Harrington Perspective

Edna Mae Layton
What do I like about Harrington?

I like Harrington because it's a down-to-earth, country town. It's not like living in a big city.

Harrington Council to let top cop stay

By Bob MacPherson

By its non-response to Harrington Police Chief Frank G. Melvin Jr.'s request for a vote of confidence, the Harrington City Council assured his continuation as police chief and his retirement next April.

Chief Melvin, in his "police chief's report" to the council, said, "I want to add the DUI case, which is so notorious, to my report. I made an error in judgment. I intend to retire in April of next year. If you don't have confidence in me, I will step down."

The council by a 7-0 vote accepted the police chief's report but made no other response to it.

After the meeting was adjourned, Mayor William H. Porter said Chief Melvin's report required no action other than adoption by the council. "What he said, he made a judgment error and he's going to retire in April. We have no problem in him leaving in April. We are going to accept it as is. We have no axe to grind with the chief. He's going to step down when he's got his time in," Mr. Porter said.

In response to a question of whether or not Mr. Melvin violated any criminal statute by his action or inaction in the DUI incident, John Terence Jaywork, Harrington's city solicitor, said, "I have no comment on that. I just don't know."

Ralph Benson, a Harrington minister, asked the council to retain the chief. "I think he's doing a tremendous job. He's tremendously helped our community. He took a lot of drugs out of our community."

"We need the chief and we want him to stay. I think its time we banded together. Let he who is without sin cast the first stone," admonished Mr. Benson. The meeting was supposed to take place last week but a quorum of council members was not present and the meeting had to be postponed.

Where are they now?

By Carol Ann Porter

During a recent interview with Dolores Brown Collins, the Guidance Secretary for the Lake Forest School District, Mrs. Collins commented on how many graduates from Harrington and Lake Forest have gone on to become very successful professionals.

She talked about graduates who have become doctors and lawyers, and one student in particular came to mind. . . . David Simpson who graduated from Lake Forest High School in 1976.

He is now Dr. David A. Simpson, a physician who practices both Family and Geriatric Medicine. Dr. Simpson and his wife, the former Gail McIlvain of Bridgeville, live in North Wilmington.

The son of Albert and Betty Simpson, Dr. Simpson grew up on Dorman St. in Harrington. When asked, he said he had nothing but fond memories of growing up in Harrington.

As a child and early teen, he was an active member in the Asbury United Methodist Church. "I'd like to say thanks to all of my teachers and friends who were a part of my life at that time," said Dr. Simpson.

As a young boy, Dr. Simpson said that most of his days, both winter and summer, were spent at Wheeler's Park. "I was good friends with Steve Dayton who lived just down the road from the park and also Billy Leonard who was my next-door neighbor on Dorman St.," said Dr. Simpson. "One of our favorite pastimes was fishing in Mr. Wheeler's Duck Pond," smiled Dr. Simpson.

Although Mr. Wheeler did not allow fishing in his duck pond, the boys would crawl over the fence and try their luck.

"On several occasions, he would catch us off guard, give us a good talking to, then make us fish in the ditch directly behind the duck pond," laughed Dr. Simpson.

One time he caught the boys, but they assured him that they were not the same three boys he had just re-rimanded three weeks earlier. "But he knew we were," said Dr. Simpson.

Another favorite pastime was watching the crews on the railroad switch the trains around just north of Harrington. After awhile, Dr. Simpson said they got to know the train crews, and on occasion, they would be invited to ride along on the engine or caboose prior to their leaving town to head north to Wilmington or Harrisburg or south to Cape Charles.

Dr. Simpson's father owned Harrington Dry Cleaners and he recalls helping out behind the counter with his three aunts, Helen, Ruth and Margaret, all deceased now.

His grandfather was Edwin Prettyman, and his grandmother, Helen Prettyman, just passed away last September at the age of 100.

He recalls as early as the age of four that he wanted to become a physician. "I had an operation in the hospital, and I recall how

Liquid Love

By Terry Mucha

This weekend, many students will be leaving for college. Many parents, especially mothers, suffer that "empty nest syndrome" when this occurs. One such mother is Mrs. Therese "Terry" Mucha who lives with her husband, Rob, and son, Eric, on Shaw Ave. in Harrington.

Eric is 18 years old and a graduate of Lake Forest High School. He leaves this weekend to travel to Elizabethtown, Pa. where he will attend Elizabethtown College and major in social work.

His mother wrote the following article for her son and also to help other parents deal with that "empty nest" feeling.

-Liquid Love-

The only time I knew and felt confident that you were totally mine was when I carried you in my womb. And even then, I was just the caretaker, nurturing you in a protective environment. Being encapsulated in the liquid love of my womb, you were sheltered from cold and malnutrition. You were pampered from conception.

Your meals were our meals. Your father and I made sure I maintained a well-balanced diet, exercise and sleep. During your early months, you spent many hours in the pool swimming laps. And your new form in me dictated endless hours of sleep.

From your first breath of air, you became your own person. I should have known when you arrived five weeks early that your road to independence would come before I was totally prepared for the separation.

So cuddling you in my arms, as an infant, was not only natural but a need to touch and smell a fleeing fledgling. The journey in front of you had only one road, the road that traveled away from my care.

with an ambiguous heart, always enjoying your new achievements; your gentle petite hand you would place on my cheek during our rocking chair hours, your first words, your first steps to your father's arms, our first conversation, just the amazing realization that you were not only a little one, but a whole person.

Taylor's Hardware recognized by NFIB

By Carol Ann Porter
Editor

Taylor's Hardware, owned by Robert and Betty Taylor of Harrington, was recently recognized by the National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB) for their long-time support of small business.

The Taylors received a plaque from NFIB Territory Manager, Ron King, honoring them for 40 years of NFIB membership.

"NFIB is privileged to have members like Robert Taylor, who have made a lifelong commitment to strengthen America's small business and the free enterprise system," said Mr. King during a recent visit to the hardware store in Harrington. "Their loyalty gives NFIB a foundation of credibility before Congress and in each State capital."

Taylor's Hardware has been located in Harrington for 63 years. The full service hardware store employs 10 people in this community.

The business was started in 1932 by Mr. Taylor's parents, Mr.

and Mrs. H. Edward Taylor and Charles Peck Sr., now deceased. The store's original name was called Peck & Taylor. After a while, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor bought out Mr. Peck's share of the business, and then it became Taylor's Hardware.

The original building was made of wood, but in 1959 the Taylors began building a new store. It was built in three sections and was finished in the 1960s.

There is now just a little under 10,000 sq. feet at Taylor's Hardware, and Taylor's carries everything but the kitchen sink. "We used to carry kitchen sinks, but we don't anymore," laughed Mr. Taylor.

