Spreading the Word

Area minister shouts the "good news" from the pulpit

By Carol Ann Porter

His father was a television repairman, and his mother was a homemaker, eventually earning her claim to fame as reporter for a small-town newspaper, much like The Harrington Journal.

Maybe that's why he waves The Harrington Journal from his pulpit each Sunday morning, raving about members of his congregation being mentioned within its pages.

Who is this very enthusiastic young minister who not only spreads the word from the local newspaper, but most importantly and foremost in his life, spreads "The Word."

He is the 43-year-old minister of the Asbury United Methodist Church in Harrington and the Houston United Methodist Church in Houston, Rev. James Van Der Wall.

He was born and raised in Paterson, New Jersey, the middle of five children. Raised in a Christian home, the Van Der Walls were the pillars of the First Baptist Church in Paterson. His parents, both deceased now, were very strong Christians, and when the church doors were open, the family was there.

"I recall a gigantic snowstorm one Sunday," said Rev. Van Der Wall. "And we were one of the few families there that day," he laughed.

His family was by no means wealthy, but neither were they poor. He was raised in a working class family where education was very important. "Dad worked himself to death as a TV repairman so that he could send us all to college," said Rev. Van Der Wall sadly. "They wanted us all to have good careers, and we were always encouraged to excel," he said.

And for the most part, they did. "Most all of us can be categorized as over-achievers," said Rev. Van Der Wall, who attended Ramapo College to get his bachelor's and then on to Drew University to attend seminary and eventually get his doctorate.

His first church was in Ogdensburg, N.Y. "It was a wonderful, large church on the St. Lawrence River," said Rev. Van Der Wall. "But the winters were brutal. I saw 40° below zero many times," he said.

"I loved the church and the people, but it was so cold," smiled Rev. Van Der Wall. "I prayed for the Lord to get me out of there," he laughed.

The Lord did get him out of the cold weather and sent him to Delmar, on the Maryland side. "I loved it there. The winters were milder, and I was closer to home," he said.

Rev. James Van Der Wall

The church grew and flourished, and then it was another move... a church in Grasonville, Md. After that church took off and started to grow, the conference moved him to Camden.

Then he came to Harrington on July 1, 1995. "This is a very active church... wonderful people," he said. "From the day we moved in, they welcomed us with open arms," he added.

Are you O.K.?

Daily calls help elderly homebound feel secure

By Carol Ann Porter

Walter Messick, a friend to so many, passed away four years ago, but his memory lives on.

Through a generous donation from the Harrington Lions Club in memory of Mr. Messick, a computerized system is now in place to help senior citizens living alone or disabled feel a sense of security and caring.

Middle and lower Delaware is home to a large number of citizens 60 years of age or older. This is the target group for this new program entitled "Are You O.K.?"

ents and loved ones. This automated calling system will be a positive addition to the community of Harrington.

The system will make calls to those needing daily checks, confirming that all is well or if there is a problem.

An emergency alert will be received if the person does not answer the daily call. The police department will then make contact with the person or contact a neighbor or close family member to check on them.

Referrals for potential recipients

Although he's been gone four years, Walter Messick still reaches out to help the community that he loved so much.

However, with the computer program's capability to call up to 120 people per hour, the program focus would expand to serve disabled seniors living alone, seniors caregiving at-risk seniors, homebound individuals of any age and latch-key children.

In addition to individuals receiving direct benefit from daily contact, service agencies, families and friends would also view this as an additional support system to cli-

Once the application is completed, the person in question will begin receiving daily telephone reassurance calls.

The system will be located at Melvin's Funeral Home until the

600 kids scramble for eggs

By Amy Fleming

The sun was out, and the rain-soaked ground dried enough for volunteers to hide the 2,000 brightly colored, treasure-filled eggs for youngsters attending the Easter Egg Hunt on Saturday.

A crowd of more than 1000 gathered at W.T. Chipman Middle School a little before 11 a.m. and the more than 600 youngsters were bustin' at the seams by the time Harrington Police Officer Jonathan Kendall shouted, "Go!"

The egg hunt is an annual event sponsored by Harrington Parks & Recreation in conjunction with the Harrington Police Department.

Community volunteers assist with soliciting donations from local businesses for the fillings and the prizes. Other groups such as the Heritage Day Committee and the City of Harrington helped in setting up the course and hiding the eggs.

The Harrington Senior Center devotes the week prior to the hunt to filling the eggs used in the activity.

Pajama Game is no sleeper

By Carol Ann Porter

I am, by no means, a theatrical critic, but the town's a'buzzin' with compliments on the Lake Forest production of "The Pajama Game."

If anyone missed one of the evening's performances last week, they missed a fantastic show.

The play lasted about three hours, and there were 4-year-olds in the audience mesmerized by what was taking place on the stage and in the orchestra pit.

Credit should be given where credit is due, but where do you start when there are almost a hundred people responsible for such a great production?

What talent! And they're all from the Lake Forest School District.

At the top of the list is Ms. J. Denise Baker, director of the play. A teacher at Lake Forest, Ms. Baker has been directing shows at the school for 10 years. She is very active in the Second Street Players in Milford and says she thoroughly enjoys the Lake Forest students.

The cast comes next: Senior Heather Fries played the part of Babe Williams. If facial expressions could be packaged and sold, this young lady would be a millionaire. And what a voice!

The part of Sid Sorokin was played by senior Colin Beers. This kid is going places! When he sang, "Hey There" I'm sure many young ladies in the audience saw stars.

The part of Vernon Hines couldn't have been cast any better. Senior Brian Callaway did a fantastic job of portraying Hines, and his ad-libbing, even to the extent of cracking up the music director, can be described as nothing less than perfect.

Talent, talent and more talent. What more can you say about junior Jennifer Organ? Her portrayal of Gladys was spectacular. She can sing, she can dance, she can act! With another year to go in high school, let's see how she can top this year's performance.

Prez was played by senior Dan String, and what a job he did portraying every secretary's nightmare. The script was dated 1954 when fashion, hair styles and wages were much different than today. But Dan played the sexual harassment part

Bicycle helmet law will save lives

The new Delaware Bicycle Helmet Law which became effective on April 1 will save lives and prevent thousands of disabling injuries. It is estimated that three out of every four bicycle fatalities could be prevented if the bicyclist had been wearing a helmet.

The bicycle helmet law requires every bicyclist under the age of 16 to wear a helmet when driving their bike on the streets or roadway. There is a fine if a bicyclist is caught driving a bicycle without their helmet. That fine though is waived if proof is shown that a helmet has been purchased.

This program is supported at the school level with an educational component and helmet distribution program for high risk children. Most elementary schools will participate in the program this year.

Bicycle accidents are so needless. Take time today to discuss bicycle safety with your child. Help them to develop skills under your supervision before they enter the streets. Parental involvement is key if we are to effectively combat childhood injuries associated with bicycling.

For more information on bicycle safety programs, call Ron Jester with the University of Delaware, Cooperative Extension at 302-856-7303.

Callaway appointed to Private Industry Council

Governor Thomas R. Carper recently announced that he has appointed 13 members to the Delaware Private Industry Council, a federally-mandated group charged with administering job training programs to economically disadvantaged children and adults. The board members will each serve terms expiring March 20, 1999.

"Though these candidates come from a wide variety of backgrounds, they are bound by their dedication to our state and to the important mission of the Delaware Private Industry Council," said Carper. "I thank them for their willingness to serve and wish them all the best in their new posts."

It is anticipated that the duties of the 50-member Council will be assumed by the Delaware Workforce Development Council at year's end. While all the details of that arrangement have not yet been worked out, it is expected that the members of the Delaware Private Industry Council will continue to serve in an advisory capacity.

