WOODBRIDGE, N. J.-This scene of desolation met the eye after a terrifying blast leveled the United Railway and Signal Co., here, killing nine persons and injuring 33. Though the plant made torpedo signals for railroads, it was said to be working on a device of "great importance" to the army and navy. (For news of other powder plant blasts see "DE-FENSE: Supplies.")

FOUR HORSEMEN: War

Greece is connected to Fascistheld Albania by three highways running through deep mountain passes. Down these three highways marched Mussolini's blackshirt legions in the first week of his war with Greece. Back up the highways hurried what was left of the divisions in the second week.

The Greeks, outnumbered two to one, reported they had pushed the invaders back on the northern and sit must expect even heavier atcentral front. On the southern front they also claimed victory, said a complete Italian division was surrounded and wiped out.

England, still pounded by German warplanes, saw the Tower of London, ancient prison where famous prisoners were confined in the Elizabethan era, smashed by a bomb. One night the raiding planes had an lantic unaccustomed hum. The English guessed they were Italians, a guess confirmed when one was shot down. The Italian onslaught brought demands in London for a raid on Rome, treasured architectural city until now protected by agreement. Said George Bernard Shaw, "There is no reason why Rome should not have it. If only people were not killed and we could select the places to be bombed, I would at the more heavily gunned and arwelcome an attack on London. They are knocking down a good many things we should have knocked down ourselves long ago.'

WAR AT SEA: British Losses

Britain was not hiding the fact that continued loss of freighter vessels was seriously interfering with the conduct of the overseas supplies. Neutral estimates have put the losses at 3,400,000 tons out of an available 30,000,000. The rate of sinkings has gone up sharply since June. Prime Minister Churchill told commons the losses were more seritacks next spring. He sounded out Ireland on the use of bases there but Eire President De Valera rejected the bid.

One day Berlin announced that a convoy of 20 British ships had been attacked and sunk. It was believed a sea raider of the pocket battleship type was at large in the north At-

But three days later, London reports of the attack on the same convoy varied greatly from this Berlin dispatch

Said the British: A German pocket battleship overtook a British convoy of 38 ships and a dramatic and heroic episode of the sea was then enacted

The British armed merchant cruiser, Jervis Bay, steamed directly mored German ship and engaged in combat. Though outclassed, the gallant crew of the Jervis Bay continued shelling their enemy until at curities.

Refugee

Clemenceau, daughter-in-law of Georges Clemenceau, "The Tiger" of France in World war days, is photographed on her arrival in New York aboard the S. S. Exeter. The Exeter brought many American and European refugees from the war zone and the ship's officers told of two shots fired across her stern by a British patrol boat while the vessel was one hour out of Lisbon, Portugal.

CONGRESS: No Business

Congress continues the fiction of being in session, although virtually all but a few members left the city Every other day officials of both houses appear, open the session, hear the official prayer, permit speeches to be inserted in the Record and then recess within a few minutes. There is no embarrassing roll call.

Agitation for an official adjournment is opposed by Republican leaders as well as many Democrats. They hold congress should be in the position of instant action, due to the troublous foreign situation.

One bill being worked out in the meantime is the Ramspeck measure for extension of the merit system to cover some 150,000 more government workers. The bill has been passed by both houses and is being delayed because the house won't accept changes made in conference. Final acceptance would make the Roosevelt administration the recordbreaker for civil service extension.

Debt Meanwhile Treasury Secretary Morgenthau warned the ceiling on the federal debt must be raised soon, due to heavy defense spending. A formal treasury request for new taxes and a higher debt limit -probably $60,000,000,000-is not expected until next January however. The present congress has voted almost $17,000,000,000 for defense. Morgenthau said the treasury has no idea of asking congress to pass

Era of Swift American Clipper Ships Engaged in China Tea Trade Was One Of Most Romantic in Maritime History

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON ed by Western Newspaper Union. T WAS the year 1860more than three-quarters of a century ago-and the place was London, England, at the docks. Men crowded the wharf, eyes searching the channel. They jostled each other, eager to be the first to announce the coming of the ship which they awaited.

