VEGETABLE SALAD BOWL (See Recipes Below)

'V' Stands for Vegetables

Vegetables are not apt to be prime favorites with men; practically every man has a little black list of his own—vegetables he just will not accept graciously. Father is apt to be as chary of spinach and other vegetables as his own eight-year-old, and to look upon salads as mere woman's nonsense! It isn't strange, if Junior, who adores his Dad, begins to proclaim his likes and dislikes in no uncertain terms. Like father, like son! So coax father to keep his "I-don't-likes" to himself—at meal time.

But there are salads and vegetables that father really enjoys. You'll find suggestions in my booklet, "Feeding Father," for preparing them, and recipes, too, for his favorite meat dishes and desserts. But to get back to vegetables, have you ever wondered why the very people who love to nibble on a raw carrot, fresh from the garden, are the ones who need to be coaxed to eat them once they're cooked? You'll find one solution to the problem of getting Dad and Junior to eat their carrots, right there. Why not serve them crisp, raw carrot sticks for a vegetable? Or make a crisp, colorful salad by combining shredded raw carrots and shredded raw beets with the tender young leaves of raw spinach? Mix lightly with sour cream salad dressing or french dressing, and serve from a salad bowl so that the boys may help themselves.

Perhaps just changing the methods of preparing and serving them is all you need to do to arouse family interest in vegetables. Here are some recipes that are just a bit out-of-the-ordinary—recipes I think your family will enjoy.

Onions Baked in Tomatoes.

(Serves 4 or 5)
 2½ cups canned tomatoes
 ½ bay leaf
 ½ teaspoon salt
 2 cloves
 ¼ teaspoon pepper
 1 tablespoon butter
 1½ cups flour
 6 onions (small)

Combine tomatoes and seasonings and cook for 10 minutes. Then remove bay leaf and cloves. Melt butter, blend in the flour, and add to tomato mixture. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Peel onions, place in a casserole and add tomato mixture. Cover and bake in a moderately hot oven (370 degrees) for 1 hour.

Pennsylvania Dutch Spinach.

(Serves 4-5)
 4 slices bacon (diced)
 1½ cups water
 2 tablespoons sugar
 3 tablespoons vinegar
 1 egg yolk (beaten)
 ¼ teaspoon dry mustard
 ½ teaspoon salt
 Few grains pepper
 4 cups raw spinach (chopped)
 2 hard cooked eggs

Cook bacon until crisp. Remove from the pan. Add flour to bacon fat and stir until smooth. Mix wa-

We're Sorry

In a recent article on homemade bread which appeared in this column, the recipe for Yeast Bread should be corrected to read "seven to eight cups bread flour."

Lima Beans on Casserole.

1 pound lima beans, dry
 ½ cup brown sugar
 ½ teaspoon salt
 2 tablespoons onion (minced)
 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
 1 tablespoon vinegar
 2 cups water
 1 pound pork sausage

Cook beans in boiling water approximately 1 hour—or until nearly tender. Pour in baking casserole. Meantime, place sugar, salt, onion, prepared mustard, vinegar and water in a saucepan and bring to boiling point. Pour this heated mixture over the beans. Make sausage up into small cakes and place on the beans. Bake approximately 45 minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees).

French Fried Asparagus Tips.

Cooked asparagus tips (short and thick variety)
 1 egg
 1 tablespoon water
 ¾ cup soft bread crumbs (very fine)
 ½ teaspoon salt
 Fat for deep fat frying

Drain asparagus. Beat egg and add water to it. Dip the drained asparagus in beaten egg. Roll asparagus tips in bread crumbs—patting them on so as to cover asparagus tips thoroughly. Place carefully in a deep fat frying basket and fry in fat heated to 370 degrees. Fry until tips are golden brown; drain on unglazed paper. Serve very hot.

Send for Copy of 'Feeding Father.'