Mr. Bob Taylor and his wife, Betty, bought the business and later the store. Mr. Taylor said the opportunity is there if their son, Rob, decides to come into the business as a partner. He works at the hardware store full time now.

The store is open seven days a week in the summer. Hours are Monday thru Friday, 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Saturday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. They are open on Sundays until the fall. Hours on Sunday are 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Mr. King congratulated the Taylors and said, "Small business owners face many challenges. Against all odds, small business works for America. . . and NFIB works for small business."

(NFIB, the nation's largest advocacy organization for small business, represents 600,000 small and independent business owners nationwide, including 3,500 in Delaware. The organization was established in 1943 and has offices in each state capital and in Washington, D.C.)

The family that plays together

The Brown family of Harrington have something in common. They all have a hole-in-one. Betty Brown, center, was the first, hitting a ball 165 yards to land a hole-in-one at Shawnee Country Club in Milford. Her son, Jason, on the left, got his hole-in-one on July 17 of this year. He hit the ball into a hole 107 yards away. Her husband, Elwood, has achieved two holes-in-one, one 110 yards away, and the other 85 yards away. Looks like Betty beat the boys. Although the men still play golf, Betty gave it up after her hole-in-one. "I couldn't do any better than that," she laughed. Photo by Carol Ann Porter to Cape Charles. Dr. Simpson's father owned Harrington Dry Cleaners and he recalls helping out behind the counter with his three aunts, Helen, Ruth and Margaret, all deceased now.

His grandfather was Edwin Prettyman, and his grandmother, Helen Prettyman, just passed away last September at the age of 100.

He recalls as early as the age of four that he wanted to become a physician. "I had an operation in the hospital, and I recall how extremely friendly and nice all of the hospital staff were to me," said Dr. Simpson.

He said they gave him a grand tour of the hospital, and he found it very fascinating. "It's stuck with me ever since," he said.

When Dr. Simpson turned 16, he qualified to join the Harrington Fire Company. "This took up almost 90 percent of my spare time," said Dr. Simpson who attended Delaware State Fire School in Dover on the weekends and obtained both fire and ambulance training.

Having only school to stand in the way, he answered most of the fire and ambulance calls during his high school years.

Dr. Simpson graduated from Lake Forest High School in 1976 and went on to Wesley College in Dover the following year.

He graduated from Temple in 1980 with a Bachelor's Degree in Psychology. After graduation from college, he worked several years before enrolling in medical school at the University of the Northeast in Tampico, Mexico.

He completed two years of basic science training in Mexico, then returned to the United States for his last two years of in-hospital clinical training.

After graduating from medical school, he completed his residency at the Medical Center of Delaware in Family and Community Medicine and subsequently became Board Certified in Family Medicine by the American Board of Family Practice.

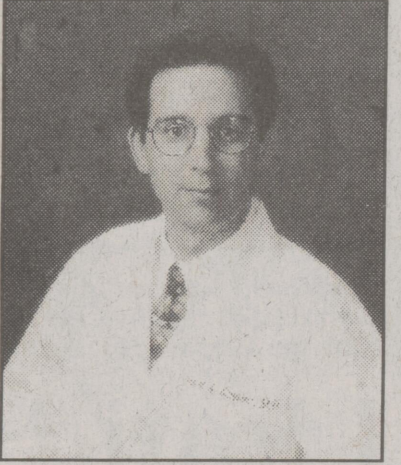

After the completion of his Residency, he was asked by the Medical Center of Delaware to become a part-time faculty member and train residents and medical students in Family Medicine. He was also appointed Clinical Instructor at the Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia while continuing to practice full time in Chester, Pa. and at the DuPont Hospital for Children where he is the Employee Health Physician.

In September 1996, he was offered the opportunity to obtain specialized training in Geriatrics at both the Jefferson Medical College and the Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania. He subsequently accepted the offer from the University of Pennsylvania and will complete his fellowship training in Geriatrics in August of this year. He plans to continue to practice both Family Medicine as well as Geriatrics.

Dr. Simpson met his wife, Gail, 23 years ago. He was introduced to her by his cousin at the Delaware State Fair. They met again 12 years later at the Milford Memorial Hospital when David was visiting his Grandfather and Gail was his nurse. She now works as a Pediatric Nurse Practitioner in Rheumatology at the DuPont Hospital for Children.

Dr. Simpson said that his wife is also quite accomplished in her field, receiving the Nurse of the Year Award for the State of Delaware in 1992. She also serves as a board member for the Arthritis Foundation as well as a committee member of the Association of Rheumatology Health Professionals. She has written and presented more than 18 articles and written two book chapters.

In his spare time, Dr. Simpson enjoys photography and enters photos at the fair each year. He also enjoys traveling and usually combines a medical conference with vacation.

He has traveled extensively throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico. He has also traveled to Asia and England.

His other pastimes are keeping up with the latest medical journals and writing medical literature. He just completed two book chapters on Temporal Arteritis and Poly-myalgia Rheumatica.

When asked what his advice would be for young people today, Dr. Simpson said, "Believe in yourself and you can never set your goals too high."

Eastern Shore Thresherman's special day brings back special memories to area man

By David Dill

On Saturday, Aug. 2, I found myself stepping back in time. I could smell the aroma of burning wood, the hiss of steam and the feel of the hot boiler ready to release its great power in a steam tractor.

I was at the Eastern Shore Thresherman and Collectors Association's special day in Federalsburg, Md.

As I walked along the line of old tractors, I could almost feel the history stored within them. . . the time when America's agriculture was coming of age.

I saw a grandfather with his son and grandson. The grandfather was telling the stories his father had told him of these great times.

He told stories of how one farmer would haul his steam tractor and threshing machine to a neighbor's farm and help with their harvest. Then it was onto the next farmer until the harvest season was finished.

As I walked a little further, I came upon David Kohut of Hampton County, Va., playing his fiddle. The songs he played I was not familiar with, but an older gentleman next to me seemed to remember every note.

The sound of a steam train came whistling through the air so I ventured on. There was a line of parents with their children waiting to ride a scaled-down locomotive around a small track. As the train pulled off with its load, the little engine released a burst of steam, and with the whistle blowing, they were riding back in time.

There were many strange-looking machines there doing many different jobs. . . pumping water, husking corn, powering other machines.

I heard a man say, "Come see the thrasher." So off I went to see it! They were pulling up one of the old steam tractors in front of an old Frick thrasher. As it lined up, a man took a large drive belt and handed it to the tractor operator to place around the drive wheel. They were hooked up and ready for power.

Three men stood atop a wagon of cut wheat. One of them moved over to the Frick. "Power up!" I heard him yell. As the belt started to turn, the men with pitchforks tossed the wheat into the Frick. The threshing had begun.

As I left the past and came back to the present, I drove through the fields and was reminded of my father who used to tell me about his father and steam tractors and threshers. I somehow felt a little closer to my grandfather on that day.

