Youth center gets new director

By Carol Ann Porter, Editor

It's a family affair for the Legates family of Harrington when it comes to Harrington's youth center. David Sr. and his wife, Rhonda, have both volunteered at "Our Place" for quite a while now, and their two children, David Jr., 13, and Heather, 12, are both members.

Recently hired as the center's director, Rhonda said she has put her parenting skills to good use so far. "I have always enjoyed working with kids," said Rhonda. "And my husband and I have always supported this youth center," she said.

Rhonda also works for the Lake Forest School District in child nutrition so she feels that her experience with students at school will help her as director of the youth

She would like to see the numbers grow at the center. Now averaging 12 youngsters a day, Rhonda one-on-one relationship with some of the youth.

Rhonda said the center has so much to offer to kids. There's foose ball, pool, a computer, indoor and outdoor basketball, ski ball, air hockey, three arcade games, two

Right now, Rhonda has a membership drive underway. She would like to see the center full during the summer months. As an incentive to get more members, Rhonda offers the ideas of making new friends and playing with old friends. "There are trips, parties, games and Dues per child for a year is only $10 or $30 per family. If your child is willing to donate 10 hours of work to the center, their membership will cost them nothing.

Rhonda said that most of the youngsters that attend the center are very well-behaved. "Some of the things I won't tolerate are hitting, profanity, and racial slurs" said Rhonda.

There are usually volunteers at the center to help Rhonda. Her husband comes in after work and goes directly to the basketball court out back to help get teams ready for tournaments.

Her son has taught several of the other youngsters how to play chess, and there's a chess tournament planned for the future.

Other parents such as Bob Farmer, Anna Plummer and Lynn Thompson can usually be found at

She also typed up a small home-town newspaper on her toy typewriter and distributed it throughout her neighborhood. Mrs. Chick said these childhood experiences are what probably lead her to volunteer for so many organizations.

For the second year in a row, Mrs. Chick is among 25 people to receive the very prestigious Governor's Outstanding Volunteer Award presented at the Dover Sheraton Inn in Dover last Thursday evening. Governor Thomas R. Carper announced the recipients during a dinner last Thursday night. Awards were presented to those persons and organizations who best exemplified the spirit of volunteerism.

Debra Singletary, CEO of Delmarva Rural Ministries nominated Mrs. Chick for this award and said, "It is clear that Linda Chick does not merely participate in improving the lives of others, she leads. She does not merely give of herself, she inspires others to give as well. She does not merely touch others' lives, she forever changes them. As one colleague wrote, Linda Chick does not merely talk the talk of volunteerism, she walks

In 1992, Mrs. Chick co-founded and serves as sponsor of People Helping People, a non-profit organization that helps motivate people towards self-sufficiency. In 1994, Delmarva Rural Ministries unveiled the Mobile Access to Community Health (MATCH) van to provide health care and education to the neediest communities of Kent and Sussex counties. Ultimately, the MATCH van would be successful only if the people in those communities knew of the van's availability.

Mrs. Chick attended the van's unveiling ceremonies and asked if she could help inform those who needed the van's services. She generously donated her time and services of her business, Graphics Unlimited, to design and print a monthly bilingual schedule of the

In December, Mrs. Chick became the first to receive Delmarva Rural Ministries' Daniel S. Kuennen Volunteer of the Year

Mrs. Singletary said that if Linda Chick had done nothing more for the people of central and southern Delaware than to give her time and talents to support the MATCH van, she would be a worthy recipient of this award. "However, Mrs. Chick's contributions of our state's quality of life go well beyond this single, yet ongoing contribution.

Dee Sewell, president of People Helping People and a resident of Harrington said, "While I believe that the qualities and contributions enumerated thus far merit the prestigious Governor's Outstanding Volunteer Award, they are secondary to what I see as Mrs. Chick's greatest gift to us - her ability to inspire families and communities to dream about what could be and then take action to realize these dreams."

In a recent interview, Linda Chick was asked why she gets so involved with organizations. "I've always wanted to help," she said. "I suppose my mother got me started." She recalls her mother always taking people to appointments, picking them up and taking them to vote or just helping in any way.

"I guess I never think about why I do it. I just do it," she said. "I always liked working on projects, always enjoyed working with people," she said. "I love people, and I love to see results from something I've done.'

Referendum fails again

By Delarita C. Ford, Associate staff writer

Another vote, another loss. The Lake Forest School District failed again last week in its attempt for a capital-improvement referendum, 1,361-1,129.

"We knew it was going to be close. . . a couple hundred votes was pretty close," said Donald L. Brown, board president.

"We're going to continue to educate the kids; obviously, we haven't been able to educate the parents," Mr. Brown said.

Harlan R. Blades III, board member and district spokesman, said although he was not surprised at the results, he was optimistic and

"It's a hard job to convince people that this is more than raising taxes," Mr. Blades said, noting that it would have only cost people an extra dollar a week.