In the windows of nearby buildings other men with field glasses kept watch. A rumor swept like wildfire through the crowd "She's coming, she's coming." But the rumor proved false and the watchers settled themselves to wait again. They were joined by scores of others until the dock was packed solidly with expectant humanity. Suddenly a cry went up. "Thar she be, coming down the channel. The beauty!"

clipper ship, Falcon, was coming into port, bearing the year's first cargo of tea from Foochow, China, to London. She had made the voyage in 110 days, beating her rivals, Ellen Rodgers, Robin Hood, Chrysolite and Ziba, into port and so won a fortune for her owners. Despite the fact the Falcon was heading for an English port, she was American-built and was one of the great line of clipper ships, constructed on American ways, which made sea history.

There is no more dramatic era of the sea than that of the clipper ships, an era which was recalled a few weeks ago by announcement of the Tea Bureau, Inc., that for the second time in history this country's annual imports of tea had passed the 100,000,000 pound mark.

During the Nineteenth century the arrival of the first cargo of new tea into port meant a fortune for its owner, and the clipper ship races bore all the elements of great sporting events. In fact, the races were recorded on canvas by noted painters of the day and have since formed the theme of many books both of an historic and fictional nature. So great was the interest of both tea traders and citizens of London in the clipper races that they have been rivaled only by the famous English derby. It was, in fact, the clipper races which inspired another series of historic cona retroactive tax on government setests of our own time, the Sir Thomas Lipton yacht races. The Flying Cloud was launched in 1851 and was a vessel of 1,782 tons. Although originally built for the firm of Enoch Train & Company of Boston, she was sold while still on the stocks to Grinnell Minturn & Company, of New York. Longfellow's well-known poem, "Building of the Ship" with its often quoted line, "Sail on, O union strong and great," is said to have been inspired by the launching of the Flying Cloud. As did many of the early California clipper ships, the Flying Cloud had to cross the Pacific to China to get a cargo home. She made Honolulu in 12 days. On one of those days, using skysails and studsails, she covered 374 miles. The Flying Cloud later accomplished the run around the Horn in 89 days and 21 hours, and three years later she beat her own record by 13 hours. These records were never equalled. Inspired by Baltimore Clippers. The early clipper ships were inspired by the swift privateers produced in Baltimore for the War of 1812, and came into being because of the demand of tea merchants for fleeter vessels to bring each season's new cargoes of tea. Isaac McKim, Baltimore merchant, is credited with being the first to conceive the idea of a three-masted full-rigged vessel built along the lines of the Baltimore clippers for use in the tea trade with China.

Most famous of all of the clipper ships, the Flying Cloud made records which were never equalled. (From Bettman Archive.)

Isaac Webb in 1831.

In 1832 Mr. McKim had built a vessel of 493 tons and 143 feet long which he christened the Anne Mc-Kim. The vessel proved to be one of the fastest on the China run, but her carrying capacity was much smaller than that of slower vessels.

However, she well served her purpose since she inspired two enterprising marine architects, John Willis Griffiths and Donald McKay, to design a type of sail-ing vessel from which was evolved the extreme clipper.

The Anne McKim was followed by the Rainbow, designed by Griffiths and launched in New York in 1845. The design was so revolutionary that argument became hot as to whether she would float or sink. But she exceeded even the hopes of her designer. She started her maiden voyage to China in February and was back in New York in September, having paid her cost of $45,000 and returned to her owners, Howland and Aspinwall, an equal amount in profit. She did even better on her second voyage when she made the round trip so speedily that she brought back to New York news of her own arrival in Canton. Actually she made the round trip faster than any other ship could sail one way, 92 days out and 88 days back.

Interestingly enough, it was the arrival of a cargo of tea on a clipper ship in 1859 that paved the way for our modern system of chain store merchandising and distribution which has revolutionized both production and marketing. A bewhiskered young New Huntington Hartford purchased a few chests of tea from a clipper ship just in port with a new cargo, dealing directly with the owner of the tea instead of with a broker as was then the custom. At this time, despite its extensive importation, tea was still a luxury item beyond the reach of the average citizen, the many hands through which it passed before reaching the citizens being largely responsible for this high price. Mr. Hartford put his tea up in small packages and sold it from door to door at a fraction of what it would have cost had the tea passed through the usual number of hands on the way to the consumer. The venture was so successful that he tried it again with a larger purchase of tea and thus gained the idea for the system of mass distribution and merchandising upon which the oldest and largest of the nation's food chains was founded. Within eight years after Mr. Hartford's original venture the price of tea had been brought down to within reach of the man earning a small livelihood Methods used in the distribution of tea proved so popular with the consumer that they were later translated into the sale of all other types of food products. Thus was established the system of moving goods direct from producer to consumer in large quantities, making possible substantial savings.