The journey in front of you had only one road, the road that traveled away from my care.

My life with you has been spent with an ambiguous heart, always enjoying your new achievements, your gentle petite hand you would place on my cheek during our rocking chair hours, your first words, your first steps to your father's arms, our first conversation, just the amazing realization that you were not only a little one, but a whole person who was able to verbally express concepts of which you had given great thought.

During the summer of your third year, you came to me and asked to play with the garden hose. I told you not to get your clothes wet. You went out back with interpreted obedience, stripped off your clothes and turned on the hose. Little ventures like this warned of your ensuing independence.

Eighteen short years have passed, and you have been a constant star in our eyes. If we have done our job well, your independence will come easy.

You will walk out the door with slight hesitation that you are confident with your new destination.

You will be adamant in your new choices. You will take risk, not chances. You will reach out for help when in need and offer support to those reaching out to you.

As you step out our door, you will glance back, and my view will be of a young man of whom we are very proud. Your view will be of an older woman, forcing a smile and trying unsuccessfully to hold back the tears; tears of joy for your exciting new life. . . tears of separation, for my friend is adventuring to another life miles from home. . . tears for the void left in my heart from the impending "empty nest."

But especially. . . tears of pride will flow for the man in front of me has a warm heart, a soft hand and a kind tongue.

This liquid form of love was there at the confirmation of your conception and at your birth. It flowed periodically during your 18 years through your rough times and your many achievements. And I promise, you haven't seen the last of them. These tears will be there when you come home to visit and when you leave. They'll be there for your graduation, for your wedding and your children.

I have seen you view these natural waterfalls of mine with query, with humor and with a consoling nature. But most of all, I have seen you view my tears for you with love.

To all the parents whose children are leaving for college or venturing out into the work force, crossing through the door to adulthood, my heart goes out to you. And to you who are accepting your new role as adults, follow ET's example and PHONE HOME!!!! There will be a loving voice on the other end.

The council deliberated behind closed doors before the regular council meeting open to the public.

Mayor William H. Porter called the meeting to order to discuss the results of an investigation by the attorney general's office into allegations that Chief Melvin hindered the prosecution of a driving under the influence charge against Roger Kates, son of Councilman Linwood T. Kates.

Chief Melvin admitted that he made an "administrative error" which resulted in the charges against Mr. Kates being dropped.

Safety tips from AAA

What should you do if you're traveling down an unlit road and suspect you are being followed? What should you do if you are stopped by what appears to be a police vehicle, but may be a potential attacker?

AAA Mid-Atlantic reminds motorists to be alert when they are traveling, especially on dark and isolated roads. AAA Mid-Atlantic notes that the alarming increase in attacks by perpetrators pretending to be police officers has prompted the need for all drivers to become knowledgeable about preventative measures and techniques which may save their lives.

Whether you're driving in your own neighborhood or traveling across the country, keep the following tips in mind:

1. Marked state trooper vehicles are furnished with red flashing lights atop the roof. Unmarked state trooper vehicles utilize red flashing lights on the dashboard.
2. Local police may use blue lights, but only in conjunction with red flashing lights atop the roof of a marked patrol vehicle.
3. Police patrol vehicles are never furnished with blue only flashing lights.
4. If you are stopped by what appears to be a police vehicle, keep your car's engine running and open the window enough to hear the officer.
5. You have the right to ask for police identification. If the officer cannot produce proper identification, tell the officer to follow you to the police department or a well-lit, safe area.

"Citizens for Lake Forest" to research alternate funding ideas

By Bob MacPherson
Special to The Journal

HARRINGTON - The "Citizens for Lake Forest," a group of Lake Forest School District citizens intent on improving communications between the board of education, school administrators and the community, met for the third time, Monday evening in the Harrington Fire Company Hall.

The organization is wrestling with some of the issues surrounding the district's two consecutive referendum failures.

The group elected to look into the possibility of finding alternative ways of funding school needs and formed a subcommittee headed by Edward Dean to begin research.

Some members of the group felt that local school district referenda are becoming obsolete nationally, as only about 14 or 15 states have them. Questions of constitutionality concerning the imbalance of poor district funding to wealthy district funding being the alleged basis for the constitutional problem.

Additionally, since in Delaware so many school related functions are standardized state-wide, why not have statewide, even-handed funding?

Marie Cunningham, a member of the group said, "We should look at what other states are doing in funding their schools so we have firm information to stand on."

Ms. Cunningham also said she feels the board and administrators should make themselves available in the community. "If the board and superintendent can't be seen in public what does that say about our school board," she said.

The group noted that no board member has been re-elected in the last five board of education elections, and that in itself says volumes about public confidence in the board.

The group feels the board of education, the school district administration and their own or-

Notes & News

from the Harrington Business Community

By Linda Chick

This is the 4th in a series of articles on work and the family. The focus is on international trends in family leave policies.

Madeleine Shea, of the University of Maryland/Baltimore, researched "Maternity and Parental Leave Trends in the European Union". Her research topic was presented at the BPW/USA Symposium, The Duality of Work and Family Roles, held in July.

The European Union is made up of 15 member nations. The EU dictates laws and policies that must be implemented in all its countries.

--Maternity Leave--

The EU Maternity Leave Law guarantees 14 weeks of paid maternity leave, paid time off for ante natal exams, full job protection, protection against health and safety risks and continuance of benefits.

While all countries comply with the law, benefit periods vary, ranging from 14 weeks in 6 countries to 26 weeks in Italy. In some countries, maternity leave is compulsory while in others a pregnant worker is not required to take this leave. The way leave is divided between the ante natal and post-natal period, is inconsistent among EU members.

The percentage of reimbursement also varies, ranging from 65-100%.

--Parental Leave--

The Parental Leave Law applies to children up to age 8. It kicks in immediately following the Maternal Leave period and applies to fathers as well as mothers.

Minimum standards require 3 months parental leave for each parent and applies to both full time and part time workers. Job security and benefit protections are guaranteed. Again, nations vary in the amount of leave offered from the minimum required to 2 years. Paid leave varies from none to 66% of salary.

--Eligibility--

Eligibility periods for Maternity Leave may not exceed 12 months employment prior to the expected birth. And benefits apply to the self-employed, unemployed and home working employee in at least some member nations.

France is the most generous and a leader in child friendly policies.

--Historical View--

Maternity leave is not a new concept in Europe. Before the emergence of the EU, 6 countries offered this benefit. Parental leave, however, is new and many member states initiated or amended their laws when the EU was formed.

While some work/family policies were clearly paternalistic at the onset, recent changes appear economically driven. Women are permanently entrenched in the labor market and promoting the health and well-being of women makes economic sense. Lobbying efforts of women's groups and family groups along with labor unions have also had a lasting impact on family/work issues.