He said the buildings are so overcrowded, though, that they are on the verge of being unsafe. "Corrective action is going to have to be taken," Mr. Blades said. Mr. Brown said the district is going to have to look at other options of housing the students in an overcrowded situation and to accommodate for the buildings that need repair. He said every nook and cranny is being used for space, and that buildings are filled to capacity with an overflow of students. "It will mean a world of things. We will have to put some longrange options in process," Mr.

Brown said. Some of those options discussed at a recent board meeting included having split sessions at the middle and high school, sending sixthgraders back to elementary school to be taught, and renting space at area churches.

Mr. Brown said although students' test scores recently increase, that could be jeopardized and take a turn for the worse if students are not given adequate learning space

"Class sizes will go up and student learning will go down. Testing may be set back," Mr. Brown said.

Doris Green not only hoped the vote would be favorable for the children who attend the schools in the district, but for her two children who teach at W.T. Chipman

"That school needs so much done; all of them do," Mrs. Green

Harrington Raceway revamped

By Carol Ann Porter,

It's a sure bet that racing at Harrington Raceway will begin on Sunday, May 3, and it's also a sure bet that you'll enjoy the live and simulcast racing this year more than ever. From a new betting parlor and sports bar to the new dining room and kitchen facilities, no holds have been barred when it comes to pleasing the customer.

According to Karen Craft, general manager of the Harrington Raceway, renovations are underway and completion of the betting parlor and sports bar should be as soon as May 17. The dining room and banquet-type kitchen facilities will be completed the first week of June and will offer cuisine to satisfy any palate.

Ms. Craft said that moving the betting parlor from the casino to the grandstand freed up space at Midway Slots and Simulcast for 122 more slot machines.

The new simulcast area, which includes racing of thoroughbreds and standardbreds, will now be housed on the east side of the grandstand. There will be a smoking and non-smoking area and even a "high rollers" area, depending on

Lake Forest gets new superintendent

By Carol Ann Porter, Editor

It was announced at last Thursday night's Board of Education meeting that Dr. Richard A. Seyler has been named Lake Forest School District's Superintendent of Schools.

Dr. Seyler, 51, who lives on the Andrews Lake Road, is not a newcomer to the Lake Forest School District. He worked for the district for 20 years from 1972 to 1992.

He served as assistant principal at Lake Forest North Elementary School in Felton for 1 1/2 years and then moved to Lake Forest East Elementary School in Frederica where he served as principal for 18

He said he felt very good about being named superintendent. "I'm coming back to a lot of the people I worked with," said Dr. Seyler.
"And now I'll be coming back as superintendent. That's a warm feel-

Dr. Seyler will be leaving the Smyrna School District, where he has been serving as Supervisor of Curriculum, and will be on board at Lake Forest effective June 1.

Dr. Seyler said he's coming back to the Lake Forest School District with the idea of helping in a healing process.

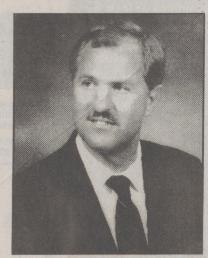

"I know the district has failed to pass several referendums," said Dr. Seyler. "I'm not quite sure what the problems are at Lake Forest, but I'm going to make every effort to get to the bottom of this. What's very important here is to restore unity that was once in the district,'

Dr. Seyler went on to say that he will be talking to people of all levels and then afterwards he will put a plan into action that will reflect those concerns of the entire district. "So that should give me a jump start," he said.

Dr. Seyler is married and has two children, Brent, a senior at Delaware State College majoring in elementary education, and a daughter, Jennifer, who is in banking. Both Dr. Seyler's children graduated from Lake Forest High School.

"We're probably the only facility in Kent and Sussex counties with an escalator," said Ms. Craft. And to add to the ease of the escalator which offers easy-accessibility to the grandstand, there is now a brand new elevator. Seating for well over 300 people will be available in the new dining area. And to add to your dining pleasure, there will be people walking around with "ultimas" or portable betting machines to take your bets.

One of the nicest additions said Ms. Craft, is the new plaza where the Smith Building once stood. It will be well-lit and pedestriantiendly, a nice socializing and congregating area filled with benches.

According to Bill DiMondi, president of the raceway, the grandstand is not the only facility at the fairgrounds getting revamped.

Mr. DiMondi is excited about a brand new commercial exhibitors building south of the administration building where the Moose lunch stand was once located. "It will be air-conditioned and will house the culinary department, flower department and commercial exhibitors

Chief Melvin bids community farewell

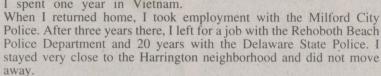

To all the great citizens of the city of Harrington:

Thanks for letting me serve you. Over the last 10 years, you and I have come a long way. Yes, I have been the police chief and acting city manager at times. I attribute my success to all of you citizens. A person can be in a position of authority, however, to be successful, it takes total cooperation of the people who have given that authority. For that I thank you.