Streets of Gold

Digging for gold in the street with penknives is not a sign of lunacy in Kalgoorlie, western Australia. Prospectors while walking through the main thoroughfare of Hannan street sometimes notice gleaming patches of gold in the pavements and stoop to chip out pieces with their knives.

Death

The Pale Horseman rode over Europe in more than war. An earthquake shook Rumania killing an estimated 2,000 and causing millions of dollars of property damage. Destroved also were some of the prolific Rumanian oil wells which have been supplying Adolf Hitler with the gasoline needed for his war machine.

Famine

Unable to ship food through the British blockade, the American Red Cross prepared to close all its stations in occupied and unoccupied France. All Europe was under strict rationing.

Pestilence

How long England holds out may depend indirectly more than directly on Nazi bombs. Millions of people were crowded into air raid shelters night after night, in foul air and weakened by loss of sleep. It is feared this may bring epidemics as soon as spring arrives.

Italian Losses Reports from London also told of a smashing bombing attack upon Italy's navy, anchored in the Mediterranean port of Taranto. British planes operating from an aircraft carrier were reported to have put out of action two battleships, two cruisers and two auxiliary craft and severely damaged a third battleship. Aircraft were used in the attack, according to London, because the harbor is too heavily fortified for surface craft to approach it. While the Italians described these reports as "fantastic," if they are true, it means that English domination of the Mediterranean is assured for some time to come. The vessels sunk or damaged represent about one-half of Italy's full fighting strength of larger vessels. POST ELECTION:

The Aftermath

Rumors of changes in the cabinet were given scant attention by President Roosevelt, although there are excellent indications some will be made when the new administration officially starts January 20. Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes was the first to submit his resignation. He acted the day after election. There was no indication the resignation would be accepted, it merely was the same routine Mr. Ickes followed four years ago "to give the President a free hand."

War Secretary Henry L. Stimson is mentioned among those who may leave. New York's Mayor LaGuardia was mentioned as a possible successor. The "little flower" knows

Great Britain will receive approximately 26,375 American-made airplanes before June, 1942. This was made possible by arrangement approved by President Roosevelt, who agreed to allow London 50 per cent of the planes which will be produced in the United States by that date. The extent of the British order was set at $2,000,000,000.

The 50-50 sharing will extend to other munition needs, the Priorities board announced. Deliveries will be staggered.

'Captains Courageous.'

Captains and crews of the clipper ships were as colorful as the ships themselves. Both played leading roles in the success of a voyage and the speed with which the ocean was spanned. Writing of famous ships of the clipper era, Richard C. McKay says, "A sailing ship is an exceedingly complex, sensitive and capricious creation, quite as much so as most human beings. Her coquetry and exasperating deviltry have been the delight and despair of seamen's hearts at least since the days when the wise, though muchmarried, Solomon declared that among the things that were too wonderful for him and which he knew not was 'the way of a ship in the midst of a sea'.

One of the most famous of all of the clipper ship captains was Robert H. Waterman, first commander of the Sea Witch. Capmoney like asses ashore." any event, it was a commonplace occurrence before a vessel sailed for at least half and often times more members of the crew to be lifted aboard like sacks, as the result of too-prolonged celebrations on land. Once on board, however, they were speedily sobered up and for the duration of the voyage they rarely if ever saw any alcoholic beverages. A Society Event.