--Other Factors--

Other factors have influenced leave policies as well. Parental leave offers a solution to lack of child care facilities. It creates new jobs for European workers in a time of high unemployment. It promotes the attachment of workers to their employers, maximizing the investment companies make in their workers. And, finally, it responds to the changing demands of male workers whose wives are also in the work force.

It is significant that this shift toward more liberal family policies comes at a time when Europe is cutting back its welfare state. While sick leave and unemployment benefits are being rolled back, family policies are coming to the forefront.

What are the implications for workers in the United States? In the U.S. women are not asserting themselves as effectively. It is clear that women must become politically active to further an agenda that supports children and families.

It will also be necessary to come into agreement, as the EU nations have, that it makes sense socially to promote family friendly policies. We must also realize as they do that health care is a building block of family friendly policies.

Finally, only when work/family issues cease to be women's issues, and are seen as men's issues and family issues, then will support for family friendly work policies become a reality.

--What Is Being Done?--

Studies are being conducted at prominent academic institutions nationwide on family/work issues and the impact of family-friendly policies.

BPW/USA is a leader in advocating for workplace environments that support the family. As the author of "Making Workplaces Work", a guide to exploring workplace issues, the organization has launched a major educational initiative that targets small business.

To support that effort a symposium was held in Louisville, Kentucky, in July in conjunction with the BPW/USA Annual Conference. This is the first research symposium BPW has sponsored, and it is expected to become an annual event.

The day long event attracted top researchers in the work/family field from leading national universities. Each presented a paper followed by a question and answer period. The presented papers have been compiled and published and are available for purchase.

How Can BPW Help?

BPW/USA is available to small and large businesses as a resource, for education and information. BPW local organizations are equipped with materials and the know-how to assist employers in exploring family-friendly policies.

To access this information, call BPW/USA at 202-293-1100, ext. 124. Or call BPW/DE at 398-3898 (Linda Chick) to discuss a program for your business or organization.

There is much more that could be explored here concerning workplace policies that support the family. Look for further articles in coming weeks.

For information on becoming a member of Harrington BPW, call Kim Vincent, President, at 398-3740 or 739-4208, or Kim Robbins, Membership Chair, at 335-5633 or 398-4420.

"Yard Pick of the Week"

This week's Yard Pick of the Week by Harrington City Manager Len Coryell is the home of Ms. Bettye Greenly, 101 Dorman Street. Bettye spends a lot of time maintaining her yard.

Junior Livestock Auction sets record at state fair

A record $44,956.60 was raised by 78 young Delawareans during the Delaware State Fair's annual Junior Livestock Auction held July 24 at the fairgrounds. Participants spent the year leading up to the auction preparing market steers, hogs and lambs for sale at the Fair.

The purpose of the auction is to teach youth the process of agribusiness, while helping to off-set the year long investment in the animal's care and feeding. In addition, many participants begin building college funds by selling their animal. Careers in the field of agriculture often begin with the lessons learned while raising a market animal for sale. Buyers, meanwhile, either process the purchased animal, donate it to a worthy organization, or keep it as a pet.

This year market hogs garnered the most money at the sale, with $18,502.00 raised. The average hog sold for $393.65, or $1.67 per pound. Sheep brought in $15,883.10, with an average sale price of $323.12, or $3.08 per pound. Steers raised $10,621.50. The average price per steer was $1,180.16, or $1.00 per pound. The total amount raised at the 1997 auction was 5.4% more than last year.

The 1997 Champion Lamb was raised by Jessica Tatman of Felton, and was purchased by long time Fair concessionaire, Little Richard Enterprises of Pennsburg, Pennsylvania. The Reserve Champion Lamb, raised by Justin Carter of Harrington, was purchased by Southern States Cooperative, Inc. of Milford.

Kristy Martin of Bridgeville raised the Grand Champion Hog, which was subsequently purchased by Wilmington Trust Company. The Reserve Champion Hog was raised by Nikki Mowbray of Bridgeville, and was purchased by the Delaware Redmen civic organization of Lewes.

The Grand Champion Steer, raised by Michael Winkler of Harrington, was purchased by Hastings Butcher Shop of Laurel. Rio-Del-Mar, a farm equipment dealer in Easton, Maryland, bought the Reserve Champion Steer from Jason Sharp of Harrington.

Other buyers this year included Delaware Governor Thomas R.

Harrington police officers cleared after internal investigation

By Kimberly Quillen

On Aug. 6, the Milford Police Department launched an investigation into the procedures followed by Cpl. Davis and Patrolman Mark B. Anderson, the arresting officer.

"The investigation was lengthy and intense. It was determined the officers acted appropriately and violated no department rules," said Harrington Police Chief Frank G. Melvin Jr. in a prepared statement released last Saturday night.

Chief Melvin was unavailable for comment.

Harrington Mayor William H. Porter said he was not surprised by the results of the investigation.

"I thought they acted appropriately. Both of them are good officers," Mayor Porter said.

Clarissa E. Watson, Mark Watson's mother, refused comment about the findings of the investigation.

Mr. Parker also would not comment.

An internal investigation into the Harrington Police Department's arrest of a 9-year-old boy who allegedly "mooned" an officer found no wrongdoing by the officers involved.

The investigation came after police arrested Mark L. Watson, a youngster who allegedly dropped his pants and "mooned" Cpl. A. Scott Davis on July 30.

During the arrest, the child was placed in a cruiser containing a caged black Labrador retriever. The child, sitting in the front, began screaming. The dog, caged in the rear of the car, barked loudly.

William L. Parker Sr., 53, who lives on the street, objected to the officer's treatment of the child, argued with the police and was arrested and charged with hindering prosecution and resisting arrest.

LF School board meeting focuses on legislative priorities

By Bob MacPherson
Special to The Journal

FELTON - The Lake Forest Board of Education met last Thursday evening to discuss several items including the district's preliminary legislative priorities.

According to Board of Education President Donald L. Brown, the board's legislative agenda, when finalized and approved, will be submitted to the Delaware School Boards Association for review and potential inclusion in the state-wide legislative package to be submitted in the next session of the general assembly.

Among the initial legislative ideas suggested by School Superintendent Dr. James H. VanSciver in an August 8 memo to the board, were a 25 year retirement plan and a need to restructure the Delaware formula for the distribution of school secretaries.

Also carried over from last year are a number of other proposals from the Lake Forest Board of Education and the Kent - Sussex Consortium (of school districts) including the following:

- the need to have full state funding of any state mandated program;
- the ability to establish and fund a technology supervisor at each district;
- to provide funding for specialized personnel such as fine arts teachers, librarians, etc. so that funds for Division *1 or academic excellence units are not needed to create and staff those positions;
- to ensure that staffing at the beginning of a school year be guaranteed as 100 percent of the prior year's September 30 count to avoid layoffs, oversized classes and the need to spend local funds to establish new units;
- to establish and fund a unit for elementary counselors to support the district's pro-active policy concerning student behavior in the elementary schools;
- to promote the full adoption and implementation of the formula for new construction;
- to prohibit the use of public funds for private school use, including transportation, based on the alleged unconstitutionality of such use.