I was born in a house on a dead end street in Harrington, now called Simmons St. As I grew up in Harrington, I learned to love the town and its citizens. I developed an interest in helping to develop the future when I was a teenager.

At 19, I went into the Army for three years. During that time, I spent one year in Vietnam.

Frank G. Melvin Jr.

It has been very important to be near the citizens that I care about the most. I was excited about being hired as the police chief of our city. However, it was definitely more of a challenge than I expected.

At first, I was challenged with some of the immediate problems that were presented. We had only three of us to do the job. I think people had just shut their doors and took care of their own problems. I don't think they had confidence in their police department.

They didn't report problems as they thought nothing would be done. A partnership was formed by the police department and the citizens. Then we found that we were about a half million dollars in debt. But, with that and all of the other problems, we didn't give up. By working together as a community, I think we developed something that shows a lot of class. As we started rebuilding, we took our time and gathered the finest employees any government could ever expect.

At the same time, we as employees were fortunate to have the finest of people chosen to become part of the city government. That mesh of super people has brought the city of Harrington to the front of respect by our peers. I have a great fondness for the police family that I am so fortunate to have become a part of.

You can be sure that your lives are in the most capable hands. I have never seen a finer group of people. Please take time to get to know them. You will then know what I am saying is true.

I am scheduled for a third operation on my back at Johns Hopkins

Hospital in the near future. I have a good feeling that will fix my problem. I hope to return to some type of public service.

Thank you for being my friends. I am looking forward to that friendship for the rest of my life, and I look forward to serving you in the future.

Frank G .Melvin Jr., Chief of Police

KIDS COUNT in Delaware is an annual report tracking ten indicators and providing a snapshot of our youth. The data are compiled from a variety of sources by the University of Delaware. Indicators cover a broad array of issues spanning developmental stages from infant to young adult. They include births to teens; low birth weight babies; infant mortality; child deaths; teen deaths by accident, homicide and suicide; juvenile violent crime arrests; high school dropouts; teens not in the labor force and not in school; children in poverty and children in one-parent households. Information is gathered in each state and analyzed to discern trends within the states and across the United States.

This year's KIDS COUNT in Delaware finds improvement in the infant mortality rate; child death rate; teen deaths by accident, homicide and suicide; high school dropouts; and teens not in school and not in the labor force. The percentage of children in poverty is below the national average, but rising within the state. Of concern are the increasing rate of births to teens, juvenile violent crime arrests, low birth weight babies, and children in one-parent households.

Percentages are based on 1995 figures released by the U.S. Census Bureau. Delaware's population is estimated at 714,403; 39.4% are children 19 and under. Data is also included for Delaware's three counties and is broken down by race, and in some instances by education; income level and marital status.

Our most populace county, New Castle, is home to 65.2% of the population; Kent County 16.9% and Sussex 17.8%. Just over half (51.3%) are female; 81.1% are white.

Births to Teens 15-17

The most alarming statistic is the birth rate for teens. This was found to be 43.0 per 1000 for girls ages 15-17. This is significantly higher than the national average of 37.6. Sussex County has the highest birth rate for this age group.

Research shows that teenage mothers are more likely to live in poverty, to be on welfare and to be high school dropouts. Their babies are more likely to be in poor health, have learning and behavior problems, live in poverty, go to prison and become teenage parents themselves. Clearly we are failing our young women. Pilgrim Chapel Church News

Because we choose to pray and allow God to guide our decisions does not guarantee that we will not experience sickness even unto death. This will come to each of us and to those we love. God has a plan. He wants to be involved in every aspect of our life, the good and the bad. Trouble and joy, success and sickness should be part of our conversations with God. We invite His Lordship to our experience and our response. We, in prayer, invite Him to order the situation - and ourselves - according to His will. Our prayers should be for more than this week's prayer list, our prayer should be an important part of the fabric of the life of the community which includes sickness and happiness. Continual prayer brings everything into God's presence and welcomes His per-

God's "agenda" is often not the same as ours, it is infinitely superior to our own. No problem is too great nor too small. Our prayer specifically includes confession as we humble ourselves before God. As we kneel in prayer we are giving a physical demonstration of our confessions - our inadequacy in the presence of His perfection. We love God and as we pray our faith grows. God has power. God's character determines how that power is exercised. Our faith in God's love gives us confidence, though our own judgement is limited and inac-

Today the title of the lesson was "Prayer and Healing" from the scripture of James 5:13-18 and Corinthians 12:7-10. Take a look around you and witness the power of prayer, things are happening due to prayer. God takes care of us and we never have a burden too heavy to carry. He is our comfort and our too we give a physical demonstration of our beliefs and set examples for others to see the benefits. Rev. Scott is available to you to show the way. He can be reached by calling 398-9344 or 684-4301. Those who think they don't need church don't think much of the one who founded it. Knowing that you can pray in a closet - God hears praying in church is the greatest act for rewards that there is. Each of us needs Bible study, praying, service and witnessing, and fellowship in a good church. Enjoy a well rounded spiritual life.

