HOW to SEW By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

Why Not Fix Those Sagging Springs?

SPRINGS in furniture seldom break. The twine that holds them does break and webbing wears out throwing the springs out of position.

To set the springs you will need a ball of twine and a needle such as used by the upholsterer, enough webbing to replace the old, tacks 1/4-inch long with large heads, a block of wood for stretching the webbing, a tack hammer and a tack lifter. Remove the cover from the seat carefully so that it may either be used again or serve as a pattern.

Remove the springs and all old tacks. Tack the first strip of webbing to one edge of the bottom of the frame, letting the end extend 1/2 inch beyond the edge, then fold the end over the first tacks and tack again as at A. Draw the webbing across the frame using the block of wood as a lever to stretch webbing taut as at B. When all the strips have been stretched and tacked across the frame one way, stretch strips of webbing across the other way weaving these over and under the first ones as at C. Now, sew the bottom of each spring to the webbing with the upholsterer's twine and curved needle as shown in this diagram.

Next, turn the frame right side up, drive tacks part way in along the edges; then tie the springs across each way with upholsterer's twine as shown in diagram C. The twine is tied to the tacks

HELP KIDNEYS
To Get Rid of Acid and Poisonous Waste
Your kidneys help to keep you well by constantly filtering waste matter from the blood. If your kidneys get functionally disordered and fail to remove excess impurities, there may be poisoning of the whole system and body-wide distress.
Burning, scanty or too frequent urination may be a warning of some kidney or bladder disturbance.
You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.
In such case it is better to rely on a medicine that has won country-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Use Doan's Pills. A multitude of grateful people recommend Doan's. Ask your druggist!

A Missouri editor recently received a letter from a subscriber enclosing a check for renewal of subscription, and a statement that he did not charge enough for his paper. Hospital authorities report the editor will be as good as new in a few days.

The Harrington Rotary Club seems to be in a fair way to have charge of the educational affairs of the state. Jacob Messner, a member of the club, is president of the State Educational Association, while Archie Feagan, another member of the club, is president of the Kent County Educational Association, and Mrs. Jean Greenlee, pianist of the Harrington Rotary Club, is secretary-treasurer of the Kent County Educational Association.

Adolph Hitler has banned Rotary Clubs in Austria, just as he did in Germany. Rotary works for international peace—and Mr. Hitler doesn't like that idea.

Some two or three years ago the owners of radios became disgusted at hearing, day after day, a rehash of the same vaudeville jokes that had killed vaudeville. But since these entertainers had been big names in vaudeville, and the programs were broadcast from NEW YORK—the radio moguls figured that they were giving the public a rare treat. The public made no effort to stifle an indifferent yawn over the archaic jokes and began sending in thousands of protests. Panic seized the radio authorities and they summoned the master minds of the organizations in an effort to avert disaster. These profound intellects pondered long, but not wisely, and finally solved the problem—to their own satisfaction—by using the same old jokes, the same old entertainers, with a few new flappers and a few new movie "names"—but broadcasting from HOLLYWOOD! Thus was everybody satisfied—except the public.

DELAWAREANS LIVING LONGER THAN FORMERLY

The average Delawarean lived seven years longer in 1936 than in 1926, the number of deaths from tuberculosis during the year was the smallest ever reported, and the total number of deaths from communicable diseases was the lowest ever recorded, according to the annual report of the Delaware State Board of Health for the years 1936-37.

The number of deaths from tuberculosis—124—is less than half the number reported ten years ago, and, according to the report of Dr. A. C. Jost, Executive Secretary, "gives hope for still greater improvement in years to come." The six communicable diseases, typhoid fever, measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, diphtheria and influenza, caused only 65 deaths, as compared to 187 in 1926.

But the record of the period has a dark side as well, for there appears rising death rates for the degenerative diseases: "Cancer deaths increased in number so that for the first time in any one year over 300 deaths were recorded. Cancer is now the second and most deadly disease, so far as the white section of our population is concerned." The death rates from diabetes and diseases of the heart also continued to increase.

The birth rates for the state continue to drop, and so few points separate the birth and death rates of the state "that it is doubtful if, without immigration, the population can be expected to maintain the rate of gain of former years. This condition affects the health problems of the state, as it is bound before many years to have far reaching social and economic effects."