The governor's appointees are as

NOTES & NEWS from the Harrington Business Community

by Linda Chick

When Harrington hosts a community event, everyone seems to pitch in and help. The Easter Egg Hunt held last Saturday was no exception. Indeed, without this help there would have been no hunt.

Many thanks to the individuals and businesses who were so very generous with their time and money. Because of you, the field was prepared, stakes and ribbon markers were placed, the eggs and candy were scattered, prizes were awarded, crowd control went smoothly, Cookie Monster and Safety Pup entertained the kids as they waited and the clean-up crew had everything back in order within minutes after the hunt. Most sincere thanks to all who made the day a success and hundreds of kids happy.

HBA To Meet Tuesday

JCPenney National Bank will lead a discussion and information session to familiarize businesses with the new $100 bill at Tuesday's breakfast meeting of the Harrington Business Association. The newly designed currency was developed to foil would-be counterfeiters.

The morning will also give attendees a chance to learn about the Delaware Barter Corporation from a representative (Jay Siemsen) of that group. The DBC is a barter exchange, an organized network for companies of all types and sizes.

Also on the agenda are the election of new officers and monthly reports from city, state and school officials. To attend the Harrington Business Association breakfast, call 398-3898. Everyone is welcome. Breakfast is from an abbreviated menu.

Day Care Approved

To answer the need for more quality day care in the area, a new center will open by the end of the summer. The Playtime Learning Center will be located in Lucky Estates, just east of Harrington on Route 14.

The approval came from Levy Court last week, laying to rest the opposition of nearby farmland owners. A number of parents were on hand the evening of the vote to voice their opinions about the almost critical lack of day care in and near Harrington.

To help alleviate that need the new center will accept 85-100 children from infants to age 12. The planned curriculum will include a preschool program, certified kindergarten classes, and before and after school care. Bus service will be available from Lake Forest schools. Opening day is set for somewhere near the end of August.

The Playtime Learning Center will be owned and operated by Debora Minner of near Harrington and Donna Faye Chandler of Harrington. Both women have served children in their homes for a number of years. Debbie, who will be the school's director, has been a home day care mother for six years, and Donna Faye for eight years. The building and property will be leased to the women by local developer Joseph Adamo, who they credit with "making their dream come true".

For those parents who want to know more, a handbook and application form are available by calling 398-3093.

Historical Society Presents Special Exhibit

Be sure to stop by the Museum before the end of May to view the special Women in History exhibit currently on display.

The artifacts themselves are wonderful, but add to that innumerable photographs and Grace Welch's narration and you've got a must see situation. For information, call the Museum at 398-3698.

Bruce M. Topol, M.D.

Board Certified — Plastic Surgeon
Fellow, American College of Surgeons
Skin Cancer

The worst cases of skin cancer that I personally have seen have been here in southern Delaware. Many cancers can spread to skin, but there are only three common skin cancer groups:

1. Basal Cell Skin Cancer
2. Squamous Cell Skin Cancer
3. Malignant Melanoma (Mole Cancer)

Basal cell skin cancer is caused most commonly by exposure to radiation, usually just sunlight. Radiation from sun exposure is cumulative. It begins at birth, and each exposure adds up in our skin. Such exposure can lead to premature facial wrinkles, skin cancer, or both. Fortunately, basal cell cancer is almost always cured by excising the tumor. The surgeon must be sure to excise the tumor and a zone of normal skin around the tumor. Usually, the defect created by the excision can be closed simply with stitches. The wound can be left open to heal on its own, but this often results in an unsightly scar. For this reason, Plastic Surgeons prefer to close wounds with stitches to obtain a better appearing scar.

Occasionally, flaps of skin or skin grafts are used to cover the defect and achieve a normal cosmetic appearance, especially if the cancer is on the face. This type of cancer, basal cell cancer, is characterized by being painless. Usually a red or pearly white growth, occasionally with a crusty scab but not always, is seen. It can often look like a small scab that will heal but then recur.

Squamous cell skin cancer is the second most common skin cancer. This growth is also non-tender and often presents as crusty growth that won't heal or will heal and then recur. Occasionally there is a central sore or ulcer in this growth. Fortunately, squamous cancer also is usually cured by surgery removing the entire tumor and a zone of normal skin around the tumor. This tumor can spread to the lymph glands, although this is rare.

Malignant melanoma is the most dangerous form of skin cancer. It can be fatal. It can spread to most areas of the body. It, too, is related to sun exposure. Any mole that is changing in color, size or shape, bleeding, crusting, itching, or burning should be seen by your doctor. Many people have large numbers of moles on their bodies. Fortunately, almost always these are not cancerous. If you have a mole that you feel is changing, you should see your physician.

All of these skin cancers need to be surgically removed and followed closely. Plastic Surgeons will remove them and construct the defect made by their removal so as to minimize or eliminate deformity. Excessive sun exposure should be avoided. Sun screen number 15 or higher should be used on sun exposed areas. It is always better to wear a hat with a brim that goes around the head rather than the baseball style hat that is so commonly worn in this area. The baseball hat does not protect your ears, cheeks, and neck skin, and for this reason a hat with a brim that goes around the head is preferred.

If you have any growth that you feel is suspicious, please feel free to contact your physician or our office either in Lewes or Milford, and we will be happy to see you and evaluate the growth.

District Dialog

Public education isn't as good as it never was

By Dr. James H. VanSciver
District Superintendent

David Berliner, Professor of Curriculum and Instruction in the College of Education at Arizona State University, presenting the address at the American Association of School Administrators' Annual Convention's Federal Relations Luncheon, in San Diego on Friday, March 8, said, "When I was a boy, I told my father I was better educated than he was. It just took me 40 years to get the data to prove it."

The remark drew a chuckle from the overflow audience who had come to hear the author of the "must read" book, Manufacture of Crisis, a work which identifies and disputes the myths promoted by critics who would have the American public feel that our public schools are failing, talk about the myths condemning public education. But the remark hit home.

"And," Berliner continued, "this is not information which I want to share freely because it allows my children to know that they have received a better education than I did." Another laugh followed by still another important point. "What this means," he added, "is that our schools have done a better job with each generation of students who have passed through them."

Why then do people often feel that schools were better when they attended then now when their children attend?

A little background music from that classic television sitcom, "Archie Bunker", would now be appropriate. Remember the tune, "Those Were the Days"?

Berliner feels that part of the reason for this is that people generally equate (from memory) their past personal school experiences as being fairly positive (He's also Professor of Psychology at Arizona State.) while they struggle with the trials and tribulations of the present.

The bottom line is that schools were seldom as good as we remember them. And, he concludes, comparing the reality of today's experiences with our memories of the past will always be suspect.

In short, public schools aren't as good as they never were.

Operation Childfind and Kindergarten registration planned at Lake Forest

Officials at Lake Forest School District have announced the dates for this spring's kindergarten registration and Operation Childfind. Kindergarten registration will be scheduled at Lake Forest North, Lake Forest East, and Lake Forest South "B" Elementary Schools the week of April 15. Times will be from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m., with the exception of Wednesday, April 17, when sessions will be held from 12 noon until 4 p.m. and from 5 p.m. through 8 p.m.

Parents who register their children are reminded to bring the child's birth certificate, current immunization records, social security number, and date of last physical. To be eligible for kindergarten, the child must be five years of age on or before August 31, 1996. Additional information may be obtained by contacting the school nurse at each elementary school.

Project Childfind is a preschool and kindergarten screening session to identify any potential learning, vision, hearing, speech, orthopedic, or developmental delay a child may have. This annual program will take place at Lake Forest North Elementary School in Felton, beginning May 28 and lasting until June 3.