- to support school funding through the use of impact fees;
- to provide sufficient resources to remove unruly students from the school's mainstream while continuing their education and to provide educators with the necessary tools to reduce the behavior of unruly students;
- to provide adequate funding for a 15:1 student-teacher ratio in the elementary schools.

In addition to making a number of appointments, the board was briefed on a new high school parking policy. The policy promotes "need" ahead of "brains."

In a memo to the board, David Santore, chair of the parking committee, said, "The making criteria was changed, placing honor roll students at the end of the list and inserting sophomores as eligible, based on job or participation criteria."

The new priority for a parking lot permit is as follows:

- 1 - students on co-op, and college and co-op students leaving early;
- 2 - seniors who participate in school activities which require them to stay at school for an extended period of time;
- 3 - seniors who have a verifiable after school job and need to drive to work;
- 4 - juniors who participate in school activities which require them to stay at school for an extended period of time;
- 5 - juniors who have a verifiable after school job and need to drive to work;
- 6 - school choice students
- 7 - sophomores who participate in school activities which require them to stay at school for an extended period of time
- 8 - sophomores who have a verifiable after school job and have to drive to work;
- 9 - seniors making honor roll;
- 10 - juniors making honor roll.

District Dialog

Values and children

By Dr. James H. VanSciver
Superintendent

Embedded in the delightful book, The Love Between Mothers and Sons, edited by Helen Exley, is a profound statement credited to Edith F. Hunter which explains perfectly, on a parent to child basis, the essence of values orientation.

It reads, "... the walks and talks we have with our two-year-olds in red boots have a great deal to do with the values they will cherish as adults."

Analyzing that statement leads one to understand the importance of communication with our children, of spending time with them, of engaging in their activities with them.

Values are taught through a very subtle process. Often, it matters more how we say something than what we say.

But Hunter's message is clear, crystal clear to all of us. Spend time with our children. Interact with them. Never forget the incredible impact that we have on their lives, either through our time spent with them or through our absence from them.

We invite our readers to respond to this column by sending letters to The Harrington Journal, P.O. Box 239, Harrington, DE 19952 or by calling Sound Off at 629-2050 or 678-8255.

W.T. Chipman to offer after school program

Beginning September 23, Lake Forest School District's W.T. Chipman Middle School will once again offer an after-school program every Tuesday from 3 p.m.-4 p.m. which provides students with academic assistance and counseling services.

This program will give students the opportunity to receive assistance with homework and classwork, along with use of the library and computer lab. There will also be a counselor available to talk with students and present life/school coping skills.

An activity bus will be provided to transport students. The bus will leave the middle school at 4:05 p.m. Drop off points will be Lake Forest North Elementary School and U.S. 13 at Pizza Time (both in Felton), Shore Stop in Canterbury, and Andrews Lake Road and Lake Forest East Elementary School (both in Frederica).

Approximately 25 teachers have agreed to participate in this program to aid students with their academic needs. Students are required to sign up with a teacher on their team two days in advance.

For more information about this program, contact Dr. Kathy Andrus, Assistant Principal, at 398-8097.

Math homework can add up to success

William B. Moody, University of Delaware professor of educational development and creator of Solve It!, a national math league for middle school students, says that math can be fun!

He recommended the following tips for middle school students:

- When you begin a mathematics problem, always try to estimate the answer first. This will help you see if your answer is reasonable.

- There is no one best way to solve a problem! Have it your way! Your teacher should encourage you to find methods which make sense to you.

- When faced with a problem, try some numbers to see what happens. Make an educated guess and then adjust your guess based on the results.

- Mathematics is a participation activity -- don't let it become too mechanical.

- Remember, there are many ways to solve a problem. If one attack doesn't work, try another.

- A very useful approach when solving a problem is to work backwards. Start with what you have been given and undo what the problem says was done to the numbers.

- Remember that a math textbook is more than sets of problems and exercises! Read the parts in-between the homework exercises, they will often demonstrate how to do the problems.

- Don't believe that old saying that some people "just can't do mathematics!" Keep a sense of humor and try!

ganzation should focus strongly on policy that first and foremost benefits the district's school children or the next referendum will suffer the same fate as its predecessors.

The group, initially organized by Sharon Tazelaar, a Felton school parent, held its first meeting on June 30 in Viola. Keeping with its plans to meet each month in a different location throughout the district, the organization's second meeting was held on July 14 in the group was the failure of two consecutive referendums and the feeling that the relationship between the community and school administrators was souring.

The ad hoc organization is earnestly seeking involvement from other citizens throughout the school district.

How to prepare for a GREAT school year

Elementary students who want to get a jump on a great school year can still do several things now to prepare, Jeanne Geddes-Key, director of the College School, a school for children with learning difficulties, at the University of Delaware, said.

They can:

- Take time this summer to set up a comfortable study area with good lighting and all of the supplies needed to successfully complete homework;

- Use the weeks leading up to school to become familiar with school and classroom rules; and

- Use the summer to feed their minds: Read! Read! Read!

Once school begins, it's important to:

- Get plenty of rest each night;
- Eat a nutritious breakfast every morning-remember five fruits and vegetables every day!
- Exercise-if possible, join a sports team;
- Encourage your parents to be involved in your school, and share your school experience with them every day; and
- Have a positive attitude and be ready for a great year of learning!

Renee Davis weds Gregory Wayne Mills

Renee Jane Vincent Davis and Gregory Wayne Mills were united in marriage on Saturday, May 17, 1997, at 3:00 p.m. at Chaplain's Chapel United Methodist church in Bridgeville.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Michael Hurley. The bride was given in marriage by her parents, Raymond and Winifred Vincent of Greenwood.

The groom is the son of Rodman Mills of Milford and the late Catherine Mills.

The bride wore a lovely ivory gown featuring a vee-neckline with long-fitted sleeves. The gown and sleeves were ornately trimmed with Alencon lace, pearls and sequins. The semi-cathedral train was elegantly adorned with large Alencon lace appliques. The bride chose an Alencon lace headpiece with fingertip veiling.

The bride's bouquet was designed of silk ivory roses, lavender star flowers eucalyptus, dried fern, ivory dogwood blossoms and lavender lilac sprigs with baby's breath and ivy intertwined. It was adorned with a lavender bow with ribbon streamers and cascading ivy.

Matron of Honor was Beverly Jones of Milford, sister of the bride. She wore a tea-length 2-piece lavender crepe gown with matching jacket and satin lapels. She carried a silk bouquet of ivory roses, lavender star flowers, sprigs of lilac, eucalyptus and ivy with a lavender bow and streamers.