Increase in the number of cases of communicable diseases, in all portions of the state except Kent county attained a total of 4785 for the period. This was largely due to there being reported more cases of measles, mumps, venereal diseases and whooping cough. On the other hand, scarlet fever was not so prevalent and tuberculosis was not so frequently reported. "The increase in reported cases of venereal diseases probably resulted from the increased amount of attention being given the venereal disease control program."

The state again fortunately escaped from infantile paralysis or poliomyelitis, of which there was but one case reported, this case eventually recovering.

GREENWOOD FARM AREA IS ELECTRIFIED

Families in 31 farm houses west and northwest of Greenwood today have a new servant, electric power.

Current was distributed Wednesday night over the first 22 miles of a project of the Rural Electrification Administration, with additional sections to be lighted every two or three days.

The completed system, with 380 miles of lines in Kent and Sussex counties, will serve 1,200 customers at the beginning with a minimum rate of $2.50 a month.

The project started last May under the supervision of Roland J. S. Marsh. W. H. Briden, of Washington, D. C., and engineer, represented the REA as the current went on Wednesday.

Contractors were the Whitely Electric Company, Baltimore; William E. Snell, Vineland, N. J., and the Arrow Electric Company, Wilmington.

DOVER DINNER TO BE WILDLIFE WEEK HIGHLIGHT

More than 200 persons will attend the closing event in the observance of "Wildlife Restoration Week" in Dover Saturday night.

An address of Dr. Arthur A. Allen of Cornell University, one of the nation's outstanding ornithologists, and an expert wildlife conservationist, will be the feature of the program. Gov. McMullen will speak on "Co-ordinated Effort," and Leonard K. Yerger, president of the Board of Game and Fish Commissioners, will explain Delaware's farmer-sportsmen cooperative wildlife plan.

Mayor Woodford of Dover will be chairman of the meeting, sponsored by the Delaware Game and Fish Protective Association, headed by Alfred S. Rickards. William Baxter, Jr., liaison officer of the association, is National Wildlife Restoration Week director in Delaware.

Dr. Allen will show sound motion pictures of wildlife and will describe methods used in recording calls of rare wild fowl.

Representatives from clubs, civic associations and women's organizations, educational institutions, state boards and commissions have been invited to attend.

Dr. Allen and members of his party covered more than 15,000 miles and spent six months in securing the pictures. His sound truck was bogged down while hunting the almost extinct ivory-billed woodpecker in Louisiana. A bald eagle tried to eat his microphone in Colorado, and in Wyoming pictures were secured of a trumpeter horn with a wingspread of 10 feet and weight of 35 pounds.

If you have bed quilts to be made or covered, take them to Mrs. Mary Blades. She will do the work nicely.

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR FRUIT CROP—BARRING FROST

Delaware fruit growers, following a tour through their orchards, have announced that the fruit trees are in excellent shape and only the danger of a late frost marred the outlook for a successful crop of peaches, apples and pears.

These veteran fruit growers expressed the opinion that the trees were far advanced in maturing this year, due largely to the mild weather of the open winter season. Spraying activities in the orchards have been delayed.

Should the mild, warm weather con-in progress for several weeks.

Should the fruit trees continue their present rapid stride in maturing, the blossom seasons will be somewhat earlier this year in the lower part of Delaware.

Time for a few more days, it is expected that peach blossoms will start to bloom the latter part of next week and apple blossoms will follow from two to three weeks later.

Last year was the first one in three years that Delaware peaches were harvested, since adverse weather conditions interfered with the crop during the previous three seasons. Weather conditions of the next two weeks will determine the possibility of the crop.

DON'T BUY COAL BLINDLY
Specify 'blue coal'

It's America's finest Anthracite

BUYING coal used to be more or less a gamble. You never knew, until you put it in your furnace, whether it was good or bad.

But now, by specifying 'blue coal' you can be absolutely sure of getting the very best every time you order.

'blue coal' comes from the rich anthracite fields of Northern Pennsylvania. It is prepared for home use with the utmost care—washed and re-washed in currents of rushing water—tested and inspected by keen-eyed experts. Then as your guarantee of quality it is colored a distinctive Blue.

'blue coal' burns evenly . . . steadily . . . completely with the least waste up the chimney and in the ashpit. If you want better heat this winter for less money, insist on 'blue coal'. Please us your order today.