Testing will be by appointment and will take place during school hours with the exception of Wednesday, May 29, which will have a 5 p.m. through 8 p.m. session, and Saturday, June 1, where testing will be from 8:30 a.m. until noon. Appointments may be scheduled at the kindergarten registration or by contacting the Lake Forest North Elementary School nurse, Jean Callaway at 284-9080.

Gene Topolski, left, and Nurse Jeannie Callaway, right, prepare to operate on "Sunny" as they present a classroom program to students at Lake Forest North Elementary School in Felton. The program is designed to improve and raise students' self-esteem.

LF Elementary teacher helps raise students' self-esteem

By Carol Ann Porter

According to Glenn Davidson, Supervisor of Elementary Curriculum in the Lake Forest School District, Gene Topolski, the basic skills math teacher at Lake Forest North Elementary School in Felton, has devised a system to help raise children's self-esteem.

Topolski, who is working on getting his Master's Degree in Counseling at Wilmington College, came up with the idea and has turned it into a 45-minute classroom program called "Operation Self-Esteem."

According to Topolski, self-esteem is both self-confidence and self-respect. "It is very important in life, especially to young children," said Topolski.

He feels that when self-esteem is destroyed, hope is lost. "To destroy a child's self-esteem is like telling them they are worthless and will never amount to anything life," he said. He went on to explain that criticism is one of the leading factors of negative or low self-esteem.

During the classroom program, Topolski portrays a doctor in an operating room, and he is assisted by Nurse Jeannie Callaway, the school's nurse.

They discuss a friend by the name of "Sunny" who is suffering from a severe case of low self-esteem.

Together with his nurse, they operate on Sunny to discover the cause of his condition. The final outcome of the classroom program is the resurrection of Sunny to his once bright and cheerful self.

Topolski feels that to help keep up a child's self-esteem, it is necessary to give that child as much praise and encouragement as possible. "Avoid criticism and give compliments whenever appropriate," said Topolski. "Kind words bring happy results. They give children more self-confidence and encourages them to behave better, try harder and achieve more."

He went on to say that kind words communicate love and respect and create an atmosphere in which problems can be discussed openly and understanding reached.

"When children know that they are accepted, they are able to grow, to change, and to feel good about themselves," said Topolski. "When they feel good about themselves, they are likely to get along well with others."

In an article written by Topolski, he relays the message that accepting children just as they are makes it easy to communicate with them. "Those who feel accepted will be more likely to share their feelings and problems," he writes.

The classroom lesson objectives are:

1. The student will be able to define self-esteem;
2. The student will be able to identify the characteristics of low self-esteem;
3. The student will develop positive attitudes towards self;
4. The student will develop positive attitudes toward others.

For the purpose of the lesson, self-esteem is defined in the following manner: Self-respect+Self-confidence=Self-esteem. Topolski says that some of the things that are characteristic of low self-esteem are: teasing, gossiping, name calling, complaining, jealousy, attention seeking, showing off and making fun of others.

Davidson says that the classroom program is "a breathtaking lesson," and that all students should experience it.

Woodbridge PTA plans Spring Festival

The Woodbridge Elementary Schools PTA will hold a Spring Festival on Saturday, May 4. The event promises to have "something for everyone", according to Lois Tribbett, PTA President. All proceeds from the festival will be donated to the school for the purchase of new playground equipment.

The day will begin at 7 a.m. with an "All-You-Can-Eat" breakfast held in the Woodbridge Elementary School cafeteria located on Rt. 13 in Greenwood. For just $4.50 and $2.50, you can help yourself to scrapple, sausage, eggs, biscuits and creamed chipped beef. Coffee and orange juice are also included. Tickets are available at the door.

After you are sufficiently stuffed, head outside to wander through the flea market that will be located on the school playground. Crafters and yard-salers alike will find plenty to hold their interest.

If you are interested in setting up a table for a $10.00 donation, please call the school office at 349-4010, or Ruth Ann Hamstead, Volunteer Coordinator, at 349-9660.

Basket lovers will be able to purchase special edition Woodbridge baskets. One basket holds a large country candle and sells for $25.00. The second basket is called a candy basket and features a screen-printed Woodbridge emblem on a wooden lid. This basket sells for $30.00.

Throughout the day, entertainment and displays will be held on the school playground. Those expected to hold demonstrations include the Greenwood Police Canine Unit, Mike Triglia's self defense group, Woodbridge High School Band, 4-H Clubs, Western Sussex Boys & Girls Club, and much much more. Exhibits will be set up from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. and will include Delaware Highway Safety, Delaware Electric Cooperative, finger painting by the Delaware State Police, and the Safe Kids Coalition.

There will also be an on-going living history demonstration given by Ben Ewing promising to be both informative and exciting.

The PTA has been working with Woodbridge teachers, students, and community members to provide plenty of games and activities for the youth. Most games will cost only 50 cents to play. There will also be a "make and take" area for children who may be interested in making the perfect Mother's Day gift.

Lunch will be served in the school cafeteria. Look for hot dogs, cold subs, crab cakes, clam chowder, apple dumplings and all the trimmings. Also scheduled for the afternoon in the cafeteria is Bingo. According to President Tribbett, "We did not want to leave the big kids out of our games. Not only will young people have plenty to do, we're hopeful that area seniors may want to join us for a couple cards of Bingo." Prizes have been donated by area merchants.

President Tribbett adds, "Community support has been tremendous in the planning process. We have received hundreds of dollars in donations from local business people. Parents involved in organizing the day have spent countless hours working to make this something you won't want to miss. I feel certain that we will meet our financial goal on May 4."

For additional information, please call the Woodbridge Elementary School Volunteer Coordinator at 349-9660. See you at the Spring Festival on May 4th!

Rascal, the Graphics Unlimited "friendly greeter"

By E. Elaine Watson

Once he was a lonely, neglected stray wandering the streets of Harrington, without a home or anyone to love him.

Now he has a whole office for a home, with five "mothers" who love him, and even his very own job to do.

He is Rascal, the cat-in-residence at the Graphics Unlimited computer department on the 2nd floor at 25 Hanley Street.

Cindy Novotny, a graphics artist in the office, found Rascal out in the street last summer and took him inside. After some inquiries in the neighborhood, it was decided that Rascal was alone in the world and that he should become a mascot of the office.

And he seemed to like the idea too, as he found all kinds of places to climb on, jump from, and curl up next to. One of his favorites is right between the laser printer and the paper cutter, which shows he is not worried one bit about getting this extra long tail cut off.

His other favorite spots are in the sunshine under a desk, on an empty lap, on top of a computer, or up on a beam near the ceiling. He especially likes to explore the private office of Linda Chick, owner of Graphics.

When he is not tucked away in a corner or in a box purring and sleeping, Rascal is doing his job being the "friendly greeter". He may stand silently at the top of the stairs waiting for you to pat his head, or he may arch his back and dance across the floor with his tail all puffed up. Either way, he is happy to see everyone who comes into the office.

He always seems to know who will play with him and he delights in a game of "rough and tumble".

Rascal stays in the office day and night, except for his visit to the vet when he was "fixed". That night Cindy took him home to make sure he was okay after his surgery.

Rascal's living expenses, including litter, food and toys, are shared by his "mothers". In addition to Cindy, there is Barbara Brown, Amy Fleming Shahan, Donna Albright, Holly Covey, and Linda Chick. A plastic container is marked with Rascal's name and he appreciates all their donations.

On weekends, if no one is working in the office, one of his "mothers" comes in to feed him.

During the blizzard in January, no one could get into work, and there were some worries about how Rascal would get fed. As they do so many times, the Kent County Paramedics came to the rescue.