Departure of the clippers was the occasion for a gathering of smart New York society at Battery Park, which was then a fashionable resort. When the vessels had finished loading cargo they would drop down to East river and anchor off the park, usually under their own sail as tug boats were both scarce and slow. New York society went to the park to hear the sailors sing their sea chanties which were an important part of sea life. Songs gave zest and cheeriness to life aboard ship. If the crew knocked off chantey ing then something was definitely wrong and the captain started to worry. These songs originated early in the Nineteenth century with negro stevedores in Mobile and New Orleans, from whom the sailors aboard the packet boats learned them. Rates these clipper ships earned from New York to Hong Kong seem almost incredible nowadays. In 1850 the Samuel Russell received $60 per ton of 40 cubic feet. This clipper was registered as 940 tons and being a sharp ship could not carry more than 1,200 tons but her freight cargo would still amount to $72,000. Today owners of vessels plying from New York to Hong Kong regard $12 a ton as a good price. Opening of the Suez canal in 1869 rang the knell for the clipper ships since it gave the steamships an advantage they had not possessed when it was necessary to watch every pound of coal. As steamships rapidly replaced the clippers for tea cargoes, the latter drifted into the Australian trade, where wool gave them another opportunity. But the day of their glory was finished and their proud traditions waned until they were little more than worn-out freighters toiling through seas over which they had once

Sweaters Gain New Popularity As Formal, Informal Garment

N LEAPS and bounds the sweater vogue continues to gain momen tum. It does not matter whether you are going mountain climbing, skiing, skating, trailer traveling, flying to your destination, motoring, or whether you stay at home or accept a bid to a formal dinner dance. You can't mention a time, place or event, but what a sweater will help you fit into the "picture" triumphantly.

It was not always thus, for there was a time when a sweater was just a sweater, a thing of utility and that's about all. But the story of the sweater of winter 1940 bespeaks service, glamour, romance, chic, charm and versatility. In current collections sweaters are in such varied tempo they tune to every occasion, be it ever so humble or ever so ostentatious.

The collection of models illustrated herewith convey some idea of the wide range of fashion phases which the present sweater vogue encompasses. But not until he was presented by Don Francisco, with due formality, to a young lady who now entered the room was the gaunt Texan conscious of a feeling of his own awkwardness and illfitting apparel. She was Senorita Carmen, of the rancho, cousin to Don Francisco.

The young Spaniard did the in-terpreting and much of the talking. Host and hostess extended repeated Spanish greetings to Bowie which Don Francisco translated. The young lady was wholly silent, save that when spoken to by her cousin she responded clearly and composedly.

place of honor on his left. Next to him sat Don Francisco; seated below Dona Maria was Senorita Carmen. As she sat opposite the Texan she made good use of her eyes, yet so skillfully that he was never aware of her inspection.

Don Ramon, as the beef, mutton and fowl in bewildering abundance were served in formal turn, asked many questions of his stranger guest -questions about Texas; about the differences of the Americans with the Mexican government; then as to what brought Bowie to California. This drew only vague generalizations from the Texan. The Don switched next to what lay immediately ahead; what Bowie had in mind to do. "As to that, senor," responded Bowie frankly, "I hardly have any ence of a stranger and protecting plans. I find myself here on the coast with two scout companions. Soon we are going up the river, to Sutter's Fort. Our principal occupation in the interval must be to find something to eat."

of the canyon and gave him the direction. At the same moment he heard pistol shots echoing down the canyon walls. Urging his companions who were stringing along behind to follow fast, Pedro galloped into the canyon.

His practiced eye told him the story as he rode. Whatever it had been, it was over, for the canyon was as still as the grave. On he galloped until, rounding a bend, he saw the bodies of the grizzly and the Texan lying less than ten yards apart, both apparently dead.

Being Contented

To the contented, even poverty and obscurity bring happiness, while to the ambitious, wealth and honors are productive of misery.

of Harmful Body Waste of Harmful Body Waste Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to re-move impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery. Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizzines, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength Other signs of kidney or bladder dis-order are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Events in the Lives of Little Men

PSYCHOLOGY TEST FOR SOLDIERS Tests in psychology for all men in the army are proposed by officers at Fort Dix, where such tests are now being applied to determine the fitness of soldiers in special situations. And just when it seemed that enlisting in the army might be the only way to escape those things!

One of the questions is: "You are driving an auto at night. While driving you meet another auto which will not dim its lights, regardless of your signals. What would you do?" The question becomes particularly important if the gent in the other car happens to be a general.

Another reads: "You are walking along a muddy road carrying a stone in one hand when an auto passes and splashes mud over you. Would you throw the stone? Answer yes or no." There's only one answer for a soldier to that one: "No. But don't depend on it."