Kelly Jones of Milford, niece of the bride, was Junior Attendant. She wore an ivory gown adorned with lilac rosettes and a self-tying bow with streamers. She also wore a headpiece with lilac rosettes. She carried a small silk bouquet of ivory sweetheart roses, eucalyptus, lavender star flowers and baby's breath with lavender and ivory ribbons.

The bride's mother wore a two-piece outfit featuring a flowing chiffon gown with a multi-floral jacket. She wore a silk corsage of ivory roses and lavender baby's breath.

Ethel Callaway, grandmother of the bride, wore a rose street-length dress and wore a silk corsage of ivory roses and white baby's breath.

The groom wore a Christian Dior black tuxedo with an ivory shirt and paisley ivory vest and ivory tie. He wore an ivory rose boutonniere with lavender baby's breath.

The Best Man was David Mills of Milford, brother of the groom. He wore a Christian Dior black tuxedo with an ivory shirt and paisley black vest and black tie. His boutonniere was identical to the one worn by the groom.

Junior Attendant was Allan Mills of Milford, nephew of the groom. His attire was identical to the groom's attire.

Ushers were Larry Jones of Milford, brother-in-law of the bride, and Michael Mills, nephew of the groom. Their attire was identical to the Best Man's attire.

The groom, attended the guest book. Bulletin attendant was Andrew Mills, nephew of the groom.

The pianist was Norman Reynolds. Musical selections were provided by Rev. Michael and Ann Hurley.

The church altar was decorated with a large basket of silk lilacs and candles. Fresh baskets of white impatiens were placed at each side of the altar. The church windows contained ivory candles tied up with ivory tulle and lavender bows.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church.

The bride is a graduate of Woodbridge Jr./Sr. High School and Wesley College. She is employed by the Delaware State Housing Authority and is also a private piano instructor.

The groom is a graduate of Milford High School. He is employed by Nanticoke Homes, Inc.

After a honeymoon in Gatlinburg, Tennessee, the couple are residing in their home in Felton.

Sunday worship service at Houston United Methodist Church is 9:30 a.m. Sunday School for all ages immediately follows the service at 10:30 a.m. Rev. Herman Lipsius is the Minister. All are welcome.

Last Sunday, Rev. Lipsius delivered the message, "Saving Your Life". Mrs. Lipsius gave the prayer before the message.

For our special music, Connie Eisenbrey and Carolyn Rose sang "I've Got a Mansion Just Over the Hilltop".

Mrs. Pauline Morgan was greeter. Mr. and Mrs. William Fisher were ushers. Devon Burtelle was acolyte.

Congratulations to Mac and Lisa Carey of Milford who became parents to a baby girl last week.

There will be a bus trip to Radio City Music hall for the Christmas Show on December 10. Reservations will be on the first come, first served basis. The cost is $60.00 per person. A deposit of $20.00 is required to reserve a place. This is sponsored by the Asbury Church, so please make checks payable to the church.

Last Saturday evening, Mrs. Anna Hammond was hostess to a surprise birthday party honoring the 84th birthday of Oliver Williams. It was held at the Milford Manor Nursing Home where Oliver is a patient. Relatives and friends attended.

Last Sunday, Mrs. Madeline Quillen, Houston, and Mrs. Gladys Hood, Mrs. Clara Harrington and Mrs. Joyce Quillen of Lincoln attended Open House at Rev. and Mrs. James Van Der Wall's new home in Millsboro. They had a tour of the house and church. Mrs. Hood is the mother of Mrs. Van Der Wall.

Thought for the week:

We have a friend who'll never leave,
Who's closer than a brother;
He's there to meet our deepest needs.
To comfort like no other.

Pilgrim Chapel News

Vacation Bible School is over and enough cannot be said about the pleasure it brought to so many. Though it was a learning experience, it was a fun experience too. The rooms were decorated in sync with theme, also the refreshments and crafts in sync with the theme. For the young and once young - a great fellowship.

Believing in the Silent God, Eunice Hughes introduced us to the good and bad, right and wrong, the wonderful candid realism in the Old Testament. There was Job, he feared God, loved his neighbor, did good deeds, had the right creeds, led a good life, had a good wife -- suddenly, good-bye! good grief! Job suffered - lost everything. Then as in today's world some people thought that he had some hidden sin and this was his punishment. When bad things happen to us it is time to look at our lives, reflect, pray, and open our hearts to God. Try not to reason or pin down a cause as this only brings doubt and confusion. Do not listen to advise from friends or accusing attacks of our enemy. We should pray and worship and repent and submit and trust God. Not only should we talk about God but we should talk to Him. He is real! Have a fellowship with the real God.

We recognize when we suffer to face facts including virtue that is unpraised, morality that is unrecognized, suffering that is unexplained and a God who is sometimes silent.

Garold Sherwood led us to sing "Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah," "Trust and Obey," and "Spirit of The Loving God." Leon Smith gave personal testimony and the opening prayer. The Choir presented their ministry, "Christian Fountain."

Commandments as our boundaries and they are in two parts. They say to us to love the Lord they God above all and to love thy neighbor. This is a foundation and has a strong impact on our daily lives. It erases the moral fog as we view the negative and positive side of Gods' command. We can meet these demands by having a relationship with God.

Every person needs a confrontation with the law. We have to have infallible fear in His holiness. In truth we must cry out for a mentor. Jesus said in part "I AM THE WAY - NO MAN COMES TO GOD BUT BY ME." We must accept Jesus as our personal mentor and love Him. We are not worthy of the rewards without Jesus.

My commentary of the sermons at Pilgrim Chapel are inadequate and do not do justice to the Bible teachings nor to Rev. Scott's presentations. Feel free to accept our invitation to come hear a young man preach the stories of old from the Holy Bible.

Our Prayer this week is that we are able to reach out to each small hand and show them WHO the mentor is and lead their way.

Our Thought is that to stand up to any challenge, we must spend time on our knees.

Prospect United Methodist Church News

"And there arose a great storm of wind and the waves beat into the ship, so that it was now full." Mark 4:37

Rev. James Carmean Jr. is the minister at Prospect Church which is located five miles west of Harrington on Route 14, in Vernon.

Mary Lou Wright is the pianist. We invite you to worship with us. We have Sunday School for all ages at 8:45 a.m. and the Worship Service is at 9:45 a.m.

On Sunday, Aug. 17, Geneva Greenly was the greeter and Jonny Woodward was the candlelighter. The choir sang "I Was Glad" and "We Talk It Over." Jane Everline prayed the Offertory Prayer and Earl Everline and Albert Wright were ushers.