No, Rascal did not call 911. It just so happens that the Paramedics are located on the first floor of the same building and they made sure Rascal didn't miss any meals during the snow.

Rascal would have the world believe that he is an innocent little fellow. But when no one is looking, he likes to shred the toilet paper, dig dirt out of the flower pots, grab the paper coming out of the laser printer, and steal snacks such as apples, bananas, and pickles.

He even managed one time to open the door of the small refrigerator in the office, looking for some leftover chicken he thought should be his.

He may have his curious nose in everything everyone is doing, and this may bring some negative remarks from his "mothers". But all in all, everyone is happy with the relationship.

Even medical science would agree because they say having a pet is a healthy thing. According to them, Rascal is probably helping to relieve the stress of deadlines in the office. Of course, if he knew how important he really was, Rascal would probably meow for a raise.

But for now, Rascal seems very happy in his office-home, with lots of good food, toys to play with, and "mothers" who love him.

In exchange for this, Rascal brings his "mothers" a little extra joy and laughter, a contented purr, and, if you get real close, a little kiss on the nose.

Rascal is the official greeter at Graphics Unlimited in Harrington.

Mrs. VanDerWall spoke to the children. She told the story of Jesus entering Jerusalem. The children were given palm leaves to give to the members of the congregation.

The Senior Choir sang "The King Is Coming". Greeters were Mr. and Mrs. Mark Dufendach and daughter Devon. Ushers were

Someone You Should Know . . . . . Robert Shultie

By Carol Ann Porter

There are many people who work behind the scenes for the Harrington Historical Society, museum and gift shop. One of those people is Robert J. Shultie who volunteers his time to the organization. The Harrington Historical Society would like for you to meet Mr. Shultie.

Robert Joseph Shultie, better known as Bob, was born near Harrington in August of 1932. His parents were Elwood and Marie E. Shultie. As Bob grew and began to attend school, he attended the Harrington School District and graduated from Harrington High School in 1951. Bob attained the highest score in his first year of typing of 60 words per minute. (Later he was to attain the score of 90 WPM.)

After high school, he attended Wesley College in Dover. In the '60s, he worked as a dispatcher for the State Highway Department. Later he worked for 20 years for Prentice Hall Corp. Systems, Inc.

One of his jobs there was as a paralegal. When he retired in 1987, he had worked his way up the ladder to the position of Administrative Assistant to the president of the company.

During this period of employment, he spent one year in Los Angeles, CA. This was a very lonely time, so far away from family and friends, and so he returned to Delaware.

Bob retired from Prentice Hall, but worked at other jobs for a time. Two of these were Shore Stop and Rand-Whitney. He likes beautiful yards and flowers. From this he has built a small yard maintenance business and is the beautification chairman at the Harrington Historical Society. His other hobbies are playing the piano and organ occasionally at the Senior Center and for his own enjoyment.

Bob serves as a trustee of the Trinity United Methodist Church where he is a member. He also is a member of the Harrington Senior Center, the Harrington Historical Society, and the Harrington High School Alumni Association.

Harrington Baptist Church

"It was about the sixth hour and there was darkness over all the earth until the ninth hour. And the sun was darkened, and the veil of the temple was rent in the midst, and when Jesus had cried with a loud voice, He said, Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit, and having said thus, He gave up His spirit." (Luke 23:44-46)

These were the last seven words Jesus spoke when He walked upon this earth as a Man.

No one took Jesus' life from Him. He gave it up willingly for you and me. For it is through His death on that cross that you and I may have eternal life. But we must believe by faith in the finished work of Jesus Christ, and receive forgiveness for our sins, to have eternal life with Jesus Christ as our Lord and Savior.

Harrington Baptist Church invites you to join us each week as we study the word of the scriptures through the preaching of our pastor, Willie Johnson. We believe he adds nothing to the words of the Holy Bible, nor does he leave anything out. He preaches the gospel as it is written. Will you come and share the joy and fellowship with us as we give praise and honor to our Lord?

Our church is located on East Liberty St. across from the Armory. Our phone number is 398-3373. Everyone is welcome.

St. Bernadette's Church News

This is the most solemn week of the year for all Christians, but most especially for Christians of the Roman Catholic tradition. The liturgies of Holy Week capture all the moods of the human journey through life.

The exhilaration of the triumphant entry of Jesus into Jerusalem makes us glad to be His disciples. The intimate experience of His last supper and His hour in Gethsemane offers us an extraordinary insight into His humanity.

The painful walk to Calvary and the humiliating execution on the cross make us appreciate the reality of sin and the cost of true love. The long vigil through Saturday gives us the opportunity to wait in patience for hope to return when all seems lost. The jubilant Easter celebrations offer the promise that death is not the end but a passage that gives way to life over and over again.

Holy Week is a time of retreat. It is a time to remember our own humanness. It is a time of remembering precious moments with our God. It's a time of healing and homecoming... a time of reconciliation and renewal. It is also a special time of welcome here at St. John's/St. Bernadette's, welcome for our elect and candidates who will be making their final preparation for their entrance into full communion with the church. It is an opportunity for all of us to renew our Baptismal commitment, our promises to live the Gospel in our daily lives.

Holy Week Schedule:
Wednesday, April 3 - NO 7 p.m. evening Mass at St. Bernadette's.

Thursday, April 4 - 7:30 p.m. Mass of the Lord's Supper, St. John's.

Friday, April 5 - 3 p.m., St. John's, and 7:30 p.m., St. Bernadette's - Celebration of the Lord's Passion and Communion Service.

Battlefield Baptist Church

Many people today do not realize the importance of a name. What do these names bring to mind: Edison, Franklin, Washington, Darwin, Hitler, Lucifer, Jesus Christ?

Today, people do the same in religion; they attend a church without a name: Love Temples, Bible Churches, Fellowship Churches, Christian Centers, Non-Denominational Churches, Missionary Churches, etc.

Why do these churches have no name? In many cases they agree with no doctrine of any denomination. They make up their own rules and choose what they want to believe. In this way, they are not accountable to uphold a belief or doctrine that a title might represent. Simply put, they just don't want to identify with a name. (Why do people change their name? They just don't like it.)

This generation seems to stand for nothing, but falls for anything. It is understandable though, is it not? Too many people have been sadly duped by crazy ministers representing a religious cause. These people have been misled and deceived. Most of the time leading their children and other family members into the same deceived mess they are in.

The media has unfairly only magnified in the past 20 years the nuts and dictator leaders who have cruelly led unfortunate zealous followers to a destructive end. In essence the media has created a scared generation who are very suspicious of anyone representing a church and even God. This is also understandable.

In the past, when you heard the name Methodist, Baptist, Catholic, and so on, you knew what doctrines these groups endorsed. There was no misleading or even question. It is a little more complicated now, but let's let II Thessalonians 2 tell us why: "Now we beseech you, brethren, by the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, and by our gathering together unto him, That ye be not soon shaken in mind, or be troubled, neither by spirit, nor by word, nor by letter as from us, as that the day of Christ is at hand. Let no man deceive you by any means: for that day shall not come, except there come a falling away first, and that man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition; who opposeth and exalted himself above all that is called God, or that is worshiped; so that he as God sitteth in the temple of God, showing himself that he is God."

The confusion of today and the hesitancy to associate with a name is here explained. We are witnessing the stage set up for the New Age worship about to take place. This "falling away" has taken place in our day. Out with the precious Authorized Version of the King James Bible and its doctrine, and in with anything you want; paving the way for the greatest religious deception this world has ever known. Here it comes.

Today I urge you to quickly stand for something and make a decision. This Baptist preacher would like to give you some doctrinal truths from the Word of God.

"You need to be saved. John 3:3: 'Verily, Verily I say unto thee, except a man be born again, he cannot see the Kingdom of God.'"