For just 10 cents in coin you can add to your kitchen library, this very practical and clever book. You'll find in it recipes for quivery custard pie, for spare ribs with apple stuffing, for oyster stew, and recipes for all the other good "home-style" dishes that men like.

To get your copy of this cook book now, send 10 cents in coin to "Feeding Father," care of Eleanor Howe, 919 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois.

About this time of year the family supply of jams and jellies runs very low and we begin to hoard the few remaining jars. Next week Eleanor Howe will give you some of her favorite recipes for mid-winter jams and marmalades, which can be prepared right now, to supplement your stock. She'll give you, too, a recipe or two for delicious hot breads to serve with them.

Prosecutor Had Grounds For Objection, It Appears

Counsel for the defense was cross-examining the witness, a lovely blonde with big blue eyes.

"Where were you," he thundered, "on Monday night?"

The blonde smiled sweetly.

"Out for a run in a car."

"And where were you," belted counsel, "on Tuesday night?"

"Out for a run in a car."

Counsel leaned closer.

"And what," he said, "are you doing tomorrow night?"

Prosecuting counsel leaped to his feet.

"Your Honor," he protested, "I object to that question."

"And why do 'you object?'"

"Because I asked her first!"

Mandy, who washed for Mrs. Frisk, came to work one day with a tale of woe calculated to awaken pity in the hardest heart.

"Cheer up, Mandy," said Mrs. Frisk consolingly. "There's no use in worrying."

"How come dere's no use in worryin'?" asked Mandy. "When de good Lawd send me tribulation, He 'spects me to tribulate, don't He?"

"That's what mother wants to know."

America Needs Up-to-Date Morris Chair

By ELIZABETH MacRAE BOYKIN

What America really needs is a Morris chair brought up to date. Because in this genial old chair you get good sitting with a minimum of weight and bulk and at a reasonable cost. No wonder it's still grandfather's favorite.

Until the manufacturers wake up to the fact that the old Morris chair is a sound basic design that would accede pleasantly to the demands of either modern or provincial design, there are a lot of homes that will be putting a fresh cover on the old one and making it do. And you'd be surprised how unexpectedly passable it can be!

A family we know, who have more energy and ambition than money, has just completed the rejuvenation of a living room, and the result is good news for anybody who is furnishing on a budget and who must do a lot of the work. That way the money available for refurbishing would all go to buying new things that would really make a difference.

They painted the walls pale blue and bought a new rug in two tones of beige. A new maple secretary desk, a maple frame sofa, a pair of maple end tables, all in a pale honey colored finish, were the new purchases. Two old upholstered chairs were done over in a beige homespun fabric while the old Morris chair had its frame bleached and the cushions recovered in a flowered cretonne on a light blue ground. This same cretonne was used for new curtains made on rings so they could swish back and forth. The cushions on the sofa are covered in this cretonne too. Lamps with copper bases have beige homespun shades. A collection of old daguerrotypes and prints of local pioneer scenes were framed in blonde wood frames and hung in groups on the wall.

All told, this is a room of great tranquility, charm and comfort. The simplicity of the colorings is largely responsible for this effect.

Buying Wisely

TALK IT OVER WITH US

In these days people are buying wisely. They study values more closely than ever before, they compare prices. The buyer today studies advertising carefully, and the seller can use advertising and obtain better results than when money is more carelessly spent. Advertising nowadays pays—both buyer and seller.

DON'T BLAME US—BLAME WEBSTER.

We have come in for no small amount of criticism because, some two weeks ago, we referred to habitual funeral-goers as the most ignorant type of people to be found in any town.

We believe that statement to be true. We do not, of course, refer to people who attend the funerals of relatives, friends—or even acquaintances. It is proper and fitting that we should attend such funerals; it is proper that we should show the departed this respect.

But we mentioned HABITUAL funeral-goers. Let's have Mr. Webster's definition of habitual:

"Of the nature of a habit; according to habit; established by, or repeated by, force of habit; customary; as, the HABITUAL practice of sin; HABITUAL drunkenness; doing, practicing or acting in some manner by force of habit."