Professor Elmer Twitchell, this department's eminent psychologist, has prepared the following tests for volunteers and draft prospects: 1.—You are driving a limousine to the front. There are four young ladies with you. On the way you encounter two majors going to the front on foot. They both give you the thumb in the orthodox hitchhiker manner. You explain that, as you have four girls with you, there is no sense taking them aboard unless they can dig up another major. Go on with the story from there.

2 .- You have answered the draft

Hook Posy Pad for Chair or Foot Stool

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS WHEN I made the sketch in Sewing Book 5 showing the method that our Grandmothers used for making original hooked rug designs, I forgot that Grandmother did not wear silk stockings every day. There have been doz-ens of letters saying, "I would like to hook the flower designs for which you give directions in Book 5. Will you please tell me if I can use old silk stockings for these?"

Silk stockings may be used for hooked rugs but they do not wear as well as woolen materials. They are perfect for hooked chair pads, foot stool tops and wall hangings. All the popular stocking colors may be dyed soft green, red and brown tones, without first remov-ing the tan color. "White dye" should be used first if bright colors are needed. After dyeing, cut a strip around and around the stocking spirally, making it from 3/4 inch to 11/2 inches wide according to how fine the work is to be. When your design has been marked as described in Book 5, draw the stocking strips through the burlap with a rug hook.

* * * Flowers may be hooked in outline or in a shaded effect, as shown here. And here is good news for all of you rag rug en-thusiasts. Book 6 is now ready for mail-ing. There is still another hook rug de-sign in it; also a braided and a crocheted rug and dozens of other things that you will want to make. Send order to:

Farmers Face New Problems As Use of Machines Increases

Technological Advances Change Life on U. S. Farms; Greek Nation Completely Unified in Crisis; Government Buys More Land.

By BAUKHAGE (Released by Western Newspaper Union.) What's next? With the frost on the pumpkin, fodder in the shock, the world settling down to a hard winter and a long war, those of us who aren't in the first draft or just elected to office have a chance to look two ways from Christmas.

The industrial tail is about to wag the agricultural dog again the experts tell us, surplus labor is about to be syphoned off the farm which is fine for the man who has too many mouths to feed and too few acres to divide up, but not so good for the farmer who needs a few extra hands. However, if you do turn around and look back 35 years just to take your mind off present troubles you can see some interesting sights which have just been set up in sharp perspective by the interbureau committee of the department of agriculture.

In that short span for a man or a mule, 35 years, 10,000,000 mules and horses and thousands of men have been pushed off the farm by the machine. And, according to the prognosticators in Washington, a million and a half more mules and horses will be replaced by tractors in the next 10 years, and more than 8,000,000 acres of land now used to raise feed for work stock will be put to other uses.

man versus the machine, especially since the smash of 1929 that made unemployment the big issue, and again since the smash of 1940 when the Nazis with their tanks and motorized equipment went through France like a plow through loam. But the farmer had been getting machine conscious long before that. Especially since the little jack-ofall trades tractor appeared on the field, replacing the cumbersome earlier models.

Along with the tractor came a lot more "technological developments" including not only farm machinery like the combine and the corn-picker but other scientific advances such as testing and breeding and feeding the narrow roadway hardly wide of animals and plants, soil conservation, disease prevention and other things. This technology has hurt as well as helped. Besides the thousands of men who have lost their jobs on farms as well as in factories, prices have been affected and the whole social life on the farm has changed.

"It is not that these scientific advances are to be blamed" for the difficulties which have arisen, the Washington experts say, but "the troubles, if any, arise from the inequality of adjustments and re- Winter Comes

This is just one of the farm problems that the farmer can think over during the long winter evenings. Like many other good things machinery can be too much of a good thing. Alexander Pope's advice still stands: "Be not the first by whom the new

Greek People Wholly United

The war came close to me again the other day when I stepped on the soil of another belligerent. It was shortly after the Italians had crossed the border from Albania, and the Greeks had met this new invasion from the west as they met the Persian invasion from the east 450 years before.