"You are a sinner. Romans 3:23: 'For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God.'"

"If you ask the Lord to save you, and believe in your heart you are saved forever. John 6:37: 'All that the Father giveth me shall come to me; and him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out.'"

"There is a literal Hell. Luke 16:23a: 'And in hell he lift up his eyes, being in torments.'"

"There is a heaven for all who are saved. Rev. 21:1: 'And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away.'"

"There is one Bible, the King James Bible. Psalm 119:89: 'For ever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven.'"

Today I hope you can see the value of a name.

Prospect United Methodist Church News

"Much people of the Jews therefore knew that he was there; and they came not for Jesus' sake only, but that they might see Lazarus also, whom he had raised from the dead." (John 12:9)

Rev. James Carmean Jr. is the minister at Prospect Church, which is located five miles west of Harrington on Route 14 in Vernon. We invite you to worship with us each Sunday. We have Sunday School for all ages at 8:45 a.m. and worship service is at 9:45 a.m. Mary Lou Wright is pianist.

On Sunday, March 31, Shirley Hampton was the greeter, and Jerry Hayman was candlelighter. The choir opened the service by singing

"We Have Come Into His House". For the anthem they sang "Jesus Is Lord Medley". Al Govatos prayed the offertory prayer, and Audrey Govatos and Thelma Rae Melvin were ushers. We had special music by Tara and Scott Dill. They were visiting Scott's parents, Vivian and Francis Dill. They sang two songs with Scott playing the guitar.

Rev. Carmean talked to the youth. He talked about Credit Cards. You can use them instead of money and you can buy almost anything with them, cars, homes, clothing, and other things. Some of the things you cannot buy with credit cards are love, happiness, and friendship. God gave us more than any credit card can. He loved us so much that He gave His Son. Love of God is the greatest gift on earth.

Rev. Carmean took his scripture from John 12:9-13. The title of his sermon was "The Message". The enemies were plotting to put Jesus to death and were also going to put Lazarus to death. Lazarus was a close friend to Jesus. He had caused many of the Jews to believe on Jesus. God's love is greater than things of the world. You may be able to stop the messenger, but you can never be able to stop the message. People are hungering and thirsting for the message of God. Christians may have to take a licking, but they just keep on ticking.

The Palm Crosses were presented to the Glory of God in memory of Rev. Joseph Holliday by Jean Miller.

April 4 - 7 p.m. Maundy Thursday service at Trinity.

April 5 - 7 p.m. Good Friday service at Trinity U.M. Church, Frederica. Rev. Beers will be the speaker.

April 7 - 7 a.m. Easter Sunrise Service at Trinity followed by breakfast.

April 11 - At 12 noon the Prospect U.M. women will meet at the church to make and stuff dolls to be used by the ambulance crews to give to small children who are being transported.

The following devotion was written by Lisa Buck:
2 Samuel 7:22 - The verse says, "Wherefore thou art great, O Lord god; for there is none like thee, neither is there any God beside thee, according to all that we have heard with our ears."

In my opinion, this means...God is great, and there is no one like Him, there is no other God with thy amount of power, as said to all that have heard.

No, I think I'll break it down to make it more understandable. The verse is talking about God. It says he is wonderful. There is nobody that is like Him, or can do the things He does, will do, or has done. No other person, creature, or being has an equal amount of experience or power. This is what everyone has said according to us, and what we have heard.

Happenings at Asbury:

to the tens. He sang "Her Is" to every female on the stage, and did a fantastic job!

Mabel was played by junior Kristin Buck, and here's another talent who can sing, dance and act. How is she going to top this year's performance next year? We'll just have to wait and see.

First helper, Anderson, was portrayed by Eric Dellinger. His acting was so realistic that everyone in the audience felt the pain that Eric felt in his "bad arm."

Junior Destiny Kerstetter is sure to give someone a run for their money next year for the lead role. She is vibrant, talented, funny and can also sing. Her stage presence is amazing!

Does Amanda Roberts really talk like that? As Poopsie, Amanda was outstanding. She took her role to heart in more ways than one. When she walked through the lobby during the break, people overheard her talking the same way she did on stage. Was she "pulling our legs?"

The rest of the cast included Ian Pryor as Joe Woodburn, Shaun Kurry as Hasler, Clay Beauchamp as Eddie, Bobby Keary as Charlie, Madalaine Klinger as Brenda, Chris Burleigh as Max, Adam Mayle as Pop, Ember Mumaw as Virginia and Yann Faho as Hutchinson.

The factory workers included Jason Topolski, Johnathan Diggs, Sam Forester, Heather Davey, Jessica Lukecart, Aida Alam, Jane Alam, Valarie Egler, Kimberly Todd, Deborah Passwaters, Joy Poulin, Michelle Spence, Amanda Weingard and Holly

Ford.

The musical conductor was Mr. Dale Mann, accompanist was Mrs. Regina Kukulka, Choreographer was Mrs. Kim Yanacek, Page turner was Anna Kukulka, Stage Manager was Mrs. Lori Bilyou, Assistant to the Director was Karie Ryall, Student Stage Manager was Nancy Kimmey, Costumes were by Mrs. Kay Buck, Mrs. Pam Kerstetter and Mrs. Lori Mumaw, Makeup was by Mr. Sam Davey, Deanna Hubbard and Suzanne Stapleford, Hair was by Mrs. Robbie Davey and Mrs. Sara Kimmey, Set Design was by Ms. Baker, Mr. Rettig and Mr. McDowell, Set Construction was by Jeff and Scott Rettig, Mr. John McDowell, Mr. Tom Wiemers, Mr. Dave Buck, crew and cast members, Program was by Brian Callaway and Jennifer Organ, Poster Design was by Carie Lewis, Refreshments by Mr. William "Frenchie" Poulin, Hayley Morris, Melissa Rios, Alane Michalski, Lights were by Leon Kukulka, Dave Donofrio, Eric Mucha, Matt Pandel, Jeff Outten, Chris Jester, Curtain by Jennifer Albright, Properties by Jennifer Conran, Suzanne Stapleford and Isis Thomas, Sound effects by John-Paul Mumaw, Pit Band included Anna Kukulka, Jen Davis, Tony Mears, Tom Reynolds, Norm Burt, Suzanne Stapleford, Erin Hobbs, Tristan Schweiger.

Like most people, I can't wait to see what's in store next year at Lake Forest High School. It will be hard to top this one. Break a leg!

Brian Callaway does a little upstaging and ad-libbing as he portrays Vernon Hines in Lake Forest's version of "The Pajama Game."

Dan String as Prez sings "Her Is" to Jennifer Organ who portrayed Gladys in Lake Forest's "The Pajama Game."

This trio has "Steam Heat" as they dance across the stage Saturday night. They are, left to right, Bobby Keary, Jennifer Organ and Yann Faho.

Motorcycle race set for May 4 in Harrington

The best motorcycle racers in the country will return to the historic Delaware State Fairgrounds on Saturday, May 4.

The American Motorcycle Association confirmed last week that Harrington will once again play host to the Power 750 CC Grand National Series. Defending Grand National and Harrington champion, Scott Parker, will be in the field when the green flag falls.

Last year's event proved to be one of the best races ever at the fairgrounds. Gates open at 4 p.m. with the first heat beginning at 7:30.

For tickets and more information, call 302-398-5036 or 302-741-2001 evenings. The event is being co-sponsored by Bob Jones and John Zimmerman.

Defending champion #1 Scott Parker "on the gas" during last year's event.

Nicole Faries shatters school track record

By Keith S. Burgess

Chasity Cole set the 1600 meters school record of 5.55 in her final eighth grade start three years ago. She's now a junior and the distance ace at Lake Forest High School.