That should explain the situation. There is no thought, no affection, no kindness, consideration or respect back of the action of the habitual funeral-goer. He, or she, attends by force of habit—and force of habit, in its aggravated form, becomes a mania? Are such people intelligent?

There's quite a distinction when it comes to the exact meaning of words. We have been told that some people get "pleasure" out of attending funerals. The party who told us this did not mean it that way—but that is the exact word used. Let's see Webster's definition of pleasure:

"State of gratification of the senses or mind; agreeable sensation of emotion; the excitement, relish, or happiness produced by expectation of enjoyment of something good, delightful, or satisfying; delight, enjoyment, joy,—opposed to PAIN, SORROW, etc."

WHY HISTORIANS ARE SURE OF HEADACHES

Do history books plant seeds of prejudice in the plastic minds of boys and girls? Do histories actually disseminate hatreds and false ideas? Whether they do or don't, historians are faced with many a "headache," according to James Truslow Adams, eminent author-historian, in the current Rotarian Magazine.

Dr. Adams concedes that in those countries where certain ideologies are being forced upon citizens, one does not look for an unbiased presentation of historical or any other kind of facts.

"Facts are not always facts, the author explains, because the majority of them cannot be ascertained definitely, and their importance varies with readers and writers of histories. Dr. Adams suggests that rarely do two persons see the same thing in the same way, and the job of the historian becomes increasingly difficult when he must appraise many versions of an event or incident. "History is not, and never has been, an exact science," he writes.

"Historians labor at a disadvantage. They must, preface, differ in many cases as to the truth of facts, and again as to the place and value of those in the history they are writing."

"Just as two landscape painters may see and paint the same scene differently, so may two historians, and quite honestly. What, then, can they do? In the first place, they should be honest and steadfast. They should resist all sorts of pressure groups (mostly the so-called societies, racial groups, localities, and sections), and tell their story as they honestly see it, using the facts as they determine them."

VACATIONS DAILY TO ALL USING THEIR WITS

Need a vacation? Certainly! And not next month or next summer—but now! What's more, you don't need a vacation that the boss gives you, but one that you take yourself. Everyone ought to have a vacation every day, and with planning and wit he can put into short intervals all the essentials of a protracted holiday.

The lunch hour provides vacation opportunities for a walk, glimpses of new surroundings, an exchange of ideas with truck drivers and college students in "beaneries" and cafeterias; or a few minutes to catch the drama of the street with a camera, holds Dr. Marston. Even the visits of persons who interrupt your busiest working hours can be vacations if an interesting exchange of views replaces a bored resistance to the other fellow's ideas.

"Floundering along in a deep rut with your vision dimmed by other people's dust will never get you anywhere," the author asserts. "What I am talking about is the independence to take time off whenever you cease to function properly; the courage to renew your spirit and not be browbeaten by routine. A daily vacation is your best success insurance because it guarantees the preservation of your own inner drive."

LOOKING AT THE BRIGHT SIDE OF

Nineteen-forty turns its brighter side toward the United States, and its darker side toward most of the rest of the world.

Obviously, no one can enforce the course of future events. While our hopes are for an early and just peace abroad, we must concentrate upon the duties and problems confronting us at home, realizing that conditions here will be profoundly affected by the situation there.

Also as we extend New Year wishes to each other, let us not selfishly put the emphasis upon happiness, but rather upon worthiness—that we may each prove worthy of our opportunities and our responsibilities.

Pan America Faces Hard Job Maintaining Neutrality Zone; Agree on More Restrictions

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

PAN AMERICA: Violations

Determined to "share the fate of his ship," Capt. Hans Langsdorff of the scuttled German battleship Graf Spee blew out his brains in a Buenos Aires hotel.

were interned for 60 days, but must then leave the U. S.

(Before he killed himself, Graf Spee's captain told how the ship had fooled her raiding victims by camouflaging, once by changing her superstructure to resemble the British cruiser Renown.)