I say I stepped on foreign soil because the embassies and legations of a foreign power are con-sidered a part of the territory of that power no matter where they are located. The house which is a peaceful piece of Greece looks over Sheridan circle on Massachusetts avenue in the capital. It is really just a big private residence made into a legation where the minister, a cheerful little man with a long We've been hearing a lot about name, Cimon Diamantopoulos, lives and carries on the business of his > country. As I sat in the attractive cubbyhole that is his study, pouring over a map of the country he knows so well, I had a strange feeling. The walls with their artistic etchings of classic beauty seemed to fade away and I could see those tortuous passes of the ancient Pindus mountains. Mule-drawn artillery were struggling through the snow-drifts, the fierce Greek mountaineers with their kilts and tufted shoes on one side, the plumed Bersaglieri equally fierce Evzones mountain fighters on the other. I could see the attack in the blinding blizzard, the clash on enough for small motor lorries to pass, and then men and mules plunging down into the bottomless abyss.

The minister looked up. "Greece has never been as united as it is today," he said.

NEW YORK.—Being deaf, and naturally shrewd and alert, little Ismet Inonu, president of Turkey developed various sensitivities to such an ex-tent that he President Inonu Of Turkey'Man soon became With Antennae' known not only as a lipreader, but a mind-reader. It was inevitable that he should become an excellent dead-pan poker player and be a wary and knowing participant in international politics in his neighborhood. "You'd think the man had antennae," a correspondent who had interviewed him told me several years ago. "It is almost spooky the way he seeems to feel out everything around him."

Perhaps, making his frank address before the national assembly, he has a hole card which the juggernaut powers hadn't figured on. At any rate, he is bold and explicit about Turkey's determination to stick to her alliance with Great Britain, and proclaims that "The bonds of alliance which unite us to her are solid and unbreakable.'

Those who have played poker with the man, ingratiating little fighter and diplomat say that when he bets 'em he has 'em-all kibitzers gloomily shaking their heads, however. as they figure the Axis hand.

It was as Ishmet Pasha that he made his career, changing his name in line with Kemal Ataturk's modernization program. A colonel in the Turkish army, he made a perilous passage through hostile lines in 1920, and joined Kemal Ataturk Jointly, in less than two years, they drove the Greeks out of Anatolia and Smyrna and in the following years built modern Turkey. He was mysteriously benched during Kemal Ataturk's last year, but appeared at the helm, with power and prestige unlessened at the latter's death.

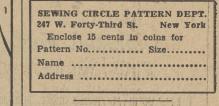

For the last two years, Germany's clever and resourceful Von Papen has been attending to political and diplomatic sabotage in Turkey. The word has been that the astute President Inonu has always been a jump or two ahead of him and that Turkey hasn't been readied for the kill in the manner of other small powers. The president has fostered carefully the Turkish hegemony over the Moslem bloc, and whenever the Axis powers kick Islam in the face, his peogives England a valuable liaison with Islam, which may become more and more important as the war wears on.

nses in agriculture and industry To Washington to such advances."

Just what the advantages and disadvantages are that lie ahead is told in detail in a 224-page book, printed by the government and called "Technology on the Farm."

One thing that interested me particularly in this interesting book, aside from its excellent and detailed information, was an editorial opinion it expressed on the way the use of machines has changed farming for a living to farming for cash. There's a difference.

Of course when you have to buy a lot of machinery you need hard money but there are disadvantages in simply raising products with the one purpose of turning them into money.

Increased Investment Reduces Security

First, it reduces security. If you raise your own food you need never starve in a panic.

Then there is health: A family with a low income and plenty of food growing right on the place is more likely to get a continuously healthful diet than one which has to buy what it eats. Raising one's own food helps divide up responsibility for the family welfare because young children and zation is forgotten. old folks can tend a garden or feed the chickens. If the eggs and vegetables and milk are purchased, the children's interests are removed from the interests of their parents and older brothers and sisters. Furthermore, a child who helps raise its own food also gets what a city child doesn't get-a chance to learn through doing. Another disadvantage of farming for money only, with the greater use of machines, is that it makes it harder to own a farm. The money goes into perishable things instead of into the solid title to land. The

FARM MACHINERY

Life on American farms is being changed by technological advances, Baukhage reports. He finds that the trend toward growing products primarily for sale instead of home consumption raises many new problems. The Greek ambassador in Washington told Baukhage that his people are now more united than ever. As a part of the defense program, the war department is purchasing great tracts of land, he reveals

Washington in the autumn moves from a bright water-color to a softpastel, and then the foliage fades to a dark oil painting of rich browns. At last comes the steel engraving of winter.