The heir apparent, Nicole Faries, is waiting in the wings. Nicole last fall had one start at the 5,000 meter distance (cross country), and set the second-fastest Spartan clocking ever, trailing only the top mark set by state champ Dana Young two or three years ago. Faries has won races and set records in Wilmington and Washington, D.C., often against older rivals. So when she stated last fall that she wanted that prestigious Chipman record, it was no surprise when it happened.

The ideal scenario would have been a matchup with Caesar Rodney's Miriam Poe, near the end of the season. Poe may be the only Delaware foe good enough to make Faries extend herself.

But in cold, windy March, in the opener, the tough talented duo were battling for four laps until Faries came from behind in the homestretch and clocked a swift 5.52.1, with Poe at 5.52.9. Poe, a taller, smooth striding speedster, turned the tables in the 800, with Faries next in 2.46.8. This pair is posting varsity times already. In March, yet!

Coach Jackie Bell showed up here with 70 plus athletes from C.R. Chipman was overmatched from the start.

New Chipman coach, Jim Ruback, is assisted by Lou Copio. Jenny Haight and Leah Thompson went 1-2 in the hurdles. C.R. won everything else.

Sharee Scott and Shawntee Maze were second and third at 100 meters.

Latanza Benson was second in the long jump, while Shae Benson got 3rd in the discus.

Chipman's boys fared a little better led by John Rust, who doubled in the 100 and 200 meters.

Steve Short came from behind to easily take the 800 meters in 2.39.4.

Also, a Chipman leader and double winner was Marcus Glenden, who did 36 feet, 5 inches in the shot and 102 feet in the discus. Abe Polite was second in the shot and 3rd in the discus.

Adam Tazelaar (15-4) and John Rust (15-3) went 1-2 in the long jump. Other point scorers were Mike Galyean in the hurdles and 400 meters, and Greg Breeding in the high jump.

JUMPER'S KNEE

Now that basketball season has arrived, many young players are learning that despite the many rules and regulations aimed at minimizing body contact, basketball is a collision sport. Since the game is played without protective equipment on a hard playing surface, serious injuries can occur. Fortunately, the majority of the injuries are minor contusions, lacerations, and sometimes related to overuse.

A very common, painful overuse type problem among basketball players is the "jumper's knee." It is a partial tearing of the tendon just below the kneecap (patellar tendon) where the thigh muscle attaches (Quadriceps tendon) or below where the patellar tendon attaches to the leg bone (tibia) on the slight prominence (tibia tubercle). In younger athletes it may manifest itself as "water on the knee" (Osgood-Schlatter's disease).

Jumper's knee may occur bilaterally but almost always begins in the push off leg when jumping. For most right handed players it's the left leg and vice versa for the left handed players. It comes from repetitive traction placed upon the tendon by the frequent acceleration and deceleration if jumping and running during basketball. What may begin as a nonpainful condition with repetitive microtrauma and use.

Nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory medications (i.e. Ibuprofen, Advil, Motrin, etc.) and ice application to the affected area after activities is usually beneficial. A counterforce brace when playing combined with stretching and strengthening exercises can help prevent further irritation. Rest and activity restrictions may be necessary if physical therapy modalities are ineffective. Only as a last resort is surgical debridement undertaken and is reserved for the most chronic cases.

For further information regarding your knee problem, please call 678-8447, 424-0690 or 628-7702. Appointments may be scheduled at our Dover, Smyrna, Milford or Seaford offices. Our doctors are on-call twenty-four hours a day for emergencies and Saturday hours are available.

Spartans lose track opener to Raiders

By Keith S. Burgess

Jim Blades' track Spartans did very well in their track loss to C.R. at Lake Forest. The Raiders are one of Delaware's top three schools in enrollment.

Also, they should be close to mid-season form, since they recently ended the winter track season.

The Spartans were faced with a strong array of sprinters and distance men, yet fought hard and kept the score down to a creditable margin.

Jabari Franklin (15.8) and Perry White went 1-2 in the 110 meter high hurdles. Franklin, Mike Simpson, Ken Cartwright and Ray Scott captured the 400 relay in 46.5.

Franklin was second in the triple jump (40 feet). Dion Gambles, Cartwright, Kerry Woodward and Ray Scott took the 800 relay in 1.39. Richard Alexander annexed the 300 meter hurdles in 47.5.

Garrett Gannon (10 feet, 6 inches), Lance Madden and Chris Grevis swept the pole vault. Dion Gambles (5-10) and Mike Stevenson were 1-3 in the high jump. Gambles was second in the long jump. Justin Brown got second in the shot put.

Jason Daniels and Scott McCarthy went 1-2 in the discus. Phil Zabolotny was 3rd at 200 meters.

Malcolm Hughes turned in two strong 800 meter legs around 2.12 each, in the 3200 relay and in the open 800 (2nd place). These are very good efforts on a cold, windy March day.

Less noise and more safety at Delaware International Speedway in Delmar

By Charlie Brown

When the cars hit the tacky clay of the Delaware International Speedway for the 1996 racing season, there will be a couple of noticeable changes. First of all, there will be less of a roar from the powerful engines, and secondly a major step has been taken to add to the safety of the Modified division.

This season, mufflers will be mandatory on all cars in all divisions at Delaware International. The move is an attempt to be both a better "neighbor" to the surrounding community and to make the racing more enjoyable for those with sensitive hearing. Cars will be required to be no louder than 100 decibels at a distance of 25 feet. This will be closely monitored using electronic sound measuring equipment. Modifieds participating in D.I.R.T. sanctioned Skoal Series events will be required to run the specified D.I.R.T. legal mufflers. All other drivers in the Modifieds, Late Models, and Street Modified cars can choose any type of muffler that will meet the limits. The Dwarf Car division will also run with a mandatory type muffler.

Also new for 1996, will be the required Race Safe system in all modifieds. The Race Safe device consists of two amber lights, one on the dash of the car, and one behind the driver's head on the back of the roll cage, that are activated instantly when the starter turns on the track's safety yellow lights. The system therefore immediately alerts the driver of the car that there is a problem on the track and that they are to slow down. Often in heavy traffic or wheel-to-wheel competition, drivers do not immediately notice the track safety lights. This new system, which is required at all D.I.R.T. sanctioned tracks, is an instant attention getter.

Spartan track girls rout Caesar Rodney

By Keith S. Burgess

Lake Forest's girls' track team captured 13 events to easily defeat the visiting Riders.

Sherise Spence (12.6), a state champion sprinter, led a 100 meter sweep, followed by Christina Jones and Crystal James. Spence (26.1) and Jones got 1-2 in the 200, then took both the 800 relay in 1.56.9 and the 400 relay in 58 seconds flat. Tasia Benson, Portia Legg and Kelly Waples also competed in the relays.

State champ Shatanya Smith hurled the shot 34 feet, 1 inch, with Sequayah Guinn next at 33 feet, 7 1/2 inches.

Guinn spun the discus 104 feet,

2 inches, with Smith at 103.

Latarra Smith doubled in the 100 hurdles (16.9) and the 300 (54.5). Chasity Cole (5.57) and Angela Brown went 1-2 in the 1600 meters. Cole (2.39) and Wendy Webb were 1-2 at 800 meters.

Cole, Brown, Webb and Danielle Main captured the 3200 relay. Versatile Tanitka Smith long jumped 15 feet, 9 inches, with Christina Jones second. T. Smith, T. Benson and C. James swept the triple jump. Tanitka Smith also had seconds in the high jump and 400 meters. Crystal Mack was 3rd in the 400.

Holly Hrupsa and Jackie Hanson got second and third in the 3200 meters.