"If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you." (John 15:7)

Rev. James Carmean Jr. is the minister at Prospect Church, which is located five miles west of Harrington on Route 14 in Vernon. We invite you to worship with us. We have Sunday School at 8:45 a.m. and the worship service is at 9:45 a.m. Mary Lou Wright is the pianist, Vivian Newnam is organ-

On Sunday, April 26, Julie Camper was greeter and Jonny Woodward was acolyte. The introit by the choir was "We Have Come Into His House". For the anthem the choir sang "Because He lives". Leah Wheeler prayed the offertory prayer and Leroy Wheeler and Herman Zeitler were ushers.

Rev. Carmean talked to the children about Band-aids. Back in 1920, Earl had just gotten married. When his wife started to learn to cook she kept burning herself. All the bandages that were made at that time were large ones. Earl thought about that and he made a smaller one for his wife to use and it helped to heal the hurt. God helped us heal our hurts by sending His son, Jesus to pray with us and for us and to be everpresent with

Rev. Carmean read a letter from the Bishop concerning the uniting in marriage of homosexuals. Ceremonies should not be conducted by Methodist ministers that unite 2 people of the same sex. He also said God's grace is available to all.

Everything our ancestors have worked for, is being taken away from us, our heritage is being undermined. We have worked hard for our church and we should not let it be taken away from us. Over five million members of Methodist churches have been lost. We must

The Worst Time To Arrange Funeral

It may sound strange, but the worst time to make a funeral arrangement is when a family member has just died.

We believe that surviving family members should be spared the heavy burden of making funeral arrangements immediately after a death has occurred. That's why we stand ready to help you plan and fund a funeral long before the need arises. You can make most of the important decisions while time pressures and emotional stress are not so overwhelming.

Through a funded prearranged funeral program, you can set aside money to pay for a funeral in the future. And your family will be protected from future inflation and funeral costs. Call or come by to discuss funeral prearrangement... a caring thing to do for your family's peace of mind, and your own.

Our culture is fading

We have all of these different foreign people coming to our shores. We are welcoming them to our schools, to our work place, to our homes, and giving them our homes to live in. Our government is telling us that we can't keep our American heritage. Everybody can come here, they have a right to change our American heritage to every other heritage in the whole world. They keep their own, the homeland they came from, and America has to change. I think if they can't come here and adapt, and allow the American heritage to survive, they should stay where they came from. I think Americans have every right to keep the heritage they have developed. They have a heritage that started freedom in the world. There was not freedom in the world until a little over 200 years ago, when people came here and created freedom for the whole world to take up. Why does the government now expect the American heritage to take up every other culture in the world? We're creating people, telling them they have a right to come here and change America to the culture they came from. I don't think that's right and we need to give more thought to it.

Let's get rid of gambling

Maybe it's time we stopped and think about slots. Maybe it's time we get rid of them. The money that it generates goes to individuals and corporations out of state. It's not helping that much in our taxes, and it's creating people with gambling problems who are wasting the family's money at these places. So, why don't we stop and think getting rid of the gambling all together. Let other people deal with gambling problems. It's not really helping our citizens at all.

How did this happen?

I have to agree with the caller about how the Unite States has changed and has allowed their children to be, as they say, tortured, abused, and murdered. Somehow, the sympathy goes to the perpetrator and they are given just a slap on the wrist. This is not the American way. Whoever has taken over our judicial system and allowed these things to happen to children and then allow these adults to only go to jail for a year or two, should be run out of office. Who are the people who have changed America this way? Our children should be protected. They are our future. They are our most precious product as a color says. We need to get rid of the politicians who have put these judges in place and who have created these warped laws that allow adults to do these things to children. It is not right and it's unfair. This was not the way America was, even 20 or 30 years ago.

Social security is for seniors

I'm a senior citizen who has been reading the Sound Off and I agree that the people who have put their lives on the line for the military should not be cheated by the government. Military people have done their part, now the government needs do theirs to help save social security. I'm disgusted. I see a lot of senior citizens signing papers to take legal adoption of their own grandchildren and claiming them and getting benefits through social security. I think this is completely wrong. Families should take care of their children and not expect social security to do it and I don't think social security should pay for any adult over 45 bringing children into the world. Save social security for the elderly people who need it and whom it was meant to serve. It's not for people who just want to use it for their own benefit to get more dollars from the average working person and to their family. Let them go out and plan for it like responsible working people do.