We are now between the oil painting and the steel engraving. The burning yellow of the Gingkoes (the maiden-hair tree, some call it) have laid their last golden carpet on the west side of Lafayette square, that historic quadrangle of green opposite the White House.

A few sturdy oaks cling to their rich, saddle-leather brown. The Gingkoes are now bare. There are many of these attractive trees in Washington. They love cities, sharing the fumes of gas and smoke with the rest of us and flourishing on it. I have a leaf from one planted in the city of Weimar by the poet Goethe. His city of study and reflection-the city that gave birth to the ill-fated German Republic after the last war.

That tree I hope still blooms. It does unless the Nazis have uprooted its beauty because it is non-Aryan. Nature knows no politics, and laughs at our fickle changes. The Gingkoes will bloom long after our civili-

History repeats but it also re-verses itself. Once the American settlers were given or could buy government land. Now Uncle Sam buys 500.000 acres from his citizens. As part of the defense program the war department through the soil conservation service has purchased great tracts for the Seventh corps army training center in Iowa; a new aircraft firing center near Hinesville, Ga.; and lands for expansion of Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont; Fort Sill, Oklahoma; Fort Devans, Massachusetts; and Fort Bliss, Texas.

* * * From now on you'll be able to SEE American history.

In the National Archives in Washington there is the greatest collection of moving pictures of American events that exists. In a series, "See America First," you can see history (some re-made, of course) relating to Colonial days down to 1934. The later ones are news reels and among them is the only official picture in existence showing the celebration of the transfer of the Virgin islands

Earth Gaining Weight The earth, according to Dr. Kirtley F. Mather of Harvard, is gaining weight at the rate of 50,000 tons a day, or 20,000,000 tons a year-owing to falling meteors and meteoric dust. Assuming our planet to be 2,000,-000,000 years old, says Mather, its total increase in weight since the beginning has been 40,000,000,000,-000,000 tons. Stated another way, this means that in the last 2,000,-000,000 years enough cosmic scraps have fallen to cover the earth with a layer of matter 100 feet deep.

Danger of Overweight People who allow themselves to take on excessive weight and continue to over-indulge in the consumption of food should be warned of the danger of diabetes. Heredity is a basic factor in this disease. With diabetes in the family obesity brings out the hereditary tendency. It is possible for diabetic individuals to maintain good health under present-day methods of medical supervision, provided the disease is discovered before serious damage is done.

TRAINING for the next war won't be just one-two, one-two and squads right or left. As Maj. Gen William N. Haskell, commander of Gen. Haskell for New York's Twenty - sev-Strictest Discipline enth division Of Army Recruits at Fort Mc-Clellan, Ala., starts his mobilization program, he lets it be known that recruits will be schooled in all the new tactics and disciplines of modern soldier-War today requires more and ing. better specialists and tighter organization, to which the war department adds, "military discipline, health, strength and endurance, morale, initiative and adaptability leadership, teamwork, technical proficiency and tactical proficiency.'

Big, bluff, ruddy, iron-jawed General Haskell, appointed to the command of the New York National Guard by Gov. Alfred E. Smith in 1926, is a West Pointer who has preached stiff discipline and long yelled for more and better fighting tools for the army. Out of West Point in 1901, he was graduated from the infantry school in 1904 and saw service in the Philippine islands, the Mexican border, France, the Near East and Russia, directing American relief in Russia from 1921 to 1923. He has been an alert student of the new requirements of mechanized warfare - no traditionalist or mossback and by all accounts will go far in bringing the boys up to the above ambitious war department standard. -

N THE groping for more fruitful cultural relations with South America, Nelson A. Rockefeller seems to have made a shrewd choice in adding to his committee Don Francisco, president of the Lord and Thomas Advertising Agency. The aptness of the name is obvious. For 23 years, Mr. Francisco contributed to the successful cultural and commercial relations of Los Angeles by booming oranges and the orange industry. Good-looking and personable, he "makes friends and influences people."

He is one of the main sparkplugs of the advertising business, and has hammered away a lot on the link between intelligent, high-voltage advertising and democracy. He will get all the ideological undertones and overtones of Mr. Rockefeller's cultural outreach.

After graduation from Michigan Agricultural college in 1914, he became fruit inspector for the California Fruit Growers' association in Chicago. That led to his six years as advertising manager for the association in California. He came to Lord and Thomas in 1921.