Since slots are here to stay, Delaware Council initiates 24-hour helpline

By Elizabeth Pertzoff, N.C.G.C., N.C.A.C.

It seems to me I have spent an inordinate amount of time over the years discussing slot machine gambling in this newsletter, so I was pleasantly surprised to find that all of 1995 came and went without a single mention. Delaware readers may have noticed this is probably the only publication in the state which hasn't had a big article trumpeting the fact that slots became a reality in our state at the very end of December, 1995. The omission has been partly in response to the timing of this newsletter, and partly due to my vague memory of long ago having rashly promised never to bring up the subject again. Even at the time, I must have known I was lying, since it became clear to everyone, even me, that they weren't going to go away the moment the enabling legislation was passed on June 30, 1994. At the risk of boring some of you, I should recap the history briefly, since this has been going on for a long time.

Those of you who go way back will remember that legislation attempting to rescue Delaware's race tracks from financial ruin by allowing slot machine gambling on their premises was first introduced in 1989. This bill, which contained a flat $50,000 per year from profits for compulsive gamblers, was furiously debated, but passed handily. Then-Governor Michael Castle vetoed it, and the legislature missed over-riding the veto by a whisker. Almost immediately, Brandywine Raceway folded. After a false start in 1992, the legislation's sponsors resurrected it in the spring of 1994. Again the debate raged, but this time the tide seemed to have turned. Although Governor Carper, a Democrat, was just as opposed to increased legalization in Delaware as his Republican predecessor Castle had been, his promised veto brought him up against the very real threat of a veto over-ride. State officials then sat down with the tracks, renegotiated the state's share of the profits upward, and came up with a compromise bill which easily passed both houses and became law without the Governor's signature in early July of 1994. The amendment protecting the interests of compulsive gamblers and their families had been modified to divert on a yearly basis $100,000, or one percent of the state's share of the profits, whichever is greater, for programs benefiting compulsive gamblers.

At the time the legislation passed, Dover Downs had expressed extreme pessimism as to whether or not it could afford to participate in the slots venture once the track's profits were cut, but as you might expect, when push came to shove, they came on board. The only holdout was Harrington, and even they are planning to open with slots in the fall of 1996, although they are much more ambivalent about the project than the other two tracks.

The regulations were made final after public hearings in late December of 1994. Both Dover Downs and Delaware park confidently predicted they would be up and running sometime in the spring of 1995. Then it was early summer. Then late summer. That became early fall, mid-fall and late fall. Finally the great event came to pass on Friday, December 29, 1995, and the rest, as they say, is history.

Meanwhile, we at the Delaware Council had not been idle. You may know that Representative Richard Davis worked closely with us to initiate the amendment directing funds towards programs for gamblers in the enabling legislation. We had to guard this amendment fiercely, since the bill was changed on several occasions, and each new version omitted the amendment (surprise, surprise). We testified at the regulations hearings in 1994, urging that accessibility to Automatic Teller Machines be limited, and, most particularly, urgently requesting that stickers with our telephone number be placed on every slot machine. We were refused permission to do this by the lottery office, which is a recurring theme in our saga, and to which we shall return.

Another area of concern we have had all along is what would happen if there were a surge of calls for help in response to the availability of slot machine gambling in our own backyard. As it stood in the early fall of 1995, we knew we were receiving an increasing number of calls every year, but we did not think the number justifying the enormous expenditure of resources required to put a 24-hour helpline in place. Just the same, we were worried about the advent of slots.

At about the same time, the National Council on Problem Gambling (our parent) received a grant of money and equipment from Harrah's and A.T.&T., Inc., with which to establish and maintain a national 24-hour helpline. I need to diverge for a minute in order to explain what happened.

For many years, the National Council has had a national telephone number, 1-800-522-4700, but has not had the capacity either to advertise the number or, just as important, to man it 24-hours a day, seven days a week. Other states also have their own 800 numbers, most notably New Jersey, which has the famous 1-800-GAMBLER. Florida, Washington State, and Texas are among some of the other state councils who have separately funded, toll-free numbers which are answered at all times by either staff or trained volunteers. A number of other states also have helplines, but use a variety of devices to handle off-hour calls, mostly answering machines or services. The result is a confusing mishmash of different levels of services provided in different ways at different times in different places. Harrah's had the laudable idea of providing National with the resources to pull all this together under one umbrella, with the central computer located in the office in Washington, D.C., and a single telephone number - 1-800-522-4700 - which could be marketed nationwide, or at the very least, in all Harrah's venues throughout the country, and which could automatically re-route calls to the state affiliate nearest the caller.

Part of the deal was that all interested state councils would send one designated person to a helpline training day, which was held in late October in conjunction with the National Council's annual conference. The response was remarkable. There were over 40 of us from all over the country, and I am here to tell you we put in a marathon day together, muddling through the unbelievable confusion of learning the complexities of this gargantuan effort. I began to wonder where on earth I got the idea we could pull this off in little Delaware, but I knew perfectly well we had no choice in view of the imminent opening of slot machine gambling. Therefore, I returned to Delaware, and necessity became, perforce, the mother of invention.

Picking up the thread, invent we did. At every turn, we became convinced that the most recent technological problem would be the insurmountable one which would prevent us from going on-line. Every time we made a move, it cost us more money than we could possibly have imagined. If we had had any idea in advance how difficult our project would prove to be, we would probably have closed our eyes tight and buried our heads in the sand. It was sheer, blissful ignorance that drove us at the beginning, which then gradually became fierce determination to get this helpline up and running no matter what. Much of the credit belongs to the Office Manager and Helpline Coordinator, Barbara Barr (one more title, no more money), who got stuck with all the horrible tasks, like dealing with the telephone company, which seemed to take some demonic pleasure in presenting us with "challenges" (some of us call them problems). We finally had the special "red phones", as we came to call the crisis line equipment, up and running by late November.

Of course, all the equipment in the world does no good if you don't have people available to answer the phones. We recruited, mostly from G.A. members, a small but hardworking and utterly dedicated group of volunteers whom we began training in crisis-line response in December. We developed the inevitable policies and procedures. We figured out who would answer the phone when, and for how long at a stretch. We experimented, made mistakes, and went back to the drawing board over and over again. We did, however, accomplish our goal, on time, much to my astonishment, and we were up and running by the targeted date of January 1, 1996, within a few days of the opening of slot machine gambling in Delaware.

This is how it works: any troubled gambler from Delaware can pick up a phone anywhere in the country and dial, toll-free, 1-800-522-4700. A pleasant, electronic voice welcomes the caller to the helpline of the National Council on Problem Gambling and requests all callers to enter their area code. Any caller who enters "302" is automatically referred to our "red phone", which is in turn answered at all times by one of three people: a professional staff member of the Delaware Council, a trained volunteer who is a recovering compulsive gambler, or, as a "default", by a Contact Delaware volunteer. This is accomplished by an elaborate remote call-forwarding mechanism which transfers all calls to the on-call volunteer or staff member as needed. Contact is only used in special circumstances, for instance to cover the gap between when our office closes and the on-call volunteer gets home from work. The volunteer is then responsible for re-forwarding all calls, and for calling Contact to see if any troubled gamblers have called in the interim. If so, the volunteer makes a "call-back" to the gambler in order to offer more help.

This system insures what we have promised, that is, 24-hour, live-voice response capacity for all troubled gamblers and their loved ones in the state of Delaware, without the use of a professional answering service or voice-mail. Even in the case of callers reaching Contact, we attempt to restrict the call-back time lapse to one hour. We have also arranged with Contact to do special in-service training for their volunteers in how to handle calls from compulsive gamblers.