Russell Legates told the children a story. On a rainy afternoon two children decided to play a game. The boy was going to be Noah and the girl was Mrs. Noah. They found an old cardboard box and decided that would make a neat ark. They filled the box with some of their toy animals. Then they thought the bathtub would be an ideal place to put the box. They win into the bathroom and tuned the light off, meaning the sun had gone down, then put the "ark" in the bathtub and turned on the shower.

After it had "rained" for awhile they turned the shower off. After the "ark" had floated for awhile they turned the light back on, meaning the sun was shining. Then they pulled the plug in the tub and the water went down.

Then they decided the best place to offer a sacrifice to God was the stove. The little boy reached in the box and pulled out an animal, but the little girl said no, she couldn't part with that one and they didn't want to part with any of their toy animals. Finally, the little girl ran up to the attic and found a toy lamb. It was dirty, had no tail, missing one leg and its head was smashed. That was their gift to God, something they did not want. God gives us everything and He deserved the very best from us.

Rev. Carmean's sermon was titled, "Filled Up." He read scripture from Mark 4: 35-37. There are times in our life when storms of life come knocking on our door and we become frightened. A great storm was going on and the waves rose into the ship and it was now full. Those on the boat were fearful for their lives. Sometimes today we get filled up with our troubles and don't know which way to turn. We can always turn to Jesus who can help us and can heal a broken heart. Jesus has the storms of life under control, when we turn to Him for help. Jesus gave His life that we might have life. Sometimes we think our boat is sing, but we must let God take over and help us just like He calmed the wind and the sea for those in the boat in Mark 4:35-37

"In Mercy and Truth atonement is provided for iniquity; and by the fear of the Lord one departs from evil." Proverbs 16:6

"He who heeds the word wisely will find good, and whoever trusts in the Lord, happy is he." Proverbs 10:20

Pastor Bob Good and the congregation of the Harrington Baptist Church invite anyone who doesn't have a local church to worship our Lord and Savior in, and to know the sweet Christian fellowship of studying the scriptures, singing hymns of praise and just giving glory and praise to our Sovereign God, to come and join us each week.

Only the born again Christian can understand what the verses above mean and can claim all the promises of God, written in His Holy Word, the Bible.

There is only one way to heaven and that is thought the Lord Jesus Christ. We must confess our sins and our own inability to help ourselves to do anything pleasing to Christ. Only born again Christians can do that and it is only our faith, belief and trust in Him that opens the door to the salvation provided for us on the cross.

Our church is located on East Liberty Street, across from the Armory. Our phone number is 398-3373. Everyone is welcome. Sunday morning nursery is provided.

Opportunities for the Week:
Sunday School for all ages 9:45 a.m.

Sunday Worship Services at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Children's Bible time with Pastor Bob is at 11:10 a.m.

Junior Watches 5 p.m. and Youth Watches at 6 p.m.

Wednesday Prayer Services and Bible Study is 6:30 and 7 p.m.

Thought for the Week:
God is inescapable, embrace Him now or face Him in judgement later.

Independent Bible Fellowship Church

On Sunday, August 10, Pastor Simpson continued his messages of the Fruits of the Spirits. His message was titled "The Root & Fruit of Joy", and the text was taken from Galatians 5:22.

We cannot obtain the Fruits of the Spirit by any means of our own. When we humble ourselves before Christ, repent of our sins and believe in Him and His finished work at Calvary -- we then become one of His own. As one of His own, He begins to work in us through the power of the Holy Spirit. Galatians 5:22 says, "But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith."

Pastor Simpson focused on joy this week. Something the world longs for. The world often confuses true genuine joy with a happy feeling that lasts temporarily through material possession, through success financially or by position, etc. There is a joy that is so genuine, it is lasting--not temporary, and it is obtainable. However, this genuine, lasting joy is of the Spirit of God--not by any means of man at all.

In our hymn book we find hymns that often speak of this joy. "In the Garden" speaks of personal, private communion with Christ. When you meditate upon the scripture and spend time alone with Christ in prayer--there is a joy that is shared between only you and Christ alone.

As Christians, are we experiencing this fruit of the Spirit, joy? Do we truly know Christ or is He a stranger to us? Do we try to push God into our own time whenever it fits? Or do we set aside time each day to spend time with Him and get to know Him through scripture reading and prayer?

As Christians, the joy we should experience can be hindered by not spending any time at all in prayer or in the scriptures, or by doing, looking at, or listening to things that contradict the Scriptures, or by unconfessed sin.

An example of this joy is found in Acts 16:23-25. Paul and Silas were beat and were thrown into prison. Even under these harsh, painful circumstances in verse 25 it says that at midnight they prayed and sang praises unto God. In verse 30 we see that the keeper of the prison was so impressed by their testimony that he desired to be saved.

Others are watching us when they know they are in the presence of a Christian. They are watching and listening to how we react to situations and how we conduct ourselves. Are we reflecting that inner, genuine joy we can only obtain from Christ? They too may desire what our testimony reflects and may ask, "what must I do to be saved?"

Pastor Simpson concluded his message by showing us different ways we may obtain this joy. By faithful service for the Lord, living for the Lord daily in all we do and say, through personal private communion with Him through prayer and scripture reading, by confessing our sins daily.

We welcome you to come and worship the Lord Jesus Christ with us. We are located on Rt. 14, Milford-Harrington Hwy., east of Harrington.

Sunday Services: Sunday School for all ages 10 a.m.; Sunday Worship service 11 a.m.; Evening Service 7 p.m.

Wednesday Services: Bible Study and Prayer Service, Youth and Children's meetings 7 p.m. (Nursery provided for all services.)

Trinity United Methodist Church, 63 Commerce Street, Harrington. Rev. James E. Carmean Jr. is the Pastor. (302) 398-3843. Sunday School for all ages 10 a.m. and Worship Service is at 11 a.m.

Mrs. Evelyn Lare was our friendly greeter for Sunday, August 17. Master Michael Smith and Miss Nochole Smith serves as Acolytes. Mr. John Kanoy and Mr. Winston Linton were ushers. Mr. Samuel Powell Sr. was the head usher.

Rev. Carmean spoke of the parables of the Kingdom, and selected Mark 4:35-37 for his sermon "Storms of Life." The day when evening came, Jesus said to his disciples, "Let us over to the other side." The Territory of Galilee to the Region of Gerasenes. The disciples took him along, and suddenly a furious squall came up, and the waves broke over the boat, so that it was nearly swamped. They were situated in a basin surrounded by mountains.

Trinity U.M. Church

The sea of Galilee is particularly susceptible to sudden, violent storms. Cool air from the Mediterranean is drawn down through the narrow mountain passes and clashes with the hot, humid air lying over the lake.

When the storms of life are raging about, continue to pray that He will stand by your regardless of the situation. Have faith in the Master!