The Spee, Columbus and Arauca incidents brought Europe's war to Pan-American shores for the first time, and there was every indication that Western hemisphere governments would tolerate no more of these carryings-on.

It was revealed that the U. S. had agreed to join Brazil and Argentina in helping Uruguay force Graf Spee out of Montevideo harbor.

Already interned by Argentina are the 1,039 crewmen of Graf Spee who found themselves scattered hastily to provinces far from the ocean.

THE WARS: In the West

Not all of Europe's mid-December warfare took place in American waters (see above). The western front was quiet as usual.

Purpose of the patrol is to keep mine-laying German planes at their bases during the early morning

From New York, ex-President Herbert Hoover sent Finland's Premier Risto Ryti the $100,000 relief organization collected in its first week.

Arriving in Manhattan was James F. Montgomery, U. S. minister to Hungary. Reports said he would resign unless the state department allowed his wife to return to Europe with him.

To Reno came Mrs. Orson Welles, wife of the 25-year-old radio and stage dramatist, awaiting a divorce.

Friends in Washington hinted Wisconsin's John D. Wickham, state supreme court justice ("a Democrat, Catholic, midwesterner and liberal") would be named to the U. S. Supreme court to succeed another midwestern Catholic, the late Pierce Butler.

Apparently the "security patrol" bogged down shortly thereafter, for the Germans, no longer laying mines, began dropping aerial torpedoes on British merchant craft.

LABOR: Probe

More unsavory each day became the testimony in a house committee's investigation of the National Labor Relations board.

That Philip G. Phillips, regional NLRB director at Cincinnati, had written his superiors that the city editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer was a "swell guy and a dear friend of mine," and had kept out of print a series of articles critical to NLRB.

That Nathan Witt, NLRB secretary whom Boardman Leiserson would have fired, "plotted" with C. I. O.'s Steel Workers Organizing Company to force Inland Steel into a written agreement providing for exclusive bargaining.

After several days of this, committee members were reported ready to ask congress for major amendments in the Wagner act.

In accordance with his suggestions, the minister of popular culture organized the Estate Musicale Italiana to carry out the idea, which was put into effect in 1938.

China Buys Planes LOS ANGELES.—The Ryan Aeronautical company of San Diego has concluded a contract with the Republic of China.

DEFENSE: Navy Day

As Europe's war came nearer home (See PAN-AMERICA), two items of domestic news drew more attention than usual:

At Washington the navy department awarded a $20,016,699 contract for airplanes to the Consolidated Aircraft corporation at San Diego.

At Quincy, Mass., the navy tested its newest airplane carrier, the $21,000,000 Wasp, which steamed on a trial run along the New England coast with its secret deck equipment shrouded by tarpaulins.

AGRICULTURE: Woe

In today's unhappy agricultural plight, one of the sorrows of increased production methods is that the nation's already overfilled granaries.

Best example was corn, which yielded 29.5 bushels per acre compared with last year's 27.8 bushels and the 10-year average (1929-37) of 23 bushels.

Among wheat, corn, oats, rye and barley, the only other increased grain crop was barley.

bushels over the preliminary estimate on a harvested area 12,000,000 acres less than in 1936.

Signed in Washington was a supplementary trade agreement between the U. S. and Cuba.

President Roosevelt told reporters he intended to ask congress to raise the $550,000,000 "owed to the treasury" as a result of farm parity payments and other agricultural expenditures which were approved by the legislators, but not provided for.

Other farm news: Signed in Washington was a supplementary trade agreement between the U. S. and Cuba.

POLITICS: Farm Vote

For several months many political forecasters have believed 1940's presidential election will be won or lost in the midwestern farm belt.

First Democrat to see the light was Montana's Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, himself a potential candidate, who warned that westerners would vote the Republican ticket unless the Democrats nominate a "liberal."

