth and two daughters, Odell, a student at Ursuline Academy, and Mrs. Dorothy Lutz, who lives at his home. Oakes is survived by his wife and eight children.

Wanted—275 lbs. of live turkeys.—Mrs. George Swain, Harrington.

Money and Industry

Nothing is so vital to industry of every character as money.

And one of the main functions of this Bank is to see that legitimate industry has a proper supply of funds to keep the wheels turning.

Many a prosperous business has been dwarfed in its growth because of the need of a ready supply of money at the needed time.

The establishment of proper banking connections is therefore vital to your prosperity and growth.