The entire system is geared towards the specter of the ultimate helpline call, the actively suicidal compulsive gambler. It doesn't happen too often, but when it does, I assure you, it gets your full attention. I will pass along one example in order to demonstrate why we have gone to such lengths to provide knowledgeable, live people 24 hours a day. I was volunteering on the phones in National's office one day last summer. A man called for help. I asked him to tell me about himself. He said his name was Earl, he

Choices - Should your teen get a job?

You see them at the grocery store, at boutiques in the mall and behind the counters of fast food joints. It seems like every teen in town holds an after-school job. But should you allow your own teenage child to join the ranks of the employed?

"Many of today's youth are eager to enter the workforce," notes University of Delaware state 4-H coordinator Joy Sparks. "There are many positive aspects to adolescent employment; however, I always caution parents that there can be negative effects, too."

"Recent studies have identified a number of negative consequences of teen employment," says Sparks. "Obviously, not every teen worker will experience difficulties, but parents must evaluate how well their own child can juggle work with other responsibilities."

Possible negative effects of teen employment include:

- poorer school performance
- increased delinquency
- increased drug use
- increased conflict with parents and family discord
- not enough leisure time
- reduction in likelihood of getting enough sleep, eating breakfast and exercising

On the plus side, Sparks says, research has shown that part-time work can benefit a teen. Possible positive effects of employment include:

- increased personal responsibility and earning power
- development of social skills
- higher self-esteem
- acquisition of useful job skills
- increased self-direction and independence

• improved grades and participation in school-related activities

"Youth employment is a highly personal decision," stresses Sparks. "Parents must look at individual circumstances to determine whether their teenager should hold a job."

"For example, the research shows that employment has both a positive and a negative influence on grades and school performance," says Sparks. "Such results demonstrate that employment can have a very different impact on each child."

"If you decide to let your teen work, set ground rules concerning the number of hours worked, and the days and times of employment," suggests Sparks. "And periodically evaluate the effects -- positive and negative -- that this job is having on your teenager's life."

... For the children ...

By Amy Fleming

As a volunteer in the community of Harrington, I would like to respond to the negative attitudes and recent revelations about the youth center. In the midst of financial and management concerns, it seems to me that the most important issue has been forgotten ... the children.

The children are the reason the center was created -- the children that belong to the community. Since the future of our community is in the hands of these children, it is relevant that we begin now in preparing them for the responsibilities they will eventually hold in their hands. It was my understanding that the purpose of "Our Place" was to lessen the percentage of children on the street; to teach them how to participate in social, active and inactive games; and how to interact with others in a positive way. The center was supposed to be a good thing, a positive thing for our children.

As a child, I would have given anything to have a place like the youth center to go and express myself. I would have given anything to have a responsible, supportive and stable adult on hand to talk to and spend time with. I would have given anything to live in a community that cared enough to provide this much-needed service to its children. Therefore, I understand how the children could come to love such a place and how important it is to keep the facility running on an even keel ... for our children.

In the beginning, the idea was to have a uniformed police officer as the director of the youth center. This was to promote positive interaction between the children and the officer. I believe that this happened and was successful. I think that the children responded well to the director and that the interaction took place. Things change, and now a year later, a civilian is hired to take over the position of director. Though the response was good with a uniformed officer in place, there were circumstances that led to this change that were not directly tied into the center itself. This change could be good. A civilian may be a lot easier to talk to for some kids than a police officer.

There were some questions when the civilian was hired; under what procedure was she chosen; where does her salary come from; would hiring a civilian change the outcome of the grant that the center operates on; and does the schedule that this civilian works differ from the one implemented presently at the center? Certainly, these concerns are justifiable, and they are very important to the outcome of the center. The community that helped to create this center by donating time, money and materials deserves to know the answers to these questions in order to keep a flow of positivity about "Our Place". Being forthright and honest in decision-making cuts down on unanswered questions and grumbling in the community.

Although I think the intentions were good in the hiring of the civilian, I don't believe the decision was made fairly. I know the person is hard-working and community-oriented and has worked with the children and volunteered time at the center. It is no argument that this person deserved a fair chance to apply for the job-opening and thus far, she has provided a stable play-and-learn atmosphere for our children. The choice has been made, and the community should support the director for the sake of our children. It is a difficult position to be in for this person, especially with the negative response that has been voiced in the last few weeks.

My concerns are for the children. I would like to see the center reach its full potential and be around for many years to come. If the community does not support the center in whatever ways possible, this will not be a reality. I would like to see educational and cultural programs introduced at the center. But without community support and volunteers, this can never happen. I would like to see the center remain open on Saturdays. But without volunteers, the schedule may change. As a volunteer for the summer program, I know that coordinating such things is virtually hopeless without commitments from others to help.

Our community has provided so many things for our children, with a positive working relationship between city officials, the police department and the Parks and Recreation Committee. As a community, we should continue supporting our center, yet we should also accept those who voice their concerns. We should listen to their opinions, answer their questions, and invite them in to share in the responsibilities at the center. Since we all have played a part in the center's creation, and the children belong to us, we should all be included in the policies and procedures that may affect the outcome of this much-needed service.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

My name is Rachel Hopkins. I'm an eighth grade student at Circle Center Middle School, Yorkville, IL. My peers and I are working on a project for my social studies and language arts classes. I had to choose a state and, as you can see, I chose Delaware. We will compare and contrast newspapers.

I would greatly appreciate if you would be kind enough to send me a current or recent newspaper.

Also, if you can, please send me any information that you would like to share about your publication. Again, your assistance would be appreciated very much. Thank you.

was in a phone booth in East Cleveland, and he had just used his last quarter to call the helpline. This sounded real, since I could clearly hear the sounds of traffic on my end of the phone. He then said he was a desperate, bottomed-out compulsive gambler who just wanted to say good-bye to somebody, anybody, before hurling himself out into the traffic to commit suicide. We spoke for quite a long time while I frantically researched National's lists of resources, and I was able to extract a promise from him that he would make one more toll-free call before he killed himself to a local G.A. 24-hour hotline, providing the opportunity for someone nearby to physically go get him before he harmed himself. This is the end of the story as I know it. I have no way of knowing what happened, or even if the call was a prank, but I will tell you I think of the episode frequently, and every time I do, I fervently give thanks I was not an answering machine directing him either to leave his telephone number or call back later. This story is not only true, it represents the purest distillation of why we are here.

Those of you who have been paying close attention may have noticed there is one element missing in our helpline network, and that is, of course, making the toll-free number readily available to Delawareans. There is no earthly use for a toll-free helpline number if people have no idea it's available or how to find it. We have had our own literature changed to include the number, and initial publicity surrounding the slot machines caused an early blast of exposure. We do not have the resources to use standard marketing approach, but there are some other things that can be done. Next issue we will discuss some of these and bring you up to date on the status of additional funding for compulsive gamblers.

If you have received a letter from the Harrington Historical

Robert Shultie

Society in the last two months, it probably was mailed by Bob. He has volunteered faithfully since December for office duty and has been very effective in helping raise money for the building fund. He is a faithful worker and never complains. The Historical Society appreciates his help. Bob lives with his sister and brother-in-law,

Bob likes to travel and has visited 22 states, also Puerto Rico, Bermuda, the Virgin Islands and Canada. He plans to visit the rest of the states in the future.

Racing -

The cost of the system can easily be covered in the savings gained by avoiding just one wreck. Cars in any other division may elect to use the system.

Fans will get their first chance to see these and other changes this Saturday night, April 6, with Tune & Test Night. Gates open at 5 p.m. with practice from 6 until 8. General admission is free with pit admission just $10. The 1996 season will open on Saturday night, April 13, with gates opening at 4:30 and heats starting at 7 p.m.