Meanwhile the rumor spread that smart Republicans may try to swing to their cause two of the West's foremost liberals—Minnesota's Sen. Henrik Shipstead, a Farmer-Laborite, and Wisconsin's Sen. Robert M. LaFollette, whose dogfight father once dominated the G. O. P.

Already committed to supporting Shipstead in the Republican primary, Governor Stassen could easily extend his idea into neighboring farm states, where discontent with the administration's reciprocal trade program may prove a No. 1 talking point for Republicans in 1940.

Closing Session of Congress To Set Stage for 1940 Campaign

Proposals to Aid Party in Power Sure to Appear; Effort Will Be Made to Make Money Bills a Political Focus; Trade Treaties Expected to Draw Fire.

By WILLIAM BRUCKART

WNU Service, National Press Bldg., Washington, D. C.

... MAY JUMP Senator Burt Wheeler expected to bid for delegates.

WASHINGTON.—It is generally possible to forecast in broad outline what will happen in the session of a congress that winds up a second term of an eight-year national administration.

Since the last session of congress in the Roosevelt administration is upon us, it seems that a prediction on several phases is indicated.

The coming session is going to be longer than some of the politicians would like.

2. Appropriation bills will occupy a great deal of the time in the early weeks of the session, as usual.

But contrary to what has been the situation respecting the money bills, there is going to be a determined effort to make them the center of an issue, a political focus.

Tangled up with the appropriation bills this year will be a delicate question involving the national debt because President Roosevelt is going to put up to congress the question of increasing the present national debt limit from 45 billions to 50 billions. And it must not be overlooked that the question of national revenue—taxation—is bound to figure in this controversy because the national treasury has been in the red—more spending than receipts—in the seven years of Mr. Roosevelt's administration and two years of Mr. Hoover's administration.

Proposal to Create Second Budget Sure to Draw Fire

3. National defense—expansion of the army and the navy—obviously will get attention and here, again, the question of taxation appears.

4. Another controversial proposition will be the President's proposal to extend the life of the reciprocal trade treaty program.

5. In addition to the trade treaty program and tied to it in a fashion that makes a skein of tangled yarn appear simple of solution, is the widespread demand that congress revise the general agricultural program.

6. Lastly, there is the politics of the picture. This new session will be somewhat different than the ordinary run of "last" sessions because of the schism within the Democratic or majority party.

That has the dual effect of enabling appeals to patriotism and of helping voters to forget mistakes and grievances.

I understand that Republican wheelhorses are moving to make issues out of purely domestic problems and alleged shortcomings of the New Deal administration.

Schism Within Democratic Party Due for Finish Fight

6. Lastly, there is the politics of the picture. This new session will be somewhat different than the ordinary run of "last" sessions because of the schism within the Democratic or majority party.

RACE HORSES—This is Grayhound. He and all other horses have a birthday January 1.

LOU GEHRIG—Ex-Yankee slugger, he begins 10-year term on New York's crime commission.

MATANUSKA—U. S. withdraws aid for colonists. Rumor says many will now return to "mainland."

DUCHESS OF WINDSOR—She opens French chateau as hospital for wounded on January 1 while "hubby" is at the front.

OBSERVATORY—Only man who knows it's New Year's, officially, is operator of master clock at Washington's famous naval observatory.

PAUL McNUTT—His U. S. social security agency begins annual payments on January 1, date having been moved ahead two years.

LEWIS LAWES—Warden of New York's Sing Sing prison completes 20 years on the job.

STREET SWEEPERS—In every city, they must clean up the debris left by celebrants.

FOOTBALL—"Bow" games in the West and South usher out the 1939 grid season in a blaze of glory.

ELY CULBERTSON—He and all other bridge players must learn new contract rules effective January 1.

PARADISE—Among them, the Mummers parade in Philadelphia.

Each family of certain tribes in New Guinea has certain designs, more or less elaborate, with which they decorate not only their houses, but their implements, canoes, and other objects.

Washington appointed such a day in 1789 after the adoption of the Constitution and in 1795 for the general welfare of the nation.