Live your faith each day in ways that show your love for God by:

1. Discovering God's purposes for your life and work.
2. Expressing your beliefs each day by acting according to Christ's example.
3. Loving God, yourself and others in the same way Jesus loved.

On August 24th plan to attend the picnic at Camp Pecometh following the Morning Worship Service.

Cross Country camp held at Killen's Pond

By Keith S. Burgess

Holly Wilson and Andrea Wyatt, the "W" squad are local multi-sport athletes who ran very well in the grades 9-12 cross-country camp held at Killen's Pond State Park last week.

Wilson had taken part in the 3-8 camp the previous week and despite a recent bout with bronchitis finished third behind two boys in the camp's finale a two mile run.

Holly is only 13 and will be an 8th-grader at W.T. Chipman next month. As a 7th grader, she won the 7th-8th grade's state cross-country championship in Wilmington last fall.

She did with only three meets under her belt since she was a hockey player which kept her away from most practices and dual meets. The Wilmington CYO 7th-8th graders compete in multi-team meets from August to November and have much more practice and competitive mileage under their bets by state meet time.

But they couldn't pack with the tall 7th grader from Skeeter Neck Road.

A very smart move saw Wilson show up, again for the 9-12 camp. Though only 8th grader she is much too good already not to take advantage of the excellent high school coaching she received from Monday through Friday.

Friday's 5K run was held over the same course on which the state meet is contested every other year. Twenty-eight boys and girls from several Kent-Sussex high schools completed the course in hot, humid weather. Polytech Ken Jones was the winner. After Seaford and Laurel boys came Cape's Mark Redden, a lad with Harrington roots. Three Redden boys ran cross-country for Harrington High School.

In 5th place was the first lady, Seaford sophomore, Kristin Irwin, who ran two miles in under 12 minutes when she finished second to a Padua senior, Laurel Carr, in May's state track meet. Next was Caesar Rodney sophomore, Miriam Po, who is starting her 4th running season.

A SussexCentral lad was 7th and next was Holly Wilson, the only non-high schooler. She was just 13 seconds behind Po, as she beat all the girls but two and all of the boys but five.

On an age-for-age basis, she has to be considered along with Irwin, as the two best prospects there of either sex.

One of the most courageous athletes there would have to be Andrea Wyatt. She will be a freshman at Lake Forest High School this fall.

She is one of the most inexperienced of the 28 Friday harriers, yet she came in 13th and beat a goodly number of girls who were varsity letter winners at several schools and also outpaced some all-conference runners.

Wyatt's first 5,000 meter clocking was from five (5) to seven minutes faster than the average freshman's first clocking. Girls' turnout for the Spartan varsity is one of the sparsest in years. This would be a great chance to win a varsity letter for any Lake Forest High School girls who should try cross-country Remember, Spartan girls have twice been state champions in the 90s.

Swim team sets meet records at Invitational

A small group of Lake Forest Community Swim Team members traveled to Sho'men Aquatics pool on July 12 to participate in the Arby's-Pepsi Invitational. They brought home 3 new Meet records, 26 medals and 7 ribbons.

Competing in the 8-9 Girls age group, Becky Ewing claimed her meet record with a time of 44.97 in the 50 y Breaststroke. She also earned a 3rd place medal in the 100 y IM, a 4th place ribbon in the 50 y Freestyle, and a 6th place ribbon in the 50 y Butterfly. Morgan Davis had a consistent day as she received 2nd place medals for the 100 y IM, 50 y Butterfly, 50 y Freestyle, and 50 y Backstroke.

Michele McKenzie won the 200 y Freestyle, the 500 y Freestyle, the 200 y IM and took 2nd in the 100 y Backstroke in the 14-15 Girls age group. Jennifer Campanicki earned 2nd place medals for the 100 y Freestyle and the 500 y Freestyle, as well as a 3rd place medal for the 200 y Freestyle.

For the 14-15 Boys age group, Orion Thomas garnered a 3rd place medal for the 100 y Breaststroke, a 4th place ribbon for the 100 y Freestyle, and a 6th place ribbon for the 100 y Backstroke.

Amie Campanicki set her meet record in the 200 y Freestyle with a time of 2:07.58 in the 16-18 Girls age group. She also earned a 1st place medal for the 100 y Breaststroke, a 2nd place medal for the 100 y Freestyle, and a 3rd place medal for the 200 y IM. Corey Dennis got her record time of 1:04.69 in the 100 y Butterfly before claiming 1st place honors in both the 200 y IM and the 500 y Freestyle. Dennis also added a 2nd place medal in the 100 y Backstroke.

In the 16-18 Boys age group, Mike VanSant brought home a 2nd place medal in the 100 y Freestyle, a 4th place ribbon in the 100 y Butterfly, and a 5th place ribbon in the 100 y Backstroke.

BACK PAIN

Back pain is the most common complaint of individuals who visit an orthopedic surgeon. Three-quarters of the population will be affected with low back pain at some point in their lives. A recent health survey polled Americans on what health problems they fear most. The replies showed that sixty percent had concerns over cancer, followed by back pain at fifty-four percent and heart disease at forty-nine percent.

Anatomically, the human race is predisposed to back problems by virtue of its upright posture. The basic design was intended for four legged ambulation. The low back must bear the brunt of the body's weight. That, combined with the ever increasing stress of daily living, poor posture, lack of regular exercise, and over eating spells doom for many people. By watching your weight and keeping the muscles surrounding your spine strong and flexible, the three natural curves of your back can be maintained in their normal, balanced alignment. Remember to maintain good back mechanics. Don't bend over with legs straight or twist while lifting. Avoid standing in one position for extended periods and slumping. Replace sagging, non-supportive mattresses.

'A term in a reformatory is needed'

For a 9-year-old to break the law by walking in the middle of the street and then to show such contempt to a police officer by mooning him is terrible. A term in a reformatory is needed for a child like this. This disrespect for the law must be taught by parents. And the man who interfered and resisted arrest should get at least six months in prison. 'Officers have been doing their jobs'
I had no sympathy whatsoever for the man in Harrington who was wondering around at 5 a.m. with a pellet gun, whether it was broken or not. Who does he think he is - the town sheriff? He has no business walking around with a broken pistol or anything else that he can use to threaten someone with. He's damned lucky he hasn't been shot, and I don't know why he was never arrested before. The police officer was completely right to do what he did. What gives him the idea he can walk around a shopping center at that early hour but nobody else is supposed to? If I'd been the arresting officer, I believe I would've had to charge him. I know a lot of us have complaints about the Harrington police, and it usually comes from people who have received speeding tickets from our famous speed trap. But I think that in recent incidents, police officers have been doing their jobs and doing them correctly. When there has been any complaint - especially calls that have come in to Sound Off, Chief Melvin has always given a response and asked people to call him so things could be straightened out. He doesn't act like a lot of other people, saying he doesn't have any comment.

'How would you feel?'
